Mexicans Warned Against Shooting into U. S.

REBEL LEADERS DESERT CAUSE; LEAVE COUNTRY

Insurgents are Threatened with Seizure of Last Fortress in Sonora

NO STATEMENT MADE BY GENERAL TOPETE

Borquez Remains in Country to Prevent Looting by the Rebels

U. S. CAVALRY ARRIVES

NOGALES, Ariz., April 30 (UP)—Two hundred additional members of the Tenth United States Cavalry arrived here today from Fort Huachuca, to reinforce the 1,500 American soldiers now guarding the international line.

LAY DOWN ARMS

MEXICO CITY, April 30 (UP)—Individual rebel officers in scattered points in Sonora have followed the lead of 1,000 rebel troops in laying down their arms, latest advices from General Plutarco Elias Calles, federal commander in chief, said today.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 30 (UP)—Deserted by most of its prominent leaders and faced with federal seizure of its last Sonora stronghold, the present Mexican revolt appeared to be near final dissolution today.

The latest blow to the rebel cause was the desertion last night of General Fausto Topete, revolting governor of Sonora. General Topete, his brother, General Ricardo Topete and several other lesser rebel leaders who crossed the international boundary this here last night.

A Southern Pacific railroad engineer and fireman left here a short time later for Naco, Sonora. It was reported they were to man an engine hauling a federal troop train to Nogales, Sonora, from the Naco garrison.

General Borquez Remains.

Only General Francisco Borquez, rebel commander of Nogales, remained in the little rebel town across the line. Borquez said he would stay to prevent rebel looting, but it was believed he would flee when federals approached.

With General Topete and his brother when they crossed the boundary were Jesus Liparraga, provisional governor of Sonora, and General Eduardo O. Garcia.

Cross Into Arizona.

General Ramon Iturbe, one of the leaders of the unsuccessful rebel drive on Mazatlan, Sinaloa, crossed into Arizona a few minutes before General Topete's party. Later, General Miguel Valle, who captured Juarez for the rebels shortly after the opening of the revolt, passed through the customs.

General Topete would make no statement. He and his brother went to the house, where their wives have been living for several weeks. General Topete's wife had visited him in Nogales, Sonora, yesterday when he arrived. Her office a retreat from Navajoa. She pleaded with him to cross to safety but he refused at that time.

SPRINTERS TO MEET

LOS ANGELES, April 30 (UP)—Frank Wykoff, the Glendale schoolboy flyer, and Charley Doak, captain of the University of California track team, will clash on the home track at the Southern Pacific Amateur Athletic Union championship at Exposition Park, Los Angeles, Saturday.

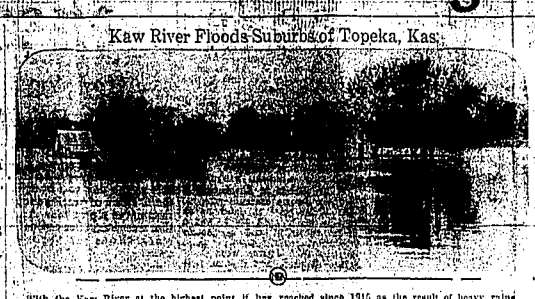
Kaw River Floods Suburbs of Topeka, Kas.



With the Kaw River at the highest point it has reached since 1915 as the result of heavy rains, many parts of Kansas are flooded and in some sections trains have to be re-routed. The picture shows how high the flood waters reached in the suburbs of Topeka.

STATE PUTS COP ON HIGHWAY IN LOCAL DISTRICT

Traffic Officer in this Vicinity Goes on Watch for Law Violators Wednesday Morning

A state traffic officer, Ted Goeckner, will start patrolling the highways of this vicinity tomorrow morning, announced John R. McKinney, chief field deputy from Boise, here today. Mr. Goeckner will patrol the state highways between Murtaugh and Bliss. The highway from the Utah line to Yellowstone will be patrolled by an officer beginning tomorrow morning and there will be other officers guarding the highways of south Idaho as far north as Gooding. The patrolling of the northern routes will be started as soon as Mr. McKinney can make a trip of organization into that territory.

"We have been entirely too many serious accidents on Idaho's highways of late and there are too many 1928 licenses still being used," Mr. McKinney stated. Work at first will be devoted largely toward eliminating 1928 licenses. The officers believe that with the coming of May 1 the automobile drivers have had plenty of time to obtain certificates of title and get licenses. The law requires that each car carry two license plates displayed clearly, and not hidden behind a bumper. No auto will be allowed to operate unless properly licensed and no leeway will be granted," said Mr. McKinney.

Careless driving will also be stopped. "There is no set speed limit on the main highways but drivers must drive carefully. Darting past and around cars, failure to stop at stop signs, and other violations will be deemed sufficient cause for arrest. Any one found to be driving in an intoxicated condition will be prosecuted to the limit of the law.

"The state of Idaho no longer permits one to mix moonshine with gasoline," said Mr. McKinney.

Drivers must also slow down to a reasonable speed on all curves and must stay on the right hand side of the curve. Every precaution must be taken by auto drivers to avoid accidents.

Mr. Goeckner, the new traffic officer, there will drive an ordinary that automobile that will not be easily identified as an officers car. This will permit him to patrol the highways and make arrests when the violators least believe there is an officer near. To any, complaint of violations appear in police court within the vicinity to answer to charges.

The patrolling of the highways of Idaho will be prominent and will not be discontinued after a short flurry of enforcement states Mr. McKinney of the law enforcement department.

Regarding the new trucking law Mr. McKinney states that beginning May 7, all public carriers operating over a regular route or between fixed terminals will be issued a permit by the public utilities commission, who will regulate the rates, make rules and govern the operation of public carriers. Enforcement of this law will be up to the department of law enforcement.

COURT RULINGS AWARDED

Iowa Girls Successful In Race With Death to Bedside of Sick Father

NEWTON, Iowa, April 30 (UP)—A race with death, which started in the Mediterranean sea and progressed across the Atlantic to Newton by steamship, airplane, train and motor car, ended in victory today when Mrs. Fred Jasper and Miss Stella McCord arrived and found their father, M. A. McCord, still alive—although weak.

Mrs. Jasper and Miss McCord, notified by radio of their father's illness came to Newton by motor car from Des Moines, where they had arrived by train from Chicago. They flew from New York to Lansing, Ill., their plane buckling heavy winds all the way. They were able to continue the flight against count of weather conditions, they went to Chicago and left by train for Des Moines.

McCord was awake when his daughters arrived but in a weakened condition. His physicians said information that his daughters were racing to his bedside sustained him. They said yesterday McCord probably would not live through today.

McCord smiled happily as the daughters entered the sick room after their long race against time. Both knelt by the bedside but the father was so weak he was unable to exchange more than a few words with them.

THOMAS EDISON SEEKS YOUTH AS HIS SUCCESSOR

Aged Inventor Searching for Young Man Who Can Carry On His Remarkable Work

ORANGE, N. J., April 30 (UP)—Somewhere in the United States there is a young man of a scientific turn of mind who some day may carry on the work of Thomas A. Edison. The inventor has started a search for him.

Scholarships Offered.

Charles A. Edison, son of the inventor and president of the Edison interests here, last night announced that his father was offering a free college scholarship consisting of all tuition fees for four years, to the high school or preparatory school male student who submits the best answers to one of his questionnaires.

The statement said in part:

"As the weight of advancing years falls on the great inventor's shoulders, he is seeking a youth of unusual capabilities who perhaps will have the genius to carry on the great work he has so well started. He wants to bring this unusual opportunity and this unusual youth together.

Candidate from Each State.

"The governor of each state and the commissioners of the District of Columbia will select a candidate, who is to be the best representative of American manhood and who possesses the highest ability in scientific subjects during the school year 1928-1929. In each community there will be given a free trip to the Edison laboratories here, where they will be entertained. Each one will receive a questionnaire prepared personally by Edison, and the one who best answers the question will receive the scholarship. The jurors may select the two runners-up.

"Edison's Ideal Student.

"The ideal student of Edison is one who is not satisfied with the mere acquisition of knowledge, but who is ever seeking to add to the sum total of human knowledge. Edison is not interested in the student who is content to rest on his oars, but in the student

HUGGINS LACKS GOOD PITCHING; HOYT IN SHAPE

Yankees Having Trouble With Athletics; Mack's Sluggers Wallop New York Sinbmen

By WILLIAM J. DENN
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 30 (UP) — Give Miller Huggins a half dozen Waite Hoyts and the worries of the diminutive manager of the New York Yankees will be at an end.

Until a few Yankee pitchers start to Hoytian tendencies, however, Huggins may find a great many high hurdles blocking the road to his fourth straight American league pennant.

The American league season of 1929 is two weeks old today and the champion Yankees, with a record of five victories and four defeats, are lodged in third place.

To make matters worse, the Yankees are having more than their share of trouble with the Philadelphia Athletics—the one team Babe Ruth and Co., was "sure" of winning from. In five games played with Cornelius MacGillicuddy's youngsters the Yanks have won two, while the A's have pounded Yankee pitchers for a total of 43 hits and 25 runs.

WILBUR HUBBELL HIGHLY PRAISED BY SPORT WRITER

Former Buhl Boy, Now Hurler in Coast League, Turns in Fine Pitching Performance

Editor's Note: The following article appeared in a recent issue of a big Seattle paper. Those who knew Wilbur Hubbell when he have followed his baseball career was a boy in Buhl and those who will be happy to learn that he still taming opposing batters.

By Art Chamberlin.

If Iodine does it, we recommend the Seattle pitchers drink nothing else but that solution. Meaning it is iodine that made Wilbur Hubbell the hurler he was yesterday. Because Wilbur (Iodine) Hubbell stood the Indians on their respective ears, allowed them only four hits and coasted to a 6-1 victory at the Seattle Baseball Park.

It seems that William Garrison "Shine" (and I forget the rest of the names) Scott, Mission trainer, has been feeding Hubbell large quantities of iodine, presumably for goiter; although Hubbell's mates protest that he is suffering only from a double chin.

Keeps Tribe Tamed.

At any rate there must have been a lot of iron in Wilbur's system, the way he tamed the Redskins. He hit a hot pace on the pitching mound right from the gun and kept it up all afternoon like a regular iron man. And he ironed out harmlessly all but one of the rallies the Tribe attempted against him.

Rudy Kallio, Hubbell's mound opponent most of the way pitched an unfortunate game. He suffered from good intentions, but poor results. In other words, he aimed his efforts at a lot of good spot, but his aim resembled that of one of Bill Jefferson's cool golf pupils.

Rudy started a lot of pitches towards Mission batters' weak spots but the apple much of the time did not arrive there. Instead meeting solid wood and traveling both far and fast.

Yesterday's Hero: Mickey Cochrane, peppery Philadelphia catcher, who tripled with the bases loaded and then stole home in the eighth inning, to count four of the runs the Athletics employed in defeating the New York Yankees, 10 to 1, at Philadelphia.

The ambitious A's stepped all over the theory that the Yanks were a "jinx" to them, to win their third victory out of five games with the New Yorkers. Walberg, after yielding a run in the first inning, settled down and held the Yanks scoreless for eight frames, with six hits.

The St. Louis Browns continued to lead the western teams in the American league by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 3 to 2, at Detroit. The game was a pitching duel between Gray and Sorrell, both yielding nine hits. Gray, however, kept his opponents under a little better control.

The Chicago White Sox clouted out a 13 to 4 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Chicago, Ted Lyons pitching for the winners. The Indians totaled 13 hits off Lyons but were unable to bunch them with great success. Cleveland was charged with four errors.

The St. Louis Cardinals scored four runs in the last of the eighth at St. Louis to break a tie and win from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 3. Four pitchers worked the Pittsburgh mound while Mitchell, the winning pitcher, went the route.

Charley Root held Cincinnati to 9 hits and the Chicago Cubs trounced the Reds, 4 to 3, at Cincinnati. Root, first up in the third, tripled but the best efforts of the Chicago "murderer's row" failed to advance him and he died on the bag.

Brennan Begins to Raze Cafe Building

BUHL, April 30 (Special)—J. J. Brennan started work Monday morning razing his old cafe building to make room for a new and larger structure which has already been leased to a five and ten cent store. The construction work on the new building will be under the direction of Mr. Brennan.

A. H. Nihart has sold his milk route to Mr. Buckendorf and son. The route of Mr. and Mrs. Nihart had been in existence in Buhl for nine years. The new owners will take over the new route Wednesday of this week.

Dale Wammack of the McCall-Iain addition to Buhl, who was injured by shoe spikes in the track meet at Twin Falls Saturday, is recovering nicely. Five stitches were required to close the ugly gash cut in his foot.

Mrs. G. E. Cox, who has been sick with the influenza for more than a week, is improving slowly.

Coach Gifford Davidson of Buhl issued his first call for spring football practice Monday evening. About 25 boys have already entered the competition. New suits were distributed.

High School Set Of Jerome Revel At School Frolic

JEROME, April 30 (Special)—The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held Friday evening at the North Side inn. About 100 were present, including faculty, juniors and seniors and school board members. The junior and senior colors of blue and silver and rose and silver were carried out. A splendid dinner was served by efficient sophomore girls.

Donald Johnson, accompanied by Phyllis Robinson gave a couple of vocal solos. Mr. Mattson gave two piano selections, one from Paderewski and the other entitled "Dizzy Fingers."

Arthur Wiso was toastmaster for the evening and filled that honor position exceedingly well. Madeleine Williamson gave the junior toast, of which the seniors all felt very proud. Catherine Folkman delivered the response for the seniors and indeed deserves much credit.

Supt. Doane gave the talk of the evening in which he analogized the high school course to a baseball team.

After dinner many went over to the Civic club where a dance was held. Everyone went away voting it a very successful banquet.

Are Guests at Shoshone.

Many Jerome students attended the Junior prom at Shoshone on Friday night, April 26. It was a very successful and gorgeously decorated affair. Among those present from Jerome were Catherine Folkman, Ben Crouch, Lela Mae Tomlinson, Zora Miller, Merlin Christensen, Murray O'Rourke, Alfred Ball, Ferne Lewis, Pauline Fortune, Everett Card, Beulah Saunders, Gerald Dellinger, Roma Morrison, Ruthe Robinson, Lawrence Daigs, Odell Robinson, Helen Miller, Maxine Abramson, Hazel Wheatcroft and Harold Carlson.

Members of the Jerome Civic Club were invited to Hazelton on Monday for a garden talk to be given by Mr. Petrie, a nurseryman from Boise. He is an authority on this sort of thing and it will be very entertaining.

They Dry Soft After Soaking—Due to Wolverine Shell Cordovan Horsehide

Think of tramping through rain, snow, and mud all day—yet next morning you slip into work shoes as plump and soft as the day you bought them. Think of wearing shoes that never rip or tear. And that wear long after ordinary work shoes are thrown away.

That's what you can now buy in Wolverines—due to a special kind of horsehide called Shell Cordovan Horsehide, tanned for work shoes only by Wolverine. It is taken from the horse's hips and includes the shell, which reinforces the outside hide. That's why Wolverines show no signs of wear for months and months. The seams are drawn into the surface so you can hardly feel them. And the acids of clay soils, sweaty feet, manure piles, or dairy floors don't eat the leather.

Try one pair of Wolverines and you'll always prefer them. We have all styles—at prices that are surprisingly reasonable. Come in today.

Rocky Moore Leaves.

Ralph "Rocky" Moore, lightweight pugilistic star, who has won for himself many friends in this section, has left for Spokane, where he will undergo an operation on his throat. Moore fought his last battle here against doctor's orders. He has been learned, and the operation is deemed necessary. He will spend the next six months in outdoor work on his father's farm and by fall expects to be back in splendid condition, ready to take on any lightweight who can make the 135 pound weight.

Baseball Schedule Made

About 160 boys attended a baseball meeting at the high school Monday and plans were definitely made for inter-class baseball. This week will be devoted to practices with competition starting next week. The tournament will be on a double-elimination basis. The winner of the inter-class meet will play a three game series with the faculty team for the title. The practice schedule calls for the juniors and seniors Monday and Wednesday and the sophomores and freshmen Tuesday and Thursday.—The playing schedule is as follows: Monday, May 6, seniors vs. sophomores; Tuesday, May 7, freshmen vs. juniors; Wednesday, May 8, winners of first two games; Thursday, May 9, losers of first two games; Friday, May 10, losers of third game and winners of fourth game; Monday, May 13, winners of third game and winners of the fifth game. If the winner of the third game defeats the winner of the fifth game May 13 the title is won but if the reverse is true a final game will be played May 14. The series will the results to be played May 16, 17 and 18. A regular dance fee to be charged on the field but the practices will be at the city ball park, using Lincoln field over in the track team.

Twin Falls Golf Club Buys Course For Sum of $7,750

The board of directors of the Twin Falls golf club this man authorized the executive committee to complete the purchase of the [illegible] from the Boise Brothers. The purchase of the 60 acres was made in exchange for the cancellation of $7,750 following the report of the executive committee on the validity of the mortgage. For little, this mortgage will be filed with the county recorder soon, bringing to a definite close the negotiations which have been pending for 30 days.

Purchase of the course by the club will permit many improvements and necessary changes. Plans are tentatively underway to make it one of the best nine-hole courses in southern Idaho. It is located about two miles west of Twin Falls. Changes in the placing of the greens and trees will be made somethme in the future.

Sale for Potato Price.

The Pacific Fruit and Produce company late Monday filed suit against J. H. Kimball, alleging that they sold and delivered to him 250 sacks or 56,000 pounds of U. S. No. 1 potatoes April 25 with the understanding that he would pay them 42 per hundred pounds upon delivery, and that he has not done so. The plaintiffs ask for $756 alleged due them and have filed a writ of attachment to obtain the potatoes if they cannot obtain the money.

NOTICE

We are completing the reconstruction of our Twin Falls distribution system and are in readiness to cut over from the old 2300 volt primaries to the new copper 4000 volt feeders. This work will be started

Wednesday Morning May 1st

It will be necessary to disconnect the various feeders in order to eliminate as many of the hazards as possible to our men working on these feeders. We will attempt to arrange the interruptions so that they will occur at periods that will least inconvenience you.

If your service is interrupted for an hour during the next few days we will appreciate your patience. Upon the completion of this reconstruction and cut over, an even more continuous and efficient service will be rendered to you.

Daily Poem

COLORS

From "Cross Roads," by Margaret E. Sangster.

I love color.
I love flaming reds,
And vivid greens,
And royal flaunting purples.
I love the startling ease of the sun at dawning,
And the blazing orange of it at twilight. . . .

I love color.
And yet today,
I saw a brown little bird
Perched on the dull-gray fence
Of a weed-filled city yard.
And as I watched him
The little bird
Threw back his head
Defiantly, almost. . . .
And sang a song
That was full of gay ripples,
And poignant sweetness,
And half-hidden melody.

I love color. . . .
And the glowing purity of white.
And yet today,
I saw a living bit of brown,
A verve oasis on a speck of gray,
That brought heaven
Very near to me.

VACATION LAND

WITHIN a few more weeks the minds of people will be turning toward vacation time and the place of spending the vacation. One of the blessings of living in Idaho is that we have a wonderful playground right in our own front yard where we may go for the recreation and the change that are the two most valuable factors of a vacation.

Just a little to the north are the Sawtooth mountains with all their wealth of beauty and appeal for those of us who are bound to the paths of work and duty the greater part of the year. Rare indeed is that person whose imagination is not stimulated and whose mind and body are not rested by contact with the great natural beauties. When life has become possessed of too great sameness in all the days and when the mind goes stale by too little variety in its daily work, we recommend a dose of the mountains. There's magic in their medicine.

Just to be in the mountains and to have the benefit of their rarer atmospheres is treat enough in itself to one a bit jaded. But there is fishing that may be done, tramping, swimming for those whose courage is challenged by cold waters and a dozen other attractions. Not the least is the keenness of appetite that the great out-of-doors gives. How good food tastes in the mountains!

The older our valley country becomes the more we value our mountain country. As wealth accumulates and life becomes easier, communities, like individuals, find themselves with more time, means and desire to play. Vacations come to mean more and are more highly prized. The increase in popularity of the mountains during the past 10 or 15 years is really quite remarkable. The future may be expected to add to that popularity at even faster rate than the past has shown.

We are fortunate that Mother Nature has so blessed us. What is so near at hand may be easily enjoyed. And we shall be overlooking a real opportunity, all of us, if we neglect to let the world know just how much we think of our playground.

CHANGING ONE MYSTERY FOR ANOTHER ONE

By Bruce Catton

LIFE is chiefly a matter of electricity, according to Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, who has been delving into the matter for many years.

Reading a paper before the American Philosophical Society at Philadelphia, Dr. Crile declared that man seems to be fundamentally a sort of glorified storage battery. As long as the battery remains charged, the machinery can function, and the individual can carry on his daily work, whether the job be writing poetry or playing professional baseball. When the battery runs down, however, the daily work has to be given up; the man dies. Apparently the old expression, "the vital spark," is a good one. If our clever scientists are going to keep on demonstrating that we are just a lot of crackling of an electrical generator, rather than to the stars and the wind as we used to think, we would do well to keep that expression in regular use.

Dr. Crile's researches are extremely interesting, and there is no doubt that they add immensely to the store of human knowledge. Yet it would be a mistake to suppose that they really clear up the fundamental mystery.

Life may be a matter of electricity, as Dr. Crile suggests; but what scientist will arise now to tell us what electricity is? We have only exchanged one mystery for another.

During the last century mankind has found out a great deal about itself and about the world it inhabits. It has dispelled the old fables by which primitive men sought to interpret the puzzles of existence, and has substituted for them a series of far less interesting formulas and equations. But it is really no nearer the root of the matter than it was before.

The ancient Aztecs believed that the creator of the world made a set of clay figures, blew life into them with his nostrils, and sent them forth to inhabit the world—which, by the way, he had trampled into shape with his feet.

The modern scientist believes that man is a very complicated sort of storage battery, moving about on a speck of cosmic dust as long as his charge of electricity lasts.

Both conceptions are interesting. Neither one clears up the ancient mystery.

We tear down the old curtains of ignorance only to find an endless vista of new ones. And if this leaves room for doubt and disquiet, it also leaves room for faith and boundless hope. The technicians may have reduced you to an electrical equation, but what of that? You are still unexplainable.

A FLIMSY EXCUSE

WHEN man stands convicted of a crime, and under sentence to prison, he always makes desperate last-minute attempts to get out of it. Usually his final pleas and excuses are flimsy to the utmost degree.

Seldom, however, has a weaker plea been made than that made by Harry F. Sinclair, who is at last faced by the terrible penalty of spending three months in jail for bribing a cabinet officer and stealing a hundred million dollars' worth of oil.

Sinclair protested that if he went to jail his stockholders—many of them widows and orphans—would suffer loss. Hence, he said, the government should call it quits and revoke his sentence.

It is a long time since any argument as specious as that has been presented. One's heart must bleed for the widows and orphans—but Mr. Sinclair, after all, is getting off easy. He has no kick coming.

"The most noteworthy thing that has happened in the import trade of the United States is the growth of our foreign purchases of those commodities which are especially characteristic of a high standard of living and an elaborate industrial system."—Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce.

"For everyday purposes we believe what we want to believe, and if we do not want to believe the truth, we do generally contrive to dispose of it as sort of extravaganza." — H. G. Wells.

THE SAME HERE?

(Pendleton East Oregonian)

Passenger service by air, so Mr. Wrightson told the chamber of commerce yesterday, will be inaugurated over the Old Oregon Trail route this summer. Night flying by mail planes, to give double the present service, will be started June 1st. And so aviation progresses at lightning speed. It is only a question of a few years until a business trip to Portland or Salt Lake City or Chicago by air from La Grande will be a commonplace practice. Time is ever more valuable and planes are providing the swift transportation facilities required by the new age. Air ports are essential for the communities that would take advantage of the changing times. If present negotiations with the government will permit successful leasing of our existing emergency field, the city will be guarding against loss of leadership in air transportation. Our location is strategic. The facilities we provide now will have a direct bearing on the service we are accorded later on.—La Grande Observer.

Does not Pendleton face exactly the same problem as La Grande with reference to use of the emergency landing field and if so will it be possible to arrange matters so that commercial planes may use the field when it is needed?

There are still problems for the airmen to solve but development has gone far enough for most everyone to realize that the day of commercial flying is at hand. Air passengers are going to be quite common, and if they land here they must be sure they have a place to land.

SYNOPSIS

On a Continental train three friends, Ivan, Armand, and Emil, invite a French girl, Marie, to share their compartment, but a priest and two Americans, Travis and Al, interrupt the flirtation. The train is wrecked and Travis rescues the girl. The travellers find a mysterious inn. That night the three friends quarrel violently over the girl. Suddenly a group of German soldiers arrive, announcing: War is imminent! Emil, furious with his friends, denounces them as spies. But Armand and Ivan escape, while Al, Travis and Marie, have bribed the maid, Hilda, to get them a horse and cart to make their escape.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"Don't talk so much and hurry up. We're down luck to be out of this alive," Travis returned. "And this is for you, Mademoiselle." He reached into his pocket and drew out several large bills and handed them to the astonished Hilda. "Tell her we thank her for getting us out of that hole," he turned to Marie. "If she hadn't known the way down those back stairs we never would have got out alive." He swung himself up onto the seat and picked up the reins.

In a torrent of Alsatian patois the girl was thanking Travis for the money. She pulled up her skirt and shoved the bills down into an inner pocket.

"All set, Al?" Travis looked over his shoulder at his companion who was swinging up on the back of the cart.

The girl was startled.

"Let 'er go, bozo, and the quicker the better." He shuddered as the rides resounded in a series of shots.

Travis slapped the horse over the back with his reins and the trio started off with a jerk.

CHAPTER VII

War!

War and the beginnings of war! War that was to draw at last the greatest nations of the world into conflict!

WAR! Screaming black letters fled terrified across white pages. Markets rose and fell in wild panic. Brave diplomats held frenzied conclave. Whirring machinery began an endless day-and-night activity. Small, every-day matters of life that had once seemed so important suddenly became of nothingness. All thoughts turned in one direction; all hearts beat to one rhythm—war!

Paris, the peaceful city that for so long had lain dreaming in the warm sun, nursing its soft, green river close to its heart, turned in one brief moment into a maelstrom of seething turbulence. Paris, a city infatuated with the turmoil of a national crisis . . . mad with the thrill of impending danger . . . a wild whirlpool of hysterical gaiety forced round and round by the undercurrent of approaching disaster . . . a tranquil leaf tossed on the onrushing tide . . . war!

From the very top of Montmartre on the right bank, where the rounded, white, uptanding domes of Sacre-Coeur swell to pursing against the sky, to Montparnasse on the left bank where broad boulevards with their avenues of spreading trees shelter vagrant lovers, strolling, their arms about each others' waists, ran delirious riot. From the Arc de Triomphe stationed like a general inspecting his troops which are the weaving processions of automobiles and horse cabs on the Champs Elysées across to the two annoyingly-flat towers of Notre Dame, bedlam held sway. And in the centre of it all the Ile de la Cité, where, at its very termination Henry IV sits astride his bronze horse, gazing meditatively out over the Place Dauphine.

And everywhere soldiers . . . soldiers . . . soldiers. They appeared as though by magic, springing from the ground fully uniformed. Tall Zouaves in blue and yellow boléros with their baggy trousers tucked into low boot tops, their red capes flung back over their shoulders. Bewhiskered French officers with bristling moustaches in blue coats with the red epaulettes and red trousers. The Chasseurs Alpins in marine-blue, their small bérets perched on the sides of their heads. The Spahis, beowned Arabs with the skirted culotte and the red cape. The Dragons with the red culotte and the white cuirass with the waving horsehair tails.

At the Gare de l'Est an incoming train belched forth an anxious, fear-stricken swarm of travelers. The rumors of war brought back in a hurry the vacationists, as well as the aliens who sought the refuge of a large city and all its tranquilities in this time of stress. Pressing their way through the crowd, unburdened by baggage, Marie, Travis and Al forced their way into the street.

"Say, this is a mad-house!" Travis caught hold of Marie's arm as a group of people, running, almost knocked her over. "It looks as though it's going to be some war, all right."

"You said it, bozo!" Al looked about at the conglomerate mass of humanity writhing through the city. "Say, this is great," he laughed, as the noise and the excitement began to permeate his spirit. "How about a little drink—just to help celebrate?"

"If you please, I like very much to see my father," Marie interposed. "His studio is very near. We come back later."

"Sure, I know," Travis agreed. "We'll go to your place first, and then we can come back. We'd better get a taxi."

"We never find a cab tonight," Marie shook her head. "I know, when there is celebration every body ride in taxi. It is better we walk." She pulled at Travis' arm and turned to leave.

The three started up the broad street, arm in arm, lest they lose one another. Through the surging, restless mass they pilloried their steps, pushed this way and that by the careless, carefree revelers. But the whole atmosphere was transferring its exhilaration to Al. He wanted to step in and become a part of the celebration himself.

"Aw, listen," he pleaded. "You two go on ahead and leave me here. I want to have some fun. I'll stay at this café." He pointed to a large, brilliantly lighted place with innumerable small tables set out on the sidewalk and from which much laughter, altercation and noise in general emanated. "I'll be all right by myself—and I won't leave here until you come back. But be sure you come back for me, because if I get left all alone here—Gosh!"

"Go ahead, Al, and we'll come back for you, then," Travis agreed.

Travis and Marie followed the broad, light boulevard until they reached the corner, and then at Marie's direction they turned off into a narrow side-street where old houses leaned forward with a slightly rakish air as though bowing across at each other. One dull gas lamp illuminated the thoroughfare, leaving the shadows in impenetrable blackness. The sidewalks were little more than stepladders, and Marie and Travis walked in the slightly wider, cobble-toned street.

They walked in silence for a few moments and then the girl spoke. "I hope my father he is here," she began wistfully. "It makes a long time now I do not see him. He is an artist, my father," she added proudly, "but now he is not well, and he is able to work only a little. He teach me but I do not paint very good."

"What do you do, then," Travis asked, his curiosity becoming more and more aroused.

"Me? I play piano. That is why I am in Vienna," Marie explained. "I prefer piano to painting. My mother she was very good at piano. She play in concert. So my father, he send me to Vienna to study. But I am so lonesome, and so I come back to Paris for a little while. Now, I don't know. If there is war, I cannot go back until it is over. But maybe it is that it does not last long."

"Oh, I guess you'll be able to go back pretty soon," Travis assured her confidently. "Everything ought to be over in a couple of months. There's always a war going on some place in Europe. It's like Mexico."

"I don't know." The girl looked doubtful. "Maybe—but I hope it where I live!" she exclaimed emphatically, turning into a narrow passageway.

Travis followed his guide through a small dark aperture that quickly led into a courtyard paved with cobblestones. All the houses around the yard were as dark as those on the street. In the faint light of a pendant gas lantern he could make out shadowy windows on the top floors of the dwellings.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

A $15,000,000 PURCHASE

One hundred and twenty-six years ago today the United States purchased the Louisiana territory from France for $15,000,0000. By virtue of this purchase more land than was contained in the original thirteen states was brought under American sovereignty. And it came only because Napoleon needed money for the war which was brewing with England, and could afford to experiment further with his plans for an American colony.

By the terms of the purchase treaty, signed April 30, 1803, the boundaries of the land acquired by the United States were not specific. A subsequent treaty with Spain settled its extreme southern borders, and one with England was necessary to define its extent to the northwest.

If all the territory directly or indirectly acquired by this treaty be included, however, it may be said that this $15,000,000 spent by the Jefferson administration had brought Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington into the Union, at a cost with their ultimate boundaries.

Today is also the anniversary of the admission of the state of Louisiana to the Union on April 30, 1812.

PEDDLERS AND PRINTING

To the Editor:

Following is a copy of a letter sent to club women in Idaho which we would appreciate having published in your newspaper:

This is the season when every day brings to your door an agent or a peddler of some sort of merchandise. Stop and think just a moment before you are persuaded to buy something you do not really want. If you do want the goods, you are paying as much for it as you would pay your home merchant, with no guarantee as to quality. Does this agent or the company, he represents pay any share of the tax burden which the property owners of your community must necessarily bear? Does he contribute to the support of your schools, your churches, your hospitals, your libraries, or any of the institutions which contribute to the upbuilding of your community. If after he has departed you find your purchase isn't as represented, or for any reason doesn't suit you, you can not return it to him, as you often do to your home merchant, and have your money refunded or your purchase exchanged. He is gone and with him the money you could have spent more advantageously at home.

It is our duty as citizens of Idaho to buy Idaho-made goods as far as possible. If the peddler at your door is offering for sale goods manufactured or produced in Idaho, perhaps he deserves your consideration for there are Idaho firms selling through traveling agents and these firms merit our support.

A word to the club women about the splendid help we receive at all times from our local newspapers and printers. They are never too crowded to print the writeups of our club activities and to give us space for our announcements. This is a wonderful medium of communication between officers and members and of great assistance in club work generally. And for this they ask no remuneration. Let us, as individuals and as clubs, be loyal to our local newspapers, giving them our printing and our patronage when we need anything in that line, instead of sending it outside the state. Idaho printers are equipped to handle the printing of Idaho. They deserve our patronage in exchange for the many courtesies they extend to us.

Your Home Products committee urges every club woman to be a "booster" for Idaho. We must get sold on Idaho ourselves, then we will sell it—to the outside world.

Mrs. M. P. Kenworthy,
Home Products chairman.

Beauty Institutes in France Arouse Wrath Of Country's Doctors

Parliament Asked to Protect Beauty of French Women Against Powerful Methods

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 30 (UP)— The French parliament has been asked by a group of doctors to protect the beauty of French women against the high powered methods employed by the beautification industry to keep that schoolgirl complexion in the cheeks of matrons.

An inquiry was under way today. So serious have been the protests that the minister of health, acting upon the recommendation of the superior health council, has ordered a thorough investigation into the workings of the so-called beauty institutes.

France appears to have gone beauty mad. On every important street corner in Paris and in provincial cities beauty shops "super institutes," have sprung up like mushrooms. The industry has grown so rapidly and the French women are so eager for beauty that soon there will be as many beauty parlors in Paris as cafes. And there are plenty of cafes.

So far there is no law against it. There is nothing in the French statutes to prevent the activities of the beauty specialists or to enforce federal control of the industry.

Any gentleman or lady with a high sounding name and a good imagination may open shop and do a land office business. The ministry of health will endeavor to formulate a project on which the parliament can work so that the shops may be regulated.

Dr. Bordas, eminent surgeon and spokesman for the doctors, contends that the institutes have replaced surgeons. It is his contention that it is illegal practice of medicine to pluck eyebrows by machinery and urges that the authorities be empowered to place policemen inside the beauty parlors to see that the laws governing the medical profession are enforced.

"There is grave danger for the future of the race unless these institutes are curbed," Dr. Bordas said.

"Most of the mud-baths brought from America and Czecho-Slovakia have no more power to restore beauty than the mud dug up along the Seine banks. Real danger lies in the composition of face creams, paints and powders which are often based in zinc, mercury or arsenic sulphur."

Mother's Day Is Honored at Meet Of Hansen Women

HANSEN, April 3 (Special) — The regular monthly meeting of the council of the Hansen unit of the Y. W. C. A. was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. A. Hiles, those present being Miss Elsie Suit, district secretary, and Mesdames Goodman, Severans, H. L. Walker, Frank Brewer, Kendall, Hiles and J. S. Wiseman. In honor of mother's day, Mrs. Kendall, who has charge of the devotional portion of the hour, read several of E. Guests' poems appropriate to the subject, as well as a scripture lesson, concluding with prayer. During the business session, Mrs. Severns was selected as delegate to succeed Mrs. J. R. *Hall; Mrs. H. L. Walker was ap*pointed camp chairman; Miss Suit gave a brief report of the district meetings held in Twin Falls and their most important actions; and various business matters were discussed. The ladies were very sorry to her of the resignation of Miss Suit district secretary to take effect in June. The last meeting of the council for the current year will be held May 24 at the home of Mrs. Stuart Severns.

The Women's Community Council met at the church Thursday afternoon, twenty members and two guests being present. Mrs. T. E. Galley had charge of devotional exercises and roll call was answered by some quotation about love. Mrs. Albert Meley president conducted the business during which routine business was transacted and some discussion had as to ways and means. Some important matters were deferred until the next meeting when it is hoped to have a larger number of members present to participate. A plant exchange was a substantial part of the day. Mrs. A. R. Stoll and Mrs. J. R. Hull served enjoyable "eats" at the close of the afternoon.

Guest of Parents

Mrs. Don Young of Twin Falls was a visitor Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Curry.

The school orchestra enjoyed a treat Wednesday evening when they attended the Hawaiian entertainment at Kinberly in a body, having lunch therefore.

J. S. Barnes was reelected school trustee of Hickel school district at the recent election. The hold over members are Otto Minnick and Vance Nalder.

Senior Drama is Talk of the Town

GOODING, April 30 (Special)—"The Whole Towns' Talking" was the play presented by the senior class of Gooding high school to an audience that filled the Schubert theatre to capacity Friday evening, April 26. The performance was a success both financially and dramatically. The play which was under the direction of Miss Vada H. Allen was cleverly given by a cast of unusually good talent. Numerous uncertain situations and humorous lines brought many good laughs from the audience.

Those of this year's senior class who took part in the play Friday night were: Burnell Baker, Harold Enkins, Mildred Anderson, Annabel Horsman, Nolen Robertson, Marjorie McPherson, Leo Hutchinson Margarita Sams, Martha Sanderson, Ruth Meserole, Harold Hemrose, Helen Thompson, Francis Anderson, business manager, Gertrude Hirshman, costume manager, and Donald Eastabrooks, property manager.

The school election held Friday to vote additional funds with which to operate the schools carried. Not an opposite vote was cast.

Teacher Recovering

The condition of Miss Grace Keenan who underwent an operation last Sunday in Twin Falls county general hospital is reported as being satisfactory.

Joe Abbot, Mans Coffin, Frank Craven, E. E. Lawrence and M. L. Wallington are the new councilmen at Hollister.

FINE BIRTHDAY GIFT

TULSA, Okla.—William Ramsey celebrated his twenty-first birthday by appearing before Judge Franklin E. Kennemer on his second charge of violating the prohibition amendment. Ramsey explained that he was through with the liquor business and had only reentered it to get money enough to enter an aviation school. "I hate to sentence a man on his twenty-first birthday," said the judge, "but I'll let you off with the lightest sentence the law allows—60 days in jail and a fine of $100."

What type of tires should YOU have on YOUR car?

You drive differently than your friends do, don't you? Some of them are fast, hard drivers? Some use their cars much less than you? Some stick mostly to good roads and travel slow; some go everywhere?

Is it reasonable to suppose that the same type of tire will stand up equally well on different cars under such different speeds, roads, loads and distances? Very well, then, what type of tire will carry YOU safely and without trouble, the way YOU drive and until you trade in your car?

Perhaps a very low price Speedway or a Goodyear Pathfinder will do. Or you may need a Goodyear All-Weather in the regular type. Or possibly an oversize. Or the heavy duty. Let us "take your measure" and fit you out. Depend on this: We won't try to sell you anything better than you need just because you can afford the best. You can trust us.

Perhaps you, too, will be surprised at Silvertown Prices ~~

MANY people tell us they knew Goodrich Silvertowns cost more than the tires they were using—but that they didn't know how little more they were. Perhaps Silvertowns are 3% higher than the tires on your car right now—with a 25% to 100% difference in mileage possibilities.

Look at the prices listed. Even if you have to buy one tire at a time, these prices put Silvertowns within YOUR reach.

For still cheaper tires (in first cost) there's no value to compare with the Goodrich Cavalier and Commander. Our prices per mile are always lower than you can get elsewhere.

Out-of-Town Guest Is Dinner Honoree

Prominent among the many delightful social affairs which have been arranged as a courtesy to Mrs. D. F. Emmert, of Avoca, Iowa, house guest of her sister, Mrs. H. O. Molner, was the bridge dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burkholder entertained at their home, 904 Second avenue west, Monday evening.

An exquisite bouquet of orchid iris formed the centerpiece for the table at which covers were placed for 16, and the same color was featured in the place cards and other decorative details.

At bridge which followed dinner, H. O. Milner won the prize for high score and low went to Mrs. Frank Hovorka. Mrs. Emmert was presented with an attractive guest favor.

CLUB WOMEN PARADE IN GARBS OF YESTERDAY

The romantic garments of the mauve decade, and even before that era, were exhibited Friday afternoon when the members of the Needlecraft club met at the country home of Mrs. Charles Eldred for an old-fashioned party. The costumes varied in style from the picturesque to the comic, the romantic to the ridiculous, and the dress parade was highly amusing. The most popular couple of the afternoon were a bride and groom who wore costumes reflecting the gay '90s. After a short business session, the afternoon was spent playing old-fashioned games. The hostess served refreshments at 5 o'clock. The home was prettily decorated with spring blossoms.

TEMPERANCE LEAGUE ISSUES CALL TO PRAYER

Simultaneously with all women's Christian Temperance Union chapters of the United States, the Twin Falls group will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church parlors, when, according to Mrs. Ida Vandenbark, president, a program as outlined by national headquarters will be carried out. The meeting will open with the singing of an stanza of "Give to the Winds Thy Fears," and the 146th Psalm will be read. Prayers will be given in keeping with the following suggested topics: "Consecration to the temperance cause and the work of the W. C. T. U."; "For President Hoover that he may be given courage and strength for his great task, that he may be guided in his selection of the commission to investigate the whole judiciary system in its relation to law enforcement"; "For the federal and state and local authorities that they may be strengthened in their plans for law enforcement;" "For the opponents of prohibition that they may be confounded and their plans to overthrow prohibition brought to nought;" "For national, state, district and local officers and the members that they may be spurred to activity in an aggressive campaign for law observance and to win new members;" "For community needs." After a half-hour of prayer, the members will repeat the Aaronic benediction.

COLLEGE OF IDAHO CO-EDS SPEND WEEK-END HERE

Miss Ruth Darling, Miss Christina Buckley, Miss Helen Strickling, Miss Florence Knight, and Miss Josefa Dal, all of the College of Idaho, Caldwell, arrived in Twin Falls Saturday to spend the week-end with relatives and friends, and returned to the college Monday evening.

INVITATIONS TO ZU ZIM FORMAL OUT TODAY

Climaxing an unusually lively social season among the younger set of the local high school, the Zu Zims will entertain at their annual Mal ball Friday evening, May 3, at Dancland. The opportunity for a truly radiant affair is offered in the selection of the exotic Spanish motif which will prevail in all details of the party. Invitations were mailed today to 150 couples, including the members of the Burley chapter, Zu Zims, and their girl friends, and six alumni who are now living in Twin Falls and their partners.

Invitations were sent under the direction of John Hunter and Richard Duvall, George Taber, in charge of the music, has engaged Merlyn Walker and her Melody Boys to furnish the dance music. Programs and favors have been planned by George Taber and Walter Dose; lighting effects will be handled by Ed Wheeler, and Gwinn Porter is directing the decorations.

WORKERS REMOVE STORM WRECKAGE

WACO, Tex., April 30 (UP) — Red Cross workers and a crop of telegraph linemen today cleared the wreckage wrought by a terrific wind and hail storm which claimed one life and swept a two mile path through Temple, northeast of here last night.

Frank Rankeske, 27, Bremond, was electrocuted while working on a tangled high tension wire. His body was charged beyond recognition.

Communication systems here disrupted. More than a mile of wire uprooted by high winds.

COUNCIL PASSES TWO ORDINANCES

Two ordinances were written, introduced and passed under a suspension of the rules by the city council last evening. The first ordinance passed provides for the raising of the license fee for the artical tent shows from $25 a week to $50 a day and the second ordinance provides that a license fee of $10 per day be paid by phrenologists, clairvoyants, seers, fortune tellers, or astrologers if they remain in the city less than a month or $50 a month if they remain that long.

These two ordinances were passed under what was considered an emergency by the city commissioners. The body had planned to raise the fees on tent shows last fall but had neglected to do so. A representative of a tent show, formerly the Tobey Walker company, appeared seeking a license for his show, opening next week. Following the lead of the mayor the council moved to increase the license for the protection of the local theaters, owners of which pay heavy taxes and cooperate with the city in every possible way. The representative of the tent company stated that $50 a day would be prohibitory and prevent his show from coming here. License rates for circuses, caravans, menageries, wildwest shows and other outdoor shows were also provided in the ordinance. The penalty for violation was set at $100 fine and each show without license would be considered a separate offense.

The ordinance regarding phrenologists was passed to cope with the present situation in Twin Falls, two such activities being in operation here now. Police officers were told of the ordinance after its passage and asked to notify the phrenologists. Penalty for violation of this ordinance is $100 fine.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Ignorance or Indifference.

When they sit down,
I wuanta know
If girls realize
How much they show!

Adam was not only the first man; he was also the first man to have no mother-in-law. That's how we know he lived in Paradise.

Cats and Dogs.

A woman in a crowded car had a small kitten in a box upon her lap.

"You can't carry a dog upon the car," explained the conductor politely.

"But it isn't a dog," protested the woman, "this is a cat."

"It doesn't make any difference," returned the conductor. "The rules of the company must be obeyed."

"But," again protested the lady, "that man over there has a large mud turtle."

"That's different," explained the conductor, "mud turtles are birds, while cats are dogs."

The land of promise: The United States at election time.

Another need of the times is a fly swatter that won't leave a tear on the bald spot.

A lot of fellows ask for advice but what they really want is a horn.

Why speak of something being "as old as the hills?" Are not the valleys just as old?

The conductor was coming down the aisle collecting the fares. He was almost to the Scotchman when he came to a young boy, from whom he collected half fare. Sandy sweated profusely, groaned and was heard to mutter: "Make me a child again just for tonight."

Why He Failed.

He "guessed" at a proper selling price.

He "guessed" at the value of his stock.

He "guessed" at his delivery cost.

He "guessed" about the debts he owed.

He "guessed" about outstanding accounts.

He "guessed" what lines were profitable.

He "guessed" he was making money.

"Billie," said the Twin Falls man's wife, who was giving a children's party, "won't you eat some more cakes?"

"I can't. I'm full!" sighed Billie.

"Well, then put some in your pockets."

"I can't; they're full, too!"

Of all the sure ways to wealth the surest is to write a book so bad that it will be suppressed.

Louise, the hardware dealer's daughter: "Mummy, I have a surprise for you."

Her mother: "Yes, darling, what is it?"

"I've swallowed a nail."

We may be old fashioned but we like to see a girl with enough clothes on so that she doesn't look as if she'd just been born.

Knowing what to do won't build your business. It's what you actually do that counts.

Flapper: "George, if you don't stop I'll scream—I'll call mother!

Mother! Mother! . . . Oh, my goodness, George, here she comes! I never dreamed she was home!"

The brave deserve the fair but it can't always be said that the fair deserve the brave.

Ships that pass in the night carry their own moonshine.

Mrs. Black Again President P.-T. A.

EDEN, April 29 — (Special) — That Eden school patrons appreciate the work done by Mrs. D. L. Black for the P.-T. A. this year was evidenced by the fact that she was unanimously re-elected to the office of president. Mrs. Curtis Metcalf, completing her fourth year as secretary, declined re-election and Mrs. Harding finally consented to accept this office. Mrs. J. H. Henry will serve as vice-president.

In appreciation of the work done for the schools by Eden teachers, the Eden Parent-Teacher association presented each of the teachers with a souvenir letterette and stationery. The teachers of the high school are E. H. Smith, superintendent; Forest Ehlers, Mrs. Ava Barnes, Miss Rosetta Hostetler and Mrs. A. E. Hirschler and all are returning for the coming year except Mrs. Hirschler, who is leaving to be with her husband in his high school work. Mr. Hirschler has accepted a position as superintendent of the Paul high school, and Mrs. Hirschler will teach in the same school. Mrs. Hirschler will be greatly missed in Eden.

The Eden grade school teachers are Arthur Kleinkopf, superintendent, Miss Claire O'Canny, Miss Lola Henry, Miss Esther Barnes, Miss Betty Phillips, Mrs. Edith Kleinkopf, Miss Sack, and L. W. Hesbont, who teaches beginning orchestra in both the grade and high schools.

The following program was very much enjoyed:

Saxophone solo by Harold Everett; reading, Marjorie Werry; vocal solo by Mrs. Jas. White; reading by Beth Stoddard; reading by Margaret Alexander; vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwab.

The P.-T. A. voted to assist the Civic Club in observing Child Health Day on May 1st, by providing some educational films and a health program at the Eden theatre, in which indorsement, C. O. Heise is kindly cooperating. The P.-T. A. also voted to assist the president in going to the state meeting if she can go to Coeur d' Alene.

May Day Party.

A very pretty May day party, to which all in the community are cordially invited was planned for May 1st by the Ladies' Aid of the Eden Presbyterian church at their meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Parrott. A good program will be given. Following this, there will be a May fete in the church basement when ice cream and cake will be served at a nominal fee and pretty May baskets sold. Mrs. Parrott served a dainty luncheon at the close of the business session. Guests included Mrs. W. H. Summer and Mrs. Eyman Ward, of Jerome, and Mesdames Nelson and Ayes of Eden. The aid society will next be entertained by Mrs. Lee Harris at her country home in Hunnell-Lane.

Eden Civic club was very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Helen Jayne and Mrs. Fred Cheeley on Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Ira Hayes, the newly elected president presiding. Miss Yarborough, home demonstration agent for this district, was present and gave a most interesting lesson on baskery. Several of the ladies are making these baskets and hope to complete them at the next meeting, when Miss Yarborough will again be with the club. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Werry, Mrs. Elva Davis and Mrs. Maude Powers to be hostesses.

Mrs. Jayne and Mrs. Cheeley served a delicious lunch during the social hour.

E. J. McNee has just put up a large water tank on his farm home west of Eden and is installing a system of running water in the house.

Eden folks will be glad to hear that Dorothy Fulton, a sophomore at Gooding College and a graduate of the Eden high school, has been honored by being chosen to act as one of the Y. W. C. A. assistants at the Girl Reserve camp to be held at Payette Lakes in May. She, with Miss Phyllis Evans, will assist Miss Helen Flack who conducts the camp conference. Dorothy was the first girl in the Eden high school to receive one of the Girl Reserve rings, emblem of special achievement and effort.

Mrs. E. Montgomery returned a week ago from a delightful visit with relatives and friends in California. While in California she attended a gathering of neighbors and friends from her old home in Kansas, when more than fifty Kansas folks were in attendance.

Oakley and Burley Compete in Contest

OAKLEY, April 30 (Special)—Oakley second year typing students, competing with typing students at the commercial department of Burley, in a contest conducted in Oakley recently, took honors, while first year Burley students excelled. Students from Oakley will enter shorthand bookkeeping and typing 1 and 2 at the district commercial contest May 3. William G. Hardey has returned from Salt Lake City where he went on business.

Church Buys Property

President Charles S. Clark has lease and the building formerly annoumed the Howell's Opera house as dine building formerly occupied by the Consolidated Wagon and Machine company will be purchased by the L. D. S. church. These two buildings will be remodeled in the near future, the latter building to be converted into an amusement hall with an adjacent dining room and kitchen.

The last meeting of the Oakley Civic club was at the home of the president, Mrs. Leslie Olsen.

The senior class of the Oakley rural high school will hold their graduation exercises May 17 at the high school. A dance will be given in the evening.

Effective Picture Of Irish Life in "Wishing Well"

EDEN, April 30 (Special)—The musical-chorus classes at the Eden high school under the direction of Mrs. Ava Barnes gave their second demonstration of work the year at the Eden high school Friday evening in the form of a musical comedy, "The Wishing Well". The play was a pretty Irish story, introducing Irish folk lore and traditions and "the little folk" whose fairy life is interwoven with early Irish history. The costumes were quaint and effective and the musical work showed excellent training and development since the beginning of the year. The large audience showed clearly its appreciation of the work done.

The second number on the program which school under the direction of L. W. Hesbont made its first appearance in three numbers before the operetta and received many compliments.

The audience enjoyed a treat during the intermission in hearing two readings by Miss Dorothy Marks, a senior at Gooding college who was visiting Mrs. Barnes.

Those taking principle parts were: Leona Craig, Juanita Averett, Evelyn Little, Ione Jenkins, Dorothy Bremer, Merle Hodes-dame, Willard Lattimer, Merle Smith, Darrell Anderson, Eugene Elson, and the remainder of the class did excellent work in chorus numbers.

Ag. Field Trip

Professor Earl H. Smith took his class in agriculture on another of the interesting trips he has made, a feature of his teaching this year to Twin Falls where they visited Hayes-Hi-Grade Hatchery, Swift's Packing plant, and other points of interest. Thursday afternoon Each place they went they were courteously received and given an opportunity to investigate the workings of the system.

Mrs. Marvin Williams and Mrs. W. F. Benge of Salt Lake City, sisters-in-law of Mrs. D. L. Black, made a flying visit to Eden Friday. Mrs. Williams is a pioneer resident of this district, having been engaged in the mercantile business here for a number of years and being instrumental in the early development of the country. Friends of hers were sorry she could not remain longer. Mrs. Williams was accompanied by her little daughter, Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hayes were welcome visitors at the operetta Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were popular teachers in the Eden schools for several years and their friends are always glad to welcome them back.

Mrs. Dallas Gordon, another of the Eden teaching force a few years ago attended the operetta. Friends of hers will be glad to learn that her work at Kuhl has been successful and appreciated and that she is returning for another year at an increase in salary. Mrs. Gordon has many friends at Kuhl and enjoyed her work very much the past year.

Miss Betty Phillips went to Twin Falls Friday evening to visit her sister, Mrs. H. G. Hayes.

Social Event Gay

A group of folks living between Eden and Hazelton came for a surprise party on Charles Sommer Friday evening. Dancing and a jolly social time kept folks until the wee small hours of the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Eymon Ward were pleasantly surprised this week by a visit from cousins in Hood River, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Orele Finch. Harold Wells accompanied them.

Violet and Doris Summer spent the week end with their uncle, Charles Summer. Melba Gray visited Irvin Webb.

Improvement Gradual

Mrs. Emma Kuhns, who has been ill the past month at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joan Farmer, was taken to Twin Falls where she will remain indefinitely under the care of physician. Mrs. Kuhns is able to be up and is reported improving slowly.

Trevor Lowe, who began the work of ditch rider for Amsterdam recently, has resigned and with his family will leave for California within a short time, where he has accepted a position with an irrigation system.

A. L. Stewart and daughter, Miss Ruby Stuart, have moved from the Rogerson locality to this vicinity where Mrs. Stuart has employment on the ranch work of W. R. Skinner and Ewing Skinner.

WOULD HELP CRIMINALS

OLYMPIA, Wash.—Senator Heffner, of King County, has proposed a bill providing for the public whipping of certain criminals.

Heffner would bring back the "cat-o-nine-tails" as a means of punishment, if it is lawful. The federal constitution provides against punishment that is "cruel and unusual," but the state constitution leaves out the word "unusual."

Pocatello—Doran Feed & Transfer company warehouse will be razed preparatory to erection of American Shingle company warehouse.
