CONFERENCE MAY FORM SECURITY PACT

Cabinet of Ireland Resigns Following Defeat in Dail

DE VALERA READY TO TAKE HELM IN OLD ERIN CRISIS

Noted Advocate of Complete Independence, Now in Chicago, Prepares to Sail If He Is Called to Presidency

DUBLIN, March 28, (UP)—President William T. Cosgrave's government resigned today after a defeat in the Dail Eiran and the Fianna Fail accepted responsibility of forming a new cabinet.

Want De Valera

Sean O'Kelly, acting leader of the Fianna Fail, announced that the party was ready to nominate Eamonn De Valera, who is now in Chicago, to form a new cabinet.

CHICAGO, March 28, (UP)—Eamonn de Valera will leave for Ireland at once to form a new cabinet if he is selected by the Fianna Fail as president to succeed William T. Cosgrave, who resigned today after the defeat of his government.

De Valera, stopping here at the Sherman hotel, said he had been notified of the downfall of the Cosgrave party in the Dail Eiran, and had received a number of other cabled communications from Sean O'Kelly, acting leader of the Fianna Fail.

Will Accept Invitation

"If I am chosen by the Dail I shall leave for Ireland immediately and resume my efforts in behalf of complete Irish independence," de Valera said.

He said the time of his departure from Chicago was indefinite, but he and his secretary were both busy packing.

ILLNESS STRIKES FORMER PITCHER

'Big Ed' Walsh Is Seriously Sick in Connecticut Hospital Following Recent Operation

MERIDEN, Conn., Mar. 28, (UP)—"Big Ed" Walsh, famous Chicago White Sox pitcher, today was fighting for a victory more dear than any he won on the diamond—for life and a chance to see his two boys make good in big league baseball.

Hospital officials reported today that Walsh, was "holding his ground" after an operation yesterday for a ruptured appendix and peritonitis.

"Walsh is a very sick man," said Dr. I. S. Ota, his physician. The doctor held hope that the one time diamond star's strong physical condition would pull him through.

Leap from Airplane Saves Pilot's Life

BURBANK, Calif., March 28 (UP)—Stephen St. Storm, test pilot may have saved Col. Charles A. Lindbergh a parachute ride with his own leap to safety from a new-type plane here.

Storm was forced to leave the $72,000 Northrup all-metal plane he was testing in mid-air late yesterday when the ship developed "motor trouble."

The plane hurtled to earth after Storm left it, and the fuselage was partly melted by flames from the gasoline tank explosion.

Col. Lindbergh, who was at the testing field, said he might have taken the plane up at some future date.

SHIP CAPTAIN DIES IN CABIN

PLYMOUTH, England, March 28 (UP)—Capt. William Bind, commander of the American steamer President Harding, died in his cabin aboard the liner at 4 a.m. Thursday.

Captain Bind suffered an apoplectic stroke while on the bridge at 11:40 p.m. yesterday, partaking his ship into Plymouth.

He staggered to his room complaining of a headache, dying in his cabin 15 minutes after docking.

The body will be returned to the United States.

Gem State Rooster Has Crowed since He Was a Day Old

BOISE, Idaho, March 28 (UP)—California may boast of year-round weather, Chicago may claim the best informed gunmen and Florida the most enthusiastic relators, but Idaho arises to challenge the world to produce roosters of greater intelligence than are reared on Gem State poultry farms.

The Don Whitrig family of Declick, near here, claims the distinction of raising the smartest little rooster in the world. The chick, hatched this spring, has crowed since he was a day old.

LEGGE AGREES TO HEAD FARM BOARD FOR SECOND YEAR

Despite Opposition of Grain Trade to Present Chairman President Decides to Make No Change in the Leadership

WASHINGTON, March 28 (UP)—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, an administration storm center for many weeks, has been persuaded by President Hoover to remain in office another year, it was learned authoritatively today. His first year of service expires June 15.

When he accepted leadership in the difficult task of helping the farmer, Legge expected to remain only a year. He left a $100,000-a-year position with the International Harvester company and planned to lead the board only thru the farm emergency.

President Hoover has ignored the opposition to Legge from the grain trade, led by Julius Barnes an intimate friend and official of the U. C. Chamber of Commerce.

In the nine months he headed the administration's farm relief agency, Legge has established four huge national co-operative marketing associations to handle grain, cotton, beans, wool and mohair. He has lent some $80,000,000 and is planning aggregate credits of $200,000,000. A grain stabilization corporation to buy surplus stocks also has been formed.

President Hoover believes the administration's farm relief plans are now in mid-stream and it would be a grave error to change leaders at this time.

MANY SUFFERING FROM INJURIES IN PRISON RIOTS

Dozen Convicts Sent to Hospital Following Uprising of Yesterday While Others Are Nursing Minor Cuts, Bruises

STATE PENITENTIARY, JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 28—(UP)—A mutiny which ended in a bloody riot between prisoners and guards in this century old prison sprawled out on the banks of the Missouri river, today caused penitentiary officials to announce that from now on "this institution will be handled like a prison" and that the "days of Sunday school rule were over."

A dozen convicts, their heads cracked, jaws broken and bodies bruised from the clubbing they received at the hands of the guards, were confined in the hospital today. Nearly 100 others suffered lesser bruises and burns in the riot which occurred yesterday in the prison mess hall and in the court yard.

And in the solitary confinement cells in a cell house nearest the river bank, nearly 80 men were held. Many of them are known as leaders of the rioting.

Warden Leslie Rudolph, for 20 years executive officer of the prison and known among guards and prisoners as "Square Shooter," announced after the rioting that leaders had told him the men intended to turn the chair and twine factories.

They intended this as a protest of the administration, warden Rudolph reported the prisoners saying, rather than an attempt to escape.

The prisoners, in a surly, vicious mood for the past 36 hours, vented their rage against authority yesterday noon when they turned over tables, threw iron plates and cups and attacked the guards who had entered the hall in an attempt to get the men to come from the mess room.

Basketball Men Offer Blood to Injured Player

LOGANSPORT, Ind., March 28, (UP)—Nine members of the Harrington high school basketball team volunteered to supply blood to Fred Bowman, a teammate who was suffering from injuries received in a basketball game four weeks ago, but doctors deemed it advisable to use the blood of a sister who also volunteered.

DEATH CLAIMS DAVID P. RICH

OGDEN, Utah, March 28 (UP)—David P. Rich, 78, of Boise, oldest living son of the late Apostle Charles C. Rich, of the L.D.S. church, died here Thursday.

Rich was born in Salt Lake City, but he lived in Idaho most of his life. He was prominent in public affairs there, having served as warden of the state penitentiary and as state game commissioner.

He recently came here to the home of his brother, Dr. Edward I. Rich, for medical treatment, and was there when he died. Funeral services will be held here Sunday.

VINCENT WOULD TEST EMOTIONS OF INSTRUCTORS

State Commissioner of Education Has Prepared Score-card Which He Suggests Be Filled Out By All Teachers

BOISE, Idaho, March 28, (UP)—What effect a fear of snakes, ability to tinker with the radio, corned beef and cabbage and pride in one's private stamp collection has upon the teaching ability of the Idaho teacher may soon become known if a suggestion offered by W. D. Vincent, state commissioner of education, is adopted by school of the state.

A psychiatrist has prepared the following scorecard for primary emotions. Vincent suggests that each teacher in the state grade, himself or herself according to his or her own private opinion of the teacher's emotional status. Other close acquaintances will also be called upon for their opinions and the average of all will be considered to be rather near the proper rating for the individual.

Emotions listed on the score card include: fear, anger, distrust, tenderness, distress, lust, curiosity, subjection, elation, loveliness, selfpetite, ownership, creativeness and amusement.

SCIENCE BLASTS OLD THEORIES IN DISEASE REALM

Dr. Walter E. Dandy Announces That Man Can Live If Minus Part of His Brain; Vital Experiments Are Made

CHICAGO, March 28, (UP) New bulwarks against the microbes, poisons and functional disorders that beset human life were announced today at the University of Chicago where 800 biologists attended sessions of the Federation of American Societies for experimental biology.

Age-old beliefs about the heart, brain, lungs, and other organs were disproved and new wisdom pointed toward longer life and better health.

That almost two-thirds of a man's brain can be cut away without damaging his intellectual powers was the announcement of Dr. Walter E. Dandy, noted Johns Hopkins surgeon.

Discovery of a new enzyme in the intestines and kidneys that is believed operative against histamine, the protein said to be responsible for autointoxication and some cases of surgical shock, was reported by C. H. Best, of Toronto, co-discoverer of the insulin cure for diabetes.

An experiment that would seem to show that death from "heart failure" in an individual with a normal heart is impossible unless an injury actually destroys the organ was explained by Robert W. Siddle of the University of Maryland.

Dr. Dandy's revolutionary experiment, in which he cut away large portions of brain in operating for removal of tumors, contradicted the popular theory that a big brain means a high order of intelligence.

The surgeon told of removing both frontal lobes of one patient's brain and watching closely over a long period for changes in intellectual powers. There was no change, he said. Similar results were noted, he said, in a case where both frontal lobes and the upper portion of another section of the brain were removed.

POCATELLO BOY FATALLY HURT

POCATELLO, Idaho, March 28, (UP)—Calvin Pehrson, 4, was fatally hurt when he ran across the street into the path of a car driven by Clifford J. Thornton, 19, here last night. His skull was fractured when he was struck and knocked to the pavement. He was the son of Joseph W. Pehrson.

Children Ill From Eating Ant Paste

LOS ANGELES, March 28, (UP)—Six children, all under nine years old, were reported ill in a local hospital today after eating ant paste found in a tin can in the yard of their Hollywood home.

The youngsters, members of two families occupying the same house, had been playing while at play. One of the group sampled it, found the sweet, sticky substance tasty, and passed it around to his playmates.

IMPRESSIVE RITES MARK DEDICATION OF LODGE EDIFICE

High Officials in Odd Fellows Organization Participate in Ritualistic Work in the City of Twin Falls Last Night

Attended by grand lodge officers of the state of Idaho, including Frank Martin, Boise, past grand sire of the sovereign grand lodge, and H. C. Fuller, Ashton, grand master, of the Idaho Odd Fellows, and more than 200 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs representing lodges throughout the state, the ceremonial dedication of the newly completed $25,000 Odd Fellow lodge home on Third avenue east took place Thursday, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the local lodge.

The impressive ritualistic work of the dedicatory service was executed by the officers of the grand lodge, including H. C. Fuller, grand master; T. J. Lloyd, Twin Falls, grand marshal; C. O. Johnson, Boise, past grand master and acting grand warden; C. E. Rowcliffe, Twin Falls, acting grand chaplain. The local officers assisted, E. O. Claudin, noble grand presiding. Grand Master Fuller with the keys to the building, which were returned to him at the close of the ceremonial.

Outlining the purposes of Odd Fellowship, Frank Martin, former Idaho attorney-general and now executive of the international organization of Odd Fellowship, traced the development of the order which numbers 3,000,000 men in 20 different nations. Based on the acknowledgement of the fatherhood of God, and a recognition of the brotherhood of man, Odd Fellowship is a strong incentive for humanitarianism, Mr. Martin pointed out.

Grand Master Fuller and Presley F. Horne, Caldwell, grand secretary, were among the speakers at a banquet following the ceremony. J. Lloyd, Grand Marshall and past noble grand of the Twin Falls lodge; George Scholer, Burley, grand guardian; Carl O. Johnson, Boise, past grand master; Ed Smith, Boise, grand patriarch, and John Peters, Pocatello, past grand patriarch of the Idaho grand encampment, Patriarchs Militant, spoke on Odd Fellowship.

At the reception in the afternoon musical selections were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilton Peck, Mrs. D. H. Johnson sang and William Patterson, Jerome, played violin solos at the evening session.

Actress Sues Society Folk

Wealthy sponsors of a Miami, Fla., society circus, described as a charity affair, have been sued for $5000 by Irene Bordoni, above, noted actress, and other performers for their services. Several social registerites have been named defendants in the suit.

MYSTERY SHROUDS MURDER CASE IN REDWOOD SECTION

Companion Victim of Woman Found in California Now Being Sought by Officers; Identity Not Yet Established

EUREKA, Cal., March 28, (UP)—A companion murder victim to the red-haired girl found slain in the northern redwood forest perhaps the girl's sweetheart or husband—was sought today by sheriff's officers.

Working on a new clue based on six shots heard fired in the vicinity of the redwood log behind which the girl's body was found Monday, sheriff's officers searched the dense, undergrowth for another body.

Mystery, deep as the shadows of the towering redwoods which hid cloaked the murder for six weeks, continued to surround the identity of the murdered girl today.

Report of Charles Tracy, construction worker, that on a night about six weeks ago he heard six shots—then three more in rapid succession—supposedly in the vicinity where the girl's body was found had sent officers on the new search.

An autopsy revealed several days ago that the girl was killed by a bullet fired through her head.

Theory that an angered husband or jilted lover had slain the girl and a companion several miles from the redwood log was given strength by Tracy's statement and marks on the girl's shoes, officers said.

NEW APARTMENT HOUSE PLANNED

$10,000 Structure to Contain Four Apartments of Four Rooms Each; Third Ave. N.

Construction of a new $10,000 apartment house in the 200 block on Third avenue north in Twin Falls was announced today. The house will be owned by Anle Bruseau and the work has been let to Contractors Gahn and Hamilton, according to an application for a building permit filed with C. M. Hall, city clerk.

The proposed building, work on which has already started, will be on lots 25 and 26 of block 56. The building are to be 34 by 44 feet and the structure will contain four apartments of four rooms each. Two of the rooms will be on the first floor and two on the second floor. The building is being constructed of frame and stucco.

DELEGATES STUDY PLAN FOR TREATY AT ARMS PARLEY

Dream of Aristide Briand May be Realized; Has Long Wanted Agreement Supplementing League of Nations Covenant

LONDON, March 28 (UP)—The London naval conference radically changed its course today, and is now headed towards a general European security pact, long the dream of Aristide Briand of France, supplementing the League of Nations covenant.

A committee of French and British experts began an examination of the possibility of drawing up an agreement which, without materially increasing British military obligations, would give French the feeling of security she demands before she becomes convinced to armament reduction.

Briand's decision to return to Paris Tuesday, as he had expected, together with the statement of a spokesman for the French delegation who said flatly that the recent announcement of American views toward so-called "consultative pact" was largely responsible for the new turn of events.

Absence of Italian representatives on the new committee of experts was explained with the statement that at present Italy is one solely for adjustment between France and Great Britain.

There is no question that Briand expects to use out the coming negotiations the furtherance of a security pact much broader than the agreement first suggested by the French delegation.

The French foreign minister has in mind, it was indicated, an agreement to which other European nations might adhere, and which the United States might approve while not becoming an actual party to it.

Briand's goal is actually the creation of a United States of Europe, as counter-balance to the United States dominance in the western hemisphere, and the formation of such a European pact would be a step towards that ideal.

SHAUN GOILIN IS WINNER OF RACE

W. H. Midwood's Horse, Bidden by Tom Gullinan, Leads Field in Fast Steeplechase

AINTREE, England, March 28 (UP)—W. H. Midwood's Shaun Goilin, ridden by Tom Gullinan, one of the favorites, won the Grand National Steeplechase today.

A quarter of a million thronts acclaimed the gallant horse, who came home at the head of two score competitors after a gruelling journey of more than four miles over the most difficult course in the world.

Molleray's Belle, owned by William Wilson, was second, and J. H. Whitney's Sir Lindsay, the American owned favorite, was third.

Gullinan rode Howard Bruce's Billy Barton, the Baltimore jumper, in the Grand National of 1928 and 1929.

The finish was extremely close, Shaun Goilin winning by a neck from Molleray's Belle, with Sir Lindsay a length and a half away. Glangesla finished fourth, and the American owned M. D. Hirsh's Shirly Hanwood was fifth.

BRUENING ASKED TO JOIN NEW CABINET

BERLIN, March 28—(UP)—President Paul Von Hindenburg is called upon Heinrich Bruening, leader of the Catholic center party, to form a new German cabinet.

The President's invitation to Bruening had been forecast unofficially reports that such a move would be made to form a cabinet with the center group, the liberal wing and with the Social democrats, or the Social democrats alone, brought about by the resignation of Otto Hermann Muller's government yesterday.

Walter Eckersall Buried at Chicago

CHICAGO, March 28, (UP)—Along side the bodies of his father and mother, Walter Eckersall, admiral all-American quarterback, great football official and well known sports authority lay at rest in Oakwoods cemetery today. He died Monday from a heart attack.

Reds Lay Extensive Plans For Rebuilding of Nation

MOSCOW, March 28 (UP)—By 1940 the Soviet Union will have as much capital invested in industry as the United States, and will produce "with" the investments three times as much as the United States, according to a leading member of the state planning commission (Gosplan), Nikolai Kovalevsky, in an address before the Institute for Economic Research in Moscow.

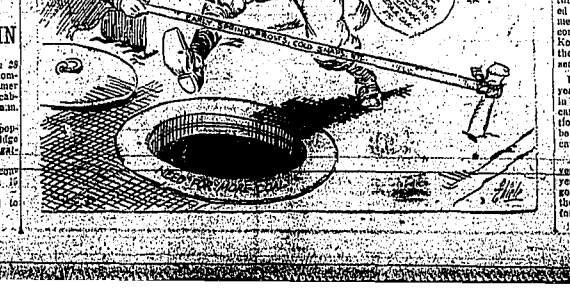
Under the tentative "Fifteen-year plan," he said, "our funds in 1929-40 must reach the American funds and our pure production must increase 10 times and be three times as large as American production."

Although he—ambitious five-year plan is only in the second year of its realization, the Soviet government is already outlining the general program of expansion for the decade beyond that. The fifteen-year plan, of which Kovalevsky is one of the authors, has been worked out in some detail, but in a series of "variations," each of them based on a different set of assumptions.

"Agriculture," Kovalesky declared, "in 10 years will give us an annual production valued at 75 billion rubles and in 15 years—120 billion rubles. All industry will be electrified and transportation will be 90 per cent electrified. In 10 years we will have 20,000,000 automobiles and 2,500,000 tractors; in 15 years—30,000,000 automobiles and 3,500,000 tractors."

The three-fold production on the basis of an equal amount of capital, as compared to the United States, he asserted, will be achieved because of the more rational organized planning in the Soviet Union.

How to Make a Hole in One—(An April Fool's Day Tip!)



Jimmy McLarin Fights California Negro Tonight

IRISHMAN FACES TEST IN MATCH WITH THOMPSON

McLarnin Hopes to Continue Climb in Welterweight Division and Is a 7 to 5 Favorite to Defeat Californian

NEW YORK, March 28 (UP)—One of the deadliest punchers in the ring, who one of the most modest men out of the ring, Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced Irishman from Vancouver, B. C., is confronted with one of the hardest assignments since he entered the welter-weight division. He meets "Black Jack" Thompson, California Negro in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

In all his career Thompson has never been KO'd and has been on the floor only once for a count. Famed for his punch, McLarnin's list of victims contain the names of many prominent fighters—Jackie Fields, Joey Sangor, Sid Terris, Phil McGraw, Stanislaus Loyaza, Joe Gilck, Sgt. Sammy Baker and Ruby Goldstein.

McLarnin is a 7 to 5 favorite to beat Thompson and continue on his way to a welterweight title bout with Jackie Fields outdoors this summer. Jimmy knocked out Jackie when they were just growing out of the flyweight division in 1926 and he is confident he can do it again.

When McLarnin fights in New York, it always means a sell-out, for the baby-faced fighter's modesty, fighting courage and knockout punch have made him most popular of present-day ring gladiators in Manhattan.

McLarnin is not invincible. It was at the Polo Grounds in the summer of 1928 that Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, gave Jimmy an artistic boxing lesson. Since then, McLarnin, with his added weight, has twice turned the tables on Mandell in Chicago.

Well-Known Flier Tests His Machine

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 28 (UP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, nationally known flier, today planned to continue test flights in the glider which he hopes will carry him from Los Angeles to New York next week.

Using an automobile for motive power, Captain Hawks tested his motorless ship for the first time yesterday. Finding the machine satisfactory, the flier hitched his glider to an airplane and was towed to an altitude of 5,000 feet where he cut loose to make a successful landing.

Capt. Hawks plans to leave here Sunday on the coast to coast glider hop, using a plane for towing.

The Jordan river has been accounted the most crooked stream in the world. But it cannot compare with the White river, Arkansas, which travels 1000 miles in traversing a distance of 50 miles.

HOOKS and SLIDES

"Spee" Meadows

The Cincinnati baseball team of almost 50 years ago had a pitcher by the name of Will White. He was looked upon more or less as a freak for he wore glasses, even while doing duty on the mound.

The major leagues were without a bespectacled player until 1914 when the St. Louis Cardinals bought a likely-looking prospect from Durham in the Carolina Association. His name was Lee Meadows and he wore glasses. It had been so long since Will White's passing from baseball that fans had almost forgotten that a baseball player could wear glasses. They said Meadows would never get any place. But he did.

Only the other day Uncle Wilbert Robinson contended that Lee Meadows might be of great help to his Robins this year. He decided to give the 36-year-old moundsman the chance he asked.

For several days Meadows tried his best sales talk on the Round Robin. It began to look like the veteran would not be able to convince the Brooklyn manager. Finally Uncle Wilbert relented.

Hobble Has Advantage

"I don't believe I can lose anything by granting Meadows a trial," Robbie said. "Maybe the odds are against his successful comeback but longshots have been known to pay off before. He was a mighty good pitcher, you'll remember, and if his arm's as good as he says it is Brooklyn will have gained a winning pitcher."

It seems to me that Uncle Wilbert has everything to gain and nothing to lose. He isn't gambling at all for Meadows only asks for a chance.

"If I can't pitch winning ball for you, I don't want a dime of your money," the bespectacled twirler told Robbie. "I don't want a contract, either, until I've demonstrated to everyone's satisfaction my qualifications. If you're convinced that I'm a pitcher who can win games, though, I'll need a major league salary."

Fair Shake All Around

It sounds fair enough, doesn't it? Brooklyn won't have to pay for something they aren't getting as in the case of Dazzy Vance and his $22,000 salary last year. Meadows must demonstrate his qualifications before he gets any money. It's a case of "satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded."

Meadows broke into the big show with the Cards, but went to the Phillies in 1919 in a trade. John McGraw wanted Lee in the bleacert kind of way while he was with the Phils—and Lee wanted to play for the Giant manager, too—but no deal was arranged. Meadows finally was traded by the Phils to Pittsburgh where the bespectacled one participated in two world series. He drew his release last year when the Bucs decided to fill his place on the roster with a youngster.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The Money Veil of Palestine. The money veil of Palestine symbolizes of heavy prings of silver coins, (mostly the obsolete "Thaler" coined by Maria Theresa) which still circulate in the Near East. The veil is the dowry of the unmarried girl, and in the married woman it is a quick and visible evidence of the family's wealth on a each basis.

PRIMO CARNERA IS EASY VICTOR

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 28 (UP)—Enriched by several thousand dollars, Primo Carnera and his circus of ring experts were en route to Denver today.

Carnera and his ring companions left here Wednesday night, 50 minutes after the unofficial judge had knocked out George Trafton, Chicago professional football player, his ring opponent.

The Chicago heavyweight fighter took the count 51 seconds after he entered the ring. During that time he tumbled to the mat once for a short count, swung once at the ponderous Primo and missed and then dived for the mat after being battered several times by Carnera's rights and lefts.

Local sport writers, commenting on the show, insisted there had been little or no fight, called Primo "the big illusion," said the announcements lasted longer than the ring action, compared the fighters as an elephant and a mouse and concluded the sirkling of the bell was virtually the only blow struck.

Cigar Sellers Win Over Cogswell Men

The Bell cigar store bowling team took two of three games from the Cogswell bowling team in last night's play of the commercial league. High individual score was made by Simmons of the Cogswell team with his count of 178. The total scores were:

COGSWELLS

Speaking Of Sport

By FRANK GETTY

United Press Sports Editor

The New York State Athletic Commission, known in some quarters as the "fight commish", has seen some hand-writing on a wall, and whether the writing be authentic or forgery, the boxing fathers have decided to take heed.

Warnings have been given that boxing's status with the New York state legislature is on a none too sound footing. The recent foul epidemic is said by some observers, notably the august William A. Muldoon, dean of boxing in the east, to have had a reaction unfavorable to the sport.

This reaction, of course, has been noticed in the behavior of the rank and file of boxing fans. That fan's too important, for they always come back for more.

But from a point of view of the business office of the great game of boxing, the displeasure over fouls as may be expressed by the state legislature is something else again.

Long has Commissioner Muldoon struggled against the foul evil. He has talked a lot about the recent Sharkey-Scott thing at Miami, and the talk has been uncomplimentary to almost everybody concerned with the exception of Phil Scott whom he termed a "courageous warrior", and of Scott's manager, James Joy Johnson, about whom he said almost nothing.

Something ago the commission announced a plan of attack on fouls. This was to uphold the pay of the boxer committing the foul blow, paying him only on a pro-rata basis for the number of rounds fought before the foul occurred.

Now the commission has made suspension of two, four and six months, for first, second and third offenses.

Make no mistake about it, the foul growth in boxing is hurting the sport enormously. The boys over the situation are not there "newspaper talk."

Prosperous Fishing

OCRACOKE, N. C., (UP)—Millions of pounds of fish have been taken off the central Carolina coast. Dealers and ship owners and crafts and as a result the revenue from seafood products in waters adjacent to Ocracoke and Hatteras will run near $2,000,000 for the season which will close in a few more weeks. This has been a very prosperous year for fishermen in the vicinity.

PIONEER MILLER GIVEN LAST RITES

BURLEY, Idaho, March 28 (Special)—H. C. Ehrlich, 76, died at Weston, Idaho, Tuesday of this week of pneumonia after a very brief illness. Mr. Ehrlich was well known resident of the Minidoka project of the earlier days, having been in charge of the Burbank flour mills for many years. He was married to Mrs. Grace O'Donnell some fifteen years ago, and was well known in Burley, where Mrs. O'Donnell has a daughter, Mrs. Guy Olin who lives south of town. Mrs. Ehrlich was head nurse in some of the most important cases in the section, having been located at Pocatello for several years, and in Utah for a time.

He was a prominent Mason and a member of the Christian Science church under whose auspices the funeral was held Thursday afternoon in the local Methodist church auditorium. Funeral services were also held by the Burley Masonic lodge. Mr. Ehrlich was a member of the Pocatello Rex-Cross lodge of that order. Mrs. Ehrlich survives him, and lives at Weston.

Mrs. Pearl Ward departed Wednesday of this week for San Francisco via Los Angeles. She lives in the bay city, but will stop in Los Angeles for a short visit with friends and relatives. She has been visiting Burley friends for several weeks.

State senator William Trefler of Minidoka county, was a Burley visitor Wednesday. The senator has represented Minidoka county in the past three sessions of the legislature and is highly respected in that body.

ASTRONOMER BELIEVES HE'S FOUND A NEW SERIES OF EMBRYONIC WORLDS

ROME, March 27—(UP)—Rafael Bendandi, the Italian seismologist and self-made astronomer, believes he has discovered—far out in limitless space beyond the boundaries of telescope—explored planets—a series of embryonic worlds in a state through which the earth passed millions of years ago.

Elaborating on his claims, announced Monday, that he had discovered four hitherto unknown planets beyond Neptune, Bendandi sought to push back the frontiers of the solar system hundreds of millions of miles beyond previous explorations. He contrasted the far-distant astral bodies with the earth and comparatively nearby planets.

"The physical conditions of these planets, inasmuch as they are so far away from the sun, are the same as those of the earth," he said in upholding his belief that scientific investigation will prove his claims. "They are not concentrated toward their centers as the Earth and Mars. It is silly to speak of habitation as they are still embryonic and are millions of years behind the earth. Their evolution will require many more millions of years."

Bendandi's calculations would increase the solar system area by 50 times, the fourth planet be described being seven times as far from the sun as is Neptune and requiring about 3,000 years to make one circuit around the sun.

OLDEST MONASTERY

BERLIN (UP)—One of the oldest existing monasteries in Germany, the Lehnin Cloister, located southwest of Potsdam, on April 2 will observe the 750th anniversary of its founding by Margrave Otto I, son of Albrecht the Bear. According to the tradition, Otto fell asleep on the site of the monastery and dreamed of a dear standing under an oak tree. News of this vision reached a group of monks living near Ekbelon and they, at his invitation, came to the spot and established the monastery.

UTAH INTERESTS VOICE OBJECTION TO RAIL MERGER

Protest Filed With Interstate Commerce Committee at Hearing in Salt Lake; Prominent Men Furnish Testimony

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 28 (UP)—Vigorous objection to the proposed merger of the Moffat line with the Denver and Rio Grande Western, on the basis that control of the Moffat road by the D. & R. G. would probably delay indefinitely the completion of the Salt Lake and Denver railroad, were voiced by Utah interests at the interstate commerce hearing Thursday.

Despite the ruling of Haskell G. Davis, I. C. C. examiner, that the hearing was for the purpose of taking evidence with reference to the proposed merger, and that evidence concerning the Dotsero cutoff or proposed extension to the Moffat line would be barred all witnesses at the morning session devoted their time to explaining what they termed was the necessity of the Moffat extension from Craig, Colo., to Salt Lake city.

Davis admitted the testimony Thursday declaring that it might be used in case of a future application to the Salt Lake and Denver railroad, proposed linking unit between Salt Lake and Craig, but he stipulated that such testimony could be presented merely as information, and not in argumentive form.

Julian M. Bamberger, vice-president of the Salt Lake and Denver railroad, the first witness called declared that completion and use of the Craig-Salt Lake extension would result in benefit to the people of Eastern Utah and Northwestern Colorado, and not to only a few stockholders. He said the S. L. & D. stock is widely distributed, no one stockholder owning more than $1,000 in shares, and classed it as a community enterprise.

"If the D. & S. L. were given trackage rights over the Moffat line," he said, "it would not carry out the original plans of the tunnel in serving the people of the region west of Craig."

Bamberger said that the S. L. and D. was opposed to the Dotsero cutoff if no provisions were made for service between Craig and Salt Lake, even if the Craig extension should be completed.

The Utah shippers traffic association was represented by J. S. Early, executive secretary, who presented resolutions demanding Philadelphia trackage rights into the Utah district.

L.D.S. Church To Observe Hundreth Anniversary Soon

SALT LAKE CITY—The 100th anniversary of the L. D. S. church is expected to bring more people to Salt Lake city than ever before in conference history, according to church officials, and preparations are under way to entertain in every way possible the visitors who trek to the Mormon capital in time for the opening meeting Sunday, April 6.

Throngs at the conference are anticipated to be so large that admission to the Tabernacle meeting at ten o'clock Sunday morning, and also to the pageant, "The Message of the Ages," which will be presented nightly beginning April 6th at eight o'clock, will be by tickets only, church officials state. Members may secure tickets from the Mission or their stake president without charge, it is asserted.

Reports indicate further that within the next few days "The Mormon Century Book," which is issued in commemoration of Mormonism's hundredth birthday, will be distributed throughout the membership of the church and elsewhere as a means of stimulating local and national interest in what a century of Mormonism has accomplished. This publication will contain feature articles by church leaders and other important writers of the west, it is stated.

Consul Moves for Release of U. S. Man Held Captive

MAZATLAN, Sinaloa, Mex., Mar. 28 (UP)—The United States vice-consul, E. W. Eaton, was negotiating Thursday for release of J. E. Bristow, American engineer, who was captured by bandits in the state of Nayarit March 9.

Eaton established contracts with military officials and was attempting to arrange for Bristow's release through parley.

The instigator of the abduction was believed to have been a former employee of Bristow's. It was said he enticed the American to a desolate area by promises of revealing the location of rich mineral deposits.

The Daily Poem

A KERRY GIRL

BY CLINTON SCOLLARD

The wind came out of the west
From Dingle Bay and the sea,
And it brought a sad unrest
To the brooding heart of me.

I heard it creep—creep—creep—
Through the quiet streets of the town,
And—never—a—bit—could—I—sleep—
For thought of the sounds that drawn.

Oh, it will drive me mad—
With its Rowling mbury,
For far away is a sailor lad
Who is part of the heart of me!

PROSPEROUS FRANCE

THE GENERAL consensus of opinion that the greater part of responsibility for the lack of success to date in the London naval conference is due to the position taken by France has inevitably caused the eyes of the world to be turned on the land of the lily and Napoleon.

To develop good will and to be fair and tolerant toward the points of view of other nations are duties that may not be shirked by the citizens of any country, but it is just as well that the searchlight of inquiry and publicity be turned against any country occupying the position that France has permitted herself to attain.

Bruce Catton, editorial writer for NEA, has expressed the opinion that the prosperity of France is one of the chief difficulties in the way of success of the conference. He says:

A few years ago French finances were in a desperate condition. The franc was tobogganing downward until it looked as if it might follow the German mark to complete collapse. Poincare was hurriedly made premier, with a mandate to stabilize the franc. New York and London bankers came to the rescue, and the franc was finally rescued.

The franc has been stabilized. The French budget for 1930 will have an excess of some $12,000,000. Furthermore, the Bank of France holds in gold reserves the huge sum of $1,725,000,000—a greater reserve than any other nation possesses except the United States.

Because of this huge reserve, the government has reduced the bank rate to 3 per cent, thereby favoring internal trade and preventing foreign capitalists from [illegible]ting a stranglehold on the country.

So it is that a member of the French delegation recently remarked to Milton Bronner, London correspondent for this newspaper and NEA Service:

"In this naval conference France is in an almost impregnable position. She does not have to fear America and England, because she is shielding herself with a golden buckler and she can, if need be, fight with a golden bullet."

And a leading French editor the other day wrote:

"France entered the naval conference of her own free will. If things do not please her, the French delegates can walk out and there will be nobody who can stop them."

To this impertinent observation by the French editor the Evening Times would retort that public opinion and the expressed longings of millions of common people of all the countries of the world may stop such action by France, or that they may at least remember the veiled insolence of France as the tortuous course between war and peace is taken by the leading nations of the world.

SPEED

THURSDAY morning an airplane came from Boise to Twin Falls in about 90 minutes. A conference of half an hour or so was held, and then the plane made off for Burley to permit of a meeting with Burley men. Twin Falls men who met the Boise men had not much more than driven by automobile five miles back to Twin Falls from the airport until the plane had reached Burley.

That is airplane transportation for you.

Remember when it required a day's hard traveling to drive by car from Twin Falls to Boise? Today the motorists who forget speed laws may make the trip in three or four hours. The airplane does it in an hour and a half.

The influence of the airplane will soon become a definite factor in business. Its possibilities are a mixture of the desirable and the undesirable. The airplane helps annihilate space and time. The statement is trite, but the demonstration of that truth is close upon us in our own dooryard and trade area.

MAY THEIR TRIBE INCREASE

RECENTLY Main street property owners in the business district have seen fit to replace deteriorated sidewalks with new construction in several cases.

For a city to have well maintained sidewalks may seem at superficial glance a matter of minor importance. Actually, it is quite important that we keep them up in good condition. They are used universally by all of our own population and by every visitor who spends universally by all of our own midst. Everybody treads the sidewalks at one time or another, and it is a good thing to see that they are a credit to the city.

Not all of our sidewalks in their present condition are creditable to either the city or the property they serve. Inevitably, breaks occur. The surface may disintegrate and become rough. The whole structure may sink by reason of the settling of the foundation. Obstructions that are not only unsightly but also offer some menace to the public and property owner alike are thus created.

Keeping sidewalks in the best possible condition may seem a small matter. We are judged by their state of maintenance more often than we may realize, and the tribe of those who are awake to the importance of keeping sidewalks in repair should increase.

SOUND DOCTRINE

PORTLAND OREGONIAN

Chairman Wickersham of the president's law enforcement commission is on firm ground in insisting that the enforceability it prohibition can be determined only by fair trial of a competent mechanism, and that as a matter of fact that is all that is asked by conservative advocates of the measure. Meanwhile, Mr. Wickersham's revelations concerning the extent of leakage from the other side of our northern border, via certain islands of the Atlantic, and also from the diversion of industrial alcohol, are less serious than might have been expected. A few hundred thousand gallons attributed to the first cause and some five or six million gallons to the second, for example, loom large only when standing alone. The figures are insignificant when reduced to terms of per capita or when compared with consumption in the years before prohibition. It cannot be fairly said that Mr. Wickersham's testimony contains much comfort for the wets.

On the other hand, it is in all probability too soon to think of foregoing the effective assistance which the Jones law is capable of rendering if prudently administered, and, not withstanding his implied opposition, Mr. Wickersham's testimony on that point is sufficiently reassuring. It is probably true, as he says, that enforcement is not helped in the long run by exaction of excessive penalties for minor violations, but this has not been done under the Jones law, as Mr. Wickersham himself has attested. What was desired, and what undoubtedly has helped greatly in promoting respect for the law in the mind of professional and occasional violators of the liquor laws, was a permissible penalty, that would restrain where short terms of imprisonment or fines of any amount whatever have failed to do so. There are instances where the fine is looked upon as merely a tax on the profits of the business, and short terms in jail can be served by hired substitutes for the domestic relations, that is to say, is not easy to obtain men willing to submit to the Jones law for hire and in this respect the statute has justified itself. It is a serviceable club behind the door to be taken down in extreme cases only, and Mr. Wickersham has given assurance that this is the rule.

There are noteworthy parallels between the proceedings before the senate committee and the simultaneous developments before the house of commons at Ottawa. Whether Mr. Mackenzie King was justifying to "steady improvement" in the enforcement of the dry laws, Mr. MacKenzie King was informing his fellow Canadians of the progress of negotiations with Washington looking toward the suppression of smuggling in general between the two countries. The debate over the bill to amend the Canada clearance act so as to discourage liquor shipments to the United States was interesting at the same time for a moment of reason, among them the "equalization upon high official authority of the notion that the pending bill and also the proposed treaty are the result of "great pressure" on the part of the United States. It is significant that Canada is acting on her own initiative—significant because it indicates once more the disrepute in which the liquor business is held in responsible quarters. It having been demonstrated that Canada spurns the potential revenues from the business for the reason that she clearly apprehends the greater costs implied in the traffic, the way is cleared for cooperation in the best sense between leaders in the two nations. It is necessary that Canada should sustain herself to the principle of prohibition in order for her people to realize that they cannot afford to form alliance with, not only liquor itself, but the train of consequences implied in organized flouting of law.

With tightening of industrial alcohol leakage, with the friendly co-operation of our neighbor, and with revisions of personnel such as will be practicable in the light of experience, the outlook for progressive improvement of the law enforcement situation is far from discouraging.

DISTRICT MUSIC CONTEST PROGRAM NEARLY COMPLETE

Preliminary Meet for Twin Falls Postponed; Schools Will Be Represented From Many Towns in South Idaho

The preliminary music contest for Twin Falls students, scheduled for April 11, has been postponed until Friday morning, April 18, just before the opening of the district musical contest in Twin Falls. This postponement was announced by P. N. Terry of Twin Falls, chairman of the district, upon request of the music instructors. The district music contest will be held both Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19 in the school auditorium here.

As now scheduled the preliminary contests, for the selection of Twin Falls entries in the district competition, will start at 9 o'clock the morning of April 18 and continue to 10 a. m. in the school auditorium. The events will be two soprano solos, three tenor solos and four baritone solos. From 9 a. m. until 12 noon there will be instrumental contests at the Christian church building, the contests consisting of three violin solos, two clarinet solos, two tuba solos, two saxophone solos, 12 piano solos.

District Program

The district contest will begin at the high school auditorium at 10 a. m. on April 18 with vocal selections. There will be five soprano solos, five mezzo-soprano solos, four alto solos, two tenors, three baritones and one bass.

From 2 p. m. until 4:30 p. m. Friday afternoon will be the instrumental selections, consisting of five violin solos, one cello solo, three clarinet, one bassoon, one French horn, one viola, one flute, three oboe, three cornet and four trombone solos. From 7 p. m. until 10 p. m. Friday will be band and orchestra competition, in Class C are four orchestras and one band, in Class B are three bands and one orchestra. Saturday morning between 10 and 11:30 will be more instrumental solos, the program including one baritone, one tuba, four saxophones, one marimba and five piano solos.

Saturday afternoon the vocal groups of Classes A, B and C will compete.

Class C will enter two girl's glee clubs, one boys' glee club and two mixed glee clubs. Class B will enter two girls' glee clubs and Class A will enter a girls' glee club, a boys' glee club, five vocal groups for girls from a trio to a sextette, one boys' group of corresponding number and one mixed quartette.

Plan Concert

From 7:30 until 10 o'clock Saturday evening there will be a concert at the auditorium to complete the day. The program of the concert opens with music by the Twin Falls high school band. Next will come the three best vocal soloists, the three best instrumental soloists, the two best glee clubs and the two best small vocal groups, to be selected by the judges of the contest. The program will close with another concert selection by the Twin Falls high school orchestra.

Class A events will be for the Twin Falls school only. Class B will contest of the representatives from Buhl, Filer, Burley and Oakley.

Class C will consist of the entries of the Castleford, Hagley, Hansen, Eden, Bellevue, King Hill and Bliss. Under the unclassified list will come entries from these towns and also from Kimberly, Hollister, Gannet and Wendell.

The following schedule have been suggested as judges, subject to approval of the music instructors: for voice, Mrs. W. A. Heisz of Jerome, Miss Georgia McMaster of Filer and Mrs. G. W. Hutton of Great Falls, Montana; for instrumental, Milton Snodgrass of Jerome, Miss Francis Fields of Albion Normal and A. E. Francis of Twin Falls; for band and orchestra, A. E. Francis of Twin Falls, J. T. Bainbridge of Twin Falls and Milton Snodgrass of Jerome.

Christian Endeavor Group Gives Play

ROGERSON, March 28 (Special)—The Rogerson Christian Endeavor society presented their play "Deacon Dubbs" Monday evening at the school house. A large group attended the play and was reported that it was well given. The proceeds amounted to approximately $45.00 including the money taken from the sale of candy and popcorn.

Four horses of John Lanting's ran away with a drill last Thursday morning, down about a half of mile of fence, damaging the drill and wasting about $4.00 worth of seed.

Mrs. Denner and Mrs. Small returned from Salt Lake Sunday. Mrs. Small's hearing has greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mullins and Mrs. Boyd were out to Royles to trade some rabbits Sunday night.

Mrs. J. E. Joslin went to Gooding Tuesday to dig up some strawberry plants at the home of her brother-in-law, Roy Joslin. She remained over night.

The Christian Endeavor society of the ogerson church held the election of officers Sunday night. Miss Dulcie Silence was elected president; Miss Georgia Suddreth vice-president; Miss Ruth Waters, secretary; Miss Georgia Suddreth, pianist; and Willie Lanting, treasurer. The president appointed the chairman of the various committees, and they in turn selected the other members of their respective committees.

Mrs. Carl Patrick and daughters Irene and Ruth of Hollister visited at the Jerome Helsley home Saturday.

Miss Maudie Helsley is confined to her bed by illness.

Mesdames Royle and Tanner received 700 baby chicks Saturday.

Mr. Jaggar visited friends in Jerome Sunday.

John Lanting worked several days at the Dave Chery ranch at Amesterdam.

R. H. Rich and family were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rich near Buhl.

Members of the play cast were invited to the W. L. Gardner home to spend a social afternoon Sunday. A delicious luncheon was served in the evening, after which Mr. Gardner brought the guests to the Christian Endeavor.

Les Donaldson bruised his feet last week while working on the section and was unable to work for several days.

S. H. Greene of Twin Falls visited in Rogerson Sunday.

Community Pays Citizen Tribute

MOUNTAIN VIEW, March 28, (Special)—The funeral of Herman Voss, a resident of this community the past 23 years until he went to live with his daughter Mrs. C. E. Allen in town about three years ago, was held at the Methodist church in Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon. The community extends their sympathy to the surviving relatives. Five children survive him three daughters Mrs. C. E. Allen, Mrs. J. O. Compton and Miss Lyda Voss and two sons George and Herman Voss, jr.

George Voss and Mrs. J. O. Compton motored to Pocatello Sunday to meet their brother Herman Voss coming here to attend the funeral of his father.

Henry Heidemann, jr., and mother Mrs. H. W. Riedeman, sr., left Tuesday morning for Lava Hot Springs where they will remain about a week.

Mrs. F. O. Paulson underwent an operation at Boise Tuesday morning. She has been there the past week and Mr. Paulson and Mrs. Paulson's sister, Mrs. York left here Monday to be with her at the time of the operation.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION OF THE QUALIFIED VOTERS COUNTY, IDAHO.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of Independent School District No. 1 of Twin Falls County, Idaho, that pursuant to a resolution regularly and duly made and adopted by the board of trustees of Independent School District No. 1 of Twin Falls County, Idaho, at a regular meeting of said board of trustees, held at Twin Falls, Idaho, on the 19th day of March, 1930, a special election was called for and notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in said district for the purpose of determining by a majority vote of the qualified electors of such school district voting at said special election, whether a levy, in addition to that provided by law, for the support and maintenance of the schools of such district, in some amount not exceeding seven (7) mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of such district, shall be levied by the board of trustees of such school district for the maintenance and support of such district for the fiscal year commencing on July 1, 1930; and notice is hereby further given:

1. That the assessed valuation of the property of such district for the year 1929 amounted to the sum of $3,314,417.

2. That the amount of money which the board of trustees has estimated to be necessary to conduct the schools of the district for the fiscal year of 1930 is $139,400.00.

3. That the approximate amount of money, the levy which the board is authorized to make will raise $66,514.70.

4. That the approximate levy in addition to the levy which the board is authorized to make that will be necessary to raise the money estimated by the board to be necessary for the conducting of the schools of the district for the fiscal year of 1930 is some amount not exceeding seven mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of such district.

5. That the date of said special election is Friday, April 4, 1930; that the place of said election for all qualified electors of said district residing west of Pine Lake Westward, to the wheels of Shoshone Street, and west of the highway running south from the southwest end of Shoshone street, will be at the Hickel School building; and that the place of said election for all qualified electors of said district residing east of Pine Lake Westward, to the wheels of Shoshone Street, and west of the highway running south from the southwest end of Shoshone street, will be at the Lincoln School building; which said Hickel School building and Lincoln School building are situated in the city of Twin Falls, County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, and within said school district; and that the place of special election will be held on the date aforesaid, between the hours of one o'clock P. M. and seven o'clock P. M.

6. That the qualifications of voters entitled to vote at such special election are:

(a) Electors within the meaning of Article VI, Section 2, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho.

(b) Residents of the District at the time of election.

That in addition to the foregoing requirements, said voters in all instances must possess one of the two qualifications:

(a) Parents or guardians of a child or children, when such child or children are under twenty-one years of age, and when such child or children and the parents or guardians thereof are residents of the district at the time of the election; or,

(b) A person who pays taxes within the district, and the husband or wife of such taxpayer in case the taxpayer is married.

A property-paid-tax-in-lieu-of-tax-payer within the meaning of the law defining the qualifications of qualified voters for such election.

Dated at Twin Falls, Idaho, this 12th day of March, A. D., 1930.

W. D. SACKETT
Chairman, Board of Trustees of Independent School District No. 1, Twin Falls County Idaho.

Banquet Arranged For Eden April 11

EDEN, March 28 (Special)—It was announced today that a Mother-Father-Daughter Banquet would be given Friday April 11. Parents of all girls belonging to the organization will attend this banquet which is expected to be one of the biggest successes of the Girl Reserves movement in Eden. There is an exceptionally large program which included talks by influential people of the community, as well as the best of musical entertainment. Miss Leonard, district secretary of the Girl Reserves will attend the banquet.

A regular Girl Reserve cabinet meeting was held at the high school Wednesday evening. Hazel Wilhite and Geneve Little were hostesses.

Mrs. E. E. Grant was in Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon.

Ulrich Martens returned from the McLain Orothopedic Hospital in St. Louis Sunday morning. He has been in the St. Louis hospital for the last four months receiving treatments there in an attempt to regain the use of his limbs which were deformed as a result of after effects of spinal meningitis.

John Bruns is constructing a new machine shed on his farm southwest of Eden.

The next meeting of Russell Grange will be held at Russell-Lane school house Thursday April 3rd. The Grange is progressing rapidly since its organization a few months ago as they have a large enrollment at present and the meetings are well attended.

Two thousand head of sheep belonging to Russell-Lane farmers are being pastured in the Dexter north of Russell-Lane. The grass on which the sheep are grazing is reported fair but not as good as other years due to the obstinate spring weather this year.

It was reported yesterday that J. C. Knott would return from St. Valentines hospital in Wendell sometime next week. He underwent two operations one for appendicitis and had his tonsils removed in the second operation.

Last minute touches are being put on the comedy hit of the year "Loose Ankles" which will be given Friday March 28. The stage has been rearranged so that its appearance is improved and the sound will be carried to the audience better. A dress rehearsal was held Thursday night.

Robber Spurns Dime In Staging Holdup

WOODLAND, Calif., March 28 (UP)—Even though John D. Rockefeller gives dimes away a robber spurned a dime in a holdup here, police revealed today.

Arthur James of Broderick was quick to put his hands up when ordered to do so by a thug last night.

After going through his pockets and finding only a dime the holdup man said, "It that all you have?"

When assured it was he said, "You need it more than I do, beat it." And James complied.

We'll prove it in 50 seconds

So outstanding is the superiority of the marvelous new

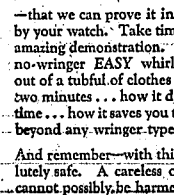
no-wringer EASY WASHER

—that we can prove it in 50 seconds by your watch. Take time to see this amazing demonstration. See how the no-wringer EASY whirls the water out of a tubful of clothes in less than two minutes . . . how it does two operations at one time . . . how it saves you time, labor and clothes far beyond any wringer type washer—even our own.

And remember—with this startling speed it is absolutely safe. A careless operator or curious child cannot possibly be harmed.

The no-wringer EASY can be had now in either suction type or agitator type washer at the lowest prices ever offered. If it is inconvenient for you to come in, we'll bring the new EASY to you—and demonstrate it free—in your home. Phone today when you want us to come.

You can prevent at one time! You can be washing second load while the first is being dried—finished clothes ready to iron in 15 minutes



You save sewing because buttons don't come off. Metal fasteners don't flatten, fabrics don't pull and seams gussets don't crack. No deep crevices.

Absolutely safe! A child can not have herself, because wringer parts are all enclosed. Clothes come out automatically. No hand-feeding into a wringer.

DAIRY PROFESSOR ASKS IDAHOANS TO EAT MORE BUTTER

Raise In Price of Butterfat Would Follow Greater Consumption according to Teacher at University of Idaho

(Editor's Note—This is the first of a series of four articles on butter substitutes, prepared by Professor Theophilus of the Dept. of Dairy Husbandry of the University of Idaho college of agriculture, to promote the consumption of Idaho dairy products. The second of the series will be published in the Idaho Times later.)

Approximately 3,000,000 pounds more of butter were withdrawn from storage in the United States during January 1930, than during the same month in 1929. This reduction in the surplus of storage butter is encouraging, but it is no assurance that the reduction will continue. The surplus of dairy products in storage included not only butter, but also evaporated and condensed milk, dried milk and cream. Much milk and cream that has usually been sold for manufacturing into cheese and evaporated milk has been sold instead to the creamery and converted into butter. This has resulted in increasing the surplus of butter and has disrupted the normal relation between butter and other dairy products.

On February 1, 1930, there were in storage in the United States, 35,452,000 pounds of butter in excess of what was in storage February 1, 1929. Recent reports indicate that this surplus has not been materially reduced during February. In fact, there is a possibility of a slight gain.

A strenuous effort must be made to increase the consumption of butter for the reduction of the surplus of butter affects not only directly the butter industry, but also indirectly other sections of the industry such as the evaporated and condensed milk, the dried milk and the cream industries. Unless the present economic condition of dairy products is remedied, it will undoubtedly have a decreasing effect on any efforts which are made to improve general agricultural conditions.

One of the several important influences contributing to the present dairy situation in the United States, as well as in Idaho, is the sale of so-called butter substitutes. The production of these so-called butter substitutes in the United States during 1929 increased 11 per cent and the consumption of them increased 0.25 of a pound per capita while butter consumption decreased 0.3 of a pound per capita. Every pound of butter substitute used represents a pound of butter not sold. In Idaho there were approximately 1,250,000 pounds of butter substitutes sold during 1929 which was 2.5 pounds per capita and which represented the same number of pounds of butter, which is equivalent to the annual production of 500 dairy cows. This has deprived the state of an income of creative wealth of $500,000.00 which would have been retained within the state itself. As it was, the money spent for butter substitutes went to manufacturers outside of the state of Idaho.

In addition, the replacement of this amount of butter has helped swell the present surplus. The dairy industry of Idaho and the agricultural population of that state, as well as Idaho as a state, must consider the use of so-called butter substitutes from an economic standpoint: First, because it affects the income of the state's wealth, because it influences the prosperity and purchasing power of the agricultural population of the state engaged in dairying; and third, because every additional pound of butter substitute sold aids in increasing the present surplus of butter in the United States and thus helps to continue low butterfat prices.

Every dairyman, every farmer and every citizen of the state of Idaho should prove his state pride by using butter produced and manufactured in Idaho instead of using so-called butter substitutes manufactured from imported oils by corporations located outside of Idaho.

NEW VEGETABLES NOW ON MARKET

Director of County Health Unit Advises Use of Fresh Green Foods When Possible

"Fresh green vegetables should be much in evidence on the family dinner table now that winter is passed and the vegetables are becoming available," stated Dr. George Halley director of the county health unit, Thursday afternoon. "Fresh vegetables are particularly desirable at this time of the year and are exceptionally healthful because of the vitamines they contain, and the iron and the salts necessary for the proper toning up on the system," said Dr. Halley.

"Vegetables are particularly palatable at this season of the year and should be served at every table where a child eats," he said.

A check through the markets of Twin Falls today shows that homegrown green onions and fresh green spinach are being offered for sale. Other early season vegetables, including carrots turnips, beets radishes, celery cauliflower, head lettuce and cabbage have been shipped into this city for retail purposes from southern truck gardens. As fast as locally grown vegetables become available the importing products will decide. New potatoes, of course, will not be placed on the market locally before the latter part of June or the first of July. Some may be shipped in before that time by the various produce companies.

All vegetables displayed in the Twin Falls markets were in good condition, being fresh and crisp.

Though it is still a little early for that sort of thing, many housewives of southern Idaho will soon be able to take knife and can outside and find a mass of tangerine greens.

Our Mary's Kitchen

BY SISTER MARY

Just as the modish woman of today adds that "well turned out" look to her general effect by the careful choice of accessories, so the clever housewife may increase the popularity of the dish that is more wholesome than welcomed by the dolt use of some added material.

The food accessory differs decidedly from the garnish in that it is not merely ornamental. Quite dates, talaina, cocoanut, candied fruit, jelly—these and many others combine happily with the most nutritious and economical dishes. And they add nutrition and interest to the combination with relatively little expenditure of time or money.

The carefully chosen food accessory is not an extravagance. 1, two or three chopped dates added to the children's cereal will make the dish a great, instead of a mutating "bone of contention," it surely cannot be termed extravagant. Especially since the dates add about two calories to the dish as well as some food iron.

Nuts or raisins or both added to baked apples increase the food value and assure them a cordial welcome. A spoonful of jelly is another pleasant variation that it put in the cavity left when the core is removed from the apple.

Chopped nuts sprinkled over cup custards or plain cornstarch puddings add much to their attractiveness as well as food value. Two tablespoons of chopped English walnuts added to each serving adds 100 calories.

Shredded cocoanut sprinkled over canned peaches makes them doubly attractive. The simple healthful dessert of sliced orange and bananas acquires new character if a sprinkling of cocoanut is added to each serving. Fruit salads are given increased food value by the addition of cocoanut.

Although candied fruit is more expensive than the other accessories mentioned, it will do wonders to almost any everyday dish. Liquid pudding sauces that may be desirable for children but not overly tasty gain actual distinction if a few tablespoons of finely chopped candied cherries or pineapple are added.

In spite of all jokes, figures prove that Englishmen are more saving than Scots.

QUALITY vs. PRICE

Some food stores talk about price so much that we wonder the customers do not feel "priced to death." At least, price must have become a trite, stereotyped word to them. That is why we do not quote endless strings of prices. We know you realize there must be something more than price to make foods good. And, since we can't exhibit the remarkably good quality of our edibles by means of print, we can only tell you about them in a truthful way each week.

OUR PLAN

O. P. Skaggs System stores simply tell you that we believe we have the most unusual offerings in town, and invite you to come to our store to make your own comparisons. When you see the choice quality of our merchandise at our costs to you you will thank us for adopting this procedure, and omitting price quotations in our ads. Once you see what we have for you, you'll never pass up our offerings. From then on, as thrifty, good managing housewives, it will be O. P. Skaggs System foods that you'll serve your family.

Masonic Party Is Attended By Many

More than one hundred guests attended the first of a series of benefit parties being arranged by the Twin Falls Masonic lodge to provide funds for the entertainment of the Idaho Grand lodge which will convene in Twin Falls next September. The early part of the evening was devoted to a musical program. Guests were welcomed by C. R. Lindsey, worshipful master of the Masonic lodge, and Mrs. C. E. Potter, worthy matron of Twin Falls chapter, order of the Eastern Star, stated that the Masons had the co-operation of the organization which she represented.

A. E. Stifer, chairman of the committee, announced the following numbers: Vocal solos by Mrs. H. F. Andrews, Acequia; Kenneth Henderson, Twin Falls; trio selections by Mrs. G. S. Terry, Mrs. E. S. Fitzwater and Mrs. J. A. Dysert, accompanied by Mrs. J. S. Harvey; quartet numbers by A. D. Bellamy, L. L. Patrick, Kenneth Henderson and R. H. Mawer, and several selections by the high school orchestra, directed by J. T. Bainbridge.

Tables were then arranged for cards, the diversion for the latter part of the evening. Bridge high and low prizes went to Mrs. R. A. Reynolds and J. J. Shepard. Kimberly at pinochle prizes went to Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. Herman E. Franson. Flier.

Refreshments were served. The committee included A. E. Stifer, Terry Prater and Ray Shyter.

Founder's Day Is Observed by M. E. Mission Society

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church met in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon, observing Founders' day, the sixty-first anniversary. The business session opened with Mrs. F. A. Rowan, the president, in the chair. Mrs. Homer Hollister very ably conducted the devotional, choosing as her subject, "The Unfinished Task." After the reports of the various officers had been heard, Mrs. H. G. Humphrey of Gooding gave an inspirational talk on "Our Work As Missionary Women, What We Are Doing, and What We Should Do As Our Unfinished Task."

Mrs. C. F. Bistow conducted the candle ceremony, demonstrated by six cakes with 60 lighted candles, representing the six decades of missionary work. Mrs. Bistow gave an interesting account of the work of each decade, and was assisted in the candle lighting by Mrs. William Baker. Mrs. C. E. Potter sang a solo, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled", by Oley Speaks, accompanied by Mrs. A. G. Iseger. A social hour was then enjoyed and refreshments were served by the executive board of which Mrs. S. P. Yantis is chairman.

Fashions

Top to Toe Alliance Make For Harmony

NEW YORK, (UP)—That the woman of poise has not been neglected in current fashion is most gratifying. So often a season is merely a series of flapper fashions, but with the passing of the term itself has passed the domination of the style program. There are many youthful frocks of course, but fortunately women left with only the memory of youth are not compelled to wear them with as good grace as possible.

It is the frock with a draped feeling. It is sophisticated, it is not sponsored by the debutante, it is classic, a type for women of poise. It is not what was formerly termed a draped gown, but somewhere it shows a feature which suggests the draped idea. It may be in the bodice or in the skirt or have slight intimation in both.

The hint of it here and there is sufficiently frequent to make it one of the style phases worth watching. "Will the draped mode next engage our attention when the animated ripples of the circular mode have exhausted their novelty? It is a feeling which began perhaps with the discreet shirrings of Paquin and Augustabernard which have hinted at drapes in bodices and in hipline arrangements for several seasons.

It appears in more exaggerated shirrings drawn to an ornament on the bodice or in more of the swathed suggestion at hips. The movement of the skirt may concentrate to a draped bow of the fabric low or high at one side.

The Grecian mode is hinted and while these ideas are not as classic in theme as the Greek draphery, they partake of a similar feeling.

It is a style which once it has made its gesture will be caught up promptly as designers are partial to it and women appreciate its possibilities of figure accents.

Deep Creek School Pupils Vaccinated

There are at present about 15 cases of smallpox in Twin Falls county, most of them being in the west end, announced Dr. George C. Halley of the county health unit today. All students of the Deep Creek school who would submit to it were vaccinated by the health unit this week. Students in the Cedar Draw and Popular Hill common school districts were given physical examination by the health unit.

Aside from the 15 cases of smallpox the county is in good health, stated Dr. Halley. There are eight tin cases of measles in the county, eight in Twin Falls and the other two in Filer. There are about five cases of chicken-pox in the city of Twin Falls. At present there are no cases of spinal meningitis.

SPOTTED FEVER, DANGER GREAT

At the present time of year, special care should be taken to avoid sage ticks and spotted fever, stated Dr. George C. Halley, director of the county health unit. A serum furnished by the United States Public Health service from the Hamilton, Montana, office, can be obtained from any physician or the county health unit for protection it was stated. The serum should be taken in two doses one week apart to get the best results.

All people planning trips into tick infected areas or who will work on the range with sheep this spring should first obtain the serum, advised Dr. Halley.

Fruit salad is always in order—the best sort of tempter. Molded—a different touch is added—is necessary to the slump in spring appetites. Soften ½ package of gelatine in ¼ cup cold apricot juice. Dissolve in 1½ cups of hot fruit juice. Add juice of 1 lemon and ½ orange. Pour into small molds. Chill. When mixture begins to thicken, add 1½ cups of fruit. In [illegible] grapefruit, bananas, pears, white grapes or what have you. Set aside to become set and cold. Serve on lettuce leaves with either cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise to which has been added whipped cream.

Welsh rabbit (rarebit) is a bit of artistry in itself. Suitable for lunch, Sunday night suppers, after the theater feeds—it is also a tighter protein food—no necessity in the daily wear and tear of the body—an excellent substitute for the more wintery meat dishes.

½ pound grated or sliced cheese
½ cup liquid-milk, cream, white-sauce, or tomato puree
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mustard
1 to 2 tablespoons butter if desired. Melt all in double boiler, stir constantly until smooth. An egg yolk may be added if desired. Serve at once on toast squares or crisp crackers.

PRISONS CALLED PROOF OF SOCIAL FAILURE

COLUMBIA, Mo., (UP)—The very existence of a prison is a confession of social failure in the basic institutions of the community, Dr. Howard E. Jensen, professor of sociology at the University of Missouri, said in an address here.

"Prisons are society's fourth and last defense against crime," Dr. Jensen said. "Our first line of defense is to be found in the efficient operation of the normal social institutions which lay down and transmit the basic patterns of life and behavior."

Jensen declared that society has developed a distressing amount of hysteria regarding penal institutions, which he said threatens to destroy, through lack of misunderstanding, the penological advances of the last quarter century.

SWEDES GOES IN FOR NEW STYLE OF MOTOR BOATS

STOCKHOLM (UP)—Sweden now has more than 50,000 registered motor boats and about 600 builders of such craft. Although yatching still has many devotees the average Swede is becoming more and more interested in motor boating. The types of boats vary in size and power, the majority, however, being between 25 and 30 feet in length, driven by engines of 10 to 25 horsepower. Cabin cruisers, developing about 10 knots are the most popular.

WHEAT RALLIES ON TRADE BOARD

CHICAGO, Mar. 28. (UP)—Wheat rallied sharply at the close on the Board of Trade today on buying stimulated by the continued dry weather in the southwest and the relatively firm cables from Liverpool and Buenos Aires. Commission houses and shorts were the chief buyers with volume very light most of the day. Bulls brought forth wheat freely until late in the session. Corn and oats were higher with the wheat.

At the close wheat was 1⅝ to 2c higher, corn was ⅞ to 1c higher and oats was unchanged to ⅛c higher. Provisions were steady.

SYNOPSIS

Held prisoners in the Raja's palace after the fog forced their airplane to land in the Himalayas, the Raja's subjects, his friend Major Crespin and the latter's betrothed wife Lucilla (whom Traherne loved ere he to be married to the native green goddess on the day the Indian authorities execute the Raja's three half brothers for a political murder. As the Major rents a wireless message for help the Raja hinks it and shoots him. Traherne and Lucilla are taken to the temple the next day to be sacrificed to your idol. The Raja offers Lucilla life if she will enter his harem. Traherne attacks the Raja and is tortured.

"Shall I cut them again, Basil?" she moaned. "Tell me that."

"Who knows?" he groaned and slowly after a silence. "Even to comfort you, I won't say I am certain. But I do sincerely think you may."

"You think," she asked with a world smile, "there is a sporting chance?"

"Mind that—I say it!" Traherne's emphatic reply. "This life is such a miracle—could any other be more incredible?"

"But even if I should meet them in another world," she moaned, "they would not be my Romy and Basil. I'd be a strange man and a strange woman, built up of exactly what I had had no share. Oh, it was cunning, cunning, that devil said to me! 'Be wicked, child! Wicked! Cancel your lives of childhood.'"

"How do you know that God is going to take their childhood from you?" he comforted her gently. "You may be with them this very night—with them, unseen, but perhaps not unfelt, all the days of their life."

She shook her head sadly. "You are saying that to make what poor Antony called a 'horse' for me—to soften the horror of darkness that is waiting for us. Don't give me 'dope,' Basil—I can face things without it."

"I mean every word of it!" the man said sturdily.

"If," Lucilla said sadly, "we are freed from all human weakness, shall I love my children more than any other woman's? Can I love a child I cannot kiss, that cannot look into my eyes, and kiss me back again?"

"Oh," he cried roughly, springing up as he spoke. "Lucilla, don't don't remind me of all we are losing! I meant to leave it all unspoken—the thought of him lying out there seemed to tie my tongue. But we have only one moment of this side of eternity. Lucilla, shall I go on?"

"SHALL I go on?"

After an instant's pause, she bowed her head.

"Do you think," he cried, "it is with a light heart that I turn my back upon the life of earth, and all it might have meant for you and me—for you and me, Lucilla?"

"Yes," the woman whispered. "Basil, for you and me." She gave him her hands and rose and stood beside him.

"Rather than live without you," he told her, "I am glad to die with your but, oh, what a wretched glad! Yes, compared with life in love with you, and loving you! I wonder if you have guessed what it has meant to me, ever since we met at Delhi. Lucilla—to see you as another man's wife! It has been hell—hell!"

"Yes," she said—"I know. Hell! I have known from the beginning."

"Oh, what do I care," he cried passionately, "for a bloodless, shadowy life—life in the abstract, with all the sinuous curves! Better eternal sleep!"

envious in which I had had no share. Oh, it was cunning, cunning, that devil said to me! 'Be wicked, child! Wicked! Cancel your lives of childhood.'"

"How do you know that God is going to take their childhood from you?" he comforted her gently. "You may be with them this very night—with them, unseen, but perhaps not unfelt, all the days of their life."

She shook her head sadly. "You are saying that to make what poor Antony called a 'horse' for me—to soften the horror of darkness that is waiting for us. Don't give me 'dope,' Basil—I can face things without it."

"I mean every word of it!" the man said sturdily.

POTATO MARKET IMPROVEMENT IS NOTED IN WEEK

Shipments of Spuds Continue Heavy from Most Areas; the Demand Strengthens the Market to Good Advances

Potato market conditions showed a great improvement during the ten day period ending Thursday. While shipments continued liberal from most producing areas of the country, a good demand at consuming centers strengthened the market to where sharp advances were made in prices at shipping points say Idaho reports. Total shipments for the country averaged 867 cars daily except Sunday during this time. Seed movement was nearly finished except for the few cars that are yet to be sold in the north.

Idaho shipments for the ten days totalled 816 cars. The Idaho Falls section loaded 555 cars of the state's total. This included a fair amount of seed potatoes that moved from the Ashton district to southern Idaho points. The Burley-Twin Falls section loaded 261 cars for shipment during this time while the balance of 19 cars were loaded in the Caldwell section. Colorado shipments continued around 100 cars daily when 14th service only available, but dropped to 20 or 30 cars on the alternate days. Minnesota and Maine shipped heavily while Wisconsin moved a fair amount daily. Michigan, Washington and Nebraska shipments were rather limited.

Prices Higher

Shipping point prices in Idaho were sharply higher. Opening sales, cash track, on number one Russets ranged $2.20-2.35 a week ago last Monday, and immediately began an advance that carried prices to a top of $2.45-2.55 early this week. Some poor stock sold a shade below these figures. Demand was exceptionally good during the past week. Number two Russets opened around $1.55-1.60 last week and had advanced to $1.70-1.75 and slightly higher early this week. Supplies of Burbanks were about cleaned up and too few sales were reported to quote. Wagonload sales of bulk Russets, number one, opened last week with a range of around $2.00 on ordinary stock and as high as $2.15 on fancy stock. Prices had advanced to $2.15-2.25 and higher by the first part of the current week.

Colorado shipping points showed little fluctuations in prices during this time. Wisconsin and Minnesota sales advanced 15-25c over the ten days while Maine reported an advance of 15-20c cwt. Many of the loadings in Colorado were of cleaner stock that sold at discount prices, and this probably had some effect in eliminating Colorado from the general advance of prices.

Terminals Advance

Terminal market prices also advanced during this time, but not as sharply as at shipping points. Chicago reported 10-15 advance on Russets and 15-20c on Northern Whites. Kansas City reported 5-15c advance on Russets and 25-30c on Red River Ohios. Ft. North prices showed only a slight chance for the better. St. Louis showed 10-15c advance on Russets and Los Angeles prices firmed 15c higher. Track holdings of potatoes in the 16 principal markets of the country opened the current week with a total of 1,008 cars compared to 1,141 cars the previous Monday.

Planting intentions of growers in the second early potato states shows that except for the reduced plantings of 1929, the acreage would be the lowest since 1923.

ACTION ON UTAH SCHOOLS DELAYED

Question of Relations Between High Schools and L. D. S. Seminaries to Be Settled

SALT LAKE CITY, March 28 (UP)—Probable final action on the question of relations between public high schools and L. D. S. seminaries in Utah will be taken by the state board of education when it meets April 4 to consider recommendations of its committee appointed to study the problem.

C. A. Robertson, Moab, and George A. Egan, Salt Lake, two of three members of the committee, as a result of their investigation, submitted a report which proposed:

1—Complete disassociation of L. D. S. seminaries from public high schools, including discontinuance of carrying seminary data on high school programs and record cards.

2—Withdrawal of any credit for religious instruction in the high schools, and of similar credit to meet entrance requirements of the state university and state agricultural college.

3—That no school time of students be used for attendance or preparations of lessons from seminary classes, and that students be not excused during the regular school day for attendance elsewhere for religious instruction.

Action on the report was postponed when Dr. Joseph F. Merrill, commissioner of education for the L. D. S. church wrote the Board, asking the right to appear before action is taken. If the report of the committee is adverse to present relations between the seminaries and schools.

The investigation committee was appointed by I. L. Williamson, state high school inspector, who has presented a ruling charging that seminaries were closely connected with public school throughout Utah.

Crowds Throng Station to See Young Montana Killer

BUTTE, Mont., March 28 (UP)—One forlorn hope buoyed up the spirits of Melvin Payette today—that he might strike a bargain with "the law" by which he might cheat the noose.

The seven-old slayer of Mrs. Christina Wilson, 62, frankly admitted he intended to barter with the county attorney's office for his life.

If authorities will promise he won't be hanged, he will gladly plead guilty and feel himself lucky to get off with a life term, he said. But if these same millions of the law insist he should pay with his life for his crime against society, even the sullen faced slightly built youth will demand trial.

Today Payette sat quietly at the inquest over the death of the woman he killed. He seemed undisturbed as the crowd stared at him—at 7:30 a.m. the court house corridors were jammed with curiosity seekers anxious for seats—and listened attentively to the evidence given by many witnesses.

With a slight smile playing about his lips as he stepped off the train, Payette returned to the city of his crime late Wednesday. A crowd of approximately 1500 jammed the station and overflowed onto the platform and streets—1600 craning, open mouthed people who gave up an hour or so of their time just for a glimpse of the murderer. The youth was led from the station through the lane made by two lines of gaping citizens, ushered into a car and whisked away to the police station where he was questioned by Chief of Police Jere Murphy, fingerprinted and then, at last, taken to the county jail.

Newspapermen Wednesday night broke through the surly barrier of silence maintained by the youth for days. For over an hour Payette dispassionately related details of his crime; details which, he recalled, he had not mentioned before.

The young killer blamed fiction and factual murder stories he had read, poverty and "rot gut" moonshine for the crime. These he said, were the motivating forces behind his act.

He was feeling ill from drinking whisky and was reading a murder story in a popular sensational magazine just before he committed the crime, he said.

On the day he killed Mrs. Wilson in the Paragon hotel, March 11, he had been visited by a navy recruiting officer there would be no place open for months. Returning he opened his closet door and there discovered a bar and a rope. These instruments of crime so near at hand, crystallized his wavering resolution to rob—he maintained he did not intend to kill the woman and didn't know she was dead until he received Billings.

When Mrs. Wilson entered his room to make the bed, he struck her over the head. She screamed and fought. He hit her again and again and finally tied her to the bed. He denied stuffing a towel down her throat.

Later he went to her room, took $325, and escaped through a window. He denied taking valuable securities reported to be missing.

MUCH RED TAPE AT ARMS PARLEY

Rumors Fly Thick and Fast When Delegates Get Together to Slash the Navies

By ARCH RODGERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, (UP)—A long time before the dawn of naval conference, somebody made the remark that there was nothing new under the sun. This apparently included diplomacy, for the "new diplomacy" upon which the preparations for the London Naval Conference of 1930 were based turned out to be not so new, after all.

There was probably more preparation for the London conference than for any similar gathering since the warriors of the stone age got together and decided to knock a few chips off their granite hammers. There were conversations, notes, meetings of the interested diplomats, and the journey of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to chat with President Hoover on the banks of the Rapidan. Then the conference started with private sessions and the usual crop of rumors about secret agreements and the alliance of one group of the five powers against some other group.

Nobody was extremely surprised. The Paris newspapers cheered at the return of the good old days. Not that anybody had been quite sure that the old order had perhaps changed, but the idea of a new diplomacy had some of the bass drum feature wondering how they would be able to make a living, and a noise.

Finally a fairly reliable rumor crept out and got around London quicker than a November fog. This naval disarmament conference was being advertised as an example of the new diplomacy because one William R. Shearer was among the missing. All quiet on the Western Union, and on the Postal, too.

Prospects for the success of the new diplomacy did not look too good during the opening days of the conference. It appeared that the preliminary conversations and notes had not advanced matters as far as the taxpayers had been led to believe. In any event, the delegates went back to the very crude custom of talking things over among themselves and, believe it or not, one or two trial balloons were released among the hungry journalists. Trial balloons in well informed diplomatic circles, have the habit of indicating which way the zephrs are sighing.

There is little doubt, however, that the preparations for the conference did much to clear the ground, or perhaps the underbrush, before the disarmament delegates gathered before the microphone in the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords. The position of each nation had been clearly and publicly stated, on general lines and with plenty of opportunity for reservations. All this work had to be done some time, regardless of what happened to it, later on, and it was better to get through with it before the social deliberations started. After all, a diplomat would not get much fun out of putting all his cards on the table before the game got interesting.

No Fair, No Play

BOSTON, March 28 (UP)—A boxer who the referee decides has committed a deliberate foul would not receive a nickel if Jim Corbett, conqueror of John L. Sullivan, had his way. The former heavyweight champion expressed this opinion here between acts in a vaudeville tour he is making. Gentlemen Jim would top the punishment off with a six-month layoff.
