LEAGUE CIRCLES ASTONISHED BY U. S. ATTITUDE

Officials at Geneva Assert Sending Out of Circular Letter Was But Part of Routine Procedure in Matter.

(By the Associated Press)

GENEVA, April 2.—League of nations circles expressed astonishment tonight on the receipt of dispatches from Washington saying that the action of the league in sending a circular letter to the members of the world court inviting them to a conference to consider the American reservations had caused surprise in official circles of the American capital.

Officials of the league said that however Washington may have felt about the council's original decision to convoke a conference for the purpose of discussion of the reservations put forward by the United States in connection with her becoming a member of the court, the actual invitation to the United States to participate in the discussions, there can be no justification for surprise over the actual dispatch of the invitations.

These officials explained that the sending out of the circular letter to the court signatories was nothing but routine procedure called for by the decision of the council.

COOLIDGE AGAINST ACCEPTANCE

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—President Coolidge feels that the league of nations' invitation to the United States to participate in the world court conference in Geneva in September should not be accepted. He takes the position that the senate reservations speak for themselves and therefore, it is not necessary to send a delegation to Geneva to explain them.

In view of his attitude, made clear today at the White House, it appears certain that the league invitation, received yesterday by Secretary Kellogg, will be declined with thanks. As the situation shaped up tonight, although no reply has been forwarded to Geneva, only unexpected developments could cause the president to change his mind.

He clearly approves of the direct negotiations the state department has initiated with the forty-eight governments signatory to the world court protocol, and sees no reason why it cannot be determined in this way whether the United States is to enter the court under the senate stipulations.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO

TEXARKANA, Texas, April 2. (AP)—Two passengers were instantly killed and four others seriously injured late today when lightning struck the farm home of W. N. Johnson, near Red Water, in Bowie county, this county. Dead are Lolo Johnson, 17 year-old daughter of Johnson, and Charlie Hunter, negro farm hand.

EXPLORER ADDRESSES CLUB.

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, told the technology club tonight that he was attempting to abolish the "misconception of Arctic barrenness," as Columbus abolished the medieval theory of a "sea of darkness" west of Europe.

Little Hope For Balmy Easter in Mountain Region

Weather Man Predicts Adverse Conditions; Usual Parades of Pinery Improbable; Air Mail Service Resumes.

DENVER, April 2. (AP)—A few hours of sunshine and partially clearing skies today left out only a faint hope to Rocky mountain folk for a balmy Easter, the weather man declared tonight after perusing incoming reports and casting an eye over certain low pressure areas that hovered over the northwest.

However, the lull in the storm permitted resumption of air mail service between Cheyenne, Wyoming, and Salt Lake City, and allowed late reunions to bring 400 delegates to the annual convention of Pi Kappa Delta, surrounded in Estes park, to the nearest railroad point and starts them on their journey homeward.

Red Men Observe Rites.

While white folk bemoaned the forecast that put a damper on the annual Easter parade of fancy, red men of the southwest went ahead with their annual rituals in emulation of the scenes on Calvary two thousand years ago. The fatness of New Mexico hills, members of the penitents order continued their flagellations, apparently with greater fervor because inclement weather had prevented the usual influx of curious tourists to pry into their jealously-guarded secrets. Near Tucson, the Yaqui Indians plunged ahead with their long drawn out ceremonial dances and presentation of the Indian version of the passion play.

In Wyoming the trout fishing season opened in lakes and streams in the lower altitudes, but few ambitious Izaak Waltons had courage to try a hand angling through the ice.

PROMPT ACTION RECOMMENDED

President Thinks Coal Legislation Should be Enacted at Present Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Congress should enact coal legislation before the present session adjourns, in the opinion of President Coolidge, who will use further labor troubles in the mine fields will not leave the public without fuel.

The house commerce committee may taking testimony on various phases of the coal industry, would do well, Mr. Coolidge believes, to frame its legislation around recommendations submitted by the presidential coal commission after its investigation of the industry only a few years ago.

Two Provisions

Two definite provisions for handling the coal labor problem stand on in the president's mind as essential to any effective legislation.

Presidential authority to appoint a strike mediation board and machinery for coal administration in event of a strike.

Before it attempts to draft a bill the house committee should get the opinion of Mr. Coolidge, will all interested parties, including miners, operators and members of the cabinet who would be concerned with any labor dispute in the coal fields.

Representative Jacobstein, democrat, New York, urged the house committee today to enact legislation to unify the coal industry under government control, adding that the industry itself, could consolidate its activities if the government would permit it. He has introduced a bill to create a fact finding bureau and an emergency board to hear wage disputes in the industry.

FRIENDLY SLAP TO MULE IS MAN'S DEATH WARRANT

VILLISCA, Iowa, April 2. (AP)—Tribute to his mule in form of a friendly slap on the animal's haunch resulted in the death of Emil Hecke, a farmer living northwest of here yesterday.

Hecke took some friends into the barn to show them his mules. Passing near one he slapped the animal family on the haunch and said, "Here's a real mule." The mule drew up its hind feet and kicked, striking Hecke in the abdomen. He collapsed and died almost instantly.

PIONEER CASE OF RADIO SLANDER REACHES VERDICT

CHICAGO, April 2. (AP)—The country's pioneer case of alleged radio slander reached a decision today when Municipal Judge Robert E. Crowe found Philip Friedlander, former radio announcer, guilty of disorderly conduct and fined him $25 and costs. Charges of disorderly conduct were preferred against Friedlander by States Attorney Robert E. Crowe after he had searched the statutes unavailingly for a law governing slander by radio.

WHITE HOUSE TO SEND THOMPSON TO MAKE SURVEY

Ohio Man Will Head Mission to Philippines and Other Possessions for President in Early Summer.

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A trip to the Philippines, and possibly Hawaii and Guam, to survey economic conditions will be made for President Coolidge by Carmi A. Thompson, of Ohio. The mission will not be political in any way.

Announcement of Mr. Thompson's appointment as a special commissioner was made today at the White House where it was said the steps had been taken as one result of "the increased interest in congress recently" in the Philippines.

Mr. Thompson later said he would assemble a group of experts, in part at least from government departments, and probably would leave in June, returning in November so his report may be available for submission by the president to congress in December.

The White House statement, announcing the appointment, said that the president "feels that an intensive study of the possibilities of these insular possessions (the Philippines) may lead to increased development of their natural resources and that such a study will be of great benefit and importance not only to the United States, but to the Philippines as well."

EASTER MANTLE FOR MID WEST

Fresh Fall of Snow Sweeps Eastward From Rockies to Ohio River Valley.

CHICAGO, April 2. (AP)—A fresh fall of snow, today laid an Easter mantle of winter over the middle west, sweeping eastward from the Rockies toward the Ohio river valley.

From 3 to 12 inches of snow had fallen tonight over most of the area, and although the weather bureau said the sun might come out on the Easter parade, there appeared to be no hope that the snow would even begin to disappear by Sunday.

Unsettled weather threatens overcast skies for tomorrow, with more snow, for most of the states from Michigan to Colorado.

Breaks Weather Record.

Aggravating the serious traffic conditions brought by the mid-week storm, today's snowfall capped a post-season phenomenon of winter unnurtured in the records of the weather bureau. The total snow fall since Wednesday is now as much as 18 inches in some localities, while in Chicago, it is almost twice as great as the six inch fall of Easter Sunday, 1920, which held the previous record for nasesonal snowfall.

The second of the twin snowstorms descended upon the central west just as it had begun to make headway in digging itself out of the midweek deluge. Roads are impassible in many parts of the region, and even city streets were a mass, despite efforts of street cleaners to keep them cleared.

Temperatures throughout the storm-stricken region hovered about the freezing point.

BERKELEY BABY COMPLIES WITH RHODE ISLAND LAW REGARDING LEGAL PAPER

BERKELEY, April 2. (AP)—Despite the fact that he is a little more than a year old, Norman Morrison Hodgin of Berkeley, today fully satisfied an imposing edict of the state of Rhode Island. That he received and "signed" a lengthy legal document relating to the disposition of his mother's estate.

In conformity with the Rhode Island law, the baby held the document which was coming from him, and tried in his baby way to figure what it was all about. He then put the paper in his mouth and tore off a large chew before it could be taken from him. The paper will be sent to Rhode Island with his teeth marks in it to prove he has satisfied the law.

The boy is the former Lawrence Beckwith, potential heir to a $400,000 Massachusetts estate which is being adjudicated in Providence, Rhode Island. He was adopted recently by Miss Anita Hodgins, Berkeley.

SENATE WETS RECEIVE JOLT

Proposed Modification Legislation Gets Setback From Two Sources in Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Senate wets who are behind the drive for modification of prohibition laws today received two severe jolts.

The first was the refusal of the senate judiciary subcommittee to summon other than government officials as witnesses at the prohibition hearings to begin Monday.

The second was an administration bill tightening up the Volstead act as essential to more successful enforcement of dry statutes.

This measure, containing seven more or less drastic amendments to the Volstead act, recommended by Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury, was introduced by Senator Goff, republican, West Virginia, and will be referred to the judiciary subcommittee.

Two Weeks' Hearings.

Thus it will be open for discussion during the two weeks of prohibition hearings and the dews are expected to urge it at the same time they are condemning the liberalization bills offered by Senators Edge, republican, New Jersey, and Ross, Maryland and Edwards, New Jersey, democrats.

Under the ruling of the subcommittee, today if these senators want to put on the stand witnesses other than government officers, they will have to arrange to bring them to Washington at other than government expense.

The action caused Senator Edge, who had submitted a list of 18 witnesses, including state and municipal officers, whom he desired to have summoned. He accused the subcommittee of "splitting hairs in favor of the drys," and with acting to prevent the wets "from presenting valuable information."

Chairman Means and Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, told the subcommittee it was following a long established practice at hearings on legislation. In such cases summons rarely are issued, proponents and opponents being required to supply their own witnesses.

5 KILLED, 92 INJURED WHEN THEATRE CRASHES

MEXICO CITY, April 2. (AP)—Five persons were killed and 92 men, women and children were injured, many of them it is believed fatally, when an entire section of the balcony collapsed at the Titanic moving picture theater here tonight, and fell upon the spectators below.

The accident was due to over-crowded balconies, that section of the house being packed by a third Friday crowd. The collapse occurred while all the lights were on, otherwise the casualties probably would have been greater. The Titanic theater is in one of the poorest wards of the city. All the victims belong to the laboring class.

DAWES' RULING DRAWS FIRE OF ANGRY SOLONS

Vice President Holds Present Rules Forbid Senators Telling How They Vote in Executive Sessions.

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Vice President Dawes' ruling that under the present senate rules a senator cannot tell his constituents how he voted in executive session, drew fire today in the senate.

Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, one of the patriarchs of the senate, jumped to his feet and challenged the ruling, declaring it had always been a custom of the senate to permit a senator to tell how he voted in an executive session. He added that he had already told how he voted in the recent confirmation of Thomas H. Woodlock as a member of the interstate commerce commission, and he defied the senate to punish him under the rules.

He was supported by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, who thought the ruling could be nullified by a senator saying in advance how he would vote. He explained he had done that in the Woodlock incident. The vice president refused to change his decision, however, and Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, who had started the controversy by offering a resolution to amend the rules to permit the publication of a vote in executive session, declared the vice president's ruling was correct and moved to show the "errors" of the present rules.

He served notice that he would force the senate to vote on this resolution and another providing for consideration of nominations in open session. He declared secrecy surrounding the Woodlock vote had challenged the dignity of the senate which was being assailed in the press as being "cowardly and attempting to conceal something from the people."

HIGHER REVENDE LOGICAL RESULT

White House Attributes $60,000,000 Increase in Tax Returns to Improved Conditions.

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Increase of almost $60,000,000 in income tax collections for the March quarter over receipts of a year ago when collections were depressed, was looked upon today at the White House as the result of improved business conditions fostered by taxpayers' anticipation of the tax reductions.

At the time last October warning to congress to hold down on proposed increases in permanent expenditures of the government was issued on behalf of President Coolidge who believes a deficit in 1927 still is a dangerous probability.

Natural Result

In fact, President Coolidge believes the large collections were quite natural. He holds the opinion, however, that the returns for the next three quarters of the year under the new tax law will materially decrease, and that the full effect of the widespread tax reductions ordered by congress will not be felt until the end of the year.

One reason for the heavy collections this quarter, as seen by the president, is the likelihood that many taxpayers already have paid their total tax, rather than use the quarterly installment system.

The president had counted on the treasury surplus which appears inevitable at the end of this fiscal year, June 30, but it is the next fiscal year, for which congress is now appropriating, that has been greater. The gross public debt of the nation was cut during March to $20,082,740,991 or by $193,402,049, the treasury stated today.

CONFERENCE TO BEGIN APRIL 4

Multitude of Pilgrims Assembling in Salt Lake for General Meetings Sunday.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 2. (AP)—A multitude of people, young and old members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, are assembling from all sections of the country, to the ninety-sixth annual conference of the church which opens in the great tabernacle here Sunday. Covered wagons and autcars have been supplanted by railroad coaches and automobiles as conveyances for the majority of the delegates, but a few have made the pilgrimage in old time horse buggies. Several true to pioneer traditions, have tramped afoot for 50 miles or more.

While all the pilgrims are deeply religious, they are lovers of recreation and amusement. Between church conferences they will visit with friends and relatives, attend theatres and other places of amusement and shop.

Six Sessions

But the conference will be their first consideration. There will be six sessions of the conference and numerous auxiliary association meetings. Two overflow gatherings have been planned. Men only will be admitted to two priesthood meetings, but all other sessions are open to the public.

Next Tuesday is included in the conference because it is the sixth of the month. The church was organized April 6, 1831, thereby setting a precedent that has been faithfully followed.

It is probable that the general officers of the church will be sustained on Tuesday. In this ceremony the names of the officials are read and the congregation is asked to show by uplifted hands approval of them. Music will be a feature of the conference. A special program has been arranged for the big tabernacle choir and there will be special recitals of the great pipe organ. Soloists and congregational singing will open each session.

SENATE DELAYS ACTION IN STECK-BROOKHART CASE

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—Will sentiment in the senate shifting back and forth on the Brookhart-Steck contestorial contest from Iowa, the case went over today until Monday at the request of Senator Curtis, the republican floor leader. The delay was sought when Chairman Ernest of the elections committee was unable to present the majority report recommending the seating of Daniel F. Steck, a democrat.

HOUSE HEARINGS ON FARM RELIEF WILL CONTINUE

Committee Agrees on Program After Discussing Proposal to Terminate Investigation; To Consult Jardine.

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Hearings on farm relief before the house agriculture committee are to go on indefinitely and before action is taken on any proposals, Secretary Jardine will be consulted.

This program was agreed to by the committee today after a discussion as to whether the hearings, which have been in progress for some time, should be brought to a close at the end of next week.

Urge Termination

Termination of the hearings has been urged by members of congress who fear that unless a bill is reported shortly legislative relief, requested by representatives of corn belt states, will be forgotten at this session. Representative Hall, republican, North Dakota, who said his constituents were "getting impatient" took the lead today in urging the committee, of which he is a member, to speed up action.

Determined to proceed with the examination of witnesses, the committee again heard Representative Little, democrat, Kansas, in support of his bills to fix prices, provide for storage of surplus crops and prohibit speculation. He was followed by Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, who explained provisions of his bill, which in principle is similar to the corn belt measure, but provides for the collection of an equalization fee on more commodities.

Neither his proposal nor the corn belt bill, in Mr. Dickinson's opinion, would result in governmental price fixing.

Migration Looms

Appearing before the senate agricultural committee, William Hirth, chairman of the corn belt committee, said that unless farmers are afforded relief many would migrate to cities and break the wage scale, with suffering and misery resulting.

"The patience of farmers is about threadbare, and something must be done," he told the committee, adding that there is still a considerable spirit among them and that radicalism has made little in road in the rural sections. The house committee, as it went ahead with hearings was informed that representatives of cotton growers probably would appear to support the corn belt bill. A number of them are holding conferences here to examine their position, and were said today to favor the general principles of the measure.

CATTLE GROWERS MEET

SALT LAKE, April 2. (AP)—Importance of cooperation in solving problems of cattlemen and in restoring the cattle industry to a sound basis was stressed by speakers at sessions of the Utah Cattle and Horse Growers' association here today.

"While the cooperative marketing movement did not meet expectations as a state-wide activity," said President J. M. McFarland in his annual address, "it proved exceptionally helpful in the communities that were really behind the movement."

Nine Managers to Prosecute English Proposed in Plan

Two Are Added to Original Number to Satisfy Democratic Leaders; Senate May Sit in Special Session.

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Nine managers may be named by the house to prosecute before the senate the impeachment charges against federal Judge English of Illinois.

This number, two more than originally contemplated, was tentatively agreed upon today to satisfy democratic leaders who, after the impeachment of the judge yesterday objected to a majority of five republicans to two democrats on the house representation.

Chairman Graham of the judiciary committee, who drew up the resolution for the impeachment, suggested the 3-2 ratio although, he said, there was a precedent for selecting all of the managers from the party in power, but Representative Garrett of Tennessee, minority floor leader, objected, contending that if seven were named, three should be democrats.

No Session in House.

The house was in adjournment today, but negotiations for a compromise went forward, with the suggestion for nine managers finding favor.

If nine are selected the house prosecutors are expected to be Representatives Hersey, Maine; Hobbs, Massachusetts; Michener, Michigan; Moore, Ohio, and Foss, Iowa, republicans; and Sumners, Texas; Rayburn, Texas; Garrett, Tennessee; Graham, Arkansas, and Dominick, South Carolina, democrats, the last two to serve if the number is increased to nine.

Selection of the managers is expected for Tuesday. At that time the judiciary committee hopes to report a resolution urging trial of Judge English at a special session of the senate.

COUNTY JOINS IN DRIVE FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Shad L. Hodgin County Chairman in Statewide Campaign for $250,000 Building on University Campus.

Under leadership of Shad L. Hodgin, former Twin Falls mayor, Twin Falls county will take an active part in a state-wide campaign for $250,000 to be spent on the campus of the state university, Idaho's war memorial building to commemorate the supreme sacrifice made by more than six hundred of Idaho's sons in the Spanish-American and World wars. The drive, according to plans worked out by the Idaho War Memorial association, will begin April 24 and close May 1.

Detailed plans for the campaign in Twin Falls county were outlined here Friday by W. G. Swanson, campaign director, in conference with Mr. Hodgin. The quota for the county has been fixed at $17,500. Individual quotas are to be fixed by a committee to be named by Mr. Hodgin as director of the campaign in this county. L. E. Salladay, Twin Falls, has been requested to serve as treasurer for the county campaign.

Comprehensive Plan.

Lodges, civic organizations and women's clubs throughout the state have been requested to cooperate in the drive and to designate members to give active assistance. Newspapers, churches and motion pictures theaters are expected to assist in giving publicity to the undertaking.

"We shall ask," Mr. Swanson stated, "that the minister each of these bodies and individuals is asked for cooperation, immediate response will be made. Success of the campaign will depend directly upon the aid of these groups.

"Intensive personalized campaigns will be put on in Pocatello, Twin Falls, Nampa, Lewiston, Idaho Falls, Burley, Caldwell, Boise and Blackfoot.

"With the completion of the organization to which efforts are now being directed, the success of the campaign is certainly. No opposition to it has developed in any quarter, but on the contrary, we are meeting with enthusiastic support throughout the state."

On the decision that further delay in completing this undertaking is unwise rests, as executive organization was formed recently at a meeting in Boise with the election of I. E. Brockwell of Bellevue as executive; Shad L. Hodgin, and Charles P. McNichols of Boise, former justice of the Idaho supreme court, as executive state vice chairman, some of the most outstanding men in the state being included as members of the executive committee.

Barn Destroyed by Nocturnal Blaze

Fire of an undetermined origin late Friday night destroyed the barn on the G. P. Preckel farm property, a mile north of Twin Falls on Blue Lakes boulevard, which has been occupied for some months by J. Lockie. Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and prevented spread of the fire to the garage, chicken house and other buildings in the vicinity until the arrival of the Twin Falls fire department. Clothes thrown up by the blaze fell over a considerable radius, some of them falling near the residence of James A. Waters on adjoining farm property.

Source of water supply for the fire department was found in a nearby irrigation lateral and the blaze was quickly brought under control when the fire fighters arrived on the scene about 11:45 o'clock.

Ten Cars Involved In Day's Collisions

Bill Pennington, Fourth avenue south, figured as principal in one of the four automobile collisions that occurred on Twin Falls streets Friday afternoon and evening. He was held in custody in the county jail here Friday evening. He is to be arranged in police court this morning on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated. The complaint was signed by E. C. Andrews, owner of a new Overland car that was parked at the curb on Second street north near the Baptist church, when it was struck and damaged by Pennington's machine. A Ford coupe owned by C. B. Christensen which was parked alongside the Andrews car, also was struck by the Pennington machine.

Three cars were involved in a collision that occurred at the intersection of Shoshone street and Second avenue north when a delivery car owned by the Brown Music company turning the corner into Shoshone collided with another Ford then, careened against an Essex coach owned by Isidor Friedman that was parked at the curb. None of the cars involved were damaged much.

Bennedor Coal company delivery truck carrying a load of coal and driven by P. W. Tout, became unmanageable when steering device caught at the intersection of Second street and Second avenue west and crashed into the curb after striking a Twin Falls Canal company car that was parked at the curb. A Ford truck bearing license No. 73-137, with the left front wheel broken off, radiator, fender and axle twisted and windshield shattered, stood near the curb at the intersection of Second street and Fourth avenue east Friday evening, being evidence of the fourth collision of the day in Twin Falls.

Two of the collisions were reported to the officers.

SAN FRANCISCO TAKES NOTICE WHEN TWIN FALLS COUNTRY'S EXCURSIONISTS COME TO TOWN

"Indicative of the cordial welcome extended at San Francisco last Monday to the Twin Falls county booster excursionists who left here March 27, on a special train over the recently completed Twin Falls-Wells railroad, on two weeks' visit to California and Nevada centers, copies of the Monday morning issue of the San Francisco Chronicle have been received here. Blazoned across the full width of the first page appears the headline—"Welcome to Our Fair City, You Neighbors of Idaho!"

"This informal greeting to the business leaders of Idaho by San Francisco is extended jointly by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the San Francisco Chronicle.

"You of Idaho, who have long been neighbors of California are now, by reason of this new advance in transportation, the inauguration of which is the occasion for your visit, more intimately associated with us in San Francisco, not merely as neighbors, but as friends, and very definitely as business associates.

"San Francisco, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and this newspaper are jointly interested in you, in your state and in the encouragement of the closest possible relationship that may be developed between us."

The Chronicle story of the Idahoans' visit, which is embellished with a two-column picture of Mr. and Mrs. Asher B. Wilson under the caption, "Rival Idaho Boosters," is as follows:

"Bringing the greetings of the commerce, arrived in San Francisco yesterday. The delegation was making history, for it was traveling upon the first train to leave Twin Falls over the new Rogerson cutoff of the Union Pacific system, connecting with the Central Pacific at Wells, Nevada. As one man expressed it:

"We made the fastest time on record between Twin Falls and San Francisco.

Making Special Excursion.

"To celebrate the completion of the new railroad line, which gives direct connections between Southern Idaho and Northern California, and to bring the message of what Southern Idaho means to California, the Idahoans are making a special excursion visiting all of the chief cities of California and holding business conferences with various trade organizations. Following a two-day visit in Oakland and the east bay cities, the delegation reached San Francisco after a tour of the bay. They were greeted by a delegation from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Boyd S. Hubbard, Irwin E. Haas, Charles S. Stewart, Armand Lehmann and P. S. Gauch, while Mrs. Margaret K. Whitmore and Miss Jeanette T. Traynor of the hospitality committee of the chamber were on hand to welcome the women among the visitors.

Quarters at Stewart

"The Idahoans will make their headquarters at the Stewart hotel for the next two days. Last evening most of them visited the theaters. Today there will be an auto trip about the water front and the business section and luncheon at the commercial club; for the men in the afternoon a trade conference at the chamber of commerce, and for the women a shopping trip, while in the evening a visit will be made to Chinatown.

"Tomorrow, the entertainment plans of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce include an extensive auto trip of the city and peninsula district, with luncheon at Tait's-at-the-Beach. The visitors leave in the evening for Los Angeles."

Will Increase Trade.

"Asher B. Wilson, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, heads the delegation. He is enthusiastic over the opportunities for trade between his home district and San Francisco, and does not hesitate in declaring that the new rail link will mean much for both ends of the trade route. He said:

"'For the first time in history Southern Idaho and California are in close contact. We buy a lot of California products now, but with this new line there is no question but that California's trade with our people will enormously increase.

"'It will not be a one-sided trade either, for we have a lot of things in Idaho that you in California need. We have butter, poultry, hay, potatoes, wheat, hogs, lambs, onions, even eggs for California.

700,000 Acre Empire.

"'There is an empire of nearly 700,000 acres of irrigated farms in southern Idaho, a growing hardy thrifty population of real Americans. My county, Twin Falls, alone last year had agricultural products valued at $13,000,000.

"'Accompanying the party is D. S. Spencer, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific system, with headquarters at Salt Lake City. Spencer thus describes the conditions created by the new rail line:

12 Hours Nearer S. F.

"'By the construction of ninety-five miles of road, from Rogerson, Idaho, to Wells, Nevada, on the Central Pacific, the Twin Falls section is brought 12 hours nearer to San Francisco. The actual reduction of mileage is 325 miles. The new connection puts San Francisco on a parity with Portland in the competition for Idaho business.

"Other members of the Idaho delegation are Charles F. Dwight, Mrs. Asher B. Wilson, Mrs. H. F. Albee, L. E. Salladay, A. L. Swim, R. E. Bossard, John McDonald, D. F. Detweiler, Donald McClean, R. H. BUDDIES

A delightful, humorous peak into the after war life of the American soldier in France, "Buddies", the big George V. Hobart hit, will be the offering by the Twelve players in the Lyering Theatre the first three days of next week. It is one of the most satisfying of the plays that have been Broadway hits during the last decade. "Buddies is based on two love affairs, a bashful lover, an impostor and a soldier who is willing to assume an obligation in order to help out a friend. It is replete with infectious humor and is a remarkably well drawn picture of the intimate life of the American soldier boy, in time of peace, on French soil. Through the play there also runs a touch of pathos that heightens the fun of the story.

To begin with Sennyg was engaged to Louise Maitland who lived in Brooklyn, U. S. A. Babe was in love with Julie but never could get up the courage enough to tell her so. This, plus the unforseen arrival of Louise furnishes the central idea of the story.

For three acts an audience is swept along in the delightful fun and humor of the play.

Defendant Shark alleged negligence on the part of Campbell in the transaction, but the jury found for the plaintiff. The check in question was issued by the National Bank of Buhl on which it was drawn cleared in due course. Shark contended that there had been a subsequent agreement between himself and Shark with respect to the claim.

BUHL CAPTURES FIRST CONTEST IN TITLE PLAY

West-End Girls Pile Up 41 Points to Opponents' 13 in Initial Game of Series for Northwest Championship.

Buhl girls' basketball team took the first game of the northwest championship series last night, 41 to 13. Outside of the first few minutes of play the Buhl sextet had a substantial lead and were never seriously threatened. The teamwork of the Buhl aggregation is responsible for the large score, coupled with the ability of the Buhl centers to get the ball to their forwards.

The Endicott co-eds appeared wearied from their long overland trip and were listless most of the game. Only in the first half did they display much speed and ability to hit the hoop. Buhl led at the half, 22 to 10, and the Endicott sextet were able to gather but three counters in the last half while Buhl ran up 19 markers.

Draws First Blood.

Endicott drew first blood in the first few minutes of play, Helen Huntley looping one from a distance; the Buhl team, however, came back quickly and soon had a sizable lead which was not threatened thereafter. The Endicott forwards were sure on the long shots and got many of their counters from a distance. The Endicott centers were taking the tipoff from Buhl during the first half but were unable to make many of them count. The Winegar-Parish combination started working in the last half and the visitors were unable to get but a few of the tipoffs during that period.

The visiting guards seemed unable to stop the Buhl forwards although several substitutions were made in an effort to stop the shooting of Metz. The Endicott centers seemed tired and did not follow the ball as aggressively as they might have, losing possession of the sphere many times by standing flatfooted.

Huntley Stars.

For Endicott, Miss Helen Huntley was the outstanding player; she scored 9 of the 13 points earned by her team. Her shooting is accurate and she is adept at eluding her guard. Many of her shots were from long distances and pretty to watch. Ficklin, jumping center for the visitors, also played nice ball and took the tipoff a good share of the first half. Her running mate, Luft, also did nice work and played the floor better than her team-mate.

Metz Shows Class.

For Buhl, Dorothy Metz was easily the feature of the Buhl sextet, scoring 26 points for her team. Her shooting is all from close under the basket and she is unusually adept at evading opposing guards. Her running-mate, Peck, counted for the other 15 points scored by her team. Peck has been improving all season and has garnered many baskets in the last few contests. Winegar and Parish, the centers, also did stellar work, both girls play the floor beautifully and their passing is accurate and fast. In the last half especially these two got the ball to the forwards from the tipoff with speed and accuracy that bewildered the opposing team.

The Buhl guards, Scully and Stewart, did nice work but did not show as well as they have in former games. The Endicott team uses a different style under the basket than they have met this season.

Second Game Tonight.

This is the first of a three-game series to be played for the girls championship of the northwest, the second game will be played tonight on the Buhl floor. If Buhl wins tonight the third game will not be played and the Buhl co-eds will have gained the northwest title.

Twelve hundred people saw the first contest, filling all the reserved seats and comfortably filling all the balconies. The crowd tonight is expected to tax the capacity of the spacious gym. Miss Thomson, athletic director for girls at Albion Normal, was referee, and Seb Kleffner, Rupert coach, was the umpire. Following is the lineup of the two teams:

Endicott: A. Ochs, forward; Huntley, forward; Ficklin, jumping center; Luft, running center; Henry, guard; B. Ochs, guard.

Buhl: Metz, forward; Peck, forward; Winegar, jumping center; Parish, running center; Scully, guard; Stewart, guard.

Substitutes: Endicott, Miller, for A. Ochs, B. Ochs for Ficklin, A. Ochs for Luft, Schoenerman for B. Ochs. Buhl, Malone for Peck, Hayes for Parish.

TWIN FALLS TRACK TEAM WORKS OUT IN CITY PARK OWING TO MUD ON FIELD

Coach Plasting took his track and baseball men in the city park last night because of the muddy condition of Lincoln field. The track men went through their stuff around the park track while the weight men worked on the side lines. No jumping or vault ing practice has been held this week because of the weather and the Buhl jumpers are badly in need of a work out.

The interclass meet which will be held next week is the center of interest but the various class teams are working hard to capture the winners place.

Baseball practice has also been hampered by the weather and the Buhl team has not been able to hold infield or batting practice this week. The first game is some time away as yet and there is still time to develop team play. A dearth of pitchers still faces Plasting and he has been trying several new men on the mound.

Cups and medals for the district track meet have not yet been purchased, but bids have been asked of the various dealers.

EAST AND WEST TEAMS ENTER SEMI-FINALS OF NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Salem's Cubs took Bunkerville, high of San Antonio, Texas, out of the competition with a 22 to 13 victory, and Pueblo, Colorado, won a game it was hoped to lose when it conquered Newton, Kansas, 12 to 11.

PACIFIC COAST OWNERS OPPOSED TO RESIN BALL

LOS ANGELES, April 2 (AP)—Club owners and directors of the Pacific Coast baseball league are unfavorable to the use of resin for purposes of pitching, Harry A. Williams, league president, declared today in announcing the result of a mail vote of the circuit's eight clubs. Only one club owner voted in favor of resin, Williams reported.

The directors have in mind only the interests of the coast league and are governed by conditions existing in this circuit, Williams said. They maintain that there is not sufficient hot weather to cause excessive perspiration and justify the use of resin he said.

Managers, umpires and players for the most part are opposed to the use of resin, he stated.

YANKS TO BE FACTOR IN AMERICAN LEAGUE RACE

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2 (AP)—The New York Yankees may not play in the world's series next fall but they will furnish the American league team that does "a whole lot of bother," Miller Huggins, their manager, said today. Huggins, here with the team for an exhibition game with Brooklyn, gave out a statement which he termed "the first comprehensive resume of spring training developments."

"There is only one place in the Yankee combination that is likely to cause trouble and that is the infield," Huggins stated, adding that his infield was of "tremendous intrinsic strength, but as yet undeveloped."

He is confident that by the time the season opens his combination in the infield will have developed coordination in defensive play.

BRITISH ARMORED CARS USED IN SYRIAN FIGHT

BAGDAD, Irak, April 2 (AP)—British armored cars and airplanes, used as reinforcements for Irak tribesmen guarding the Irak-Syrian frontier, participated in a skirmish today against 2,000 Syrian and Arab tribesmen who attacked the Irak troops. The tribesmen fled in disorder, leaving 45 dead and carrying away many wounded.

The tribesmen had planned a surprise attack, but reports of their coming reached the British some hours beforehand. Armored cars were brought up to reinforce the Irak guards.

The tribesmen swept over the frontier, expecting quickly to scatter the Irak troops. They were taken by surprise when the guns in the armored cars and the machine guns began to fire. Before the fight was finished airplanes arrived and bombing operations were begun. The tribesmen then took to their heels.

MOSLEMS AND HINDUS STAGE FURIOUS FIGHT

LONDON, April 2 — A furious fight took place in Calcutta, India, today between a Hindu sect and Moslems and, according to one estimate, 20 persons were killed and 150 injured.

The Calcutta correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph says that the riot began with the approach to a mosque in the northern part of the city of a procession with music led by the Arya Samaj sect of Hindus, enemies of the Moslems. Fighting developed when the Moslems tried to bar the way, the trouble soon spreading to other streets.

FARM CONDITIONS SHOW MATERIAL IMPROVEMENT OVER YEAR AGO, COOPER

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—"Material improvement in general farm conditions over a year ago was reported today by Chairman Cooper of the federal farm loan board on the basis of advice from the presidents of the 12 federal reserve banks.

The price of hogs and cattle are higher, Cooper said, have offset effects of the corn surplus, and the livestock industry generally was declared very much improved.

Early reports on intentions of farmers to plant potatoes indicated over production and lower prices, Mr. Cooper said.

Winter wheat acreage in the northwest was described as about normal with conditions good.

Demand for mortgage loans was held plentiful at low interest rates in almost every district.

CHAPMAN SPENDS DAY WITH QUIET READING

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, Conn., April 2. (AP)—With his span of life shortened 72 hours at midnight, Gerald Chapman, murderer and mail robber, spent this afternoon quietly reading a magazine. He was stretched out on his cot with a magazine in front of him when Joseph M. Freedman, of his defense staff, called to inform him of the court action contemplated tomorrow by which it is hoped to obtain a new trial.

Chapman threw his magazine on the cot and went to the door of his cell when Freedman, accompanied by deputy warden George H. Shurtleff, appeared.

The condemned man was greatly concerned over the refusal of three United States supreme court justices to grant a stay of execution yesterday at Washington on the application of Ray M. Wiley, of the defense staff.

THE DAY IN WASHINGTON

The senate deferred until Monday consideration of the Steck-Brookhart election contest.

It was learned that President Coolidge expects passage of coal legislation at this session of congress.

The president's opposition to American participation in the Geneva conference on the world court reservations was indicated.

More right dry enforcement regulations were proposed by the administration. A senate committee refused to subpoena wet witnesses.

TARIFF BODY FORWARDS ADDITIONAL REPORTS TO SENATE PROBE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The tariff commission today forwarded to the senate investigating committee two additional finseed oil reports with the explanation that they had been overlooked when commission documents were delivered in response to a subpoena.

They disclosed that three separate recommendations were made to the president on March 4, 1925, on the linseed oil rates. A majority, Chairman Marvin, and Commissioners Burgess and Glassie, advised that the duty be decreased from 3.3 cents per pound to 2.7 cents, Commissioners Costigan and Culbertson urged a reduction to 2.44 cents while former Commissioner Lewis recommended a reduction to 2.42 cents.

The difference in the recommendations was based on the calculation of the cost of production in the United States and Great Britain, the principal competing country.

STATE COMMISSIONS NOT COMPETENT TO FIX RATES

WASHINGTON, April 2. (AP)—State railroad commissions are not competent to determine rates within their own states because they have no means of obtaining accurate information beyond the limits of the state boundaries, B. W. Scandlett, general counsel of the Northern Pacific railroad, argued today before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee in opposing the Pittman bill to amend the transportation act.

Cooperation between state commissions and the interstate commerce commission has been the best evidence that the transportation act is workable, he continued, in opposing the amendment which would restore state powers to regulate rates.

SAVING THE DOLLARS

The statement has been made over and over again that it takes more ability to hang on to money, once made, than it took to make it in the first place. And to a very considerable extent this statement is true.

Two things operate to bring this about. In the first place declining years interfere with judgment. Investments which had first cities have an unhappy knack of turning out to be below par. In later life, too many men are apt to mistake their hopes for their opinions. Altogether too often money made in the prime of life melts like snow under a mid-day sun in the late years. There are many examples of this, far too many.

In the second place there are too many slickers loose. Too many worthless stocks are dressed up in the garb of investments and peddled by high pressure methods to people with money to invest. Those who make such investments are not altogether to blame. Clever salesmanship will sell anything, almost, and most men with money consider their own judgment just a little bit better than that of anybody else, anyway.

Most of the savings which get away from people go in this way. One sees but a small part of the picture in a State such as Idaho but examine this paragraph or two which come to The News as a part of a powerful plea for assistance in spreading a better understanding of investments and investment securities. We quote:

"The Liberty Loan campaigns organized a vast army of new investors and then left them to be plucked by the swindler. After the war good stocks and bonds could be had paying a high yield, sometimes as high as 8 per cent. Credit was at a premium. From the Liberty Loans the new investors stepped into other good securities with high yields. Those investors are still chasing high returns and it is only the swindler who can promise them. A safe investment today does not pay much more than 5 1-2 or 6 per cent, but few people know it.

Financial crooks do not get very far in England or Holland because the English and the Dutch are not economically illiterate. But it has taken centuries to educate these people. We thought we could do as much with the hasty propaganda broadcast in connection with three or four Government loans. When we failed to follow those loans with a systematic course of training we missed a great opportunity. Now with billions being filched from the pockets of the American public each year bankers and business men have been aroused to action.

When a smooth young man can purchase stock in a defunct corporation at 5 cents a share in a New York auction room and travel the country selling the shares at $60 a share there is something wrong and somebody is responsible. Why does not the victim know better than to purchase securities from a salesman who knocks at his door and why does he not know that the stock offered him is worthless?

It's hard to protect people against themselves. Fundamentally, every man is right in spending his own money in any manner he may see fit—but it would help a lot if he knew what he is doing in the process, as a people we would be millions of dollars richer before we got off.

AMERICA LEADS IN THE AIR

After much lamentation regarding American backwardness in air development, there came some surprising facts.

Major Lester D. Gardner, editor of "Aviation," who has been making a survey of American air activities, declares that this country led the world in commercial aviation during the past year.

Of the pilots and flying companies operating, 344 report that in 1925 they covered altogether 20,000,000 miles.

This is three times the distance flown by the United States air mail, which we hear so much about. It is 8 times the total mileage of the British Imperial Airways.

Several hundred more pilots, still to be heard from, are expected to bring the year's total up to 10,000,000 miles.

Why, then, the general misunderstanding? The answer is that heretofore the extent of commercial air development in America has not been known because the commercial pilots have not been organized and are not obliged to report to anyone. This is the only country where flying is unregulated. It is also a very large country, in which hundreds of fliers attract little attention.

All this is good to know. And now that American leadership is already assured in the great field of air transportation opened up by American invention and enterprise, it should be easier to go ahead and make it far greater. Adequate regulation and organization are the next steps.

THE FORUM

Editor Twin Falls News,

Dear Sir:

So we aren't going to have a Junior Prom! The school board has voted against it! Considering the fact that this is the first time in several years that the Junior class has not been allowed one of the most important and certainly one of the most interesting social functions, we beg to ask, "Why?" Have the members of the school board entirely forgotten their youth? Do they really think that we young people will be thoroughly demoralized and absolutely lost if we gather together for a few hours dancing in a respectable hall, chaperoned by members of the faculty or our mothers and fathers?

They need not refuse for our sweet's sake. Having attended Twin Falls high for almost four years, I believe I am safe in making the statement that less than 25 per cent of the mothers and fathers object to their sons and daughters dancing. They would much rather that they would go to dances sponsored by the High School than to the public dance halls. Yet, the students will go to the public dances if there are no others.

Please, please remember that we are only young once, and we want as have just as much clean, wholesome enjoyment out of it as we can! Let us have the Junior Prom, dear school board, and we promise to be good!

Sincerely,

A SERIOUS SENIOR.

BLUE RIBBON RECEIVED ON SALMON TRACT WHEAT

Blue ribbon awarded to T. J. Douglas of Twin Falls for first premium Bickhow wheat exhibited at the sheaved show at Gooding last February was delivered to Mr. Douglas Friday. The prize winning wheat was grown on Mr. Douglas' farm near Berger, in the Salmon river project.

Sea Salt Content Shown

The salt content of the sea is about 85 pounds to 1,000 pounds of water.

The evening was utterly spoiled for him. Carmen rejoined him but he would not reaccept her challenge. He wanted to leave but he stuck it out, conscious that he had deliberately offended Carmen, hardly daring to imagine how Betty had construed the scene she had happened upon with Baxter as her partner. Hoyt had Baxter happened to be there on that of all evenings? Caleb remembered that he had said he was a friend of the Vedders but he fancied that, if he had been actually invited, Vedder would have said something about it. Yet Vedder did not necessarily know that Caleb Warner and Fred Baxter were intimates. And it was not a formal affair. Baxter might merely have exercised his right of dropping in.

He found the jade eyes of Mrs. Carquinez regarding him with a sidelong glance of humor, of understanding, not lacking in sympathy. He became suddenly conscious that he had stopped listening to her, or, talking to her, whichever it might have been, and that he was watching intently the group of which Betty was the hub. Even as he flushed under the scrutiny of his vis-a-vis, Betty nodded to him, pleasantly, as she might to an acquaintance. Not—Caleb decided—as she would have acted if the incident she had chosen to ignore had never occurred.

"You have met Miss Clinton?" asked the artist's wife. "She is a charming girl. She is different—and indifferent—so say the men. She and I are close friends."

"Yes?" Caleb could master nothing better than the inane syllable.

He was grateful to Mrs. Carquinez. Did she mean her to be, he wondered. Had she seen what the rest had missed with those oblique green eyes of hers? And had she tried to help him?

The rest of the affair went on to Caleb as if he looked at it through a screen. Champagne was opened and he saw Baxter lift his brimming glass and rise in a clever speech to his host and hostess. Caleb recollected the doctor's mention of champagne and his action on Baxter. He wondered if the latter would make an ass of himself.

As soon as the first cotillion gave an excuse Caleb found the Japanese and asked for his hat and coat. His hostess came up.

"You're not going? We're going to have some music. Don't say you have to get up in the morning? You do? Then good-by. You must come again. Don't wait for an invitation. There are some who always drop in, like Ted Baxter. We hadn't seen him for months and now he's been the life of the party. I do hope you've had a good time."

As he reviewed the affair at breakfast the next morning Caleb found no excuse for gratification.

"What did Betty Clinton think of him?" he asked himself, conscious of the fact that he desired nothing more than to stand in her eyes better than any other man. The thing was at an awkward pass. He could not go to her and say—"I want to explain to you the reason why you saw me kissing another girl." She had chosen to ignore the incident once, she surely would continue to do so. But his silence—to which she was committed—left the inference that he was either flirting outrageously with Carmen, or serious in his intentions toward her. His annoyance wheeled on Baxter. His enmity toward Caleb appeared as more than a transient streak of bad temper.

With an effort he dismissed the matter, since he could not mend it, resolving to move his quarters at the end of the month and leave Baxter to his own devices.

Mail rattled through the slit in his door. There was a letter from the Crystal Springs company. The directors' meeting was scheduled for the next afternoon. The note was a bare mention of the fact from Cox's secretary. It did not leave him much time. He would have to hurry along the model and his notes for the improvements.

He plunged hard and deeply into it all. He lubed the machinist to work double-time and got a promise that the model would positively be ready. By three he had managed to complete his notes, to secure the pipeline model—not quite finished but sufficiently so—while a special price had secured him prints of his photographs. Thus armed he arrived on time, filled with the invigorating tingle that prefaced the interview, cool enough on the surface, determined to win over any opposition.

He had to wait for a few moments. And, while he waited, he saw the stenographer, Miss Morgan, sending guarded glances in his direction. Once he thought he caught an appeal in her eyes, even a suggestion that she wanted to talk with him. She looked fit, tired, walking without spring, all her spruceness vanished. A bell buzzed, the secretary went into Cox's room and came out again with:

"They're ready for you now, Mr. Warner."

Cox was in his own office to usher him into the directors' room where the big model was on the long table.

"You've met some of us," said Cox genially as he introduced him.

Caleb recognized Morse, of the Lumber ring, Lawler, the oil magnate, Winton of the Light and Power company and Martin, Thurston's uncle. Hinckley was there. The atmosphere seemed friendly but charged with business. The faces were serious, thoughtful.

"Suppose," said Cox, "that you give us all the same talk you made to Hinckley and myself. We have gone over the matter already, but we should like to hear from you."

Caleb got up and began at the beginning. He spoke fluently. His talk came naturally as he opened up the filing cabinet of his mind. He commenced with Cox's dinner and the first prompting that came from the statement of Golden's lack of water. And he wound up crisply with the production of his pipe-joint model, and the notes and photographs connected with it.

Hinckley's eyes kindled.

"This should solve that problem," he declared. "You have hit upon a bully idea, and the right one, Mr. Warner."

The directors began to sit at ease, to produce cigars or select from a box that circulated to Caleb.

"You're thorough, young man," said Martin. "Shall we go into conference, Cox?" He looked at his watch.

"We'll ask you to excuse us for fifteen minutes, Mr. Warner," said Cox. "We'll send out for you."

Caleb did not stay in the offices. He paced the corridor outside, smoking, pondering his chances. He had Oakville to fall back upon, but there was always the chance—always the chance in Big Business—that, having given up his knowledge, he might be shuffled out of the game. They knew his plan. They had the money and the influence. They might think themselves able to get along without him. He was a stranger.

He stood at the end of the passage, looking into the street but seeing little. And he smiled grimly. "I'm not a Yankee for nothing," he told himself. "They haven't got all the trumps."

His name was called. Cox's secretary had come after him.

"Your proposition, as we understand it," said Cox, "is that you should be paid one hundred thousand dollars for your project—after it has been approved by our engineers and declared practical—and that you are given due acknowledgment of yourself as originator of the project, with a position as consulting engineer during the completion of the work?"

Caleb nodded.

"That is it."

"It's a lot of money," said Martin, apparently addressing the smoke of his cigar.

"It's a lot of water," replied Caleb good-humoredly.

"You'll turn over your invention to the company?" This was Martin again.

"You mean the pipe junction? I'll give the company free use of it. I am applying for patents. I shall hold those. I will allow the Crystal Springs corporation free use of it anywhere on the Pacific coast."

Martin grunted.

"We'll agree to your terms, Warner," said Cox. "The engineer's salary will be ten thousand dollars per annum. We'll make contract with you for five years at that sum, if you wish?"

Caleb shook his head.

"For the duration of this work," he said. "I appreciate the honor but I should prefer to be footloose after that. Will you put the rest of your agreement in writing?"

A pair of steely eyes bored into him. They belonged to Morse of the Lumber interests.

"We are going to make it a motion, young man. That should satisfy you."

"If I can have a copy of the minutes."

Cox laughed.

"Are you a lawyer as well as a civil engineer, Warner? You shall have a copy of the minutes—certified—if you wish. You Yankees!" he ended humorously.

WIDE INTEREST IN WOOL MART

Boston Prices No Better, Says Commercial Bulletin, but Demand is Little Larger.

BOSTON, April 2. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say:

Rather wide interest in wool is reported both here and in the west this week, more especially in the west. Prices here are no better, but the declining tendency seems to have been fairly well halted for the time being, while rather better demand from some of the smaller mills is in evidence.

In the west, buying has been more widespread, with good to choice fine and fine medium wools costing $1 to $1.05 and occasionally a bit more for choice clip, clean basis, landed Boston. Some prices for fine and medium clips in this territory sections range from 30 to 35c, according to the wool, with some heavy shrinkage clips in the range of 20 to 26c.

The foreign markets are generally firm and occasionally a bit dearer, with scoursing centers mostly at a moderate pace.

Mohair is steady in the local market. Kerrville, Texas, sold 400,000 pounds Tuesday at about 59c for goat hair and close to 69c for kid hair.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1926, to April 1, 1926, inclusive, were 61,625,000 pounds against 45,575,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1926, to April 1, 1926, inclusive, were 100,194,700 pounds against 10,134,200 pounds for the same period last year.

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

DOMESTIC.

Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces—Delaine unwashed 47 to 48c; half-blood combing 46 to 47; three-eighth-blood combing 46c; fine unwashed 42 to 43c.

Oregon—Eastern—No. 1 staple $1.12 to 1.15; fine and FM combing $1.08 to 1.10; eastern clothing 95c to $1; valley No. 1 98c to $1.

Pulled—Delaine $1.51 to 1.29; AA $1.15 to 1.18; fine A supers $1.07; A supers 95 to 98c.

WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, April 2. (AP)—Buying manufacturers on the wool market still on hand to month basis. Prices generally unchanged.

A little more firmness noticeable. Some concerns have refused offers at current prices for real good wools. Fair amount or good bright fleece wool of 3-8 and 1-4 blood combing were sold at 47c in the grease. Some straight Ohio 1-4 blood combing at 45 to 46c for scouring to the mills from this market. Fine Australian are firm, selling around $1 clean for good 64s.

NO VISIBLE EVIDENCE OF BUSINESS SETBACK, DUN'S

NEW YORK, April 2. (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

A new month and a new quarter have begun without any visible evidence of a general setback in business. An abatement of activity has appeared in some directions, yet nothing in the present commercial situation would account for the recent collapse of stock prices. The speculative unsettlement, if increasing conservation in some quarters apparently has not had a serious effect upon trade sentiment, and reports from the steel industry stress the important fact that cancellation of contracts are absent.

Not only has the leading producing industry been operating to the limit of practical capacity but March pig iron output was at the highest on exactly a year. Supporting a favorable phase is a national freight traffic larger than that for any one week this year and also substantially above the figures for a year ago, bank clearings 11.5 per cent over total for this period of 1925.

Weekly bank clearings $10,614,000,000.

Easter

In the Churches of Twin Falls

Religion says to you:

"Come unto Me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

THIS is an invitation to you that is free as the air. Full of hope, love, compassion, and tolerance.

It cares not who you are, what you are, or where you are, this message is from the heart to the heart.

Religion does not pay homage to wealth, neither does it know poverty—it only bids you COME!

"Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowely in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls."

Religion is tolerant toward all of us. Religion is not for saints—but for sinners, it is the essence of "Be not overcome of evil but overcome evil with good."

This is the simple rule of religion, we can begin where we stand, begin now, take it and practice it wherever we go.

We must grasp it with grim determination and sincerity of purpose. Never mind whether we tumble and fall. We should profit and be strengthened by our mistakes. Thus the gold in human character is refined.

The Churches of Twin Falls have reached a high standard in the demonstration of true religion. Their doors are wide open to all.

The Church has been established as one of the important channels through which religion flows. Here thousands of men, women and children gather for inspiration, hope and courage, having their mental batteries re-charged with love currents, carrying each one on to greater success and happiness.
