EXECUTIVES OF VARIOUS STATES OPEN SESSIONS

Nellie Tayloe Ross Welcomes Governors to Annual Conference; Pinchot and Christianson Criticise Wastefulness.

(By the Associated Press)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 26.—Wastefulness in the financial administration of government, particularly in the various states was criticized by state executives at the opening sessions of the annual conference of governors here today. The first arraignment was made by Governor Theodore Christianson of Minnesota, who declared that "more than three million persons are employed by the government—a peace-time army, larger than the American military forces in the world war," while Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, charged that "gang politicians are responsible for worthless office holders, and the custom of deficiency appropriations, which is a most effective means of concealing from the public the amount of money actually spent by the government."

Plead For Solidarity.

While Wyoming's woman governor, Nellie Tayloe Ross, "hostess," of the conference and Governor John W. Martin of Florida, who responded to her adress of welcome, pleaded for "solidarity of the states for a greater America," Governor Pinchot, in dealing with the subject of state rights, urged an increase of federal cooperation with the state governments and the state and federal governments as friendly allies rather than opponents."

The abolition of the spoils system by promoting office holders on merit and spending of state government funds only for genuine needs were the remedies, advocated by Governor Pinchot, to reduce the increasing tax burden of the nation.

Appeals for State Power.

Governor Christianson made an appeal for increasing the power of the state government over the administration of the state's finances so as to give the state executive the same power as the nation's president, to supervise the finances of every department.

Governor Pinchot viewed the increasing disregard of law, especially

New Information May Be Solution To Beach Mystery

Deputy Attorney Ryan, Investigating Carmel Angle of McPherson Kidnaping Case, Credits Parkes Story.

MONTEREY, Calif., July 26. (AP)—Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan of Los Angeles, investigating the Carmel angle of the alleged Aimee Semple McPherson kidnapping case, arrived in Carmel today to continue questioning persons said to have had connections with the presence, between May 19 and 29, of the man supposedly identified as Kenneth Ormiston, and the woman believed to have been Aimee Semple McPherson.

At least one person was discovered today who claims to have had a good look at the woman in question. Mrs. Percy Parkes, wife of a building contractor who home is next door to the house Ormiston and Mrs. McPerson are believed to have occupied, says she saw the woman face to face one morning when the woman ran from the house calling to the man, who was departing in his automobile.

Faces Woman

The man was gone and the woman, turning to the house, stood face to face with Mrs. Parkes, who was standing in the yard.

Mrs. Parkes said she noticed the high hair dress of the stranger and that she wore a black dress and white shirt waist. She carried a mixing bowl in her hand. When the woman saw Mrs. Parkes was looking at her, she turned her head and walked into the house.

MYSTERY WOMAN ENTERS MELLETT MURDER CASE

CANTON, Ohio, July 26. (AP)—The "mystery woman," some mystery letters and several mysterious journeys by sleuths, furnished the color in today's chapter of the search for the slayers of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, who was shot at his garage door on the morning of July 16, supposedly because of his anti-vice campaign.

"I don't know what it's all about," the oft mentioned mystery woman blurted to acting Chief of Police Hexamer, to whom she reported voluntarily. After making notes of where she may be found, if and when she is wanted, the acting chief dismissed her. The woman who comes from the underworld, has been considered by investigators as possibly holding the key of solution, or the cap that will climax the case.

GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP)—William V. Dwyer, head of an alleged $40,000,000 rum running syndicate, tonight was found guilty of conspirary to violate the national liquor and customs laws.

Miriam Ferguson to Resign Post Before November Elections

Woman Governor of Lone Star State Makes Announcement Following Primary Vote.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26. (AP)—Just as soon as the special session of the legislature called for September 13 has disposed of validation of district road bonds, investigated any department of the state government the legislature may see fit, and consider any other matters she may submit, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson will resign, she said today.

The governor expressed hope the legislature might attend to the matters submitted by her so as to make it possible for her to resign not later than November 1, 1926.

"I had hoped that I would be relieved from the duties of the office at an earlier date than herein stated. But in justice to myself and to my friends who have elected me, as well as the completion of unfinished departmental matters, I will not resign until the uncompleted matters of the office are disposed of."

LINCOLN'S SON ANSWERS CALL

Robert Todd, Last Surviving Member of Martyred President's Family, Dies at 82.

MANCHESTER, Vt., July 26. (AP)—Robert Todd Lincoln, eldest son of President Abraham Lincoln, and the last surviving member of the civil war president's immediate family, is dead. He passed away in his sleep at his summer home, Hildene, early today. Had he lived until August 1, he would have been 83 years old.

Although he never sought public office, he rose to high position in both public life and the business world. He served as secretary of war under two presidents, was United States minister to Great Britain under President Harrison. He served for years as counsellor for the Pullman company, became president, and later chairman of the board of directors.

Retired From Business

Advancing age and declining health caused Mr. Lincoln to retire entirely from busines activities between two and three years ago. This year, his health had been feeble, and since he came to his summer home last May he had ventured out of doors but once each day and then only for an automobile ride. His health within recent weeks had not been noticeably poorer, however, and he took his customary ride yesterday but this morning when servants went to awaken him, they found him dead.

Mrs. Lincoln, two daughters, and three grandchildren, survive him. Mrs. Lincoln and two of his grandchildren, Mary Lincoln Beckwith, and Robert Toddy Lincoln Beckwith, were at his summer home here when he passed away. Mrs. F. E. Johnson, daughter of Mr. Lincoln, and mother of the children, was said to be in Washington.

TO REST NEAR FATHER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 26. (AP)—The remains of Robert Todd Lincoln will find their resting place in a crypt near the remains of his immortal father at the Lincoln tomb in this city, —Edward L. Keys, prominent banker and a friend of the Lincoln family, received word from a representative of Mrs. Lincoln that final interment will be in Lincoln tomb next fall.

Near, but above the sarcophagus of Abraham Lincoln, are four crypts. Three now hold the remains of Mary Todd Lincoln, and her sons, Willie and Tad Lincoln. In the remaining crypt will be placed Robert Todd Lincoln.

JUDGE JARECKI CITES FIFTEEN FOR CONTEMPT

CHICAGO, July 26. (AP)—Fifteen election judges and clerks, one a woman, were cited for contempt for alleged fraudulent practices in connection with last April's primaries by County Judge Edmund Jarecki today. Morris Eller, sanitary district trustee, testified today that he knew nothing about any irregularities. He took with him the records of the republican club of his ward.

Eller waived immunity in appearing before the jury, which with another special jury preceding it, has indicted more than 100 election officials. A score of election officials also testified.

At the request of the senatorial committee investigating campaign expenditures here, the recount of ballots of senatorial candidates was rushed today, although today's recount showed little variation from the original figures.

PRESIDENT TO REMAIN SILENT ON DEBT ISSUE

Position of Refraining From Comment on Foreign Affairs Emphasized in Official Statement Given Out.

(By The Associated Press.)

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., July 26.—The position of President Coolidge in refraining from comment on political conditions in other countries or on the settlement of foreign war-time debts to this country was emphasized today when a statement was issued at the executive office asserting that he "has made no statement and authorized no interview concerning our foreign debts."

The statement was made after the Syracuse Herald in a dispatch from a representative who had come here to see Mr. Coolidge, had indicated that the president now regarded trade agreements as the logical recourse for an adjustment of foreign debts.

Made no Statement.

"The president has made no statement," the official announcement said, "and authorized no interview concerning our foreign debts or trade agreement. Any claim to the contrary is without foundation, He did remark to a social visitor that foreign debtors could pay their debts in part from foreign trade. He has not mentioned trade agreements."

Since Mr. Coolidge came to the Adirondacks he has maintained silence on the political situation in France, holding that it would be improper for him to discuss the affairs of another country. He also has refrained from entering the discussion which recently developed between British officials and officials of the United States treasury concerning the funds borrowed by England from this country during the war.

Attends to Business.

The practice of attending to government business as he does in Washington was continued today by the president, who went to the summer executive office after the departure for the west coast of Secretary Wilbur of the Navy department, who had been a week end guest.

"A strict adherence to his business schedule was regarded as somewhat improbable for the next few days, however, as more visitors are to arrive tomorrow when Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford, of Detroit, and Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, will come to White Pine camp to be guests for several days.

The son of the automobile manufacturer will come by private railroad car from Michigan, while at the same time Mr. Child will arrive from Pennsylvania on his way to a northern resort. Both visits are said to be social in character. If Mr. Ford is to discuss

Mormon Missionaries Will Leave Mexico in Compliance With Law

Orders Issued by Director of Mission Is Approved by L. D. S. Church Head.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 26. (AP)—When the new law governing religious matters in Mexico goes into effect, all American born missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, will leave the country.

Orders directing that these missionaries leave the country were issued by Kenneth Haymore, of El Paso, acting president of the church in Mexico in the absence of President Roy L. Pratt, who is in Brazil on a church mission. The order was approved by President Grant, who received the telegram from Haymore today, in a telegram he said.

Some 70 men and women are affected by the order, about half of them being in the interior of the country, while the remainder reside on the American side of the border, but cross the line at times to work among the natives. They have been instructed to cease their work on the Mexican side of the line.

MEXICO CITY, July 26 (AP)—Regulations providing for the constitutional prohibition of religious teaching in private schools went into effect today. The Mexican government by officially publishing these regulations today makes them automatically operative from the date of official publication.

PROBERS STRIKE SEVERAL SNAGS IN NEW HEARING

Witnesses Decline Information at Opening Session of Senate Campaign Funds Committee Investigation at Chicago.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 25. (AP) Launching its long-heralded investigation into the Illinois senatorial primary, the senate campaign funds committee today struck several snags.

After testifying that he had contributed $125,000 to the candidacy of Colonel Frank L. Smith, republican nominee, and chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and $15,000 to the successful democratic candidacy of George E. Brennan, Samuel Insull, Chicago public utilities executive, declined, pending conference with counsel, to say whether he had given financial aid to the Crowe-Barrett political organization in Chicago, which supported Smith.

Previously Allen F. Moore, of Monticello, Ill., campaign manager for Colonel Smith and republican national committeeman, had declined to say who, beside himself and Insull, were the chief contributors to the Smith campaign funds. He himself spent about $75,000 in Smith's interests, he said.

To Confer With Attorney.

Insull was excused until tomorrow so that he might confer with his attorney, while Moore was given until Wednesday to produce his private memoranda, kept in cipher, and other papers bearing upon the campaign.

Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, the committee chairman, directed Moore before his reappearance to confer with Colonel Smith and "ascertain whether he wants to assume the responsibility of refusal t odisclose fully the names of contributors and the purposes for which money was paid."

The republican national committeeman told the committee that the total sum "employed" in the Smith campaign was $253,547.51 and presented a statement showing the purposes for which the money was spent.

Moore said he kept no books and that the totals which he furnished the investigators were made up by an examination of his check stubs.

Insull, who described himself as a "public utilities executive and incidentally a farmer," testified that beside the $125,000 which he gave to the Smith organization, he spent $34,731.85 during the primary campaign early this year in propaganda among the foreign language groups and the negroes opposing American entrance into the world court.

"There is no question that Colonel Smith benefitted from this campaign," Insull declared in response to a question by Senator Reed, "but I would have spent it whoever the candidate had been because I am very much concerned in the world court question."

Distinguished Group Hear Bernard Shaw At Birthday Dinner

None of Smaller Rooms in House of Parliament Large Enough to Admit Crowd.

LONDON, July 26. (AP)—None of the smaller rooms in the house of parliament was large enough to accomodate Bernard Shaw's seventieth birthday party tonight, except perhaps the house of commons itself, and as the members could hardly be expected to adjourn their debate on the national coal strike, G. B. S.'s friends and admirers, headed by the former labor premier Ramsay MacDonald, gathered at the Metropolis hotel.

Mr. MacDonald, with Mr. and Mrs. Shaw seated on either side of him, presented the guest of honor to a distinguished company of labor movement leaders, literary figures and intellectuals. Mr. MacDonald voiced a strong protest against the British governments refusal to permit Mr. Shaw's speech to be broadcast unless a pledge was given that it would not be controversial on public topics.

POINCARE GROUP WILL ASK POWER

Newly Formed French Cabinet to Go Before Chamber of Deputies With Declaration.

PARIS, July 26. (AP)—Premier Poincare's newly formed cabinet, having agreed on its ministerial declaration today, will go before the chamber of deputies tomorrow and demand that the government be given power to solve France's pressing financial difficulties by decrees instead of having its bills debated at length by parliament.

According to several of the best informed members, the cabinet has decided to let ratification of the Washington and London debt agreements go over until parliament reconvenes next Autumn. This also is accepted as meaning that Premier Poincare will not seek foreign credits in rehabilitating the franc.

Adopt Slogan.

Meanwhile the slogan of the ministry of "national reconciliation," "France must save herself by her own means." This is accepted in political circles as indicating that direct and indirect taxation must be increased and that production must be intensified throughout the country.

The ministerial declaration, which was agreed upon at today's meeting of the cabinet, will be short. Minister of the Interior Sarraut, and of pensions, Marin, will ask the rules committee of the chamber tomorrow to accord urgent treatment to government measures which are designed to increase the influx of taxes and thereby to help in improving the exchange.

Alarmist Rumors.

The sudden arrival, before the end of the cabinet council of General Gouraud, military governor of the Paris area, gave rise to numerous alarmist rumors. These persisted until it was given out officially that he was merely paying a courtesy call on the new premier before going on a month's leave and that it was only an accident that he happened to arrive before the cabinet meeting had adjourned.

FRANC REDEMPTION PLAN

PARIS, July 26. (AP)—Premier Poincare's financial plans for the redemption of the franc and the restoration of the French treasury, which the cabinet council for three successive days has been elaborating, comprise ten principal clauses, according to semi-official information available after the ministers separated at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The advice of the experts committee has been followed in many respects, notably regarding the necessity of additional indirect and direct taxation. From these sources alone, the government expects to obtain 2,500,000,000 francs during the second six months of 1926.

SESQUI ASSOCIATION MUST CITE AUTHORITY

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 26. (AP)—The Sesqui-centennial Exposition association is called upon to show by what authority the Gladway, and commercial features of the Philadelphia sesqui-centennial exposition are operated on Sundays in a quo warranto proceedings filed today in the Dauphin county court by Attorney General Woodruff on behalf of the commonwealth.

The court fixed August 9 as the date on which an answer is returnable and the attorney general said he planned to ask that argument be heard at that time.

DEPUTIES AFTER GOODWIN

SANTA ANA, Calif., July 26. (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs left here today to bring back Rev. Phillip A. Goodwin, actor-priest of the American Catholic church, who was arrested in New York on suspicion of murdering J. J. Patterson, Los Angeles broker, whose partly burned body was discovered in a river bed near here last March. The officers first went to Sacramento, where extradition requests were signed.

FIGHTERS LOSE ALL CONTROL OF RAGING FLAMES

Forest Fires Sweeping Montana-Washington-Idaho District Get Away After Having Been Curbed; Serious.

(By The Associated Press.)

MISSOULA, Mont., July 26.—Raging completely out of control and spreading in every direction, flames sweeping the forests in the Montana-Idaho-Washington district were reported to forestry headquarters here today as creating the most serious fire situation in the region in 16 years.

In the Kaniksu forest, where 50,000 acres already have been devastated, meager details indicate that the force of fighters, hampered by unfavorable weather, was helpless against the scattering conflagration.

Six New Fires.

Six new fires started yesterday on the Kaniksu, the flames increasing faster than men could be obtained to fight them. Several broke loose from control lines and spread rapidly, driving crews before them and devouring much valuable timber.

In the Blackfeet forest, where most of the control lines which have held for several days, were lost during high winds yesterday, the flames are reported to be sweeping northward at an alarming rate.

On the Pend Oreille forest, the Little Creek spot fire ran into the main Caribou creek conflagration, causing the loss of miles of trenches which fighters were attempting to establish between the two.

Heat Prevents Work.

The heat from the Caribou fire finally became so intense it was impossible for the crews to advance close enough to make any headway in checking it. Twenty-eight men have been sent to reinforce the forces in that section, where the Myrtle crek fire also is reported burning briskly, and the Fall creek blaze is being held despite high winds which are threatening to sweep it out of control.

Both the Arbo and Kootenai fires on the Kootenai forest proved difficult to hold yesterday and with strong winds today the situation was reported as extremely hazardous.

President Calles Strikes Again In Religious Dispute

Interior Department of Mexico Begins Investigation of Pastoral Letter Ordering Cessation of Rites.

MEXICO CITY, July 26. (AP)—President Calles struck again today in the controversy between the Mexican government and the Catholic church in Mexico.

Assumedly upon his orders, the interior department started an inquiry into the pastoral letter ordering cessation of all rites in Mexican catholic churches after July 31, and announcing efforts to have the anti-religious provisions of the constitution amended.

Should the investigation determine the letter to be in violation of the constitution, the department of justice would be notified with a view to hailing the signers into court. They include the most Rev. Mora del Rio, archbishop of Mexico, and seven other officials of the churc hin the republic.

To Sift Propaganda.

President Calles also has announced he will take steps to determine whether the propaganda of the National League for the Defense of Religious Freedom has been seditious, especially where it relates to a proposed economic boycott.

On the whole, the country has remained calm under the stress of the events of the last few days.

Except for the unusual large assemblages at the larger churches, there was no indication in the streets of the larger cities yesterday or today of the momentous developments.

WASHINGTON AND IDAHO PRUNE GROWERS CONFER

WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 26. (AP)—Informal meetings between a committee of five men, representing prune shippers of the Boise and Payette, Idaho, districts with shippers at Milton and Freewater, Oregon, near here, and inspection of orchards in that district, where prunes are expected to be ready for shipment August 2, were followed here today by a conference at which a system of cooperation was to be worked out.

A clearing house on information concerning prices, offerings, sales and car movements, in charge of a government bureau worker, has been agreed upon here. Cooperation of the Pacific northwest advisory board is also promised in daily reports.

THE SPORTS OF A DAY

BEELETS TAKE BRUIN SERIES BY ONE GAME

Salt Lake Cops Three Out of Five Contests Played at Bonneville Park Over Week End: Locals Go to Pocatello.

Sunday's double header at Bonneville park, Salt Lake, was divided by Chadbourne's Bees and Zamloch's Bruins, Twin Falls taking the morning session, 7 to 4, and Salt Lake copping the afternoon tilt, 7 to 3. Salt Lake thereby bested the Twin Falls-Buhl entry in the series, three games to two.

Pete Daglia was invincible in the morning game Sunday, while Bowers had the Bees at his mercy in the second fray until the fifth inning. The Bees went to bat in the fifth, however, for a six run rally and the Bruins were unable to overcome the lead.

Zam and his pets arrive in Pocatello this morning for a three-game series with Bonner's Bannocks. The two teams will then come here Friday to open another series at Athletic park. Sunday's box scores:

COLLEGIANS TIE BRUIN BATSMEN

Twin Falls and Logan Deadlock for Third Place in Team Hitting; Daglia Ahead.

Team batting including games of July 23:

Salt Lake	.322
Idaho Falls	.318
Twin Falls	.315
Logan	.315
Pocatello	.303
Ogden	.301

Leading hitters including games of July 24: Chadbourne, Bees, .452; Maklin, Gunners, .389; Backer, .384, Zamloch, .380; Johnson, Spuds, .375; King, Logan, .370; Taitt, Bannocks, .370.

The Bruins have dropped to a tie with the Collegians for third place in team hitting for the season. It is the first time during the season that the Bruins have been out of first place as a team in batting.

Six Hit Over .300

The Buhl-Twin Falls entry, however, has six men hitting over the .300 mark. Backer, Zamloch, Thompson, Rosenberg, Dwyer and Daglia are the six sluggers. The Bruins have gathered a total of 718 hits for 1031 bases during the present season. The Bruins have hit for 48 more bases than Bill Leard's Spuds who are second with 1003 total bases. Zamloch's pets have gathered 147 two baggers, 39 triples and 36 home runs. The Bruins are also leading in sacrifice hits with 132 while Salt Lake is second with 89. The Bruins excell in base stealing with 95 and the closest rival is Salt Lake with 61.

The averages as compiled show that the Twin Falls-Buhl team is leading in more than her share of the departments. And with Daglia topping the list of all pitchers, with 15 wins and two losses Zam ought to have a good chance to bring the Bruins out on top in the last half.

In fielding Maloney leads all regular second sackers with only one bobble in ten games. Dwyer is the premier third baseman with an average of .963. He has but 3 errors in 70 games chalked against his record.

Pioneer Day Game Captured by Eden

EDEN, July 26 (Special to The News) — In an exhibition baseball game here Saturday at the Pioneer day celebration, Eden defeated Hazelton in a loosely played contest that resulted in an 8 to 5 score. Although the local team had only four of the regular lineup, the several extra picked up players proved to be too strong an aggregation for the Hazelton team and consequently the locals had little difficulty in turning in a win. Summer and Tucker were the battery for Eden and Schank and Keller did the heavy work for Hazelton. Hazelton gathered 10 hits off Summer, one of which was a home run by Schank. Eden did not fare as well in the hits when it came to numbers, but got them more bunched. Summer whiffed seven and Schank 10. Both pitchers were quite free with passes, each walking three.

PIRATES STRENGTHEN GRIP ON LEADERSHIP

BROOKLYN, July 26. (AP)—The Pirates strengthened their grip on first place in the National league pennant chase today by choking a ninth inning Brooklyn rally to win 3 to 2.

Dazzy Vance yielded only six scattered hits, but he gave seven passes and two of them were turned into runs. Only four Pirates were retired on strikes.

Emil Yde started for the Pirates and the Robins made only four hits off him until the ninth, when he weakened and was replaced by Adams with one out, one run over the plate and two men on the bases. Bohne filed to Cuyler, whose accurate throw to the plate doubled Butler trying to score after the catch.

The score:	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	3	7	2
Brooklyn	2	7	0

Batteries—Yde, Adams and Gooch; Vance and DeBerry.

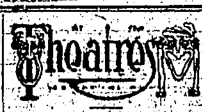
DOMINATING ACTORS FLAILED BY PLAYWRIGHT SEAN O'CASEY

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—"Dominating actors" are the curse of the London stage and ought to be "hit on the head."

At least, this is what the Irish playwright, Sean O'Casey, thinks. He says that actors who want to make their roles the dominating parts thereby "hogging" the play for themselves ruin many a performance.

Sean O'Casey views have been widely heralded in theatrical circles and many dramatic critics are giving their opinions about the criticism.

Virtually all the professional critics agree the "dominating actor" is a pest in the theatre, but are inclined to agree that the "star" system is now much in the discard and actors are not permitted to throw a play out of perspective to the same degree they were a few years ago.



CRITIC SEES "GRASS," BECOMES PRESS AGENT

"Grass," Paramount's latest picture, which arrived at the Idaho theatre yesterday, has won for itself many graceful compliments, none of them finer than these words which were contained in the review of the New York Evening Post:

"'It is very seldom that a picture makes a critic feel like turning press agent, but 'Grass' had that effect on me.

"'If you are in search of unusual entertainment, of thrills, of strange and marvelous scenes, if you want a real adventure in picture going, see 'Grass', and you will thank me for having urged you.'"

"Grass," with "The Circus Cyclone," the other feature on this program, as well as the comedy, "Over There Abouts," and the Idaho Pict-O-Grams will be shown today at 2 p. m. and this evening at 7:30 for the last times. Bebe Daniels in "Volcano" will be the feature starting tomorrow.

What a "drag" will do

A DRAG on your jimmy-pipe, loaded to the guards with Prince Albert, will give you an entirely new idea of how good a pipe can taste when you put it on the proper diet. It will revise all your notions about the grand old pastime of pipe-smoking. Make the test!

This very day, get yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. and tuck a load into the business end of your pipe. Light up and pull that wonderful smoke up the stem. Notice how cool it tastes, whether you feed it fast or slow. Notice how sweet and mellow it is. Good old P. A.!

When you open the tin, the aroma that greets you is richly fragrant . . . the breath of real, honest-to-goodness tobacco. An aromatic promise of the smoke-pleasure to come. You'll never forget that taste when you light up. Nothing else is like it anywhere.

No matter how satisfied you think you are, give P. A. a whirl in your jimmy-pipe. Millions of smoke-happy men will tell you that P. A. will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any tobacco you ever smoked. There's a P. A. sunshine-shop just across the way!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

RICKARD KEEPS SILENT ON BOUT

Promoter Declines to Reveal What May Be Expected in Dempsey-Tunney Fight.

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Tex Rickard maintained a mysterious silence tonight in regard to the entanglements confronting him over the Dempsey-Tunney Fight planned for Chicago in September. The New York promoter indicated new developments, but he declined to reveal what might be expected.

The muddle situation may be cleared within 24 hours, Rickard indicated, adding that he still regarded Chicago favorably as the battle ground, but that "so many obstacles had arisen that he was unable to make the definite announcement that he had promised Saturday.

B. E. Clements of the Chicago Coliseum club stood firm on his contention that he alone has the right to Dempsey's services, and said he was going ahead with his plan to stage the match between the heavyweight champion and Harry Wills. Paddy Mullins, manager of the negro challenger, who was supposed to arrive here today in an attempt to find out exactly where Wills fits into the picture, had failed to put in an appearance tonight.

GOES TO NEW YORK

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Tex Rickard said tonight that he will start back to New York tomorrow to "listen to any proposition anyone wants to make." He made the statement upon receipt of a telegram from George Brower of the New York Athletic commission inviting him to come back there to negotiate for the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

FEATHER WEIGHTS TO BOX

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—The first of two important bouts this week among contenders for the feather weight title relinquished by Kid Kaplan will take place tomorrow night when Red Chapman of Boston bows Babe Herman of California at the Queensboro stadium.

Chapman has been designated informally by the state athletic commission as the outstanding aspirant for Kaplan's crown, and the outcome of his bout tomorrow will have a vital bearing on his status. The match is for 12 rounds.

in relation to prohibition offenders, who he characterized as "alcohol criminals," as the greatest problem facing the United States.

"The nation cannot suffer any state to nullify the national constitution, whether under the guise of a state referendum or by the failure of the state to exercise its law enforcement powers in the upholding of the national prohibition law," he declared, at the same time advocating that the states support the order of President Coolidge for the cooperative use of state and local officials in law enforcement.

States Rights Issue.

Tomorrow the conference will deal with the historic issue of state rights, dating back to the declaration of independence and the precipitating factor of the civil war. The morning session will present a sectional debate with Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, as the spokesman for the east; Governor Walter M. Pierce of Oregon, the west's representative and Governor Henry L. Whitfield of Mississippi, the south's debater.

In the afternoon the conference will be held on a ranch, 20 miles from Cheyenne, so the "tenderfoot" state executives from the east and south, will view the real "wild and wooly west."

FOUL BALLS

By Pudge.

Two out of five is not all that we ask but it's nothing to get alarmed about. Ought to take at least two away from Al Bonner.

It begins to look as though Big Pete was the only salvation. Anyway he is good for a game every now and then.

Eddie Gorman had a perfect day with the willow in the first game Sunday. And he got two hits for four times at bat in the second one.

Zamloch seems to be the most consistent hitter on the club. He gets at least one hit and usually more in every game. The Skipper is way up at the top in fielding with only one error in 22 games.

Mike Mahoney is hitting his stride again and is playing errorless ball at the second sack. He ought to be dubbed the boy wonder or Zamloch's find.

Gorman ran his total of stolen bases up to 23 Sunday and will soon have a commanding lead over Apperson if the center gardener don't pick up.

Only three more days to wait, just like a kid waiting for the circus. Aw, be honest and admit it.

Pete Thompson bolstered himself up among the leading two-base hitters in his last batting spurt. He is tied with Mello and Gardner of the Bees with 22. Dunning still leads the field with 25.

The first real battle of the season was staged at Pocatello Sunday when a dust storm halted the game the Idaho Falls fans staged a raid on the Bannock supporters just to keep things lively. The police had to interfere and put two husky rooters in the bastille for safe keeping.

Can't tell who might pitch today; better be around the score board and look for anything. That's all.

a velocity of 55 miles an hour at Miami beach, while the local weather bureau reported the barometric pressure at 29.78, after a steady fall during the day. Storm warnings kept all craft in port and warnings were broadcast to ships in this region by the Tropical radio station on government hurricane advices furnished by the Associated Press.

Considerable Damage

Undetermined damage had resulted from the high wind and waves to the fashionable Roney plaza at Miami beach, while several house boats, moored at bayfront docks were smashed. Coast guard boats rendered aid to the craft which broke from anchorage and drifted to the bay. Trees were uprooted and signs were torn from their hinges by the gale. Waves dashed high over the causeway connecting Miami and Miami Beach.

SHIP IN DISTRESS

MIAMI, Fla., July 26. (AP)—Distress reports were received from the steamship Ancalio San Giorgio, by the Tropical radio station here at 10:30 o'clock tonight. The vessel messaged her position at 50 miles northeast of Miami and stated she was helpless with a damaged rudder. Efforts to maintain communication failed.

At 11:45 p. m., S. O. S. calls from the Ancalio were answered by the Ward liner Orizaba, which messaged it was proceeding to its aid.

WILL BACK UP LIQUOR CHARGE

Head of Association Against Prohibition Amendment Ready to Give Information.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—W. H. Stayton, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, informed Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board today that he was prepared to substantiate with letters and testimony his charge that liquor is sold on the Leviathan.

Insisting that he had no thought of criticizing any member of the board, but, on the other hand sought to show that "in spite of honest efforts of able men, your board, along with many officials in other departments, was the victim of a cancerous law," Stayton said:

"If you decide to investigate the matter, I gladly will cooperate with you and produce all the letters and testimony I have."

In a letter to the shipping board, Chairman Stayton declared the prohibition law could not be forced on British ships and, he continued:

"How can we expect the employees on the Leviathan to either respect or obey the law? They see alongside them a Cunard liner 'British flag' coming out of New York. They know that the constitution forbids the presence of beverages on that ship in our waters. They know that the presence of such liquors on the Canarder has been declared unlawful and unconstitutional. They know that in spite of this the Cunarder is connivingly permitted to bring the stuff into our ports and then sell it at sea to the profit of the British owners and the advantage of the British taxpayers. And they know that the American shipowner is penalized and discriminated against because he is American and not British, and he is not permitted to make the profit the Britisher makes, nor to aid his fellow taxpayers.

"A system which makes such discriminations and winks at constitutional violations in favor of the British cannot be expected to appeal to those who know of Lexington and Concord."

OFFICIALS INVESTIGATE POISON LIQUOR SOURCE

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 26. (AP)—Frank J. Hale, national superintendent of alcohol control and Judge Roscoe C. Harper, legal advisor, arrived here today from Washington to investigate the source of the poison liquor that has caused more than 50 deaths in Buffalo and vicinity and across the border in Ontario, in the last few days.

While the Washington officials were conferring with local prohibition enforcement agents and representatives of the police department, news was received from Lockport of two additional deaths in that city, making the total fatalities in Niagara county six.

Earl Rusacll, 32, died in the Lockport city hospital a short time after being taken there from Olcott beach. He went blind while up the way in Lockport and succumbed in a short time. Robert Nevalle, 55 years old, died about the same time while being taken from his home in the Lockport city hospital.

EUROPEANS RECOGNIZE IMPORTANCE OF FARMS

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP)—The importance of agriculture is recognized in Europe far more than it is in America, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, said today on his return from a visit in Denmark, Sweden and Germany to study farming conditions.

"While abroad I visited agricultural schools, experiment stations and large and small farms," he said. "The people of those countries of all classes, not just the farmers, appreciate the importance of agriculture more than we do in America. They seem to realize the soil and its products are of importance in a wise national economy and they have gone further than we in organizing their agriculture."

JURY INDICTS COLONEL GREEN

Brings Charges of Misappropriation of Government Controlled Liquor Against Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26. (AP)—A federal grand jury here tonight returned an indictment against Colonel Ned M. Green, depbed several days ago as prohibition administrator for northern California and Nevada, after being in session only three and one half hours. The charges brought against Colonel Green were that he had misappropriated governmentally controlled liquor and had been guilty of misconduct in office.

All of the counts embodied in the indictment charged Colonel Green with the embezzlement of government property.

Pixes Bail

United States District Judge Frank H. Kerrigan, who accepted the jury's return, fixed bail at $5000. The amount immediately was posted by an representative of a bonding company.

The indictment contained ten counts. Each count charged a violation of section 97 of the internal revenue law in that Colonel Green, while a federal officer embezzled and converted to his own use whiskey and assorted liquors held by the government. The charge is a felony. No other changes were incorporated in the indictment.

Each count in the indictment listed an alleged embezzlement by Colonel Colonel Green of assorted liquors held by the government, the first instance, according to the indictment, occurring last December, a short time after Colonel Green had been appointed prohibition administrator. He had been in office ten months.

Several counts listed the embezzlement of one or more hundred dozen at a time. The largest alleged embezzlement of liquor was charged to Colonel Green for June 5, last, when he is said to have taken ten bottles of whiskey, one bottle of wine and one bottle of gin.

BELGIAN RULERS SET EXAMPLE FOR PEOPLE

BRUSSELS, July 26. (AP)—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth ate dark bread—near war bread—as part of the stringent measures of economy which have been put into effect in Belgium to stem the decline of the Belgian franc. The same bread is now being eaten in mansions in Brussels and the most modest hamlet in Flanders.

The saying is bread alone is estimated at 10,000,000 francs a month and when the crops are harvested will amount to about 10,000,000 francs. Public buildings, cafes, restaurants will operate on a restricted schedule under the newly promulgated regulations. The export of coal and coke has been limited and a maximum price fixed. A tax of ten francs daily on foreign owned automobiles and a super tax on the hotel bills of foreigners may have been imposed.

The Belgian franc, which was quoted at 40.90 to the dollar last Saturday, improved to 38.325 today.

CHICAGO, July 26. (AP)—Mrs. A. G. She would have been 70 years of age this month.

The fruits of two of her largest gifts she never saw. They are the new medical and dental units of Northwestern university, which are nearing completion after she gave more than $8,000,000 for their construction and endowment.

SHOWS FARMERS HOW TO MANAGE 20-HORSE TEAM

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—The wheat belt farmers of the middle west are to be given a demonstration of how one man can handle as high as twenty horses in one team, and thus multiply their manpower.

Any farm community in the wheat belt that wants to employ a 20-horse team can have the trick explained by combining the horses, the field and the implements they wish to use. The demonstrator, J. J. Peak, a practical farmer of Montana, has been secured by the Horse Association of America to show the lessons free.

Peak's success as a demonstrator of "dog team" hitches has been pronounced in Montana, where his trick of "tieing in" and "bucking back" has been widely adopted. While one man with six horses can plow six acres a day, Peak says, the same man with 18 horses can plow three times as much.

FRENCH DEBT TERMS

Caillaux, French finance minister, has succeeded in arranging a debt settlement with Great Britain more favorable than the one that Berenger arranged with the United States. They seems to be a prospect of ratification by the French Parliament.

There is little prospect of ratification of the American agreement, already approved by one House of Representatives. French sentiment is strongly against it, ignoring what seems to Americans its liberality, and insisting that if France is to pay at all, she must have still more favorable terms. Caillaux's ministry, and even the present French government as a whole, may stand or fall according as it succeeds in winning further concessions from America.

The British precedent will be a powerful argument for more concessions.

A member of the American debt funding commission is quoted as saying that the commission is through with the matter, and any further action is up to Congress. There is seldom any absolute finality, however, in either finance or politics.

It is not inconceivable that France will be granted somewhat easier terms before the negotiations undertaken by Caillaux are concluded. If so, it will not be because American financiers and statesmen want to take less, but because they are convinced that less is better than nothing at all.

A BAFFLED DICTATOR

Pilsudski, dictator of Poland, having seized the supreme power, is doesn't know what to do with it. For he is a soldier, not a ruler. All his experience has been military. He is probably too old a bird to learn politics now, and hasn't time for lessons. Things move too fast.

In a world too much given to dictatorships in these latter years, perhaps such an example was needed to make political dictation ridiculous instead of dignified and worshipful. A dictatorship depends on the dictator, more than on any other factor. Here is notice to every would-be Napoleon or Cæsar to consider well his own strength and qualifications before indulging in any coup d'etat and making himself personally responsible for his country's government and welfare.

It takes a very exceptional man to be a whole government and generals, anyway, usually make poor civil leaders, lacking the civilian viewpoint.

There is danger in Pilsudski even in his political weakness. For realizing that his personal strength is military, he seems to be trying to set the Polish stage for another war, in which he might win fresh laurels. That is the eternal way of the soldier. Heaven grant that the people of Poland have enough sense to see that what they needs is not wars, but statesmanship.

A STRENUOUS JAUNT

Wells and Evans started their famous trip around the world as leisurely gentlemen, in evening dress.

That was a pose, but none the less significant.

The air of dignified leisure was soon lost in the strain of making connections, enduring the hardships of long, rushing weeks and steady, unremitting concentration on the problem of what to do next.

They ended the trip in an unlovely state, dragging wearily back against the supporting hands of their friends at every moment of the auto. Both men were attired in flying suits, which they had not had time to discard, and their faces had clothing were covered with oil and dust.

A strenuous work that was, in spite of the luxurious means employed for it. Any travel is strenuous that aims at speed, rather than the relaxation of moderate motion and slowly changing scenes. Which is a truth that many travelers never seem to discover.

The GIRL in the MIRROR

Epstein granted. "You ain't me is bachelors," he reminded the momentarily cynical youth. "Ve should vorry?"

"What I'm worrying about is Laurie," Bangs admitted.

Epstein turned to him with awakened interest.

"Vell," he demanded, "what about Laurie? He's all right, ain't he?"

"His sister has always kept a collar and leash on Laurie," Bangs reminded him, "and Laurie has needed them both. Now she's off for Japan on a four-months' honeymoon. The leash and collar are off, too. It's going to be lolishly interesting and rather nucleus business for us to see what a chap like Laurie does with his new freedom. His nature hasn't changed in essentials, though his circumstances have," he added, slowly. "And all his promises to Barbara are off. His year of probation is over."

Epstein grunted again. He was fond of saying that he loved Bangs and Laurie as if they were the sons he had never had; but he was not given to analysis of himself or others, and he had little patience with it. His reply drawled a tolerance unusual in him.

"Vell, ve keep an eye on him, don't ve?" he predicted.

Bangs frowned.

"We'll have to do it mighty carefully," he muttered. "If Devon catches us at it, he won't leave us an eye to keep on anything!"

Epstein grunted again.

"Ve keep him busy," he suggested, eagerly. "Start him right away on another play. Eh? That's the idea!"

Bangs shook his head.

"That's it," he conceded. "But Laurie has decided that he won't work again, just yet. He says he's tired and wants a few months' rest. Besides, he thinks America will declare war before the winter's over. He's going to volunteer as soon as it does, and he doesn't want any loose ends dragging here, any half-finished plays, for example."

Epstein looked worried. This was serious news. Without allowing him time to recover from it, Bangs administered a second jolt.

"And of course, in that case," he added simply, "I'd volunteer, too."

Under the double blow Epstein's head and shoulders went down. He knew in that moment what even he himself half sometimes doubted, that his haunted love for the boys was deep and sincere.

"Oh, vell," he said vaguely, "I guess ve need'll that if it comes, eh? Ve needn't go to it today."

At Devon house they found the congestion characteristic of wedding receptions, a certain line had been drawn at the church. Seemingly no line at all had been drawn in the matter of guests at the reception. All Barbara Devon's proteges were there, and they were many; all the young folks in her clubs; all the old and new friends of her crowded life. Each of the great and beautiful rooms on the main floor of Devon house held a human frieze as a background for the throng of new-comers. Out grew, rather than lessened as the hours passed.

As Bangs and Epstein entered the main hall Laurie Devon saw them over the heads of the crowd and hurried to meet them, throwing an arm across the shoulder of each. He was in a mood both near-loved and feared—a mood of high and reckless exhilaration. He liked and approved of his new brother-in-law. The memory of his own New York triumph was still fresh enough to give him a thrill. He was devoted to his partners, and proud of his association with them and their work. But most of all, and this he himself would loyally have denied deep in his heart he was exulting fiercely over his coming freedom.

Laurie loved his sister, but he was weary of the leading strings. Henceforth he could live his own life. It should be a life worth while, on that he had decided, and should continue free from the vices of gambling and drinking, of which he was sure he had cured himself in the past year. He had come into a full realization of the folly of these and of the glory of the work one does. He hadn't the least notion what he was going to do with his independence, but a boundless delight filled him in the prospect of it. Whatever life held he was convinced would be good. Looking down from his slender height on the plump Epstein and the stocky Bangs, he smiled into the sober face of each, and under the influence of that smile their momentary proximity fell from them like a frosted veil.

"Come and see Barbara," Laurie buoyantly suggested. "She wants to say good-by to you, and to tell you how to tuck me into my crib every night. She's going to slip away pretty soon, you know. Rob and I have got her off in an alcove to get a few minutes' rest."

He led them to this haven, of which only one or sixty other guests seemed aware for the room was not uncomfortably filled. They found Barbara sitting in a high-backed Spanish chair, against which, in her bridal array and her extraordinary beauty, she made a picture that unaccountably deepened the new depression in Rodney's soul. On her train by the side of the chair, the Infant Samuel slumbered in peace, like an exhausted puppy.

Warren, hovering near his wife, shook hands with the newcomers and responded to their congratulations. Then, slipping his arm through Laurie's, he drew him across the room to where his sister, Mrs. Ordway, was languidly talking to Arvard of the bride's old friends. He knew that Barbara wanted a final and serious word with her brother's partners. Laurie knew it, too, and winked at the pair like an impish child as he permitted himself to be led away.

Young Mrs. Watrah, whose title was still so new that she looked startled when they addressed her by it, greeted them warmly and indicated the sleeping Samuel with an apologetic smile.

"His mother is lost somewhere in the crowd," she explained. "He has had two glasses of milk, four fat cakes and three plates of ice cream; and he's either asleep or unconscious. I'm not sure which." Her manner screened. "I'm so glad to have a moment with you two," she said gratefully. "You know what I want to talk about."

"We can guess it," Bangs smiled at her with the odd wistfulness his smile always took on when he spoke to Barbara. To Bangs, Barbara had become a temple at whose portal he removed his earth-stained shoes. "You want us to look after Laurie," he added quietly. "Well, you bet we're going to do it."

She smiled again, this time the rare smile that warmed her face like a light from within.

"Then I shall go away happy," she told them. "And there's nothing more to be said, for of course you both understand that I don't distrust Laurie. How could I, after he has been so wonderful all this year. It's only—" she hesitated—"I suppose it's life I'm afraid of," she confessed. "I never used to be. But—well, I learned in New York how helpless we are, sometimes."

Rodney's and was understanding.

"I know," he robustly agreed. "But it's going to be absolutely all right. Be sure of that."

Epstein added his well-meaning but none too helpful chuscn bit.

"Laurie can't get into no scrape we can't get him out of," he earnestly assured Laurie's sister.

Barbara laughed. A circle of new comers was forming around them.

"We'll let it go at that," she said, and extending a hand to each man: "Good-by. I won't try to thank you. But—God bless you both!"

Under the influence of this final benediction, Epstein waddled over to the corner where Warren, very pale, and Louise Ordway, very much bored, stood surrounded by a group that included Sonya Orienoff. Firmly detaching the bridegroom from this congenial assemblage, Epstein led him to one side.

"Warren," he said solemnly, "I got to congratulate you all over again. You got von voman in a million— No, you got von voman in eighty million!"

BILLINGS MAN GAINS 13 POUNDS TAKING KARNAK

"And I'm Right Here To Tell You That When This Medicine Makes You Well You Sure Stay Well, Too," Says Davis.

"It was several months ago that Karnak stopped my troubles and believe me they have sure stayed stopped," declares A. B. Davis, of 303 S. 25th St., Billings, Mont., well-known foreman at the Ford Agency Shop.

"I tell you, Karnak just rid me of the worst kind of indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach trouble when I wasn't able to find anything else that would even help me, and my case was such a severe one I thought maybe my relief wouldn't last, but I'm right here to tell you now that when Karnak makes you well you sure stay well," continues Mr. Davis.

"Not only did Karnak put my stomach in perfect condition me it also relieved me of a bad case of rheumatism, that had been suffering from ever since I came back from France in 1918. This medicine stealing my nerves so I could get a good restful night's sleep built me up 13 pounds from a weak, rundown condition, and just made a clean sweep of all my troubles.

"Now mind you I haven't felt a trace of my old troubles since, and am still in the pink of condition, ready to feed. I never saw anything like Karnak and will recommend it any time. I tell you, the effects of this medicine are certainly lasting, and you can just have anybody see me about it."

Karnak is sold in Twin Falls by the Schramm-Johnson Drug Co., and all leading druggists.—Adv.

SWEDISH PRINCE SEES YOSEMITE

Rugged Scenery of Famous Park Appeals to Gustaf Adolf; Guest at Barbecue.

YOSEMITE, Cal., July 26 (AP)—A vista of rugged California scenery which stretched for 40 miles to the clear, sun-bathed blue of the horizons, held the rapt attention of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, for many minutes, some of them awesome and silent, today.

The prince gazed slowly about him while he enjoyed an outdoor breakfast at the Glacier Point hotel and was frankly under the spell of the Sierras, the empire of timber and the sheer drop of the canyons came in for long attention from the royal visitors.

Studies Flowers.

The whole party was so pleased with the prospect that it remained at the hotel until long after the appointed hour. Later, the prince took a saddle horse and set out over the 12-mile Pohono trail to make a study of the many flowers to be found along the way. The remainder of the royal party including Princess Louise, took automobiles for Fort Monroe, an old horse stage relay station, picturesquely set, to meet the prince later.

Upon arriving in Yosemite valley they went directly to Yosemite lodge.

In the evening, the prince was the guest at an outdoor barbecue, another phase of western life new to him. Fritz, chef at Camp Curry, had charge of the affair, and his steak broiling gave the prince great amusement. Fritz showed the prince how a steak should be cooked under the sugar pines.

Following the barbecue, the royal party watched the fire fall from Glacier point, where they spent last night, to Yosemite valley far below. The party retired early, preparatory to an early start for San Francisco by rail tomorrow morning.

TRAINING CROWN PRINCE ALONG AMERICAN LINES

BUCHAREST, July 26. (AP)—Crown Prince Michel of Rumania, the 4-year-old son of former Prince Carol and Princess Helene, whose father's escapades will one day make him king is being trained for his kingly duties not according to the old European standards, but along democratic American lines.

The blonde-haired baby, who bears a striking facial and temperamental resemblance to his grandfather, the late King Constantine of Greece, is being taught English by an American tutor as his first language.

All his toys, picture-books and playmates, too, are American. It is even said his mother favors American soothing syrups, talcum powders and other Yankee baby preparations.

The crown prince has shown not only surprising aptitude in learning to talk, but the things he does and says would do credit, it is said, to a much older boy. His precocious sayings are widely quoted by Queen Marie and others in Bucharest, who are sure he will equal his great-granduncle, the talented and vigorous King Carol I, if he lives to be 18.

If the boy should die before coming of age, Rumania will be ruled by a regency composed of Prince Nicholas, the second son of the royal family, the chief justice of the Rumanian supreme court, and the Rumanian patriarch.

CHECK BOISE FIRE AT EDGE OF WHEAT FIELDS

BOISE, July 26. (AP)—The fire which Sunday night threatened ranchers near Gooseneck bend, on the Boise river, was brought under control early Monday. No damage was done, the fire having been checked at the very marking of the threatened wheat fields.

North and west of Eagle, a grass and sage brush fire that had been burning in the foothills several days, jumped toward the ranches Monday afternoon. Haying and threshing crews from throughout the neighborhood dropped their work and rushed to fight the flames which were checked.

The Daggett creek fire, 13 miles northwest of Boise still is smoking, but it is not burning anywhere. A mounted crew of five patrolmen and as many on foot are on the scene.

RESENT PLANS FOR MANEUVERS

Proposed French Military Activities Arouse Indignation of German Newspapers.

BERLIN, July 26 (AP)—News that extensive French military maneuvers between the 41st and 47th divisions are planned in the Palatinate in September, has evoked considerable resentment in Rhenish and other German quarters.

The general feeling of indignation has been enhanced by reports that considerable reinforcements will be called to the occupied area, including large contingents of negro troops. It is argued that the existing atmosphere of oppression and the opportunities for dangerous friction between the French troops and the German inhabitants are proportionately intensified by the presence of negro soldiers.

Blow to Crop Harvest.

It also is emphasized that a fortnight's maneuvers, involving the quartering of large bodies of troops throughout the country districts, will be detrimental to the necessary work of farmers and wine growers and will prove a serious blow to the harvesting of the agricultural and wine crops.

The Kreuz-Zeitung professes to foresee the worst possible consequences, "unless, prior to the maneuvers, the French government replying to the German protests, plainly states its willingness to deal severely with reviewing of the 'conquerors methods' in the French army of occupation."

"That France, after Locarno and immediately before Geneva, should select the Palatinate of all places for maneuvers, reinforced by large contingents from elsewhere and comprising numerous negro troops, is scarcely an indication of 'pacification and reconciliation' nor a sign of good faith of her willingness to evacuate the occupied zone in the near future," the paper adds.

STEEL WATCH TOWERS FOR ALABAMA FOREST AREAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 27 (AP)—An innovation in Alabama fire control is a group of steel observation towers to be erected in the various timbered areas of the state. The cost will be borne by the government.

"In rough territory, a fire may burn for a considerable time before it is discovered," said Colonel P. S. Bunker, state forester. "While the ranger seeks the highest points for his observations, his view is often obstructed by timber and ridges. In such cases great additional range of vision is obtained from towers which afford the added elevation necessary to quick fire detection."

SYRIAN REBELS BATTLE FRENCH

Four Thousand Insurgents, Reinforced by Druses, Fighting Near City of Damascus.

DAMASCUS, July 26. (AP)—French rule in Syria and possession of this holy city is being decided upon the field of battle in the picturesque outskirts of Damascus.

On the outcome of the battle between 4000 Syrian rebels, reinforced by Druses and 10,000 French troops, fighting in the gardens surrounding Damascus for the past five days, hinges not only the fate of the city, but possibly the future of the French mandate over Syria.

Should the French army, under command of General Gamelin, defeat the insurgents, the backbone of the Syrian revolution will be broken, Damascus relieved, and law and order restored in Syria.

Failure Disastrous

If however, the French should fail and the rebels continue to hold the Ghouta gardens and besiege Damascus, French prestige, already greatly injured by General Michaud's debacle before Soueida in August last year and by the state of seige obtaining in Damascus for the last eight months, would suffer and make it more difficult for the French to pacify the country, which remains in a state of open revolt.

Such is the opinion of neutral observers who have remained in Damascus since its original bombardment by General Sarrail, then French high commissioner, in October, 1925.

SCENE OF MISSISSIPPI CAVE-IN REMAINS QUIET

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 26 (AP)—With the exception of an occasional chunk of earth giving way and plunging into the new Mud canyon and several new cracks here and there, the scene of caving along the Mississippi river here yesterday was quiet tonight. The area, 10,000 feet long by more than 200 wide, sank nearly 100 feet suddenly late yesterday, carrying with it the entire plant of the West Kentucky Coal company, and a portion of the Pease and Dwyer, feed manufacturers, plant.

Loss was estimated today by officials of the two plants at between $300,000 and $400,000.

The growing cracks tonight were confined to a section near a number of warehouses, abandoned early today and counted as doomed. Few fresh cracks had appeared, however, and these were termed not necessarily dangerous.

Property owners along the threatened area tonight patrolled their property, in the fear that another sinking process might start.

Dying Man Tells Graphic Story of Crash of Airplane

Pilot and Three of Four Passengers Killed Outright When Lightning Strikes Ship Flying Over North Sea.

BERLIN, July 26. (AP)—A graphic story has been told by a dying man of an airplane being struck by lightning in a great storm, and its fall to earth. The plane, carrying four passengers from the island of Borkum to Norderney, in the North sea, encountered a storm Saturday night and fell in flames on the island of Juist, which lies between the other two.

The pilot and three passengers, including a woman, were killed outright and the sole survivor, a manufacturer, was seriously injured. He died soon afterward in the hospital, but was able before his death to give an account of the tragedy.

Machine Tossed About

"The machine was flying at a height of 1000 feet when the storm broke," he said. "Thick clouds encircled us, while lightning flashed incessantly and torrents of rain tossed the machine in all directions.

"Suddenly we were blinded by a dazzling flash, a blast of terrible heat and suffocating smoke rendered us half unconscious. The airplane began to drop with increasing rapidity. Horror stricken, we seized the handstraps. Everything seemed to happen in a few seconds. I remember just about the moment we struck the ground. I attempted to jump, and I only recovered my senses in the hands of the doctors."

WOODSMAN DIES WITH BOOTS ON

Bullets From Possemen's Rifles End Life of Minnesotan With $2500 Price on Head.

LITTLE MARAIS, Minn., July 26. (AP)—Bullets from possemen's rifles today ended the hunt for John Westblade, who fled into the timber near here after killing two highway patrolmen last Friday, and caused a price of $2500 to be posted for him "dead or alive."

Termed "queer" by his neighbors, Westblade apparently became crazed when the two patrolmen—Alvin Tofte and Sigurd Ide—removed a sign he had placed on the highway, offering his farm for sale.

Before he fled, authorities say, he fired his house and destroyed his apple orchard. A coroner's jury quickly charged him with the double slaying.

Two Gun Man.

Habitually he wore two revolvers and when he fled he also had a rifle. Known as a crack shot and an expert woodsman, the pursuit was taken up with caution, possemen from three counties joining in the hunt.

Through the dense thickets and heavy timber that had been his refuge since Friday, possemen stalked him day and night, four times sighting him before bringing him down in an exchange of shots today.

Even while burying Tofte and Ide late today, the fugitive assassin was sighted not far from his farm, but he disappeared into the brush as two possemen opened fire, escaping unharmed.

Posse Forms Ring.

Quickly the possemen ringed the vicinity and waited for the light of day.

Day was well advanced when they flushed him. An animal at bay, he opened fire point blank at 50 feet, but his shot was wild and the hunters returned a fusilade from behind the trunks of large trees.

Then from the cover of the thicket he suddenly straightened, a moment swayed uncertainly, and when he plunged forward, the searchers knew that he was dead. More than one bullet had taken effect.

Westblade had lived on his farm in this section alone for several years. Nothing is known of any relatives.

No division has been made late today of the rewards.

There's real art in coloring a meerschaum

CONNOISSEURS of the fine art of meerschaum coloring still stick to the slow-but-sure way of "smoking" the color in... And this method is most satisfactory so long as you use tobacco that burns slowly and cool, so that the color comes gradually and evenly.

Now, because this is the very thing that has made Granger Rough Cut nationally famous, men experienced in the art suggest Granger for meerschaums. Its large flakes burn cool. It colors the pipe delicately, evenly, perfectly.

Whether you're coloring a meerschaum, breaking-in a briar, or caking a corn-cob, Granger is the same cool, fragrant, mellow smoking. You may have a hundred pipes, yet you need but one tobacco... for Granger is an all-pipe tobacco.

LOCAL TEACHER SUCCESSFUL IN RAINIER ASCENT

Miss Ada Rue, Instructor in Twin Falls City Schools, Makes Difficult Climb; Few Women Accomplish Feat.

PARADISE INN, Rainier National Park, Wash., July 26 (Special to The News)—Battling her way over a wilderness of ice, across bottomless crevasses and along rocky ledges at the very edge of infinity, to three miles above sea level, Miss Ada Rue, a school teacher of Twin Falls, Idaho, living at [illegible] Sixth avenue east, reached the summit of Mount Rainier, 14,408 feet high, in Rainier national park, a few days ago.

Rainier is the third tallest peak in the United States, but though Mount Whitney in California and Mount Elbert in Colorado exceed it in height by a few feet, neither approach it in difficulty of ascent. Rainier is rated as one of the most difficult mountains in the world to scale and prospective climbers are submitted to a thorough scrutiny before permission to attempt the ascent is given. Women seldom attempt it and few have attained it, but Miss Rue, her guide reported, made the trip with the ease and steadiness of an experienced male mountaineer.

Attain Summit.

Miss Rue's long trip started from Paradise Inn, 5557 feet above sea level, at 1:45 in the afternoon, and Camp Muir, the stone shelter cabins at the halfway point at the 10,000-foot elevation, was reached shortly after 6 p. m. Here the party rested until a little before 3 the next morning, when the drive for the summit was begun. After a gruelling pull, first in the eerie moonlight and later in the rising sun, the party attained the crater in the summit of the mountain at about 8:30 a. m. An indication of the difficulty of the climb may be gained from the fact that as the party neared the summit, only 20 or 30 steps could be taken between rests. They were forced to rest standing, as reclining in the snow and rising again would consume too much energy.

Half an hour was spent in the fantastic steam caves in the crater of the extinct volcano before the descent was begun. Paradise valley was again reached shortly before 3 in the afternoon.

Miss Rue had as her guide Stuart Twiss, an experienced member of the Rainier national park guide corps.

Promotions Come With Guard Shift

Idaho national guard units of the 209th infantry at Boise, Buhl, Twin Falls and Rigby will be redesignated next Thursday as units of the 116th regiment of engineers, according to Colonel M. G. McConnell, Idaho's adjutant general, who arrived here Monday evening on a vacation trip and visit to national guard units of the state.

Redesignation of the infantry units is provided for in the war department's recent authorization recruiting of a regiment of engineers in Idaho. Under this authorization, Idaho's adjutant general is advanced from the rank of lieutenant colonel to colonel. Major F. C. Hummel of Boise, commander of the South Infantry battalion in Idaho, will become colonel commanding the engineers regiment.

Captain H. G. Lauterbach, commanding the Twin Falls national guard unit, will be promoted to major and First Lieutenant J. L. Hodgin will become a captain.

Captain George C. Halley, commanding the medical detachment at Kimberly, will become major commanding the medical unit of the 116th engineers, and a dental officer with the rank of captain probably will be attached to that unit.

LEAVES WAY OPEN TO RETURN TO WATERWHEEL

Under terms of judgment entered by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here Monday, George C. Marshall is precluded from use of adjoining land owned by W. H. Harvey of Buhl as right-of-way for an irrigation ditch. The suit was instituted by Harvey, through Sweeley & Sweeley, attorneys, to extinguish an easement for irrigation ditch across his land.

Findings of fact recite that Harvey and J. J. Thiel, predecessor in interest of Marshall, in 1911 installed a water wheel in order to do away with necessity for use of the ditch. Marshall later installed a gasoline engine to replace the water wheel, but in 1919 he abandoned the water lifting device and sought to reopen the ditch.

NOMINEE IS YOUNGEST MAN TO LEAD BOURBONS

DALLAS, Texas, July 26. (AP)—Dan Moody, attorney general of Texas, is the youngest man ever nominated to lead Texas democracy.

The rise of the 33 year old candidate from an obscure district attorneyship in central Texas to defeat the state's first woman governor, Miriam A. Ferguson, was swift and dramatic.

There are three mountain peaks in his political career. The first was his successful prosecution of the state's first flogging case, which won him instant state wide fame. The second was his election to the attorney generalship two years ago by the largest vote ever given a Texas candidate. The third was the Saturday primary which virtually made him governor at 33.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jungst, when their daughter, Helen Gertrude, became the bride of Paul K. McKinley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinley, Rev. C. C. Curtis reading the impressive ring ceremony. The bride's gown was canary yellow crepe satin trimmed with orchid, and she carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. The rooms were attractive with a profusion of the flowers of the season. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the Park hotel, with covers for the immediate families, at a table adorned in yellow and orchid. Mr. and Mrs. McKinley left Monday morning for a wedding journey through Yellowstone park. Mr. McKinley is instructor in voice at the Technical Institute in Pocatello and Mrs. McKinley is a recent graduate from St. Luke's hospital at Denver. They will be at home in Pocatello the latter part of August.

The Twentieth Century club are giving a benefit party this afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Ward, two miles south and one-half mile west of the South Park grocery on the Rogerson highway. A general invitation has been extended to all members of the Twentieth Century club and their friends. Besides cards there will be other games for those not caring to play, and guests may also spend the time with needlework, so all tastes can be suited. Cars will leave the city park at 2 o'clock. Any one desiring further information may call Mrs. Roy Gardner or Mrs. H. C. Maguire.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Rendahl was the scene of a jolly "kid" party Saturday evening, given by their daughter, Bernice, for Miss Jennie Morgan, in honor of her birthday. Cards formed the diversion for the early part of the evening after which dancing was enjoyed. Punch and fancy cakes were served. Those present besides the guest of honor and hostess were Misses Jean Sinema, Dorothy Wilks, Miriam Ballantyne, Helen Luttman, Messrs. Wayne Smith, James Ball, Paul Selby, Kenneth Burson and Bill Ducker.

Parishes Set New Record for Picnic

Nearly 400 members of the Catholic parishes of Buhl, Filer, Jerome and Twin Falls participated in an annual picnic of the Knights of Columbus Sunday on the county fair grounds at Filer. A program of speaking, games and races and a bounteous picnic dinner were outstanding features of the picnic, which was said to have been the largest in the history of the organization in this region.

Speakers included Judge John R. Keenan of Twin Falls, Rev. Father Pecoul of Buhl and Rev. Father Keyzer of Twin Falls.

A baseball game was an interesting event of the afternoon, and in other athletic contests winners were announced as follows:

Kansans Assemble At Picnic Reunion

Kansans' picnic on the county fair grounds at Filer Sunday brought together more than 200 former residents of the Sunflower state for a bountiful picnic dinner, followed by an address by I. H. Masters of Twin Falls and election of officers of a Kansans' association which, it was decided, will hold an annual picnic meeting. The meeting next year is to be held at Buhl.

J. T. Windle of Twin Falls was elected president of the association, with Quincy Norris of Twin Falls, vice president, and E. A. Moon, Twin Falls, secretary and treasurer.

S. G. McAuley of Twin Falls, who moved to Council Grove county, Kansas, in 1865, was the oldest Kansan on the grounds.

Mr. Masters in his address discussed salient features of Kansas history. He also argued for reduced power rates to encourage industries and criticized procedure in connection with the Jerome-Twin Falls county bridge project.

Come Out of the Kitchen!

Grandmother might have been shocked by such a suggestion, for she was "kitchen-minded" from necessity.

For some years, Swift & Company, however, has been working to relieve the modern housewife of continuous kitchen work. Now, in addition to the many less expensive cuts adaptable to steam pressure and fireless cooker preparation, the housewife has the service of cooked meats.

"Ready-to-serve" meats are now available everywhere, for Swift & Company's nation-wide channels of distribution offer prompt and direct service to retailers.

These meats, in great variety and delightfully appetizing, have revolutionized the work of the housewife, especially during the hot summer months.

Such products as:

Swift's Premium Cooked Ham
Swift's Premium Minced Specialty
Swift's Premium Bologna
Swift's Baked Luncheon Loaf
Swift's Pimento Sandwich Meats
Swift's Sterling Delicacy

are available throughout the year. This is another feature of "Swift Service"—and a timely use of them will vary the monotony of ordinary meals.

There is a "ready-to-serve" meat for every taste—a score or more of meat delicacies for hot summer days.

Swift & Company

N. B.—And, of course, Premium Frankfurts! ALMOST ready to serve, and very good to eat.

HOT WEATHER BOOSTS GRAIN

High Temperatures and Rainless Skies Over Canada Adds Strength to Wheat Price.

CHICAGO, July 26. (AP)—Scorching temperatures and rainless skies over Canada more than offset as a wheat price influence today news of enormous domestic receipts. The wheat market closed unsettled 5-8 to 1 1-5-8c net higher; corn 1-2 to 1 3-4 up; oats showing 3-8 to 3-4c advance, and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 5c.

Although there was heavy selling to realize profits when wheat prices bulged, the market was tending upward again at the last, despite 4,159,000 bushels increase of the United States visible supply total. Advances, too, were in the face of knowledge that this country's primary arrivals of wheat today aggregated 6,722,000 bushels against 3,121,000 bushels a year ago. Buyers, however, continually eyed reports that a hundred degree hot wave prevailed in the Canadian northwest and that no rain appeared on the maps.

Report Crop Damage

Crop damage reports from Canada, together with fears of further deterioration, led to a buying rush here as soon as the wheat market opened. Besides, Liverpool stocks were decreasing and a wet harvest in parts of Europe was noted, as well as 30,000,000 bushels smaller world's visible supply than last year.

On the other hand, huge receipts today compared with 605 a year ago, attracted notice, but demand from millers remained excellent and cash prices were but little lower relatively to futures, either at Kansas City or Chicago.

Corn and oats rose with wheat. Unfavorable crop advices relative to corn were received from Ohio and Indiana and likewise from parts of Iowa and Nebraska. Oats threshing returns were disappointing.

Commission house selling tended to weaken the provision market.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS STRONGER UNDERTONE

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP)—Stock prices displayed a distinctly stronger undertone in today's market. Speculative interest was confined to about a score of issues, lack of interest in the general list being reflected in total sales of less that 850,000 shares, the smallest of any full session in two months.

Professional traders appeared to be marking time pending the outcome of the meeting of United States Steel corporation directors late tomorrow. While no change in dividend rate is expected in conservative banking circles, hope is still held out in some quarters that a stock dividend distribution would be made at the meeting. United States Steel common closed 1 1-2 points higher at 139, but much of the buying is believed to have been influenced by predictions that unfilled orders at the end of July would show the first increase this year.

Reports from Paris that the new Poincare government would attempt to save the franc by means of taxes, instead of loans, had a cheerful effect on financial sentiment, which was immediately reflected in the higher rate for French exchange. Another increase in the price of lead and the publication of additional favorable June earnings statements by class one railroads provided ammunition for those working for higher prices.

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP)—Call money steady; all loans 4; closing bid 4; time loans firm; mixed collateral 60 to 90 days 4 1-4 to 4 3-8; 4 to 6 months 4 1-2; prime mercantile paper 4.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP)—The raw sugar market was firmer today and prices advanced 1-32 cent to the basis of 4.18 for Cuban, duty paid, at which level 26,000 bags of Cuban were sold to a local refiner for immediate shipment, with outport options.

Not much activity featured raw sugar features. Prices were irregular. Selling for trade and European accounts caused a setback of one to three points early but covering checked the decline and partial rallies followed with the close one point lower to one point net higher. Approximate sales 13,000 tons. September closed 2.42; December 2.60; January 2.63; March 2.60; May 2.75.

Continued good inquiry was reported for refined sugar with prices unchanged to 10 points higher, and now ranging from 5.60 to 5.70 for fine granulated.

M. Murray, Spokane bridge engineer to whom the franchise for the bridge was issued last December. Certified copies of the bonds were filed in the afternoon in Twin Falls county.

These bonds were furnished in conformity with the terms of amendments of the franchise which were recently granted. The bond to assure beginning of construction work within the specified period was furnished in the sum of $5,000, and another bond in the sum of $25,000 was furnished to replace the original bond for fulfillment of franchise terms that was furnished last December. The bonds under the amended franchise terms, were to be filed within 10 days from July 17.

Both bonds were written by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, and were filed for Mr. Murray by Stuart H. Taylor, local agent for the company, and J. L. Hodgin.

Mr. Murray, who is recovering following an operation for appendicitis to which he submitted here July 6, will leave today for Portland and Seattle for a few days business visit before returning to supervise construction operations.

TWO MEN HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Motor Stage and Filer Man's Car Crash on Highway; Condition Called Not Serious.

John Armour of Filer, 68, and his brother, Joe Armour of Colorado, 57, sustained painful injuries about the head, back and chest when the Chevrolet sedan in which they were riding collided with a Boise-Twin Falls motor stage on the highway a half mile north of Filer at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning.

The injured men were removed to the county general hospital here where, it was stated Monday evening, their condition is not serious. John Armour, who was driving, sustained a broken collar bone and severe cut on the head and possible internal injuries. Joe Armour has a broken collar bone, broken rib and scalp wounds.

The Armour car came onto the highway off a side road, the view being obstructed by dense growth of weeds. It was struck in the middle by the motor bus and was almost demolished.

The motor stage according to Vernon Dobbs, driver, was within 10 feet of the intersection when the Armour car came out of the side road in front of the bus on the highway.

Joe Armour and his family arrived here a few days ago on a visit.

COUNCIL MOVES TO MEET BOARD ON DITCH WORK

Canal Company Directors to be Invited to Join Meeting to Consider Division of Cost of Eighth Avenue Project.

A joint meeting of Twin Falls city council and the Twin Falls Canal company directors to consider proposed improvement of the Eighth avenue lateral with view to reaching an agreement on division of the expense involved was sugested by Frank L. Stephan, city attorney, to the city council members in regular session Monday evening. The suggestion was approved by the mayor and invitation to the canal directors to attend such a meeting will go forward.

The council approved the contract awarded last week to J. A. Young of the Home Gravel company for furnishing, hauling and spreading gravel for improvement of Jefferson avenue, and at the same time approved the bond furnished by Mr. Young.

Deny Preacher Benches.

An application made by an itinerant preacher for permission to install benches on the sidewalk for his audience at the corner of Main avenue and Shoshone street was turned down by the council and the applicant was advised to hold his meetings hereafter on Shoshone street south at about 150 feet distance from Main avenue, and without benches on the sidewalk.

The mayor reported that numerous street signs have been installed in Twin Falls business district in violation of terms of the ordinance regulating street signs. No definite action was taken on the report.

It was suggested by W. T. Leslie, commissioner of public safety that all obstructions on the curbs where ornamental street lights have been installed should be removed.

The mayor advised members of the council that he had completed drafting of a proposed new ordinance for regulation of traffic and that copies of the proposed measure would be furnished to each member in a day or two.

A local improvement district, similar in its plan and operation to the street sprinkling district that is formed each year, would be formed for the purpose of spraying shade trees on curbing throughout the city, under provisions of a recommendation laid before the council by Ralph B. Smith, street commissioner. The recommendation was referred to the city attorney for investigation.

OFFICERS RAID LIQUOR PLANT

Seize and Destroy Moonshine Still Installed in Nevada Hills by Idaho Man.

Federal prohibition agents and Twin Falls county deputy sheriffs Sunday nipped in the bud a moonshine whiskey distillery that had just been installed on Dave creek in Elko county, Nevada, 88 miles southwest of Twin Falls.

The raiding officers seized and destroyed the plant which included a still of about 50-gallons capacity and 28 mash barrels, and arrested a man who gave the name of Brown who was found asleep at the distillery site.

Brown, according to the officers, said he had left Caldwell a few days ago to establish the moonshine plant on Dave creek, and that he was expecting delivery of corn and sugar for the first run of liquor, through the still.

Brown was lodged in the county jail here.

Uncover Wine Cellar

In a visit to the residence of Jesse Lynch on Third avenue south, federal agents, deputy sheriffs and a police officer Monday afternoon seized about 20 pint bottles of home made wine and arrested Lynch on a warrant issued about three weeks ago at the instance of R. E. Leighton, Twin Falls police chief. Lynch was held pending the result of chemist's analysis of the liquor.

OBJECTS TO DECREE OF WATERS OF DRY CREEK

Objection to decreeing of 180 inches of the waters of Dry creek in Cassia and Twin Falls counties to the Dry Creek Water company as successor to the late James E. Bower and the Bower Land and Livestock company, was registered in district court here Saturday by R. J. Day, one of the defendants in the case of Jerry Bonard and others against D. B. Moorman and others. The action was instituted about 18 years ago to obtain judicial decree establishing water rights on Dry creek and its tributaries. This decree was issued subject to correction, about two months ago by Judge William A. Babcock, in district court here.

Mr. Day is represented in this action by Sweeley and Sweeley.

BREAK IN WATER PIPE ENDANGERS WAREHOUSE

Break in a six-inch wood water pipe near the large main at the intersection of Sixth avenue and Third street west early Monday morning caused a precipitate fall of water pressure throughout the system from normal 75 pounds to almost nothing, according to records at the municipal waterworks office. The break occurred at 2:45 a. m. and repair was completed at about 8:30 a. m. During the repair operation pressure in the system gradually raised to about 45 pounds at 6 o'clock and then fell off when heavy consumption of water began for the day.

The break threatened to flood the basement of the Kinney Wholesale company in which several thousand dollars worth of groceries were stored, but water was held back by piles of lumber close to the building against which the torrent pushed up debris and earth forming a dam.
