MRS. COOLIDGE ILL; PRESIDENTIAL PARTY POSTPONES JOURNEY

Departure for Summer White House Deferred; Condition of First Lady Not Serious; Delay is Only Temporary.

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—President Coolidge decided late tonight to postpone temporarily his departure to the summer White House at Brule, Wisconsin, on account of a slight indisposition of Mrs. Coolidge.

The announcement of the postponement of the journey was made at the White House less than two hours before the presidential party was scheduled to leave Washington.

Although Mrs. Coolidge's condition was reported late this afternoon to be improved after the recurrence of a recent illness earlier in the day, Colonel James E. Coupal and Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, White House physicians, decided that to embark upon a two nights' railroad journey with the unfavorable temperature and weather conditions prevailing now would be subjecting Mrs. Coolidge to an undue hardship.

Improvement Noted.

The improvement noted in Mrs. Coolidge's condition during the day, however, was believed by the White House officials to indicate that the postponement of the journey would be of only short duration. Announcement of the postponement was withheld until practically the last minute since it was hoped that after all she might be in condition to undertake the trip.

Pending recovery on the part of Mrs. Coolidge all preparations for departure will be maintained as they are for leaving Washington at the earliest possible time.

It was indicated at the White House

PROSECUTION RESTS IN TRIAL OF MURDER

Widow of Clayton Patrick on Witness Stand; Testimony Brief and Deals With Pistol

SILVER CITY, Idaho, June 11 (AP)—After taking the testimony of the widow of Clayton Patrick, slain Three Creek rancher, the state rested its case today in the trial of Joe Sellers and Tom Bridges for the murder of Patrick, who with Elmer Ludlowe, was killed in a shooting affray on the Patrick ranch, February 22.

Mrs. Patrick appeared in court with her two sons, aged nine and three years, leaving her three-month-old baby with friends.

Her testimony was brief. She was not present at the time of the murder, having left for Buhl, February 21. On the day she left she saw her husband take a pistol from the dresser drawer and place it in a side pocket of their car, she testified.

Identify Pistol

This was believed to have been the same pistol which Charles Needles, employe on the Patrick ranch, testified he took from the car before rushing to neighboring ranches for help in caring for Patrick and Ludlowe after they were fatally wounded. The pistol worn by Needles, witnesses said, contained three empty cartridges and two loaded ones. No evidence has been brought out as to who fired the shots or whether they were fired at Sellers and Bridges.

Mrs. Patrick was not cross-examined by the defense and the prosecution followed her on the stand with several witnesses who had previously testified including Vane Whiteside, another rancher neighbor of Patrick.

HORTICULTURISTS SET NEW DAY FOR MEETING

BOISE, June 11 (AP)—The Idaho Horticultural association today decided to forego the pleasure of eating cherries at the annual convention in order to hear a lecture by Edwin Smith, of the federal bureau of economics, who will be in Idaho during the middle of July, at which time the convention will be held.

The exact date of the convention was not set, but July 18 was tentatively selected pending arrival of Smith. It will be held at the farm of John Steel, near Parma, the place originally selected.

But the cherries will not be there for the harvest will have been completed by then. At the date previously selected the harvest would have been at its height.

SECRETARY HOOVER IN SECLUSION OF PRIVATE OFFICE; SPECIAL WIRE

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Though remaining strictly in the seclusion of his private offices at the commerce department, Secretary Hoover undertook today to maintain close contact and give personal supervision to the efforts to nominate him for president at the Kansas City Republican convention.

A long distance telephone wire was opened and maintained in continuous service from Kansas City direct to his desk. It will remain in use until the convention makes its nomination.

With a late model radio set installed in a room adjoining his office, Mr. Hoover will follow the procedure of the convention when it commences its work.

BORAH WOULD HALT COMMITTEE PROBES

Idaho Senator Proposes to Force Party, on Honor, to Clean House of Corruption.

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—Senator Borah believes politicians can be put on their honors. One of seven planks for the Republican party's 1928 platform which he expects to present to the national convention's committee on resolutions when it meets here proposes to take out of the hands of congressional committees the investigation of campaigns and force the party, on its honor, to keep its own house clean of corruption.

The text of the plank, as of the planks dealing with law enforcement and prohibition, with outlawry of war, with farm relief and with denunciation of trust propaganda in the schools, is not being made public. As a matter of fact the senator does not propose to discuss his planks with leaders in advance of the committee meeting and is resisting the efforts of an army of newspapermen to get actual textual excerpts.

But he has let it be known that his campaign expenditures plank will pledge the party as a whole and its candidates as individuals to "come clean" periodically on all donations and campaign expenditures. Regular detail reports to the public will, if he has his way, be a part of every future campaign procedure.

Just as publishers must make per-

IDAHO'S OSTEOPATHS MEET IN IDAHO FALLS

IDAHO FALLS, June 11 (AP)—With more that 30 of Idaho's 45 osteopathic physicians, as well as members of the profession from Montana and Wyoming present, the Idaho Osteopathic association met in convention at the Hotel Bonneville this morning. Also present were two osteopathic physicians of national prominence, Dr. George V. Webster of Carthage, New York, president of the American Osteopathic association, and Dr. Carl P. McConnell, who has written many text books.

GUARD ENCAMPMENT COMPLETES DETAILS

Job of Parcelling Out Horses to Various Units Complete; Camp Has Military Aspect.

BOISE, June 11 (AP)—What the army man terms the "sweet job" of parcelling out horses to the various units was completed today at the summer encampment of the Idaho National Guard with the "loss" of only eight horses.

The "loss" was straightened out late this afternoon when the troubled officer in charge of the distribution of the animals found the missing ones on the troop picket line of an energetic unit which "wanted horses and not so much fuss about it."

Military Appearance.

The camp took on a strictly military appearance today with guards posted at strategic quarters, directing traffic and directing curious parties to camp headquarters where they could see what they wanted without getting into trouble with more guards.

Tomorrow the troopers get a dash of "war as she is done" by the chemical warfare service when Major Strakosch, San Francisco, will demonstrate the use of smoke screens and how to lay out a barrage of tear gas. Training in the use of gas masks was given several of the outfits today while others were currying horses and aligning artillery in park. Time of the tear gas demonstration will depend upon the wind, officers wanting an "up-hill" wind that will carry the gas into uninhabited sectors instead of back upon the camp and city.

Republican Convention Opens Under Spell of Uncertainty; Acute Differences Apparent

LOWDEN'S PERSONALITY HELPS HOLD DELEGATES

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—The personality of Frank O. Lowden was the main spring in holding together his delegates today in the face of waning hope that he can be nominated over an avalanche of Herbert Hoover sentiment.

He continued to greet hundreds of friends and delegates in his hotel apartment and to tell them to keep up the battle, but at his headquarters a less optimistic attitude was in evidence.

His campaign manager, Clarence F. Buck, declined flatly to see newspapermen.

NOBILE LEADING FIVE MEN BACK TO BASE

Radio Messages Advise That Italia's Crew is Divided in Three Groups; Return Slow

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 11 (AP)—General Umberto Nobile, leader of the ill-fated polar expedition on the dirigible Italia, is leading five of his men across the arctic ice in an effort to meet the steamer Braganza. Two of this party are suffering from hurts when the gondola of the ship was torn loose by its first contact with the ice.

This information came in radio messages received late today. The messages added that the men still have a small supply of fuel, but that their progress is hampered by their frost-bitten hands and feet, coupled with the condition of the injured men.

Crew Divided

The Italia's crew split into three groups when the disaster occurred on May 25. General Nobile and his companions were left behind when the gondola was torn away. The others in the crew came down on the ice about 18 miles farther east.

Three of this second group started across the ice toward land. Nothing further has been heard from them.

Sufficient Food

The remainder of the main group, including the wireless operator, report they have sufficient food, but that the provisions are being rigorously rationed. They need medicines for those suffering with frost-bites.

Radio Will Carry Program to Nation

Party Meets Where Bryan Won Democratic Nomination in 1900; Faces Task of Bringing Harmony Back to Ranks

(By The Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, June 11—President Coolidge has been eliminated from the considerations of Republican leaders here as a possible nominee for the presidency, apparently clearing the way for the nomination of Herbert Hoover.

Word has reached Kansas City that in the opinion of his closest friends, Mr. Coolidge would not again consent to run, even if the convention opening tomorrow should stampede for him.

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—The Republican national convention will meet here at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning with the Hoover star in the ascendency, but with the air still filled with the uncertainties which only politics can produce.

Meeting in an auditorium built for the Democratic convention which nominated Bryan in 1900, the Republican hosts will find themselves faced with the task of harmonizing the acute differences which have arisen within their party in recent years over the agricultural question, and of drafting a platform upon which it will stand in the November election.

The convention hall which will ring with praises of men and the party within the next few days, has a seating capacity of 15,000 persons, including delegates, spectators and newspapermen, and the blare of music and oratory which will center there will be broadcast to all parts of the United States and probably will

FARE FAVORING HOOVER FOR STANDARD BEARER

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—An emphatic declaration in favor of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover was made tonight by Senator Elect William S. Vare, Pennsylvania, who controls a large block of delegates from his state.

Declaring that he was convinced of the sincerity of President Coolidge's statement that he was out of the race, the boss of the Philadelphia Republican organization said he would use his influence at the caucus of the Pennsylvania delegation tomorrow to have Secretary Hoover's candidacy indorsed.

FARM LEADERS OPEN KANSAS CITY DRIVE

Industry's Representatives Denounce President's Veto of McNary-Haugen Measure.

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—Two hundred men who looked like real "dirt" farmers let out whoops and clapped hands at a farm meeting here today while their leaders denounced President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill and demanded the Middle Westerner as the Republican party's nominee.

The group was the first of several thousand expected by the farm headquarters officials but whether there will be any continuity to the gathering remains to be seen. An effort is under way to have them parade tomorrow.

Wear Yellow Badges

Hundreds of flapping, yellow badges have been distributed bearing the legend:

"Equality for agriculture."

"It was expected that this badge would be the only identification for the members of the much-heralded farm protest pilgrimage but nearly all the delegates and visitors to the convention from the Middle West are wearing the badges, farmers or not.

In addition to that evidence of solidarity, officials of 30 national and state agricultural organizations got together today and signed a statement setting forth the demands they will

TWO-MILLION-DOLLAR RAIN IN GEM STATE; AIDS WHEAT GROWERS

POCATELLO, June 11 (AP)—"Southern Idaho's two-million-dollar rain" is the term applied to the rain storm that has visited the upper Snake river valley during the last 24 hours.

From reports received here tonight the storm has been general over the southeastern part of the state.

It was declared here tonight that the rain will mean an increase of 25 per cent in the wheat production of the state and will prove of vast benefit to livestock interests in the foothills and valleys where the range generally depended upon water for the early summer vegetation had been drying out.

MELLON ARRIVES IN KANSAS CITY SILENT

Treasury Secretary Declares He Brings No Word From Nation's Chief; Holds Key.

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—Secretary Mellon arrived in Kansas City today as silent as the Sphinx on whether he and the Pennsylvania delegation will vote for Herbert Hoover.

He parried scores of questions with newspaper correspondents and divulged not an iota of information on what he will do on the convention floor.

"I have nothing to say," he repeated over and over. "I have just gotten in and do not know the situation."

He is regarded as the man who can turn the convention either for Coolidge or Hoover. Hoover leaders claim he will cast his vote on the first ballot or the committee on resolutions and clinch his nomination, but the treasury head declined to answer questions as to how he will vote on the opening ballot.

Shakes Head Impatiently

"I do not know," he said with an impatient shake of his head.

Instead of putting up at the exclusive Kansas City club where reservations had been made for him, he stopped at the Muehlebach hotel, explaining that since he was attending a convention he preferred to be at a public hotel.

Immediately upon arrival he began a series of conferences with leaders of various factions to get the lay of the land. These conferences including

DENTISTS OF IDAHO IN BOISE FOR CONVENTION

BOISE, June 11 (AP)—An appeal to dentists to overlook the financial aspects of their profession in the interests of better work was made here today by Dr. H. A. Mavis, Minnesota, in an address before the annual convention of the Idaho Dental association which opened a three-day session this morning.

Sixty dentists, principally from southern Idaho, have registered and more were expected tomorrow for the opening of clinics.

DAKOTAN OBJECTING TO LEADING CARAVAN

North Dakota Executive Criticizes Governor of Nebraska for Breaking Promise

OMAHA, June 11 (AP)—What the governor of North Dakota plans to say to the governor of Nebraska when they meet in Kansas City promises to be plenty, pithy and pointed.

The North Dakota executive, Arthur G. Sorlie, pulled into Omaha at the head of a "farmer protest caravan yesterday and expressed elation upon learning that Governor Adam McMullen, Nebraska, was not there to meet and join him.

"Governor McMullen started this caravan business," said the governor of North Dakota, "and I led the farmer delegation from my state in the belief that he would meet us here and lead the rest of the way. Now if I find he has run out on us. Just wait until I see him in Kansas City. I'll tell him what I think of him."

At Kansas City Governor McMullen was told what Governor Sorlie had said.

"I believe Governor Sorlie was only joking when he said he'd tell me what he thinks of me when he arrives," the Nebraskan said. "He isn't mad. He'll be welcomed here. And he's going to be made chief of staff of the farmer army."

Governor McMullen denied he had be at the base of supplies. There are hundreds more in caravans on the way. The North Dakota caravan is only an advance contingent, though a strong one. Nebraska farmers are coming in great numbers."

FARM RELIEF ISSUE HARD PROBLEM FOR PLATFORM BUILDERS

Whether Variance Over Agricultural and Anti-Corruption Planks Can Be Settled in Committee Doubtful Matter

(By The Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—While a tentative draft of the Republican platform for 1928 was completed today by the administration group which has been at work here for nearly a week, some real fights over individual planks are in prospect when the resolutions committee gets down to work late tomorrow to whip the party declaration into final form.

Whether the differences over the farm relief, prohibition and anti-corruption planks can be ironed out in committee still remained a matter of conjecture with some leaders frankly admitting the possibility of some of the controversies going to the floor of the convention itself for final determination.

Farm Relief Big Issue.

Farm relief continued to stand out as the subject around which rages the greatest storm with the three conflicting elements still far apart on their views as to the form the declaration will take. Efforts still were being made to bring together the more radical and the rather conservative farm leaders on a plank.

One argument used was that those opposing the administration declaration as not going far enough toward meeting the agricultural situation should present a united front in the resolutions committee as this would enhance the probabilities of success in overriding the administration forces which insist on an endorsement of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee.

This argument, and others, had not

HOOVER SUPPORTERS EXPRESS OPTIMISM

Backers of Cabinet Official Continue Drive to Clinch Nomination; Foes Defiant.

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—The drive to clinch the Republican presidential nomination for Herbert Hoover was carried along today in the face of challenges by leaders of the opposition that Andrew Mellon would cast his lot with those party leaders who have been booming President Coolidge.

Benign victory, the Hoover people, however, seemed equally if not more confident, that Mellon and the big delegation from Pennsylvania which he heads would give the commerce secretary the votes he needs to go over. At the same time they reiterated that they could win without Pennsylvania.

Foes Defiant

As the situation shaped up tonight, on the eve of the convention, the allied field of candidates against Hoover were in a defiant mood, insisting that their common foe had been stopped. In their camps there was talk of a compromise candidate—talk that was spiced with the recurring suggestion that Coolidge, if he didn't put down a firm foot to squelch the movement in his behalf, would poll a big vote on the first ballot, and might end up with the nomination in his hand, whether he wants it or not.

Faces Counter Drive

In the face of this counter-drive from the opposition, the Hoover managers went ahead, assuring their delegates and workers that Coolidge would not cut a figure on the show-down

ENGINEERS EXPLORING SNAKE RIVER PROJECT

BOISE, June 11 (AP)—Somewhere in the Snake river canyon" a party of engineers was voyaging today on an exploration party to determine resources of that section of Idaho south of Lewiston to lend support to an appeal for construction of a railroad paralleling the river.

Included in the party were engineers from the public utility commissions of both Idaho and Washington who were preparing material for presentation before interstate commerce commission examiners at a later hearing on a proposed railroad between Lewiston and Homestead, 180 miles up the river.

Support for the railroad project has been given by the public utility commissions of the three northwest states who are seeking a short route from north to south to the border.

IDAHO GIRL AMONG REPUBLICAN LEADERS ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Miss Gladys Terhune, National Committeewoman, Stands for Kansas City Newspaper, Examplary Pilot.

Under the heading "Babies of G. O. P." the Kansas City Times of June 8, a copy of which was received here yesterday by Mrs. Dorothy McBill contained an article on Miss Gladys Terhune, Twin Falls, the youngest Republican committeewoman, and with incidental mention of Orso Cobb of Arkansas, youngest Republican delegate. It states that Miss Terhune is in favor of the nomination of Lowden.

The article in full:

The youngest national committeewoman in the G. O. P. is Miss Gladys Terhune of Twin Falls, Idaho.

The distinction of being the youngest delegate to the convention is claimed for Orso Cobb, a 23-year-old member of the Arkansas legislature from Montgomery county. Miss Terhune and Mr. Cobb are good representatives of the younger generation that is gradually replacing the old-timers in guiding the destinies of the Republican party.

Miss Terhune was a business woman in her home city when she was made national committeewoman by a group of politicians at Cleveland just prior to the 1924 convention.

She was then 27 years old and had a private suspicion that her elevation to the position was because she was not a politician and it was believed she would make "little bother."

She Is No Nuisance.

She set about changing the situation systematically—reading politics, studying trends, talking with politicians, working on committees. When it came re-election time a few months ago, Miss Terhune's record did its own talking. She had shown voters she was politically intelligent and had demonstrated to party leaders she could work without being a nuisance. She was elected this time by the whole vote.

Her friends are always ready to tell about that record. If it is mentioned to Miss Terhune, she says, with a twinkle in her eye and mock resignation:

"Well, I had thought I'd done pretty well, considering the depth of ignorance from which I started. But it's no use. I was boasting about it to one of the committeemen, who insisted I deserved no credit. The election merely proved gentlemen prefer blondes, he said."

Doesn't Make a Speech.

Miss Terhune's hair is golden and curly. She has a winning smile and pleasing voice. She delighted the group of 250 politicians and club-women at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the Hotel Baltimore yesterday afternoon by saying, when called upon to speak:

"My only claim to distinction in this group is to be the youngest national committeewoman in the country. They say children should be seen and not heard, and I am going to act upon that advice."

And she sat down without another word, amid laughter and applause. She favors Lowden.

Flood of Selling Orders On Stocks Market Wipes Out Billions of Dollars On Paper

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The speculative bubble in Bancitaly corporation common stock, created by world-wide speculation in that issue, was pricked today in California and New York securities market and started on a flood of selling of other securities which wiped out billions of dollars in quoted values.

Bancitaly common broke 46% a share on the New York curb market to $133 and then rallied to $147. It sold last April as high as $223 a share.

High priced stocks on the New York stock exchange, particularly those in which there has been widespread public speculation, dropped $10 to $21.25 a share, while a long line of standard industrials and rails dropped $2 to $8. Similar declines took place on the New York curb market, and in the other security exchanges of the country.

Except for an obviously top-heavy speculative position, there were no definite developments to explain the sudden and sweeping decline in Bancitaly stock. The violence of the decline led to widespread rumors, however, that A. P. Giannini, founder of the organization and its guiding genius, was dead. These rumors were denied by officials of the corporation here who stated that Mr. Giannini was due in London today from Italy where he had been spending a vacation.

DODGE STANDARD SIX UNDERSELLS GROCERIES

New spring automobiles, fresh from the factory, cost less per pound than the butter, coffee and tea of the average American family, according to statistics worked out by the mathematically minded employes of Dodge Brothers, Inc.

The new Standard Six sedan of the company costs 33 cents a pound, the Victory Six sedan costs 40 cents a pound and the Senior Six sedan costs approximately 45 cents a pound. Average food prices as of January 15 as compiled by the U. S. bureau of labor statistics show coffee selling at 48.5 cents per pound, butter at 57.8 cents per pound and tea at 77.4 cents per pound.

Twenty-four years of automotive progress have brought a steady increase in the buying power of the motor car dollar. The average man can buy five closed cars today for the price of one of the clumsy panting limousines on the market in 1904. If he purchases a car selling approximately in the $1000 class.

These statistics appear inconsistent with figures just announced showing the purchasing power of the dollar as measured by the average living costs at 62.1 cents during March compared with the dollar of 1914 according to the National Industrial Conference board. But in the automotive market, with highly efficient manufacturing processes, the dollar has reached a position where it represents more value than at any period in the industry's history.

BANCITALY HEAD ILL

ROME, June 11 (AP)—A. P. Giannini, founder of the Bancitaly corporation whose common stock slumped sensationally today in America, is at a hotel here but he could not be reached tonight. He had gone to bed, leaving orders that he was not to be disturbed and attaches of the hotel understood that he was ill. His secretary also refused to receive inquirers.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OPENS UNDER SPELL OF UNCERTAINTY; BIG ISSUES

reach nearly every part of the world.

Spic and span and ready for what awaits it, the auditorium, flag-bedecked along with the rest of the city, has been strung with telegraph and telephone wires, which, with the radio, will carry an amount of information such as was never dreamed of when it was erected within 90 days to house the convention which nominated the "Commoner."

The plans call for the opening of the convention with a prayer and music. Then William M. Butler, chairman of the national committee, will rap for order and call the roll of the assembled party stalwarts, wearing their badges and massed with the standards of their states and candidates among them.

When the roll call is completed Senator Simeon D. Fess, Ohio, will deliver the keynote address of the convention, the clarion call of a political party about ready to go into an election. Senator Fess, while not a delegate, is a close friend of President Coolidge and was one of the original "draft Coolidge" men.

Then each state delegation will name its members of the credentials, platform, permanent organization and rules committees and the convention will adjourn for the day.

Meeting at 11 A. M., Wednesday, to receive committee reports, the convention will go ahead with the nominating speeches if the platform committee report, always a subject of oratory, is not ready. If this procedure is followed Hoover's name probably will be the first to be placed in nomination. Alabama, a Hoover state, is expected to yield to California on whose behalf John McNab, San Francisco, will present the name of the secretary of commerce.

Next on the list will be Lowden, Illinois, who will be placed in nomination by Otis F. Glenn, Illinois, and so down the list of candidates in the alphabetical order in which the name of their state appears.

and that their man was as good as in.

The Hoover lieutenants painted to delegates they claimed had been picked up in Missouri, predicted there would be breaks to their advantage in other delegations, and were jubilant over Borah's announcement to his fellow delegates from Idaho—that the contest had simmered down between Hoover and Coolidge; that it would be a mistake to force the president's renomination, and that he wouldn't seek to hold the delegation if it appeared wise to go over to Hoover in a body.

But in all camps, in Hoover's and elsewhere, there was a tendency to attach great importance to Mellon's arrival here and the probable stand of the 79 delegates from Pennsylvania.

make upon the Republican convention.

The tenor of the statement was that a man not friendly to the McNary-Haugen type of farm relief could not be elected and it asked for the selection of a man "whose record proves his eminent fairness to all interests and sections of the country and who has a practical and sympathetic understanding of agricultural as well as industrial and other national problems."

Bill Not Mentioned

The statement did not mention the McNary-Haugen bill. It referred to the equalization fee but it left no doubt that it was speaking of the principles of that measure without mentioning it by name.

"We ask that the Republican party approve the exercise of collective action by farmers themselves to secure this and other means necessary to effective farm stabilization," said the statement. "We ask for recognition of the fact that the cost of any general effort to make the tariff effective and to stabilize and protect the market for any widely grown farm commodity must be equitably borne by the entire volume of the market product in order to insure freedom from the need of subsidies and to guarantee permanence and independence in carrying on the marketing operation.

"This is exactly the principle of the equalization fee and we ask that you pledge the Republican party to the enactment of legislation to meet these requirements."

ledical statements of circulation and ownership to, if Borah has his way, the parties will make periodical statements of their financial activities. These are to be published in the newspapers, not to be filed with government agencies.

Includes Prohibition

The other planks with which the senator promises to make platform committee sessions interesting include one which names the prohibition amendment in a pledge for law enforcement, one which approves administration efforts to effect outlawry of war through the multilateral treaty, three of which touch on farm relief and one which would put the party on record as protesting the use of public schools for propaganda by corporate agencies. He has no personal planks on either foreign debts or Russian recognition.

succeeded. However, in swerving the Republican party from its course that of demanding a plank which would declare for the equalization fee in specific terms rather than in such generalities as were used in the framing of the declaration of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Senate Committee Chairman Reed Smoot, Utah, who will be chairman of the Platform committee and who had the chief hand in framing the tentative administration draft, still declines to disclose the essentials of the administration farm plank other than to reiterate that it contained a declaration for the equalization of tariff protection as between agriculture and industry.

Such a provision is contained in one of the draft planks which Senator Borah, Idaho, submitted to the member of the resolutions committee, brought here from Washington where he drew a number of proposed planks, some of which have received the endorsement of all of the candidates for the presidential nomination save former Governor Frank O. Lowden, Illinois.

Denying reports emanating from some quarters here, Senator Borah declared emphatically that his prohibition declaration—one of those approved by the candidates—did declare for rigid enforcement of the eighteenth amendment as well as all other sections of the constitution.

The Idahoan was equally as emphatic in his declaration that there was no proposal against repeal of the prohibition amendment. It has been the position of Borah from the start that he was not opposed to efforts at repeal if made in conformity with law.

Drafts Strong Plank

Borah has drafted a rather strong plank denouncing corruption in government and politics as threatening the existence of American free institutions and will insist upon a vigorous declaration on this subject, but he does not go as far as some others will in insisting on the naming of some of those who have figured in the more recent government and political scandals.

The Idahoan has considerable support for another plank, that denouncing practices followed by the public utilities associations as disclosed in the federal trade commission investigation ordered by the senate. This is expected to deal particularly with the revelations of how the utilities attempt to mould public opinion by reaching into the public schools and colleges.

Another set of planks, dealing with national defense and war veterans will be presented to the committee by the American Legion. The first would declare for development of civilian components of the army and for placing the navy on its proper ration under the Washington naval limitation treaty. Another would declare for the universal draft in the event of war and the third would pledge the party to withdraw none of the benefits now accorded veterans, but to increase them in accordance with the veterans' needs.

MRS. COOLIDGE ILL; PRESIDENTIAL PARTY POSTPONES JOURNEY

that developments at the Kansas City convention would affect plans for departure.

Just prior to the decision to postpone the journey to Wisconsin, the president had addressed the semi-final meeting of the business organization of the government. Speaking on the eve of the opening of the Republican national convention at Kansas City, Mr. Coolidge made no mention of the record coalition since 1921 under the Republican administration. There was no reference in the speech to his own future.

Mrs. Coolidge's physicians announced that while her condition is not considered serious, it was thought best not to undertake the trip at this particular time on account of the wear and tear of the journey.

The postponement would be merely temporary, the White House announcement said.

"Owing to the illness of Mrs. Coolidge," the White House announcement declared, "it has been decided to postpone temporarily the departure of the presidential party for Wisconsin. Mrs. Coolidge's illness is not regarded by her physicians as serious, but it is felt by them that the postponement of so fatiguing a trip is advisable."

Asked if he brought a message from President Coolidge he replied:

"In answer to that question, I say no." There was a twinkle in his eye.

Some at this convention believe that he is authorized to speak for President Coolidge if it should become necessary and his close associates feel confident that the secretary of the treasury knows whether or not President Coolidge would accept the nomination if offered.

When he informed newspapermen that he would meet them in conference he added:

"I will have nothing to tell you except that I am glad to see you."

After his conferences with the various political leaders, the secretary will appear before his 70 delegates from Pennsylvania in caucus tomorrow when it is believed that the delegation will officially decide how these will cast their vote.

PROSECUTION RESTS IN TRIAL OF MURDER

Whiteside testified that Patrick was considered "a good shot."

This testmony was brought out by prosecution in development of evidence presented this morning to the effect that two empty cartridges of the calibre used in Patrick's rifle were found near where the rancher fell after the shooting.

As the opening evidence in its case, the defense attempted to introduce clothing reported to have been worn by Ludlowe at the time he was shot. Prosecution opposed the evidence on the ground that it had nothing to do with the present case in that Bridges and Sellers were now on trial only for the murder of Patrick.

New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle.

IMPEACHMENT

The Massachusetts House of Representatives impeached the attorney-general of that state the other day, by a vote of one hundred ninety-six to eighteen. "A solemnity which only rarely attaches to proceedings in the house was in evidence all day," says the dispatch.

One of the specific charges was that the attorney for the state, while instituting an investigation of the legality of a certain club in Massachusetts, went to New York and there accepted a post as legal adviser to the club and took a retainer fee of twenty-five thousand dollars. This, if true as alleged, is barefaced graft.

Grafts of one kind and another have so riddled the structure of business and political life that there has come to be a prevalent notion that some grafts are legitimate. Uprooting this notion is one of the tasks the new age must set itself. There is no degree in honesty in public or private service. The courage to impeach an attorney-general is a sign of awakening to a straighter point of view.

PROFESSORS AND UTILITIES.

It is not necessary to jump to the conclusion that the college professors at the University of Colorado and at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania who have been giving courses and lectures on public utilities or doing research for public utility companies and accepting salaries from them have been doing anything wrong. It is possible that they have been open-minded and fair in their teaching and that any research work they have done has been honorable as well as valuable.

Yet it is a dangerous precedent. The information revealed by the Federal Trade Commission naturally sets the public to wondering about the existence of paid propaganda in public schools and colleges. It is easy to arouse suspicion and to shake confidence. Educators with the nobility of their profession at heart should do nothing to lay themselves open to the accusation of being the hired men of private interests.

It is quite understandable that the public utilities companies should want to create public opinion favorable to themselves. But the public should be alert and should know the basis of its opinion. That basis should be the proven squareness and right action of the companies involved and the men at their head. It should not be paid propaganda accepted without intelligent scrutiny.

"DUMB IT UP"

We have the movie industry to thank for a meaningful slang phrase which is likely to come into widespread use. It is "dumb it up," which, in a movie studio, means to fix up a literary masterpiece for popular screen consumption.

Many critics of the ordinary run of movie have known that productions were pretty "dumb" and that many a really fine novel or dramatic bit of history was badly treated before it flowered on the screen. But they haven't realized that movie people were so frank about the operation.

A writer in the New York World points out that this "dumbing up" process has not been confined to the movies.

Consider politics, education, literature, music, painting—isn't there an obvious tendency to "dumb up" these things—to lower standards—for the approval of the mob? Some of the more notorious trials of recent years have indicated that there is a good deal of "dumbing up" of justice and legal procedure in courts of law.

The "dumbers" are not yet in complete control. But they need to be watched with eagle eye, for they would stop at nothing if left unchecked to carry out their moronizing activities.

All the Theatres

Pola Negri Picture Alive With Romance

No doubt about it—Pola Negri has come into her own and fulfilled the expectation of the public in the matter of splendid, interesting pictures.

"The Secret Hour" which will have its first showing today at the Idaho theatre, measures up to the extraordinary success of her three previous vehicles, "Hotel Imperial," "Barbed Wire" and "The Woman on Trial."

The new opus is different in theme than the others, being a well sustained love drama with a setting in the orange groves among Americanized Latins of simple tastes and strong, natural emotions.

Pola is sought in marriage by proxy. Jean Hersholt, an affluent rancher of middle age, is fearful she will not marry him and employs the ruse of having Kenneth Thomson, his handsome young foreman, unwittingly do the courting for him. Thomson does so well that he wins and weds the star. Both of them earn Hersholt's rage, but are forgiven in the end.

The star is more fascinating than ever and displays great charm and ability. She has exceptionally strong support in Jean Hersholt, who is a star in his own right, and from Kenneth Thomson who is gaining fame as a leading man.

Rowland V. Lee, who directed Miss Negri in "Barbed Wire," was the man behind the megaphone in "The Secret Hour," having also written the story for the screen.

The picture is excellent entertainment, skillfully handled and alive with romance.

Shoshone Indians Are Vaudeville Headliners

Headliners on the Orpheum theatre's vaudeville program today and tomorrow are Chief Little Elk and his band of Shoshone Indians who appear in a talented performance. Other numbers on the bill are presented by a versatile group of entertainers who appear in comedy, music and dancing features.

"Blood Will Tell," starring Buck Jones, is the screen feature. The scenic effects in this Fox Films production are beautiful. The story has as its setting, Sonora, California, one of the romantic towns of the Old West.

Supporting Buck Jones are Kathryn Perry, Lawford Davidson, Harry Gripp, Harry Cording, Bob Kortman, William Caress, Buck Moulton and Austin Jewel.

CIRCUIT COURT DECIDES IN FAVOR OF TRUCKMEN

The United States circuit court of the San Francisco district yesterday reversed the decision in favor of the defendant given by Judge C. C. Cavanaugh of the federal district court in the case instituted by J. C. Sanger of Twin Falls against Fred E. Lukens, state commissioner of law enforcement, to prevent enforcement of the provisions of the state license law in regard to trucks. Sanger, represented by T. R. Hackman, who is supported by the Truckmen's association, claimed that the law was discriminatory and confiscatory, and that it, therefore, violated the constitution of the United States. Judge Cavanaugh decided in favor of Lukens and upheld the law. The precise terms of the decision reversing the district court will be set out in the copy which has been filed for mailing.

The RED LAMP

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

The story is as follows:

On the night of the tragedy, a flying night bird of some sort broke one of those windows of the lighthouse which protect the light itself. The keeper and the second keeper repaired it as best they could, but the terrific gusts of the wind made them uneasy, and they remained on watch.

They sat, high in the air, in the room just beneath the light, now and then glancing up to see that all was well. The storm increased in violence and as the sea came up the surf beat on the rocks below with a crashing only equaled by the thunder itself. As is usual in the high tide of the full moon, the low portion of the point to landward, and the keeper's houses, the engine shed, boathouse and oil storage tank were soon cut off from the mainland by a strip of angry ocean.

Nevertheless, they were comfortable enough, and the under-keeper had actually fallen asleep, at eleven o'clock, when there came a sudden lull in the storm. It was that time, which I well remember, when there came one of those ominous and quivering pauses in the attack which seem, not a promise of peace, but a gathering together of all the powers of wind, sea and sky for one final and tremendous effort.

And in that pause Ward, the lightkeeper, heard something below in the tower. He touched his assistant on the shoulder and he sat up. Both of them then distinctly heard footsteps on the lowest flight of stairs, five floors below.

They were alone in the tower; cut off from the mainland by a rushing strip of tide, and no boat could have landed through the surf. And outside was that unearthly quiet which was more sinister than the storm itself. Neither one of them moved or spoke, but the keeper remembers that, as the steps came on inexorably, a cold air began to eddy around the small circular room, and that he looked up at the red light apprehensively.

At the top of the second flight the steps paused, and both keepers drew a breath. Then they heard a small dry cough, and the steps recommenced on the third level.

Up and up. The stairs curved round the inside wall of the tower, and they knew they would not see what was climbing until it was fairly on them. They sat there, their eyes glued to the door, and heard the steps coming up the last round. Whatever it was, it was on them. It reached the top, and the next step would bring it into view.

Then the storm burst again, in an explosion that fairly set the tower rocking, and simultaneously the electric lights in the room went out.

It was then that the assistant keeper swears that something touched him; something cold; but there seems to be no doubt, whether that is true or not, that the whole room was filled with the cold eddying wind referred to before.

I prefer to trust the head-keeper's statement. Ward is an unemotional type, and this is what he says:

"I was scared enough, but when the lights went out I looked up at the lamp. It's an oil burner, and it was all right. Old Faithful, we call it. Well, you have to understand that we weren't entirely in the dark, even then; some of the red light from above came down, and I could see where Jim was standing. I couldn't see him, y'understand, but I could see where he was. And there was a third party in the room, over near the stair-door. That is, he was there one minute; the next he was gone."

Keeping close together the two men went down through the successive floors of the tower. They found nothing, and the outer door was still closed and bolted.

In view of so detailed and corroborative a statement, the final support of my early skepticism has had a severe blow. . . .

What would be the change, should we enter another world, with the same frailties we have now, but no limitations in their use? To sorrow, to love, even perhaps to hate. And who shall laugh at the poor ghost who, knowing and suffering all things, makes its desperate attempt to avert a wickedness? To convey, through the thick mantle of the flesh, a knowledge that is not conveyance. To stand by, wringing its pale amorphous hands, while crimes go on and unnecessary wretchedness inhabits the earth?

Nothing bodily accounts for personality. Back of everything physical, and greater than anything physical, is the mind. And mind is not an attribute of matter.

July 22.

The body has not been found, and the sheriff has raised the reward to five thousand dollars. This with Livingstone's original five hundred for the sheep-killer, which is to go to the finder of the murderer as being in all probability the same individual, raises the reward to fifty-five hundred dollars.

Today, however, certain information acquired by Halliday has shifted the scene of the search to the salt marshes and the bay, and tonight, as I glance from my window I can see lanterns moving in the marsh beyond the main house, and up and down the shore. Jane has made coffee, and those of the searchers who come up this way from the beach have been stopping in.

Halliday's discovery, made today, is as follows: He calculated just how far the truck would have to go after it was started, before it stopped, and went back to that point, which was not far from the entrance to the Livingstone drive. Already the crowd of searchers and sensation hunters had pretty well destroyed any clew that might have been left, but about twenty yards from the gates he found marks in the mud indicating that, not only had the truck been backed to that point, but it had been turned there and headed back toward Oakville and the bay.

Just where it left the road again, if at all, is a question. I believe Halliday has taken a scraping from the wheels and proposes to have it analyzed. He finds something suspicious in it. I cannot say what.

I have spent today reorganizing my household. None of the women, including Clara, are to leave it after nightfall unaccompanied, and although no entrance into any house has yet been attempted, Halliday and I have spent the late afternoon tightening window locks and adding new bolts where they are necessary.

Jane has entirely recovered, and has today resumed work on her tapestry, with us a barometer of normality. She has even agreed to dine at the Livingstones tonight, not particularly to my delight.

"Come over and dine," Mrs. Livingstone telephoned, "and let's have a little bridge. I've had the horrors for three days."

"You don't object to my wearing my revolver, as a part of my evening outfit?"

"Everybody's doing it," she said. "This house has been turned into an arsenal."

Later: Doctor Hayward stopped in this evening for a final professional visit to Jane, and on an impulse I showed him Uncle Horace's letter. I may be mistaken, but it seemed to me that, under pretense of reading it a second time, he was playing for time.

"Curious!" he said, when he passed it back to me. "What do you make of it?"

"The last part of it is fairly clear. He was in danger, and knew it."

"But the rest of it?" he said. "What does he say? The wickedness of the idea. What idea?"

"You haven't any opinion on that yourself?"

"No," he said slowly. "I can't say that I have."

The tension, or whatever it was, seemed to relax then. "As a mater of fact," he said, "I thought it was addressed to me, when I commenced it. We'd had a long argument not long before his death, on euthanasia. I believed in putting the unfit out of the world; he didn't. But of course the end of it settles that."

He laughed again, bit the end of a thumb, hesitated, and then got his hat.

"Danger!" he said. "And the police! No, that wasn't for me."

"And you still believe he died of heart disease?"

"It was his heart, all right," he said, and going out, climbed heavily into his car. He seemed abstracted, and made no reply to my good-night.

I can read into this what I like; his manner was not that of a guilty man; on the other hand, it was not entirely natural, either. He was both watchful and self-conscious. And I do not believe he read the letter twice. . . .

One of the evening newspapers tonight prints a photostatic copy of the cipher found in our garage, and offers a prize for its solution.

Edith's memory is shown to have been faulty in only one particular. The cipher, as published reads:

GrLTr, K. 24.

July 23.

Mrs. Livingstone has given me something to think about. . . .

The dinner went off very well. But the bridge was irritating. It is always a mistake to seat four people at a table, and place cards before them, when their minds are full of another and totally different matter.

Nevertheless, the evening was not without a peculiar interest of its own. While Mr. Livingstone took Jane to see his hothouses I had a few moments alone with his wife, and I received what is to me a new angle on the whole mysterious business.

We were in the library, and I was wandering around looking at Livingstone's books. In one corner was a large and well-worn collection of books on psychic subjects, and as I glanced up from them Mrs. Livingstone was watching me, gravely.

"If you do not know what you believe on these matters," I said, "you must certainly know the opinions of others."

"And you?" she said. "Are you still a cynic?"

I turned and faced her.

"I don't know what I am."

"Ah! You have heard the lighthouse story?"

"Yes."

She said nothing for a moment, then:

"What about your new tenant? Your Mr. Bethel? Has he made any complaint?"

"Not yet. As a matter of fact I have talked to him only once."

"And that was—?"

"Mostly about hot water and a beef cube," I admitted. "And the direction in which the house faces. He struck me as an extremely irritable and material type."

"'Irritable and material,'" she repeated thoughtfully. "And yet I suppose you know they are saying that he is using the red lamp."

FILLING STATIONS FIGURE IN TALK ON ZONING REGULATION

Councilmen Consider Commission's Report in Relation to Oil Companies' Expansion Operations.

Twin Falls city council, in discussion of Twin Falls zoning commission's report at a regular meeting last evening, took stock of its arsenal in its fight to prevent, if possible, further incursion of gasoline filling stations in Twin Falls residence districts.

Weapons examined in this stock taking included possibility of encouraging competition, resort to state laws and use of tax levies.

If the Continental Oil company successfully maintains its contention in the courts and is permitted to establish a filling station on property at the north end of Shoshone street near the Washington school, one councilman asserted, it would enjoy a monopoly in that district unless proposed zoning regulations were modified. It was pointed out that another applicant had been denied permission to install a similar station across Shoshone street from the proposed Continental station.

Discussion then turned to possible means of eliminating the Continental station and another station on which the Fletcher Oil company has done some work without municipal permit at the corner of Shoshone street and Ninth avenue north.

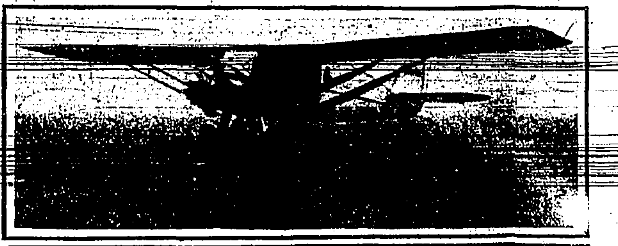
Reort of the zoning commission recommends regulation of building and use of lots and divided the city into four districts—first and second residence districest, business district and industrial district.

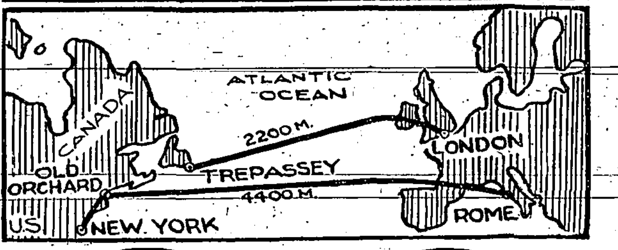
The council last evening received the report and fixed Monday, July 9, as the time for holding public hearing on it.

Without taking difinite action, members of the council discussed the failure of the lighting system at the bridge over Rock creek at the south end of Shoshone street.

Evidence of need for additional police protection also claimed the attention of the councilmen, and members voiced their approval of the suggestion advanced by J. E. White, commissioner of public safety, proposing employment of a motorcycle officer.

Girls in Trans-Atlantic Race





HERE is a map showing the routes Miss Amelia Earhart, Boston's "Lady Lindy" (right), and Miss Mabel Boll, so-called Queen of Diamonds, will follow on their flights across the Atlantic. The former's course was plotted by Commander Richard E. Byrd and is the less hazardous of the two. Both girls are determined to be the first woman to fly "all the way across" the Atlantic. Above is Miss Bolls' plane, the Columbia, as it took off from Roosevelt Field runway. It was later forced to return to Curtiss Field because of heavy fog.

CHAUTAUQUA CLOSES WITH SCENIC DRAMA

Week of Varied Attractions For Twin Falls Audiences; Contract Lacks Few Names

"A Message from Mars" by Richard Ganthony, the great English playwright, was presented as the concluding evening entertainment last night of the chautauqua here.

With spectacular lighting effects, elaborate staging, and a capable cast headed by Arthur MacMurray, this unique comedy-drama evolving around Richard Gathony's idea of what life might be like on the planet Mars, played to one of the most appreciative audiences of the season.

As a concluding number the children of the Junior Chautauqua as citizens of "Junior Towne," presented a short pagent, "A Musical Banquet," directed by Miss Duffy.

With a background depicting an exotic south sea island complete with tropical moon, palms, and volcano in eruption, Vierra's Hawaiians opened the program Sunday night with a prologue of Hawaiian music by soft-voiced singers in native costume playing steel guitars and ukeleles.

Concluding the evening's entertainment, Frank C. Travers, criminologist, presented his lecture on "Crime and Criminals." Mr. Travers, son of a district judge, has made the study of crime and methods of controlling criminals his life work. His plea is for speedy justice and the elimination of technicalities that defeat justice. He has lived with criminals in prisons with the purpose of studying them at first hand. Too many laws make it easy to defeat justice is his contention.

That the contract for next year which is necessary to bring the chautauqua back to Twin Falls next summer, lacks only six signers, was the happy announcement made by the manager, Miss Faye Wolfe, at the big tent last night.

WHEAT PRICE GOES LOWER ON MARKET

Corn Quotations Swing Upward; Crop Reports From Spring Belt Seem Improved

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Wheat prices went lower today and corn higher. Better crop reports from the spring wheat belt, lower quotations at Liverpool and nearness of a large movement of new winter wheat in the southwest all tended to ease down the wheat market. Corn responded to a big decrease of the corn visible supply.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅛c to 1⅛c net lower, corn showing ⅛c to ¾c advance, oats ranging from ⅛c off to ⅝c up, and provisions at 12c decline to a gain of 2c.

Good Rallies

Despite good rallies at times, the general course of the wheat market was downgrade. Rather favorable weather prevailed throughout spring wheat territory, and field advices from the northern half of North Dakota said crop prospects were brightening. Word was also received that conditions in Montana appeared much better than is the case further east, evidence of more sub-soil moisture being apparent westward. In addition, he amount of wheat afloat for Europe showed an increase, and export demand for wheat from North America was only moderate.

Unsettling Influences

Unsettling influences on the wheat market during the late transactions included general expectance that the Canadian government crop report this afternoon would prove bearish. It was also announced that new winter wheat was loading at southern Oklahoma points, the first cars of the season in that state. Under such circumstances, buying power lessened as the day drew to an end, whereas selling became liberal. Receipts at Winnipeg today were 591 cars compared to 131 a year ago, and stocks at Port Arthur and Fort William showed but little decrease for the week, with the total now 51,731,000 bushels against 22,101,000 bushels the corresponding time in 1927.

TWIN FALLS MARKETS

These prices are obtained daily at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and are intended to cover only the average of prices. Where certain dealers for short periods offer more than the quoted prices no effort is made to include such quotations. Quotations are offered merely as a guide to producers and should not be accepted as reflecting extremes of either high or low prices.

Paid to Producers

The Twin Falls markets yesterday were as follows:

Livestock
Hogs	$8.50
Light heavy hogs	$7.00

SENSATIONAL COLLAPSE OF MARKET QUOTATIONS ON BANCITALY COMMON

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The sensational collapse in the market price of the Bancitaly corporation common stock on the New York curb market started a fresh torrent of selling on the New York stock exchange today. Prices of active stocks broke 2 to 21½ points in what was probably the swiftest and most violent reaction of the year.

Trading, which was only moderate in volume during the early part of the session, assumed gigantic proportions in the last hour of trading. The day's sales aggregated 3,780,800 shares, with the ticker 52 minutes late in recording the final transactions.

High priced specialties particularly those in which there has been wild public speculation, were the hardest hit. Rossia Insurance scored the largest break, dropping 21½ points to 176¾. Curtiss and Wright each fell about 12 points to 103¼ and 165¼, respectively, as compared with their recent highs of 102¾ and 245. American Bank Note, Case Threshing, Cushman's Bakery, Jewel Tea, National Tea, Frank G. Shattuck and United States Cast Iron Pipe dropped 8 to 10 points.

General Motors closed with a block of 3700 shares at the spread price of 161 to 181½; an extreme decline of 6 points. American International, American Railway Express, American Water Works, Bayuk Cigars, Chrysler, Electric Auto Lite, Houston Oil, International Combustion, International Match preferred, International Telephone, Mathieson Alkali, Park and Tilford, and Universal Pipe dropped 5 to 7 points.

Such seasoned industrials as American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, Montgomery, Texas Gulf, Sulphur and United States Steel closed at net declines of 2 to 5 points. Rails also were hard hit, Canadian Pacific dropping mor than 5 points while a number of others including New York Central, Union Pacific, Lackawanna, Atchison, Wabash, Southern Railway, Reading and Lehigh Valley yielded 2 points or more.

Relatively few issues were able to buck the downward trend. Radio closed fractionally higher at 194½; after having touched 201.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The raw sugar market was unchanged today, with no sales reported and prices nominally quoted at 4.30, duty paid.

Disappointed by the failure of demand for refined sugar to broaden to any appreciable extent and continued inactivity in the spot market, seemed responsible for a renewal of tired long liquidation in raw sugar futures. Prices were easier throughout the session, closing with net losses of 7 to 9 points. The market opened 1 to 3 points lower under trade and commission house selling and after holding steady for awhile turned downward again, with final prices at the lowest of the session and March and May deliveries selling into new low ground for the season. Trading was not in very large proportions and operators were inclined to limit fresh commitments and await results in regard to the disposal of the 300,000 tons of sugar expected to be withdrawn from the original allotment for the United States. Approximate sales 36,300 tons.

July closed 2.54; September 2.65; December 2.74; January 2.71; March 2.65; May 2.73.

Fair withdrawal demand was reported for refined sugar, but no improvement in new buying. Prices were unchanged at 6.05 to 6.10 for fine granulated, with second hands available at around 6.05.

Appropriation for Mimeograph:

Owing to the unexpected failure of the Mimeograph in the office of the County Supt. replacement of a new one became necessary. As the appropriation for Capital Outlay for this department was insufficient to take care of the purchase of this machine, it became necessary to transfer from another appropriation. Upon a motion duly made, seconded and unanimously adopted by the Board, the sum of $100.00 was transfered from the appropriation for office records and supplies to Capital Outlay.

There being no further business to come before the Board at this time, a recess was taken until May 8th, 1928 at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

T. E. Moore, Chairman.
Attest: Harry C. Parsons, Clerk.

ACCUSED ASSAILANT OF ELDERLY WOMAN ADMITS BURGLARY

Fred Taylor Confesses Intent to Commit Crime but Excuses Action On Plea that He Had Been Drinking.

Fred Taylor, 25, accused of brutally attacking Mrs. Lorenda C. Hutts, 64, widow of a Civil war veteran, at her home on Fourth avenue west last Wednesday night, pleaded guilty on arraignment in probate court here yesterday to first degree burglary charge. He was remanded to custody of the sheriff in default of $2000 bond. Penalty for the offense involves prison term for from 1 to 15 years.

In a statement made yesterday to O. W. Witham, county attorney, Taylor said that he had been drinking and did not know what he was doing at the time of the alleged assault. He had been here only a few days, being employed on a railroad tracklaying crew.

Mrs. Hutts was struck twice on the head by her assailant who wielded a small steel bar. She is reported to be making satisfacqry recovery.

In his statement to the county attorney, Tayler denied any clear knowledge of what happened during the time immediately preceding his arrest, asserting that he was very drunk. Taylor said that he came up town Tuesday evening with a partner named "Slim" and went into a pool hall. They parted soon afterwards and he later fell in with a Mexican near a livery barn who sold him some liquor. He said he drank "a pint or two" of the liquor.

Taylor said he started toward the camp but did not know what time he left town. He did not have any particular house in view; did not see Roy L. Hutts, son of the woman attacked leave home, and did not see any light in the house. He declared that he guessed he thought it was the home of a friend in Kansas City. When it was suggested by the county attorney that entering in the dark and striking the friend with a steel bar was a rather unceremonious way of expressing friendship, Taylor said he was so drunk at the time that he did not know what he was doing. He declared, however, that he guessed his object was robbery.

Story of Life

Taylor said he was born in Kansas City 25 years ago. His father had been killed in a railroad accident. His mother, now 53, had not remarried. He gave her address but begged the officers not to write to her as it would kill her, he said.

He added that he has a brother, James N. R. Taylor in the United States navy, and a sister married in California. Speaking of his personal career Taylor said he had been a mechanic, and worked in the auto shop of a man named Sweenie in Kansas City. He became addicted to drink about seven years ago, he said, but never used drugs. He left Kansas City about the time he took to drink, but indicated that he had been back there about three year ago. He said he spent five years in California in the oil fields working for the Shell company around Wellington. He came here from that state around by way of New Mexico, in which state he said he bought the cap which he lost at the Hutts cabin and which resulted in his identification.

Story of Crime

Shortly after midnight last Tuesday morning, Mrs. Hutts went to bed after preparing a meal for her son, Roy L. Hutts, who went to work at midnight. Just as she was going to sleep, she was awakened completely to find a man bending over her in bed. She offered to give him what money she had in the house, only a few dollars, but instead of taking it the man struck her over the head with a steel bar and then chocked her. She struggled with him and managed to get loose and go to a neighbor's house where she telephoned for the officers. She has since been confined in the county hospital, recoving from the shock and from injuries, which, however, were not of a dangerous character. The police traced the footprints from the Hutts home across the railroad bridge. The cap which was found in the Hutts home was identified as belonging to Taylor. He was found in bed with a bloody shirt on the floor and blood on his person, which he declared due to coughing up blood during the night. He told officers that he was born in Burlington, Kansas. The police at that time expressed the opinion that Taylor was not drunk when the crime was committed, as he showed no evidence of excessive use of liquor immediately before, when arrested.

Three Possible Crimes

Taylor might have been prosecuted on any one of three charges. Assault with deadly weapon, for which the penalty is not more than two years in the penitentiary or $5000 fine; assault with intent to commit robbery or certain other felonies, for which the penalty is 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary, or first degree burglary for which the penalty is 1 to 15 years in the penitentiary. The crime to which he has entered a plea of guilty, carries a higher maximum penalty than either of the others named.

Taylor told Dale Adcock, Twin Falls police officer Sunday night, that he had attended high school with Hickman, the Los Angeles slayer. At first when imprisoned in the city jail, he was uncommunicative, and was not questioned by the police.

FOUR PERSONS PLUNGE OVER GRADE IN MOTOR

GOODING, June 11 (AP)—Four persons narrowly escaped instant death about midnight Saturday when the car belonging to Dan Knight, Gooding, went over the Trail creek summit grade above Ketchum and rolled about 70 feet before lodging against a stump.

The car, a closed model, was burned. Arthur Knight, Dan's brother, suffered a broken arm and fractured skull. Jack, a son of Dan Knight, and a nephew from Colorado, who was visiting the Knight family, suffered bruises. Dan, who was driving, escaped with slight wounds about the head, but the other three were in the Gooding hospital Sunday night.

The accident, according to reports here, resulted when a portion of the roadbed gave way. The injured persons were brought here Sunday.

HARTFELDER CONFESSES CHARGE FILED BY WIFE

Carl Hartfelder in probate court here yesterday entered a plea of guilty to the charge of battery preferred by his wife, Matilda Hartfelder. Inquiry convinced the court that the punishment inflicted was not severe, as divorce suit, growing out of the same transaction, had been filed by Mrs Hartfelder. Judge C. A. Bailey let him go with payment of costs. Hartfelder said that while he had been married in Rumania, he was born in Germany.

DISHONEST GENTRY MAKES APPEARANCE IN LOCAL DISTRICT

Twin Falls Laundry Sustains Losses Aggregating $800 in Cash and Checks; Gasoline and Tools Taken; Break Safe

Two important burglaries and a small one in Twin Falls and one at Rogerson marked the activities of dishonest gentry between Saturday night and Monday morning. The White Star laundry sustained losses aggregating about $800, half of which were in checks that will be mostly made good by the makers; the Warberg Transfer and Storage company lost $20.50 in cash; T. H. Thompson, on the Kimberly road, lost tools. The Continental Oil company at Rogerson lost 130 gallons of gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oil.

The police in Twin Falls rounded up a number of itinerents, but found no trace of the things stolen here. The sheriff's force is investigating the Rogerson burglary without results so far. Both sets of officers are cooperating in the general search.

Use Steel Tools

Breaking the safe in the White Star laundry at 301 Third avenue east, by use of a crowbar and chisel, burglars early Sunday morning stole about $75 cash, and carried away about $400 in unendorsed checks and about $300 of clothing from the laundry. Entrance was gained through the read door by means of a pass key. The crowbar, which was found in the building, had not been claimed and the police desire to have anyone who misses such a tool to report. The outer door of the safe was taken off and the inner door chiseled open.

The crime was probably committed about 3 o'clock in the morning at which hour a noise was heard in the direction of the White Star laundry by Mrs. G. W. Tarr, who lives at 311 Second avenue east, and by Floyd Norman, at the sub-station across Third street east from the laundry. Neither thought much about the matter, and assumed that some repairs were being made. At 1:30 Sunday morning Police Officer Jack Empey went to the rear door and found it intact. At 2 o'clock George E. Sandholtz, the proprietor, was in the laundry and everything was then in its usual condition. The crime was discovered Sunday by an employe of the company.

Burglary at Warberg's

Burglars gained entrance to the office of the Warburg Transfer and Storage company, 407 Shoshone street south, by shoving out a box with a chicken wire over it which was placed in the window and entering the basement at the rear. This allowed access to be gained to the office, where the knob was knocked from the safe and the tumblers worked. Cash in the amount of $20.50 was taken. It is thought that this crime was committed Sunday night, though it was possibly done Saturday night, as the box had been so neatly refitted in the basement window that a casual glance would not reveal the fact that it had been moved. John Melton, who is serving as night watchman temporarily, was around the building Saturday and Sunday nights. R. E. Leighton, chief of police, is of the opinion that the crimes were committed by different persons, but is investigating the finger prints on the safes.

Burglary at Rogerson

Saturday night 115 gallons of gasoline, 10 gallons of lubricating oil and five gallons of kerosene were stolen from the Continental Oil company tanks at Rogerson. This is the second time within two months that the company has suffered from burglaries at Rogerson. Early in May four youths stole a quantity of oil and gasoline and allowed a tank of kerosene, opened by mistake, to escape. One of these, Howard Bishop, 22, was sent to the penitentiary, on a plea of guilty, and two others, Charles and Andrew Gilbert, under 18 years of age, were sentenced to the industrial school at St. Anthony, also on pleas of guilty. A fourth member is still at large.

Small Burglary Committed

T. H. Thompson, 1210 Kimberly road, reported Sunday that someone had entered his garage and had stolen tools, a blow torch and soldering iron.

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY: Fair, slowly rising temperature. Idaho generally cloudy; warmer in southeast portion.

General rains were reported throughout the Twin Falls country last night. Rainfall began early Monday morning and continued throughout the day. WILL ROGERS HERE EARLY IN OCTOBER

Bunkless Candidate for President to Speak Under Auspices Twin Falls Club.

Early in October, probably during the first week, Will Rogers will come to Twin Falls, in the new airplane, now being constructed by his friend, Henry Ford, to deliver an address under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club, it was announced, following a conference Saturday evening between Howard E. Potter of New York, representing Mr. Rogers, and Mrs. B. L. Price, president of the Twentieth Century club. The club some time ago voted to contract with Mr. Rogers for an engagement here with a definite minimum guarantee. Since that time the cowboy nominee for president on the "bunkless ticket," has cancelled the guarantee provision in all agreements, and elects to go on a straight percentage of receipts. He will appear in Pocatello under the auspices of the Retail Merchants' association.
