Missouri Robin Forced Down But Rotor Craft Passes 210th Hour Mark. LEAKY OIL LINE SENDS PLANE TO TERRA FIRMA. Aviators Broken-hearted As Failure is Counted an Endurance Flight.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 22 (UP)—A bad leak in an oil line, which hampered the flight of the Missouri Robin monoplane and seriously hampered vision, ended the plane's endurance flight here today at 21 hours and 20 minutes. The aviator, who is the St. Louis Robin, however, turned on his engine to break a tank and cross the 210th hour mark apparently without incident. The plane, which was built by the St. Louis school of aviation, was forced down by a bad leak in an oil line at 21 hours and 20 minutes.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Dazzy Vance, who pitched around 12 to 1 in a victory over the Chicago Cubs, striking out ten men and allowing but five hits. He capped Hick Wilson's four-hitter.

The Pittsburgh Pirates' rolled his station, and forcing that in the Chicago Cubs' hands would have won it for the home team. 6 to 3 victory over the New York on this. William Wundt, 20.

JEROME DEFEATS SHOESHONE TEAM

CHICAGO, July 22 (Special)—The Jerome Inland league team conquered the shoe Shoshone team by a score of 18 to 9 here Sunday afternoon before a good crowd of spectators.

Jerome's first victory in the second half of the split season and the team were proud that they were ahead in the league standing.

The Jerome boys were never seriously threatened having taken an early lead and maintained it. The Jerome team also showed they developed rapidly with the addition of new men of outstanding ability.

The Jerome team also developed into a heavy hitting team. First baseman and homer and Henry and Hunter, attacked out lines. In the score: H. H. Shoshone 9, Jerome 18 7 5

Batteries: Onida, Venema and Vancil; White, Lincey and Alshofen.

WILSON PROVES EASY FOR VANCE

CHICAGO, July 22 (Special)—Dazzy Vance seems to be the bane of Hick Wilson's existence.

Over since the shabby Hick became a hero to Chicago, Cub fans, he has encountered his most humiliating moment when the shoe pitcher was pitching and now more than ever Vance seems to have the Indian skinned the home run hitter.

Yesterday Dazzy broke up a 27 consecutive game hitting streak for Hick and to make it more humiliating, the Brooklyn pitcher sent Wilson back to the bench four times via the straight route.

It was the second time this year that Dazzy had walked back four times and Vance's shoving against Wilson has perplexed Cub fans perhaps more than it has Wilson.

Another puzzling point is the fact that Wilson is a "fast ball" pitcher and if there is any pitcher who he should hit it is Wilson. Yet Dazzy uses a high ball as his most effective pitch against the Cub hit.

Another puzzling point is the fact that while other pitchers use a while "smoke" one over on Wilson for a third strike, Hick invariably goes down swinging. Another puzzle is that Dazzy is one of the most adept pitchers in the league at disposing of a batter on a called third strike.

Clara Bow's smile for future husband

Clara Bow, famous "It" girl of movieland, is pictured here with her husband-to-be, Harry Richmond. New York night club owner and actor, that smiling smile on Clara's face comes from the fact that "she's just so happy" as Richmond says on the $10,000 engagement ring. They are to be married soon.

SOMEHOW YOU APPRECIATE that more with a Chesterfield.

Perhaps it's the extra fragrance—delicate, spicy, aromatic. Perhaps it's the mild sweetness, or the mellow richness and character.

More likely it's all these, but so completely and smoothly blended and cross-blended, the standard Chesterfield method, that it seems no blend at all, but a single perfect tobacco.

In a cigarette it's taste; in Chesterfield it's "TASTE above everything"

CHILDREN
 By Arthur Fawcett in the Christian Advocate.
 Tow-headed babies toddle to and fro,
 With eager eyes and busy little hands—
 Drag dirt in whiskered boxes, or "Whoo!"
 And hold upon imaginary sands.
 Laughter and tears make up their little day,
 For their heads assault nature's real laws children's play.
 What matter though the wagon have a wheel,
 The sands we sift be coals, the eyes be real?
 What matter though we drive the lightning rod,
 Can happiness and grief be bought and sold?
 Laughter and tears will rule our little day,
 For our heads assault nature's real laws children's play.

DELAID JUSTICE

FOR such as many years as most of us care to remember, bar associations in this country have been pleading for a reform of our court procedure to speed justice and reduce the use of technicalities. The progress made has not been very encouraging. Point to the criticisms of delay in getting action, particularly in criminal cases, is found in situations in two Idaho counties in this district. At Shoshone a man is being held for the fall term of court on a charge of murder, and in this county a defendant charged with murder will have to wait until the fall term to be tried.

The time was, when, due to the heavy volume of court work and too few judges, the trial of civil cases in Idaho was postponed almost indefinitely. Happily, that condition has been rectified, according to local attorneys, and action in civil matters can now be had within a reasonable period. That gain is an advantage.

But we submit that there is need of speedier trials in criminal cases. If a break occurs in an irrigation canal, or if a railroad embankment is washed out by a flood, or if a bridge support gives way and hurls up traffic on a highway, society and business are not required to wait from one to three months for adjustments. The injury is remedied quickly in such cases, but when an equally serious catastrophe in the form of a homicide is visited on society, the action of the law is as slow as it was in England several centuries ago. England has seen fit to simplify her court procedure, but in the United States we have been too sluggish to do so much. The body of our law we inherited from England. It is a bit of irony that we who pride ourselves on initiative have been loath to modernize our court procedure.

It is true that speedy justice would probably cost a little more money, but the slow system that now prevails, but society could well afford to pay the higher bill to assure itself faster dispatch of its criminal court business.

AN OPTIMIST AND A WILL

The will left by W. H. Latta, Indianapolis attorney who was killed the other day in an auto accident, is at least unique. After making minor bequests, Latta directed that $50,000 be deposited in a bank and kept for 200 years. At the end of that time it will have grown to approximately $160,000,000 and is to be used to start a public library, found a university, establish a conservatory of music and benefit similar existing organizations.

A man has to have more ingenuity to make a will like that. He has to have a vast deal of faith—faith in the existing order, faith in the institutions his fellowmen have raised, faith in the continuance of peace, prosperity and the system of capitalism. Mr. Latta lived, will not be that old for a whole lot can happen in 200 years. Our own nation has not yet lived that long. The city of Indianapolis, where many decades. Enough changes have come in the last century to make a man dizzy, the changes that the next two centuries bring may make Mr. Latta's bequests look rather queer.

For example, it is quite within the bounds of possibility that public libraries will be as out of date as stage coaches. With radio, television, moving pictures and such like devices, it may be that people 200 years hence will never have to stir out of their homes to see, hear and read anything they want to. The same applies to universities. Who knows what our educational system will be like 200 years from now? Isn't it quite possible that universities, as they now exist, will have been replaced by something entirely different? And is it entirely too imaginative to suggest that the youth who wants to study music, in the year 2129, will simply "tune in" on his teacher, with radio and television, in his own home—so that conservatories of music as we now know them will be extinct?

Those are only a few of the chances Mr. Latta's bequests are taking. In 200 years we may—for all anyone now living knows—have passed beyond the realm of private property. Banks may be non-existent. "Big bequests," by that time, may be confiscated by the state.

Or—saddest of all to suggest—the bank that holds the $50,000 today may be out of existence 200 years from now. War, revolution, ill luck, sudden shifts in the nation's economic trends—these unpredictable possibilities could very easily remove Mr. Latta's swollen fortune to the land of things that might have been.

To be sure, it may all work out just as this attorney planned it. But 200 years is a long time—particularly in view of the fact that the world is changing faster now than ever before in history.

A VACATION BY AIR

ANNOUNCEMENT that a stuporous Sikorsky amphibian plane equipped with electric lights and running water recently left New York to take the family of a Chicago millionaire on a cross-country pleasure flight may prove the forerunner of a thing that will become relatively common in the next few years.

A vacation by air, especially when the plane provides genuine luxuries for its occupants, is as attractive a recreation as one could imagine. Just now, of course, it is confined to the wealthy. The aerial traveler has not yet appeared. But when it comes, as it will, eventually, we are going to see an extension of this sort of thing that will be simply amazing.

The Chicago gentleman, sailing westward on a pleasure jaunt, is the advance guard of what some day will be a veritable swarm of aerial tourists.

"If there is any principle of the Constitution that more imperatively calls for attachment than any other it is the principle of free thought—not free thought for those who agree with us, but freedom for the thought we hate."

—Associate Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"Sympathy, usefulness, a tendency to play for the whole team, those things which enable a man to work effectively with others, are now, I think, of greater importance to the success of the big executive, and of the young man who is coming on, than ever before." —Ivy Lee.

WHEAT; POTATOES; BEETS, PEAS, LAMBS.

(Twin Falls Register-Tribune)
 Farmers' expectations are almost right for practically everything that is produced in this section. From the way things look now without taking into account the amount of the crop, so far as prices are concerned. Potatoes which have made an unmade fortune in this section, from all accounts are to play a return engagement, so far as good prices are concerned. The sugar beets, and there are acres and acres of them this season, we all know are a guaranteed price crop and a big contributor to the general prosperity of the community. The same is true of the acres of seed peas promise an abundant crop and at the price paid are an additional factor in the general scheme of things economic.

The wool, so the growers say, did not bring what it should not quite 30 cents a pound, but it must be remembered that this was in 1926 when it was abundant to be a blessing. The lambs, judging their part, however, and when as beef cattle are concerned, the price has almost reached a prohibitive one so that only milliners and dressmakers can afford to eat steaks. "High prices" in Idaho, as elsewhere, with the price going up like the mercury in a present-day thermometer during the hot days of summer. There is some abatement about the prospective price of hay. The producer says from $12 to $15 a ton. The buyer says not more than $10, in fact $8 to $10 will be necessary to sell and see. Taken all in all there is not much to kick about, and a good deal of reason to look to, so far as this position is concerned. Our democratic friends make the claim that the present and the past are the best of all worlds. It is not a thing to do with—maybe not. No one is trying to get particular credit. All that must be taken into account is the fact that conditions are as they are, and jobs in the rejoicing.

Baby Held for Unpaid Board Bill

No board money—no baby! That's the ultimatum Mrs. Wray, Hamilton of Hudson Heights, N. J. issued to Mrs. Catherine Philadelphian who owed her $25 for the child's lodging. At the left you see Mrs. Philadelphian with the 20-month-old baby girl whom she is holding as her own. Mrs. Wray is the mother, who went to court in Camden, N. J., in order to get the baby returned to her.

SPEAKING OF OLD TIMERS, THIS 4500-YEAR REDWOOD NOW POSTS

A Redwood tree 2600 years old, tall and around it grew another tree which estimates say was 2500 years old. And the fallen tree, when found by the Redwood Empire Station, was in such good condition it was cut up for telephone poles.

DEATH OF BURLEY

CHILD IS MYSTERY

BURLEY, July 20 (Special)—Little Shirley, 6-year-old daughter of John M. Meyer, 1726 1/2 miles south of town, died Thursday night about 7 o'clock from the effects of an insect bite on the face of a person, apparently the exact cause, not having known. The child became afflicted with a sudden swelling of the face about 10 hours prior to her death, and the family continued to grow more serious until the child died. The family was promptly called but it seems that the exact cause of the trouble could not be reached. Funerals arrangements have not yet been made.

We Guarantee Reconditioned MODEL T FORDS

Usually, when a person buys a new Ford from us, he has by no means exhausted the transportation in his old car. We have several bargains in unused mileage in our showrooms right now, awaiting second owners. Naturally, the prices are so low that you could easily afford to have one—possibly for that second car which will solve your family's transportation problem.

Model T—Fords are thoroughly reconditioned and guaranteed. We also have other makes of cars for second owners—priced according to the unused service in them.

Regarding our used car prices, remember this: There is no "padding" to care for excessive trade-in allowances, for the price of the new Ford is so low—so close to the cost of production and selling—that there is no leeway for unreasonable trade-in concessions. When you buy a used car from us you pay just what it is worth, and no more. We would hardly care to risk our reputation and good-will by following any other policy.

Here's Much-Discussed Lively Ball, Dissected

By WILLIAM M. BRAUCHER NBA Chicago, Illinois, Wis. There is quite an ado about the rabbit ball these days. It is standing up at the old wicket and busting the ball this year. One home run was made in nine days; the other, days between the pitches and the balls, and 14 homers were made in four major league baseball contests a few days later. It is getting hard even to remember when a home run by Hans Wagner used to be something to chortle about. Yes, of the 14 major league managers say the thing the pictures are telling us there is one ball used to be: it's easier to see and to hit and it seems to travel farther, and it's hurting the game. Weak players in the average column, the hits who can't quite raise their smacking ability about a grade or six feet up the air, ever so often and socking it far away. How Angus Mackey Outfielders are thinking of asking for shoo-nards and mackey. Diddle than anya somebody else's racket. On the other hand, there are pictures up there today doing the same thing with the rabbit ball that they used to do with the old turtle ball. They're just getting the thing. Non like Quinn, Hoyt, Vance, Mc-berry, Ormos, Faber, Uhl, and others don't seem to be whether hitting regular or bean bag. They pitch with the same boyish abandon as of the old days, but they was supposed to be fairly steady. They can't make the ball curve, or travel farther than it ever was and everybody else just must be making up their heads. And that's the trouble. The ball is made on the same machine in the factories at Philadelphia under a patent owned by Tom Shive, inventer, just owner of the thing. Shive says the ball hasn't been changed since 1909.

Cut through the middle here are the baseball's inside. The turtle ball is the old variety of the days when runs were fewer and pitches were more frequent. The rabbit ball is the 1923 article, which in being slugged as never before by American League batsmen, has made a name for itself. A cork center, used to be a layer of cork, rubber, where some there is a layer of gray rubber which is itself enclosed in another layer of soft red rubber. This is the former American League variety, now general manager of the Cleveland Indians and

Advertisement for Mrs. Secretary of the Treasury. Text includes 'Nowadays it is becoming more and more the practice, particularly among the younger people, to regulate expenditure of income by the budget system. To the wife is delegated the task of keeping the family expenses within set limits—she is the real secretary of the family treasury. She must count the pennies and stretch them to their utmost buying power.'

The modern woman knows how to make a dollar purchase one hundred cents' worth of value. She reads the advertisements in her daily newspaper and notes what is being advertised that she needs. She scans them closely to know what is newest and best in clothes, in foods, in utilities that will make the home work easier, the little luxuries that will make it more comfortable. Yet her purchases are regulated by the budget—advertising helps her to keep within bounds. Such is the value of advertising to the woman in the home. It is her faithful adviser, ever ready to tell her what, when and where to buy and how much to pay.

chance to slaughter in small sheds

The cows developed a disease which in a year or so which caused their milk to drop off. A campaign was started last summer when some of these dairies which resulted in their being driven from the city.

When these 'viral' inspections were made it was found that the milk was badly contaminated.
There was no equipment for sterilizing the utensils or bottles and cans were not tested for bacteriologists.

At this time the states are not passing laws to protect people against bad milk to be having this upon the individual cities.
In Twin Falls county the City of Twin Falls is the only place where they have a milk ordinance. All dairies in the county should be under inspection because it means so much to the community to have a good milk supply. It is a good idea for everyone to go out and investigate their own dairy to see how the milk that they are drinking is being handled.

The control of milk was first attempted in 1918 when the New organized at Camp Star, investigating the great number of deaths of infants. They found that the milk of New York's milk
