Days of Industry
 The old maxim to the effect that the events cast their shadows before them is being proved in this community at present.

Boys of that age between the time when father hands them their spending money and when they have regular jobs and earn their own are now full of desire to be busy. Rather would they be more nearly accurate to say that they are ambitious to earn money.

Odd jobs that require good have many candidates now for their portion. Boys—and probably girls—want to make some extra money.

What is the reason? Circumstances differ in families, but one of the most pressing needs of funds on the part of our younger citizens is found in the fact that next week the county fair will be under way. County fairs are of our own and of our children, and money must be provided.

It is admitted to the fair is not enough, far less than the amount of the county fair. One might have been sufficient to permit of the county fair. Just in time, it is true, but time would have been lacking. If, in those days, one visited the horse barns, and the sheep pens and saw the fat legs of the unbelievable size in between the inspections of the good things to eat that were loudly hawked, one might get along without spending more than a dime.

But those were heroic days. The dime must its prestige. Like the old gray mare, the dime "ain't what she used to be." Neither is the fragility of that age so successfully practiced today.

The horrible truth is that the day has passed when a dime would suffice as spending money for the lad at the county fair. He has to have a lot more.
 And in the face of the sternness that may be displayed by the father who himself managed on a dime and finds himself not disposed to make life too easy for his son, the son today is transformed into a young dynamo.

He is an eager seeker of odd jobs.
 Nor are his earnings to be squandered lightly, either. He is a paragon of thrift, this lad who personifies all lads of his age. He is saving his money, believe him. He is saving for the fair!

The savings will melt away all too quickly when this lad gets into action at the fair. There are lots of things to buy. Hunger will be prevalent in a degree that may cause mothers to wonder if the diet at home is sufficient. He may even eat too much. One hot dog too many may serve to unnerve him and reduce him to a mere wreck of his usual self.

But never mind that. Industry is popular to-day with certain of the young people. Because of their industry they are planning a gala time at the fair. They will have just that, and their fair help to make the occasion just a little more worthwhile for the rest of the community.

Great times, those times we have had at the county fair!

Gold—and a poor farm.
 NEW NEWS stories in recent months have been more interesting than any we have had some 9000 men and women who went to the Klondike in the great gold rush of '98 held a convention—a "sour-dough stampee," they called it—in Seattle the other day.

 "The reassembling of that army of one-time gold hunters provides food for considerable meditation. But there was one sentence in the news story that stood out above all the others. It read:
 "Among the delegates were 16 gray-haired, bent old men who registered from the King county poor farm."

That one sentence could be used as the starting point for a novel, a long treatise on American economic conditions or a dissertation on the whimsicality of the sardonic fates.

The thought of that group from the poor farm sticks in one's mind. It is tragic and fascinating.

Thirty years ago those 16 men were young and ambitious. They made their way north to the fabled Klondike at a time when it seemed possible for any industrious, stout-hearted prospector to become a millionaire. The river beds and mountains of the far arctic region seemed fairly bursting with gold. Before the eyes of every one of these 16 beyond a doubt, there dangled a bright vision of future riches.

But the end for each one of them was the poor farm.

It would be hard to read of them without feeling pity for them. Yet it is possible that they do not need pity as much as we imagine.

For why, after all, do men go to the dark corners of the earth to join in gold rushes? To get rich? Partly, but that is not all of it. There is a challenge in things like the Klondike gold rush. The old pioneer saying—"the cowards never came, and the weak ones died along the way"—applied with great force to the trail of '98.

The man who went to the Klondike, lived there amid its incredible rigors, and came out alive, had been tested as few men are tested. He had lived more intensely than his stay-at-home fellow-workers ever live in a century.

And that is the main thing. Men do not want riches nearly so much as they want to be living. These 16 men and, having had it, are richer than many a man who looks on them with pity.

"I have been in the real estate business in Twin Falls for 21 years, and al-no period during that entire time have I known of such a great demand for houses to rent," a local realtor said the other day. He went on to state that his demands from prospective customers amounted to between 10 and 15 daily.
 The supply is very limited. Maybe you need more houses.

The pheasants should be thriving might well during these days of harvest.

 THE WORLD TURNS TO ELKO

The eyes of the world turned toward Elko's already creating a new alpine Sierran papers for particulars of the flight buzzed into Elko; New Flight asked to be protected on one of the most interesting of the day.

Here is a flight which is being undertaken under serious handicaps; its purpose is to determine whether or not transcontinental commercial routing flights are feasible. If the conditions remain as they were in Elko there is no doubt but that Captain Eaker and Lieutenant Bernard Thompson will be successful in their endeavor.

But their success will depend entirely upon their own ability. Every person connected with the flight in any way must do his or her part to make the flight successful. It is the conditions re-

CASSIA COUNTY
ROPEERS STORES
CHANGE OWNERS

Of more than passing interest is the announcement made Friday by William Roger, of Moscow, president of the Cassia county ropers' stores to the effect that the stores of Rupert and Burley, Idaho, are to be sold to the chain of associated stores. Wil-

 George H. Jones, who have long been long associated with the ropers' institutions—will remain in charge of the stores as active managers of the business.

 perience of the Snake river valley.

 of those progressive types of citizens who is always ready to work for the welfare of the community and his many friends are glad to know that he is still to remain in charge of the business.

FALL TERM BEGINS:
 Day Session, September 3rd Night Session, September 5th Mondays and Thursday, 7:00 to 9:00

A cultural college course is splendid if you can afford it—but the market is weak for algebra, ancient history and poetry.

If you want an education that will help you to earn a living—that you can sell to an employer for cash returns—then take a secretarial course at Gregg Business College.

Many times, one year with us brings more salary than four years at the university.

Specialization of the essential in our course. We have more skill-competent office help than we can fill.

A course at Gregg Business College does not mean that you will remain a bookkeeper or stenographer the rest of your life. It is only a ladder which you can climb to a position of your own choice. It is a ladder in line of business. Practically all the great business men of the United States have taken a course in some business college.

FIGHTS IN CITY TO START SOON

The prize fight game in Twin Falls will be revived on or about September 15, when a match between Duncan Johnston of the American Legion post today. There is to be a boxing card at Nevada stadium, September 16 and Mr. Johnston does not believe a fight in Twin Falls before September 20 would be a successful venture.

Considerable work must be done before the next fight is staged here. The card will almost have to be held indoors and the big question of WHERE arises. Mr. Johnston does not care to stage fights in the old market place, but he has done last year. There is a possibility that the big warehouse of Shipman brothers may be used as a fight arena. The bleacher seats are now at the J. J. coin-laid park and will have to be moved to the arena, when one is selected.

The matter of picking fighters for the next card is now attracting the attention of the match-maker, who (reluctantly) entertains a match between Bud Walters and an opponent whose name is not for release at this time. Mr. Johnston's "winning" suggestions from the fans as to what they think would be a good card and a paper date for holding it.

H. B. Walter presided over the session on the subject of Mr. Walters was one of the Walter Brothers' company, breeders of "Furber" brand of heavy-duty tires and "Furber" brand of heavy-duty tires were well-dispatched.

There's a race did not go off with extraordinary vim, although there were some quite interesting contests. The "Furber" racing tires, with a winter at each quarter, was also a feature but the "Furber" tires did not do so well as the "Furber" tires.

So apparently, the Twin Falls county fair of 1929, which will be held on the Blue Lake grounds September 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1935.

The Strangest Legend in the Tire Business

MAYBE the fellow who started it was up against it for a sales argument. Maybe he despaired of putting over his proposition against the better merchandise of competition on the basis of values alone. At any rate, he sprung it on the unsuspecting customer and other fellows in his same fix, doubtless picked it up as a good line and passed it along. And so we have today the strangest legend in the tire business, that time-worn misstatement "All tires are about alike."

Of course it isn't true or all tires would give about equal service and be about equally popular. One thing about it, however, is significant—you never hear a Goodyear user say it.

He knows from personal experience that no tire in the world is like a Goodyear Tire and in his enthusiasm he doesn't hesitate to say so.

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose the leading manufacturers of motor cars use more Goodyear Tires for original equipment than any other kind?

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose the cost-wary owners of the great truck fleets of industry use more Goodyear Tires than any other kind?

If "all tires are about alike" why do you suppose it is true this year as for fourteen years past that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind?

THERE'S only one acceptable answer to questions like these, and that is, Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in quality and value, and informed tire buyers know it. That is why the percentage of gain in sales of Goodyear Tires last year was nearly three times the percentage of gain in sales recorded for the whole entire industry. That is why Goodyear, although one of the youngest of the big rubber manufacturers, has grown to be the largest rubber company in the world.

NO, good friend, "all tires are NOT ALIKE," as you will learn to your profit when you try Goodyear Tires. And since Goodyear Tires cost little if anything more to buy than other tires, why not improve the opportunity and try them right away?

SOVIET DEMANDS

China has raised claims against the United States, since they broke off diplomatic relations.

Nanking, after weeks of private negotiations, finally has agreed to the Russian demand that the railroad be restored to its status prior to its seizure by the Chinese government, before the soviet will be willing to settle the dispute by arbitration.

Significantly, China has agreed to a conference with an eye to the provision in the 1921 Manchurian agreement giving China the right to purchase the road at a future date.

Sam Parrish is putting in a new bean polisher in his warehouse in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, this week. Monday he will be out of the county.

Madison has raised claims against New Wiler, his average crop is six hundred pounds an acre.

Olson Crop Promising
 It is thought to be a field of 20 acres of onions. From this field he harvested 500 bushels of onions an acre last year. The crop this year is as good as last year.

Thackeray Wins
 Thackeray has won the prize for best farm, being the building of a "New Farm" this week.

The board of the city hall has arrived, and a foundation is being prepared for it in the basement of the building.

Roy Fall, a contractor and planing mill man, was in Twin Falls, Friday concluding a contract to build apartment house in Hull to cost $30,000.

W. M. Olin, a contractor and planing mill man, was in Twin Falls, Friday to take a look at the well drilling operations there.

The Hull bank gave their third account for the month last Thursday. The bank has not failed to fill every engagement. This bank will play at the county fair next week.
