U. S. OPPOSES REQUEST DISARMAMENT DELAY

ENGLAND IS DISARMING NOW, CLAIM

Northcliffe Declares the Navy Is Rotting Because Upkeep Expenses Too High.

NEW YORK, July 23—Britain is ready is disarming, without waiting for the Washington conference, Viscount Northcliffe declared upon his arrival here today on the Aquitania.

Northcliffe said he believed the proposed disarmament parley to be of the utmost importance to the peace of the world.

"But we already are disarming" he added, "Many of our warships are idle. Out of Southampton there is a long row of them, rotting. We are spending such a small sum on the navy that these ships cannot be kept up. Our navy personnel is now 10,000 below the peace establishment of January 1914. There are but 350,000 British soldiers throughout the world and this includes territorials and all branches of the service."

Discussing the Irish situation, Northcliffe said:

"I think it is going very well. Of course, a quarrel that has lasted 700 years, cannot be settled in seven days. There probably will be some more traditional fights. There always have been."

Northcliffe said he believed the Ulster parliament would be permanent under the peace settlement. He also stated that under the proposed settlement, Ireland could charge duty on goods imported from England.

"That would be about the same as Long Island charging duty on goods imported from New York," he added.

Northcliffe revealed the decision of calling De Valera to London for a parley with Lloyd George had been made decision since last November. Herself he said, was not gone through with, however, until De Valera convinced the British that he could enforce a truce if one were to be declared. The Irish settlement, he added, is being drawn along lines as suggested by the Northcliffe newspapers a year ago.

BABE IN WOODS

POCATELLO, July 23.—The two-year-old son of Mrs. Ethel Johnson, McCoy district school teacher, wandered away from home Thursday morning and was lost in the woods for 20 hours without food or drink.

A searching party of 150 people took on the search Thursday evening and found the child Friday evening. The lad strayed one and a half miles, climbing two barbed fences. Except for scratches, the held was unhurt.

Twin Falls in Lead of Earth Pamphlet Shows

That Twin Falls county leads the world in the production of sugar beets and sugar production, having a maximum yield of more than twice the highest in Europe, is shown in a pamphlet compiled by Charles H. Thomas. The leadership of this state and county in other agricultural products is also shown.

Mr. Thomas shows that E. F. Lindemeyer raised 22 tons to the acre on his farm near Kimberly, setting a world record. Twin Falls county produced 11,200 pounds of sugar.

The highest production of any one acre in Europe was 4800 pounds, while the average for Europe is 4000. In other words the highest Sandmeyer acre yielded about two and one-fifth times as much as the highest European acre.

Mr. Thomas shows that alfalfa yields four times as much as the average European acre. Sandmeyer sold the beets at $10 a ton getting $400 for the best acre and an average of $350 for the field of 100 acres.

The data shows that Twin Falls County has not Idaho by itself, but the list agriculturally speaking. The state ranks first in alfalfa and clover seed production, second in potatoes, barley and hay, and third in wheat, and beans. It controls 70 per cent of the Union alfalfa seed in the world. Twin Falls leads the world record in production of clover and alfalfa seeds, the highest known being that of E. E. Culver of Buhl, who last year produced 32 bushels and two pounds of alfalfa seed on an acre. The average for this acre was 20 bushels and 20 pounds. The average clover seed yield for the county is 3.5 bushels while for the United States it is but 1.8 bushels.

Postal Service Plans Wireless Phone System for All Farmers

WASHINGTON, July 23.—R. B. Howell, national republican committeeman from Nebraska, now is preparing to travel in Germany, the postoffice department announced today, to study for Postmaster General Hays the practicability of putting a wireless telephone receiving station on every American farm.

Hays and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace want to utilize the air mail service wireless as the basis for a government news bulletin service. Howell, chairman of a committee appointed to work out plans for the service now is studying the facilities of the air mail transcontinental wireless system which includes 10 stations.

Members of the committee believe that for less than $50 every farmer can install a wireless receiving set which will enable him to listen in every day as the airmail service flashes out news of the world. The plans include the installation of big wave amplifiers at the air mail service wireless stations. With these amplifiers each day at a given hour, market bulletins, market quotations and weather reports would be broadcasted over the United States.

CEMENT MIXER CRUSHES THE PLANT CHIEF

Wallace Graham of Warren Construction Co. Hurt as Result of Misunderstanding

Caught between the hopper and the skipper of the cement mixer of the Warren Construction company, Wallace Graham, aged 32, plant foreman for the company at Hanson, was seriously crushed in the chest and back at 10:45 o'clock this morning when, owing to a misunderstanding, the engineer started the machinery while Graham was repairing it. Graham was brought to La Marced hospital where he is now conscious but suffering much pain. Unless he has suffered internal injuries which have not been discovered, it is believed he will recover.

Graham was fixing the machinery and the engineer certainly knew that he was and assumed that everything was all right when he turned on the power. The skiper, or large arm, caught Graham and crushed him against the hopper. He was rescued as quickly as possible from his perilous position.

Graham is a single man. He has two brothers here, both in the service of the Warren Construction company.

Jarbidge Work Goes Steadily and Well, Says Manager Perry

"We are going along steadily, developing at Jarbidge," said O. H. Perry of New York, manager of the Elko-Nixon company, today. "And there is nothing special to report. Things are getting along well there. I am on my way out to Jarbidge and will return in a few days. I will then go to the northwest and to Alaska."

Asked if there were anything new in the power situation of Jarbidge worth noting after his conference yesterday, with State Superintendent R. B. King of the Idaho Power company, Mr. Perry said that there was not. Power improvements were simply incidents of the general work of the company and there was nothing special to report at present.

Mr. Perry said that business conditions in New York were unsatisfactory. There were signs of light breaking, but the sentiment among business men was rather pessimistic. He said he was unable to comment on the world situation and its possible settlement, as he was not close enough in touch with it for the past few months.

SEEK MISSING EVIDENCE

CHICAGO, July 23—State authorities today were making every effort to locate the waivers of immunity signed by three "black sox" players when they made their alleged confessions of playing a part in "fixing" the 1919 world series.

The last witness on the stand in the case against the seven former White Sox stars and four alleged gamblers was Hartley Replogle, who was assistant state's attorney during the grand jury investigation of the baseball scandal.

Replogle testified that Cicotte, Jackson and Williams signed statements admitting their guilt and signed immunity waivers.

It was discovered the waivers were missing following Replogle's testimony. The alleged admission statements by the three defendants are also missing.

The "black sox" trial, which was not in session today, will be resumed Monday.

COMPANY LETS CITY HAVE ITS OWN LAMP PLAN

Idaho Power Manager Yields to Arguments of the Council; Means Big Saving.

Complete acquiescence in the position of the city resulted from a meeting of the city council with the Idaho Power company last night in regard to the new lighting system and work will proceed at once in the installation of 250 candle power lights in conformity to the demands of the city council.

This will mean a saving of approximately $640 a year. While it may be possible that the city will later install larger lights, this will be done at the expense of the company, if at all. Considering the present state of finances it was felt that the city could not be asked to pay more than the larger lights been installed. It would have been impossible for the city to get the size and the consequent expense reduced, should these remain light and should the public utilities commission order a substantial raise in rates as a result of the hearing of a subsequent hearing. Hence, the unanimous sentiment of the council was in favor of putting in smaller lights and retaining the privilege of installing the larger one later, should the situation warrant.

L. D. S. Celebrates Pioneer Day With Program Near Buhl

Pioneer Day of the L. D. S. is being celebrated at Clear Lakes near Buhl today, all members of the church and their friends living this side of the river have been on hand and an excellent program has been arranged.

The celebration is under the auspices of the Twin Falls Stake of the L. D. S. church and consists of five wards that extend from Kimberly to Buhl. The Twin Falls Mutual board are making arrangements for the various kinds of entertainment. There will be games and boating, a patriotic program, a dance and dancing. The first games began at 9 o'clock in the morning and there will be a long succession of events till the dancing starts in the evening. Prof. J. H. Price has charge of the music. At noon a big basket dinner will be served.

The L. D. S. organization north of the river will celebrate Pioneer Day on Monday, July 25.

Another Minister Forsakes Wife for 19-Year Blond

PORTLAND, Ore., July 23.—Rev. H. Royston, Methodist minister, confesses in the county jail here today in default of $1,000 bail. He was bound over to the grand jury yesterday under charges of violating the Mann act.

Presly Miss Frankie Edwards, the girl in the case, had left her home in Texas, her friends having found and put up her $500 bail.

Royston is alleged to have forsaken his wife and children in Texas and two children and Frankie's aged grandmother's home one June night, in response, as the girl declared, to a letter he had left behind, wherein he was told that Miss Edwards was his soul mate.

They fled from their Salem homes and finally the pair, still wandering arm in arm through northern Oregon and into Washington, where officers arrested them and returned them to Salem.

ITALY FACES CABINET FALL DUE HORRORS

Fascisti-Communist Knifing Causes Violent Upheaval Among Legislative Wings.

ROME July 23.—The fascisti-communist horrors in Sarzana today threatened overthrow of the present Italian cabinet.

As a result of the state of position the moderate groups have decided to vote against the cabinet of premier Giolitti.

This leaves no its only faithful supporters the popular and reformists group which will probably not give it the majority necessary to existence, it was believed.

Reports today from the fight arena stated that twenty had been killed and at least thirty wounded.

Dispatches from Sarzana described the murder of wounded fascisti by communist orderlies carrying surgeon's knives. The dispatches stated they knifed their victims as they lay painfully prostrated on the ground where they had fallen in fighting.

Just before adjournment of the chamber of deputies early today the "knifing" report was read. Scarpitti Lupo, enraged at the horrors of the report, leaped upon the platform and cried:

"These murderers are worse than cannibals. Can we still talk peace? The government must—we do not know what will happen!"

IRISH OPPOSE LATEST OFFER

Home Rule Plan Lacks Free Features of Other British Dominions.

DUBLIN, July 23.—Open opposition to acceptance of premier Lloyd George's Irish peace offer was expressed by Sinn Fein leaders here today.

It was predicted that barring new obstacles President De Valera would return to London within a fortnight—not to accept the plan in its present form.

The general sentiment of Sinn Fein leaders is that a resumption of hostilities is preferable to a possible dominion home rule which does not include the right to secede from the empire, to raise a separate army and which lacks any of the free features which comprise the constitutions of other dominions.

There appeared, however, one vital reason for hope. A sober sincerity holds both factions against reopening the old war wounds which everyone here believed would be a merciless fight to death.

There seems a sentiment here in Dublin that the Irish republican army has won its age old war.

HIGHWAY BOARD HOLDS BUSINESS IN MEETING

C. S. Shearer was awarded the contract for cutting in "coyote" holes at the county at a meeting of the highway district board today, at which Billy Wolf allowed and bids for the Gooding avenue road and the road east and south of Kimberly were opened.

Seven bids for each job had been received and opened when the board took a recess until after the delivery of the mail by carrier at 2 o'clock. Of those C. H. Mull was the lowest bidder on both contracts with the Hallnecke Construction company next. It was thought possible that other bids might come in on the mail.

TRUCK STRADDLES TRACKS CAUSING EXAMINED TRAIN

One of the big construction trucks which got off the road and died on the O. S. L. track just after noon caused the flagging of the west bound 1:10 o'clock passenger. The truck was worked off the track back onto the road without any damage being done.

Small Speaks in Defense and State Troops are Held Ready

CHICAGO, July 23.—The indicted governor of Illinois held a council of war today with Mayor William Hale Thompson, his political sponsor.

Abraham Lincoln Small, the state's chief executive charged with misuse of millions of dollars while serving as state treasurer, slipped into the city of refuge from Springfield to confer on how to resist arrest.

Small's visit to Chicago, his political stronghold, was unannounced.

He came surrounded by a vigilant body guard of three bodies.

Small was indicted for conspiracy, embezzlement and operating a confidence game by a grand jury at Springfield, the state capital.

The governor, by order of the court has three days of grace before a sheriff's posse will attempt to arrest him. On the first day, Small flew to the arms of Mayor Thompson and other political advisers.

It was generally speculated that Small and Thompson conferred on the advisability of calling out the state troops, if necessary, to prevent arrest.

Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson, in full uniform, made a hurried trip to Camp Lemay today where the militia is quartered. General Dickson, who has given the historic state house of Sangamon county a warlike aspect, has told the governor that "troops can be called out at a moment's notice."

"I have made and am making a fight in the interest of the people and against predatory interests, and in following that course, I have made powerful enemies," Governor Small said.

"My indictment is the result. My enemies are responsible for the Sangamon county grand jury indictment. They are at the head and front of this attempt to ruin me.

"Those who fight for the people, find the road hard, but I am going through. Those who could not control me would ruin me."

Small's conference with Chicago's mayor was dubbed "Thompson's last stand," by enemies of the powerful political machine.

The governor indicted comes on the heels of Thompson's recent repudiation by his own city council, which voted to investigate the lifting of high paid city experts. Several of Thompson's pet measures have been frowned upon of late by the aldermanic body.

Small late today carried his fight to the people. In his address at the Thompson plank at Riverside park, which voted his immediate release from state prison, he said:

"The attorney general and his whole gang, of character assassins and character defamers know I am innocent of the charges of the grand jury of Sangamon county, which is controlled by the most vicious ring in the state of Illinois," said Small.

Small attributed his indictment to his activity in curbing the moneyed interests. "It was a similar celebration of a year ago that Small announced his candidacy for governor and was seriously accalimed.

While Small was holding his war council in Chicago his attorneys at Springfield said if the governor submitted to arrest it would be a surrender of the executive powers to the judiciary and a violation of his oath of office.

NEW JUMP RECORD

HARVARD STADIUM, CAMBRIDGE Mass., July 23.—Ned Gourdin, Harvard's star negro athlete, broke the long standing world's record for the broad jump here today when he cleared 25 feet, 3 inches. The former record was 24 feet 11½ inches established by Patrick O'Connor of England in August, 1901.

FROWNS ON SUGGESTED DISCUSSION

Australian Premier Thinks the Pacific Thresh Out Is Advisable First.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The United States has informed the British government that it does not believe there should be any postponement of the disarmament and Pacific conference in Washington or that there should be an preliminary conference on the Pacific affairs in London, it was stated on high authority today.

LONDON, July 23—A conference to thresh out the Pacific problems should be arranged immediately, premier W. M. Hughes of Australia told the United Press in an exclusive interview here today. He urged that the meeting be held in London within three weeks.

Japan's need of room for expansion must be recognized fully at this conference to insure its success, he declared.

"There can be no disarmament until the need for armament no longer exists," Hughes said. "From this, it follows that until the vital problems of the Pacific have been settled by agreement between the three great naval powers, disarmament or limitation of armament is impossible."

NEW YORK, July 23—"Japan's position in the Far East is no less special than that of the United States on this hemisphere," said Hoshio Mitsusuma, president of Nippon Dempo Tsushin Sha, in an address delivered at a dinner in his honor last night given by W. W. Hawkins, president of the United Press.

Prominent publishers and newspaper correspondents representing newspapers in all parts of the country attended.

Dwelling on Japan's position in the Far East Mitsusuma added that it is important to remember that Japan's position there was "special, not paramount or predominant."

"Therefore," he said, "Japan must exercise the most prudent reserve in respect to any policy which might subject the Orient to the risk of the very thing we all oppose—absolutism. Japan looks for open co-operation and not for opportunity to impose her will."

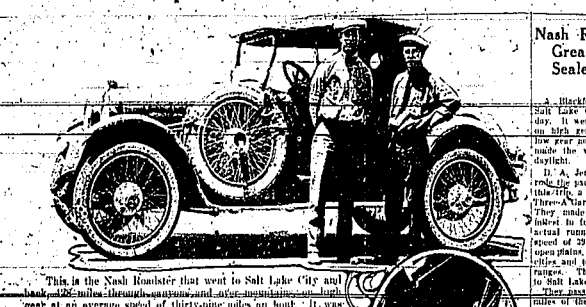
C. SNOW AND W. B. BRONSON ARE HELD TO COURT

Snow's Bail Aggregates $14,000 While That of Bronson Is $10,000.

Clarence Snow was bound over by Justice Lamb at Hansen this morning under $7,000 bail to the case against him for the alleged robbery of Mike Nellson in Buhl on May 7 and into similar amount for bound over on the robbery of Frank Ambrose and Tom Tripp at their residence in the Rock Creek canyon in this city a couple of weeks before. W. B. Bronson was bound over in the sum of $5,000 in each case.

The hearing for the Twin Falls robbery followed the Nellson hearing yesterday. The testimony was substantially the same as that anticipated in the Times after the arrest. Bronson and Snow took the stand for the defense. He said he and Snow came down from Hansen and met Snow here. Someone who worked at the rock crusher met them overhead and say "Ambrose is afraid of the banks and always has a wad on him." It was decided to rob him Bronson said, but none of them had any guns. Finally, they asked O. H. Smith's brother-in-law of Jones, where Ambrose lives. He told them and they went down. Bronson said he pulled the wad of $20 from Ambrose. Armed with a search warrant Deputy Sheriffs Ormsby and Hamilton last evening visited the residence of Smith in Jerome, where they found a room, and found a Mauser watch similar to the one described the testimony yesterday by Mrs. Ambrose as belonging to her husband. On a previous occasion, she said, she asked Mrs. Frank Jones, who lives on a neighboring ranch, if she wanted to find a watch like that.

Record Trip to Salt Lake and Return On Tuesday



This is the Nash Roadster that went to Salt Lake City and back 426 miles through canyons and over mountains on high gear at an average speed of thirty-nine miles an hour. It was the Nash roadster that ran from Blackfoot to Salt Lake in 9 hours and 20 minutes on high gear without making a stop.

It was the Nash Roadster that crossed the Bear River canyon at Fielding and climbed the steep grades on high gear where they were so crooked that it was impossible to rush the grades — so crooked that it had to be confined to a ten-mile speed to make the short curves.

It was the Nash roadster that carried two men from Blackfoot to Salt Lake and return between breakfast and supper, in 10 hours and 30 minutes of actual running time.

It was the Nash Roadster that beat the telegram from Salt Lake into Malad and had time to observe the traffic rules in Ogden and to stop at five points to direct a woman who had lost her road.

It was the Nash Roadster that started up high gear, drove the speedometer to the end of its sweep and came in on its own power at 45 miles an hour from a round trip of 428 miles.

Nash Roadster Makes Great Trip While Sealed in High Gear

A Blackfoot automobile went to Salt Lake City and back the same day. It went on its own power and on high gear. It did not start on low gear at any intermediate point and it made the whole trip both ways in daylight.

H. A. Jenkins and Harry Cooper took the names of several but made this trip, a Nash Roadster, from the Three-A Garage on North Main street. They made the round trip of 426 miles in ten hours and 30 minutes actual running time, or an average speed of 39 miles an hour over the open plains, through canyons, through cities and towns and over mountain ranges. They ran from Blackfoot to Salt Lake without a stop.

They passed through more than 70 miles of the Portneuf canyon; they crossed over a spur of the Wasatch range into the Malad valley and they negotiated the steep slope from the Malad valley into the Bear river canyon at Fielding, where they had to ascend a steep-crooked grade to get upon the bench land again. On this very steep grade with a rise of about 50 feet in the perpendicular were sharp curves where they had to reduce the speed to ten miles an hour going up steep from acute angle grade at the turns, as it brought the car down to honest nothing.

The Nash roadster made this trip on twenty-four gallons of gasoline and two quarts of oil added during the run, feeding off eighteen miles per gallon of gasoline and doing all its climbing of grades on the high gear.

Fan Belt Broke.

On the return trip the fan belt broke at Fort Hall and the motor-meter indicated a rise of temperature when the fan stopped working. Jenkins shut down the speed to 45 miles an hour (they were making 60) and they coasted over the hills. They lifted the hood and poured more oil into the engine, closed the hood and coasted into the car, still speeding 45 miles an hour. They ran into Blackfoot without the aid of the fan.

Car Beat the Mails.

The Nash roadster left the mails and for a while it looked as if it would beat a telegram. They left Salt Lake City at 12:00 and a telegram sent to the Three "A" Garage in Blackfoot, Idaho, announcing their departure on the return trip was not delivered till they were on the Malad valley with in two hours ride of home, having covered more than half of the distance.

No Shifting of Levers.

The Nash roadster made the round trip of 426 miles without the use of the shift lever. Before the car left Blackfoot it was put in high gear, the lever taken off and the shift sealed with wax so that it had to start in high gear and run in high gear all the way. The shift was sealed at Blackfoot throughout the day and the Nash roadster with its passengers registered at the office of the Pacific Nash Motor company at Salt Lake at 10:20 in the morning, after having left Blackfoot at 5 a. m.

How It Came About.

This trip was the result of a challenge. H. A. Jenkins is a happy believer in the Nash cars, and he bought this roadster and made the boast that he could drive it to Salt Lake City on high gear. He also boasted that he could drive it to Salt Lake and back between breakfast and supper. Of course, nobody believed he could do it unless he avoided all the steep hills and at a scandalously early breakfast and a fashionably late supper.

Harry Cooper, the mechanic at the Three "A" Garage, shared Jenkins' belief that the Nash might do the trick and he undertook to help make the trial. They left the Three "A" Garage at Blackfoot at 5 o'clock in the morning and got back at seven minutes after 6 the same day.

A Superior Engine

Jenkins car has the wire wheels weighs 2500 pounds and is equipped with front tires that are 33x4 and rear tires that are 35x5. this over size giving greater speed at the expense of power. Mr. Jenkins believed that the engine in the Nash had such superior power that he could place it at this much disadvantage as to pulling power and yet climb the Fielding grades out of Bear river canyon and he was right. They did not have to stop on the grade for gas or oil and push. It carried both men every foot of the way.

Observed Traffic Rules.

Of course they had to observe the traffic rules. At Blackfoot they could not cross a street or round a corner at more than eight miles an hour, and most of the towns and villages along the way have an 18-to 15-mile speed limit. Those who saw them leaving Blackfoot are said to have turned their backs. Those who saw them going through some of the other towns did not see clearly just what it was, so they might not well have had their backs turned. Coming back through Ogden they watched the speedometer because there was a speed cop watching them. At Five Points just above Malad a woman in the road signaled them and they stopped. She wanted some information about the road and they gave it to her.

They Said Little.

At Malad they stopped 30 minutes to pour some oil and also got the Three "A" Garage on the phone. Robert Osborn answered the phone and on being asked if they had received the telegram announcing them out of Salt Lake on the return trip, Robert replied that they had not, but in about 20 minutes such a telegram was delivered. They were then on the top of the range coming over into Marsh valley and in another two hours they stood in the Three "A" Garage in Blackfoot.

The Air Was Light.

One interesting feature of the trip was that the front tires were given only 45 pounds of air and the rear tires, the oversized ones, were given only 35 pounds. They had no tire trouble on the trip and did nothing to the car at Salt Lake excepting to look it over and give it oil and gas. They did not test the air. It seemed to be standing up all right, the tires were not too low and it carried them back with no accident excepting the breaking of the fan belt, which the Nash Company sent 5000 miles. They had a new one in the car, but were so near home when the break came that they did not want to lose any time putting it on.

If You Doubt It.

If anyone doubts that these gentlemen actually made the trip to Salt Lake as represented, they can get a two-to-one bet by calling at the Three "A" Garage, where Jenkins and Cooper will take you on and do it again.—Adv.

ANOTHER FEUD VICTIM.

CHICAGO, July 23.—The "bloody nineteenth ward" political feud claimed its 4 victim today. Andrew Ortolano, close friend of "Tony" D'Andea, political leader who was shot recently, was found murdered in his automobile. He had been shot six times in the back.

White Trucks

Constant Service Pays Big Dividends

QUANTITY and Quality of truck service cannot be purchased at a low price. You have the choice of buying trucks built to sell at a price—or buying trucks built to defy wear and tear, which are necessarily higher in cost.

Where White Trucks are used in mixed fleets you will find them selected for the longest hauls, the heaviest loads and the roughest routes.

Think it over, and you will decide that you prefer to pay for quantity and quality of service that you can be absolutely sure of.

Do not handicap yourself by trying to use trucks that will not stand the strain of constant service. Do not experiment by tinkering with inferior hauling machinery.

New Speed Record Set As Banks Beat Moose, 4 to 3, in 55 Minutes

Unusually Fast Game Is Not Settled Until Final Inning When Both Teams Pull Rallies and Banks Finally Break Up Tie Score.

Team Standing

Legion	6	2	.750
Elks	5	3	.625
U.S. State	4	4	.500
Banks	3	6	.333
Electric	3	6	.333
Moose	2	7	.222

It remained for the Moose and the Bankers last night to stage not only one of the tightest, but likewise far the swiftest pastimes that Lincoln park has experienced in this or any other season. The Moose and the Banks are champions of the league with a record of 55 minutes for the other clubs to shoot at. The Banks won it, 4 to 3, but the above put up the game of your life. The customers who forgot to attend have been kicking themselves all day today after finding out what happened. That's the way with this league. You never know, when something is going to pop.

There is a disposition to blame Umps Pep Goldwater again for this flashlight baseball. Pep was turning the camera and he certainly speeded up the reel. The boys were going around like one of these comic movies that has been reared up above the 35th into fertile.

Riley Miller, for the Moose, opposed a new pup named Petzold, in one of the skinniest hitting affairs yet hung out to dry. They went neck and neck into the last half of the last inning, when after the Moose had knotted the count, the Banks stepped up and untied it. There was much yipping from the sidelines all the while.

Miller really messed up his own game, after saving it. It was in the first half of the seventh with none down. Halsey on third and Riley on first. Miller hammered a long drive to the left field fence. Halsey scored and Riley went clear to third but Miller pulled up in right, after his double second. Hybarger's sacrifice fly scored Riley and tied the score at 3 all. Miller advanced to third. Then came the play that lost the game. Davis popped a fly and Miller raced in from third, blithely, without a thought for the ball. He was doubled at third, ending the side.

Thus the run that the Bankers put over in the last half won the game. This time, Halsey, the Moose catcher, was partly responsible. With two out and Yochem on second, Halsey pegged to catch him napping. The throw went wild and Jakie hopped along to third. He scored on Kimes' single.

The Bankers took a powerful lead in the second inning, when they scored three unearned runs as the result of a Moose fielding accession. Lindville, Thomiea and Wahl spiked the platter in this session.

The Moose refused to quit, however, and kept plugging away. In the fifth Hybarger hit himself on and worked around for a score. This gave the Moose the idea that they could do something with Petzold and in the seventh they tied it up. After the two runs had been made off Petzold, Speed Newman took the box and stopped the Moose.

After the third Miller kept the Bankers locked up in a vault until the slip in the last inning. He struck out seven, passed none and hit none.

NOTES OF THE GAME

This only way to keep from missing the good ones, is to take 'em all in.

55 minutes was all the boys used to play the full 7 innings.

The fastest game of the season. The first 6 innings were played in 41 minutes.

Only a handful of fans present but they got their money's worth.

The Banks used a youngster named Petzold, who claims he lives at Carey, and he did well well for an infant. The sports, is that he and Barney Oldfield pulled together for years and "Petz" sure showed speed in the box. He and the umps worked fine as far as hurrying up was concerned.

In the sixth inning he showed that even the umps was slow. The first man up for the Moose struck at the first one, and then [illegible] to shortstop. Pep was thinking out loud that this man hit to short but "Speed" Newman took the ball and whipped it to first for the second out. While the umps was getting back from first and Newman heading for third, "Hurry Up" Petzold threw to the next batter—and he the first batter to reach for the third out. The summary of this inning shows that "Hurry Up" threw but four balls, caught the umps asleep and consumed just 2 minutes and 47 seconds for the inning.

And now we come to our old friend "T Bone" Miller, who sneaked them over for the "Moosers." "T Bone" pitched a nice game and should have won it, but he has no one to blame but himself. "T Bone" gave us a pretty a demonstration of what NOT to do when running the bases as we have ever seen. Miller is one of those "fellers" that will never get thrown out trying to stretch a hit. He was doubled twice yesterday while trying to runion fly balls. Better luck next time, Riley, as we know that you can do 'em.

Monday the I. D. and Elks cross bats and I look for a real game.

Heard that Buhl still thinks that they can beat us and want to play us a series of five games. Well, I'm satisfied. When I was a kid (years ago) they used to say that "a burnt child dreads the fire." But the west enders have changed it to "If at first we get burned, let's get burned some more."

Say, Orwig, now about that Jerome game for next Thursday!

Looks like rain and I must get home before I get wet. See you all Monday.

WATCHING THE SCORE BOARD

Yesterday's heroes—Doak and Grimes hit homers in the ninth inning, driving in four runs that gave the Cubs a 5 to 1 victory over the Phillies.

The Pirates and Braves divided a double bill, Hamilton gave the Braves a 6 to 1 victory in the first game when he walked Hoike with the bases filled in the tenth inning. The second went fourteen innings, the Pittsburgh winning 4 to 3 on Bigbee's single, a passed ball and Carey's single.

Brooklyn strengthened the hold on fourth place by trimming the Cards twice in succession, 6 to 5. Walter Heather finished the game.

The Reds mauled Phil Douglas and Cecil Algernon Causey, while Luque was holding the Giants safe all the way and they won, 11 to 2.

BURNS GETTING EVEN

CHICAGO, July 22.—Bill Burns disclosed here today that he turned states evidence against the "black sox" because they double crossed him during the fake 1919 world series.

"They promised me to lose the third game, and they double crossed me on the two," said Burns.

"I lost money on the game and was not going to be the "fall guy."

Burns made the statement during cross examination by Benedict Short, one of the attorneys for the defense.

"Are you taking malicious satisfaction in seeing these players sent to the penitentiary?" shouted Short.

"I am getting even," said Burns.

"Do you think you are even with them yet?" asked the attorney.

"Not yet," smiled Burns.

Attracted by shots, a large crowd of civilians gathered around the walls of the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary, in Pittsburg, recently, when a prisoner escaped from the prison shops. This picture shows the crowd at the corner of the prison wall, guards and guard houses, and a fire engine which helped to extinguish the flames that partially destroyed six buildings of the institution.

BALL PLAYER DISAPPEARS

OMAHA, Neb., July 22.—No word had been found today of Paul Musser, Wichita pitcher and former big leaguer, made defendant in a $10,000 breach of promise suit yesterday by Helen Tomlinson who claims Musser is the father of her child born July 2 last. Manager Joe Berger of the Wichita club said Musser did not come here with the team.

With the Wichita and Omaha teams fighting for the lead in a "crucial" series, Berger said every effort was being made by the Wichita management to settle the case out of court so Musser could pitch one game of a double header Sunday.

TIMES CHANGE WITH GIBBONS FAMILY TITLE

Mike No Longer Able to Cuff Tommy Around; Youngster Hits Too Hard

NEW YORK, July 22.—Big brother who used to lord it over the kid of the family can sympathize with Mike Gibbons.

Mike used to be the big boss of his brother Tom, but things are all changed now.

Tom's chief claim to fame used to rest in being the brother of the famous Mike. Now Mike is known as the brother of the famous Tom.

Mike, the "mild phantom" his training for a rather inferior bout with Angel Harper, Tom is reported ready for a crack at the light-heavyweight championship, and higher against Georges Carpentier.

"Before we knew anything about gloves I used to have it all over Tom," Mike said here today. "He was just a little fellow and I could cuff him around whenever I wanted—whenever fellow wasn't looking.

"Then I started boxing and as Tom took to size, the gloves gave him a chance to fight even and he started to learn the game. But he didn't get along very fast. He learned how to box but he didn't develop enough punch to hurt me. I could easily avoid anything he tried to give me.

"But Tom grew bigger, he became a better boxer and he learned to hit. He has me with the gloves now, but don't want to stop anything that he doesn't pull.

Despite the reversal of conditions Mike is getting a lot of pride out of the rise of his brother and he boasts of hold you so.

"Several years back when I was going good, I told the sport writers that Tommy was going to get there some day soon, did I.

"If you've a little Tommy will beat a tiger and there is nothing perfect in my judgment. I know he is a fighter, will be hard to hit, a tough boxer and a harder hitter than the Frenchman."

Phantom Ships Land Big Cargoes of Rum

FAIRFIELD, Conn.—Mysterious ships, their hulls painted a dull grey, have been seen maneuvering off the Connecticut coast, it was reported here today.

Under cover of darkness, the vessels, discharged cargo after cargo of bottled goods and have succeeded in making this section the center of a gigantic booze traffic with operations extending throughout the East, according to the reports.

The vessels, which are of low cutter design, not more than 45 feet in length and with from 3 to 4 masts, were reported to operate on moonless nights with the aid of lanterns.

Scores of figures in oilskins, paddling rowboats, unload the cargoes from the vessels and pass it along to waiting trucks.

TARIFF ON SMALL SEEDS

BOISE, Idaho.—That the new tariff bill now before Congress carries an import duty on alfalfa, the clovers, timothy and sugar beet seed was indicated in a wire received from Representative Addison T. Smith, according to D. F. Sheehan, State Seed Commissioner.

The passage of the new tariff bill which includes an import duty of two cents per pound on alfalfa and, per cent on sugar beet seed will be a final protection to Idaho small seed growers" said Mr. Sheehan.

"Idaho's representative in Washington have been especially fortunate to have inserted in the new bill import duties on these seeds. Our state is especially adapted to the production of some of the finest quality seeds to be found on the market. Small seed production is one of the farmer's most profitable industries. Heretofore we could not hope to compete with Germany, who have been able to ship these seeds in our ports cheaper than our growers can produce.

"With the low exchange rate there for a natural incentive for the foreign countries to ship large quantities of their seeds to the United States. As a consequence there are today large carry-over stocks of foreign seeds. The import duty is the term seed growers only protection and our Washington representative have been very fortunate in securing this protection."

Some very fine roads will soon be completed running into Twin Falls within the next few weeks and this city will be much more accessible to the public. It is high time that people of this community should begin to realize something for their heavy taxes. Let's hope that the future will bring forth better results than the past.

PROVE THE GUILT, PUNISH THE GUILTY

According to Chairman Lasker of the new shipping board, President Harding was amazed and distressed when the facts as to the financial chaos in the shipping board were laid before him.

Amazement and distress are hardly strong enough words to express the feelings of the nation's long-suffering and over-burdened taxpayers.

The situation as disclosed by Lasker makes a chapter in governmental history which for stupidity, recklessness, inefficiency and utter disregard of the public interest, is without precedent.

Whether or not the element of downright dishonesty is also present, Lasker does not say. But he gets pretty close to it when he makes this significant statement: "The books of the board are not, in a commercial sense, books at all. If a purposeful effort had been made to keep the books so as to cheat and defraud congress and the country, they could have been kept in no very different manner."

Hundreds of millions of dollars of loss to the country are involved in the financial wreck.

Systematic and persistent deception of the public and congress by officials and employes of the shipping board is a feature of the tragic situation, which in some aspects is the worst of all.

For example, when congress appropriated the sum sum of $499,000,000 for the old shipping board for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, it was told that that covered the board's operations. As a matter of fact the cost of these operations was $880,000,000, nearly four times as much.

The vast sum of nearly $900,000,000 has got to be made up this year, at a time when every effort of the government is being directed toward economy.

Lasker very charitably absolves certain officials of the old shipping board from blame for the bookkeeping system on the ground that "the system has been in use from the start, begun under war pressure and continued in incompetence."

Well, if the officials of the old shipping board are not responsible for continuing an inadequate war system for nearly three years after the war ended, who is responsible?

That is what the tax-paying public wants to know.

It is obvious that the responsibility for this reckless, if not criminal waste of public money lies somewhere.

"Let's have a congressional investigation," did we hear somebody suggest?

For goodness sake, stop us such a farce as that! A congressional investigation would mean that at the end of a year or so we would get a partisan report which would be absolutely ineffective.

This seems to be a case which calls for investigation and action by a federal grand jury.

If there has been crime, the criminals must be found and punished.

If there has been merely recklessness, carelessness and stupidity, the least that can be done is to drive the reckless, careless and stupid from the public service.

BLONDS SUFFER MOST

Blonds suffer more than brunets from summer heat, says a Twin Falls doctor. The reason? Because blonds belong in the cold north, brunets near the equator.

The brunets—from the cold-black African to the white-skinned Twin Falls person with dark hair and eyes—have in their skin a pigment called melanin, which protects them from the sun's blue actinic rays.

The blond type originated in northern Europe and Scandinavian countries where, not needing this melanin protection against solar heat, they never developed it. Hence they suffer most in sweltering summer.

Any workman will tell you that the coolest shirt is the black sateen—a brunet shirt. It insulates, keeps out the heat.

The color of your hair and eyes, scientists say, determines your character, disposition and degree of intelligence.

The tropical brunet, with his living growing on trees and obtainable without much effort, becomes sluggish, lazy. Lolling under the palms, he by nature is a dreaming thinker. That's why nearly every important philosophy and religion originated in or near the equatorial zone, mainly brunets.

The blond, natural inhabitant of the north, had to work harder for a living. That made him strong, running to the physical instead of the intellectual.

Time was, during the Ice Age, when all folks lived near the equator. Brunets, venturing north after the ice retreated, lost the melanin pigment which was no longer needed as protection against tropical suns. They became blonds. Also developed lung nostrils to warm the cold air before taking it into their lungs. In contrast to the sunk nose of the tropical brunet.

In the early stages of civilization, people left the cradle of the earth. Brunets stayed safely near the ample food and warm sun of the tropics and, meditating what their light-haired brothers were doing in the north, developed philosophies.

Norsemen, first to explore the unknown seas, were blonds—rovers and aggressive fighters.

That's why investigations by Dr. Orr Edson showed that 80 per cent of all modern sailors have light or blue eyes. It's also why so many polar explorers are blonds, with Scandinavian names.

With exception of albinos, there no longer is any civilized blond type in the pure state. So with brunets. In civilized nations every person is a mixture of blond and brunet.

The brunet retains his dark hair and eyes, but his swarthy face has become bleached. And the so-called blond—no matter how golden the hair, how blue the eyes—has something of the brunet temperament.

The preliminary work of blonds and brunets completed in the early stages of civilization, nature is merging the two to restore balance—a happy medium.

REGROUPING OF BUREAUS, PLAN

Harding to Recommend a Move to Secure Economy and Efficiency Gains.

WASHINGTON—President Harding is almost ready to submit to his cabinet a tentative scheme for regrouping of the government bureaus.

This plan is expected to include the following recommendations:

Creation of a department of public welfare.

Transfer of the prohibition enforcement machinery from the treasury department to the department of justice.

Consolidation of all secret service activities under the department of justice.

Re-location or possible splitting up of the bureau of fisheries.

The plan which is being drafted under President Harding's direction by Walter F. Brown will be revised by the cabinet and submitted to the joint congressional committee on reorganization which in turn will make additional changes and then introduce it in both houses of congress for further consideration.

The committee is giving serious consideration to the proposal to create a secretary of national defense who would head both the army and navy departments.

Expected opposition to this proposal may result in this plan being held in abeyance until a later date.

Consolidation of the air craft service is another reform which will be vigorously espoused by the president in the reorganization program. President Harding feels that the army and navy aviation activities overlap in many respects.

HEADLESS BODIES FOUND

JONESBORO, Ark., July 22.—The mystery surrounding the murder of an unidentified woman and a girl about 11 years old, whose nude and headless bodies were found last night was probed by a coroner's jury here today.

Hunters, stumbling through the dense undergrowth on the banks of a bayou, came upon the bodies. The head of the little girl was completely severed, and knife wounds pierced her body. The underbrush showed signs of a struggle.

Owing to the condition of the bodies identification is believed impossible.

PRESIDENT SENDS NOMINATIONS

WASHINGTON, July 22—The president sents the following nominations to the senate this today:

GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Grain quotations dropped during the dull half day session on the Chicago board of trade today. Tradewas very light in wheat and a little local selling turned the market downward. Receipts continued large. The corn market was influenced chiefly by reports of favorable rains in western portions of the grain belt. Today was third consecutive day of rain in western portions of the grain belt. Oats were sold freely by local traders. Provisions were irregular.

July wheat opened at $1.24, off ½c and closed off 2c. September wheat opened unchanged at $1.23 and closed off 2½c. December opened unchanged at $1.27¼ and closed down 2c.

Corn, July opened off ¼c at 64½c and closed down ½c. September opened off ¼c at 61½c and closed off ¼c. December opened off ½c at 61c and closed down ½c.

Oats, July, opened unchanged at 39¼c and closed off ½c. September opened unchanged at 40¼c and closed off ¼c. December opened at 37¾c, off ¼c and closed down ½c.

Discussions That Are Profitable

It's the banker's business to be an expert in financial affairs just as the farmer is in agriculture. The only difference is that financial affairs are of necessity confidential, whereas other businesses need not follow this procedure.

Sometimes we wish it were not necessary to be close-mouthed. If people knew how we have been able and pleased to assist others, they, too, would consult with us.

RUPERT STIRS FOR A FIGHT ON FREIGHTS

Grange Takes Lead; Movement Begins for Getting All Organizations in

RUPERT, July 22—The people are aroused over the rate situation and following the lead of the Grange, a concerted movement is planted here. On this point the Pioneer-Record says:

"At a meeting of local Grange No. 112, held at Empire last Saturday, freight rate proposition came up, we are informed by a Pioneer-Record committee appointed to look into the matter. Even with the maximum price obtained for potatoes, and the promise of the best yield for an acreage ever known in the history of the project, the present freight rates will absorb all the profits and more. This is a strange analogy, but true, that the farmers are facing a year of labor under auspicious conditions, with no prospect of profit for their work, no hope of increasing their prosperity, improving their homes or stabilizing their credit—indeed there seems to be no real reason why they don't stand to lose considerably.

"The rate increase, which was first imposed during the war has already added a tax of 33 1-3 per cent to the realize any profit on 60 cent wheat.

"There was a time when wheat was bringing more than $2.00 a bushel and freight rates to eastern points were hoisted just one-third and one-fourth to western points.

"All over the nation, especially in the Northwest, the farmers are weighing to the real facts now confronting him relative to marketing their crops under the present prohibitive freight rates charged by the railroad companies. This question is the one on every farmer's tongue, and one constantly in his mind, the one that is now threatening to undo him a year ago so far as this year's crop is concerned.

"The Chamber of Commerce should get busy along with similar organizations on the various projects, together with the four local granges and all other granges, societies and organizations, and see if we can find a vent concerted movement of some sort to set forth the claims and urgent needs of the farmers for reduced freight rates, bringing to bear every legitimate argument and influence to secure results before it is too late.

"It seems strange that with a reduction of $400,000,000 in wages to employes and a gift of $500,000,000 from the government to the railroads that freight rates are still necessary to keep them moving. Nobody has been harder hit by the war than the farmer, who has been a willing tool and knocked hither and thither by every influence that could be brought to bear to make him the "loosen up" by people who thought it was his duty to carry the lion's share of the war burden, and neither the government nor anybody else has offered him $500,000,000 to help blow get on his feet. If the present rates continue to obtain much longer, there will be no need for freight cars, for the farmer will take enough of it on his own at it is at present.

"The foregoing is only one of many articles in the various newspapers of the country, urging immediate action of some character, and the Pioneer-Record joins its voice to the general chorus—act!

"Although I cannot at this time hold out to you any hope of a rate reduction to take care of the potato movement, still I wish to assure you that we are all of us in close touch with the general situation, and endeavoring to compile daily information which will enable us to determine at the proper time, if anything, must be done on a concerted plan of relief. I will be very glad indeed to keep you advised of any developments that may occur."

JAYHAWKERS HOLD BIG CELEBRATION

The annual mid-summer gathering of the Kansas Club held Wednesday of this week at the Fred D. Parrish grove, was attended by the greatest number of residents ever met on one of these occasions, says the Buhl Herald. More than three hundred came with well filled baskets and together had a bountiful noon-day meal in the shady grove, and then remained to visit during the afternoon. A goodly representation of Jayhawkers from Twin Falls, Filer, and other neighboring towns joined the Buhl club for their summer festiv. N. Sherman Hawk and S. A. Scully were the speakers of the day.

Priest Denies That Excessive Rates Are Cause of Depression

In anticipation of a record potato crop in this section, the Buhl Chamber of Commerce is taking steps toward calling a reduction in freight rates. Under date of July 13, by the secretary, Ben H. Bonham, the Chamber of Commerce sent the following telegram to H. N. Adams, vice president of the Union Pacific system, Omaha, and to J. A. Reeves, general freight agent of the Oregon Short Line, Salt Lake City, says the Buhl Herald:

"More than one million bushels of potatoes will be produced on the Twin Falls tract this year and it will be impossible to market the crop under the present freight rates and market prices. Cannot some temporary relief be given the potato growers that it may be possible to market the crop without loss?"

In response to the telegram Joel L. Priest, general agent of the traffic department, Boise, writes under date of July 14:

"Mr. J. A. Reeves, our general freight agent at Salt Lake City, has requested me by wire to acknowledge receipt for him of your wire of today urging a reduction in rates on potatoes, and to advise you of the present status of the very important matter.

"The Union Pacific now has, as in the past, a very keen interest in the welfare of the producers along its line, for it is obvious that unless the producer prospers, the railroad cannot. We recognize the value of the business of the territory surrounding your city as well as that of the entire Southern Idaho territory, and our officials will be on the one hand as much interested in securing a reduction in rates on potatoes, as you are, and on the other hand, ready to do all in our power to secure relief which may arise. However, at the present time it appears that the greatest obstacle between the producer and the disposal of his crop is lack of market and not an excessive or too high freight rate.
