THREE UNBEATEN SQUADS STAR IN SEASON OF 1929

Pittsburgh, Purdue and Notre Dame Generally Regarded As Best in the United States

By T. S. CAMPBELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
Failure to produce a national championship was a definite disappointment in the 1929 football season. This failure was because of the absence of all-powerful teams, and not because of a lack of play.

It is interesting that the three teams generally rated to hold the peak position—Pittsburgh, Purdue and Notre Dame—were all undefeated. Pittsburgh, Purdue and Notre Dame were the only teams to whom defeat was not a possibility. A national survey of football records shows that the three teams were the only ones to win all their games.

There are many sports who would give the credit to the three teams to Purdue. Purdue's success was due to a superior passing and offensive attack and Freeman and Harkness kept the defense from getting into the game. NO, THANK YOU!

GOVERNOR Baldrige has evidently put out a feeler to test public opinion and to see how the people of the state will react to a suggestion for a special session of the legislature to vote several million dollars in tax anticipation notes for a highway construction program.

It appears from the news stories from the capital that the governor will not make a definite decision on the matter for several days. In the meantime, the public will have opportunity to make up its mind as to the sort of reception it wishes to give this suggestion.

The Evening Times is opposed to a special session of the legislature at this time, and it is opposed to the issuance of tax anticipation notes, for either $10,000,000 or $15,000,000, or in any other sum for a highway building program.

It must be conceded that Idaho is still in need of highway construction work and that the state is in need of a speedier program of construction. The same thing probably will be true 10 or 20 years hence. Our sparse population in relation to the magnificent distances we have to travel is bound to make the problem of providing adequate highway transportation a perennial one.

If there are those either within or without the state who would criticize Idaho because it has constructed highways at no faster rate, such criticism can be answered in language that is quite effective to the minds of many by the simple statement that we have paid for our highways as they were made. We have not mortgaged the future of our highways. From a state point of view, our highways are our own, and even if they are less than we ourselves desire, our future is not mortgaged for highways.

The same claim can not be made for all political subdivisions as can be made for the state. Local districts are heavily in debt to pay for highway construction. Of the state highway within the boundary of Twin Falls county the highway districts have contributed 58 per cent of the cost, the balance being met by the state and the federal government.

BONDS issued by highway districts in this county are in the following amounts: Twin Falls highway district, $1,250,000; Buhl highway district, $620,000; Filer highway district, $350,000—a total of $2,230,000. Both the Twin Falls and the Filer districts will start retiring bonds in 1930. Twin Falls county also still owes a balance of $83,000 for bonds for county roads and bridges, as well as a balance of $24,000 still unpaid on the Hansen bridge bonds. The total amount on highways and for county roads and bridges still owed, not including Hansen bridge bonds unredemmed, is $2,263,000. The annual interest charges on bonds in the highway districts alone in this county amount to $427,550.

For the state to forsake its pay-as-you-go policy of highway building will add further interest charges to highway construction. Commissioner Wood's annual report on his department's activities, just recently issued, had the following: "It has been suggested that perhaps a bond issue for ten million dollars, predicated on the gasoline tax income, would greatly expedite completion of the state system. Such action would hasten completion only about three years."

How much will be gained by issuing tax anticipation notes, rather than a bond issue?

Possibly the governor's suggestion for this enlargement of the highway building program will meet with approval of older districts of the state. Twin Falls county has built its whole structure of development within the short space of 25 years. The people of this county are in the peak period of making payments. They are just as progressive people as can be found anywhere, but this suggestion of adding to the state's indebtedness for highway construction is being made about five or 10 years too soon. It is better business to continue on the present basis of operations until we have redeemed more bonds. Then it will be time to discuss spending more money for highways.

A BIG PROBLEM—

AUTOMOBILE casualties this year are above last year's according to preliminary estimates made by the U. S. census bureau. The national toll for the year is liable to reach 27,000. With 2,500,000 automobiles added to our traffic stream during the year, the situation continues to grow worse—and nothing effective is being done about it.

Nothing in all American life is more astounding than the complacency with which we take our traffic fatalities. If some epidemic should visit the country, taking 27,000 lives a year, with no prospect that it would end, we should have state and federal appropriations to fight it. The whole nation would be alarmed. But we let our automobiles kill that many and we do absolutely nothing about it.

This thing is rapidly becoming the very biggest problem we face. It is far past time that we rolled up our sleeves and tackled it in earnest. That we have let it go so long is a burning disgrace to the nation.

Students of high schools in Twin Falls county will have an opportunity to give proof of their interest in Idaho history if they elect to compete in the contest announced by the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce. The finding and locating of spots of historic interest in the state are two of the chief features of the contest.

Best Editorial of the Day

MURPHY
Portland, Oregon

There seems to be undue indulgence on both sides of the prohibition enforcement issue. On the one hand, there is Senator Borah, already insisting that the president's commission "cannot tell us anything that we do not know." But perhaps it can. And on the other hand, there is Governor Hildreth, who, in a preliminary way, thinks that a Los Angeles federal judge and member of the commission has "encouraged anti-prohibitionists, as well as violators of the law." It may not be half so serious as that.

The governor has found nothing in the more detailed reports of what Judge McCormick said that justify pessimism. The jurist spoke in opposition to forcible search and seizure without proper legal status, and all reasonable men agree with him. He did not, as so-called "addge" methods, so to all other thoughtful citizens. Speaking not in behalf of the commission as an official body, but as an individual, "as the news are contained in," he ventured the opinion that the commission has not been the most earnest enemies of prohibition. The judge mentioned no names, but intimated that "the purse is evident in the ranks of both wets and dries."

What is the matter with that statement? Certain it is that no cause is helped by in-person, and it is as certain that the family constitutes a heavy burden, in whatever sense he may be regarded. And in the interest of neighborly comity, in which spirit all such issues should be discussed, the types of individual to whom the judge alludes may not be suppressed.

It is possible that Judge McCormick has been less than discreet in discussing the commission's work, even through he speaks as an individual, and not as a member of the body. We can hardly conceive, nor for that matter, could he, of a member of high court communicating in advance upon a decision about to be formulated by his tribunal. But we cannot at present press the point beyond the mere suggestion. There are certain differences between a court of justice and a committee of inquiry which need not be ignored. The senators are not eagerly listening trouble, and that in itself is not a good sign.

Burley Man is Decapitated in Recent Accident

MURLEY, Dec. 25 (Special)—Word has just been received by family relatives of the tragic death in San Francisco on December 21 of Lewis E. Deard, a burley man, who was decapitated by a large machine in a large building when in some unaccounted-of manner Mr. Deard's head was caught between the revolving shafts of a large machine. Mr. Deard was a well-known burley man in the county and was employed in a large building when in some unaccounted-of manner Mr. Deard's head was caught between the revolving shafts of a large machine. Death was instantaneous.

Attractive Garden Setting Arranged for M. E. T. Party

Members of Twin Falls Young Men's Club set have vied with their elders in entertaining this holiday season. The M. E. T. club entertained at their fourth annual formal ball, the third large dancing party, at the Elks hall, December 23, 1920, at 8 o'clock. The decorations were arranged by the M. E. T. club, and garden scene at evening was cleverly portrayed in the decorations, offering novelty and charm from the Christmas decorations so prevalent at this season. Star-studded strings of midnight-blue crepe paper formed a ceiling, and canopy and the chandeliers were placed in mid-light blue. The dance floor was bordered with lattice fence, tully trimmed with number roses. Access to the dance floor was through an arch decorated with roses and foliage. Thoughtful offers were arranged along the sides of the ballroom, and certain novelties were detailed in white silk of the orchestra platform.

Miss Jean Steigler, Lucette, a member of the club, and Marie Jackson and Frances Thompson served punch and cakes to the dancers.

Miss Joyce Williams is president of the club and Miss Jean Healy is secretary. Other officers are Misses Miriam Brooks, Betty Parks, Ruth Shipman, Arlene Wilson, Mary Ellen Brown, Louise Madden, Gladys Colgate, Martha Hoover, Joan Dockwell, Katherine Thompson, Ella May Walters, Gladys Stanton, Edith Langhorne, Mary Hoover, Helen Stuedde, Mrs. W. H. Stuedde, Vera May, and Vera Kibben.

DEATH SUMMONS LOCAL STOCKMAN

George A. Lincoln, prominent rancher and stockman, died at 10 o'clock at his late residence south of Twin Falls, Idaho, December 23, 1920, after an illness of six months.

Mr. Lincoln was born in Pennsylvania, and came to Idaho in 1880. He was a member of the Twin Falls stock club, and was one of the most prominent stockmen in the state.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lincoln, and several children.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive H. Barlow

In the buying of books for children it is difficult for most parents to select the right ones. In the old days publishers and bookkeepers turned out books for children, and the result was a book that was a child's book and nothing more.

Now, however, the publishers are more thoughtful, and they are producing books that are not only interesting, but also educational.

IS DINNER HAPPY

Mrs. Sarah Bower entertained at dinner Friday evening honoring Miss Helen Newman and Miss Nina Newman, who are here from Sacramento, California, visiting relatives and friends during the holidays.

The party was most enjoyable, and the Christmas spirit was most enjoyable.

TRAFFIC LINES AVOIDED

Twenty-seven motorists have been arrested and fined recently for driving on the highway during the holidays.

The officers of the Idaho State Police are doing a good job of enforcing the law, and the motorists are beginning to realize the importance of obeying the traffic laws.

WHEAT PRICES ASCEND TODAY

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (UP)—Profits taking took the edge off a rally that swept prices up around $1.25 on the board of trade today. But prices still slumped a sharp gain at the close. The rally came on—Bucos. Atlas higher closed 12-1/2 c and on 23-1/2 c from 12-1/2 c. Argentina, that an exportable 11-1/2 c of one 2,000,000 bushels of wheat was in at the moment of 11-1/2 c. Europe no South American country would take the top. The supply of wheat in the United States was based upon a total respectable surplus of about 25,000,000 bushels, which included the harvest from the last crop. Corn and wheat failed to follow wheat and were off fractionally, due to pressure on December corn.
