Top Bull of Oakley Man Brings $850

Lot 4, a 1,350-pound range bull consigned by Karl Dailey stockman, and sold to Orin Boies, Contact, for $850 was the top animal at the 15th annual fall sale of the Idaho Cattlemen's association at Filer Saturday. According to Leon Weeks, Boise, sale secretary, this lot featured fewer animals than last year but the quality of the bulls and prices were higher this year. The average price for the 160 bulls sold this year was $375.09 as compared to $314 for the 212 animals sold in 1953.

This year 29 class A bulls sold for an average of $602.20 as compared to 27 animals and $543.33 last year. Seventy-five class B bulls sold for an average of $390.33 this year while 90 B bulls sold for an average of $346.65 in 1953. This year 56 class C bulls were sold for an average of $237.05 while the figures last year were 98 animals and $212. The total receipts this year were $60,015.

The sale, which is considered one of the largest in the northwest, attracted consignors from Idaho, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. Weeks said. Grading of the 160 entries began Friday morning. Futurity entries and herdsire prospects were judged Friday afternoon. Awards were presented at a banquet and dance held in the Twin Falls American Legion hall Friday night.

Judges for the sale were Lyman Ipsen, Malad rancher; C. W. Hickman, University of Idaho, and Nelson Hogan, Bancroft, rancher. Dr. D. A. Jackson, Twin Falls, deputy state veterinarian, examined the animals before the sale. Auctioneers were Col. E. O. Walter, Filer, and Perry A. Goodhue, Jerome.

Auto Smashed Into Bridge Abutment; One Dead

This crumpled wreckage is all that remains of a 1949 Mercury sedan that, rammed a concrete bridge abutment two and one-half miles east of Declo early Saturday, claiming the life of a Kansas City, Mo., soldier, Donald Czar, 21. Injured were two other soldiers, the driver, Floyd A. Stone, 20, and Lawrence R. Kline, 19. The trio was en route to Ft. Lewis, Wash. (Photo by State Patrolman Marvin J. Snyder—staff engraving)

Soldier Dies As Car Hits Canal Span

BURLEY, Oct. 23—A Kansas City, Mo., soldier being transferred to Ft. Lewis, Wash., was killed instantly and his two companions seriously injured when the car in which they were riding rammed a concrete abutment on a canal bridge two and one-half miles east of Declo on highway 80S at 4:35 a.m. Saturday.

Killed was Donald C. Czar, 21, who became Magic Valley's 46th traffic fatality and the 15th in Cassia county this year. The injured, taken to Cottage hospital here, are Floyd Allen Stone, 20, Kansas City, Mo., driver of the 1949 Mercury sedan, and in serious condition Richard Kline, 19, St. Joseph, Mo.

State Patrolman Marvin Snyder said the driver of the westbound automobile apparently dozed at the wheel and the machine veered out of control. It crashed into the concrete abutment on a bridge over a canal, ramming the motor into the front seat.

Kline was riding in the rear seat and Czar was seated beside the driver. He was crushed when the engine was torn loose from its mountings and jammed into the front seat. Patrolman Snyder said the estimated speed of the automobile was between 50 and 55 miles an hour at the time of the crash.

Attending physicians at the Cottage hospital said Kline received a compound fracture of the left leg, a dislocated left foot, a broken right ankle and shock.

The dead soldier's body was taken to the McCoubrey-Burey funeral home where funeral arrangements are pending word from army officials at Ft. Lewis.

Idaho Leads

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Idaho had the greatest increase in traffic deaths of any state in the nation during the first eight months of 1954, the manager of the state chapter of the National Safety council said Saturday.

Robert Hankey said statistics received from the council showed that most states had reduced the highway toll below the same period in 1953. Idaho, however, showed an 18 per cent increase.

Idaho added 37 fatalities in August, for the greatest number of any month this year.

Traffic Death Scoreboard

Here is a comparison of traffic fatalities as of this date for 1954 and 1953 for Magic Valley and for the entire state:

Judge Rejects Perjury Case Bias Charges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Federal Judge Luther W. Youngdahl bluntly rejected today a government demand that he disqualify himself in the Owen Lattimore perjury case and denounced charges he is biased as "scandalous."

The judge aimed hot criticism at Asst. Atty. Gen. Leo A. Rover, who filed an affidavit saying the judge was prejudiced in favor of Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs specialist accused of falsely denying he promoted communism.

Youngdahl said the affidavit was "so patently and grossly insufficient that I cannot escape from the conclusion that the purpose . . . is to discredit, in the public mind, the final action of our courts, or else to intimidate the courts themselves."

It follows the views wrote that Youngdahl [illegible] from Illinois admitted at [illegible] in Twin Falls in the [illegible] Henry Dworshak and Rep. Hamer Budge and their re-election on Nov. 2. He said a Republican congress and a Republican president constitute a team working in the cause of freedom.

He said the Republican party holds a majority in the senate by only one seat and pointed out that that one seat could be Dworshak's.

Should this country get a Democratic congress in the Nov. 7 election, he asked, what do you think would happen to the investigations under way? What do you think would happen to the President's program? What do you think would happen to the country?

Senator Dirksen said the Republican party is the party of responsibility. He said a strong opposing party is necessary but it shouldn't become strong enough to return "entrenched arrogance" to government again.

The senator accused the Democratic party of crucifying the greatest country in the world for the sake of politics. He said there are people in Washington who are trying to change the United States into an image of a foreign country and listed them as reds, pinks, drunks and homosexuals.

He said that in the 20 months under the Republican administration 2,611 federal employes have been fired as security risks and that 4,250 had quit.

Of this number, 618 are known to be sexual perverts and 48 of them were in the central intelligence agency, he said.

Benson Says 1954 Best Year Of Peace in History of Nation

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 23 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said tonight that "the transition from war to peace always involves economic readjustments" and added:

"Yet I am convinced that the American people infinitely prefer these readjustments to war and bloodshed." He made the statements in an address at a political rally sponsored by the Republican state central committee.—"Actually," Benson said, "we have been making the change-over to a peacetime economy with far fewer dislocations than most people thought possible. There is some unemployment, to be sure, but it is less than in 1950 and only a fraction of what it was in the decade preceding World war II.

"As a matter of fact, 1954 is proving to be the most prosperous year of peace in all of our history."

The nation's agriculture chief devoted much of his address to the farm situation, reviewing legislation enacted by the Eisenhower administration.

But he emphasized that current farm problems "have all developed under high, rigid price supports which remain in effect until 1955. The flexible price support provisions of the act of 1954 don't become operative until next year's harvest."

Assures Some Blame

He said the Eisenhower administration is "willing to assume its share of the responsibility" for lower prices "but let me make it clear just what our share is."

"Between February, 1951, and January, 1953, when this administration assumed office," Benson said, "the parity ratio tumbled from 113 to 94. That is a downward plunge of 19 points. Since January, 1953, the parity ratio has dropped from 94 to 88—a decline of six points . . .

Hits Democrats

"Thus it will be seen that more than three-fourths of the drop in farm prices which has occurred since the Korean war broke in 1951 came under the Democratic administration. So, as I have said, we are willing to assume our share of the responsibility. Let the Democrats face up to theirs!"

"Many would-be political leaders," the farm secretary said, "have been using high, fixed price supports as a smoke screen to cover up one indisputable fact—the fact that it was the unprecedented demands of war, together with inflation, that kept farm prices high during the 10 years following Pearl harbor. Parity averaged between 100 and 115 during those years.

"Actually, it was ceilings fixed by law at the top—not the 90 per cent floor below—which set farm prices. Every farmer knows he would have received even more for his products during this period had there been neither ceilings nor price supports."

Dirksen Makes Plea For Decency, Dignity

"What this country needs is a little more God and religion in politics," Sen. Everett Dirksen, R., Ill., told between 300 and 400 persons at a Republican rally Saturday night at the junior high school auditorium. The chairman of the senatorial campaign committee used the Scriptures freely in his plea for decency and dignity in government.

Dirksen Sees Wide Victory By Dworshak

A "substantial majority" victory for Idaho's incumbent Sen. Henry Dworshak in the Nov. 2 election was predicted Saturday afternoon by Sen. Everett Dirksen, R., Ill., during a press conference at the Park hotel.

The conference preceded a formal address Saturday night by Senator Dirksen, chairman of the Republican campaign committee, currently on a whirlwind tour of the west and midwest in behalf of Republican candidates.

He said he expect to see Senator Dworshak reelected by a substantial majority," the Illinois solon declared. "I know of no better favor the people of Idaho can do for themselves than to return him to office." The Twin Falls visit is Dirksen's only stop in Idaho. "It is his primary mission," he said, "to speak for my friend Henry Dworshak. I am for him politically and I am for him personally."

Dirksen admitted he had "little reason to comment now" on the controversial Hells canyon proposition.

However, he said he has noted "a rapid deterioration of the fiscal realm" since 1952 when the budget was 3½ billion dollars to the "just Truman budget" when it hit $76,500,000,000.

President Eisenhower, he asserted, through a program of "getting more effective defense for less money," is paving the way for the balanced budget. Tax relief, he added, prevented a balance this year.

Dirksen had little comment on Dworshak's opponent, Glen Taylor. "Legally, I suppose he (Taylor) is on good ground," Dirksen said, "but to represent a state, I think one should say 'this is my home.'"

Appearing somewhat weary from traveling, Dirksen said both he and Mrs. Dirksen, who is accompanying him, "have been a little under the weather." He visited a local physician for treatment of his ears, affected by the altitude during his flight to Twin Falls from Lander, Wyo.

The senator flies Sunday morning to Rochester, Minn., on his midwestern tour.

He may have to visit New Jersey, originally not on his schedule.

"They're having a little trouble there, it seems," he smiled.

Dockers Balk At Plea to Go Back to Work

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Striking dockers defiantly rejected today government pleas to end their walkout which has paralyzed more than half the shipping of this maritime nation.

But efforts to extend the stoppage failed, giving rise to hopes the 20-day-old strike has reached its peak with 44,000 men out and 218 ships lying idle.

Oppose Leadership

London and Southampton dockers, many on strike against union leadership, booed and jeered a back-to-work resolution despite a threat by the government to use troops by Monday to unload food cargoes.

The strike has been supported by the communists but condemned by Arthur Deakin, leader of the giant Transport and General Workers union.

Protest Overtime

The walkout began in London when 5,000 members of the stevedores and lighterm'n's union came out on official strike in protest against compulsory overtime.

Exports worth 300 million dollars are piled up along the nation's waterfronts. Food cargoes are rotting in ships' holds.

AEC MEMBER NAMED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower today named John Von Neumann, Princeton, N. J., mathematics professor, to be a member of the atomic energy commission for a five-year term expiring June 30, 1959.

Nixon Says Reds Fight for Demos

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said tonight the Communist party, although outlawed by congress, is fighting desperately for election of an anti-Eisenhower congress partly because many Democratic candidates belong to a "left-wing clique" in their party which has "tolerated" the conspiracy.

The vice president's remarks were prepared originally for a Republican rally at Cheyenne, Wyo., but a snowstorm at Bozeman, Mont., prevented him from reaching Cheyenne by air.

Prisoners Again Riot in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 23 (AP)—A major disturbance, described as a "race riot," erupted today at the Missouri penitentiary and one guard was stabbed and injured before guards and highway troopers quelled it.

The riot started at about 1:45 p.m. (CST) and Warden Ralph Eidson announced at 3:15 p.m. that "all convicts are back in their cells and the situation is under control."

Nearly 1,000 prisoners from two cell buildings were involved.

Free German Pact Is Made; Reds Protest

PARIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—In ceremonies of the greatest historic significance, 15 western nations signed agreements today to bring 500,000 rearmed West Germans into the allied defensive alliance against communist aggression. The action brought immediate and unfavorable Soviet reaction.

The last hurdle was dramatically cleared by an 11th hour compromise settlement of the long and serious dispute between France and West Germany over the future of this coal-steel rich Saar—once German, now tied economically to France.

Soviet Protest

As the foreign ministers solemnly affixed their signatures to the pacts, the Soviet Union denounced them as war-breeding instruments. In notes to the United States, Britain and France the Russians proposed once again that the Big Four meet next month and wrestle with the German problem on Soviet terms.

The decisions of rearming Western Germany, the note said, "radically contradict the interests of the maintenance of peace and intensifies the threat of a new war in Europe."

The note condemned the London-Paris agreements as "opening the way for reestablishment of German militarism."

Hurdles to Clear

All agreements reached today are subject to parliamentary ratification. This may be difficult in France and West Germany where many political leaders favor another try at ending the cold war with Russia first.

Aside from the Saar agreement—which isn't textually final as yet—three things were done:

1. The United States, Britain, France and Germany agreed to end the allied occupation of West Germany and to restore all but full sovereignty to the West Germans.

Endorsed Pact

2. Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Western Germany and Italy joined in an enlarged Brussels pact which contains more definite controls over armament of the members than does the North Atlantic Treaty Organization pact.

Full Schedule Of Politics Is Seen in Week

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Republican candidates will rally around Vice President Nixon at Pocatello Monday night in the kickoff of the last full week of their campaign to retain state control and a senate seat.

Nixon will speak at 8 p.m. and stay overnight before continuing a speaking tour of the mountain states.

On Tuesday, Republican Robert E. Smylie and Democrat Clark Hamilton will carry their campaigns for governor to Boise. Both have live television appearances scheduled.

Also on Tuesday night, Sen. Herman Welker will speak at Twin Falls on behalf of his Republican colleague, Sen. Henry C. Dworshak. He has said he would explore the record of Dworshak's Democratic opponent, Glen Taylor, in the years before he ran for vice president on the Progressive ticket in 1948.

On Friday night, Dworshak will introduce Rep. Wallace Bennett, R., Utah, at a rally in Idaho Falls.

Stevenson Blasts Actions of Wilson

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson declared today that Secretary Wilson "has put the defense department right back into politics with both feet."

Stevenson, unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, charged Wilson has demonstrated by "making campaign speeches and collecting campaign contributions from the rich."

Stevenson told a cheering rally of Democratic women's clubs that "the Republican high command" has turned the campaign into "an unprecedented orgy of slogans, charges and epithets" in an effort to bedevil vital issues.

Headon Crash Fatal to Three

By United Press

Three persons were killed instantly in a two-car collision near Payette early today, bringing Idaho's highway death toll to six in three days.

Roger A. Erwin, 22, Emmett; Tagron (Terry) Secoy, 19, Ontario, Ore., and Joanna Hale, 17, Payette, were killed when the cars driven by Erwin and Secoy collided almost headon on U. S. 30-95 just south of Payette.

Payette County Deputy Sheriff Ray Decker said Payette police were chasing Erwin after he had run through a red light a short time before the collision.

Erwin, traveling at about 60 miles an hour, was across the center line when he rammed the other vehicle, Decker said.

2-Car Crash Hurts Three

Three men were in Magic Valley Memorial hospital Saturday, one with a possible skull fracture, as the result of a two-car crash one mile north of the Curry store.

Troy Matthews, 38, Twin Falls, driver of a 1940 Chevrolet coupe involved in the collision, sustained "severe head injuries and a possible skull fracture," according to his physician who listed his condition as "generally good."

Also injured were Clarence Stewart, 38, Twin Falls, whose condition was reported "good" by hospital attendants, and Glenn Pettyjohn, 21, Twin Falls, who was in "fair" condition with a fractured left shoulder blade. Stewart had head lacerations.

Driver of the other vehicle, a 1948 Chevrolet sedan, was John W. Olick, 18, route 2, Filer. He was given first aid treatment and released.

The collision occurred shortly after 8 a.m. Saturday at what Sheriff Jesse Carlton described as a "clear, wide open stretch of road."

Both vehicles were demolished.

Court Orders Herman Bedke's Name Placed on Cassia Ballot

BURLEY, Oct. 23—District Judge R. W. Beckwith ruled Saturday that the name of Herman Bedke should appear on the Nov. 2 ballot as a Democratic candidate for state senator from Cassia county.

Beckwith ruled that Eldon Berry, nominated in the primary, had a right to withdraw because of illness.

When Berry notified the chairman of the Democratic central committee of Cassia county, this action created a legal vacancy, the judge ruled.

Bedke, chosen by the county Democratic committee, was the proper replacement, Beckwith said.

The judge instructed William Baugh, jr., county auditor, to prepare ballots bearing Bedke's name to be sent to all election judges for placing on the ballot.

There was no evidence that an appeal would be filed. The only possible appeal would be to the state supreme court.

Bedke filed a writ of mandate with Baugh Friday after County Attorney Norman Nielson said the attorney general's office advised him there was no legal vacancy on the ticket.

Hunter Sought in Montpelier Area

MONTPELIER, Oct. 23 (AP)—Sheriff Mac Monson of Bear Lake county led searchers today in the hunt for a missing Pocatello man.

James Walker, 53, failed to return Friday night from a deer hunting trip into the Crow Creek area, about 15 miles southeast of Montpelier.

A hunting companion, Jack Brown, said Walker failed to meet him at a prearranged spot. Brown notified officers in Georgetown.

Flurry Develops as 4 Major Hospitals In Salt Lake City Are Denied Approval

(See Editorial on Page Four)

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 23 (AP)—Disclosure this week that all four major hospitals in Salt Lake City had been dropped from the accredited list by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals sent a group of officials scurrying to Chicago, set off a political hassle in the Salt Lake county commission, and ignited fears that the University of Utah college of medicine might be threatened.

The Accreditation Commission dropped Holy Cross, St. Mark's, the LDS and Salt Lake General hospitals from its accredited list.

No definite reasons were made public for dropping of the first three, although there were unofficial reports that fee splitting and ghost surgery figured in the action.

Salt Lake General was dropped. It was disclosed after the discussions exploded in public meetings of the county commission, for a long and varied list of reasons, ranging from failure to have recording thermometers on autoclave outlets to the lack of an official committee to examine tissues removed in surgery.

Salt Lake General is the teaching hospital of the university school of medicine. One result of non-accreditation will be the virtual closing of the hospital to interns and residents. Unless the hospital is reaccredited, no new interns for the year beginning next July 1, that would be a vital blow to the college of medicine.

The Utah college of medicine is the only medical school between Denver and the Pacific coast. It now is planning to accept students from several Intermountain states under agreements worked out among the states. It has some world-renowned educators and research scientists, who are responsible for attracting more than one million dollars a year in research grants from outside the state.

Plea Is Made In Talk Here For Decency

do the job at Yalta," Senator Dirksen said, "and it only took one person to turn the heart of the H-bomb over to a foreign power."

The senator said the present administration is restoring decency to government. He said, "it is a long job and you can't get a country back on the right track in only 20 months after the Democrats had had 20 years to take it to ruin."

"We are dealing with the future of our country and I, personally, will do my best to see that freedom and opportunity are preserved. It is our job to dissipate the icecap of socialism in this country," he said.

Dirksen cited the RFC scandal that reached to the White House door and pointed out that at least one man appointed to a responsible post by a Democratic President had served time in a penitentiary prior to his appointment.

By way of contrast, Senator Dirksen said Dworshak was one of the most honorable persons he had ever known. He also said the taxpayers never had a more vigorous defender of the treasury than the Idaho senator.

Senator Dirksen said the Republicans inherited from the Democrats a war in Korea, a potential war in Indochina and a serious trouble spot in Trieste. What the Democrats couldn't do in eight years, the Republicans have accomplished in 20 months, he said. The war in Korea is over, there is a truce in Indochina, an agreement has been reached in Trieste and peace treaties will be signed with Germany and Austria soon, he added.

Turning to the "local" scene, Senator Dirksen said the Democrats in 1940, after eight years in office, still had 16 million persons out of work. At Pearl Harbor time there were eight million persons unemployed.

The Democrats couldn't get prosperity, he charged; Wars did it for them with the blood of American youths, he said.

"They should hang their heads in shame!"

The team of a GOP congress and a GOP president is trying to build a prosperity that doesn't have the bloody touch, he said.

"And this is the first time in a generation blood isn't running some place in the world."

The quickest way to destroy a country is through the fiscal route, he concluded. The Democrats left the country with a public debt that amounts to $1,700 for every man, woman and child in the United States, he said.

The Illinois senator was introduced by Senator Dworshak. On the platform also were Representative Budge, Barkley Larson, candidate for lieutenant governor; James Young, candidate for secretary of state; Graydon W. Smith, candidate for attorney general, and State GOP Chairman Wally Burns, Idaho Falls. Edward Benoit was chairman of the meeting.

Hank Spurns War on Cliches, Manages to Remember Several

By HENRY McLEMORE

My telephone rang the other day and from the other end of it came the voice of Mr. Harry Brand.

For the benefit of lonely sheepherders, people who live on the perimeter of Arkansas, Mr. Brand is the handsome, suave, gamin-faced, Model T-tooled, much beloved chief of publicity at 20th Century-Fox studios.

He also holds down one-man exhibits in clay, oils, steel wool, charcoal and himself.

He is currently serving as a sort of ASCAP, he said, "for men who created phrases that are now clichés. The guys who thought them up should get royalties every time a writer or speaker uses one of them. ASCAP takes care of song writers, so what's wrong with an organization that would benefit writers?"

"Interesting, if true," I said, carefully avoiding a cliche. "But what's in it for me?" I said, sidestepping again. "Natch. I'm on your side. One hundred per cent. Count me in. Let the chips fall where they may. Give me a rundown."

"You have already earned a lot of money for somebody," Mr. Brand said, "if my plan goes through."

Brand has outlined his plan in detail.

As we both are former sports writers, he started talking about sports cliches.

"I read a million a year," Mr. Brand said. "At one time they were as fresh as a daisy."

Here I interrupted to tell him he had earned a little dough for a unknown: himself with that "fresh as a daisy" phrase.

Mr. Brand turned a cold shoulder to this and went on.

"Who were the first sports writers who wrote lines like these?" he asked, and listed a few.

Today all roads led to.

Those in the stands (or crowd, or stadium, or arena) represented all walks of life.

In the shadow of the goal posts.

Long shadows began creeping across the infield.

"Play ball," bellowed the man in blue.

Thud of cleated boot against pigskin.

The crack of ash against horsehide.

Willowy frame.

Tough as a boot.

Backs against the wall.

It was now or never.

His service was like a cannonball.

The oarsmen pulled like galley slaves.

He surveyed the putt with grim lips and gimlet eyes.

There wasn't a dry eye in the house when the team came on the track, and the band played.

"I have used them all, and a lot more," I told Mr. Brand. "Also, I said, "I owe a dollar or two in royalty to the man who first had athletes girding up their loins."

"So do I," he said. "And the sports writer who first wrote about pitchers pitching their hearts out also has something coming from me."

My ear was hurting by this time. You can't hold a receiver against an ear but for so long. So I told Mr. Brand that while I thought his idea was a good one, I also thought it was no good.

"Why?" he asked.

"Cost me too much money—you know, the ol' dinero. The lettuce. The folding green. They'd have to pay little me a buck a layer of cliches. I, up there like other people use matches. Take a powder with your idea."

Mr. Brand hung up hurt. I'm sorry, but I told Mr. Brand the truth. I look before he leaps for, come to think of it, only fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

Taylor has said he would reply, in radio and television speeches during the week, to statements made by Welker in a Nampa speech Wednesday night about Taylor's 1948 role—and his alleged residence in California.

As the campaign approached the wire, both the State Chamber of Commerce and the State Federation of Labor urged their members to vote.

Chamber Questions

The state chamber, in a mailed release, urged its members to ask of candidates: "Would I hire this person to hold a position in my private business? Would I hire such men to advise me on important policy matters?"

Elmer McIntire, secretary of the labor group, said it had stepped up its program of encouraging workers to vote both through door-to-door canvassing and through local unions.

Seeking Benson

State Republican headquarters disclosed that it was trying to secure Secretary of Agriculture Benson for a farm policy speech from Boise on election eve. Spokesmen pointed out, however, that Benson had been indisposed and had been forced to cancel some engagements in Utah.

George Greenfield, Democratic state chairman, had this comment on the campaign Saturday:

"Pheasant season is open today and I'm going hunting. I wish the pheasants were as surely in my bag as I believe the election of the Democratic ticket is in the bag."

Hamilton will be in Twin Falls Thursday and Taylor Friday and Saturday.

Budge Speaks at Rallies in Blaine

HAILEY, Oct. 23—Rep. Hamer Budge asked voters in Blaine county Friday to look how much the GOP party has accomplished in 20 months. He compared conditions now with what they were 20 months ago and said the Republicans had made "wonderful progress" during their short tenure in office.

Budge pointed out that the Korean war, inherited from the Democrats, is over, that a wartime economy has been replaced with a strong peacetime economy and that price and wage controls have been wiped out.

The incumbent representative spoke at a luncheon in Ketchum and a rally in Hailey. He also visited other Wood river valley communities during the afternoon.

About 80 per cent of the working population of the Dominican Republic works on farms.

HOSPITAL TROUBLES

Now that all four major hospitals in Salt Lake City are having their troubles, the people of Twin Falls county should be thankful that Magic Valley Memorial was given full accreditation recently after undergoing a series of difficulties.

Under "Views of Others" on the editorial page of this same issue appears an editorial from the Salt Lake Tribune, deploring the loss of accreditation by three of that city's private general hospitals—LDS, Holy Cross and St. Mark's.

Since that editorial was written it has been disclosed that Salt Lake General hospital also has been dropped from the accredited list.

It's not surprising, as the Tribune editorial pointed out, that this news came as "a shock not only to those responsible for these institutions and to the medical profession of the city, but to the general public."

If accreditation is not restored before next July 1, the hospitals, in question will lose their internship and residency training programs, which, as the Tribune explained, "would be a crippling blow to hospital service and to medical practice here."

While full details of the findings of the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals have not been revealed, officials of the four hospitals declared that practices complained of by the JCAH action related so-called "ghost surgery" and fee splitting. The Tribune editorial also mentioned "careless or incompetent surgery."

According to the Associated Press, some Salt Lake doctors admitted privately that a small minority in the profession practices "ghost surgery"—the name given to surgery performed by a doctor unknown to the patient, when the patient has been led to believe his own doctor is doing the job.

In summary of developments in Salt Lake City up to date, the Tribune warns that the "situation . . . calls for very serious consideration and prompt corrective action.

"There is," the newspaper added, "need for clarification. We think the full findings should be made public."

The final observation is probably the most important point to be gained from Salt Lake City's experience if all concerned are intent upon avoiding any further occurrence of the current distasteful developments.

At the recent meeting of the Idaho Hospital association in Boise, a spokesman for the Western Association of Hospitals advised that hospitals generally should strive for better public relations, through the press instead of keeping their affairs to themselves.

We might add that many hospitals now experiencing difficulty over the country could probably have nipped their troubles in the bud right at the outset if their policies of censorship had not served as a curtain to conceal administrative faults and medical staff irregularities.

It was shocking to the people of Twin Falls county and Magic Valley when Dr. Lucius W. Johnson, medical auditor from San Diego, Calif., completed his survey of Magic Valley Memorial hospital in August, 1953.

But the medical audit served a good purpose nevertheless in that it marked the beginning of getting Magic Valley Memorial's house in order.

Subsequent developments led to an exhaustive program of public relations information, which has been given high praise by representatives of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals themselves.

The net result, after all the difficulties had been brought sharply into focus, was a concerted effort to get Magic Valley Memorial fully accredited. Following a survey by Dr. Harry A. Nevel, representative of the JCAH, Magic Valley Memorial won that coveted distinction early in September.

So as we said at the outset, we should be thankful. Looking at our troubles realistically and taking the determined action now being suggested at Salt Lake City, we surmounted most of our hospital difficulties. As a result, instead of losing something it had never had, Magic Valley Memorial won full accreditation.

While we are being thankful, however, we should not lose sight of the fact that these developments in Salt Lake City serve as a warning. In giving Magic Valley Memorial full accreditation, the Joint Commission made certain specific recommendations which must be carried out between now and the next survey if our hospital is to retain its present high rating.

That places a tremendous responsibility on the medical staff as well as the board. Unless there is complete cooperation without reservation, with this one objective in mind, we might run into an even more shocking disappointment the next time the JCAH makes a survey.

Judging from the Joint Commission's action in Salt Lake City, it recognizes a need for determined action, and there is no reason for us to expect any special consideration if we fail to measure up to our responsibilities.

We can speak from experience, and here's hoping we have learned our lesson.

An Indiana woman filed damage charges against a real estate man because he had jilted her. She probably expected a lot from him.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday, Mr. Tucker answers readers' questions of general interest on national and international affairs and personalities. Letters may be sent to him at 2006 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON — Numerous readers have asked about the propriety of President Eisenhower's recent active participation in the congressional campaign, with his request for the election of cooperative Republican congress. He has accepted this assignment rather reluctantly, because of the demands of "scared" GOP candidates and political leaders.

Ray Tucker

Mrs. M. R., Tulsa, Okla., for instance, seems to politicians like a pain in the neck. She recalls that Woodrow Wilson was rebuked when he asked for the reelection of a Democratic congress in 1918. She also reports that the failure of FDR's proposed "purge" of several senators in 1938, including former Sen. Millard Tydings, Maryland, and Sen. Walter George, Georgia.

• • •

Answer: The general belief that a president has no interest in an off-year election is a political fiction. When they do not intervene openly and actively, they operate in certain ways to effect the reelection of members of the congress. They pose for pictures with them, visit their states or districts at strategic moments, send them a letter to be used for publicity purposes.

• • •

PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS — And why not? What head of a corporation wants a board of directors which opposes his production and marketing policies? The President of the United States stands in the same relationship to the legislative body that the president of a great industry, affecting stockholders, workers and consumers, occupies.

Without cooperation between the executive and legislative arms, and the government today is our biggest business, there would be chaos.

• • •

AN IMPORTANT REASON—President Eisenhower, and every chief executive after him, has a special reason for needing and wanting a congress controlled by his party, and this consideration applies especially to the house of representatives. V. S., a high school teacher in Van Nuys, Calif., to whom I give thanks, led to this realization.

The new law of succession almost necessitates that the President and the house be political affiliates. Under that statute, the vice president walks into the White House, as Truman did after FDR's death. He will, of course, be a member of the same party as his predecessor.

But if the president—that is, the former vice president—should die in office, the presidency passes to the speaker of the house. Thus, if the house is controlled by the opposition, we will be governed by an unpopular minority. For the election of members of congress is not a nationally reflect, since so many local issues are involved, national reaction to an administration's broad policies. The house, of course, elects the speaker.

• • •

IKE JUSTIFIED—In doing research on this question, I discovered almost no discussion of this possibility before congressional committees or in floor debates. Naturally, it was a sensitive subject, for it would have presumed the death of the vice president. However, the situation as to succession does seem to justify Ike's newly assumed political role. Incidentally, I should note that, before the new law of succession act was passed, the presidential heir on the death or incapacitation of a president was the secretary of state. He would, of course, be a member of the reigning dynasty.

• • •

Mrs. P. H. L., Berkeley, Calif., is worried lest the 1955 revision of the United Nations charter be injurious to the United States. She is fearful that the so-called "internationalists and one-worlders" will write the major amendments.

Answer: There is no need for concern. The U. N. could not exist without U. S. moral and financial support. There will be no surrender to the reds or to the "one-worlders."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

CLARIFICATION IS NEEDED

Loss of accreditation by all three Salt Lake City private general hospitals, LDS, Holy Cross and St. Mark's, is a shock not only to those responsible for these institutions and to the medical profession of the city, but to the general public. If accreditation is not restored before next July 1, the hospitals will lose their internship and residency training programs, which would be a crippling blow to hospital service and to medical practice here.

The situation, therefore, calls for very serious consideration, and prompt corrective action.

Unfortunately it is not clear all that is back of this sudden loss of accreditation after many years of approval, and general understanding that we have a high standard of hospital and medical care here.

This may be part of a national drive to tighten up on hospital standards generally. It may be, as reported, an attack on so-called ghost surgery, fee splitting, and careless or incompetent surgery. But because the full reports of the findings of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has not been made public, and there have been no statements from the commission as to the basic reason for its action, the people of Salt Lake City are left in the dark.

There is, The Tribune believes, need for clarification. We think the full findings should be made public. We think the commission should explain if there is any national drive—and, if so, how many other hospitals in the country have been affected.

Meanwhile we believe the people of Salt Lake City should reserve judgment on the matter, retaining basic confidence in their hospitals and the medical profession. We are confident that the hospitals and doctors, working together, will strive to meet all reasonable standards established by the accreditation body for hospital operations.—Salt Lake Tribune.

FALL LAWNS

Now is the time when devoted followers of almanacs, seed catalogs and fertilizer advertisements begin to prepare their lawns for a luxuriant stand next year. It is a busy time. First you (or another member of the family, if you can successfully deputize him or her) must mow and rake your yard carefully to minimize the weeds and crabgrass which has flourished since D-day last summer. Then you must apply fertilizer of the proper chemical analysis, preferably from a spreader. Then grass seed, evenly and not too heavily distributed (or "broadcast," as the instructions phrase it). Then a light raking to cover the seed. The whole procedure is a ritual, and no doubt there already have been some severe cases of herbaceous backache, not to mention lordosis of the wheelbarrow and deflation of the wallet.

Somehow it all seems so simple, until you look at the stringy brown mess that the drouth has left of your lawn—the matted crabgrass, the few remaining patches of drooping blades, the bald spots that seem to need hair restorer rather than fertilizer. But, then, there are always the shining, verdant pictures in the advertisements to lure you on. A decent lawn must be possible; you are merely doing something wrong. Maybe if you let the neighbors show you up. Redoubled effort is the answer.

It goes on this way, year after year. Fortunately for the seed and fertilizer purveyors—and for the birds which get fat on grass seed—the desire for a respectable lawn seems, like hope, to spring eternal. We're still waiting, though, for someone to take a cue from those fellows who concentrate a whole meal in a single pill, and devise a way to combine mowing, fertilizing, seeding and next month's leaf-raking all into one operation.—Washington Post.

BRAVE MEN, THOSE GUARDS

The really daring part of that colonel's order to American army wives in Frankfurt was his insistence that blue jeans must not be worn by "mature women." What armed guard under pressure or wheel-firing squad is to decide who are the "mature" women? And who will notify his next of kin?—Boston Post.

POT SHOTS

MARK IT PLAINLY

Dear Pottie:

Please pass this on to "Red Off" for what it may be worth. One answer is, your workshop is in the kitchen two-thirds of the day. So your friends dislike to interrupt your labors by calling you to the front door then trailing you back to the hub of your activities.

Answer No. 2: Do you have an inviting driveway to your front door? Most farms have a well-beaten path starting at the highway entrance and terminating at the kitchen door and barn.

A curved driveway going to the front door (and nowhere else) bordered with scarlet geraniums would tempt any driver to try it.

In addition, a small, attractive sign with an arrow pointing the way and "Welcome to Hillcrest" should be hint enough—but if Hoo and they still pass up the lovely way to the picture-book front room, just lock your kitchen door, turn on the radio and wait. You'll soon have them educated. Hope you win!

HUNTING FOR BOOKS

Dear Friend:

You've been helpful in finding many items, now we'd like to have your assistance in locating copies of the works of Idaho writers (autographed ones would be especially nice) for an "Idaho writers shelf" we want to place in our public library.

It has been suggested that there may be folks who have such volumes who'd like to have them in a library where they'd be carefully preserved—and still available to those who might like to use them. We thought your column might be the best way to reach the most people.

There is little source of information on Idaho authors, but in just beginning to work on this project, we have discovered that there are many more talented and prolific writers than we had supposed.

In our library, we'd like to recognize the Idaho writers and to have available some biography on each. Help on this matter, from any source, would be appreciated most sincerely.

We have two dogs which strayed into our corral one night at the Henry Jones ranch. No one has claimed them so we decided to give them away because we already have a dog. One is a blond cocker spaniel, the other is part golden cocker. Both are small with stub tails and undying affection. We live two miles west of Eden or one mile east of the Y on the right side of the road going east.

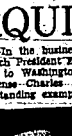
FAMOUS LAST LINE

". . . Wonder if the pheasants know what's in store for them this week-end?"

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—In the business administration which President Eisenhower brought to Washington, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is the outstanding example of the skilled business organizer and coordinating expert. But as he has demonstrated by the political forays he touched off with his dog story, he is also the outstanding example of the businessman out of his element in the field of politics.



Marquis Childs

Many familiar with the vast operation of the department of defense, from the day when the late James Forrestal took over as the first secretary of defense, believe that Wilson has done an effective job. He has carried through the paring and cutting needed to bring greater efficiency and economy to an organization spending two-thirds of the huge federal budget.

He has sought to keep a civilian rein on the admirals and generals and in particular on those officers with four and five stars who have favored a far more militant policy in Asia. If there is a "war party" and a "peace party" within the administration, on the issue of red China and what America should do about the Peking regime, then Wilson is one of the stoutest members of the "peace party."

When it comes to politics, however, Wilson is a babe in the woods. The business executive from the top echelon, suddenly dropped into the field of government and politics, seldom realizes how much he is tied up by his job as a corporation executive. He has been surrounded by expert public relations advisers well paid to screen his every public word. This has left him free to do the job of production and organization in which his genius lies.

When he steps out from behind his screen and is more or less on his own before the public he is likely to speak his mind with a frankness that is startling. He simply does not understand the political implications of what he is saying and of how he says it.

There are, of course, businessmen who adjust readily to government. A conspicuous example is Eric Johnston, formerly head of the United States Chamber of Commerce and now president of the American Motion Picture Producers association. Johnston has moved from business to government and back again with complete ease and facility.

Another example was Wilson's predecessor in the office of secretary of defense, Robert Lovett. Lovett set a precedent that Wilson might have done well to follow.

A Republican, partner in a large private bank and investment firm in New York, Lovett was drafted for the defense job by President Truman because of his distinguished record in war and postwar assignments. During the entire life of the defense department, Lovett stayed completely out of partisan politics. And this was not merely because he was a Republican serving in a Democratic administration.

He was convinced that the administration of the defense department and the issues of defense policy should be kept, if possible, on a bipartisan basis. The security of every American of whatever party or creed is at stake just as it is in the fitting of foreign policy. He took no part in the heated campaign of two years ago.

Up to the end of his service he was working hard on a defense budget which would be ready for whatever administration was to take over in January of 1953. When he was testifying later about the need to cut this budget, Secretary Wilson gave another instance of his capacity for inept expression. It would have been a better budget, he told the senate armed services committee, if Lovett, who suffers from a chronic ulcer, had not been in ill health and therefore unable to devote full time to it.

Senator Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat, called Lovett in New York to report Wilson's statement. In response, the former secretary of defense made an often-repeated remark, which Symington appropriated in his comment on "up-hunting dogs and the kennel dogs": "That man had better keep a civil foot in his mouth."

When he was asked during his Detroit press conference about the administration policy of spreading defense contracts in areas where there is a labor surplus, Wilson answered that defense was too important to be considered as make-work. No one would disagree with that statement.

But the power of allocating billions in defense contracts as between one region or another and one firm or another is a heavy responsibility.

Certainly there should not be the slightest suspicion of politics as is bound to rise when the secretary of defense speaks at a political dinner and in the course of his speech accuses the Democrats of bungling the country into three wars. That is the kind of dangerous overamplification that could scarcely be excused in even the most demagogic politician, and it sounds very strange coming from an official charged with the security of the whole nation.

Government, as perhaps even "Engine Charley" learning, is a continuing responsibility rather than something that can be tidied up and then left to run itself. Similarly, politics is a serious, unremitting responsibility which when it is neglected, as so often happens in America, falls into the hands of the bosses and corruptionists to ignore these responsibilities, or to hand them on casually and indifferently to hirelings, is to get the kind of government and the kind of politics that are in the end more costly and more destructive of integrity and decency.

Is That So!

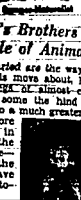
Tarzan's Brothers
Most Agile of Animals

Many and varied are the ways in which mammals move about. Most possess four legs of almost equal length but in some the hind legs are developed to a much greater extent than the fore pair, while yet in others just the reverse is true—and in a few the hind legs have disappeared altogether.



Eugene Brown

Common est method of locomotion among four-footed animals is on all fours although some of these may walk on their hind legs alone. Among these are bears, lemurs, jumping mice, chimpanzees, gorillas, gibbons and orang-utans. Stags, too, may fight in an upright position and I have seen deer, elk and moose stand high up on their hind legs to browse. In contrast, the wart-hog frequently walks on the "knees" of his forelegs when grubbing for food.

For downright agility in the upright position no animal surely can exceed the gibbon. This monkey walks easily upon hind legs alone but he rarely indulges in such locomotion. Spending most of his life in trees, he mainly employs his fore limbs for progress, swinging from limb to limb, and tree to tree, his greater efforts hurling him through the air up to distances of 40 feet.

Ownership of a prehensile tail greatly facilitates arboreal locomotion. In fact the little capuchin, of the new world can suspend himself by tail, drop from 20 to 30 feet, and then catch hold of another branch using tail alone.

The sloth, too, spends most of its life in the trees. Unlike other animals, it walks mostly in an upside-down position, holding on to the branches of the trees by means of its powerful and curved claws.

The tarsier, a squirrel-sized member of the monkey clan, can walk up the side of a cliff because fingers and toes end in round and flattened adhesive-like discs.

A few tree dwellers such as the flying-squirrels have learned to glide, supporting their weight in the air by so stretching taut the flap of lose skin between hind and fore limbs. To help climb and hold to tree trunks, the African flying-squirrels tail has anti-skid scales on the underside.

Of mammals, bats alone have conquered the air—even better than any bird, being able to maneuver skillfully in the dark of night to pursue and capture insects. Once on the ground, the bat is almost helpless—the best it can do is a wobbling shuffle in which it uses its wings.

Several ground dwellers progress by leaps and bounds. Of such are the Canadian jumping mice, the jerboas, and kangaroos—the latter using five

. . . when the nostalgic charm of grandma's oldtimed kitchen is combined with the efficiency of today's magic appliances! In her wildest imagining, grandma would never have deemed it possible to have ranges like we have today, with time-saving automatic controls that take all the uncertainty out of cooking; refrigerators and storage freezers that are like having supermarkets right in our own kitchens. Yet her kitchen was livable in spite of the fact that it answered many needs . . . kitchen, dining room, laundry.

To conserve space in our small homes of today, it is often expedient to use the kitchens as a combination kitchen-dining room. The sketch above shows an effective decorative scheme for such a room. Small-patterned provincial-type wallpaper blends nicely with knotty-pine woodwork and cabinets. Scalloped cornice of knotty pine provides attractive frame for window, permits full advantage of light. Deep blue linoleum on floor is repeated on splashboard. This background was planned especially to play up the warmth, friendliness and charm of the magic furniture. Dropleaf table and benches provide adequate space for family dining. Hutch . . . a reproduction of grandma's favorite . . . has drawers and silver storage facilities.

Come in and see our furniture. We've garnered a selection that will meet both your taste and your budget requirements.

Federal Department to Spend Funds in Magic Valley in '55

Various branches of the department of interior plan to spend $19,279,635 in Idaho in 1955.

Of this amount, the bureau of reclamation will spend $16,907,782, the bureau of land management $802,500, bureau of Indian affairs $780,084, geological survey $494,600, fish and wildlife service $150,510, bureau of mines, $64,500, Bonneville power administration $42,000 and national park service $42,159.

Much of this money either will be spent in Magic Valley or in areas which have a direct bearing on the valley.

The Minidoka project, for example, is slated to get $1,995,997 and the Palisades project $15,166,974.

The work on the Minidoka project includes a start on facilities to serve the unit A gravity area, including the main pumping plant, canals and conduits and for a continuation on work on unit B pumping area. Water will be provided for 8,894 additional areas.

In addition, $670,800 will be spent for operation and maintenance of the existing Minidoka project. The bureau also will spend $414,352 for general investigations throughout the state. Included in this will be continued investigations on the Big Wood river project and initiated investigations on the Little Wood river.

A part of the money allocated to the bureau of land management will be spent through the offices at Burley and Shoshone. In the last 18 months the bureau has completed 1,028 land cases in the state, including allowance for the many applications for desert entry in the Raft river and Blue Gulch irrigation districts.

The geological survey will use a part of its money to continue surveys along the Snake river plain and the fish and wildlife service, in conjunction with the bureau of land management, reports that action has been taken to cooperate with the state fish and game department in establishing an upland game habitat on the North Side pumping division.

The Craters of the Moon national monument is to receive $19,169 for management and protection.

Violin Maker Is Honored

The late Antonio Braga, Gooding, was honored at a concert in Gooding when Dave Rubinoff laid aside his own Stradivarius violin to complete his concert on one made by Mr. Braga. Mr. Braga, who has been dead for nearly two years, made 130 violins in his lifetime. The violin selected by Rubinoff was one made in Gooding in 1949. (Letha Tester photo—staff engraving)

...kane next month and a $100 U. S. savings bond.

The safety essay contest was sponsored jointly by the National Grange and the Automotive Safety foundation.

To be eligible to compete in the national contest, Young first had to win a state contest and then a regional contest. For winning the state contest he was awarded $15. There were no prizes in the regional contest.

In his essay Young observed that in the last 50 years, highway history has become littered with the wreckage from accidents. He said the highway is strewn with more than a million bodies and that, between 40 and 45 million people have hobbled away with injuries. The economic waste runs into billions, he wrote.

At the present rate, he continued, in less than half the time, the total will be doubled.

The young Granger then described the careless and heedless rush that sends motorists "on a trip to nowhere" and lists some of the curealls that have been advanced as permanent solutions for highway death and destruction.

"It is our conviction that neither science nor engineering, no matter how wisely or widely applied, can provide a permanent solution," he wrote.

"This problem has its roots in the minds of men."

Tiny Bullets Continually Blast Earth

By J. HUGH FRUETT
Agronomer, Extension Division
Oregon Higher Education System

Are you a believer in the saying, "What folks do not know won't hurt 'em?" If you are and if you do not know that terrifically swift little bullets are continually bombarding you—they will go through six feet of lead—then perhaps you will be happier if you do not read further.

Dr. Fruett

These tiny bullets, which have energies far greater than anything produced on our earth, were first identified over 40 years ago when the Austrian scientist, Dr. Victor Hess, made a balloon ascension to a height of over three miles. He carried with him a closed vessel of air in an attempt to learn if the ionization of the air was due to radioactive substances resident in the atmosphere or to something coming in from outer space. He found that the higher he went, the greater was the ionization.

The conclusion drawn by Hess was that the thing causing this effect was hindered by the atmosphere. He announced, "The results of my observations are best explained by the assumption that a radiation of very great penetrating power enters our atmosphere from above."

This phenomenon was studied quite extensively by the noted physicist, the late Dr. Robert A. Millikan. He called it "cosmic radiation." This by Madame Curie was soon named "cosmic rays." Dr. Millikan long felt sure these rays were something not material and of the nature of light waves. But other scientists seemed to prove that they were particles. This is the accredited view at present.

What are those cosmic rays, which are classified both as primary and secondary? The primary are those that reach the outside of our atmosphere from the great universal spaces. It is found that they are chiefly protons, the particles making up the central core of hydrogen atoms, and in greater numbers in atoms of other kinds. A proton has a mass of about 1,000 times that of an electron, the negative unit of electricity. These primary rays also contain atoms of various heavier elements excepting the radioactive ones.

When the primary rays encounter our atmosphere they are hindered and in the process produce by ionization and other means—mesons and electrons. This meson (also called "mesotron") has a mass of about 200 electrons. These secondary rays are the ones we encounter on the earth's surface. The great speed and energy of the rays may have been built up over millions of years by magnetic and other forces acting on them while flying without collisions in the depths of the universe.

Where do the primary rays come from? No one knows. None of the various theories can be proved—nor disproved. It seems that a small percentage doubtless come from solar flares. Maybe the violent explosions of distant supernova stars are responsible also. Whether they come entirely from our galaxy or outside systems is not known.

LLOYD HAYNES

AT LAST I AM BACK HOME. In 1940, I had my first experience working with Elvis Cain. World War II came along and, of course, as everyone knows, there was no appliance business during this time. Following the war after Mr. Cain had gone into the business I was fortunate enough to have an important job in Riser-Cain. It was a big mistake when I accepted the job as manager of a competitive store which was in business for only a short period of six months. When this store closed its doors my old position at Riser-Cain had been filled. For the past two years I have more or less been abiding my time waiting for the opportunity to once more get back home with Mr. Cain. On September 1, this opportunity presented itself and it was my intention to announce to my many friends and customers of my good news, but we have been so busy at the store that it has slipped my mind until this time.

Of all the places I have worked in the appliance business for the past 20 years I can truthfully say that Riser-Cain is by far the best.

I take this opportunity to welcome all of my friends and customers of many years in to see me at any time you find it convenient. I am sure I am representing the finest appliance lines in America, sold by the finest appliance store.—adv.

"This is a very encouraging development to utilize the resourcefulness of the German people in building up the defenses of Western Europe against communist aggression," Senator Dworshak stated.

Farm Union's Leader Plans Talk for T. F.

James G. Patton, National Farmers Union president, will be featured speaker at an Idaho Farmers Union rally at 2:30 p. m. Nov. 5 at the Twin Falls junior high school.

Jerome Evans, Boise, Idaho Farmers Union representative, said Patton's address will be the last of a series of three major speeches the farm organization leader will deliver in the northwest.

Patton is scheduled to speak at Everett, Wash., Nov. 3 and at Spokane on Nov. 4.

Patton, president of the National Farmers Union since 1941, is an advocate of firm, effective price supports. His organization has differed sharply with Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson over farm programs and their administration.

Evans said Patton will discuss the effect of the new farm laws passed by the recent congress, and what kind of agricultural legislation farmers may expect out of the next session of congress.

The meeting is open to the public.

Benson Says Candidates Don't Dare "Tell Truth"

PROVO, Utah, Oct. 23 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson declared bluntly Friday night there is "not one political candidate on the horizon who dares to tell the whole truth. Not one."

He added:

"Because the truth is: Work or perish, and that is not an inviting campaign promise.

Expanding on his theme, Benson cited these illustrations:

"The businessman wants federal spending overseas to create a bull market, but he is unwilling to pay increased taxes to support the spending. The worker builds tanks, prays for the man who runs them and then goes on strike for higher wages.

"The trouble is that all of us want to buy wholesale and sell retail."

Benson also commented he is happy to see a trend toward expenditure of a larger proportion of the tax dollar in the states and counties. The Utah dollar, he said, can't make the round trip to Washington without a bureaucratic bite being taken out.

The secretary made the statements in a speech to a Brigham Young university homecoming audience. His daughter, Barbara, is BYU homecoming queen.

HI FOLKS! I missed you last week. Got so bloomin' busy wrecking incubators, remodeling, painting, etc., that I forgot it. You're sure in for a surprise the next time you come into my store. No more Hatchery! No more Incubators! No more of that pungent "Chicken Smell" to attack you in the smeller when you come in! Just Furniture! Lots of Furniture! Two big buildings full of it! Three times as much as ever before!

Guess I should be using a full page spread telling you all about it and giving out coffee and pig knuckles, or something, with whistles and balloons for the kids, but then if I did I'd have to make you pay for it in the end—so this little column will have to do. Judging from the way our customers are raving about the change in our store, the increased stock and the unbelievable low prices, it won't take long for it to get noised around. We are really getting snowed under in our Upholstering Department. Customers are definitely flabbergasted at the unheard-of low prices for which we are doing this work. Come in, or drive by our lighted windows and see the beautiful work that our upholsterer, Keith Crossley, is turning out.

I see by the paper that you are being offered $50.00 for your old overstuffed suite in trade on a new one. Shucks, we do that all the time! And just for a little extra special, I'll go you $75 on your old suite or even just a davenp on a new suite and I have one extra-fine suite on which I'll allow you $100.00 on your old one. If you don't have an old suite to trade in then I'll allow you a CASH DISCOUNT of $50.00 and $75.00.

If we have what you want, I guarantee to save you money! See our large stock of overstuffed suites, bed davenos, unfinished furniture, beds, springs, mattresses and also a large stock of good, re-conditioned, furniture, electric ranges, refrigerators, oil heaters, coal heaters, trash burners, coal ranges, washers, desks, dinettes and baby things. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories yet expands when it absorbs water thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

...ming of Movie Sometimes ...s Harder Than Producing It

...Y BAL BOYLE

...W YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Naming ...a movie is sometimes ...e intellectual strain than ...

Hal Boyle

...his pic... ...ne come up with the year's ...tle in "phift," starring Judy ...t, Jack Lemon, Jack Carson and Kim Novak. It's a matrimonial farce in which a young copple discover that the only thing worse than being married to each other is to be divorced from each other.

Picking the title was easy. Everybody—well, everybody on Broadway, anyway—knows that "Phiffft" was pointed by Walter Winchell to describe a marital buntup.

As he recalls it himself, Walter originated the expression while talking with the late Texas Guinan, the night club queen who made "Hello, Sucker" famous. She was giving Winchell a tip that Mr. and Mrs. so-and-so had divorced. But a waiter opened a bottle of champagne just as she reached the word "divorced," and the popping cork drowned out the sound.

Winchell scribbled down "phiffft"—and the English language was enriched.

Tired of a good eye-catching title, the executives at Columbia pictures then had to face a bigger problem: How to spell it.

This brought on quite a conference. The two "F" men favored "phift," arguing this would cut down electric light bills for theater marquees.

But the four "F" men had a strong counter for "phiffft":

"It was put more Pa-in-it-ly look like a bigger production."

Finally they compromised on "phiffft," the way it has been spelled all along, and everybody went home wringing wet with relief.

The solving of that problem, however, only led to another: how do you pronounce "phiffft?" Executive Producer Jerry Wald had Judy Holliday pronounce it 32 different ways on a sound track (it says right here). Still unsatisfied, he then polled several hundred English professors to get their ideas.

This really brought on chaos. The profs said that "phiffft" should be pronounced so as to sound like (A) an electric light bulb as it burns out, (B) a fizzling firecracker, and (C) a one-lung outboard motor.

To put it more simply in everyday language, Dean Ralph Colby, Oregon State college, suggested, "the sound begins with a labial explosive, continues with a labiadental fricative, and ends with an alveolar stop."

On the other hand, E. Bagby Atwood of the University of Texas voiced this preference:

"You start with a voiceless bilabial stop, aspirated, followed by a voiceless bilabial trill, followed by a voiceless alveolar stop, exploded and aspirated."

In each case, of course, you type the mixture with whipped cream, sprinkle with unsalted almonds, and serve while hot.

If "phiffft" makes a hit, however, the moviegoer might as well start bracing himself against a rash of weird new titles such as "Ugh," "Hm-m-m," "Whew!" and "Ho Hum."

Jaunt to Moon Is Predicted Shortly

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP)—Television electronics soon will provide a "trip" to the moon, Says Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver, National Broadcasting company president.

Weaver told the junior chamber of commerce yesterday the feat would be accomplished by firing a TV rocket into outer space. The rocket would be equipped with TV instruments for transmission of pictures, he said. His talk commemorated the 75th anniversary of the electric light.

"The American child today will have a fabulous setting in which to grow as a member of the first planetary society," Weaver said.

"These are great days but would not have been had it not been for the great works of (Thomas A.) Edison," the NBC president added.

School Problem for Gooding County Studied by Taxpayers

Editor, Times-News:

Since the election in November, 1953, which withdrew about one-third of the pupils from Orchard Valley school and annexed about one-third its valuation to the Wendell district, reports have been and still are being widely circulated that the Orchard Valley district is left unfairly with insufficient funds to operate properly.

As taxpayers we have therefore secured figures and statements which are on file in the office of the state department of education to ascertain the facts. Here are the figures for all to see: All taxes for 1952-53 were allocated to Orchard Valley on $562,608 valuation; all 1953-54 taxes were allocated to Orchard Valley on $580,565 valuation. The 1954-55 Orchard Valley school budget was made on $560,566 valuation.

As noted above, all the school tax money for 1953-54 went to Orchard Valley notwithstanding they had one-third fewer pupils since they were attending Wendell schools. Furthermore, Orchard Valley had an extra $6,142.28 for use for 1953-54 from the general fund carried forward July 31, 1953.

At time of request for election by a number of patrons of Orchard Valley, the assessed valuation of the district was $562,208. Value removed was $154,118.50, leaving a valuation of $378,089.50. An adjustment was later made, because our farm with five children was ruled not contiguous and $28,871 was returned to Orchard Valley, increasing the valuation to $406,960.50. The new power line in the district have increased the valuation about $130,000, making the present valuation of Orchard Valley about $536,960.

With fewer high school tuitions to be paid out this year, surely the 43 to 47 remaining grade school children can be cared for more efficiently from the revenues from valuation quoted above than were the 65 to 68 grade children (all eight grades) formerly attending Orchard Valley school in two rooms. If it was adequate before "secession" it surely must be more so now.

It is true the tax levy has been increased from 18 to 24 mills. We don't believe the reason for this can be charged to reorganization committee or members of the state board of education who are charged with the duty "to see that no district is injured financially because of a change of boundaries." (IC 33-514)

Board members have labored long to give all patrons (or most of them) who desired, what they thought was a better school for their children.

And they have done just that and in a district they desired in all fairness to all Orchard Valley patrons. Those desiring to join Wendell district were permitted to do so and those desiring to remain in the Orchard Valley district were permitted to remain. This was shown in the election and later upheld by district court.

Is it fair though for Orchard Valley patrons to force the other taxpayers of Gooding county to pay $7,000 in extra taxes so Orchard Valley school district can function under a county setup rather than a reorganization setup?

The higher tax levy may have been necessary because several thousand dollars have been spent for unauthorized and unbudgeted, though badly needed, building. May be also because outstanding high school tuition is still unpaid.

The assessed valuation per student at the time of request for election was $6,316.50. The present valuation per pupil is about $8,802.00. It is very evident that the financial condition of Orchard Valley district is good, better than before the election.

We suggest that more taxpayers of Gooding county check the records for themselves.

She Sees Puzzle in Campaign, Holds Idaho's Been Fortunate

Editor, Times-News:

This political campaign reminds me of a story I read recently. A county agent was lecturing a group of Negro farmers on good sound farm management. He explained and explained for a couple of hours and finally gave up and sat down. Seeing how dazed and bewildered the audience looked, the Negro chairman arose and said, "Gentlemen, what he done tole you was dis: If yo out-go exceeds yo income den yo up-keep will be yo down-fall."

And how true this simple truth is, whether applied to farming, government, business or home.

I think the people who are in charge of our Idaho government have done a good job for which the people should be thankful. Our state is out of debt. When you vote, consider this fact and remember it's better to be safe than sorry.

We, the taxpayers, don't want a spendthrift gang to run our state government. We have seen enough of that in Washington, D. C. Every year our national debt is increased 1 billion dollars. Most of our Idaho congressmen have been okay, but they are outnumbered by those eastern savages from the more thickly populated districts where dollars and not sense count.

Foreign policy is the hub around which all national issues revolve. The Bricker amendment which would make all foreign agreements and treaties subject to senate approval before becoming binding and legal was defeated by one vote.

Remember, the civil government book used in high school states, "In the power of the President in the foreign field is well nigh immeasurable (practically without limit). No wonder we are 275 billion dollars in debt. Don't you think it's time somebody called halt?

McCarthy ran into the power of the President when he tried to find out information about who promoted the communist army dentist and gave him an honorable discharge. He ran into an iron wall, not a curtain. The issue is still there and unsettled. Who was responsible and why?

She Asks Voters to Remember Last 20 Years When They Vote

Editor, Times-News:

I wonder when the voters go to the polls if they will think seriously and decide before they vote if they want the new deal, fair deal, etc., we have had for 20 years. That gave us communist youth parties in the White House, presidential power that sold us down the river, built alliance with Russia, putting in our government Russian spies and workers against our American liberty.

Good Old Joe was what leaders called Stalin. Traitors were defended, our boys sent to war, our secrets given to Russia. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt defends every traitor we tried. Truman, Acheson and Latimer planned this trouble in Korea, Indochina, east Asia and Formosa, all promised to Russia.

Hiss, Dexter White and many others are defended. Our money plates and paper were given to Russia. Many millions of dollars were printed and we have to redeem every bit of it. Truman is for socialism, fair play taking the name of helping the people taxing to get money to hoard up the surplus millions every month for refrigerating butter, etc.

Our billion dollar bureaucracy overseas has made us enemies in Europe. Who fought the Korea war? Not the countries helped by the Marshall plan's billions of dollars. Ninety five per cent of the boys fighting in Korea were Americans. Truman took our troops out of Korea and put a police force in and wouldn't let our generals go ahead and win the war.

Who made World war II? The Democrats! That President got many a vote because he promised to keep us out of war. Then the depression was all blamed on President Hoover, who had his hands tied with a Democratic congress and senate were Democrats who voted everything. They vetoed his bill for a billion dollars to help the unemployed.

Now when our President is cleaning up some of the mess we are in, let us get together and vote Republican ticket and give President Eisenhower a chance to see what he can do in one term to clean up some of the dishonesty and communism. We have Russia at the head of the United Nations. Do we want red China sitting beside them?

I have good reliable articles to show you where I get my articles—Reader's Digest of April, 1953, is a good one, on page 33 "Our Dishonest Old Age Pension is another good article in a Reader's Digest. How many have read the Road Ahead,

He Asks Proper and Adequate Laws to Make Highways Safe

Editor, Times-News:

In Thursday's (Oct. 14) Times-News, we have "Tipsy driver gets ten-day jail term." Then there is the argument that Governor Jordan is not right in his idea that more police are not needed.

We do not need more police to burden us with more taxes but we do need proper and adequate laws to protect decent citizens from irresponsible drivers using our highways.

Anyone driving while drunk, reckless and speeding should be taken off the roads by having his license taken away permanently. A party that can't pass the license examination doesn't get one and a party found to be incompetent after getting one should have it taken away permanently so they are off the roads for good. With only responsible drivers left on the roads we would need no extra cops. More cops and 10-day jail terms only can mean what we have now—a senseless mess.

The railroads have a similar problem but they don't have safety councils to tell them to get more cops. They get rid of engineers who have to drink or act irresponsible and that ends their problem as it can on the highways. No doubt the liquor interests wouldn't like such laws.

In a representative form of government, if we have, the people are as much to blame for abuses which can be corrected by proper laws as the ones who commit the abuses if they won't take interest enough to demand and get the needed reforms.

She Replies for Issue of 'Using' Schools in Vote

Editor, Times-News:

Answering Mr. Herbst of Kimberly, why be so puzzled, Mr. H? This was not a political but a moral issue.

If a dozen skunks got in your chicken house, wouldn't you use every means at hand to rout the varmints?

Our school faculty is made up of men of the highest integrity, whose duty it is to safeguard the morals and health of the children under their supervision.

I suppose it would have been alright, to your way of thinking, if this $20 had been used to buy books. As to the poster comparison, it is odious in the extreme. Perhaps a little of that compulsory church attendance would still be good . . .

League of Women Voters Proposes Support for U.N.

Editor, Times-News:

The League of Women Voters of the U.S. has, as a part of its program—"support of the United Nations and full U.S. participation in its specialized agencies." Our program is a means of carrying out our purpose, to help citizens take on political responsibility in their government.

On this day, Oct. 24, which is the birthday of the U.N., we feel we should promote the aims and achievements of the U.N.

Perhaps those who feel that the U.N. has been a failure were misinformed—maybe people were told the U.N. could do a lot it was never meant to do. The U.N. was never meant to settle issues of war but to exist as a co-op for peace. The only failure is on the refusal of nations to accept U.N.

There are tangible reasons for accepting and supporting U.N. It is the last organization where two sides in the world maintain daily diplomatic and political contact which itself is a force for peace. It can keep the peace if given backing.

So on this day, we urge become informed and support to the U.N. and that the U.N. is what you

They Plan Contest Pitfalls

Planning a tricky aptitude test to be taken by 27 boys during the annual observance of FHA week at Twin Falls high school are, from left, Barbara Zook, president of the local FHA chapter; Joan Janson, FHA adviser and homemaking teacher, and Leona Campbell, chairman for the week. 27 Boys Will Vie for "Mr. Twin High" Title in Four Days of FHA Contest

Twenty-seven specially chosen Twin Falls high school boys don aprons and march into the school kitchens Monday for a four-day session of homemaking activities after which Mr. Twin High will be crowned as part of the local observance of the annual Future Homemakers of America week.

Th. boys will go through an aptitude test on cooking and sewing Monday. The following day the young "kitchen apprentices" will "round the stoves to try their hand at making fudge while Wednesday's program will be devoted to baking cookies. Thursday the boys will clean up, leaving the kitchens as sparkling as they found them before they moved in.

Mr. Twin High will be crowned at an appropriate ceremony in connection with the Harvest ball to be held in the school gymnasium Saturday night.

The idea behind the FHA week, which is observed nationally, is to publicize the high school homemaking department, according to Joan Janson, local FHA adviser and homemaking teacher. "We also want to show the boys some of the tricks of the trade so that they may better understand and appreciate their future wives and their jobs in the kitchen," she said.

Girls on the committee for the FHA week arrangements are Kirk Thueson, Charlotte Julian, Ann Carpenter, Lisella Eacker, Sandra Running, Phyllis Johnston, Barbara Zook, Dollie Flinn, Rose Kimpton and Rae Borah. Leona Campbell is chairman while Miss Zook is the president of the local FHA chapter.

Boys who have been selected by their respective home rooms to run for the Mr. Twin High title are Gary Hanchey, Larry Kleinkopf, Mac Brandon, John Magel, Russell Thomas, Milton Davidson, Larry Mitchell, Jack Southwick, Orritt Rae Hoffman, Willard Slater, William Alworth, Wesley Jones, Richard Miller, Thomas Jones, Phillip Kreft, Fred Powers, Robert Latham, William Stover, Max Chapman, James Douglas, Wesley Goold, Gary Doesect, Phil Jones, Garland Metcalf, Lonn Messman, Charles Wadsworth and Jerry Martyn.

Judges for the contest are two of the school's teachers, L. J. Schroyer and Rex Olsen; Florence Schultz, county home demonstration agent, and Phyllis Schoenjug, Idaho Power company home demonstrator. The entire student body will have an opportunity to vote at Tuesday's fudge-making spree.

A special tea to be served in the teachers' lounge after school Friday afternoon by all FHA members constitutes a separate part of the week-long observance. A work day has been planned for Nov. 1. All proceeds from the events will go toward the FHA national project, Miss Janson explained.

It pays to wear shirts with a "professionally-done" look

A man looks better, feels confident and at ease when he knows his shirt looks right! Yet very few shirts done at home can have that falsebed, "professional" look.
On the other hand, our specialized equipment, trained workers and special products turn out shirts with a fresh, new look every time. One reason we do a better job is that we dress shirts with Velvet Rainbow Starch — a professional product not available to housewives. It gives them a smooth, wrinkle-free appearance, keeps them pliable, free from harshness or stiffness. Try us — see and feel the difference that our skill and Velvet Rainbow make in your shirts!

These will be released in the near future," Rich said.

The program listed projects on nearly every route of the state. Rich said that approval of the board was based upon recommendations by State Highway Engineer R. V. Miller. "Miller's recommendations were arrived at after a careful study of the department's annual sufficiency rating studies and an actual inspection of the routes and visits with many communities throughout the entire state," Rich said. He pointed out that the department made a careful analysation of the priority projects and that the board and Miller then traveled over 3,300 miles and met in 26 communities to inspect and discuss these proposed projects.

In commenting on the program, Miller said that the needs of a route based upon an arithmetical summarization of the structural conditions of a highway and its relative potentialities for safety and service play a large part in determining which projects should be given priority in the construction program.

"Naturally, the department would like to build immediately every highway that needs it, but limitations, such as manpower and money, make this impossible. Therefore, we have to do as much as we can with the funds available and do it in a planned and sensible manner so as to produce the most good for the most people," Miller said. "That is where our needs studies come in."

"As far as can be determined at this time, the program represents as accurately as possible our planned construction program for 1955," Rich concluded.

Stitch-in-Time Stockpiles Gifts for Children, Adults

By KAY SHERWOOD
(NEA Staff Writer)

Start making Christmas presents now? Sounds pretty silly, doesn't it? But just take a peek at the calendar and remember last year, when we vowed we'd start earlier this year.

I came across a couple of easy, clever and inexpensive home-sewing ideas that can be worked into other fall sewing projects and should yield a modest stockpile of gifts to store against the last-minute rush.

One idea is a candy-cane bib apron for the little children on a list. This is especially suitable, I think, if you're not sure just what toy is wanted or appropriate. Package it with a real candy cane and you'll be in solid with the younger generation.

The other idea is Christmas tree placemats and napkins, a happy solution to the problem of giving one gift to a sizeable family.

Either could be hand-sewn or machine-stitched. Even old-fashioned machines do an up-to-date decorative job with the aid of modern attachments. These include the decorative stitch attachment and the multiple-slotted binder which automatically guides binding to garment or seam edges.

Appliqued designs are easy to do with the attachment which gives a zigzag stitch effect. Just remember, when you cut the design, to allow a half-inch margin for stitching. Cut away excess fabric close to stitches when the design is sewed in place.

Striped red-and-white binding and perky Christmas trees appliqued on dark green add the festive touch to the bib apron. To make two aprons requires ½ yard of dark green Indian head or similar fabric, ½ yard white Indian head, three packages No. 5 red-and-white candy-striped single-fold bias binding and a spool of white thread.

Cut a simple apron pattern from the dark green; cut trees from the white fabric, allowing margin for appliquing. Draw guide lines on trees and baste binding strips in place as decorative trim. Baste trees to apron. Using the decorative zigzag stitch attachment, finish edges of bias strips and applique trees to apron.

Bind the lower and neck edges of the apron. To make the neck and waist ties and to finish armholes, use a binder attachment, allowing 16 inches of the bias to be folded and stitched before inserting edge of apron into binder. After armhole is bound, continue stitching folded bias for another 16 inches to make another tie. Repeat the process for the other armhole.

For the holiday place mats and napkins, you can use as the base ready-made solid-color undecorated table linens or hem your own from red or green cotton or linen. A random-printed polka-dot pattern can be used for the tree applique.

Draw a tree shape on the fabric and draw in lines joining the polka dots to give the effect of trimming the tree. Center a large tree on mat, smaller tree in corner of napkin. Applique with a zigzag stitch. Using same attachment, sew over marked lines on tree.

Music Therapist Talks to Rupert Group Members

RUPERT, Oct. 23—"One out of every five people is mentally ill to some degree, under the right conditions, and anyone could become seriously mentally ill in 10 minutes," Dr. Florence Chambers, music therapist at the State Hospital South, Blackfoot, told members of the Rupert Woman's club Thursday at the Episcopal guild hall.

Doctor Chambers, who has been with the hospital one year, said in some cases music therapy is more successful than the work of psychiatrists. She stressed love, understanding and gentleness in work with mentals. She said they are like children and the greatest feeling of achievement comes in seeing the dawn of understanding "in their beautiful, blank eyes."

Thirty of her patients, playing from memory before the public, made history this year in a musical recital.

After World war II she was asked to assist with basket cases. She told of one man who was limbless except for one arm and his illness stemmed from the desire "to have become a great pianist. Working with him she got him interested in composing. He is now with a New York music publishing house and is a success.

Doctor Chambers originally was a concert pianist and she played several selections for the group.

Carl Heinscheid, president of the local chapter of Idaho Writers' league, read some of his own articles at the meeting.

TITLE-BOUND NAMPA WALLOPS TWIN FALLS ELEVEN 39 TO

Larry Craggs' 52-Yard Run Sets up First Bruin Score

Nampa's Big Six conference title hopefuls beat Twin Falls thinly-manned squad 39-13 on Lincoln field Friday night to ruin the Bruins' final 1954 home gridiron appearance.

The injury jinx continued to plague coach Harold Brown's Bruin eleven. Last Friday Wes Jones, the team's left end, was lost because of an ankle injury. So Jim McClellan was groomed to replace Jones. McClellan turned up sick Friday and played only briefly, forcing Jim Douglass, just returned from the injured list himself, to play the wing post. Douglass turned in a commendable job.

Willard Slater, a key performer in the Bruins' line at left tackle, injured a knee in the second period that put him out of commission for the evening. And Lyle Shockey who is the regular left guard was kept on the shelf by a doctor's ruling. An injury he received during practice earlier in the week has developed into water on the hip.

In routing the Bruins Friday, coach Babe Brown's Bulldogs gained 208 yards through the air lanes and 168 yards on the ground. The visitors had a net gain of 358 yards after 18 yards in rushing losses are figured.

Nampa's fine quarterback, Gary Farnworth, completed 10 of 13 pass attempts and at least two others should have been fielded.

The Bruins' aerial game was quite inadequate. Eighteen times Twin Falls tried the air route and on only four occasions did it succeed. And it was not until the third period when en route to its second touchdown that the Twin Falls eleven had its first aerial click. Nampa intercepted twice.

Offensively the Bruins gained 148 yards on the ground with Larry Craggs' 52-yard scamper which set up his team's first score contributing a big chunk of the real estate. Forty-eight more yards were picked up passing but the hard-charging Bulldogs slammed Bruin backs for a total of 25 yards in rushing losses for a net yardage of 161.

The customers had hardly settled in their seats before Nampa was knocking at the door to touchdown-land. Fred Corey sailed on the opening kickoff on his 15, cut back to the sidelines and raced to the Bruin 42-yard line before being driven out early by Bob Pis. Two plays later, Jack Acree slanted off the right side for the touchdown.

Jack Holloway's 54-yard boot out on the Nampa 1-yard line was the only other thrill coming in the first period and it was nullified when both teams were offsides.

A drive which started late in the first period culminated on the second play of the second stanza with Farnworth passing 12 yards to Fred Towery for the score. The thrust carried 49 yards with two aerials netting up 21 of the yardage.

When Gordon Gray covered a Nampa fumble on the visitors' 39 the Bruins had their best scoring opportunity of the first half. The chance went by the boards when Glenn Potter was stopped a yard short of a first down.

Passed from Farnworth to Towery for 23 yards, then to Acree for 10 were the features as Nampa drove 70 yards for its third score, Acree dashing across the double chalks from 16 yards out. Third time Gerry Behunin's placement was true for a 19-0 lead.

Momenta later Nampa had another 6-pointer when Farnworth lofted 30 yards with a pass theft in the Twin Falls' 15 then passed to Towery for the score. The placement was good making the halftime score 26-0.

It was a fired-up Bruin grid machine that answered the call of the second half whistle and battered its way 71 yards in eight plays with Craggs 5-yarder advance through a gaping hole in the right side of his line being the key play. Hard-running Bob Slater crunched over from the four on the next play.

Catching the Bulldogs napping, Twin Falls made an onside kick work to its advantage with Douglas recovering on the Nampa 29. A 10-yard aerial, Potter to Douglas, set up the score on the 18 with Craggs grabbing a Potter pitch on the five and squirming over with a tackler on his back. Slater's boot made it 26-12.

Nampa struck quickly, Farnworth pitching a short one to Corey who latralled to Acree on a touchdown play that covered 62 yards. Dale Stewart's crisp block on the 15 bowled over the last Bruin defender.

Towery's theft of a Potter pass on the seven ended a Bruins' threat as the third period closed. Completed passes for 23 and 18 yards sparked Nampa on its 93-yard touchdown march which was capped when Alvah Dodd whipped around right end from the 18 for the score. The conversion made the tally 39-12. There were no more threats.

Gary Jenkins, south linebacker, Kent Miller, south tackle who replaced Willard Slater, and Arlo Luke, junior linebacker, played well on defense for the Bruins with teammates Bob Slater, Craggs and Douglas showing well on offense.

Nampa's entire line was rugged and the play of Acree, Corey and Farnworth in the backfield was superb.

Score by quarters:

Nampa	6	20	6	7—39

Buhl Mauls Blackfoot 26-6 as Lewton Stars

BUHL, Oct. 23—A 170-pound junior halfback, Terry Lewton, fired the Buhl Indians to a 26-6 triumph over Blackfoot here Friday afternoon. The win kept the Buhl record unblemished in five starts. Lewton cracked over from the 3-yard line early after the opening kickoff. His scamper topped off a 65-yard march. A bit later in the period he intercepted a Blackfoot pass to stall a visitors' bid.

In the waning moments of the second act Lewton scored again on a 3-yard thrust off tackle after first setting up the touchdown with an interception.

Buhl took complete charge in the third act, shoving over two touchdowns. Lewton passed 15 yards to Stan Ayers and the receiver romped 15 more for one-score. Lewton then passed to Gene Clayton for the point and a 19-0 lead. Herb Shark passed eight yards to Louis Andrewa who ran 10 more yards for the score. The point try was good.

With both teams using reserves for the most part, in the fourth quarter, Blackfoot pushed over its only score. A recovered Buhl fumble on the Indians' 20 set up the Blackfoot score. Walker rammed over from the one for the score.

Buhl picked up 12 first downs to six by Blackfoot.

Sooners Coast Past Kansas State by 21-0

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 23 (AP)—Oklahoma, the nation's number one football power, played under wraps with a line-smashing ground game today to shut out Kansas State 21 to 0.

Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson relied on his first two teams to smother the Kansas State running game and roll up a three-touchdown lead in the first half.

With next week's crucial Big Seven conference showdown against Colorado in mind, Oklahoma used straight handoffs and plunges to extend its winning string to 14 straight. This was Oklahoma's 42nd Big Seven game without a defeat.

Fullback Jerry Tubbs, a converted center, repeatedly plunged like an angry bull to bolster Oklahoma's scoring drives. Tubbs scores once, threw a key block on halfback Buddy Leake's three-yard rip for the first tally and came through consistently when Oklahoma needed a first down.

Gooding Ties Rupert 6-6 in League Battle

GOODING, Oct. 23—A Gooding eleven, bothered considerably by a severe case of "fumblitis," played to a 6-6 tie with Rupert high here Friday in a Cross-State conference battle. Rupert end Dwain Hess snatched the opening kickoff and returned it 80 yards for a touchdown. The try for point was unsuccessful.

Neither team made a scoring bid until late in the second quarter when Gooding fumbled a punt and Rupert recovered on the Senators' 10-yard-line. Coach Vince Carter's eleven stiffened its defense and held for downs.

Gooding quarterback Larry Leeper scampered 15 yards midway in the fourth period to tie the game at 6-6. Later in the same period the Senators drove to the Rupert 1-yard line but lost the scoring opportunity on a fumble.

Rupert's line outweighed Gooding's by a considerable margin.

Jim Wright, Gooding halfback, was a standout on offense, making a number of sparkling runs.

Next Friday Gooding hosts Burley. The Senators have a two won, four lost and one tie record.

Hagerman Tips Carey 20 to 7 For First Win

HAGERMAN, Oct. 23 — Pushing over two first period scores and making them stand up under the pressure of the Carey Panthers, Hagerman high's Pirates won their first game in six starts here Friday by a 20-7 tally.

Hagerman relied mainly on its ground game to rack up its victory. The Pirates attempted on six passes and completed three. Carey stayed on the ground mostly, too, throwing only five times and clicking on three. In first downs, Hagerman had a 12-3 advantage.

Terry Palmer rocked open the goal line barrier with a 25-yard scamper for the Pirates in the first period. The jaunt climaxed a 70-yard thrust that began immediately after the opening kickoff.

Midway through the first period Hagerman captured a Carey fumble on the visitors' 30 and turned the break into a touchdown. Bob Hawkes cracked over on a quick opener from 10 yards out. Pete Woody ran for the point that put the Pirates in front 13-0.

Palmer stole a Carey aerial and ran 15 yards for the third period Hagerman 6-pointer. Danny Moore sliced over for the point on a plunge.

Coach Jay Waite's Hagerman eleven had lost four and tied one before tripping Carey for its initial win.

Halfback Phil Oyler fought his way for five yards into the end zone on an end run for BYU's second touchdown early in the fourth period.

A few plays after the kickoff, Montana fumbled and BYU. recovered and marched for another score, with Kimball tossed to left end Ray Neel for the touchdown.

Halfback Dick Imer, who stood out in defeat, blazed through the Cougars for Montana's lone tally in the third quarter. He went through center for 55 yards.

Arkansas Topple Mississippi 6-0

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 23 (AP)—A 66-yard pass from substitute tailback Buddy Benson to Preston Carter late in the fourth quarter gave Arkansas' Razorbacks a 6-0 victory over the University of Mississippi Saturday before 25,000 fans.

Ole Miss' winning streak at five straight.

The result gave undefeated Arkansas, leader of the Southwest conference, its fifth straight victory of the year.

The interaccidental game was extra costly to Ole Miss because it cost it a Southeast conference title and knocked the Rebels from the loop lead. Mississippi had not been able to schedule the required six *games to be eligible for the South-*east title so the game here was designated as a conference game.

For three quarters the two teams battled between the 20's in a test of offensive strength.

Then with only three minutes and 45 seconds remaining, Benson threw 31 yards to blocking back Carpenter. Carpenter had slipped behind Ole Miss' defenders and outran halfbacks Billy Kinard and Earl Blair to score untouched.

Mississippi twice made determined drives but was stopped short by an Arkansas defense that has been magnificent in the clutch all year. One Rebel drive was stopped on the four; the other ended on the 17.

WASHINGTON STATE BELTED 10-0 BY AROUSED IDAHO TEAM

Vandal Triumph Is First Over Cougars in 29 Years

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 23 (AP)—The surprising Idaho Vandals, who hadn't won a game in two, beat Washington State 10-0 Saturday for the first time in 29 years.

The Vandals and the frenzied Idaho rooting section swarmed onto the field at the finish, tore down the goal post and carried coach Skip Stahley into the dressing room. It was no fluke for the underdog Idaho team which was supposed to lose by three touchdowns or more. The Vandals outplayed WSC all the way and stopped the Cougar passers to weight their ground game to a standstill.

The last 41-yard run down the field by Bill Lawr put Idaho into position in the second quarter for a fourth down pass from George Roach to Frank Overbaugh for the touchdown. From the six-yard line Bill Hess kicked the point.

That was enough to do it but the Cougars, who had last trimmed their foes in 1925, weren't through. In the third quarter, Idaho got to the 15 and Don Leppke booted a field goal at an angle from the 16.

The Cougars, blanked for the first time this year, got into scoring position twice and couldn't get into Idaho 15.

Quarterbacks Frank Sarno and Bob Iverson were rushed from the start on their throws by the inspired Idaho line.

In the first half, Idaho gained twice as much yardage on the ground—135 to 62—and the Vandals didn't look any better in the second, for a crowd of some 10,000 had expected a rout.

It was the fourth loss of the year in the results of Idaho efforts to stop Cougar drives. The first was a pass interception by Bob Wilson in the second on a poor 18-yard punt.

Actually, it was a one-sided game, much to the fans who have come to this annual "battle of the Palouse" as strict Washington state rooters.

The Vandals had scoring opportunities every quarter. In the first they lost the ball on the Cougar 1 yard line, and in the fourth had pass interceptions by Bill Hess and Gary set up touchdown that bogged on the 10 and 24.

It for two ties, in 1927 and 1930 has beaten Idaho every year 1925 in one of football's oldest traditional rivalries. Idaho was a team that wasn't going to go anywhere this year but put up until today, ran the ends and tackles with comparative ease, and the line held Washington on plebouts to Gary, Lee and Mel Schmidt drove were frantic.

Opening of Pheasant Season Called Success

A survey of 11 checking stations in Gooding, Lincoln, Twin Falls and Jerome counties by Charles Blake, fourth district game bird biologist, revealed hunters averaged better than one pheasant per man Saturday on the opening day of the upland game bird season.

"This indicates a successful opening," Blake said. "The cold and wind cut down the number of hunters considerably," he added, "but approximately 2,000 pheasant hunters were checked out at the various stations."

The kill on Hungarian partridges and California valley quail was practically non-existent, Blake said. No kill of Chukar partridges was recorded on opening day at two checking stations. Chukar is legal game for the first time in Gooding county west of highway 46 through Elmore county.

The bag and possession limit on pheasants is three cocks. The season is open through Nov. 14.

Grover C. Davis, conservation officer at Filer, urges hunters to respect farmers' property. "It's a misdemeanor to hunt on another man's ground if you haven't asked permission," he reminded.

He said that from his observation "there undoubtedly was more than a normal crop of pheasants this year."

Branoff Fires Michigan Past Minnesota

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 23 (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines, inspired by injured halfback Tony Branoff, upset powerful Minnesota, 34-0, Saturday to loom as a sudden and serious contender for the Big Ten title.

It was Minnesota's first defeat in five games this season.

Michigan ground through Minnesota's defense, the second-rated in the Big Ten, for a 70-yard drive in the first period—and an 80-yard drive in the second, both ending in touchdowns.

The Wolverines smacked through for three more in the second half on drives of 66, 69, and 27 yards.

Branoff, who was back in action for the first time since suffering a knee injury in the Army game, figured in four of the touchdowns.

Navy Breaks Penn Jinx, Winning 52-6

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23 (AP)—Navy's football forces carried entirely too much firepower for Penn Saturday and sailed to an easy 52-6 victory over the winless Quakers.

The Quakers defensive cleaned up some old business that had rankled the Navy for a long time.

It was the first time since 1945, when a Penn transfer, Skippy Minisi, did the trick, that Navy had been able to win at Franklin field.

Kentucky Smashes Favored Foe 13-6

ATLANTA, Oct. 23 (AP)—Bradley Mills, an unsung junior end, sparked a fired-up crew of Kentucky Wildcats to a 13-6 victory over highly favored Georgia Tech Saturday in a Southeastern conference football headliner.

Kentucky came to Atlanta as a two-touchdown underdog but Mills' outstanding performance gave the Wildcats the spark they needed to defeat a flat Georgia Tech team, ranked No. 15 nationally.

Idaho State's Lee Brack won the two-mile cross country race in 10:21.

Two new records were set. Bob Conley of Idaho State made a new mark of 52.6 in the college 440. The old mark was 53.4. Buck MacOllvary of Pocatello trimmed four seconds off the high school 440 mark. He did it in 52.7. The old mark was 56.7.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 23 (AP)—Bill Beverly, a trigger-armed junior quarterback, passed for both Indian touchdowns Saturday as Dartmouth defeated Harvard 13-7.

Rebounding Stanford Cuffs Washington 13-7

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 23 (AP)—The Stanford Indians bounced back from their devastating defeat of a week ago to whip the Washington Huskies 13-7 Saturday in their Coast conference football game.

Washington had five fumbles, one of which—on the Stanford goal line—robbed the Huskies of a sure touchdown.

Stanford drove 82 yards to take a 6-0 lead in the opening quarter, lost the advantage 7-6 in the same period and smashed 85 yards in the second quarter for the winning touchdown.

There were no particular individual standouts in the Stanford comeback. Last week Stanford lost 72-0 at the hands of UCLA.

Quarterback Jerry Gustafson's 71-yard pass to John Stewart highlighted the first touchdown. Gustafson dived over from the one-yard line. Washington came back with a 65-yard drive and converted to take a 7-6 lead shortly before the opening quarter ended.

A pass interference ruling for 28 yards aided the Huskies. It put the ball a yard from the goal, where right halfback Bob Dunn dove over. Dunn kicked the extra point.

The long second period clincher was conceived mainly on the ground, but Gustafson completed two passes good for a total of 26 yards. Fullback Bill Tarr smashed over from one-yard out and Dorsey Atkinson converted.

Rose Bowl-Bound USC Squeezes by Larson-Led California 29 to 27

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP)—Quarterback Paul Larson and the California Bears built a roaring fire under the Rose bowl-bound Trojans, but it wasn't hot enough and USC came out on top 29-27 Saturday in a bitterly-waged contest.

Remaining unbeaten in Pacific Coast conference play, and dealing the Bears a near-fatal blow to their bowl aspirations, the Trojans marched to victory by the margin of a safety scored in the third quarter.

This was California's finest game despite its fourth defeat, and it required an even greater game by the favored Trojans to win.

USC forced the Bears into errors—two fumbles—and turned the first into a fast touchdown in the first four minutes of the opening period. The second fumble cost the Bears a touchdown—a ball dropped in the Trojans' end zone by halfback John Wilson.

Bolstered by this break the Trojans traveled 46 yards and made it 14-0. The payoff play was a 23-yard pass from Jim Contratto to left Chuck Leimbach.

The safety, the deciding factor in the game, came when Larson tried a pass from his own end zone and was dropped for two points by Don McFarland.

Heroes were many for the rugged Trojans but the scoring ace and a terror on defense was right half Lindon Crow. He scored three of USC's four touchdowns and it was he who recovered Hal Norris' fumble on the opening kickoff on the Bears' 30 and Wilson's end zone bobble.

Larson kept the Bears alive and Troy in distress with both his running and throwing. He completed 14 out of 18 passes for 167 yards and two touchdowns.

And his brilliant 84-yard run on a kickoff early in the third to the USC one-yard line, followed by his scoring smash, put the Bears back into the game at 20-14 at this point.

Montana State Win Brings Loop Crown

BOZEMAN, Mont., Oct. 23 (AP)—Montana State college bounded past Western State 27-6 Saturday afternoon to win its first Rocky Mountain conference football title since 1948.

Halfback Frankie Landon scored twice to spearhead the Bobcat win over the Gunnison, Colo., school.

Landon tallied twice in the second quarter as the Bobcats' slippery backs ran at will through unbeaten Western State.

It was Western's first loss in six games. It was MSC's sixth straight win without defeat and the longest victory string in the school's history.

Pioneer Directors OK New Owners for Boise

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Pioneer league baseball directors Saturday accepted a new set of owners for the Boise Pilots, thus insuring that professional class C baseball will remain in the capital city at least another year. League president Claude Engberg, Salt Lake City, and other directors accepted "with very much regret" the resignation of Maury Doerr as owner of the Pilots, a team that lost heavily in cash, attendance and games last season in finishing last in the Idaho-Utah-Montana league.

They transferred the franchise to Capital City Baseball, Inc., an organization of Boise businessmen who bought out Doerr this fall for an undisclosed sum.

Robert Randall of Boise, president of the Boise group, was installed as a league director. The other club officers are Bid Kleffner, vice president, and Bob Hammersley, secretary-treasurer, both Boise.

Doerr was named an honorary league vice president, along with James L. Brown, Boise, and John P. Fitzpatrick, Salt Lake City. Engberg was reelected president for two years.

The directors drew up a 132-game schedule for next year, starting April 21 for northern teams and April 23 for southern teams. The season will end Labor day.

A committee to study proposed changes in the post-season Shaughnessy playoffs was appointed.

A playoff with the champion of the West Texas-New Mexico league and California leagues was voted down. Ed Schasack, business manager of the Twin Falls Cowboys, reported. League members may not play exhibition games with semi-pro clubs, it was ruled.

The 11:45 p.m. curfew hour after which no inning may start was readopted. The meeting which lasted over four hours Saturday was to resume at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Alert Oregon Easily Dumps San Jose Team

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 23 (AP)—Oregon cashed in on a fumble and a blocked kick for two first-half touchdowns, then added two more for insurance in the final period to defeat San Jose State 26-7 Saturday.

The coast conference team, guided by all-America quarterback candidate George Shaw, simply had too much artillery for the visitors. San Jose made it easier for Oregon by committing several costly fumbles.

San Jose did not score until late in the game, after Oregon had inserted a team of reserves. Reserve quarterback Tony Teresa sneaked five yards for the touchdown after engineering a sustained drive.

Shaw, who led the nation's collegians in total offense before Saturday, passed for one touchdown and sprinted 18 yards for another.

Colorado State Jolts CC 14 to 6

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 23 (AP)—Colorado State pushed across two touchdowns in the second period and held on to register a 14-6 victory Saturday over a fumbling Colorado college team.

Quarterback John Colgate and Bob Mantoth guided the Greeley Bears to their first Rocky Mountain conference victory, each scoring a touchdown in the second stanza.

Moegle Fires Rice Past Texas 13-7

HOUSTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Speedster Dicky Moegle specialized in short gains Saturday while leading his Rice Owls to a 13-7 Southwest conference victory over traditional rival Texas before a crowd of 71,000, the largest in Houston football history.

Moegle's longest gain of the day was for 18 yards but he finished with a net of 105 yards rushing in 21 carries while taking prominent roles in both Rice touchdowns.

After Moegle had climaxed a 72-yard first quarter drive by scoring from the four, Texas gained a 7-7 tie in the second when halfback Edward Hawkins circled left end from the four-on-a-40-yard Longhorn march.

Fullback Max Taylor scored the tie-breaker late in the third period, ramming over from the two.

Skyline Race Is Jumbled by Utah's Win Over Pokes

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 23 (AP)—Utah ground out touchdowns on drives of 31 and 80 yards Saturday to spoil Wyoming's homecoming before 14,734 fans 14-7.

Once-beaten in Skyline conference play this season, the Utes blanked Wyoming in all but the final two minutes of play, when John Watts scored from the five.

Joe Mastrogiovanni, the "Poker" stellar tailback, was stifled on the ground and took to the air in this second half in desperation.

The defending conference titlists scored with only 41 seconds remaining in the first half, and again at the start of the final period.

After a scoreless first period, the Utes took advantage of the first break of the game when tackle Don Barr picked off a Wyoming fumble on the Cowboy 31.

Five plays later, quarterback Neil Sorensen threw to end Charley Wells in the end zone for the score. Gene Cron kicked the point.

Utah took over on its 20 late in the third period and moved 80 yards in eight plays for its final score, with fullback Lou Male sprinting over from the 21. Male converted.

Only twice did the opportunist Utes present Wyoming with scoring opportunities.

The first occasion followed the Ute kickoff after the visitors had tallied their first touchdown. Mastrogiovanni hurled a long pass to Bugs Carter good for 35 yards to the Utah 35. On the next play, the Brooklyn Cowboy again passed and found back Chick Maggana alone on the Utah 7, but Maggana dropped the aerial.

Time ran out on the Cowboys at that point. They got their only other opportunity against the Utah reserves late in the game, when Watts took a reverse and scored.

The Utah victory threw the Skyline race into a momentary three-way scramble between the Utes, Wyoming and Denver, each once beaten in conference play.

BALLPLAYER DIES

OMAHA, Oct. 23 (AP)—Earl Whitehill, 54, a lefthanded pitcher who won 218 major league games from 1923 to 1939, died of injuries incurred in an auto accident.

Uclans Whip Oregon State By 61-0 Tally

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 23 (AP)—The UCLA juggernaut rolled to its sixth consecutive victory Saturday, tramping Oregon State 61-0.

It was the worst defeat on record for the Beavers, who were completely unable to cope with the Uclans.

For the winners, who ran over nine touchdowns, it was the second consecutive walloping of a Coast conference opponent. Stanford was the victim last week 72-0.

Coach Red Sanders seized the occasion to polish up his reserves, but they appeared to need little practice. The whole traveling squad of 33 players had been in the game by halftime, and the reserves accounted for seven of the touchdowns.

The most sensational was halfback Sam Brown's 62-yard runback of a punt in which only one player got a hand on him.

Coach Shies From Credit, Praises Team

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 23 (AP)—"It was a magnificent team victory—what else can you say?"

That was coach Skip Stahley's way of summing up the victory his Idaho Vandals scored Saturday, ending Idaho's 29-year-drought in its traditional rivalry with Washington State.

"Nuts with the coaching," he said, refusing any credit for himself. "It was the boys' victory. They did it. They were magnificent."

Stahley, who took over the coaching reins less than a year ago, found it difficult not to use the word "magnificent" in every sentence.

He expressed special pride in his ends—"Some of those boys got downright violent, didn't they?"

When did he first begin to feel the Idaho 10-0 victory was safe?

"Not until we got possession of the ball with about four minutes left to play."

Mighty Mo, which won the National cup steeple at Fair Hill, Md., on last Sept. 11, began racing on flat dirt. Then jumped to steeplechasing.

Railroads Combining for 'Piggyback' Service to Coast

...popularly known as ...is being expanded be... ...cities and points in Oregon, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming. The new service, with full-scale shipment of general commodities in both directions, provides for interchange of equipment with the Union Pacific railroad.

Interchange of trailers and flat cars in the operation between Southern Pacific and Union Pacific will be made at Wells on shipments to and from Magic Valley. The other interchange point in the setup will be Ogden.

Mather says it is believed this is the first time two railroads have joined forces in an operation of this sort. A limited trailer-flatcar movement to Reno will start Monday when traffic rates on some commodities become effective to Reno.

After loading at a California shipper's door, all trailers will be handled by Pacific Motor Trucking company, a subsidiary of Southern Pacific, over the highway to Roseville. There they will be placed on specially equipped flatcars for rail movement. Trailer shipments going to California points will be unloaded at Roseville and moved to the consignee's door.

Mather said the service results in faster door-to-door delivery of traffic in truckload quantities. Shipments arrive at most destinations for second morning delivery, he said.

Stock Market Surprises by Strong Gains

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP) — The stock market surprised many of the experts this week by staging a strong advance and holding to a good bit of its gains.

The rails rolled ahead to a new high for the year before profit taking intervened to chop away some of the outside advances.

Traders and investors appeared to have put aside any concern over the outcome of the forthcoming elections. Some market quarters suggested that the possibility of Democratic victory already had been discounted by the market.

And for the bullishly inclined there was a host of favorable news during the week. Numerous companies declared extra dividends—the usual thing between now and the end of the year. There were brilliant earnings reports as well as some rather poor ones.

Department store officers said they looked for a good Christmas business. Textile executives saw an upturn ahead. Studebaker and Plymouth noted a sharp increase in orders for new models.

The market advance came at a time when most analysts were advising caution. Many felt that some kind of a major correction is long overdue, since the market has been climbing for more than a year.

As the week ended, these analysts continued to view the market with some skepticism. They pointed out that the railroad shares encountered selling just as soon as they reached new highs for the year. Similarly, they noted, profit taking came into play quickly among the industrials, cutting down on many gains.

In any event, the Associated Press average showed a good gain for the week. It rose $2.20, whereas it was down to $2.70 the week before.

Wheat Shows Only Advance During Week

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP) — Wheat stood out prominently with advances while all other cereals declined on the board of trade this week. On a couple of days there was the only grain to move upward and it ended the week 2¾ to 3¾ higher.

Among the other cereals, soybeans suffered fairly wide losses, ending 5¾ to 6¼ cents down. Selling was pegged largely on improved harvesting weather toward the end of the week in Iowa and Minnesota, the two states with most unharvested beans.

Rye also rang up losses of several cents on selling which came from traders who were disappointed that official production on the long awaited export business with West Germany... Rye ended 2¼ to 4¼ cents down.

The weather also was a bearish influence on corn, as were quite heavy offerings of cash corn in the country. The yellow grain ended down 1¼ to 2¾ cents. Oats eased off with corn, ending ¼ to 1 cent lower, while lard finished 38 cents lower to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The independent firmness of wheat was based on a variety of factors, including:

A trade report over the week-end that another 50 to 100 million bushels could be cut off the Canadian wheat crop. However, Canada had good harvesting weather during the week.

A slight pickup in flour business. This was nothing to get excited about but it apparently gave some little demand for wheat from mills.

News dispatches emphasizing a wheat shortage in some foreign countries.
