McCarthy Final Rites Scheduled For U.S. Capital

WASHINGTON, May 3 (U.P.)—Funeral services for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, 47, will be held at 11 a.m. (EDT) Monday in the senate chamber where he rose to fame and later was condemned by his colleagues. The senate services will be preceded by Catholic mass at 9 a.m. EDT at St. Matthews cathedral, where McCarthy was married in 1953. The senate will meet briefly at noon Monday and adjourn out of respect for McCarthy. A committee of senators will accompany the body from the senate chamber to Appleton, Wis., leaving here at 2 p.m., EDT, Monday.

Burial will be in Appleton at noon Tuesday.

The decision to conduct the service in the senate chamber was announced after senate leaders conferred with Mrs. McCarthy.

The Wisconsin Republican died at Bethesda naval hospital late yesterday of a little understood liver malady called "acute hepatitis." The immediate cause of death was "acute hepatitic failure"—failure of the liver to go on working.

McCarthy's body will lie in state from 4 p.m. (EDT), Friday through noon Sunday at the funeral home of Joseph Gawler & Sons incorporated near the White House.

At the senate, McCarthy's body will lie before the rostrum. Services lasting but half an hour will be conducted by a Catholic clergyman and the senate chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, pastor emeritus of Foundry Methodist church.

In Appleton, McCarthy's body will lie in state Monday evening and Tuesday morning in St. Mary's church where the Tuesday services will be held at noon. Burial will be at St. Mary's cemetery in Appleton.

President Eisenhower, who had grown so cold to McCarthy that the latter was crossed off the White House social invitation list, made this statement:

"I have just been informed of the sudden passing of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in ex-

Double Defeat Is Handed Eisenhower by House on Flood Insurance, Surplus

WASHINGTON, May 3 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower suffered a double defeat in the house today. The appropriations committee voted 19 to 14 to deny his request for 50 million dollars to start a new federal program of flood insurance. And the agriculture committee turned down his plea for authority to barter surplus farm products to Soviet satellite nations. The appropriations group, meeting behind closed doors, affirmed findings by a subcommittee that the administration's flood insurance program was "too indefinite and costly." It recommended that the flood indemnity agency use $325,000 already on hand to develop a "more workable" plan. The action was taken in approving a $79,840,788 supplemental money bill to finance a variety of government agencies and functions for the rest of the fiscal year ending next June.

Approves Bill

The agriculture committee approved a bill to extend until June 30, 1958, the administration's 1.3 billion dollar program for disposing of surplus foods abroad.

But it eliminated a provision asked by Eisenhower to authorize barter of some of the foodstuffs behind the iron curtain.

The senate has passed such a bill. Committee Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D., N. C., said a compromise might be negotiated to permit bartering with all communist countries except Russia, Red China, outer Mongolia, North Vietnam and North Korea.

Other Action Noted

Other congressional developments: Poultry — The house agriculture committee approved a bill making mandatory federal inspection of all poultry which is shipped across state lines. The controls would be similar to those in effect in meat packing for the past 51 years.

Highways — Chairman Dennis Chavez, D., N. M., said his public works committee has reports on some "fantastic profits" in the sale of highway rights-of-way in Indiana and an investigation may "uncover even more serious situations." The group yesterday appointed a subcommittee headed by Sen. Albert Gore, D., Tenn., to conduct the inquiry.

Beck Bond Posted On Charge of Tax Evasion for 1950

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Dave Beck, Teamsters union boss indicted for income tax evasion today posted $5,000 bond pending arraignment May 13. Beck went voluntarily to the U. S. marshal's office for a technical surrender under a warrant telegraphed from Tacoma Wash., where a federal grand jury returned the indictment yesterday accusing him of failing to pay $56,420 in taxes due on 1950 income. He was taken to a basement cell block in the U. S. courthouse and fingerprinted in the usual routine. The officers then took him before U. S. District Judge Edward M. Curran for a decision as to bond.

Curran set the amount in a bench conference with Gerard Treanor, an attorney for the Teamsters union.

Beck stood by—in tan suit and dark glasses—without saying a word.

Once Curran decided on the amount of bond, Beck had a wait of about 45 minutes until someone brought in a cashier's check to complete the bond posting.

Curran ordered Beck to appear before a U. S. commissioner on May 13 either here in Washington or at Tacoma.

Treanor told newsmen that if Beck appears before the commissioner here on May 13 he will waive a removal hearing and show up for arraignment at Tacoma at a later date.

Beck, while waiting to make bond, was asked if he had any comment on his indictment.

"I wouldn't say one word about it because I don't know no more about it than you do now," Beck said. "I'd have to consult with my attorneys."

More Storms Flood Texas River Towns

DALLAS, Tex., May 3 (AP)—A new cloudburst on the headwaters of the Brazos river flooded the town of Dennis today for the second time since Sunday, caused local flooding in the resort city of Mineral Wells and cut the highway to the town of Graford.

Wichita Falls, northwest of Mineral Wells, near the Oklahoma line, started floods last night from a downpour. As much as 5.5 inches of rain was reported southwest of Mineral Wells, which is west of Fort Worth.

A new round of thunderstorms predicted for today, raised the threat of more flash floods in Texas towns and cities.

B. P. Hughes, meteorologist in charge of the Shreveport, La., weather bureau, said he thought the flooded Sabine, along the Texas-Louisiana border, could stand one day of renewed thunderstorms, but probably not two.

Dennis, which has 15 houses and two stores in it, was flooded out Sunday when the flood gates of Possum Kingdom dam on the Brazos were opened. Ten families fled to the schoolhouse and church on higher ground.

Doyce Nash, at the single emergency telephone in Dennis, at the school, said most of the flooded out families started cleaning out their homes yesterday, but the flood came back today and they had to leave again.

Above Normal Water Supply Seen for Area

CAREY, May 3—Indications are this year is going to be a good water year for residents in the Carey and Wood river valleys.

At a water survey meeting here Thursday night, Jack Wilson, Boise, assistant snow survey leader for the soil conservation service, told ranchers the flow in the Little Wood river this year will be 105 per cent of the 1941-52 average and the flow in the Big Wood river will be 107 per cent of the average.

Wilson predicted the flow in the Little Wood river between April and September will be 90,000 acre feet while the flow in Big Wood river will be 305,000 acre feet. He said soil moisture is good and that measurements as deep as two feet had been made along the lower portions of the snow courses.

Ollie Eldredge, manager of the Little Wood River Irrigation district, said spring work on canals is just about completed. He said the reservoir is full and overflowing.

Joe Rush, watermaster for the Fish creek reservoir, said the reservoir is within six feet of being full but expressed hope it would fill during the runoff. He said a section of the canal had been lined to save water for the irrigators.

Construction Starts For Brownlee Lines

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—Idaho Power company announced yesterday it has begun construction of a $4,500,000, 230,000-volt transmission line between Boise and the Snake river construction site of Brownlee dam and power plant. The 100-mile line is being built by Idaho Power mobile crews and the Morrison-Knudsen Construction company, contractor at the dam-site. The company said about 220 men would be employed at the height of construction. Idaho Power said the line would be supported by 409 steel towers ranging in height from 100 to 150 feet and would be the biggest line on the company's system.

The company said engineering has been completed and stockpiling of steel along the route will be finished by June 1.

Another line is being built from Brownlee to Baker, Ore., to exchange electricity to the extent of 230,000 volts with members of the Northwest power pool.

The company estimated total cost of the transmission facilities, all the way from Boise to Baker, at $5,816,000.

Idaho Power said one of its trunk lines between Boise and American Falls had been re-insulated for use at 230,000 volts this fall, and substation facilities were being built at Boise and American Falls at a total cost of $7,500,000 to handle the higher voltage.

Officials said the entire transmission development was scheduled for completion a year from now.

Filer to Host Music Clinic Of District 4

FILER, May 3—Filer high school will be the scene Saturday of the first district four junior high school music clinic. Approximately 400 students from 20 schools will participate.

The clinic band, the mixed chorus and the girls' chorus will be directed by district school music directors.

G. Emerson Miller, Twin Falls, will be guest director of the 110-piece clinic orchestra. Miller spent 15 years as a director of music in various schools in Montana. During that time, he served as president of the Montana Music Educators association and as a member of the board of directors of the Northwest Music Educators conference.

Miller currently operates a business in Twin Falls and will serve as president of Washington school PTA for the coming year.

Clinic sessions will be held all day Saturday. A program will be presented in the public in Filer high school auditorium at 8 p.m.

Joe Willis, Filer high school band director, will be local chairman.

Light Housekeeping

A pair of Twin Falls robins may not have running water in their home, but they do have electric lights.

The redbreasted pair was seen Friday building a nest in the green light of the traffic signal light at the Fidelity National bank corner of Main avenue and Shoshone street.

Dulles Asks Reds To End Division

BONN, Germany, May 3 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called on Russia today to end the division of Germany "before its injustices become intolerable."

Dulles told the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers the Soviet Union's protestations of peace "indeed ring hollow when they forcibly divided a great people."

He said that both on humanitarian and legal grounds the continued split of the country could not be justified.

The American statesman spoke after West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano called upon the 15-nation alliance to support his government's demands for reunification quickly.

Top Court Reverses Hit-Run Case Verdict

The Idaho supreme court Thursday set aside a Twin Falls district court judgment convicting a Burley man of failure to stop at the scene of an accident and a re-trial was believed likely. In a 4 to 1 decision the court reversed the conviction of Archie Parish, found guilty by a six-member jury in February, 1956, of an alleged hit-run accident on Highway 30 east of Murtaugh in which two Fort Wayne, Ind., men were seriously injured. The supreme court's decision said the information filed against Parish "failed to charge him with knowledge on his part as an essential element of the offense and was fatally defective inasmuch as it fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense."

However, the lone dissenter, Justice C. J. Taylor, commented:

"Even without repeated legislation admonition the courts should determine cases upon their merits rather than upon technical trivia."

Prosecuting Attorney James M. Cunningham, who prosecuted the state's case in February, 1956, said Friday, "We will file an amended information and it is likely that the case will be re-tried." Cunningham issued his statement upon receipt of a copy of the supreme court's ruling.

Parish was defended in his district court trial by Kalea E. Lowe, Burley attorney. Following a three-day trial, in which the defense maintained Parish did not know the accident occurred, the jury required 12 minutes to return a verdict of guilty.

The alleged hit and run accident occurred on the night of July 10, 1955. The prosecution brought one of the accident victims from Indiana to Twin Falls for the trial.

The supreme court also handed down a reversal in a Canyon county suit for custody of children, Associated Press reported.

The high court said Ralph W. Anderson, Caldwell, is entitled to custody of his three children rather than his divorced wife, Martha Anderson Smith. Both have since remarried.

The court affirmed a Teton county foreclosure decision in which Jessie F. Peterson, C. B. Perkins and Earl Perkins regained possession of their 3,420-acre Cassia county ranch from Mr. and Mrs. Arnold G. Holland.

Driver Plans Own Defense In Car Count

Crystal E. Rosendaul, route 3, Twin Falls, will conduct her own defense in her Twin Falls justice court jury trial on a charge of speeding. Court was due to convene at 2 p. m. today.

State Patrolman R. E. Young cited her April 5, for driving 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Addison avenue, April 10, she entered a plea of innocent to the charge and requested a jury trial. A $30 bond was posted at that time and she was released.

John N. Clark, Wendell, was fined $10 and $3 costs Thursday evening by Buhl Police Judge Floyd Dale on a charge of speeding. He was charged with driving 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Clifford O. Brauburger, 17, Richfield, was fined $7 and $3 costs Friday in Twin Falls justice court for running a stop sign. He was cited by state police Tuesday for running a red light at Five Points east.

YMCA Unit to Hold Election

Persons interested in forming a Magic Valley Community Young Men's Christian association will meet Monday night at American Legion hall in Twin Falls to nominate and elect a temporary board of directors.

E. E. Marlow, general chairman of the project, said Thursday that plans to form a YMCA to serve the Magic Valley area have been gaining momentum since last spring. At that time, he said, a group of interested citizens began investigating the possibility of forming such an organization in the community.

Marlow said there has been a widespread interest shown by both adults and young people. He said other communities with problems similar to the Magic Valley area have been studied to determine how to make such a project work in this community.

Future plans will be discussed at the Monday night meeting, Marlow said.

Program chairman for the meeting is Edward H. Heap. William H. Bakes is the promotion committee chairman.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower flew here today for a quiet week-end at his farm.

The President's small plane landed at the Gettysburg airport at 2:53 p.m. (EDT), after a 28-minute flight from Washington. Assistant White House Physician Dr. Walter Tkach flew up with the President.

Wilson Receives C. of C.'s Answer

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson, who doesn't mince words, says "it gives me a pain" to hear the U. S. Chamber of Commerce "squawk so much" about the size of the federal budget.

Philip M. Talbott, chamber president, retorted that "Secretary Wilson's 'pains' do not refute our findings" that the $38 billion dollar defense budget can be cut.

NEWS BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The power commission decided today that it—not an examiner—will hear argument May 20 on a dispute between two Washington state public utility districts over possible compensation for power loss at rival Columbia river dams.

MADISON, Wisc., May 3 (AP)—Gov. Vernon Thomson of Wisconsin and State Republican Chairman Philip Kuehn today postponed until after Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's funeral services, a decision on calling a special election to fill the senate vacancy created by his death.

DALLAS, Tex., May 3 (AP)—New cloudbursts totaling up to six inches of rain in less than six hours sent the water rolling into at least four Texas towns today and raised the immediate threat of another serious flood along the Brazos river.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (AP)—A navy attack bomber hit two 220,000 volt high tension lines 30 miles southeast of here today, cutting off most power to the San Francisco bay area for 36 minutes. The plane, flown the Alameda naval air station across the bay from San Francisco, landed safely.

South Idaho's Bankers Hold Meeting Here

Richard N. White, vice president and manager of the First Security Bank of Idaho, Gooding, was elected president of the southcentral group of the Idaho Banker's association Thursday at the organization's annual banquet at the Turf club.

Other officers elected are R. D. McKinney, vice president, assistant manager of the Kimberly branch of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, and Jack F. Ramsey, secretary-treasurer, manager of the Fidelity National bank of Filer.

Outgoing president is Robert Reed, manager of the First National bank of Rupert.

Officials of 19 banks in southcentral Idaho discussed banking problems.

John Kiga, public relations director of the Salt Lake division of Safeway Stores, gave a talk entitled "What's Happening in Mrs. Jones' Kitchen?"

Members of the Twin Falls little theater group presented a skit, a cutting from a scene of the current broadway play "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hedner directed and acted in the skit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alworth, William Ostrander, Fred Van Engelen, Bert Sweet and Katherine Powell.

Vocal selections were given by Patty Jo Ward, accompanied by Connie Bastian, Miss Twin Falls.

Mitchell stunt, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, served as master of ceremonies.

Approximately 130 bank officials, representing 19 banks, and their wives attended the combination business meeting and banquet.

Court Denies Try for Writ In Aims Case

District Judge Robert Beckwith denied a writ of habeas corpus Thursday for Bernard H. Aims, 40, 428 Third street north, and directed he stand trial in Twin Falls district court on a charge of negligent homicide.

The decision of the court upheld the Monday order of Probate Judge Everett M. Sweeley. Sweeley ordered Aims to trial after a preliminary hearing was held to determine if there was probable cause to believe he was guilty of the traffic death of Mrs. Beulah Buckley, 48, Twin Falls, in an accident south of Rogerson on highway 93 on April 6.

Aims' attorneys, E. L. Rayborn, Douglas Kramer and Harry Povey, have fought the indictment of their client on the grounds there is insufficient evidence to justify the negligent homicide charge.

Judge Beckwith fixed Aims' bond at $1,000, the same figure set by Probate Judge Everett M. Sweeley following the preliminary hearing. Aims posted bond at 3:15 p.m. Thursday and was released from jail.

Prosecuting Attorney James M. Cunningham argued Thursday there was sufficient evidence to support the charge. He cited numerous cases to uphold his contention.

Aims surrendered Tuesday to Sheriff James H. Benham a few minutes before his attorneys filed the petition for a hearing on the writ of habeas corpus. Papers were served on Sheriff Benham Wednesday afternoon.

Judge Beckwith began hearing argument by defense attorneys at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. By 3 p.m. the hearing was concluded.

Student Vote Favors Name Use in Paper

LUSK, Wyo., May 3 (AP)—An overwhelming vote by Niobrara county high school students has prompted the Lusk Herald to change its policy toward using names of juvenile law offenders.

The students voted 113-15 in favor of publicizing the names of the youthful lawbreakers. Their vote had been sought by Niobrara county Attorney, James E. Barrett.

He said he wanted the information presented to county meeting of the Wyoming county attorneys tomorrow in Casper.

The weekly Lusk newspaper said it will start publishing the names of juveniles taken into justice and police courts.

All cases referred in the court figure will be published even if dismissed, the paper says.

Previous policy was to publish only names of juveniles when they were convicted of traffic offenses or were found guilty of another type of crime for the second time.

COFFEE PRICE CUT

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Instant coffee became cheaper yesterday when several large chains and major roasters trimmed prices about a cent an ounce.

Benson Target Of Opposition For His Stand

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Democratic critics attacked Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today for his blast at the present farm price support program.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the senate agriculture committee accused Benson of trying to set himself up as an "agricultural czar."

Benson yesterday tore into the present farm program. He said it is "not working," is costly to taxpayers and is losing markets for farmers. He gave no specific recommendations but said he wanted discretionary authority to set support price levels.

Benson said he had the full backing of President Eisenhower and planned a campaign to convince farmers they'll make more money if congress impowers him to cut support prices further.

Stays Same

Weather conditions will be strictly normal for the next five days, according to the five-day weather forecast received here today.

"Hope everything else stays the same way," commented the AP reporter as he read this forecast:

"Precipitation near normal, occurring mainly Tuesday or Wednesday. Temperatures averaging near normal. High temperatures will range from 68 to 70, minimums around 40. (Probably.)

Governor Will Halt Power Funds for Group

SALEM, Ore., May 3 (AP) — Gov. Robert D. Holmes said today he was taking an abrupt stop to a program through which the state, Oregon's two previous Republican governors had contributed nearly $8,000 state funds for promotion of a so-called "partnership" power development.

The action removed Oregon from the Pacific northwest Governors' Power Policy committee, which Gov. Holmes called an arm of the private power industry.

Gov. Holmes, a Democrat, said records showed that unapproved parts of the committee's technical reports had been used recently to hurt the position of Idaho Power company in the Hells canyon controversy.

Gambler Costello Is Shot in N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello was shot and slightly wounded last night in what police described as "an apparent attempt at assassination."

A 45-year-old Costello was fired upon point-blank by a gunman as he entered the lobby of his Central West apartment house.

The gunshot nicked his Frank Costello—often called the "prime minister of the underworld" or "one unofficial mayor" of the city by underworld and political figures—cut in his raspy voice: "Somebody tried to get me." Later he didn't know why he was shot.

Truman Aids Many Critics Of U. S. Dam

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Harry S. Truman lit into the administration's Hell canyon power program today as an "outrageous" giveaway that "would plunder the great natural resources that belong to the people of this country."

This, the former president said, "may very well turn out to be another time when they are trying to make off with more than they can get away with."

Truman's remarks were prepared for a breakfast sponsored by the Electric Consumer Information set up by a group of labor and farm groups and co-operatives.

Truman is in town for a Democratic party rally which will cast him in the role of a principal speaker at a $100-a-plate dinner Saturday night.

A former president said there are those who complain the administration is "wishy-washy and fuzzy-minded and drifts along before the shifting winds of popular opinion."

But in the field of electric energy, he said, "the administration has supported the private power companies without wavering or faltering."

He hammered at the administration's partnership policy for building power projects in co-operation with state and local interests.

"This is a partnership," he said, "where everything is divided seven-seven—the electric company gets the powerhouse and the government gets the fish ladder."

Hells canyon has been the center of a long, hot dispute over whether the government should build a single dam or Idaho Power company should build three smaller dams on the Snake river on the Oregon and Idaho border.

OIL CRISIS ENDED

Guard Will Take Over Nike Sites

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The army plans to switch a large share of the responsibility for manning the nation's Nike anti-aircraft missile centers to the national guard.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said this week that "within the next few years" a number of other guard battalions stationed throughout the United States also will be converted to guided missile outfits.

He said the California guard's 720th anti-aircraft battalion will be assigned immediately to Nike training.

The 720th, which will become an integral part of the nation's air defense system, now has units at Long Beach and San Pedro, Calif. Once trained, it will be assigned to help protect Los Angeles.

Buyer Offers to Pay in Quarters

NORFOLK, Va., May 3 (AP)—Robert Olen Evans, 21, walked into a downtown used car lot yesterday and pretty soon found just the model he was looking for.

The car cost $445, and in payment, Evans offered 1,780 quarters.

The used car dealer went through with the sale but didn't like the looks of things. He told Evans to drop by again in a couple of hours and pick up his license plates.

Two hours later, Evans returned and the police were waiting for him. He was promptly jailed on a charge of breaking into a concession company earlier this week, making off with $1,963.83 in small change from a safe, and stealing a truck to carry away the jingling loot.

Welker Plans to Attend Services

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—Former Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho says he is making plans to fly to Appleton, Wis., to attend the funeral of Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Welker, a Republican, said "Wisconsin and the nation will take years to recover" from the loss of the controversial McCarthy.

He added: "Instead of being critical of those who attempted to hurt Sen. McCarthy, they have my deepest sympathy, for they must live with themselves."

Reds Foresee Safeguard for Aerial 'Look'

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—State department officials said today that Russia apparently is coming to realize that international aerial inspection can be useful as a safeguard against surprise atomic attack.

They also see some evidence that the Soviet government may be moving toward fundamental revision of its ideas about how to approach the making of a disarmament agreement among the major powers—although this prospect does not seem to be fully born out by comment broadcast from Moscow.

Tentative Conclusions

These tentative conclusions are the result of initial studies here of the latest Russian proposal made to a U. N. disarmament subcommittee meeting in London last Tuesday.

The Soviet offered to permit international aerial inspection of 2,770,000 square miles of eastern Siberia in exchange for aerial inspection of Alaska and the western United States totaling 2,730,000 square miles.

State department officials labeled this and various other provisions of the Soviet proposal unacceptable as they now stand.

Express Hope

But they expressed the hope that Russia would be willing to spell out its ideas in greater detail and to negotiate modifications which might eventually make them acceptable to the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Those are the other nations in the present disarmament talks.

The chief objection to the new Russian aerial inspection proposal is that the vast, thinly populated and poorly developed areas of the Soviet Union in Asia are not comparable in strategic importance to the highly developed regions of the western United States.

Slowdown

PADUCAH, Ky., May 3 (AP)—Daylight saving time has become a sleep-loss time for Mayor George Jacobs.

Opponents of the "fast time" have called the mayor at the crack of dawn daily since the time change went into effect here Sunday.

Their entire conversation is: "Mayor, it's time to get up."

Jacobs said his hecklers hang up too fast for him to inform them he only goes along with DST because most Paducahans want it.

Jacobs said he has never liked the time change and he likes it less this week.

J. W. Cullison, 81, Claimed by Death

RUPERT, May 3—James W. Cullison, 81, died at 10:45 p. m. Thursday at the Hess nursing home where he had lived three years.

Mr. Cullison was born May 23, 1875. He had been a resident of Rupert for 40 years, farming and working for the bureau of reclamation.

Surviving are one sister and one brother, both in Kansas. Funeral services are pending at the Goodman mortuary.

Plant Planned

BURLEY, May 3 — Preliminary plans for a starch factory, to handle by products of the main plant, were discussed at a meeting of the directors of the Idaho Potato Producers at the National hotel Thursday.

A building, 60 by 160 feet, has been designed and planned for the starch plant and construction is expected to start soon. Meanwhile, the firm is working to get the main plant completed and ready for operation this fall.

Admiral Is Sure His Ship Could Survive A-Bomb

ABOARD U. S. S. PORRESTAL, May 3 (AP)—Rear Adm. Murr E. Arnold, Kimberly, Ida., said yesterday his huge super carrier would have a good chance of surviving an atomic bomb attack.

Arnold, commander of carrier division four, heart of the sixth fleet's striking power arrayed off the coast of Lebanon, said an enemy would have a tough job even finding the speedy Forrestal.

From 40,000 to 45,000 feet, where an enemy bomber likely would have to operate, the four-acre Forrestal deck would look like half a paper match at sea, "and there's plenty of room to hide on that sea," said Arnold.

Report on the state Chamber of Commerce meeting held in Payette last week was given by Kenneth Montgomery at the local chamber's board of directors meeting Friday.

Mitchell Hunt, secretary-manager, reminded directors of the valley-wide chamber meeting set for 7 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion hall. He also reported the highway committee will meet May 14.

Carpenters Seek New Union Pact

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—Negotiations between Rocky Mountain contractors and the carpenters union on a new contract to replace one which expired wednesday night went into the second day here today.

John Molitor, executive secretary of the associated general contractors in Boise, said the union has asked for a basic rate of $2 per hour. The rate in the expired contract was $2.65.

The AGC said carpenters also have requested travel and subsistence on a daily basis and 10 cents per hour in health and welfare benefits. The travel and subsistence, according to Molitor, could amount to as much as $6 per day.

Spots

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — People who report flying saucers have spots before their eyes, a scientist says.

Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, former assistant secretary of defense, was asked what he thought of the saucer tales in testimony before a house appropriations subcommittee released yesterday.

"There are many ways in which people can see spots before their eyes," Furnas said. "I feel this is one of them. I do not believe they are real."

Meeting on Fund Postponed Here

A public meeting called for next Monday night to discuss bond money earmarked for development of the high school football field has been postponed for one week, School Supt. Ernest H. Ragland announced Friday.

The meeting will be held at the junior high school building at 8 p. m. May 13.

The school district has $27,500 earmarked from the last bond fund for development of the football field at the new high school. The money is not sufficient for total development of the facilities. Central America Nations Shifting In Warlike Move

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 3 (AP)—Nicaragua and Honduras shifted to wartime footings today and rushed troops to key points on their common border.

There was no formal declaration of war by either country. But the situation was becoming more critical by the moment despite pleas by the Organization of American States and the U. S. government for a cease fire pending a peaceful settlement of the centuries-old border dispute.

The OAS was forming a five-nation committee to rush to central America on a fact-finding mission.

Reports from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, said the fighting had spread from Mocoron in the disputed territory near the Caribbean coast to Las Manos, a western border post about 80 miles from the Pacific ocean.

Ambassador Gets Orders to Return

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — President Eisenhower has ordered Ambassador James P. Richards to wind up his special mission to the Middle East and return to Washington as soon as feasible, the state department announced yesterday.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White said the President wants Richards on hand to confer with him on preparation of new foreign aid legislation. White said Richards expects to arrive in Washington next Wednesday to attend a bipartisan meeting of congressional leaders at the White House on the air program the following day.

The President's decision to call Richards home means the former South Carolina Democratic congressman will not visit Egypt, Syria or Jordan on his mission of explaining the Eisenhower doctrine to Middle East nations.

Doctors Find Blood Factor On Pressures

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today that a VA medical research team has extracted and analyzed a fresh substance in the human blood stream which can cause high blood pressure.

The substance is called hypertension II. A very minute quantity, injected into the blood stream, causes the blood vessels to constrict and the blood pressure to rise.

The researchers, at the veterans hospital at Cleveland, O., have begun what may be a long search for a chemical agent that will counteract hypertension.

A VA publicity release here said that success in the search for a counteracting agent could "check the disease (high blood pressure) which is man's greatest killer." But authorities at the National Heart Institute promptly labeled this claim excessive.

They publicized said there is no clinical evidence that hypertension is a major cause of high blood pressure. It is one of several known substances, including adrenalin and serotonin, which cause a sharp rise in blood pressure when injected into the blood stream.

"We have studied many, many compounds which have this characteristic," said a national heart institute spokesman, "but none of them so far have proved to be a significant factor in the actual incidence of high blood pressure in human beings."

House Committee Hears Gem State Onion Producers

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Three Idahoans were among witnesses appearing yesterday before a house agriculture subcommittee to recommend legislation prohibiting trading in onion futures.

Charles Joseph of the Malheur county Onion Growers association, said producers have a "mighty tough job" if they have to "guess what a group of speculators is going to do in addition to all the other factors" in the industry.

C. H. Burns of Nampa said if futures trading is to continue, it should be legalized "as straight gambling operations, which it actually has been and is at the present time."

Douglas McGinnis of Weiser, representing the Southwest Idaho Onion Growers association, said: "We would like to grow and market our onions without having the price regulated and set by a group of gamblers and speculators on the futures board."

Secretary Issuing County Reminder

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—Idaho Secretary of State James H. Young said today he had sent reminders to county recorders and merchandisers who handle installment contracts that a new state law governing conditional sales contracts goes into effect May 16.

He said the new law requires that the total amount of money to be paid under the contract must be broken down into specified amounts for each category of purchase price, interest, filing fees or other charges.

Young said his office and county recorders could not accept contracts for registering and filing unless they were in accordance with the new law after May 16.

IDENTIFICATION ERRORS

There was a time when an eyewitness, and the personal identification he could make, was just about the most prized factor that could be sought in cracking a criminal case.

What better than the evidence of someone right on the scene, who can report with reasonable accuracy the details of the crime, including a description of the perpetrator?

Lately, however, the testimony of the eyewitness has occasionally fallen into serious discredit. Here and there, but mostly in New York City, a series of "wrong man" identifications has plagued police and subjected innocent citizens to unwarranted jailing, varying degrees of harsh treatment, and damage to reputation.

The most striking case, of course, was that of Manny Balestrero, former New York night-club bass-fiddle player, who was falsely accused of robbery. The strain of that ordeal put his wife to a time in a mental hospital.

There have been numerous others, the newest a by-product of the arrest of young Thomas Higgins in Brooklyn on charges of brutally slaying two women this year. Higgins, according to police, told them he had attacked nine other women in recent months.

One of these was a young married woman who earlier had identified another youth, one Russell Ericksen, as her assailant. He is almost a double of Higgins. But now she believes Higgins rather than Ericksen is the man.

Naturally there is much room for human error in this business of identifying others, particularly if a scene is dark and the events of a case are fast and turbulent. But possibly that is exactly the point.

Obviously, when the conditions for visual identification are poor, both the police and the grand jury must move with extreme caution, seeking strong corroborative evidence before inflicting on any citizen the irretrievable loss that goes with arrest and possible indictment and conviction.

Even when conditions are good, there must be great care. For those who "identified" Balestrero in the robbery case viewed both him and the actual thief in broad daylight at reasonably close range.

Human dignity and reputation are at stake, with a man's standing in the community and ability to earn a livelihood deeply involved. They are not things to be cast aside lightly.

HIDDEN TAXES

This has been a year for loud complaint from the citizen-taxpayer over government spending and taxes.

According to the Tax Foundation, an outfit which makes a business of studying the country's tax load, the noise would be even louder if most taxpayers realized exactly how much of their income goes for taxes of all kinds.

The foundation says the average U. S. citizen plunks out a third of his total take in federal, state and local levies. This of course includes what are generally called hidden taxes, those paid by other sources but passed on to the citizen in the form of higher prices for the goods he buys.

In the foundation's view, the citizen as an individual is the only real taxpayer, since it insists corporate levies are shifted off industry's back.

If this calculation be accepted as valid, then the price of the ordinary egg to the American consumer contains 100 taxes, while a man's suit has 116, a loaf of bread 151 and the cost of a house some 600.

Observations of this sort have been made before. The difference in 1957 seems to be that taxpayers are paying more attention to them. They're wondering whether what they get in government service justifies the burdens. They're wondering how much more tax pressure the egg can take before being crushed.

'CLEAN HOUSE—OR ELSE!'

Walter Reuther, vice president of the AFL-CIO, has now taken the Teamsters' union affair to its ultimate stage. He threatens a competitive truck drivers' organization if the Teamsters fail to clean house.

Obviously he hopes it won't come to that, that instead the present union will get rid of Dave Beck, its president, and other errant officials and get back on the track.

If it does not, the clear warning is that the federation will throw the Teamsters out and set up a new organization. Since that very course was followed with the racket-ridden International Longshoremen's association, the Teamsters can well imagine that Reuther isn't kidding.

The defiance of federation authority being uttered by Teamster officials will avail them little. There is no doubt the organization does have the power to suspend or oust any erring union. The affected union isn't likely to impress the public or anybody else by arguing that it isn't so.

The only thing the Teamsters can do now to make an impact on the American people and the labor movement particularly is to heed Reuther's warning. If they choose to snort instead, they may not have too many more breaths to draw in good company.

A beauty expert says that care of the eyebrows is important. It just takes a little pluck.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—A new threat to President Eisenhower's "modern Republicanism" and liberal control of the party has arisen on capitol hill. It has become especially forceful and noticeable since members returned from Easter vacations among grumbling and very disgruntled constituents.

Ray Tucker

Whereas dissatisfaction—toward the White House program had previously centered in only the McCarthy-Malenner group, it has now spread to veteran GOP-ers, including many who consider themselves to be advocates of moderation. They are not extremists.

Although no hard-and-fast geographical division can be fixed, there seems to be a line-up of the Middle and Far West faction against the eastern bloc, where Ike commands his greatest support. Although Robert A. Taft is gone, and Thomas E. Dewey has quit active politics, it is a revival of the Ohio-New York clashes at pre-Eisenhower conventions.

KNOWLAND SILENT ON HIS PLANS—The key figure in the hinterland coalition is Senator William F. Knowland of California, who was a Taft lieutenant. The senate minority leader refuses to divulge his plans for a showdown—from now on—next year. He will not reveal whether he will try for the California governorship as a step toward a presidential nomination in 1960.

But he shows no concern or regret when he is listed as hostile to many major administration proposals. It is generally believed that he and likeminded colleagues will try to wrest control of the party and the 1960 national conventions from the easterners. They feel that they can do so without incurring White House wrath, because Ike cannot be a candidate to succeed himself.

• • •

GOP'S CURRENT UNEASINESS—Nor do they expect the President to intervene too actively to force his own choice upon the party, but for even such a loyal follower as Vice President Nixon. Most of the five other men whom Ike suggested for the number *two spot in 1952 have faded from the political pic*ture.

The current uneasiness involves other issues than the controversial budget. It runs the gamut of many important domestic and foreign problems, based on complaints flooding a top-heavy congressional mail and talks with the home folks during the Easter recess.

Many feel that Ike and Dulles have taken on too many overseas commitments, with our two main fleets—the sixth and seventh—patrolling far-off and dangerous waters. There is great sympathy for Israel, and a belief that the United States has been outwitted by Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser. There is suspicion of the United Nations.

• • •

WANT IKE TO SHOW MORE POSITIVE LEADERSHIP—There is insistence on enactment of a tax cut of two or three billions, to become effective next year. Otherwise the Democrats may press their own program, and reap benefit in the 1958 congressional contests. Many Republicans discovered that the President's coattails were not sufficiently ample for them in last year's elections.

Finally, Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's popularity has sagged again, due to his support of a new system of lower payments to farmers. This resentment is especially sharp and vocal among normally good organization men from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast.

President Eisenhower has been told that he must help himself and show more positive leadership, if he is to regain his political hold and popularity at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue. His seeming lack of interest in party affairs and personalities disconcerts even his friends in the organization and in the legislative body.

PAT ROGERS RETIRES

W. Pat Rogers, manager of the Utah Parks company for the Union Pacific railroad, with headquarters in Cedar City, is retiring May 1.

This news is almost like an announcement that one of the mountain patriarchs guarding the entrance of Zion national park was being removed—for Pat Rogers has been synonymous with Zion and the other Utah parks so long they seem inseparable.

Mr. Rogers went to Zion to manage the lodge facility when it was opened there in 1928 by the Union Pacific. *Since then he has participated in the ex*pansion and development of scenic area tourist facilities not only there and elsewhere in Utah, but at the North Rim of the Grand canyon in Arizona and at Sun Valley, Idaho.

Today there are extensive Union Pacific facilities to serve tourists at Zion, Grand and Sun Valley, and also at Bryce canyon national park and Cedar Breaks national monument.

Thousands and thousands of people from all over the world have visited these establishments through the years. This has spread the fame of these scenic marvels widely, and it has been of no mean economic value to the area. Less well understood, but in its way every bit as important, is the good influence of carefully-supervised summer employment upon hundreds and hundreds of young people, mostly college students. For this Mrs. Rogers as well as her husband deserves recognition.

All this has been a real contribution to the well being of Utah and its people, and to the growth of the tourist industry in the West. It is with regret we note Mr. Rogers' retirement. But we are sure he and Mrs. Rogers will be no strangers to Utah in the years ahead. And we know a smooth-running organization is left behind which will continue to attract and serve efficiently many more thousands of visitors. —Salt Lake Tribune.

'PEOPLE SHOULD HAVE RIGHT TO DECIDE

Not to be denied by partisanship, the right to work forces in Idaho have launched the drive to place the decision before the voters in 1959. After winning support for such a measure in the house during the legislature, the measure was rejected in the Democratic senate. Even the right to vote on whether we should have such a law was rejected by the Democratic politicians in the last legislature.

However, by gaining state-wide signatures on a petition for such a measure, the people can still exercise their wishes. It is a costly and difficult process to secure ten per cent of the votes cast for governor in each county at the last gubernatorial election, but the law does prescribe this method. The legislature could have saved the right to work supporters this effort and expense simply by the passage of a bill delegating the electorate the right to ballot on such a proposal. This concept, as mentioned, was mired down in the political sludge which dominated the legislature during the second longest session in the history of the state.

The supporters of the measure aspire to obtain 300,000 signatures which would virtually assure its passage in the election. However, we are not so optimistic but do concede that the movement will obtain the required 10 per cent. Thus Idahoans will be given the right to determine their position on this controversial issue.—Jerome North Side News.

HUNDRED-YEAR LAMP

Householders harassed by light bulbs which seem to burn out with annoying and costly regularity, will be interested to learn that the General Electric company has made a bulb it expects to burn for more than a hundred years. This bulb has been placed in a fixture on a desk used for many years by Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the incandescent lamp. Edison's pioneer bulb, incidentally, burned only 40 hours.

Before householders wax too jubilant at the thought of putting 100-year bulbs in their homes, it should be noted G. E. is not placing such lamps on the market. The reason, according to Dr. Guy Suits, director of research for the company, is that the 100-year bulb uses so much more electricity for the amount of light produced that it more than offsets any savings from not having to replace bulbs periodically.

Still, it was a nice thought. Just imagine finally getting the best of the bulb-snatcher!—Salt Lake Tribune.

HOW TO TELL
There's a surefire system for telling when summer vacation arrives for children. Parents don't have to wait until their children hang around the house all day before realizing that school is out.

The system is not complicated. All that's involved is to observe the time children get up in the morning. When the day arrives that they get up of their own accord with no urging you can be sure school is out. Either that or it's Saturday or Sunday.

FAMOUS LAST LINE
". . . Their dog minds better than their children!"
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Serious as the situation in the little Hashemite kingdom of Jordan has appeared in the last few weeks, there is now some basis for belief it won't end in all-out war.

Peter Edson

A Middle East war could, of course, happen accidentally.

But careful appraisals now being made in Washington indicate that since nobody is actually provoking a hot war, it might not come off because nobody wants it.

Cold war threats and incidents are expected to multiply. In the long run, however, this is expected to be another crisis just short of war.

External threats against Jordan come principally from Israel on the west and Syria on the north. Syria is backed by Egypt, but President Nasser's forces cannot get at a Jordanian war except by sea to Syria or across Israel or Saudi Arabia.

Young King Hussein of Jordan has the support of both King Saud of Saudi Arabia to his south, and his cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, to his east.

The armed forces of both Iraq and Saudi Arabia are rated as superior to Syrian forces, in spite of about 40 million dollars' worth of Communist arms aid to Syria.

Though Syrian troops are reported to have crossed their border into Jordan, they are not believed to constitute a direct threat.

The real danger comes from Syrian-inspired disorders.

The Communist apparatus under Lieut. Col. Abdel Hamid Sarraj, Syrian army intelligence chief, is believed to be effective for agitation, propaganda, riots, terrorism, bombings and even murder if necessary. But it isn't rated a war machine.

The Communist hope appears to be that disorders will cause the downfall of King Hussein. This would give other powers an excuse to move in. Such a development almost took place on April 14. It was prevented only by the young king's display of authority.

King Hussein's chances of survival are now rated no better than 50-50. He appears to have the British-trained army—half Bedouin, half Arab—supporting him.

Though British subsidies ended in March, his troops have been paid this far, perhaps with Saudi Arabian money. Hussein is safe as long as his army stays with him.

The main trouble is that Jordan has no resources to make it self-sustaining. It isn't quite as big as Kentucky and is mostly desert. Its 1,500,000 population includes 500,000 refugees from Palestine, barely existing in camps on a United Nations allowance of eight cents a day, mostly from the U.S. This group provides the discontented mobs the leftists use for riots.

If these refugees could be resettled in other Arab lands, Jordan's worst problem would be over.

Even so, there is no logical justification for Jordan's continued existence—except to keep its neighbors from dividing it up.

If Syria should move against Jordan, it would be natural to expect Israeli forces to move east to the Jordan river, occupying that part of eastern Palestine now under King Hussein's control.

In any conflict between Syrian and Israeli troops, military experts believe the Syrians would get a worse shellacking than Israel has twice given the Egyptians.

The final riddle in this complex situation is what Russia will do about it. Nobody really knows the answer to that.

One estimate is that the Russians would not go to war in this area, even if the United States were to drop a regiment of marines in Jordan to preserve it.

The Russians would be expected to write notes and make speeches and propaganda out of that. They might send experts and supplies and do everything they could to keep the situation stirred up—short of actual war.

That is, according to this estimate—they would not send Russian troops or "volunteers" unless they believed this was the only way to save their prestige.

Envoy to Ireland Is Okayed 9 to 6

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee yesterday voted 9-6 to approve the controversial nomination of Scott McLeod as ambassador to Ireland.

Six Democrats voted against the state department security chief, according to members who left the closed door session early.

McLeod was supported by all seven Republican committee members and Democratic Sens. Mike Mansfield (Mont.) and Russell B. Long (La., it was reported.

The committee voted to send the controversial nomination to the senate *floor for confirmation after de*feating 9-6 a motion to postpone action.

Republicans were confident that McLeod, ceiling FBI agent and former administrative assistant to Sen. Styles Bridges, R.-N.H., would win senate confirmation.

Suit for Damage Is Lodged in T.F.

A complaint by Mrs. Hulda Vail seeking damages totaling $2,049.48 for minuse and waste of property was filed in the Twin Falls district court Thursday against J. S. Brown.

Mrs. Vail claims that on Dec. 10, 1952, she and James H. Vail entered into a lease agreement with Ansel S. Hill—for—the—Chase-Out—with Kimberly. On July 1, 1953, with their consent, Hill assigned his lease to Brown.

Since Jan. 8, 1956, Mrs. Vail has been owner of the property by virtue of a divorce decree from James H. Vail, the complaint states.

In the lease agreement, she claims, the fixtures of the club were to be installed and maintained by Brown. They were to have been left on the premises in good condition when the lease terminated.

It's That So!

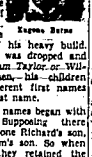
How You Came By Your Name

Ever wonder how you latched on to your name?

There was a time in England when people had only first names, such as Fred, William or Mary. If Mary were married to William, she might be Mary William's wife.



Eugene Burns

As people became more numerous and lived closer together confusion arose. And so, perhaps William was called William the tailor because of his occupation. Or William the stout because of his heavy build. Eventually "the" was dropped and *he became William Taylor or Wil*liam Stout. Then his children would have different first names but retain the last name.

Sometimes, the names began with the children. Supposing there were two Freds—one Richard's son, the other William's son. So when they grew up they retained the name Fred Richardson and Fred Williamson.

In the days when most people could not read, signs identified shops. A locksmith might have a key for his sign and his shop called "The Sign of the Key." And so, James who owned the locksmith was called James Key.

Some people took their surnames from people or places they liked. And so, we have John King, Fred Silver, William Gold.

Because some people had distinctive personal characteristics they were called Short, Longfellow, Stout. Or for their occupations—Baker, Sawyer (carpenter) or Coward (cowherd). Or for the physical characteristics of the place in which they lived—Green (near the village green), Ridgeway (along the ridge of a hill), Beckett (along a little brook). Or from the name of the place in which they lived—Lincoln, Barstow, Oglethorpe, Throckmorton.

Some people got their names from nicknames—Dixon (son of Richard nicknamed, Dick); Robson (son of Robert, nicknamed Rob); Thompson (son of Thomas, nicknamed Tom).

Sentimental reasons dictated the choice of other names. Darcy (from the old English word deer for dear, and wine, for friend).

The person's station in life supplied the names of some. Child or Childs (which meant a well-bred youth, a young knight).

The most common American name, Smith, came from the most time common occupation of men—who shaped metal while it was hot and soft. But times change and today few Smiths are engaged in their former profession.

The most common American names are Johnson (son of John), Jones (Welch, son of John), Miller (the occupation of miller), Davis (son of David), Anderson (son of Anders, another form of Andrew), Taylor (the occupation of tailor) and Moore, (a place name, near the moor).

Navy's Secretary Opposed to Unification

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Secretary of Navy Gates says he is opposed to a single combined military service for the nation.

At a dinner of the Pennsylvania club this week, Gates termed the single-service idea "probably the most utter nonsense that has ever been foisted upon the American public."

With such an operation, he said, "perhaps the United States would be led into devising a single strategy, and we need alternate strategies."

Truck Driver Is Nabbed for Hit-Run Case

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (UP)—A San Francisco lawyer sought today to edge the point for the city's most prolific hit-run driver through an emotional appeal for surrender by a suspect in another traffic fatality case.

Attorney J. W. Ehrlich said he would ask Joseph Adair, a truck driver free on $2,000 bail to plea to the hit-run slayer of Lloyd Stephens to turn himself in, too.

Intensive Search

The slayer of Stephens has touched off the most intensive police search in years, but so far no one has found the car or its driver. Police believe the automobile was a 1955 or 1956 Mercury.

Stephens, 68, was returning from a baseball game three weeks ago when a driver struck him. The driver became panicky and tried to dislodge Stephens' body by speeding and jamming his brakes. Every bone in Stephens' body was broken before the frantic driver succeeded in freeing his vehicle.

Surrenders

Adair surrendered himself yesterday and was booked on a charge of suspicion of hit-run and manslaughter in the death of Umberto Medal late Wednesday night.

Medal, 64, died a few hours later in emergency hospital. Witnesses said the death car hurled him almost 40 feet across an intersection, then sped on.

Adair, who turned himself in on the advice of his attorney, refuses to discuss the matter.

X-Ray Tubes Are Subject for Talk

Construction and care of X-ray tubes were discussed by Spencer Simms, Boise, General Electric service representative, at the Magic Valley Area X-ray technicians meeting this week.

Speaker also discussed tube rating charts and heat storage charts. James Rosenbaum, state president, reminded those attending of the Northwest X-ray conference set for May 30 and June 1-in Spokane. Delmer Thompson announced the test copy of the state X-ray paper, "Scattered Radiation," will be mailed about May 10.

Some 18 technicians from Rupert, Burley, Kimberly, Filer and Twin Falls attended the meeting, at the office of Dr. William Peterson. Mrs. Judy Saur and Mrs. Barbara Selvers were hostesses.

Liver Ailment Takes Life of McCarthy, 47

tending our profound sympathy to Mrs. McCarthy in the grievous personal loss she has sustained."

Within a half hour after McCarthy died the flag over the senate was dropped to half staff.

McCarthy was a key figure in the investigations of communism and alleged communism which aroused high feelings in the early 1950s, but his career faded after the senate voted condemnation of some of his conduct in 1954.

McCarthy's death came five days after he was hospitalized for a liver inflamation, acute hepatitis.

He is survived by his wife and former senate aide, Jean Kerr McCarthy, and the infant daughter they adopted early this year.

McCarthy had been ill for varying periods over the past few years, suffering from sinus trouble, bursitis and a knee injury which he attributed to a steel fragment lodging in the knee during his World war II service as a marine officer in the South Pacific.

Mrs. McCarthy was at the senator's bedside when he died. Medical officials of the hospital were in attendance.

Officially the death was attributed to "acute hepatic failure."

His death cuts the Republican membership in the senate to 46, compared with the Democrats' 49. Wisconsin's Republican Gov. Vernon W. Thompson is prohibited by state law from naming a successor to McCarthy but can call a special election to choose another senator.

McCarthy—whose activities gave a new word, "McCarthyism," to the English language—died in the same naval hospital where he had been a patient on past occasions, notably during his senate "trial." That proceeding culminated in a vote that he had (1) obstructed "the constitutional processes of the senate," and (2) breached "senatorial ethics."

Politically—and, perhaps, personally—this verdict was a well-nigh fatal blow to the jovialed, sardonically-witty, sometimes sentimental, and often stormily denunciatory McCarthy.

The onetime farm boy from Appleton, Wis., had gone a long way. Joe McCarthy—he liked to be called "Joe"—was acclaimed by many as the nation's foremost hunter of communists. He was assailed by others as a cynical, ruthless destroyer of reputations.

Often mentioned in his heyday as a possible presidential candidate—he would have been the first Catholic to receive the GOP nomination—McCarthy locked horns with two presidents. Democrat Harry S. Truman sought to brush him aside as, in Truman's words, a pathological case. Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower supported McCarthy for reelection in 1952, though without visible enthusiasm, and later treated him with an icy disdain which undoubtedly was a factor in the senator's political eclipse.

There was a time in the early '50s when McCarthy dominated nearly every political discussion, whipping passions higher than any other American.

His career came to a climax in the televised senate hearings into the row between McCarthy and high Pentagon officials including then Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens. Millions were glued to TV sets for this airing of McCarthy's charge that his opponents were "coddling" communists and the counter-charge that McCarthy's office was trying to "blackmail" the Pentagon into kid glove handling of a wealthy young McCarthy aide, Pvt. David Schine.

These hearings led to the senate vote of condemnation, as recommended by a special committee headed by Sen. Arthur Watkins, R., Utah. Eisenhower let it be known he was on Watkins' side, and McCarthy's star quickly faded.

It had shone brightly in the years before. McCarthy's influence was vast in government and in the nation generally. The reverberations of his activities as chairman of the senate investigations subcommittee, in particular, were world wide. Many American Legion posts and other groups cited him as a symbol of Americanism; many other groups, here and abroad, recoiled from him as a symbol of witch-hunting frenzy.

McCarthy himself was a surprisingly relaxed, anti-stuffed shirt, often humorous man in private—a far cry from the stern inquisitor, or the betrayed crusader, which the public saw. His language had a barnyard flavor which the best efforts of his keenly-intelligent, highly, well-mannered wife could not affect.

McCarthy's rise to prominence was as swift as his fall. He had been a judge back in Wisconsin, quit that post to become a marine, resigned from the marines to run for senator. In the senate he was little known until he made a speech at Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 9, 1950, asserting he held in his hand the names of card-carrying communists in the state department.

Just how many such names he mentioned remained a subject of controversy, like almost everything else McCarthy was to say or do, but he became a front-page figure overnight. And he kept the spotlight for four turbulent years with investigations that ranged from alleged pro-communist books in U. S. libraries overseas to the fate of the Americans held prisoner by Chinese communists.

McCarthy's wrath caused cabinet members to tremble in those days. But his influence dwindled to a point where his voice was seldom heard, and less often heeded. Only this year, for example, the senate overwhelmingly approved the nomination of William J. Brennan to the supreme court over McCarthy's protest that the nominee had criticized congressional investigations. Only one "no" was heard when the vote was taken. It was the lonely voice of Joseph Raymond McCarthy.

T.F. Lions Hold Successful Sale

Twin Falls Lions club members sold more than 1,800 worth of brooms, rugs and doormats made by handicapped workers at Live, Inc., Boise, in a one-night canvass of the city Thursday night, reports E. E. Jellison, project chairman.

The total is expected to approach $1,700 by the time all receipts are in, Jellison added.

The entire amount taken in will be used to help finance operation of a sheltered workshop for the state's severely handicapped workers at Boise. The workshop is sponsored jointly by Idaho Lions clubs and the state department of public assistance.

Member Ousted

A member of the Twin Falls Rebel Rod and Custom club who had been arrested and jailed on a charge of reckless driving was banned from further club activities at the Rebels' meting Thursday night.

The former member was expelled and his club plaque was repossessed.

It was reported one of the club's cars is being used by a local theater to promote a movie. A safety check was scheduled for 10 a.m. May 12.

Burns Are Basis Of Damage Case

A total of $25,739.34 in damages resulting from burns allegedly received while taking a bath is sought in a complaint filed Thursday in Twin Falls district court by Mrs. Ida Mae R. Pendrey against Ben Miller individually and as trustee of the Continental Hotel system.

In her complaint Mrs. Pendrey states on March 28, 1957, at approximately 6 a.m. she was bathing in her bathroom at the Park hotel, Twin Falls, and because of faulty plumbing—fixtures—boiling—water rushed into the tub surrounding her feet and ankles.

She claims she was severely burned and hospitalized at Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

She asks for $739.34 for doctor, hospital and loss of work damages and $25,000 other damages.

State Patrolman Slated at Jerome

State Patrolman Marvin Wright has been appointed to fill the vacancy created in the Jerome area when Patrolman E. A. Hagler was promoted to lieutenant and transferred to Boise.

Wright assumed his new post effective Wednesday. Lieut. Clark Hand said Thursday.

He joined the Idaho state police May 3, 1954, and worked as a port of entry man at Strevell until July 1, 1955, when he was placed in charge of the station.

Wright's home originally was in Boise. He is married and has one child.

Many Fete Twin Falls Couple on Anniversary Day

Approximately 650 friends and relatives honored Mr. and Mrs. George J. Ward, early Twin Falls residents, at their golden wedding anniversary reception Sunday at their home.

The serving table was centered by a large rose-trimmed, gold-dipped candle flanked by gold ceramic vases filled with pink roses. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a wedding bell and gold leaves. The gold serving plates, gold-trimmed glasses, vases, candles and cake plates used, were all made by Mrs. Ward.

The colors, gold, blue and pink were carried throughout the house. Floral arrangements, gold leaves, and other ceramics and porcelain figurines, made by Mrs. Ward, accented the rooms.

In the basement family room, heirlooms and genealogy notes and pictures were displayed. The focal point of their display table was a spotlighted porcelain doll dressed in a replica of Mrs. Ward's wedding dress made of the lace from it.

Mrs. Ward designed and made the Alice Blue chiffon velvet gown she wore for the reception. It was accented with gold accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Besides members of the family, out-of-town guests were present from Sacramento and Dos Palos, Calif., Provo, Draper, Salt Lake City and Brigham City, Utah; Willard, Malta, Almo, Burley, Pocatello Boise and St. Anthony.

Many hours are spent by Mrs. Ward in her workshop making ceramics and porcelain figurines as gifts and for her own enjoyment.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

In this day and generation emphasis is being placed on teaching youth to "get along with people." This is a fine idea. Going through life with a chip on the shoulder is to gather a big harvest of misery. Going along in a friendly, cooperative fashion is to know peace of mind and joy of spirit—up to a certain limit.

That limit is fixed and firm. One can "go along" until there is a question, not of mere opinion but of principle, of the right and wrong of the matter. Then, to gather that harvest of peace and joy, one stops going along and stands "against the evil day."

Young people love to argue and we all know they do that for long spells and with loud, excited voices. Whether the school colors are to be blue and gold or green and gold; whether the freshmen are to wear beanies or buttons to identify their lowly estate; whether to hold the prom in the school gym or in the hotel ballroom, can be the cause of loud and prolonged argument with no damage to one side or the other.

But: A big question arises now and then. Here is a school fraternity, a club, some social organization or other and here is a candidate for admission. He is "different." Immediately the group is split. Prejudice, bias, family custom, personal likes and dislikes stir in the minds of the group and, as arguments are delivered, the air becomes a boiling, bitter intemperate hassle.

This is the time when it is time to stop "going along" and stand for the principles of right and wrong, or justice and injustice, of sound good sense or its opposite. It is the time when the well-balanced, well-disciplined young person says, "I'm sorry but this time I cannot go along with you. I believe your plan is against principles of right and justice." Maybe he will stand alone, for a time. But in the long run he will be justified.

Young people need to read over the story of Daniel as written in the Bible in the sixth chapter of the Book of Daniel. His is a thrilling story of a man standing firmly for a principle. The lions that this sort of hero faces today can be as formidable as those pictured in the story. Friends may desert, enemies may triumph, grief may be his portion for a time, but as sure as the sun rises his rightness will be made plain and the lions' mouths will be shut.

"Go along" when the point of argument is trifling and a decision one way or another will harm nobody in flesh or in spirit, but, when it is a matter of right and justice, of obedience to a law of conscience, there is nothing to do but to stand.

Does your child get along well with other children? Does he meet strangers easily? Dr. Patri's booklet No. 304, "Your Child and Other People," tells how to guide your child in his behavior with other people. To obtain a copy, send 15 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. the world's largest maker of TV antennas

TV antennas that have been up on the roof for as little as two years—in addition to being physically weakened—may be corroded, scientifically outdated or damaged. This may not be obvious to your eye—especially if you don't know what to look for—but they can cause 'ghosts,' interference, 'snow,' and other reception problems.

See if storm damage, old age or outdated antenna design are cheating you of the TV picture you paid for.

Bees Will Invade Jaycee Park After Thursday Rainout

The Magic Valley Cowboys and the Pocatello Athletics were idled by high winds which churned the Jaycee park diamond into a maelstrom of dust Thursday evening. Short-duration rain at the conclusion of the final game of the three-game series was announced, rain began to fall and the dust was turned into a thin coat of mud.

The Salt Lake City at Boise game also was postponed because of rain. The rainout at Boise gave Idaho Falls and Billings a chance to gain on the first place Bees who have a 5-1 record, with both the Russets and Mustangs one game behind at 4-2, at the end of Wednesday night's play.

The high-flying Bees invade Jaycee park Friday night to open a three-game series against the Cowboys who have won their last three games against Pocatello after losing the first two. Magic Valley topped the A's in extra innings in both of their games in Twin Falls.

Manager Buroff Thurlby nominated righthander Dave Hall as the Cowboys' starting pitcher against the Bees Friday night. Game time is 8 p.m.

The games with Salt Lake on Saturday and Sunday will be played in the afternoon. Ed Schasck, secretary and business manager of the Cowboys, announced the games will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Russets Trip Timberjacks To Close Gap

MISSOULA, Mont., May 3 (AP) — The Idaho Falls Russets rapped the three Missoula Timberjack hurlers for a total of 11 hits Thursday night for a 6-2 victory that moved them within one-half game of the Pioneer league lead.

Russet pitchers—three of them—let out nine hits to the Timberjacks, and Idaho Falls field swatted and hitted Idaho Falls hurlers for twelve more than made up the gap. A triple by Bill Benedict and doubles by Jay Cooke, Gordon Maxwell and Jackson Queen sparked the Russet triumph.

Benedict picked up two doubles off the bat of Joe Abernathy and one from Orlando Gonzalez.

Syrians Slate By-Elections For Saturday

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 3 (AP)—Syria holds four by-elections for parliament Saturday that will test leftist-wing hopes of regaining political power and pushing the country into the arms of anti-Communist states.

Both taken by Jordan, leftist-wing groups are fighting to retain their hold on parliament and to destroy the right-wing elements hopes of changing the policy of President Premier Sabri El Asali for a new western alignment.

Four Seats Open

Only four seats are at stake of the 142 in the Syrian parliament. But the pre-elections appear to be a test that will be crucial for Syria's future.

Fewer than 200,000 voters in the capital of Damascus and the city of Homs may help to decide the entire Syria western issue.

For the rightists it is a crusade against Communism and unidentified "imperialism." For the leftists it is a crusade against "imperialism" and the Eisenhower doctrine"—which they claim is the same thing.

First Test

This is the first electoral test in an Arab nation since King Hussein of Jordan ousted the left-wing Nabulsi cabinet in his declared campaign against Communism. Hussein's action threatened the unity of the neutral Arab bloc and was strongly assailed in the nationalist press of Syria and Egypt. Army officers fired by Hussein fled here. Rightist-wing groups regard the election as their best chance at the polls for years. But western observers feared the elections could eventually explode into demonstrations organized by either side.

The film is narrated by All-American star and veteran sports announcer Tom Harmon and nationwide known church leader, Louis H. Evans.

The rally will also include the Bible quiz between the 14 top high school Bible quizzers competing for a place on the all-star team that will represent Magic Valley at the Youth for Christ regional finals in Bremerton, Wash., May 30-31.

The public is invited.

MISTER, THIS IS THE LOWEST PRICED LUBRICANT ON THE MARKET!
LUBRIPLATE
THE MODERN LUBRICANT
Now, I don't mean purchase price...LUBRIPLATE probably costs a lot more per pound than the grease you are now using... but I'm getting at is the over all costs.
LUBRIPLATE lasts longer...yes, it does. You see the film is tougher and stands up longer. A lot of fellows who use LUBRIPLATE tell me they have been able to stretch their lubrication schedules. That in itself is a saving.
But the big thing is LUBRIPLATE arrests progressive wear and prevents rust and corrosion. Sure you save on parts replacement and machine shutdown...and on lubrication...LUBRIPLATE is the slipperiest stuff you can put on a bearing. Of course it saves on power. All and all LUBRIPLATE is the most economical lubricant you can use."

Farmers Help in Creamery Strike

CALDWELL, Ida., May 3 (AP)—A Teamsters strike against the Dairymen's Cooperative Creamery here has not affected creamery operations because farmers and former employes were doing the work of the strikers, Creamery manager C. M. Carlson said today.

Carlson said about 50 employes had walked out Wednesday "over wages and hours, I suppose, but I don't know why it should be that."

He said the creamery had offered the union settlements comparable to contracts negotiated recently for creamery workers elsewhere.

In Boise, local teamsters business agent Frank Baldwin was not available for comment. One of his aides, however, commented that the creamery management "ought to know" what the strike was about.

Airman Acquitted Of Death Charge

HELENA, Mont., May 3 (AP)—Louis J. Rivers, 20-year-old airman, yesterday was acquitted of a second-degree murder charge in connection with the death of his stepdaughter.

He had been charged in the malnutrition death of the infant.

The child's mother, Mrs. Alta May Rivers, 18, formerly of Idaho Falls, recently was sentenced to not more than 10 years in prison after a jury found her guilty of second-degree murder.

Barber Retires

EUREKA, Nev., May 3 (AP)—Eureka's only barber, Carl Evans, retired yesterday after 35 years.

And shaggy-haired Eurekans can't get any help at Austin, the closest town, 70 miles west. That community hasn't had a barber for years.

It's a 78-mile drive to the next closest barber in Ely.

Road Discussion Cites Community

FREDONIA, Ariz., May 3 (AP)—Reports of polygamy in the Arizona strip community of Short Creek popped up again at a highway discussion meeting here yesterday.

Conferring on a proposed new highway through Short Creek were officials of surrounding towns, businessmen, and representatives of the LDS church. The road would run from Fredonia to Hurricane, Utah, passing through Short Creek.

The tiny hamlet gained international prominence in 1953 when the state raided it in a raid on polygamists there. Most of the men were placed under arrest but eventually returned to their homes.

Solon Calling for Agency Economy

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Senator Mansfield, D., Mont., today called on the U. S. information agency to streamline its operations and reduce its personnel "in the interest of economy and a better program."

Mansfield is a member of a senate appropriations subcommittee considering Director Arthur Larson's request for restoration of funds cut by the house. He said he favored cutting even more than the $37,000,000 house cut.

New Giraffe

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—Officials at Brookfield zoo proudly announced yesterday that Pamela the giraffe has given birth to a six-foot baby. They think it's a boy.

The newcomer's spindly legs gave way the moment it was born—as always happens to giraffe babies—and its sex won't be identified until it's strong enough to stand.

International Luncheon Held In Home Demonstration Week

Several hundred Twin Falls area women crowded the basement of the First Baptist church here Thursday to attend an International luncheon served by members of nine county home demonstration clubs to commemorate National Home Demonstration week.

Each club served food from a different foreign country and club members were dressed in native costumes. After the luncheon itself, dances, music and styles from the various country were given.

Mimeographed copies of all recipes used for the luncheon were passed out to those attending.

Clubs participating and the countries they represented included the Town and Country club, Holland; the Marsh club, China; the Homebuilders, India; the Merry Marrieds, Mexico; Syringa club, Germany; the Cheerful Matrons, Spain; the Community Ys, Hawaii; the Salmon Tract Homemakers, Italy, and the Neighborhood club, Norway.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Herber Loughmiller, chairman, presented the program which opened with a welcome by Mrs. H. A. Childers, president of the Twin Falls County Home Demonstration council.

Mrs. Garland Gibbs, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Denton, played two violin solos representing Poland and Venice. Kathy Sanders performed a Mexican hat dance in costume.

Mrs. Lloyd Walker sang English, German, Italian, Irish and Scottish songs. The audience joined in her concluding number, "God Bless America." Mrs. Don Youts was the accompanist.

Mrs. James Holly, a native of India, spoke on the Indian people, their home and ways of living and foods. She also spoke briefly on education in India.

An Italian square dance was performed by Mrs. Howard Mills and Mrs. Francis Jones in costume.

A special tribute was paid to Florence Schultz, county home demonstration agent, by Mrs. L. A. Hansen. Mrs. Hansen presented Miss Schultz a gift from all participating clubs.

A style parade, narrated by Mrs. Charles Chambers, concluded the entertainment. Members taking part modeled the costume of their representative country.

Committers included Mrs. Loughmiller, chairman; Mrs. Howard Ronk, Mrs. Robert Graves and Mrs. Vernon Routh, publicity; Mrs. Craig Dunlap and Mrs. Ray Dunkers, decoration and refreshments; Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. Charles Boe, supplies, and Mrs. Harold Gibbs, yearbooks and scrapbooks.

Power Will Be on Lines Next Week

PALISADES, May 3 (AP)—Electric power from the second generator at the Palisades dam power plant will be on the line by the middle of next week, Plant Engineer M. F. O'Donnell said today.

He said the addition of the generator to the dam's power production May 10 or 11 would double the hydroelectric output of the power plant.

O'Donnell said most of the output from the first two Palisades generators would go to the Minidoka-northside pumping project near Rupert as soon as heavy irrigation pumping operations start. The city of Idaho Falls also is served by power from the project.

Refugee

MONTIVEDEO, Uruguay, May 3 (AP)—Jacobo Arbenz, former pro-communist president of Guatemala, has been granted permission to come to Uruguay as a political refugee, it was announced today.

Arbenz, believed to be in Switzerland, was overthrown in June, 1954 by an anti-Communist revolution led by Lieut. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, president chief executive of Guatemala.

State's Senators Eye Legislation On Anti-Secrecy

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—At least 100 bills designed to combat secrecy in government operations were introduced at current or recent sessions of the nation's state legislatures, a United Press survey has revealed.

More than three-fourths of the bills await legislative action at the time the survey was made. Six anti-secrecy measures became law in five states. About seven anti-secrecy bills were defeated.

California took the lead in the introduction of measures which would protect the public's right to know. More than 70 bills dealing with secrecy were offered in that state's current legislative session. Most were designed to make all state agencies subject to the open meeting classification.

Prior to this year's lawmaking sessions, nine states had so-called open meeting laws on their statute books. Twenty-two states had requirements for public inspection of official documents.

BUSINESS WILL NEED 2,000,000 MORE WOMEN

In the next five years America must recruit two million more women for office jobs. About twenty million women are employed today. Ours is a society geared to work. Women sense the fact that employment is an exciting part of our national life and they are anxious to participate in business.

In the future, according to the Director of Research for the National Manpower Council, women will refuse employment only during the years when their children are small. Today women hold 46% of all retail executive positions, and numerous top level jobs in advertising, banking and journalism. Many good-paying jobs are waiting for YOU right now—are you properly trained to take advantage of these golden opportunities?
