EIGHT DAY TRIP IN GLIDER CRAFT COMES TO CLOSE

FAMOUS FLYER, HOLDER OF NON-STOP RECORD ACROSS COUNTRY URGES YOUNG MEN TO TAKE UP GLIDER FOR "THRILLING SPORT"

NEW YORK, April 7 (UP)—New York pilot returns today to Captain Frank S. Hawks, the first man to cross the continent in a glider towed by an airplane.

Out of a leader sky yesterday afternoon Hawks piloted his powerless craft within sight of 1,563 people waiting in the straits in Van Nuys, California, to witness the end of his "blasted" dash to the east in a series of general halts, ending the eight-day trip from San Diego, Cal., in which he made 156 flights and a total trip from Buffalo, N. Y., to Los Angeles, Calif., of 4,000 miles.

One was to promote American public opinion for a three-hour stop instead of the four-hour stop for the power pact.

The other was a "warning" to France and Italy that the three-power agreement was virtually in existence and a hint that the way was still open for adherence to a major agreement if the two countries were to avoid their own destruction.

He was enthusiastic in writing, and said the thrill of the flight was not in the flying, but in the fact that he had done it.

When the low-line was cut loose, 1,000 feet above the northern part of Manhattan Island yesterday afternoon, Hawks and J. D. "Duke" Jenkins, pilot of the tow plane, ended their most troublesome day in the air.

Over Syracuse they struck a gale, and a current caused the glider to soar 3,000 feet upward. The tow line strained, and for a while Hawks said, he thought he might have to abandon the ship and descend in a parachute. But the sturdy constructed craft managed to weather the storm.

The flight from San Diego required 354 hours of actual flying time and covered 2,050 miles.

Pacific Coast League Baseball Season Opens Tomorrow

TEAMS IN FINE CONDITION FOR COMING SEASON

Clubs Awaiting Umpire's Ory to "Play Ball"; Seals, Beavers, Stars and Angels Give Indication of Much Power

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 (UP)—Favored by the sunny skies that have made the training season successful, the Pacific coast league 1930 season will open tomorrow.

For more than six months the eight teams in the circuit will play seven games a week, there is every reason to believe they will attract as many fans as in the past.

Each section of the Pacific Coast has a real pennant contender. In Southern California the Los Angeles Angels have one of the best balanced teams they have presented for some time.

The San Francisco Seals loom as the prize of baseball followers in the northern part of the state. Portland's Beavers furnish the most serious threat that has come from the Pacific Northwest in several years.

A large number of experts have declared that the Angels are their pre-season choice.

The Hollywood Stars, who won the pennant last year, have not slumped noticeably but the opinion prevails that Los Angeles and the Seals will play better ball than was necessary to win last season.

TEXAS TEAM WINS NATIONAL CROWN

CHICAGO, April 7, (UP)—For the second time in two years, the pennant emblematic of the international basketball championship of the United States floated from the flag of Athens, Tex., high school today.

When the Texans trimmed Iowa, 22 to 16 in the final game of the tournament Saturday night, it marked the first time in history that the national championship has been won by the same institution twice.

... or the high school gym, bringing the home folk a national title. So consoled were the citizens that they collected enough money to send the team to the journey.

But the height and speed of the Texans proved too much for Iowa. Pringle and Bonnie Thompson, two of the ten six footers in the Athens squad, led their team's attack and their brilliant basket shooting took the heart out of the Lehigh boys who in the afternoon were extended to the limit in defeating Corinth, Ky., winner of third place honors over St. John's Military Academy of Delafair, Wis., 29 to 15.

Grade Schools to Feature Baseball

A grade school baseball league in Twin Falls is now in the process of formation with Melcher Preble of the junior high faculty in charge of the work. Three teams each in the Black, Liberty and Washington school buildings have been organized and there is a possibility of more being formed. Under the rules of the league each team must have at least two fourth grade students on the roster and not more than four sixth graders. This rule is to divide the teams to equality between the fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

A schedule of play is now being worked out by Mr. Preble and the league will swing into action soon to complete the work by this school year.

SEX EDUCATOR TO DELIVER ADDRESS

P. T. A. Bringing Noted Educator Here to Lecture; Conferences With Workers Set

The schedule of meetings which Edward W. Edson, educational associate of the American Social Hygiene Association will attend in Twin Falls, commences today where he will address the state convention of Idaho Parent-Teacher associations, has been announced by the local Parent-Teacher association, sponsoring his appearance here. The sponsor organization is receiving the cooperation of numerous civic groups in bringing Dr. Edson to Twin Falls.

Mr. Edson will arrive in Twin Falls Tuesday noon, April 15, and will spend the afternoon in conferences with educational, social workers and high school sponsors. In the evening he will address the large public meeting on "The Boy-Girl Problem." Mrs. John E. Hayes, Twin Falls, historian of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, who met him at a national officers' conference last winter in Washington, D. C., states that he is a very forceful and dynamic speaker and is possessed of a sympathy that charms.

Mr. Edson, a graduate of Harvard, has had a long experience as educator and as an administrator in secondary schools for boys. In 1926 he entered the United States Public Health service and since 1921 has been with the American Social Hygiene Association. He is the author of a number of books and pamphlets and articles on sex education. Wednesday morning, Mr. Edson will address the junior high school and in the afternoon will continue conferences with social workers and boy and girls' organization leaders. He will leave for Boise late Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hayes.

MINIDOKA PROJECT GETS EARLY WATER

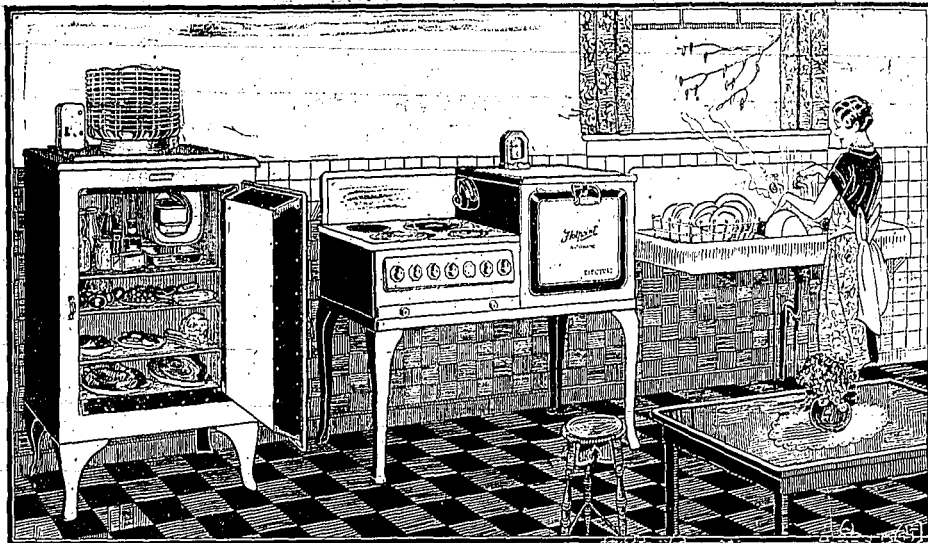

BURLEY, April 7.—(Special)—Water for 50,000 acres of the south-side-of-the-Minidoka project was turned on in the main canal Monday, April 7. This is much earlier than usual for this area, but is due to the forward spring weather, which is far ahead of that of year ago. Vegetation is making its appearance in all quarters, and sheep and stock men generally are feeling good about weather conditions. Grazing is said to be good in the dry land regions south of Burley, and many sheep are being taken to the deserts for pasturing.

John L. Burke, of Portland, Oregon, manager of the Portland Packer Company, is in Burley for a few days looking over the company's business here. For most years the company has fed large herds of sheep and cattle at their feeding grounds near the Burley sugar factory.
