Borah Leaves Hoover Backers On Uneasy Seats

Idaho Senator Uncertain About Taking Stump Again for President During 1932 Race

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 11. (UP)—Utterances of regular Republican party leaders at the national conference of young Republicans here accept as a certainty the renomination of President Hoover, and reveal them as being more concerned over the insurgent movement which threatens to defeat their efforts in the coming session of the closely divided new congress.

In this connection the fact that Senator William E. Borah is breaking his custom of spending the summer here and is now on his way west has provoked much speculation. Already Borah has indicated he regards the Hoover administration as being put out of step with sentiment of the west. There is concern among Republican regulars after grazing in western fields all summer, he will come back west fall with fire in his eye. Borah carried a good share of the campaigning load for Mr. Hoover in 1928 and there is some question as to whether he will take the stump again next year. Asked about this recently he made the cryptic reply that he might be pretty tired and in that case would need a long rest.

Attacks Wide Interest

Borah's intentions are a matter of wide interest among politicians because he has become an unique institution in American politics. He is practically a third house of congress, so that though con-

RAILS TO ASK 15 PER CENT BLANKET FREIGHT INCREASE

Carriers Declare Boost Is Necessary To Maintain Buying Power

NEW YORK, June 12 (UP) Having agreed that a 15 per cent blanket increase in all freight rates and charges will be necessary to lift railroads out of their present financial depression, carrier officials were confident today the Washington will be forthcoming with the necessary relief by early autumn.

At a meeting of executives of all the important carriers in the country yesterday, members of the eastern, western and southern railroad groups adopted a unanimous resolution to ask for the increase and authorized a committee consisting of the chairmen of the three groups, to prepare and file a joint application with the interstate commerce commission and the state commissions.

Approval of the resolution followed a series of meetings conducted by the three groups in an effort to offset the heavy slump in earnings being reported by all the railroads. Details of the application which will contain a full statement of the reasons for the action will be made public by the interstate commerce commission.

10 per Cent Total

While an increase of 15 per cent in rates will be asked for, some of the commodities affected will not be able to stand this much of an advance and in these cases the roads will make downward revisions, making the net result, if the 15 per cent rise is granted, about 10 per cent.

Tracing the decline in railroad freight income from the time the interstate commerce commission ordered a general freight rate reduction of 10 per cent to aid depressed business in 1922, M. J. Dornsife, executive of the American Railway association, said freight revenues have suffered a total drop of $4,705,700,000.

"This ignores entirely the fact that a steady whittling away of the rate structure has also been going on since that time, which has adversely affected railway income," Dornsife said. "If the railroads had not successfully re-

CAPONE INDICTED ON RUM CHARGES

Gangster Faces 19 Counts in Latest Move of U. S. Probers

CHICAGO, June 12 (UP)—The federal grand jury indicted Alphonse "Scarface" Capone again today, his name headed a list of 38 persons named in true bills charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Last week Capone was indicted on charges of evading income tax payments.

Although he has a reputation as the country's biggest liquor seller this is only the second time the federal government has acquired fuel of lawbreaking. The previous indictment was quashed.

The indictment cites 19 overt acts between 1921 and 1931 in and around Chicago.

Conspiracy to manufacture and transport beer was the way Capone worked this charge.

Among the overt acts charged against the reputed bootleg king are the purchase of trucks of Mandel Motor Truck Co., in Hammond, Ind., in 1923 and 1929 and the identification of these of these trucks as the cars captured later with loads of beer.

BOMBERS WRECK AUTO SALESROOM

CHICAGO, June 12 (UP) A bomb so powerful that it shook panes from windows a block away and hurled fragments of gas pipe through double walls was exploded today in an Oak Park neighborhood which has been terrorized by blasts three times within a week.

The bomb was tossed from an automobile into the service department of the Thomas L. Harrigan auto sales room and caused approximately $7,000 damage. Harrigan said he knew of no reason for the attack.

DAKOTA DAMAGED BY RAIN HAIL

Estimated Toll in Crops and Buildings Half Million

FLETCHER, June 12 (UP)—Farmers in parts of Minnehaha and Lake counties today were taking stock of damage done last night by a hail storm which left a path 4500 yards wide in some places. Crops and buildings in south Dakota were damaged to the extent of $500,000 in the estimate made by state officials. Damage to the state's crops alone was placed at $400,000 by state officials.

Hail stones as large as golf balls were reported in some places. Other reports said the hail was as large as baseballs.

AUTOGIRO FALLS DURING TAKEOFF; EARHART UNHURT

Woman Flier Crashes Plane To Avoid Veering Into Spectators

TAKES 30 FOOT DROP

Ship Damaged But None Is Injured

ABILENE, Tex., June 12 (UP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam, ocean flier, escaped unhurt here today when her autogiro crashed in taking off for Dallas.

The autogiro had reached a height of 30 feet when Mrs. Putnam said a slight air eddy caused the machine to veer toward the crowd which had gathered to see her take off.

To avoid injury to spectators she forced the machine to the ground at once, damaging the rotors and bending the propellor. She planned to have the plane repaired here and hoped to proceed to Dallas and Fort Worth in three or four days.

Praises Ship

"Landing didn't even jar us," said Mrs. Putnam after the crash. "If it had been any other plane than an autogiro we might not be here now. As it was we weren't even shaken up.

"We could have made it all right if it hadn't been for the crowd. We might have anyway, but I was afraid a child might run out, or we might hit a car."

Mrs. Putnam landed in the only cleared space, a circle about 60 feet in diameter, between a crowd along the airport fence and another along the highway. Her mechanic was with her in the ship.

Heat Blamed

The combination of thin air, resulting from the extreme heat and dryness, and a miniature whirlwind were blamed for the accident. The air eddy forced the ship toward the ground and crowd at the critical time.

Mrs. Putnam and other girls will probably have to be sent from the factory at Philadelphia, Mrs. Putnam said, and this may delay her departure from Abilene as long as a week.

DANIEL SULLIVAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Body of Former Twin Falls Freight Agent Found Near Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY, June 12 (UP)—No inquest will be held in connection with the death of Daniel E. Sullivan, 55, retired freight agent formerly with the Oregon Short Line railroad, police said today.

Sullivan's body was found late yesterday in the mountains near Fort Douglas shell club, near here. Death was caused by a bullet wound through the head, which police said was self-inflicted.

Friends and members of Sullivan's family said he had been suffered from ill-health and despondency.

Sullivan was retired by the railroad last year after 30 years of service.

He is survived by his widow, Thereza, two brothers, John Sullivan, Claremont, Iowa, and N. J. Sullivan of LaGrande, Ore.; and

Lengthy, Ill-timed Radio Advertising Voted Down During Dealers' Session

Twin Falls' Oldest Citizen Finds Time For G. A. R. Meeting

Horace Hart, 102, Twin Falls' oldest citizen, reports fishing good at Silver creek after spending the day there Wednesday in company with C. W. Pool.

They arose at 2 o'clock in the morning and drove 60 miles north to the stream in Blaine county. Mr. Hart, who is a civil war veteran, managed to successfully land a 11½ inch trout, but is not satisfied with that showing.

He left for Boise Friday to attend a G. A. R. convention in Nampa next week, after which he states he wants to catch up on his fishing by going to Magic dam, if his companion Pool is able to stand the hurried trip!

SIXTEEN TOWNS ENTER SHOSHONE BEAUTY CONTEST

Last Minute Details Being Arranged for Features Of Celebration

SHOSHONE, June 12 (Special)—Last minute details are being arranged for the opening of the Jubilee Celebration here Sunday, and entries in the beauty contest and district parade are coming in rapidly.

Towns which will have entrants in the beauty contest Sunday evening, when a queen to rule over the celebration will be selected, include Eden, Twin Falls, Wendell, Jerome, Richfield, Dietrich, Shoshone, Hazelton, Burley, Rupert, Heyburn, Paul, Declo, Carey, Hills, Glenns Ferry and Hagerman. Dietrich's entry will be Alta Mecservey; Ada Hawks will represent Wendell; Katherine Crouch, Jerome; Maxine Walker, Hailey, and Rosetta Flavell, Richfield. Names of other entries have not been received.

At least 46 floats from Shoshone alone are assured for the historical parade. Goodin will send 25 floats. Dietrich plans to send seven pioneers dressed in old time costumes, mounted on white horses. An old time stage coach and a fife and drum corps will represent Hailey. The tribe of Indians from the Fort Hall reservation will be in full war dress for the parade.

Sunday afternoon a baseball game between Filer and Shoshone will be a feature of the celebration. The trapshoot tourney will start at 10 a. m. Sunday, with a dyeashing tourney at 2 p. m. The ball game is scheduled for 4 o'clock. The pioneer beauty contest will open the evening's festivities at 7 p. m. and will be followed by a band concert.

HURT KILLING SHEEP

PROVO, June 12 (UP)—Suffering from a knife wound incurred when his knife slipped while trying to kill a sheep, William Stacey, 57, was in a serious condition at a local hospital today.

Critics Of The Air Offer Aid To Better Broadcast Programs

CHICAGO, June 12 (UP) Too much advertising on radio programs—some of it not in the best of taste—is responsible for many of the ills of the radio industry, it was decided today by 250 newspaper radio editors meeting here in connection with the Radio Manufacturers' association.

The basis on which the decision was reached was the editors' answers to a questionnaire issued at the convention. The concensus of the "critics of the air" was told to the United Press today by Volney D. Hurd, president of the Newspaper Radio Editors' association.

"Many of the editors, who in reality are radio critics to their readers, believe that too much of the listening public's time is being taken up with advertising matter," said Hurd, radio editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Objections

"Some of the material broadcast they record as particularly appetizing and much of it as uninteresting, even. The type of advertising to which the editors chiefly objected was that regarding medicines and diseases particularly when broadcast at mealtimes".

"Most persons want a radio because there are certain programs to which they wish to listen," Hurd said. "If there were less advertising on the air they would want to listen to all of the programs.

"So, in order to be sure of hearing certain selected programs they buy an inexpensive and probably a 'midget' set. Hence the public will not buy a high priced machine to tune in on an occasional program, the radio manufacturers and dealers are losing money."

Must Be Short

In showing their preferences for programs, Hurd said, many of the editors chose those which contained interesting, but short, advertising sketches. Programs with select entertainment but lengthy and uninteresting advertising were voted down in the questionnaire, he said.

Another movement to limit the commercial advertising carried on programs was started among the 25,000 delegates attending the Radio Manufacturers' convention. It was sponsored by E. A. Nichols sales manager of a large manufacturing company.

"The radio advertiser who ignoluts his program with advertising that it becomes a source of annoyance to the listener simmedically defeats his own purpose in sponsoring the program," Nichols said.

STOCKMAN IS DEAD

PROVO, June 12 (UP) — Henry Jones Phillips, 62, prominent stock raiser and stockman, died here yesterday after an illness of several months. Phillips was a native of Staffordshire, England, coming to Utah in 1875.

MORTICIAN DIES.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 12 (UP) Joseph William Taylor, 76, one of the state's leading morticians, died here yesterday. Death resulted from an attack of pernicious anemia.

HENRY G. KRUSE KILLED THURSDAY IN CAR ACCIDENT

Former Owner of Idaho Evening Times Succumbs in Minnesota

FATHER OF BUHL WOMAN

Was Veteran Publisher of Iowa Newspaper Daily

VINTON, Ia., June 12 (UP)—The body of Henry G. Kruse, 61, was expected here today from Albert Lea, Minn. Kruse, publisher of the Cedar Valley Daily Times, was killed late yesterday in an automobile accident.

Kruse was en route to Minneapolis with his wife and four children. A wheel collapsed, causing the car to overturn. Other members of the family escaped serious injury.

Mr. Kruse, who is the father of Mrs. Emil Bordewick Buhl, purchased the Evening Times in the spring of 1930 and with Mrs. Kruse and son M. P. Kruse, lived here for several months, returning to Iowa to look after his publishing business, after disposing of his interests here to the present owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Bordewick left Buhl about three weeks ago to visit their parents at Vinton and had not yet started home at the time of the fatal accident to Mr. Kruse.

He had been an active newspaper man most of his life and was an important figure in eastern Iowa affairs. He was interested in politics, civic and agricultural affairs, in addition to his successful publishing and printing business, and in the last campaign was Democratic chairman of Benton county.

While here Mr. Kruse made many warm friends and admirers and he in turn greatly liked Idaho and her people.

MAW ADDRESSES L. D. S. DELEGATES

Smoking and Drinking Hit by Utah University Dean

SALT LAKE CITY June 11 (UP)—Violation of the "word of wisdom" by members of the L. D. S. church was roundly condemned today by Herbert B. Maw, chairman of the "W" men and dean of the University of Utah, in his address opening the thirty sixth annual conference of the Mutual Improvement association.

Calling the attention of delegates to the M. I. A. slogan—"We stand for physical, mental and spiritual health through observance of the word of wisdom"—Maw charged that at least 10 per cent

Catholics Given Order to Resist New Spanish Rule

Daring Message Signed By Church Heads Calls Upon Worshipers to Defend Rights

TOLEDO, Spain, June 12 (UP) A daring message to Catholics throughout Spain calling on them to defend the rights of the church was being circulated today signed by leading church authorities.

The message was issued with the consent and collaboration of Cardinal Segura, primate of Spain, despite violent anti-religious riots in many sections of the country that followed his recent similar appeal. The cardinal was forced to flee the country during the riots when mobs sacked convents and churches.

The Republican government demanded Catholics henceforth refrain from political activities. The message today ignored that demand, and asked Catholics in the forthcoming elections of a constitutional assembly to "defend the rights of the church and the social order."

The message said that, while the church held itself apart from politics, it was necessary to remind Catholics that they should intervene actively in the elections uniting themselves to bring about the triumph of candidates who will defend the rights of the faith.

The Catholic church had no desire to create difficulties for the government, the message said, and it was hoped that the rights so deeply cherished would be respected. However, considering that silence might be interpreted as acquiescence to Republican efforts to separate church and state permanently, the message said a direct statement would be made to the government in connection with "the most grave acts which have occurred."

BATTLE FRONTS DRAWN IN COAL STRIKE REGION

Machine Guns and Tear Gas Bombs in Readiness For Expected Fight

BELLAIRE, O., June 12 (UP) Battle lines were drawn today for an anticipated renewal of the struggle between special deputies under Sheriff Howard Duff and 1,000 striking miners who have threatened to drag strike breakers from the Lafferty pits.

After repulsive attempts of a mob to release 18 strikers held in the Belmont county jail for rioting, the sheriff's forces, recruited from ex-service men, returned to the mine armed with machine guns and tear bombs.

Angry strikers were encamped on the hills surrounding the mine, waiting opportunity to seize strike breakers on their way to work.

Sheriff Duff, ah A. E. P. veteran, was beaten when he arrested Lee Thompson, Pittsburgh, who was leading the attack on the jail.

Deputies exploded tear bombs when the sheriff disappeared in the milling crowds. Twelve persons, seven women and five men, were overcome by the fumes. Three received medical treatment.

Over 4,000 persons witnessed the struggle.

After the attack, Sheriff Duff who was voted a $25,000 appropriation for control of the situation said he would "give the devil" to enforce the law, and protect 350 miners who refused to join the new Lafferty strike. He then have mounted the machine guns at the main entrance, which is 12 miles from St. Clairsville.

EX-TRAIN BANDIT SHOT IN ROBBERY

Herbert Holliday, Figure In $3,000,000 Theft Dies In Kansas

STILWELL, Kan., June 12 (UP)—Herbert Holliday, former outlaw convict, and confessed participant in the dynamite, Ill., mail train robbery several years ago when $3,000,000 was stolen, was shot and killed here early today by railroad special agents as he sought to steal a horse from the pasture room on the Stilwell Missouri Pacific station.

J. I. Harmon, said by officers to have served a term in the Texas state prison for robbery, who accompanied Holliday, was shot in the arm, and was arrested with a young woman who said she was Holliday's wife.

The shooting occurred shortly after 2 a. m. when the two bandits walked into a trap laid for them by the special agents. C. P. Tuttle, special agent for the Railway Express company, was said to have shot Holliday when the bandit pointed a 12 gauge shot gun at him. A commander John S. Bayliss, commandant, of the coast guard here, announced.

Radio reports to the coast guard said the vessel's crew of ten had been rescued by the Davis and the Marion, another destroyer which was trailing the Shulen Acadia.

RUMMER SINKS, TEN RESCUED

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 12 (UP)—The British ship "Shulen Acadia" sank today with a cargo of liquor after collision with the coast guard destroyer Davis 30 miles south of Montauk Point, L. I., commander John S. Bayliss, commandant, of the coast guard here, announced.

Radio reports to the coast guard said the vessel's crew of ten had been rescued by the Davis and the Marion, another destroyer which was trailing the Shulen Acadia.

WARRANTS ASKED IN GIRL'S DEATH

Grand Jury Hears Result Of Probe Into Death of Starr Faithful

NEW YORK, June 12 (UP) Lurid facts and conjectures involved in the death of 25 year old Starr Faithful, whose body was swept ashore off Long Beach last week end, were presented to a grand jury at Mineola, L. I., today.

District Attorney Davis, it was learned, has requested warrants be issued charging "John Doe" and "Richard Roe," on the assumption two men murdered the girl, a descendant of the early New England settlers.

Edwards carried Starr's body from the jury room and "called the jury" each member of the jury in Mineola, L. I., today, when the grand jury reassembled for the second time since the discovery of the girl's body on the Long Beach shore.

SENATORS AGAIN CROWD ATHLETICS FOR LEAGUE LEAD

Washington Now Three and One Half Games Back Of Leaders

BRAVES DEFEAT CARDS

Cubs and Giants Revived by Victories

NEW YORK June 12 (UP) — Pennant hopes of the Washington Senators, the Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants were revived today.

Continuing a winning streak which has lent them at the heels of Philadelphia, the Senators gained a full game on the Athletics yesterday in the American league race while the Giants and Cubs also won back lost ground in their pursuit of the St. Louis Cardinals, pace setters in the National circuit.

With the Cardinals and Athletics each holding four and one half game margins and meeting reputedly weak clubs, championship hopes of the Senators, Cubs and Giants were at a low ebb before yesterday's contests were played. But when the St. Louis Browns beat out the Athletics, 5 to 2, and the Boston Braves shut out the Cardinals, 3 to 0, pennant hopes of the three teams began rumbling high again.

The Senators ran their winning streak to six straight at the expense of the Cleveland Indians, 12 to 6.

Socks Seibold allowed the Cardinals only four hits in registering Boston's shutout.

Steady pitching by Bob Smoth featured the Chicago Cubs 4 to 2 decision off Philadelphia.

The Giants kept pace with Chicago by trimming Pittsburgh, 8 to 6 in 11 innings.

Cincinnati won its second straight from Brooklyn, 2 to 1, in 11 innings, as Johnson beated Dazzy Vance and Jacq Quinn in a pitching duel.

SEALS' PITCHER DENIED PERFECT GAME BY SINGLE

Elmer Jacobs Misses Hall of Fame By Narrow Margin

By UNITED PRESS

If it had not been for the big bat of Muller, Seattle second baseman, Elmer Jacobs of the San Francisco Seals would have basked today among the clouds occupied by no-hit, no-run pitchers.

Jacobs pitched perfect ball against the Indians last night with the exception of Muller's single in the sixth inning. The one hit, however, did Seattle no good and the Seals walked off with the game, 9 to 0.

Monte Pearson, Oakland hurler, also was going great guns and allowed the Los Angeles Angels only two hits. The Seraphs were shut out so far as runs were concerned and the Oaks, thanks to a homer by "Fuzzy" Huff, won 2 to 0. Pearson, refined eight men in giving Oakland its second victory in 18 games.

Hollywood took the measure of the Portland Ducks, 6 to 1, and Sacramento easily outdistanced the Missions, 9 to 0, in other tilts. The Indians, slipping back into fifth place die with Seals, furnished the only change in standings.

INVENTOR PLANS DIRIGIBLE-PLANE FOR HIGH FLIGHT

Combination Ship To Cruise In Stratosphere With Sealed Cabin

HAS FIVE PROPELLORS

U. S. Military Committee To View Model

AVALON, Catalina Island, June 12 (UP)—An experimental model of a combination dirigible and airplane, which is expected by its inventor to be able to navigate successfully through the stratosphere, will be built at a plant in Tennessee, Captain Hodgedon announced today.

Capt. Hodgedon, whose work has come to the notice of the war department, will leave next week for Tennessee to work on the new model in collaboration with George Havlin.

The inventor did not reveal where the "stratosphere ship" would be constructed.

The house military committee at Washington has asked for a report on his invention, Capt. Hodgedon stated.

The small model he has completed here has a dirigible body with short airplane wings protruding on each side. There are five adjustible propellers. They are situated as follows: one at the nose of the ship, one on each wing and one on each rear fin.

A sealed cabin, built into the bottom of the bag, will make it possible for people to fly through the rarified space known as the stratosphere.

The wings on the ship are expected to give the dirigible the proper poise required for navigation in the upper regions while the propellors would give the pilots control of the ship's course and in bringing the craft back to earth, Hodgedon said.

The first model of the "stratosphere ship" was made by Hodgedon with the assistance of the Hamilton Junior High School Aviation club at Long Beach.

Gene Rafal, above, 19, and blond, was selected by St. Louis stylists to represent the city at the International beauty pageant at Galveston, Tex., June 12, 13 and 14. The indicator whirls around to 121 pounds when "Miss St. Louis" steps on the scales.

Colorful Career Of Leon Elmer Calhoun, Attorney Is At End

BUHL—Leon Elmer Calhoun, pioneer of Southern Idaho, passed away at Santa Rosa, California, on May 25, of acute indigestion. He was born at Round Rock, Ark., in 1872. He came across the plains when he was eleven years old with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Calhoun, who settled at Three Creek, Idaho, and later, on the first ranch in the little valley which is now the Roseworth reservoir.

In 1898 he was admitted to the bar and served two terms as county attorney of Custer county. Later he had a law office in Buhl and was nicknamed the "O.whay Lawyer." The past eight years he has been working on the government dry squad, and at the time of his death he was engaged in this work at Santa Rosa.

In 1898 he married Miss Myrtle Wilkinson of Challis. There were four children born and all survive him. Mrs. Calhoun is at Pasco, Wash.

John B. Boyd, of Roseworth, is an uncle and there are six brothers and sisters living, Mrs. O. M. Duffy, Jerome; John B. Calhoun, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. Lulu Lough, Buhl; Bryan Calhoun of Shoshone, and O. V. Calhoun of Kuaskia, Idaho.

Burial was made at Santa Rosa on June 2.—Buhl Herald.

FILM REVEALS WORK OF LAWS DEFENDERS

Public attention has been centered for many months upon the sensational disclosures of criminal-combatting activities of the authorities in the larger American cities.

In "The Vice Squad," now playing at the Idaho theatre Paramount plunges to the heart of this situation in dialog and action. Conditions as they exist in many cities today are bared in the public press are crystallized and held up to popular scrutiny in this fast-moving and absorbing tale from the typewriter of Oliver H. P. Garrett, the former New York reporter who wrote "Street of Chance" and "For the Defense."

20 Million Motorists
Can't Be Wrong!

WHAT is the best tire made? After all, conversation aside, that's what you really want to know, isn't it?

For with rubber prices where they are today, you certainly can afford to buy the best.

It's natural, of course that every tire manufacturer should try to convince you his tire is best.

But if you want to cut through a welter of words to get the real low-down, listen to the 20 million car owners of the country.

They give the palm to Goodyear.

For 16 consecutive years it has been true that "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

Moreover through an impartial institution, in no way connected with the rubber industry: 205,000 car owners were asked this point-blank question:

QUESTION: "Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what make of tire do you consider the BEST tire made?"

HOW CAR OWNERS VOTED ON THE QUESTION

It will be noted that 30.7% of the car owners of America prefer Goodyear Tires. This preference is more than twice that of any other make of tire.
This tire survey was based on a scientifically mailed questionnaire to car owners in every state in the country and proportioned in turn to cities and rural communities.

If you are technical by nature and want to know the WHY of Goodyear superiority, call and let us demonstrate. We can quickly dispel your last vestige of doubt. And best of all, we can give you good news on prices. A few of which we quote here.

THE WOODSHED PASSES

IT IS rather odd, when you stop to think about it, that no one has paid much attention so far to the passing of one of the greatest and most distinctive of all American institutions—the woodshed.

A very few years ago the woodshed was a prime feature of all American homes—except, of course, those of the wealthy, who don't count anyhow. But today it is well on the road to extinction. The farmer, to be sure, still has his; but will he keep it long, what with the spreading of gas mains, electric power lines and synthetic gas tanks to the rural regions? The woodshed, obviously, is doomed.

This, in a way is too bad; for the woodshed had its points. It was not only a good place to keep and split wood. It was an indispensable, all-around handy room; a place where odds and ends of things could be stored, a place where the head of the house, if handy with tools, could make such gadgets as window screens and trellises for the rose bushes, a place where junior could park his bicycle and sister could keep her doll buggy. In other words, it was an exceedingly useful adjunct to the house.

The householder of today, who has no woodshed, feels the lack without knowing exactly what it is that he misses. He puts his lawn mower and his garden tools in the garage—and, every now and then crushes them by driving carelessly in with his automobile. He does what carpentry work he has to do in his basement and loses both his patience and his enthusiasm, to say nothing of his breath, running up and down the stairs.

Of course, he does not have to split wood, which is something; yet there are far worse jobs. Indeed, on a rainy afternoon, when the drops patter steadily on the roof of the woodshed, and the place is filled with that indescribable, pleasant odor of wood chips, earth and fresh air, and an open door emphasizes your feeling of snugness by enabling you to glance up from your dry retreat and see everything dripping outside—well, at such times splitting wood is almost fun.

But you don't really need wood to have a woodshed. Some day some astute real estate man is going to discover the usefulness of the woodshed—and he will make a big success by tacking one of these little extra rooms on every house he builds.

A RECORD OF CARELESSNESS

THE automobile is generally supposed to be responsible for most of America's fatal accidents. However, a study just made by the National Safety Council shows that home accidents in 1930 caused nearly as many deaths as autos—30,000, to be exact, as compared with 33,000 traffic fatalities.

Most of these accidents occurred through carelessness. Falls were the leading cause; burns, scalds, explosions, asphyxiations; improper use of poisons, and cuts and scratches follow in the order named.

In some ways this is a more dismaying record than the auto traffic toll. The automobile is relatively new; deaths on the highway, however deplorable they may be, are not exactly surprising. But home accidents! If we can't take care of ourselves in our own homes we must be becoming a singularly careless and clumsy race.

LET THE HAM BE THICKER

CONGRESSMAN CYRUS COLE of Iowa asserts that bigger and thicker slices of ham will mean a return of prosperity to the livestock growers of the country.

If everyone, says the congressman, would only slice his ham thicker, much more ham would be consumed—and the grower of pigs would find an increased demand for his product.

All of this sounds quite reasonable, and we are for it—but not solely because of sympathy for the harassed pig-raiser. For, as a matter of fact, ham ought to be sliced thicker anyway. Few housewives realize that ham, to be as succulent and delicious as nature intended, must be cut thick—and the restaurant cooks who know this could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

But it should. A thin slice of ham is an abomination; a thick and juicy one is something for epicures to dream over.

SAFER DRIVING IS NEEDED

THE pedestrian, apparently, is learning how to take care of himself in traffic much better than the motorist is.

The National Safety Council has just reported that while more than half of the persons killed in automobile accidents are pedestrians, deaths among drivers are increasing at a far more rapid rate. Since 1927, deaths to pedestrians have increased only 5 per cent; among drivers, in the same period, deaths have increased 35 per cent.

In other words, deaths among pedestrians are increasing only about as rapidly as the number of pedestrians increases; deaths among drivers are increasing more than twice as fast as the number of automobiles increases.

Evidently, we need "careful driving" campaigns much more than we need "don't jay-walk" campaigns.

TEXAS GUINAN who can shout her name in a dishpan with a 45 at 75 yards, is back in the United States with her bevy of handsome girls and the conviction that Napoleon Bonaparte has turned twice in his grave. "The French government ought to be ashamed," said Texas, "to have permitted a company of 33 to cross the ocean without telling them before they started, that they were not welcome. They might to have their socks shut off."

MISS GUINAN said that she has immense respect for the French people. "But all those ministers, they don't even know the French and Indian war is over. The first thing I'm going to do, if I have time, is go out to this place called French Lick. The name sounds glorious to me. And if anybody sees me with a French fried potato in my mouth, I hopeyt get the hood and smith disease. Heaven knows I've got the former."

"ALL I can say," she said, "is that 3,000 ladies is a terrific long way to go to jail. And it's a fine reception I got in the country where Marshal Joffre decorated nine-one out of 15 women he decorated for extraordinary service during the war—back in 1918. I sang my lungs out in the trenches and in the hospitals, and then they throw me out of the country? And I think that I studied French when I was in a convent. Sacre Bleu; Don Dieu! Golly!"

WHEN THE Guinan outfit arrived at La Havre, the queen of Broadway immediately started getting foreign ministers in her hair, she said. The first explanation they demanded was her interpretation of the word sucker. After she had satisfied them that she had the same person in mind as Sinclair Lewis, when he wrote "Babbitt," they went below decks and looked at her automobile.

TEXAS BOUGHT her car from Larry Fay, who got it from the Belgian banker who fell out of an airplane into the English channel, who got it from the king of Belgium. The king of Belgium, it seems, had it built to order to travel in war. It is completely armored, including the tires.

Kiwanis To Center On Child Service

CHICAGO, June 12—The activities of Kiwanis International for 1931-32 will be concerned chiefly with under-privileged child work, citizenship, urban-rural relations, vocational guidance, and the promotion of higher business standards.

These activities, declares William O. Harris, of Los Angeles, president, have justified the existence of the organization. "If Kiwanis were not worth while, it would never have attracted the type of men to whom membership is a privilege today. Nor would it have grown to such proportions in 16 years of service life," he says.

What Others Say

HORAH'S SILVER WARNING

(Lewiston Tribune)

While Senator Borah did not mention the British government, there is little doubt that he had it in mind in his radio address deplored the delay in calling an international silver conference, according to David Lawrence, Washington correspondent of the Tribune.

The senate authorized the calling of such a conference as a possible means of curbing one of the principal causes of the business depression. President Hoover has been sounding out foreign governments but has not received an encouraging response, four Great Britain, the leading country involved.

If England does not join it it is not likely that the president will summon the conference. We may well doubt that he will not.

And yet the silver situation is serious. To put it precisely, the fall in the price has cut squarely in two the purchasing power of the silver-based currency of many millions of the inhabitants of the world. This slash in buying power has occurred since January, 1929. We in this country know nothing whatever of the meaning of that to a people where the average saving is extremely small and where the margin of difference between starvation and existence is little at best. But ever a great area of the earth's surface the people are farlun, not depression, but death itself.

The failure that some attribute to the capitalistic system is not capitalistic except in the sense that money is essential to capitalistic operations and that violent fluctuation in the buying power of money hamper capitalism. China is not a capitalistic country. In a large degree its affairs in the interior are conducted by a system little advanced beyond primitive barter. But China, by reason of its want of roads and its use of silver, is chief victim of the economic condition that is affecting us all.

So many potential customers cannot be in dire distress economically without hurting the trade of the two leading nations—the United States and Great Britain. As Senator Borah warned, England cannot afford to ignore an economic condition so closely allied to its basic sources of strength.

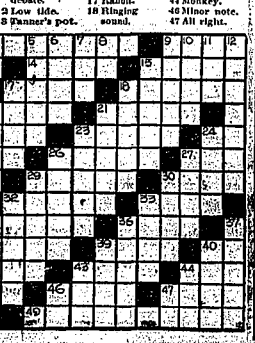
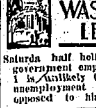
YESTERDAY'S ANSWER





DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — Little sentiment has developed in the ranks of government for proposals of a five-day week in the federal service, but after July 1 nearly all government employes will be entitled to a Saturday half-holiday the year around.

Most of them have been working only four hours on Saturday since early March, but there remain the postal employes whose 44-hour week as voted by Congress goes into effect after this month and an undetermined number of government workers over the country who complain that they are not being granted their half-holiday because of the economy drive.

Long Week-End, But—

The new laws provide a longer and more enjoyable week-end, but it is doubtful whether they will relieve much unemployment. The 44-hour week for postal employes was provided in a law which authorizes the extra expense incurred through the fact that the system operates 24 hours a day, but President Hoover and director of the Budget Roop have decided that the half-holiday for other employes must be arranged without incurring any expense chargeable to deficiencies. In both cases, however, where employes are required by public interest as interpreted by their superiors to work on Saturday afternoons they are entitled to compensatory time off on other days of the week.

Complete enforcement of the four-hour Saturday law already would have provided a certain amount of new employment, but according to many complaints received by the National Federation of Federal Employes it is exactly in the instances where this would require extra help that the half-holidays are being denied. In Washington the law is being observed, but most government employes serve in the field and that is where the complaints come from.

Although Senator LaFollette and the postal employes' unions, in seeking the 44-hour law, used the argument that it would help absorb some of the unemployed, that prospect probably will not be urged in anything like the extent once expected. Orders have gone throughout the service that the four-hour Saturday must be absorbed through equalization over other days and without any addition to the payroll wherever possible. The department also has had a policy of failing to fill the constantly occurring vacancies whenever it can be avoided and of cutting down employment of its substitute workers. Postal employes' unions estimate that about 10,000 substitutes have been affected and that at one time about 5000 vacancies remained unfilled. Any extra employment made absolutely necessary by the 44-hour law is expected to do little more than fill vacancies and employ the substitutes for longer periods.

Rural Carriers Out

About 185,000 postal employes are affected by the 44-hour law. The other half-holiday law covers about 65,000 workers in the District of Columbia and about 215,000 in the field. To these may be added 15,000 employes of the interior Department, excluded by the act but granted the half-holiday by executive order of President Hoover. About 15,000 Panama Canal employes and about 125,000 rural letter carriers and other field postal employes are not covered by either act.

Evidence that the government is making its employes work harder, as part of its economy drive and, to keep the half-holiday from being an added expense, comes from many points. The Federation of Federal Employes is insisting that the workers must receive their legal half-holidays or compensatory time. It attributes failure to enforce the law in the field to a Budget Bureau order, made on instructions from President Hoover, who said that he intended to "enforce no supplemental or deficiency estimates or appropriations for carrying out the general half-holiday act."

KIWANIANS HEAR TAXATION TALK BY HANSEN MAN

Rep. E. N. Pettygrove Asks Close Figuring in State Spending

CLUB TO AID LEGION

Group To March In Memorial Building Parade

Taxation and problems incident thereto featured the monthly night meeting of the Kiwanis club, conducted Thursday evening at the Park hotel. Representative E. N. Pettygrove, Hansen, was the principal speaker, he being introduced by John W. Graham, represent ing past presidents of the club in charge of the program.

Mr. Pettygrove spoke from the standpoint of Idaho having a serious taxation problem as yet unsolved, and Mr. Graham made a plea for taxpayers generally to cooperate with officials of the school and highway districts and of the city and county to keep expenditures down and to eliminate frills, against that day next December when taxes become due and payable."

The club welcomed into membership, Alex Watson, local manager of the Gem State Oil company who was introduced by O. P. Duvall, and voted in march in the parade to be held in connection with the dedication of the Legion Memorial building here June 23.

Local Solos Feature

Mrs. O. L. Alexander and A. Wilton Peck favored the assembly with a group of vocal solos which drew hearty applause.

In analyzing the tax situation in Idaho, as judged by his experiences in the legislature, Mr. Pettygrove defended the "Dodge" bill which was killed, attacked the income and kilowatt tax bills which were passed and challenged the idea of a sales tax which was contemplated at one stage of the session.

He argued that the theory that Idaho should pass only legislation which would encourage the investment of outside capital, has proved fruitless, according to the revenaltrma of the 1930 census showing the population had grown only 3 per cent in comparison to a national growth of 20 per cent and furthermore that the taxable wealth of the state had practically remained the same.

Home Owner Hit

He pointed out that 85 per cent of the farm land and small home owners in the state bear one-half of the tax burden, which he deplored in the face of the fact that there are at least $100,000,000 worth of tax exempt securities known to be held in Idaho.

The legislator, who is a farmer, argued that, the system prevailing in this state where real property is assessed in the different counties at from 20 to 40 per cent of its cash value, is unjust, principally because it results in high mill levies. He pointed out as a solution to the problem that all real property be assessed at full value, with resulting lower levies; that the state derive means of raising funds to carry on its work from other than property taxes; that counties be not required to contribute any tax money for the carrying on of state government but be left on their own resources. Pulling this, he advocated a more equitable taxation method throughout the state, pointing out that there was inconsistency when Twin Falls county last year collected taxes on 3555 head of milk cows, whereas Jerome county found only 1593 head in that class; and that this county listed 419 head of common or range cattle, while the same other county reported only 61 head.

Evening Times Ad, Honest Young Man Bring Lost Cash

When D. K. Frost, the blind produce man, lost a sack on Broadway street last Friday day containing more than $7 in change, and some valuable papers, in desperation he felt his way to the Evening Times office and had inserted a small classified advertisement appraising the public of his loss which represented the result of several days' toil on his part.

Imagine his great joy when Bert Wolfe, 16, who resides in the Golden Rule addition, returned the lost money and papers to Mr. Frost that very night.

Expressing his satisfaction at the service the newspaper was able to render, Mr. Frost is doubly appreciative of the honesty and promptness of the young man.

BANQUET HONORS PYTHIANS' HEAD ON VISIT HERE

Crouch Greeted By Southern Idaho Lodge Members Thursday Night

"None of the problems which face the American people today are more difficult than was the building of the Twin Falls irrigation system and the transformation of a desert into his garden spot, or the spanning of the mighty Snake river canyon with the worlds highest bridge," Leslie E. Crouch, Portland, supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, declared during his address Thursday night at the banquet given in his honor.

Approximately 150 persons, including Pythians from many parts of southern Idaho, attended the banquet and the special meeting of the lodge at which degrees were conferred by the grand lodge on a group of neophites. Both events were specially arranged in conjunction with the official visit here of the lodge head.

"Travel Too Fast"

Declaring the American people have been "travelling too fast, without due regard for traffic signals," the speaker urged his listeners to realize the necessity of stopping a moment to take stock. Fraternal membership should not suffer during the business depression, he stated, provided the organizations have a broader work.

The supreme chancellor discussed at length phases of operating of children's and aged people's homes at Vancouver, Washington, and expressed his pleasure over the decision of Idaho Pythians to cooperate with Oregon and Washington lodges in supporting the homes.

Boise Man Presides

J. M. Lampert, Boise, past grand chancellor of the Idaho Pythians, presided at the banquet as toastmaster. Welcoming talks were made by a number of persons representing the city, fire association, Idaho Pythians and Idaho Pythian Sisters and Twin Falls chamber of commerce.

A musical program during the banquet was presented by A. Wilton Peck, soloist, the E. E. Drake quartet, Miss Juliet Hayden, soloist, and the A. S. Francis orchestra.

Following the banquet, all resident and visiting Pythians attended a special lodge session in the Elks' temple, where degrees were conferred by the grand lodge. During the lodge meeting, visiting women were entertained at the home of Mrs. Albert Putzier.

Supreme Chancellor Crouch, accompanied by Past Grand Chancellor Lampert, left Friday morning for Boise, where he will make an official visit Friday evening.

Final Rites Held Here Friday For Hollister Pioneer

Funeral services were held here Friday afternoon for Richard Glavin, president of the Bank of Hollister and a director of the Salmon River Canal company, who died at Santa Monica, California, last Sunday.

Monsignor Remi S. Keyzer was in charge of the ceremony held at St. Edward's church. Interment was in Twin Falls cemetery, beside the grave of Mr. Glavin who died in November, 1928.

A number of friends and business associates of Mr. Glavin acted as pall-bearers, including Thomas Sanderson, Twin Falls; Fred P. Bates, Twin Falls; M. H. Ring, Seattle; W. W. Powell, Berger; J. M. Humphrey, Berger, and A. F. Craven, Hollister.

Three Richfield Men Arrested For Water Tampering

SHOSHONE, June 12 (Special)—Ralph Riley, Richfield, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and serve 10 days in jail, with suspension of the jail term on payment of the fine, when he pleaded guilty in probate court here Wednesday to a charge of interfering with an irrigation ditch water gate.

Riley was arrested along with Fred Peterson and Robert Speedy, who were arraigned Thursday but have not been sentenced. The arrests were made by F. T. Bear, secretary of the Big Wood Canal company, his assistant, Birney Powell, and a ditchrider, all of whom conducted an all-night visit to trap their prisoners in the act of tampering with the water gate.

RUSSIAN CHORUS WELL RECEIVED

An audience which made up in enthusiasm and appreciation what it lacked in numbers heard the Royal Russian chorus in a program of music, song and dance at the high school auditorium Thursday night. The appearance of this group of artists here was brought about by the Business and Professional Women's club, sponsors, headed by Miss Izetta McCoy, president.

Led by Princess Agreneva Slavinsky, the Russian troupe at once captivated its audience who repeatedly encored the entertainers. Garbed in stately robes and headpieces, colorful in every detail, the chorus members revealed remarkable ability and versatility, going from song to instrument to dance with equal facility on each occasion.

Gooding B. P. W. Go To Caldwell

GOODING, June 12 (Special)—Charlie P. Dilking, Bertha Richards, Thelma Gravett, Vera Tossi, Nell Lindsay have gone to Caldwell to attend the B. P. W. convention. Dilking's sentencing was postponed Monday on the charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, Judge W. F. Gedney gave him 90 days in jail, and he is now serving time.

Franklin Thomas who has been film operator at the Schubert theater for a number of years, left here Sunday for Logan, Utah, from which place he will go to California.

WEDNESDAY SET FOR WEED TOUR

Jerome County Residents To Inspect Eradication Developments

JEROME, June 12 (Special)—The Jerome county weed department has planned a weed tour for Wednesday, June 17.

This tour is for the purpose of giving those interested in noxious weed work some first hand information regarding the work being done with various chemicals, and also to give the residents of Jerome county an idea of the noxious weed situation as it exists today within Jerome county.

E. S. Bristol, field agronomist for the extension division, University of Idaho, will be here for the tour.

County agents and weed men from surrounding counties are invited, and it is hoped that a number of the farmers of the county will avail themselves of the opportunity to become better informed regarding the noxious weed situation.

Cars will leave the court house at Jerome at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning and will tour the Jerome district first, with lunch at Eden or Hazelton, and finish the day in the Eden-Hazelton district.

FOX POISONING LAID TO COUPLE

Jury Convicts Idaho Falls Pair of Giving Animals Tainted Meat

IDAHO FALLS, June 12 (UP)—Arthur and Sarah Farnsworth today stood convicted on a charge of poisoning foxes.

With a recommendation of leniency for Mrs. Farnsworth, a district court jury returned a verdict of guilty here last night.

Farnsworth was arrested January 12 on the fox farm of the Snake River Fur farm operated by John W. Hogan three miles north of Idaho Falls. Poisoned meat found in several pens was said to have been scattered by the defendant. Three foxes died within 12 hours and seven within the next 90 days.

Mrs. Farnsworth was charged with assisting her husband in preparing the poisoned meat.

Young People Of Rupert Are Wed

RUPPERT, June 12 (Special) — A pretty wedding was solemnized Sunday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lindemuth, when their daughter, Katherine Lou, was united in marriage to Ward Woolford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Woolford of Rupert.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Victor Phillips of the Methodist church in the presence of the families of both parties and R. L. Willis, a family friend.

The bride was attired in white satin covered with net. After the ceremony the wedding party was served a sumptuous dinner. The bride and groom left on a two weeks trip to Bryce Canyon and Zion National park. Upon their return they will be at home in Mrs. Edith Stone's cottage which they have rented.

The bride and groom are both graduates of the Rupert high school and since graduation the bride has been employed as bookkeeper for Buxton Smith, potato dealer, and the groom is associated with his father in the produce business.

duced their unit cost of operation by 20 per cent during the past decade, they would have reported a net operating deficit of $100,000,000 for 1930."

Relain Buying Power

Stressing the necessity for railroads to be able to maintain their purchasing power, Gormley said when a period of financial stagnation or business depression forces railroads to retrench both in employment and purchases, the effect is felt in every industry. With return of their buying power, Gormley said, their demands for materials will undoubtedly have a substantial influence on economic recovery.

Belief has been expressed in railroad circles that the administration will look with favor on an increase in freight rates as it would obviate the necessity of wage cuts and some opinion in the interstate commerce commission is likely to spend the matter through as an emergency measure such as was passed in 1921.

BORAH LEAVES

gress formally adjourned March 4. Its recess was not complete until Borah adjourned and started west last night.

Usually Borah stays on here while congress is away. He sits in his dark, gloomy cavernous office in the basement of the senate office building, and with his frequent caustic comments on public affairs functions as a critic-in-the-senate to the powers here. Like Cato the censor in the Roman senate. He has no machine controls no bloc, yet he votes is received abroad as second only to that of the president.

He is second in length of service only to Senator Smoot, Republican, yet that does not explain his power, for others have served longer without exerting comparable influence. Mr. Hoover disapproves of much of Borah's activity, yet Borah was an influential voice in persuading the president to call the extra session which inaugurated his administration.

There is a Spartan streak in him. Not a rich man, he refused until his new term began after March 4 to accept the $10,000 salary voted during his previous term in 1925. For six years he accepted only the former $7,500 salary which prevailed at the time he was elected. He rides along both in the senate and out of it. Once he said:

"It is far simpler to agree than disagree in Washington. If there is an atmosphere in God's world that weakens a man's backbone it is the atmosphere of Washington. The diluting process it constrict and dramatic."

Funeral services for D. E. Sullivan, Twin Falls, O. S. L. agent from 1905 to the spring of 1927, will be conducted in Salt Lake City at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, railway officials here were advised. Sullivan died Friday at the local freight office. He was associated with Mr. Sullivan for years, will attend the funeral as will a number of others on the branch line, he stated Friday afternoon.

During his tenure of office here Mr. Sullivan built, up a wide and favorable acquaintance which was manifested upon the occasion of his promotion to Salt Lake City. Late office, by a testimonial dinner at which he was presented with a purse of gold from his associates and friends.

One MELODY GIRL

by RUTH DEWEY GROVES — AUTHOR OF The Husband Hunter, etc.

©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

IRENE HORDEN, secretly in love with TOMMY WILSON, defies his elopement with her half-sister, HENE EVERETT, but fails to convince him that it is his duty to fulfill college.

Later Irene postpones the marriage believing she fails in a successful radio singer, securing an audition she persuades Beryl to go to the studio. While waiting Beryl sits down to a piano and croons melodies. A director hears her and grants a private test. He promises a contract if Irene fails and a fortune when she hears of Beryl's success. Time passes but no word comes from the studio. At last a letter arrives and Beryl sins away for the interview. She is elated when presented with a contract, her victory is bitter-sweet for her family and Tommy believes she robbed Irene of her success. Irene's debut is a success and she returns home laden with floral tributes.

Harried with worry, Irene decides to marry Tommy immediately, but his aunt dies and so the marriage is again postponed. HIM, HOWEVER, Tommy's uncle, wants a housekeeper and offers inducements for an early marriage.

Trying to kill her love for Tommy, Beryl accepts invitations from young PRENTISS GAYLORD, who takes her to a party. Irene is waiting when they return. Now GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX

IRENE, waiting up for her, Beryl looked at her sister, a lovely creature in (the nerve of her!) sea shell pink lounging pajamas that were Beryl's. The flood of soft light that came from a golden shade was flattering to Irene.

Beryl turned to Prentiss with a friendly smile that ought to shout a welcome to him. Of course, he would see for himself, but he couldn't read the signals as Beryl did. He would see only the golden hair shining in the soft light, the slender, quivering shoulder, the chilly look of an innocent sister. Beryl felt he would know that the evening had ended for her sister in misery. Support for Tommy's family was a fine, noble thing to do, but Beryl felt that Irene had failed herself.

Irene's church membership failed to [illegible] but even as she put a silencing finger to her own lips Irene stirred and opened her eyes. Seeing Prentiss standing there staring at her Irene sat up in pretended embarrassment. There was no reason for genuine embarrassment. Her costume was complete with its yellow coat and she knew her sister would understand that if she had not hoped to be caught in the pajamas she would not have worn the coat on a hot summer night.

Irene had learned through painful experience not to face Beryl's cool gray eyes when she was engaged in tricks. There was something about Beryl which made tricks, even the most commonly practiced ones, seem cheap and tawdry. She wasn't going to have her plans spoiled by Beryl so she smiled sweetly and apologetically at Prentiss.

"I wanted to hear about the party," she said, 'in the voice of a Cinderella who had no parties in her own life.

"Do you want a drink, Prentiss?" Beryl asked in a manner of hostess.

Prentiss answered vaguely. "A drink? Oh yes, of course. I was thirsty, wasn't I?"

"May I have something too?" Irene pouted, still in the little sister who'd be suppressed if other people had their way. That was the idea she hoped Prentiss would get. Irene had learned that most men enjoy being protectors, or imagining themselves such. She was young enough to look helpless and appealing.

STRANGE that little shallow-minded Irene should know so much more about men than her brainier sister. Was it instinct, knowledge that comes only to primitive minds? Or was it that much talked of woman's intuition? Beryl wondered as she made her way to the kitchen for the refreshments what Prentiss would say if she were to blurt out the truth about Irene. Over the mixture of the cool drinks she smiled suddenly and said to Prentiss—Beryl didn't be a cynic. There might be one in the world somewhere who don't care for her family and stays at the party. Maybe Irene is that lover. Beryl took his remembered setting heart somewhere [illegible] to

RENO GUN FIGHT MAY BRING BACK VIGILANTE LAWS

Nevada City With Liberal Code Forced To Combat Overstepping

DRIFTERS ARE WATCHED

Justice in State Holds Speed Reputation

RENO, June 12—Reno, just finished with celebrating a rushing 1931 month's business under the new six weeks' divorce law, has settled down to a sober counting of revenue and results today and wonders if mass production of divorce decrees was as desirable as the former plan.

From a comfortably busy, middlebrow type of town, catering to modern divorcees and the discontented elite of world, Reno was transformed into a roaring mining camp, whose prospects, nationwide publicity brought in thousands. Thousands some of the thousands came on freight trains. Drifters, shiftless, bezants—all of them seeking easy money—they soon were nearly as numerous as the resident spending class.

Rumbling about the streets of Reno—old time gambler and card player, by William Graham, an older gambler and an associate of Jack Dempsey in his July 4 prizefight plans, recalled to oldtimers the quick deals of the past in which gamblers rose from the tables and shot without warning.

Repetition of this incident is feared by those who oppose gambling and the wide-open condition of the town. Since its incorporation Reno has been obliged to combat the problem of unwanted characters. Founded as a railroad town—not more than 55 years ago, its main business soon was the entertainment of crowds who sought the saloons and gambling tables the moment they arrived.

In the wake of these pleasure seekers came another and less desirable class, who had no scruples as to how the amusement seeker lost his money.

Vigilante associations were organized, particularly the "601," a society which conducted several tar and feather parties. Possibilities that similar associations might be formed in Nevada should any trace of lawlessness assert itself has been discussed lately by citizens. Justice has always worked fast in Nevada, and the vigilante brand of 1931 would be no different from that of the 1860s, advocates warn.

Social Life At Burley Is Merry

BURLEY, June 12 (Special)—Mrs. George Patterson and Mrs. L. O. Atkins entertained at a luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Atkins in honor of Mrs. Hiram Beach of Three Rivers, Mich., and her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Riley, Minneapolis, Minn. Mrs. Beach is an aunt of Mrs. Lawrence Daly of Burley. Covers were laid for 12. The table was prettily decorated with red roses. A social afternoon followed luncheon.

The University Guild met at the home of Mrs. John P. Hackney Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. E. H. Darlington, the chairman-director, had charge of the program. Mrs. Hackney led a discussion on "The Way Our Government Works." Mrs. Darlington reviewed the book "Old Tyme" by Dooping. Mrs. Hackney surprised the group by serving refreshments. Seven visitors, Miss Virginia Darlington, Miss Frances Smith, Mrs. L. D. Atkins, Mrs. F. D. McCornick, Mrs. Olive Hitth Story, all of Burley, and Mrs. C. A. Gordon, Boise, were present.

The B. S. B. clubnet for the last Burley bridge season at the home of Mrs. A. W. Rosecrans. Bridge was played at three tables followed by a Kentucky Garden flowers were used profusely in decorations.

Irrigationist Gives Advice On Watering

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, June 12—Save on irrigation water. When your soil is full of water it won't hold any more. "You can't get a sponge any wetter in the American Falls reservoir than in a dishpan." These are warnings issued by Mark R. Kulp, irrigationist at the University of Idaho.

Find out how deep your water is penetrating by the use of a soil auger. If you have a sandy loam that will wet down five feet in six hours, do not waste your water by irrigating from 12 to 24 hours, Mr. Kulp warns.

On medium soils, one inch of water at the surface will wet the soil to a depth of one foot, except in case of extreme dryness. Heavier soils will hold more water and light soils less water.

Irrigate according to the needs of the whole feeding zone of the crop, instead of the surface foot only. Except for a few crops like alfalfa and trees, the feeding zone is in the first four or five feet.

LOANS DECREASED

WASHINGTON, June 12 (UP)—Loans on stocks and bonds in dealers and brokers by reporting federal reserve member banks in New York city decreased $19,000,000 in the week ending June 10, to a new record low of $1,490,000,000, the federal reserve board announced.

GROUP IS BUILDING KIMBERLY CHURCH

KIMBERLY, June 12 (Special)—Construction of the new building of the Church of the Nazarene to be approximately 34 by 56 feet in dimensions when completed, with a seating capacity of 400, was commenced this week.

Present officers of the Kimberly Church of the Nazarene include Rev. W. P. Jay, Nampa, pastor; Sam Savage, Sunday School superintendent; W. Harmoning, president of the Nazarene Young People's society; Mrs. S. J. Kelly, president of the Women's Foreign Missionary society; Vance P. Brown, church treasurer; Miss Myrtle Silvers, church secretary.

Next Sunday Rev. Johnson, prominent evangelist, will commence a tent meeting here and worship will be held by the church group in connection with the revival until the building is completed. The erection of a church building and the organization of such a denomination has been the ambition of a number of members of the church for a number of years. Eight years ago a Nazarene congregation was organized from a mission Sunday school established at the home of Mrs. James Brown, mother of Rev. Mackey J. Brown. Mrs. Wesley Brown's home was also the scene of earlier meetings of the church.

The Twin Falls Church of the Nazarene was organized about seven years ago at the Union hall with seven members. Its growth has been phenomenal. The Twin Falls and Kimberly groups are now agreeing to support a joint church until each could support a separate unit. It is believed this the time has now arrived when each town can support a church.

The new officers for the Twin Falls Church of the Nazarene are Rev. Paul Worcester, pastor, Chester Delfoard, Sunday school superintendent; Henry C. Givens, president Nazareno Young People's society; Mrs. Mackey J. Brown, president of the Women's Foreign missionary society; Mrs. R. Coughlran, superintendent of Junior Young People's society; J. Wesley Smith, church treasurer.
