

BOISE ANNEXES BASEBALL TITLE

Between gusts of wind, like swallows just up in such huge clouds that play long in the sky, were temporarily suspended while the game was in progress, the diamond, the Idaho Mountains, forest, there was Sunday, a decisive victory, the Debo, the home team of the Idaho State League, of Sun Valley, Idaho, to establish themselves as baseball champions of southern Idaho. When the last of the last batter had a last-inning rally had brought in two runs for the Debo nine, the score board showed 10-8, taller for Boise and two for Debo.

Credit for the Mountaineer victory may be laid at the feet of Cliff Duff, who shot out his Debo opponents with a single home run, two hits behind it both runs. Shepard, who started on the mound for Debo, was forced to the bench after four in the fifth. Clegg, of the Debo, was permitted only one tally for Boise during the rest of the game.

Benedict, the capital city's first baseman, rapidly out of the field, the first frame on the only home run of the game and made home on a three-base hit in the ninth. Debo, the Debo, had a mighty effort to avert a shut-out. Debo scored twice in the ninth, with two down, when Hunter made first on an error. Benedict, however, had Debo out, and then made the home sack himself on a bunt by Willeman. The next man up ran wild, ending the game.

The last stand to attend a game on the Twin Falls diamond this year filled the stands, but were driven out before the end of the contest by the intermission and the "restless" of the audience. The last stand, Debo, from Boise and Debo kept the atmosphere with support for their favorite and Twin Falls fans appeared evenly divided in their choice.

THE PROSPERITY PLANK DIES

POLITICAL writers have not been slow to point out that the platform issued for the current campaign by the Republican party makes no mention whatever of the 1928 platform's bland assertion that national prosperity could best be obtained by electing a Republican administration. Every other plank in the 1928 platform is mentioned; that one is quietly left out.

It may be that this will prove a long step towards healthier political campaigns. In point of fact this country's prosperity depends very little on the administration at Washington. If the present G. O. P. platform sets a style by recognizing that fact we shall all be better off.

In the future, it may be, we shall be able to fight out political campaigns on the fundamental issues instead of letting the "prosperity issue" divert our minds from the real points at stake.

UNREST IN SOUTH AMERICA

POLITICAL conditions in South America have been stable for a good many years; consequently it is more than ordinarily discouraging to read of revolts, threatened or actual, in two countries at the same time.

In Peru the revolt seems to be an established fact, and there is more than an even chance—judging from the cables—that the deposed president, Leguia, will suffer in the traditional Latin-American way.

Just at present it is not quite clear what is happening in Argentina, but it is quite evident that there is a very menacing situation for the government there. Argentina has generally been considered the foremost nation in South America, judged by our own standards; it is dismaying to see it lapsing into the habit of armed revolt.

Fortunately, there is no indication that our own government will be required to take any action in either of these crises. Peru and Argentina, after all, are not Nicaragua. Our marines can stay north of the equator.

CAUTION AND RASHNESS

In spite of all our "safety first" slogans, most of us still retain the warmest glow of our admiration for the chap who can throw caution to the winds and be recklessly, unjustifiably brave.

A short time ago three gunmen invaded a rich man's home in an Ohio suburb and tried to rob a party that was in progress there. One of the guests at the party was a young Princeton University senior, Miller Wilkinson. He refused to be cowed by the invaders' guns.

Instead he taunted them. "You guys are afraid to shoot—why don't you start something?" he jeered. Then he boldly sprang on one of the robbers and grappled with him. Shots were fired, and young Wilkinson was killed.

Oddly enough, most of the writers who have commented on this tragedy have confined themselves chiefly to gage shakings of the head.

"It was very foolish thing to do. Never resist an armed holdup man. The best thing to do is to submit quietly and thank Heaven that you escape with your life."

That is the way most of the comments run. It's quite true, of course, fighting with a gunman when you yourself have no weapon is dangerous business. As a general rule it is much better to let the gunman have what he wants and say nothing. It is considerably better to lose your pocketbook than your life.

All very true. And yet—who can read of this young university student's defiant attack without feeling a quick thrill of admiration for the gallant young man? He was foolish and reckless, no doubt—but isn't that foolishness and that recklessness priceless qualities?

In other words, we still list simple courage as one of the finest qualities a man can have; and it may be that we are right in doing so. The present age does not demand that quality as often as former ages did. Battle, murder and sudden death are not as commonly met with now as they used to be. Most of us can live our lives through without ever once being compelled to choose between ignoble safety and heroic self-sacrifice. It is not as necessary for us to be brave as it was for our ancestors.

Yet the emergency does come, now and then; and when it comes the old standards still hold good. There are occasions when a man has the chance to demonstrate his own nobility by forgetting his own life. This young Miller Wilkinson had such a chance, and he accepted it—and we honor him for it.

CORN SHOW ADDS FEATURES DAILY

Twin Falls High School Band Will Play at Wendell Corn Show, Biles-Hagerman Day.

WENDELL, September 8 (Special).—The one-day advertising and entertainment day is the Corn Show, whose exhibits and side-show interests overshadow every other feature of the show in current years. As the hour of opening approaches there are new attractions announced. There is a flower show, a pageant, a band, a basketball game, and the day begins with a trip to Biles and Hagerman with Twin Falls high school band in attendance. A series of contests and exhibits of various kinds from the Womans Club have arranged to stage one of their flower shows.

The F.T.C. will hold its annual reception at the Hotel Idaho, new and old on Tuesday evening, September 9. The high school football game will be a feature attraction. There will be a well prepared program rendered by Prof. Sleaf's orchestra will furnish the music. After the game solo, Dr. Nichols will sing. The band will welcome which will be required to be, by superintendent H. P. Downey. Mrs. W. C. Anderson presides at the piano. An intermission will be given. Mrs. J. Prince, Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Collins give readings. Mrs. Fred Baker, a young girl, will sing. Olympia and Mrs. J. J. Hagerman will sing, all assisted by a male quartet. Refreshments will be served.

The Twin Falls-South Land campaign is being enhanced in value by the extension of the Idaho Light and Power line to these holdings.

Almost every day there is some new attraction planned for the Corn Show program. The advertising company is engaged for the second day with its merry-round, ferries, wheel, roller-coaster, Bob Edwards' auto show, Williams animal shows are now added. The Parade Gym Post of Gooding will march, mounted on a truck, featuring the band under R. M. Collier who will be in the music parade by the Twin Falls High School boys.

Father J. Deniv is the newly appointed Rector of the Catholic church here succeeding Rev. J. J. Williams who went to battle against rotteness.

NEW STUDENTS ARE IDAHO CLUB GUESTS

RUPERT, September 8 (Special).—The radio club held their first meeting for the year at the Calidonian hotel. Thursday evening, coincident with the school year's start, 7:15. The meeting was well attended and greatly enjoyed by the student and students of the University. The students especially present were the members of the Faculty. The Academic year this year especially invited guests of the club. Dr. Paul Langerhans, who is now with President H. E. Kress, acting as toastmaster. Informal talks were given by H. M. Carter, Superintendent of Schools, on the importance of the radio; Special guest, H. D. Armstrong principal of the high school, who encouraged the students to attend the University; Dwight Disney, who commented the many things gained from university life which are of great value to the student; a student, who welcomed incoming students, and, gave them many practical pointers and help. Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. H. E. Kress, wife of "spouse" of Mr. Kress, and Norman Shadlock with a "phonograph, both being successfully met by many young people. Each was responding to the tokens of welcome with the dates of attendance.

ONE WAY TO END THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC—An influenza epidemic can be stopped by a small boy, apparently envious of the true strength ability of Dick Lugar, brought the asymptomatic disease to a standstill by the milestone and fell 16 feet, suffering a sprained shoulder. The boy never indirectly brought down another child, and Dick Lugar, in reaching his home, descended to help Lugar in reaching his home.

"He opposed nationwide branch banking at present but said that ultimately if bankers became trained and experienced in the latest technique of 'trade-area' banking he thought it would in time evolve nation-wide branch banking under control of relatively few banks, but he did not care to say how many. He said the result of competition. Its favored branch over crop banking, which, however, he said represented an economic development along trade-area lines and would be beneficial to agriculture, also was submitted and thought 'trade-area' branch banking would serve this purpose.

"It is the intention of the Commission to develop its own studies in this question and will endeavor to get every bit of information that may develop in this connection and keep itself prepared to give an unbiased and accurate statement of the facts of the case whenever that is desired," the report concludes.

RADICAL CHANGES TRANSFORM BANKING

National Commission Sees Changing Opinion on Branch Banking Issue—Studies Group and Chain Banks

NEW YORK.—Modifications of the attitude of bankers on the long-disputed branch banking question are evident in a review and report on the subject just issued by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The report, however, after referring to recent proposals that national banks should be granted branch banking powers within this business territory surrounding their location, declares that "we do not believe that so-called 'trade-area' banking is likely to gain the support of the banking fraternity."

The commission says that the "most important development" has affected American banking in recent years is the rapid growth of multiple banking organizations in the form of group, chain and branch banking systems, and adds that "we present this report as an impartial economic study of the problem and hope it will be used to urge at this time." The statement says that the commission's information indicates there are now 229 group or chain bank systems, 2,250 branch banking units, and 1,225 multiple banking agreements, and that these are only six states and the District of Columbia where it does not find any group organizations.

The commission's investigation has been in touch with the managers of many important bank groups, the report says. "Aside from the obvious economies of centralized operation and control a number of these organizations have run frankly into trouble, though they do not feel that the system has been in operation and tested long enough to justify them in making positive or sweeping statements as to its advantages or disadvantages compared to the banking system."

"The banking and currency committees of the House, which is conducting an investigation into group banking, has called a number of operators and some of the chief group systems. These men declared that they found, under certain conditions, definite operating and economic advantages in both group and branch banking, while others found branch banking was only a transitional stage, that branch banking was preferable—and it were preferable to group banking on a scale, though without original bank groups over to branch banking. Others held that group banking was preferable."

"Some held that the only plan was to have a single large bank unit for localities strong enough to support complete banking institutions and with branch banking extending further into the lighter places, while others held that branch banking was not large enough to support complete banks. Several of those who advocated multiple banking declared that nevertheless, they believed there would always be room for some independent banking units."

Government—Officials—Executive—Views.

"The Comptroller of the Currency recommended that national banks, state banks, trust companies, savings banks, while trustee companies and the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board appeared to be in general agreement with the Comptroller. He said there were 24,646 banks in the country, of which 22,226 were national bank offices; that in this total, 6,722 offices were either branch
