IN AGREEMENT

THE Idaho Statesman at Boise takes the same view as does The Evening Times on the purported proposal to hang bank robbers in Idaho.

As that newspaper points out "the man on the street will wonder, if bank robbers are to be punished with death, why bank embezzlers and safe blowers and highway robbers and service station bandits should not be treated likewise."

Continuing its arguments, The Statesman reminds

Capital punishment would not increase the number of convictions in bank robbing cases. It would decrease them, for it is an undisputed fact that the more extreme the punishment the greater the amount of evidence our juries require before they will convict. And every time a criminal is tried and set free our problem of coping with the criminal class increases and new recruits are added to the ever growing army of those who prey upon society for a living.

There are few criminologists in the United States today who are not agreed that the solution of our crime problem lies not so much in making the punishment more severe as in making it more certain.

The Evening Times agrees with the conclusion of the Boise editor that it is extremely doubtful whether a bank robber, providing that he doesn't murder as he robs, will ever be hanged in Idaho.

SEEKING THE SAME GOAL

FRIENDSHIP is a strange sort of thing. It appears, sometimes, where you would least expect it, and flourishes in spots where you would suppose that it could find nothing whatever to feed on.

So it is with the friendship between Clarence Darrow and Dr. Clarence True Wilson. It was revealed at Boise recently that these two men, who are in public bitter foes on almost any question one can call to mind, are in private extremely warm friends. The wet agnostic and the dry fundamentalist have debated with each other a great deal and have traveled together a great deal; and somewhere they have found a common ground, where mutual admiration and esteem can grow unchecked.

Dr. Wilson's discussion of the growth of this friendship is very much worth reading. It increases, somehow, one's respect for both men. He says:

"The fact is, if anybody can be a Christian without knowing it, I think it would be Clarence Darrow, for if you make a list of the Christian qualities which a Christian ought to have, such as living according to the Golden Rule, loving everybody, taking up for the ones who need it most, standing against privilege and in favor of the underprivileged, he lives what we teach as the best standards of life."

That, coming from a devout churchman to a man who mounts lecture platforms to denounce religion, coming from a militant dry to one of the nation's most outspoken wets, is a remarkable tribute. It points to something that is of considerable importance; namely, that men can travel toward the same goal by the most diverse roads, and that they can make the going smoother for themselves and others if they are broad enough to realize that there are, in the old phrase, many paths to salvation.

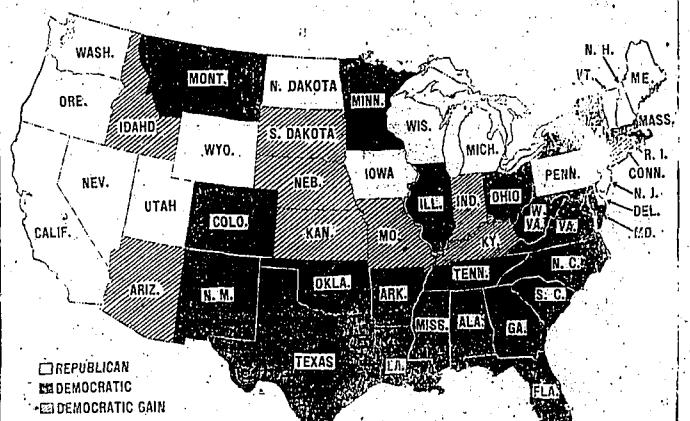

Each of these men has devoted his life to a battle for the truth as he has seen it. Each one has fought justly for the sake of a cause. Each of them has been, and is, what we call a visionary — a man who has caught a glimpse of the fair place that men might make of this world if they only would, and who cannot rest until he has given all of his energy and all of his strength to the expounding of his vision.

On-the-surface-they-have-been-violently-opposed. But underneath? They are working toward the same end — to make the world more decent place, to remove a bit of its sin and suffering and hopelessness, to enable people to get more out of their lives in the shape of happiness and the fulfillment of high desires. If the rest of us — followers of one or the other of these two men, or perhaps occupants of the wide middle ground between them — could only realize as they have realized that we are, after all, seeking a common goal, even though we can't agree on the best method of getting there, wouldn't there be a good deal less bitterness and misunderstanding in American life today? And wouldn't that be an excellent thing for all of us?

The retiring members of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, Messrs. Bacon, Parry, Clos, Brizee, Read and Lloyd are deserving of the thanks of the community for their unselfish services during the past two years on this important civic organization. Harmony, progress and accomplishment have marked their terms and the community is their debtor.

PLAYS FEATURED FOR BOOK WEEK

BURBANK, Nov. 18. (Special)

A book week started Monday at the Public Library, in a larger and better way than ever before.

For the week there will be displayed a group of 10 new children's books, they will be conveniently placed, for inspection by the public, in the children's room.

The books will be loaned to the library club until after the close of the week.

The librarians are planning to circulate in the libraries of the city weekly displays in the window.

At the end of the week, Saturday afternoon, two plays will be presented by children from the seventh and eighth grades. The public will be invited to attend these plays and get better acquainted with this splendid public institution.

Mrs. Anna La Rue deserves much of the credit for the success of the library, having served in the capacity of librarian for many years.

It appears that the public has been greatly interested in the campaign of congress, as well as another indication of the movement to adapt Russian ideas of government to America.

The Socialist circle is more easily recognized as a part of blurred dresses that reflect a Russian atmosphere.

Party Season Of Dancing Club Has Smart Beginning

Preceded by a number of dinner parties, the opening dances of a series were given by the G. A. O. D. dancing club at the home of Mrs. L. O. O. F. hall, Chrysanthemum in Twin Falls, forming a fitting background for the opening.

Apparel entirely in silver, the table at which Mrs. O. P. Daval and Mrs. W. F. Peck sat, dressed in a combination of an eleven-neck cap, achieved perfection. Yellow chrysanthemums, flanked by tall yellow tapers in silver holders, formed the center of the table, which was covered with a white cloth. This was the first formal dinner of the club.

Presiding at the ceremony was Mrs. Fern Bower, composed of "The Golden Hour" by Carrie Jacobson, and the signature piece, "I'm a Little Teapot," by Alice LaVelle, known for her wonderful arrangements. Recurring on the decoration committee were Mrs. Vaughn Price, Mrs. Walter Weaver and Mrs. Harry Judd.

Mrs. R. F. McLean, Mrs. James A. Smith, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Edwin A. Wilson, Mrs. Kenyon Green, Mrs. W. Orr Chapman, Mrs. E. J. Olson, Mrs. C. C. Johnson, Mrs. G. W. Olson, were on the committee on refreshments.

Mrs. Asler II, Watson was chairman of the tables and was assisted by Mrs. O. P. Daval, Mrs. Duline Johnston and Mrs. W. F. Peck.

November Favored
As Bridal Month

Second only to the month of June, November is becoming increasingly popular as a month of marriages and this trend has been particularly apparent locally this year. Among the most popular dates for marriage here within the past few days, were the nuptials for Miss Pauline Elbers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Elbers, and Gerhardt Kuege, Twin Falls.

Immanuel Lutheran church, now decked for the occasion, was the scene of a wedding service at six o'clock, of the wedding, the service being performed by Rev. H. N. Zager in the presence of immediate friends.

Mrs. Helen Elbers, niece of the bride, was her attendant, and Richard Kuege, brother of the groom, was his best man. The bride's bouquet was of white crepe and lace, with princesses, white with caps. She wore a long veil, unarranged cap style, and a white dress with a lace hem. The maid was frocked in a smart street-style crepe gown, male bolo-style.

After a wedding trip to Boise the couple will be at home on the groom's farm near Twin Falls.

BAPTIST MISSION

Find Fever Ticks In Historic Cave

DENTON, Tex., Nov. 18 (UPI)—CENTON of the historic Sam Bass cave near here where a famous desperado once had his lair, paid off his gold was urged to see public health officials after discovery of fever ticks in the cavern.

Nearly a dozen of visitors, mostly school children, who had the subterranean passages are convalescing from a curious disease that afflicted Texas drivers for several years until recently after visiting the cavern, complained.

In the laboratories of the live-stock sanitary commission at Fort Worth revealed the feverish attacks were caused by a mite that can't technically term "Gnats."

Dr. J. J. Reid, commissioner, said he believed that bats may have transported the ticks to Texas from Mexico and Central America.

Anna Q. Nilsson Going Home For
4 Months Visit

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18 (UPI)—Anna Q. Nilsson, who hasn't seen her family since she was 13 years of age—who won't tell how long ago—has come back to Sweden to spend the holidays with her parents in Ystad.

The Swedish film star was in New York and was invited from San Pedro on the S. S. Anna Johnson for Stockholm.

"I know four months in the old country will not greatly detract from my health," she said yesterday. "But I'll go back next spring to record motion pictures."

NARCOTICS TURNED OVER TO VETERANS HOSPITALS

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 18 (UPI)—Narcotics seized in a raid by the county attorney's office and valued at nearly $100,000 in the dope traffic, have been turned over to the government for use in war veterans hospitals.

A THRILLING RIDE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (UPI)—Richard Dix, film star, was receiving his companion today following a real thriller in which he was involved in a racing accident on an incoming taxicab and carried for one block on seventh avenue last night.

One of the best illustrated books being introduced at the week at the local library is "To Market, To Market," for the very young, by Emma Baskin, published by Random House. It is a book of simple rhymes and illustrations of all first and fifth grade rascals. Miss Dix will select the most novel and interesting of the stories, present them in a reader's digest. She will also carry on the outstanding books of 1930, the fifth grade room, and show some of the new fall and winter books.

PUBLISHER'S OFFERINGS

Mrs. Ethel Dixey, assistant librarian, has outlined a literary calendar for the year which includes a book for each month and character, and her memoirs are replete with thrilling adventures and personal experiences.

M'BRIDE OPPOSES DRY LAW CHANGE

President of Anti-Saloon League Still Is Strongly Against Law's Alteration

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UPI) — President Herbert Hoover's enforcement commission recommends modification of the Volstead act or any other change in the prohibition laws will exist in time, Dr. P. W. M'Bride, Michigan general counsel of the anti-saloon league, declared in an interview with the Press.

Further, Dr. M'Bride said that the Volstead, the most powerful and influential of dry organizations, will stand firmly against any attempt to modify the Volstead act or to repeal the 18th amendment, whatever the commission may recommend.

Commission Reverses

The commission now is in recess until Nov. 21, but has already made up its mind as regards the 18th amendment, which was never entertained seriously, and likewise looks with no favor on various proposed changes such as those in Quebec and Sweden. On the question of modification of the Volstead act, to permit beer and light wines, the commission disagreed, and as alternatives this suggestion has found most favor.

There is considerable doubt, however, as to what makes the recommendations other than further measures for aiding enforcement.

The commission was appointed to consider the Volstead and other laws and to recommend measures for improved enforcement." Dr. M'Bride explained what was announced by President Hoover and by the commission itself.

"It has no authority to beyond the 18th amendment to suggest changes in the Volstead Act. It would be going beyond its province if it did that."

Suggestions "All Well"

Dr. M'Bride characterized all the suggestions by anti-prohibitionists in Congress that the 18th amendment should be repealed as "all well."

He said that what was announced by President Hoover and by the commission itself.

HINDUS, MOSLEMS STUDY FRICCTIONS

LONDON, Nov. 18 (UPI) — The real work of the Indian round-table conference, which was opened yesterday by King George V, Wednesday, got under way yesterday.

Hindus and Moslems assembled to begin negotiations for the settlement of vital differences which a month of private conversations had failed to clear up since the first session of the opening ceremony.

Representatives of 70,000,000 Hindus, constituting the largest minority in the world, demanded guarantees of security as well as of their support of the Hindu self-government movement.

The Moslem demands included:

Separate electorates for Moslems to insure genuine Moslem representation; control of northern British India, including Sind and Karachi; allotment to Moslems of one-third of the legislative representation of the central government of British India; a share in ministerial offices, and administrative positions.

During preliminary negotiations a moderate Moslem leader said he was willing to grant all other Moslem demands, declaring that everything must be sacrificed to attain a united front in the fight for independence and the minimum status for India.

Extremists, however, argued that granting the Moslem demands would lead to a complete division of India into two camps.

Both Hindus and Moslems turned to the British delegation to solve their difficulties.

A DEMONSTRATION of Formfit Creations for THE NEW SILHOUETTE

— an opportunity to confide in Miss Helen M. Bear, an expert coster who comes to our coster department direct from the Chicago factory of The Formfit Company. She will be here on Thursday, Nov. 20.

It is our good fortune to have

Miss Helen M. Bear in our coster during this period, and we hope that every woman who is possible will take advantage of this opportunity of getting expert advice on problems of costering.

Not only Miss Helen Bear will be here, but a host of experts will be available to the proper garment to you.

The management invites every woman to visit our coster department during this demonstration, as we believe that she will find an opportunity to get real information on modern costering.

An interesting assortment of Formfit Girdles, Bracers, Sylhettes and Girdles will be on display.

YOUR INSURANCE PROTECTION MUST NOT LAG

MODERN business is restless with ambition. Never still, never satisfied, it constantly seeks new methods, new appliances, new uses. A ceaseless reshaping of practices, readjustment of facilities.

Not only has modern business required new forms of indemnity, but new manufacturing processes and new buildings of undreamed proportions have brought new fire hazards.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has not only met the insurance requirements, but by research, engineering and laboratory tests has discounted the new hazards to such an extent that its average cost has constantly declined for more than twenty years.

Under the system of establishing fire insurance rates, Stock Fire Insurance company engineers have surveyed practically every commercial building in the United States, whether insured or not, and have on file minute details of construction, occupancy, protection, exposure and other information relating to fire hazards.

Stock Fire Insurance surveys buildings and their contents—studies neighborhood and community conditions—offers advice — makes recommendations — points out hazards—establishes facts by which risks are measured.

To this end it maintains Underwriters' Laboratories, where thousands of materials and devices are tested for safety purposes, and, when approved, are so labelled.

In many other ways it contributes to commercial stability by providing standards of safety.

Do You Have to Drain Your Car Every Night

You might save yourself all that time and trouble by a small investment in Glycerine, Prestone or Alcohol. We have a large supply of anti-freeze preparations:

GLYCERINE—One filling of this and your troubles for the winter are over. It's a worth-while investment, per gal. $2.75

PRESTONE—the best of the patent preparations. Cold weather doesn't phase it. per gal. $5.00

ALCOHOL—drive up and we'll give you the right amount to save you the trouble of draining per gal. $1.00

And While We're on the Subject of Cold Weather—

Change your oil and grease to light weights that won't load your motor up these cold mornings. It only takes a minute and repays you in added performance and efficiency.

The moral effect of security

WHEN one has wisely safeguarded his interests from loss he knows he can never advertise.

But when one is unprepared to meet the pinch, not only are values lost, but hope itself seems to vanish.

Adequate stock fire insurance safeguards property, enhances its value and strengthens one's moral courage through the certainty of protection.

Governor and senator, the Brothers LaFollette will hold the political reins in Wisconsin next year, Republican progressives. Above you see recent photo of both, but the LaFollettes, in a recent clash, held Phil Murray, president of the miners, to be responsible, Judith and Robert M. LaFollette III, probably telling them that the Conservatives may not like them if they don't watch out.
