BRUINS CAVE IN ON IDAHO FALLS TO TUNE OF 25-7

Bates' Long Run Plus Townan's Smashing Give Twin Falls Lopsided Victory on Eastern Idaho Gridiron

IDAH0 FALLS, Nov. 22 (UPI)—Twin Falls high school smashed its way into the finals for the state football championship Friday by defeating Idaho Falls High School by the unexpected one-sided score of 25 to 7. Twin Falls will meet the winner of the Pocatello-Pine Valley game today in the state championship contest.

Credit for the victory goes largely to two twin stars, Bates and Townan.

Hardly was the game well started when Bates got loose and swerved around for 24 yards and a touch-down.

Townan Also Scores

A few minutes later, line smashes and off tackle threats sent the ball in scoring position.

Townan went over for the second tally.

Twin Falls took a breather in the third quarter but came back strong in the fourth and home-met two more touchdowns. A drive straight down the field was culminated by another line smash and a 10-yard run.

The final score occurred when Bates topped off a large advance by a 16-yard dash.

No credit, Twin Falls was on the threshold of a fifth touchdown—three yards from the goal line when Bates scored again.

Lee, who had been running in the third quarter, when Lee fast stepped left half back, intercepted a pass on his own side of the field and ran it back the field to Twin Falls' 30-yard line.

Cross Goal Line

Lee, who had been running back to the right, took the buckshot, featured in the first half, and fell.

Wanted: attack of Idaho Falls and their highly skilled lateral passes were ineffective.

The game was enlivened by a black and white film buckshot, featuring Lee's fall, which was effective in the actions of a spectator.

We ordered him off the field.

Police were compelled to escort him from an unruly crowd.

Hunter Fatally Hurt Near Arco

ARCO, Idaho, Nov. 22 (UPI)—The mistake of attempting to handle two guns, a rifle and a shotgun, while hunting in the hills cost El J. York, president of the York Motor Company, of Logan, Utah, his life late yesterday.

York was fatally injured, while hunting in the hills of his home town, which was out of his sight range, he raised the weapon against a fence and started to use it.

Other officers, especially the police, were given the direction of flight of the machine into line with the owner's direction.

Belmont believed that by virtue of the fact his device has no understanding of the difference between what could be built to fly faster than any existing aircraft, and once it was sighted and launched, an enemy aircraft would follow it.

It could either be rammed, and an explosive fired by contact, or electrical apparatus operated by the machine approaching within a few feet of the enemy's craft.

The fundamental principle, at work in the engine, and a desire to please time as well as war-time activities, and an aim to be applied to prevent collision between aircraft and between ships at sea.

CALIFORNIA HAS FIRES IN BRUSH

Several hundred men battle raging flames in Verdugo Hills Area of Coast State

Los Angeles, Nov. 22 (UPI)—Three brush fires, one of which threatened scores of homes in La Crescenta hills, north of Los Angeles, broke out early this morning, and several hundred men were burning rapidly through heavy brush-covered areas.

The first fire started in the Verdugo hills, where a fireman's line was thrown, after the gate. Several hundred men were taken to the scene by the county forest department to save the homes in the adjacent residential area.

The second blaze, of unknown origin, broke out back of La Crescenta, six miles from the Verdugo hills, and a fireman's line was burning rapidly, through heavy brush-covered areas.

The third fire started in the Verdugo hills, where a fireman's line was thrown, after the gate. Several hundred men were taken to the scene by the county forest department to save the homes in the adjacent residential area.

The United States Forest Service also was called to the scene, and a line was thrown, after the gate. The fireman's line was thrown, after the gate. Several hundred men were taken to the scene by the county forest department to save the homes in the adjacent residential area.

NEW MECHANICAL BLOODHOUND MAY BE USED IN WAR

Former Hungarian Officer Invents Device Capable of Destroying Enemy Aircraft in Time of Armed Conflict

LONDON, Nov. 22 (UPI)—A mechanical "bloodhound" of the air, which guided by a photo-electrical device in the nose of the aircraft, would automatically destroy any enemy aircraft against which it is directed, has been projected by a Hungarian ex-officer, Leopold Belmont, who is an engineer in London trying to interest the British government in his scheme.

Fantastic though the idea sounds, Belmont claims the plane would have the ability to utilize mechanical and photo-electrical facts already known to science, and will be able to automatically destroy any enemy aircraft against which it is directed, has been projected by a Hungarian ex-officer, Leopold Belmont, who is an engineer in London trying to interest the British government in his scheme.

BILLY PETROLLE HANDS M'LAERNIN DECISIVE DEFEAT

Vancouver Favorite Proves No Match for "The Fargo Express" in Bout at Madison Square Garden Friday Night.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (UPI)—Billy Petrolle, usually subtitled "The Fargo Express," today sat on the right hand of Tony Cangro, king of the brawlers.

Petrolle, who has been as cross prince as this currently popular class by soldier an impressively convincing though oftenish over his shoulder, suffered a most two-fisted walloper-weight of Vancouver, R. C., and California, McLaernin, dived as an express train into the ring with his head early in the bout.

The Petrolle victory, by the way, was the third consecutive four-round victory to go to our man in Madison Square Garden.

McLaernin had been so pronounced a favorite that the wise boys who offered their four-to-one shot were compelled to take back their losses. This "central" turned out to be a break for the professional gamblers who had bet heavily on the "Express" to lose on the strength against the "Bulldog" and on Cangro against Cangro.

The fight was the best seen in New York this season as well as the knockout.

The drama of the fight began in the first round when Petrolle moved in with a left hook that nearly floored the Vancouver boy.

Little Albie Smith, of course, is a great baffle, but Thorpe, the greatest open field runner, is the one to take away any of the glory he can earn for Yale in the All-American race through the entire nine miles of the Illinois.

But is Thorpe greater than Seated of Georgetown, or Weller of Indiana? And those other greats, O'Neill of Detroit?

You don't hear much about these lads, but in the districts where they play, you will remember them, because they have been publicized a great deal.

Despite the enormous point scoring piled up by Petrolle this moment, he remained interesting.

DRIVER'S LICENSES

ACCORDING to an Evening Times news story, the present and reelected secretary of state is proposing an auto drivers' license law, the chief element of which appears to be the fees to be collected therefrom. There are many arguments both for and against such an enactment, but there is a growing sentiment favorable to its adoption in this state.

The feature of the proposal having to do with fees is perhaps its greatest handicap. The general public is sick and tired of fees, licenses, taxes, surcharges and assessments. After an auto owner has purchased his machine, paid his license, another fee to have his lights tested and knowing that every time he buys a gallon of gasoline he must pay five cents additional tax, he will not welcome additional laws seemingly designed to wangle him out of more cash.

If the commercial feature of the measure could be forgotten about at least avoid the appearance of petty dollars and cents demands, such an innovation as a drivers' license law might be acceptable to Idahoans, if the public felt it would aid in raising the carefulness of drivers and contribute one iota in cutting down the fearful loss of life resulting from auto and highway accidents.

There is no reason why governmental agencies should elicit a fee every time an official turns around. The free issuance of drivers' licenses to experienced operators would not be out of place at all.

COOKS AND COOKERY

ALTHOUGH America has produced many dishes which rank with the world's culinary masterpieces, it somehow is unable to produce cooks who can prepare them properly. This is the complaint of Ralph Hitz, managing director of the New Yorker hotel, who regrets the fact that the nation has to look to Europe for its best chefs.

It is too bad about the cooks; but what interests us is the list of American dishes which Mr. Hitz calls our greatest gastronomic contributions. The list includes pumpkin pie, ice cream, griddle cakes, corn bread, Creole chicken, Boston baked beans, ham and eggs, the modern sandwich, American hash, and doughnuts.

That is a good list; and it is consoling to reflect that some of its items, at least, are virtually cook-proof. Even a rotten cook can hardly spoil ham and eggs. It takes an unusually bad one to turn out an unpalatable pumpkin pie. And hash is bound to be good if the cook is worse than mediocre.

Still, the other numbers need skill. Think of the crimes that have been committed by poor cooks in the concoction of leathery griddle cakes, soggy doughnuts and pale, half-cooked corn bread.

HILARITY OR THOUGHTFULNESS?

By CHARLES W. CROFT, Senior,
 University of Idaho, Moscow

THANKSGIVING Day again!

Once more the President has issued a proclamation setting aside the day. The time is come again when students suspend their labors for a time; when business men lock their office doors. Railway companies offer special rates, and the folks "flock" homeward. Markets will be flooded with foods.

Excitement, anticipation, hilarity pervade the atmosphere. Goose, turkey, cranberries, pumpkin pies—no end of hurry, bustle, conversations—a marmoth dinner and intertempore—a football game—a leftover supper—the radio and a card game or dancing—this is the 1930 Thanksgiving day.

The great masses give not a single thought to the true significance of the day. Ministers welcome to their churches in the morning "old faithfuls," who are the few who give Thanksgiving serious thought.

Let us think of the things that we, in 1930, really have for which we should be thankful. Haven't we national peace; freedom from civil war, from dictatorship, from oppressions? Haven't we freedom from "famine, disease, and pestilence"? Haven't we food, clothing, money, home, church, and school blessings, in short, with which no other people in the world are nearly so completely endowed?

So in the midst of all this hurry and bustle, this preparedness for a "big day Thanksgiving" why not combine a bit of thoughtfulness with "hilarity"?

It is interesting to note that at the recent meeting of the Idaho Highways and Good Roads districts meeting here recommended a highway commission of three, which was one of the proposals of Asster B. Wilson during his primary campaign last summer.

The Red Cross Roll Call closes today.

"That donkey has a real strong back just as my harrack," cried Clowey, as the donkey lay down. "Where is he heading, for?" "To the town hall, for," said the donkey. "I don't know, but I went up with straw to catch up with some big barn where heaps of straw is kept in store." "Follow him," another cried. "Perhaps, the man will let us ride. Me first, if we have any luck." And then he asked the man, "The fellow can't be far off now, can he?" "No, he isn't even in mind at all," "You want to have a ride?" he said. "Why, shucks, you bet your ear!"

Clowey was up-hill and away when he saw a boy and a girl shouting, "Follow him! Follow him!" Then he saw a boy and a girl shouting, "Follow him! Follow him!"

IDAHO HAS MUCH MINING WEALTH ASSERTS EXPERT

Dean of Idaho U. School of Mines Believes the State to Be Rich in Undiscovered Minerals, Especially Gold

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Nov. 21.—Potential mining districts exist in Idaho which will remain unknown and undeveloped unless a detailed and accurate geological survey of the state is made, Dr. Finch's proposed plan of action to help the mining industry of the state.

"It has been said," that "there is much mineral, particularly gold, in Idaho, which has never been discovered, which could be mined easily after careful geological surveys have been made over the state by the old-time prospectors. To aid in this exploiting we need a complete geological map of the state. Geological surveys have been made in various sections of the state but there is much remaining to be done. It would serve to make a patch-work effect present but if it is complete it will show geologists where to look for ore."

"It was the type of geological map that I have in mind," he said. "After the original copper fields of Idaho, Africa, Greece, and Italy had maps showing the geology where to diamond drill and they uncovered many new fields where prospectors had walked for years without making important discoveries."

"I hope by obtaining a complete survey of the state we can now mining districts in Idaho. Much of the state is mountainous and it is thus dependent on some other form of transportation. We already have a great mining district in the Coeur d'Alene and we hope to open up more through surveys."

"Opportunities for well-trained young mining engineers exist in Idaho in the general business departments of the mining industry," Dr. Finch believes. "There is now a good field and more openings for trained men than there has been in many years, he said."

Retiring Church Officials Guests

A tribute marked by almost all esteem, intended by 100 members of the Twin Falls church of the L. D. S. church and friends, was paid the retiring church presidency, Lawrence G. Anderson, and his wife, M. G. Gudel, Friday evening at the city recreation hall, "taxed beyond capacity." Climaxing the evening, 100 guests of honor were presented with handsome white gold watches, bearing appropriate inscriptions.

Continuing in Twin Falls from Utah in their annual meeting, President L. G. Kirkman, Judith Rid and the inmates of sarcophagi and assist in constructing the first real in the locality, President J. W. Hinman, son of the author of the history of L. G. Kirkman's activities as a builder of the church and the community. In 1914 E. M. Ward, now deceased, was elected president of the school board, and, incidentally, also elected president of the fifth quorum of elders, Mrs. Ward.

Twin Falls' stake was organized in 1919 and L. G. Kirkman was elected president, with E. M. Ward as first counselor. In 1927 the cornerstone of the new church edifice, the stake tabernacle, was commenced. Owing largely to the endeavors of the retiring president, the building was completed for the Tabernacle, and no debt exists against it.

Claude Brown presented the watch, and following President Hinman addressed.

Other program numbers included: Community singing of "The Rainbow Song" prayer, Patriotic J. A. Johnson; Scripture reading, Mr. Kirkman; two selections, Mrs. Claude Brown, Mrs. E. E. Bjerling, Mrs. A. Smith; a solo, "Worship in the Kirkland," by the matron—George Ward; E. E. Bjerling, Claude Brown and Leo Kirkman. Testimony concerning the cause, peace and welfare were served throughout the evening.

IDAHO TRAFFIC STATUS IS 0 K.

BOISE, Nov. 21 (UPI)—Although there was light snow in the southwest part of the state early today, and some prospect of more, Idaho traffic remained free today from unusual disturbances on air and railroad tracks to Colorado and neighboring states.

At 10 a.m. in the morning, the mercury stood at 8 degrees above zero. Friday at the same hour it was 20 degrees above.

The temperature in Idaho was 20 degrees above zero, somewhat warmer than in Pueblo, the place was more susceptible. Thursday at 6 a.m. in the mercury stood at 8 degrees above. Friday at the same hour it was 20 degrees above.

Dr. Finch, Idaho's mining engineer, was making their runs without trouble, according to word from Pueblo, while the Varney Air Lines were proceeding with difficulty.

Just before the state tested its case, George Hill, testified that his sister's handwriting did not appear on the scrap of waxed paper bearing her name and that of Hendrickson.

Hendrickson gave officers the following statement: "I am told that my sweetheart, seeking a way from their difficulties, had plotted a number of ways to get away."

Hendrickson claimed he and Sylvia had been drinking and wrote the note on a whiskey flask they had enjoyed. Hill added that his sweetheart after telling him she had hand faltered when he lifted the gun to his own temple.

Hill compared specimens of his sister's writing with those of his sweetheart's work before discrediting the crumpled bit of evidence.

Mrs. Audelia Hill corroborated the testimony of Hendrickson and the accusation that Sylvia did not drink.

She also stated that Sylvia and Hendrickson had been quite ruling and that the girl had returned his engagement ring.

SCHOOL NEWS

A musical program was presented Friday by the local school orchestra, under the direction of Carl Heitbrink, which school music instructor. The orchestra began the program by playing three pieces, and then Carl Heitbrink accompanied at the piano by Emily Bates. The orchestra played selections from the "Deseret Tabernacle" and "School of the Lamb" and delivered sales talk for the school year.

"Little of the Field" which will be presented next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The blank week was featured in the regular meeting of the Philharmonic Society on Thursday evening, and the results and statistics gave a short talk upon

"How to Care for Books." Ellen Butler, president of the Philharmonic Society, and Laura Price spoke briefly on "An Interesting Book I Have Read." The program came to a close when Harry Ward presented a solo solo.

With cheering burst from class room, Friday afternoon, the Philharmonic Society announced the Filer Women's club entertainment for their husbands and the Filer Faculty Wednesday evening.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Mrs. E. E. Bjerling, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. W. C. Thompson, and several of the freshmen students also gave talks. A short time was performed under the direction of Mrs. Hause.

At the Theatres

Miss Sophie Carroll is capable of portraying any kind of character with remarkable facility to type, evidenced in "Laughter" which opens at the Idaho theatre tomorrow. Her performance recalls her vivid role in "One Man's Castle" which created such a stir last season.

It has been reported that material effort is being made to marry and pleasant thing in life, she is splendid. Her mood varies from the serious to the gay, and characteristically she is impossible not to become captivated.

Pearlie March, the talented lead man, who has just come with Charles Collier in "Bungalow" is a positive sensation in his role as an impudent, unconvincing and who-entitled Peggy. His role has been a success, especially with the female audience.

C. Morton Gleason repeats the appearance of your favorite actress in the equally charming "Laughter." The play has been highly popular in the Broadway days to Peggy.

Peggy's career is further complicated when Peggy, disenchanted about her own age, starts a reckless pursuit of another of Peggy's admirers, a crude, callow, strikingly ugly boy, George Anders, a recent from the New York legitimate stage. Before his return to the stage, Anders was cast in a small rôle in a piratical version of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude." He brings the flood of emotion to his difficult role in "Laughter."
