SUICIDE THEORY GAINS STRENGTH IN OREGON CASE

Testimony of Coroner's Physician Leads to Show That Mrs. Leona Bowles, Portland, Took Her Own Life

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 4 (UP)—The coroner's physician today testified that the death of Mrs. Leona Bowles, Portland, Oregon, was due to a self-inflicted wound.

Such remedies for the farm problem as the devaluation and the equalization fee were held unworkable by Hyde, who said that at this time it is evident that supply and demand conditions cannot be met unless the government intervenes rather than to cause a rise in prices, that tariff duties are not commensurate with production largely for export, and that surpluses would increase rather than restrain production.

MULLINS' INJURY WEAKENS ELEVEN OF KNUTE ROCKNE

Mentor of Irish, However, Refuses to Stress the Loss of Fullback; Squad Will Have Workout in Arizona City

TUSCON, Ariz., Dec. 4 (UP)—An offensive battle from start to finish with the team that can hold the ball the longest, the most likely winner was the Knute Rockne-led squad of the Southern California team today—got this United Press.

"I know that Howard Jones is going to want his team to have the same to rush us off our feet," said Rockne. "There's just one way for us to break up his line and that is for us to get the ball and hold it as long as we can. I look for the team that can hold the ball for the longest time to win."

Although a trifle annoyed over the unexpected loss of Larry "Moon" Mullins, first string fullback, who is out of the game with an injured knee, Rockne refused to stress the loss of a regular fullback for the second time this season on the eve of a big game. He said Mullins withdrew from school the week before the Northwestern game.

"I had expected Mullins to be in shape to play and that he would play one of the greatest games of his career," commented Rockne. "But now he's out and we've got to make the best of it."

Mullins injured his knee in the Army game and it has failed to respond to treatment. He did not don a uniform and work out with the rest of the squad on his arrival here yesterday.

Two workouts, morning and afternoon, were planned at the University of Arizona field today before the squad leaves for Los Angeles tomorrow for the game with the Trojans before a crowd of 20,000 at the Coliseum Saturday. Don Hines, the national sophomore, will start in Mullins' place at fullback, with Al Howard, Alhambra, Calif., youngster, in reserve.

Morley Drury Is Ill In Hospital

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4 (UP)—Morley Drury, captain of the Southern California football team, has lost to Steve Hains in a victory in 1927, will not have the anticipated privilege of seeing the Trojan cheerleaders down the field here Saturday.

Drury was confined in the Grady hospital here today with pleurisy, his second serious illness this fall. He was stricken Saturday night and has been in the hospital since. He is recovering, while his present illness seems to be not critical, his physician said.

The former All-American quarterback, who lost his team a game, will wear the team by radio. He is to be a head salesman here.

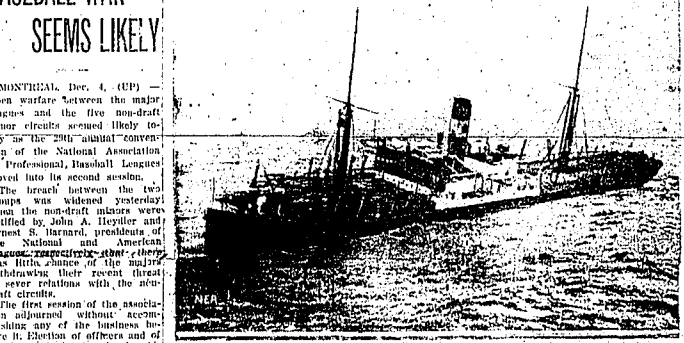

CAMPUS PAPER ATTACKS U. S. C.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4 (UP)—A caustic editorial comment by a student newspaper at the University of California, Berkeley, today attacked the University of Southern California for its alleged participation in the Pacific coast conference. The editorial, which was published in the "Occident," a literary magazine of the college, the executive committee of the "Occident" student body has notified the University administration of its intention to publish a similar article in its magazine, "The Occident," the editorial committee said. The article, which was published in the "Occident," the editorial committee said, was a "condemnation" of the conference, and it was "intended to present a plan for the prohibition of the conference of our Pacific coast," the editorial committee said. MELTON ADVISES ADOPTION OF INCOME TAX OUT

Reductions in Receipts During 1930 Make it Impossible to Continue Rate, According to Treasury Head

(Continued from Page 1) This, of course, implied a corollary that in periods of depression when the government revenue is restricted, the rate of debt reduction should be stopped, up but not to the extent of increasing on the statutory provisions.

By the statutory requirement, Mellon referred to the sinking fund which will total $200,000,000 together with payments by foreign governments on their war debts to the United States, of $1,000,000,000 next year. To extend the sinking fund rate, Mellon said it was probable that foreign governments would pay their debt obligations to the United States securities and this would make available $181,000,000 account of the deficit which he included in the general fund. Even with this there is still a deficit of $18,000,000.

Stock Market Crash Reviewing the stock market collapse and the subsequent business depression, Mellon said Treasury compilations show "marked depression" in the deficit for the first three quarters of the 1930 calendar year. Indications are also for a continued increase in income this year, Mellon said, particularly in view of decreased military disbursements and the portion to its stockholders. Mellon's estimate of receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, is $2,525,000,000, as against $2,400,000,000 for the previous fiscal year.

On the basis of these figures, therefore, government receipts for the current 1931 fiscal year will be $243,076,158 less than received in the corresponding period of last year. The net loss to the government from the deficit in receipts and increased expenditures, therefore, would be about $163,000,000.

Decreased Revenues The poor showing on the receipt side of the government's ledger is explained by decreased revenues owing to reduced profits of corporations and lowered earnings of individuals this year. On the expenditure side, the deficit has enlarged outgo is accounted for chiefly by rising costs of government.

Principal items in the increased government's expenditures are the payment of additional benefits to War veterans, increases in the federal building program, repositioning of the Agriculture Department and Farm Board, and enlargement of the War and Navy department budgets. The postal deficiency is also expected to be larger.

Included in Mellon's proposals for new legislation, was a request presaging a significant government refunding operation during the coming year. He asked permission to issue on whatever terms the Treasury could obtain $1,000,000,000 (billions) in government bonds. This plan would refund that amount of the $1,000,000,000 (billions) public debt on a long time basis.

Tax Recipients Renewing his suggestion of a constitutional amendment enabling the federal and state governments to tax securities, one exempt, Mellon said an adoption of this proposal seemed unlikely the Treasury, he said, should be allowed to exempt its bonds from surtax as well as the normal tax. He said the present law taxes the state bond issue as they are exempt from all taxes while federal securities are subject to surtax.

In reviewing federal finances Mellon related that the deficit comes of 1929 on which taxes were paid in 1929 were larger than in any other year for corporations and the largest on record for individuals but the sharp recession of 1930 has effectively cut federal tax revenues from the two previous boom years, he said.

"The drop in security prices since the autumn of 1929 undoubtedly has had a very serious effect on incomes. Moreover, readjustments in consumer demands, consequently the reduced incomes has been a factor in the decrease in business activity," Mellon said. "The fact that had been most stimulated during the period of speculative activity was the demand for luxury goods," Mellon added.

He also contained a prediction of the future course of business in the United States but his forecast of decreased receipts and advice not to continue the tax cut reflected cautious attitude. Steam or Electric Turkish Bath, Men and Women Attendant, Phone 640, Dr. Foster Foot-Specialist, Advt.

Postal Rate Boost

Proposed by Brown

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Increased mail rates in 1931 additional yearly revenue of $25,000,000 were proposed by Postmaster General Brown in his annual report. He recommended that the base rate of 2 cents an ounce for first class mail be raised to 2 1/2 cents.

Brown's report, published today, revealed a deficit of $88,000,000 from operations in the post office for the fiscal year of 1930. The postmaster general announced some time ago that he would recommend the increased rates. Since then many protests have been leveled although an informal negotiation has developed.

The bank said "bank" and you keep a lot of big and little sheep. To have to see a great big flock of sheep sure is a little bit of a job. And they blow a horn real loud, and sheep come running in from all over the place. If you see a very strong man find it will not even surprise you.

The caretaker, Go, I always am a milk coppy. Then he took the lamb and all the others, and called him "Go." The lamb looks very satisfied. Within your arms he likes to hold me. He holds it for a while. He has his arms full of fun.

You can all have a turn. You will be snapped Copy. I will play for each time you take the lamb and you will have a good time. He then turned white, just like a sheet, and cried, "What have I done to you?" The other Times laughed aloud. "Was just a tiny load."

Soon Clowey asked, "Say, do you keep a lot of big and little sheep? To have to see a great big flock of sheep sure is a little bit of a job. And they blow a horn real loud, and sheep come running in from all over the place. If you see a very strong man find it will not even surprise you."

Big nose the Travel Man was tired and he exclaimed, "Say, I'd like our little cart to take us far. Come on, we'd better go. Not far from here you'll see a sight that you will think is queer. All I know." The shepherd said, "Good-bye, you are the bestest little I know."

They reached a building right nearby and promptly heard we suddenly cry, "Oh, there's the same you make about. It's quite odd, and these things, I'll bet it is a public spot there, every day it is more hot of woman come and work away at washing days of clothes."

Accost Star Witness
 PORTLAND, Dec. 4. (UP)—The coroner's inquest today over the fatal slaying of Mrs. Elton C. Bowler, pretty society matron, was overshadowed by a report of police that one of the state's most important witnesses had been beaten severely in her home by an unidentified man.

The witness, Mrs. H. W. Howard, said a man came to her home and asked her, "are you going to keep your mouth shut tomorrow?" "I expect to tell the truth," she said she told the man.

Mrs. Howard said the man then struck her in the face with his fist, knocked her down, scratched and kicked her. He then showed her a revolver, saying, "see this. If you don't keep your mouth shut, this is what you will get next."

The state was expected to call about ten more witnesses before the coroner's jury which opened yesterday at the court-house to consider evidence in connection with first degree murder charges filed against Nelson C. Bowler, wealthy Boise husband of the dead woman, and Mrs. Irma G. Loncke, his former stenographer and paramour.

Twelve-five lives were muffled out by the first landslide at St. Jean, a suburb of Lyons, France and no sooner had rescue workers begun to dig frantically in the ruins than a second avalanche of earth and stone claimed 35 more victims. More than a score of police and firemen were among those swept to their death in the slide, which was the result of weeks of constant rain. Soldiers and civilians here are shown digging into the wreckage of toppled buildings, and many of the bodies were found buried under 20 feet of debris.

IN AGREEMENT
 THE opposition of the Evening Times to the proposal said to have emanated from Commissioner Porter of the state banking department, urging that bank robbery be made a felony in Idaho punishable by no less a penalty than hanging, has met with singular favorable response throughout the state.

This newspaper ridiculed the idea on several grounds, chief of which was that it was unwise to pick out bank robbery as an offense any more serious for instance, than the robbery of a newspaper office or any other establishment.

Now comes the Boise Capital News with the publication of interviews with a number of prominent Boise bankers, who also oppose the hanging proposal in no uncertain language. Says the Boise paper:

"Boise bankers do not consider themselves a favored class and do not want a law making the holding up of banks by gun-carrying bandits punishable with capital punishment. They told a Capital News reporter as much when interviewed on the subject and each gave a very clear and pointed reason for his opinion.

"J. L. Driscoll, president of the First Security bank, said: 'I should say not! I'm not for such a law at all! I can't see that the banks are in any other class than any business man who is held up at the point of a gun and there is no logic in giving special favors to any set. Why shouldn't the man in a gas station have the same protection that a bank employe has, with regard to being held up at the point of a gun?' He should have it.

"F. F. Johnson, chairman of the board of directors of the Boise City National bank, had just as positive an opinion against capital punishment for bank robbers. He says: 'I believe that there is a general feeling that bankers are asking too much when they seek to have bank bandits hanged. It is too drastic, far too drastic. You might just as well hang all kinds of robbers, if you are going to hang bank robbers. I think that there would be a great deal of opposition to any such proposed law and there should be, for it is not feasible, in my opinion.' We haven't talked it over here in this bank but I'm sure that there would be general opposition to such a law.

"Crawford Moore, president of the First National bank, believes that the extreme penalty for bank robbers as well as murderers would tend to weaken the enforcement of capital punishment laws and that bankers will not favor it.

"J. W. Cunningham, vice president of the First National bank said: 'Of course, the use of a gun in a hold up means that the wielder of the gun is morally guilty of murder, but looking at the practical side of the situation, I would say that capital punishment for bank robbers is too severe. Such a law would tend to lessen enforcement of capital punishment on anyone. It would be much more difficult to gain convictions than it is at present and for that reason should be avoided.'"

Pioneer Settler Returns to Visit

REPORT, December 1. (Special)—Mrs. Wm. Laman of McCall, Oregon, came in Saturday night for an extended visit with her two daughters, Mrs. E. E. Phillips and Mrs. Chas. Stewart. Mrs. Laman was one of the earliest settlers of Rupert, and many old friends will be glad to greet her.

The one day convention held at the Christian church on Monday was well attended by all delegates, and presented an interesting program, the two principal speakers of the day being Mr. J. W. Young of Tibat, and Mr. J. H. O'Connell of Hiram, Ohio. Mr. Young has spent "years" in China as a missionary. A dinner meeting was held in the evening at the church annex, at which time musical music was rendered by a local women's quartet and the service followed by Chas. E. Stout of Pocatello.

CONOCO

THE PUNISHMENT They Get in the First Few Minutes Decides How Long They Will Last

And so it is with your motor . . . 40% to 60% of all motor wear occurs in the first few minutes after starting, because ordinary oils drain away in idle periods. But CONOCO Germ-Processed oil is always on guard duty, never drains away, penetrates metal surfaces, reduces starting wear.

A step on the starter always takes ordinary oils unawares, and it is then that most damage occurs in your motor. By draining away during idle periods, ordinary oils "let down their guard" and let your motor in for severe punishment at a time when protection is vitally needed.

On the other hand, Germ-Processed oil always has its guard up. Its film penetrates and clings to every working part while the motor is idle.

The first motor revolution finds ready lubrication guarding every clearance. The 40% to 60% of wear which might have taken place before you ever shift a gear is substantially reduced.

Thousands of motorists have found that this improved motor oil prolongs motor life and gives better all-round performance. You can find CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

Too often newspapers fall into the habit of endorsing willy-nilly the many fool suggestions hatched up in the brains of public officials, without first analyzing their effect on the general public. Public officials err, just as newspapers err. This newspaper feels it a duty to discuss such public matters openly and frankly in an interpretive vein.

The Evening Times' policy, as a whole is perhaps best illustrated in its expressed attitude regarding the case-in-point, that of opposing any further encouragement to such a measure as the hanging of bank robbers; its opposition to the particular drivers' license law being espoused by the present secretary of state; its criticism of the methods in vogue in handling prisoners at the state farm west of Boise; its belief that Idaho is entitled to the benefits of direct legislation, such as the initiative, and statewide primary; its contention that all primary election officials should be compensated, which suggestion has been endorsed by many organizations in the state; its stand for a permanent registration every two years; its belief that agricultural security will only come to this section when freight rates are reduced and there are more rail outlets; and a constructive attitude toward a variety of other vital local problems upon which it has in the past and will in the future take definite editorial stand to the end that the benefits will be accomplished.

That these efforts are meeting with general public favor is appreciated by this newspaper, which at this time wishes to convey appreciation for the frequent expressions volunteered from readers in all walks toward the editorial standards of The Evening Times.

DEFENSE COUNCIL TO ASSEMBLE IN BOISE THURSDAY

Committee From Over State Summoned by Baldrige Will Confer At Capitol On Matters of Unemployment

BOISE, Dec. 4 (UP)— Idaho's council of defense, summoned by Governor H. C. Baldrige in action to relieve the unemployment problem in the Gem state, meets at 10 a. m. Thursday in the chamber of the House of Representatives under the direction of J. D. Hood, state commissioner of public works, who has been designated chairman.

The council of defense plan to offer temporary relief for unemployment and to admit permanent economic stability in the state has met with the approval of Colonel Arthur Wood, head of President Hoover's emergency committee for employment for the nation, and of Harold P. Folger, Salt Lake City, head of the Mountain States unit of the national committee.

GOODING CASABA PRACTICE BEGINS

GOODING, Idaho, Dec. 4.— Young, willing and inexperienced are the words used by Coach H. B. Roberts to describe his 1930 basketball progress at Gooding. The preliminary work has shown much room for improvement and the squad has gotten down to serious work with the beginning of the winter term. The schedule as yet is in the making.

Members of last year's squad who have reported for practice include: Linck, Hubt, Werner, Ableside, Clemens, Gooding, Powell, Rogers, Carter, Gibson, Hildreth, Castleford. New men who should be valuable are Livingston, Gooding, Edwin, Twin Falls; James, Edson and Woody, Hazelton. Two men, Kimpton, Kimberling and Deal, Nevada have been added to the squad because of injuries.

The female casaba boppers on the court are blessed with managerial and experience. Led by Brewer star forward, of Ontario, old members of the squad include: Anderson, Abernethy, Randall, Ru-na, Herr, Gooding; McClure, Idaho Falls; Francis, Fulton Eden; Christfield, Hildreth; Henson, Hildreth; Stierman, Hazelton; and Jane Smith, Edson Hazelton. New squad members who have been showing up well in practice are: Davis, Aberdeen; Johnson, Kuna; Dwight, Ellet, and Dorothy, Fulton Eden.

The first game for the winter term is scheduled with the Gem State All Stars for Saturday night. This team featured at the Gooding basketball tournament last year. Led by Edna Nielsen, former "Hobbit" star, the both colleges in this team should furnish some interesting competition.

WINTER WILDS SUMMON HIKERS

Troks Through Snow-Covered Wilderness Offer Rewards That Are Well Worth While

These crisp mornings, it takes a light breeze and a snow-capped path to contemplate a trip into the frozen wilds, but anyone who has seen a bright winter sun rising over snow-covered mountains will testify that such a trip is usually worth the rigors encountered. Perhaps you have an idea that with the end of Indian summer days also comes an end to winter trips. But a surprising number of hikers, fishermen, and folks who merely enjoy the spectacle of a winter day in the wilds, make trips into mountain fastnesses at intervals all winter.

Here are a few hints in the food line if you contemplate undertaking such a trip. Of course, in winter camping, both food and fuel are the items you have to pack in. If you have your "cave" well stocked in a weathered container. Nevertheless, your winter foods should be given due consideration. In winter you need food that will keep you warm and then fuel will give you strength for the trail.

Let ketchup be the base food, and then build up around ketchup. It can be made from dried venison or beef pounded or ground fine, and one can add fruit such as dates or then mixed with melted fat. To this, ketchup, and if one wishes, nut powder, eggs are also to be added, and it is a food that is rich and contains much nutriment. If one must have soup when on the trail get it in your pocket some powdered pea or bean soup with barometer.

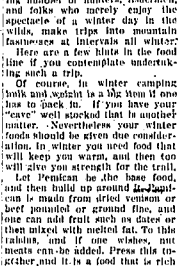

If milk is desired powdered milk seems to be the best substitute, and powdered eggs are also to be added. Raisins and rice or oatmeal and cereal, and you already have your cereal, and you need your sugar with your milk and your sugar with you. No one wants to be chased by a bear, and if you have any "cave" sugar should be taken in "cave cases" when he is reaching "cave" and you are "cave" but fruit cake on an outdoor trip for nothing else better than a warm munch some of it, and it will give you strength.
