QUAKE IN SOUTH AMERICA SNUFFS OUT MANY LIVES

Bodies of 31 Persons Are Removed From Debris in Argentina; Heavy Rain Adds to Section's Troubles

SALTA, Salta Province, Argentina, Dec. 25 (UP)—The bodies of 31 persons killed in an earthquake at La Poma, near here, had been recovered from the ruins today, according to officials received here. The quake was felt throughout northern Argentina.

Approximately 10 injured persons, mostly women and children, received medical attention.

Begin Wednesday

The earth tremors began early yesterday and continued until daylight, with lessening intensity. The auditory shocks moved from east to west. Great cracks appeared in the earth and a majority of the buildings in La Poma were reported as demolished.

Survivors labored in the ruins, beneath tottering walls and parts of roofs, and in the debris, to rescue relatives and friends. Military troops were sent to the region to take charge of rescue work and render first aid. It was reported that the only two children were able to escape the town when the quake occurred, and the population was reduced to a few hundred.

The survivors were taken to a safe place and the ruins were being cleared away. The survivors were taken to a safe place and the ruins were being cleared away.

MAJOR SHEPARD GETS WELCOME

The widespread damage of the earthquake was not revealed until yesterday. When it was found that many offices had been made inoperative. Many women were restrained with difficulty during the night, from entering the ruins of their dwellings to seek missing members of their families.

The population of numerous towns in Salta province was thrown into panic by the quake. A loss of life was reported outside Poma. Shocks of from five to eight were felt in the towns of Poma and San Antonio. The shocks were felt in the towns of Poma and San Antonio. The shocks were felt in the towns of Poma and San Antonio.

The First Christmas

AND it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

2 And this taxing was first made when Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

3 And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

4 And Joseph went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David.

5 To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

6 And so it was, that when they were there, the days were fulfilled, that she should be delivered.

7 And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there came some shepherds to keep their flock by night, when the angel said unto them, Fear not, for I have brought you good tidings, which shall be for all people.

10 And the angel said unto them, Fear not, for I have brought you good tidings, which shall be for all people.

11 For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying,

14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

15 And it came to pass, that the angels were gone, and the shepherds were left, and they stood wondering on the words which the angel said unto them.

16 And they came and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

17 And they kept all these things, and wondered.

18 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all that they had heard and seen, as it was said unto them.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (UP)—Ultra-party strife among Republicans provoked itself into a Christmas day with a denial that President Hoover had supported Executive Director Lucas of the Republican national committee in his attempt to oust Senator George W. Norris from Republican ranks.

The denial came from Rep. Will R. Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the Republican national committee, whose description of Norris as a "demagogue" was interpreted by some as Hoover's view because it was given immediately after Wood had called upon the President.

SOUTH AND NORTH TANGLE SATURDAY ON EASTERN GRID

Plenty of Stirring Action Promised When Teams Representing Different Sections of Country Face Each Other

NEW YORK, Dec. 25 (UP)—If you were unfortunate enough to be born too late to enjoy the Civil war by all means plant to be at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on Saturday when the South-South-South football game is played. For, according to the game's publicity agent it is going to be something less than a miniature war between the states.

The publicity agent went on to let him speak for himself in a circular intimated in his copy that the whole thing is going to be every bit as hard-fought as Bull Run (No. 1 and No. 2) and much less as sanguinary as Chickamauga.

Here's what the agent has to say in his latest handout: "Stumpy" Thompson, former Georgia Tech star who was in charge of the southern invasion, will scrimmage his outfit but only before the big battle. His (Stumpy's) main occupation at present is keeping this squad in hand, the boys showing too much tendency to get at the northern team before game time.

Just that's not all. The agent continues:

"As the northerners left the field recently after their previous session the southerners had some remarks to make about the possibility of the northern winning and some scolding without the ball was barely averted."

Wednesday's practice, the one at which "scrimmaging" was done, the ball was barely averted," was the first drill for both squads.

Jack McElroy, one-time Syracuse ace, is handling the northern players, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the manner in which his men worked against a pick-up team of professionals and coaches. McElroy was particularly enthusiastic about Kola Karis, Carnegie Tech fullback. Karis, it seems, picked through the open Carnegie Tech warhorse is being counted on to give the southerners much trouble. The "hot-blooded" southerners, as the agent pointed out, are in a bit of a predicament just before the game. Thus, Coach Thompson spent his time Wednesday afternoon kicking, passing and blocking—the fundamentals, in fact.

Bert Metzger's Weight is 149 1/2

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25 (UP)—Bert Metzger's weight has been settled once and for all. The Notre Dame guard, who is a member of the team of ex-stars which plays here Saturday in a West-South aggregation, scaled exactly 149 1/2 in running franks and jersey yesterday in the presence of Jimmy Phelan, Washington coach, Hank Anderson, assistant Notre Dame coach, and others.

Many wagers have been made throughout the football season concerning Metzger's weight which was announced by Notre Dame as 155. Pop Warner, Boston coach, and others said Metzger weighed at least 168.

SCHMELING NOT POPULAR IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25 (UP)—Should Herr Max Schmeling grow friendly with the New York's boxing commission's efforts to force him into a match with Jack Sharkey and decide to defend his title in some city other than New York, there would be little or no moaning and groaning along Broadway.

The few tears shed, if any, would come from tavern keepers and merchants whose businesses always boom when the fight comes your way.

Your New York fight fan is indifferent to a Schmeling fight for more than one reason. In the first place, the boys and girls will remember that horrible exhibition staged by the champion and Jack Sharkey at the Yankee stadium last June.

In the second place, there are enough high class fighters in town right now to insure the fans of an interesting winter and spring weather. Schmeling's defeats here or there.

TEAMS WORK OUT ON PASADENA GRID

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 25 (UP)—With their Tournament of Roses game only a week away, the Washington State and Alabama football squads did not let Christmas interfere with their training and had their regular practice today. Both squads worked out in the morning.

The Washington State squad had a Christmas tree planned for this afternoon. Each player was allotted 50 cents to purchase a gift for another player whose name was determined by a drawing.

The Alabama players had their Christmas tree last night, and had a lightening tour scheduled after their workout today.

Alabama continues to rule a 10 to 7 favorite for the New Year's day game. The seal will have a value of $500, according to Earl V. Foster, graduate manager of athletics at Washington State.

SCIENTIST SHOWN DETERMINED TO MONTHLY FALLACY PARIS, (UP)—The time honored belief that oysters are only edible in the months containing an R has been disproved by Doctor J. Herbert Seto, one of the principal oyster experts in France.

Speaking before the recent 17th Congress on Public Hygiene, Dr. Herber declared that there was no connection between the months in which oysters are eaten and the prevalence of typhoid fever. Popular tradition declares oysters eaten in months without R's generally result in typhoid. He cited statistics showing the towns where oysters were eaten the year around.

are comparatively free from typhoid, the number of cases being generally less in months without R's during the R months.

Sentence will be pronounced Friday. Roberts was released under $250 bond so he might be out of jail on Christmas day.

Christmas Tree Delivered by Van

The Twin Falls county health unit, serving as a Santa Claus outfit for the Twentieth-Century club, the business and professional women's club and a number of private donors, distributed toys to the children of the county Wednesday afternoon, delighting the youngsters who might otherwise have been missed. The Twin Falls firmers remodeled the tree that was used of 1929 but the majority of the gifts, numbering more than 400, were brand new and shining, the organization stated.

COBBLER GIVES AWAY CHILDREN

WELLSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 26 (UP)—Tom Derry, father of eight orphan children, slowly was losing his fight to feed them and keep them clean and warm. He expressed his desperation in a letter written in scrawled letters on wrapping paper and pasted in the window of his store.

"Children to give away. Can't afford to feed them longer," read the sign.

"Citizens of Wellsville were shocked. Then their hearts went out to the cobbler. Four millers went to Derry's home and took four of his children to homes where warm fires burned and Christmas secrets created an atmosphere of suspense to delight the children.

"The children ranged in age from 10 to 37.

"Derry married the prettiest girl in Wellsville. She gave him the most beautiful children he ever managed to provide. But she was buried a few months ago. Tom Derry then lived alone and came back to assume her duties. Working, dressing, cooking and cleaning, he tried to maintain a little home which was made to go a long way.

"But he was losing and Christmas was coming on. He couldn't afford it, he said. His older children worked when they could find work. He wanted to give to the children. Derry said: 'The babies grab by the knees and get in your way and cause all the trouble. I want to forget all my troubles. They are the most precious possessions I have. I have them back when my mother and father were better.'

Christmas Wedding Proves Interesting

Impressive nuptials were performed for Miss Isabelle McHenry and Harold Minor, Twin Falls, Christmas morning at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Frank McHenry. The bride is the daughter of Mr. McHenry, Woodington, California, who arrived from the coast for the wedding, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Minor, residents of Twin Falls for many years.

The bride was an exquisite bride, gown of ivory satin, and carried a large bouquet of white flowers. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a small bouquet.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Cecil P. Hines, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. A wedding dinner of beautiful appointments was served at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Minor, at 11 o'clock. A huge wedding cake centered the table, and crimson Christmas tapers burned on a centerpiece of blue and white. Place cards were appropriate to the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Minor left in the afternoon at a ten-day wedding trip to Long Beach, California. They will be at home in Twin Falls where Mr. Minor, contractor, maintains headquarters. The bride's

McPheeters-Brown Wedding Performed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Brown, Twin Falls, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Brown, to Mr. J. C. McPheeters, Fresno, California, December 29 at Fresno. The ceremony was performed at the Presbyterian house, Dr. George H. Gibson officiating. A wedding breakfast was served following the ceremony at the Hotel Fresno. Mr. and Mrs. McPheeters made a wedding trip to northern California. They will be at home in Fresno where Mr. McPheeters is a practicing physician.

The bride is a graduate of Stanford university and of Stanford Medical school, Palo Alto, California. The bride is a graduate of Twin Falls high school, and was a teacher in the Twin Falls county schools.

SOUTHERN IDAHO BRIGHTENED BY YULETIDE SPIRIT

Churches Hold Splendid Service in Commemoration of Christ's Birth; Trees Are Laden With Children's Toys

"And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night..."

In churches throughout southern Idaho on Christmas eve, reverent congregations heard retold the story of a birth, and in the hearing gained inspiration for the holiday. Hordes of those who remained at home in devotion fragrant trees, punned forth floods of joyous carols, as midnight church services in many parts of the country were broadcast.

Under a smiling sun, Twin Falls early Thursday morning dawned on the Yuletide celebration. Could the "Spirit" be accompanied by the "Spirit" on his tip through Christmas eve settings, have poured into Twin Falls house early Thursday morning, he would have seen softly-glowing Christmas trees laden with toys for the children and gifts for loved ones, smiling faces and joyful youngsters.

Clubs in downtown stores hurried homeward, laden with bundles, after the closing hour Wednesday night, grateful for the Sunday rest after three strenuous days of serving Christmas shoppers. Stores, banks, schools and public offices were closed all day Thursday.

Christmas found no family in Twin Falls without joyful reminders of the season. The work of charitable organizations provided food for the needy, with holiday toys for youngsters. Although it was stated a thorough check had failed to reveal any poverty-stricken family not visited by the workers, last-minute calls from charity agencies were to be taken care of Thursday.

Decorated trees shining with myriad lights sparkled in yards and windows Wednesday night, while the festive decorations and merry greetings were flung out into the crisp night air until the wee small hours of the morning.

In many offices small Christmas parties made a pause in the daily round of activity. Wednesday afternoon as employees gathered around trees for exchange of small, easily grasped packages, the festive spirit was in the air.

Many firms reviewed holiday wrapped bottles of a soft drink, one for each member of the staff, with the holiday greetings of the Western Bottling works. Even in the city and country, the spirit of Christmas was evidenced, as packages were relayed by inmates from relatives and friends.

Activities anticipated for Christmas afternoon and evening included a play party, the annual children's party, theatre and dance parties in the evening, and friendly phone calls of greeting throughout the day.

Three Are Hurt In Car Collision

A head-on collision between two cars on the highway one mile east of Kimberly late Wednesday night sent three persons to the Twin Falls county general hospital for treatment of severe cuts and bruises. The injured were Mrs. Harry Harris, Twin Falls; A. J. Carlos, Boise; and Mrs. Carlos.

While the three were all confined to the hospital, their condition was reported to be good Thursday morning.

The crash occurred when the two cars, one east-bound, driven by Carlos, with Mrs. Carlos, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harris, all of Boise, as passengers, and the other, bound for Twin Falls, carrying Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. William Harris, all of Twin Falls, met on the curve. Both cars were badly damaged.

30 METEOR FLASHES
SHOT THROUGH THE SKY

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 25 (UP)—A flaming meteor flashed across the night Idaho sky last night, bringing a sudden glow as it trailed one of the comings of the season on a Christmas morn across the heavens.

The illuminated sky was followed by an explosion that rattled windows and doors over a wide stretch between Coeur d'Alene, and Grandville. No damage was reported, and the explosion was distinctly heard here, according to reports from many persons.

Professor F. L. Loney, professor of geology at the University of Idaho at Moscow, said he believed the flash was that of a meteor and the subsequent explosion the result of its striking the ground. He said anyone who knew of the spot where it struck to inform him so that the University might make a scientific study of it.

CHRISTMAS

IN THE hurry and burly of Christmas buying and Christmas giving; while receiving and sending stacks of beautiful greeting cards; and in all the pleasurable excitements which come from visions of Santa Claus, the patron saint of this gladsome day, there is much which is lost sight of among many of us.

One of these is that, this is not alone a day for gifts, for Christmas trees, for feasting, for tinsel and color and bells and candles, but it is first all the birthday anniversary of the Christ child, the Saviour of the World.

Of all the holidays and anniversaries and events, surely, then, this is a sacred day, a holy day, a great religious event in Christian civilization.

There is no discounting the celebration of Christmas as Americans and the World observe it, but it is well to pause ere the day passes and contemplate its real significance.

If we can all but remember that the kind acts we do today, the cheer we disseminate, the gifts we bring and the love we cherish are but symbolical of the events of the Nativity, then we shall have combined in Christmas all which was meant to be and it shall continue the beautiful occasion as we know it.

In this spirit, may we all have indeed a merry Christmas!

A DIFFICULT TASK

THE courts occasionally lay difficult tasks on the shoulders of citizens; but surely one of the most difficult on record is the one which a New Jersey judge thought up recently for a chap named John Webster, who had a hen house in his back yard and whose roosters, crowing lustily at all hours, disturbed the rest of the neighbors.

This judge issued a restraining order requiring John Webster to keep his roosters from crowing between 10 p. m. and 7:30 a. m.; and what we are wondering—along, probably, with Mr. Webster—is how on earth he is ever going to comply with it.

Domestic fowls are contrary creatures, and this is especially true of the rooster. The rooster tends to crow when the spirit moves him, and the spirit moves him according to some incomprehensible secret known only to Mother Nature. Is a mere man to unravel the puzzle and compel the rooster to crow only at seemingly hours? It is our hunch that that would be to attempt the impossible.

PRISONS AND SHRINES

SOME Washington official recently proposed that a federal penitentiary be built on the site of Fort McHenry, famous as the birthplace of the Star-Spangled Banner; and the proposal has drawn a hot retort from Paul C. Wolman, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The mere suggestion that Fort McHenry be torn down and a penal institution be erected in its place," says the commander, "is particularly repugnant to every patriotic American."

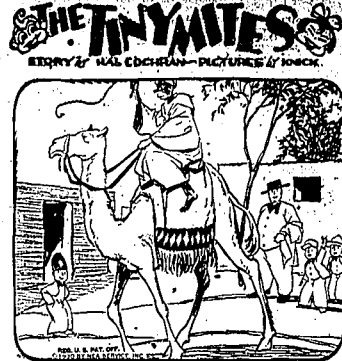

This is quite true; and the fact merely emphasizes how far our penitentiaries fall short of what they should be. If a prison were really a place where human derelicts could be reclaimed and turned into honorable and useful citizens—as, some day, all prisons will be—we would think it quite appropriate that one be built on a historic shrine. But as things are; well, we must agree with Commander Wolman.

The fellow who picked the winning teams last season is one, at least, who thinks things are decidedly for the better.

The rich man who marries his daughter to an un-supporting young man is also doing his bit, in giving the bride away, to aid the unemployed.

The daughter of the desert, wild, wild, wild, "Gee, that man is a kid," "I'll always help him," "They asked the man and a child. But, tell me how you can do it." "Sure! I'll try to turn the desert into a great big place and no spot for a lad to chum. You ought to be more careful. This was said in friendly tone.

"We ran into a sand storm, once," said Cloway. "It was not like this, all clear and very quiet. In my eyes the sand was tossed, it tried to hide behind my truck, but didn't have a bit of luck. The wind whistled quite a way. I soon found I was lost.

"I kept my eyes, tried to smile and walked, at least a good long mile. And then I spied those little trees and hurried over here. 'Well, lad, you can depend on me to do whatever I can. You'll see. Right now you'd better rest a bit. There's not a thing to fear.'"

Not very far away there was a lot of worried kids because the other Times feared that Cloway never would be found. They called his name till all tired out, but "course he didn't hear them at all. The Travel Man then said, 'Well, better travel over the ground.'

"I'm sure a little town is near and there's no sense in staying here. We'll try to live some way, who will search the desert wide." The drink was started. "Oh, they went and found a half an hour was spent before they stopped at Duran. 'Here we are,' says Cappy cried.

The Travel Man said, "Play ground! I'm going to look until I've found some who is friendly, and will help find Cloway quick! A man and camel came in."

Editor, Idaho Evening Times, Dear Sir,

We get nowhere by dodging facts, lecturing, argument, reason or refusing to face realities as they exist. We have got to bury the past and array ourselves as matters how much it hurts, our senseless, selfish pride to do so, and the power the wealth produces, constructive thinking and understanding; while the cowardly here, in the end with an eye to the future, the rich get richer and the poor the wealth producers get.

Why can't we adjust this system of things, under normal conditions, a large element of wage workers are unemployed, and the financial condition of the farmers is most deplorable. Think that, regularly about ten years, we pass through a panic that spreads bankruptcy and ruin, poverty and misery. If a land where they say we produce more wealth than we need. Our industrial machine has more wealth than they need, but they don't have to go hungry and starve. In the end with an eye to the future, the rich get richer and the poor the wealth producers get.

THURKE, S. D., (UPI)—White men may seek the shelter of houses and their wives, full blooded Indians of near Winslow, S. D., express their preference for the tents in which their forefathers lived.

The aged people who have probably passed their golden wedding anniversary by more than 10 years, live in a tent pitched in the doorway of the log house which the government provided for them in 1879. ## Leading Inventions of Future Will Improve the Health of Human Beings Says Electrical Wizard in Interview

NEW YORK, Dec. 26, (UP)—The outstanding inventions of the future will be in the field of health, and their creators will be biologists and chemists, Thomas A. Edison believes.

"America's greatest inventor says his views in reply to a questionnaire submitted to him by the Review of Reviews magazine. "Sickness is pretty hard on the workman now," said Edison. "It's hard for them to get a good doctor, and the proper care is expensive. There is too much sickness, too. Something will have to be done about it, and that is where biology and chemistry come in."

Q—"Do inventions come" from necessity—"The mother of invention"—or from scientific curiosity." A—"Most inventors work to earn money to get a modest living for their families. All they want is enough money to experiment with."

Q—"Will science tell us to eat less, as it has told us to drink less?" A—"Eighty per cent of our deaths are due to over eating. After the age of 21 a larger variety and quantity of food is unnecessary. All these things crowd the stomach and cause poisons. It takes courage to learn restraint, but all the eating is unnecessary. I find that my weight keeps up on a glass of milk alone, every two hours."

Q—"Is there any inherent difficulty in making television as common as the telephone?" A—"Yes, cost and complexity. Laboratories are pretty well developed, but you wouldn't want to buy one and have it in your house, would you? Television is like that."

Q—"Is it your opinion that poison gas in warfare is efficient and merciful, or a horror to be barred?" A—"I think it less deadly than bullets and bombs."

Q—"Do you think the alkali-tyro is the coming think in aviation—the best principle so far developed?" A—"Yes. And it came from Spain. They say that Spain is dead. But that was (the inventor) has the gas of Columbus."

Boy Law Violators Receive Beating

LAPEER, Mich., Dec. 25 (1914).—The old theory that corporal punishment administered in the woodshed is a sound corrective measure seemed likely to be returned to favor in this section today.

Seven youths, ranging in age from 17 to 20 years, all implicated in a series of petty thefts, were soundly horsewhipped by their fathers, brothers or friends yesterday. The whippings were administered in the garages of the county jail, shortly before the boys were arraigned before Judge Henry H. Smith. Later five pleaded guilty to charges and were placed on probation for six months.

Judge Smith made no reference to the whippings in his handling of the case, he later said. "I would like to see whippings installed as means of punishment," he said. The whippers were Tony Schultz, 17; John and Harold Henrich, 20 and 18; Will Ervin, 19; Dorland Steneberg, 19; George H. Eide, 19, and Leonard Storr, 18, he said.

Smith and Eide have not been sentenced.

"The idea of the whippings originated with the attorneys for the boys," it was said, and the parents of the boys were not consulted. "They were used. All but one were broken in the administering of the lashes."

"These boys are not criminals," Judge Smith said. "They just beat plenty of time on their hands and they got into trouble. The whippings probably will do them more good than any other corrective measure we could apply."

JEROME, Dec. 25 (Special).—

The churches in Jerome have been engaged for several days preparing for their Christmas program. Sunday night the Presbyterian church had a Christmas pageant with a "white" Christmas. The donations were freely given and several baskets were filled with useful things for the needy. Wednesday a Christmas tree and short program was given and candy bars distributed.

At the Methodist church the Christmas party for the children was held in the church basement Tuesday afternoon. Christmas eve the Epworth League sang carols at different homes and for the sick.

The Latter Day Saints gave their program and Christmas tree exercises Tuesday evening, treat-

A drama, presented by the Christian Endeavor of the Christian church, was the main feature of their program, followed by Santa distributing his pack.

The following Jerome students who are attending school away from here, are in town for the holidays: Peter Clark Schmermer, Idaho, University of Utah, Salt Lake City; Richard Lee, Utah Agricultural College, Logan, Utah; Miss Josie Handy, Albion Normal; Mamline Williamson, Haxe; Wyetcraft, Maxine Wolf, Jackson; Snodgrass and Arlo Sullivan from the southern branch of the University of Idaho at Spokello; Gladys Gleason, Ellis, Idaho; Violetta L'Herrison, Glenn, California; Anna University of Idaho, Moscow; Miss Marjorie L'Herrison, Boise; Theresa's academy, Boise; Edna Parkinson from business school; and Seattle.
