

BAR ASSOCIATION URGES NEW COURT

Administrative Tribunal To Test Governmental Decisions Asked

MINNEAPOLIS (U.P.)—The American Bar association has suggested a federal administrative court to give aggrieved citizens the opportunity to test decisions of administrative departments of the government.

The proposal was made in the American Bar association Journal, official publication of the organization. An article on the subject was written by Col. O. R. McGuire, chairman of the association's committee on administrative law.

McGuire recommended the court to be a legislative court much the same as the custom courts and the court of appeals and would hear appeals from the administrative decisions on both the law and the facts.

Check Not Possible
"It is humanly impossible," McGuire stated, "for a chief executive, the congress or any group of men to follow through various administrative acts to see whether government employees are faithfully executing the laws or whether through incompetence, laziness, mental bias, or even crookedness they are failing in doing so at the expense of the citizen and the government. The only salvation is a tribunal independent of administrative officers in which their decisions can be tested."

Closely allied with this situation McGuire said, is the complete inability of the citizen to obtain any authoritative decision as to the rule to be followed in the administration of particular statutes as they apply to a certain set of facts. With no machinery to obtain an authoritative interpretation in advance, a citizen must take a chance that he is following the correct procedure and then suffer a penalty if he guesses wrong, he added.

To Build Confidence
"Common sense dictates," he said, "that an administrative tribunal provide rulings in the nature of declaratory judgments in such cases so citizens can plot courses of procedure with confidence."
"Years as we may for the return of the old order of simple decisions in government, that day will never come in our generation. Deplete as we may the extent to which bureaucratic government has grown, the manner in which it has been constantly growing through the years, the realities must be faced, and that at once, to take some of the load from the administrative branch of the government and thus restore a better degree of equilibrium in governmental power."

'YOUNG MARSHAL' RECEIVES PARDON

Chinese Government Releases Youthful Kidnaped of President

NANKING, China, Jan. 4 (U.P.)—The government agreed today to pardon "young marshal" Chang Hsueh-Liang and thus relieve him of a 10-year prison sentence imposed for his seizure of Generalissimo Kai-Shek in an effort to force war against Japan. It was announced officially.

No mention was made, however, of remitting the sentence of five years' loss of civil rights also imposed on the young marshal.
The generalissimo was taken prisoner when he visited the marshal's city of Sian, capital of Shensi province, to learn why Chang was not pushing an anti-Communist campaign more vigorously, as he had been ordered.
Forty-six of Chiang Kai-Shek's guards were slain and he was held prisoner 13 days before his release was negotiated.

There are more than 23,000 factories in Australia. These employ approximately a half million persons.

Kidnaper Smashed Way Through This Door

Science Still In Infancy Contends Dr. E. R. Weidlein

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (U.P.)—Dr. E. R. Weidlein, president-elect of the American Chemical society believes scientific discovery still is in its infancy because "many of the most common things around us are not yet fully understood."
Speaking at Union college to a chemical group, Dr. Weidlein who is director of the Mellon institute, called attention to the new synthetic aliphatic organic chemical industry, remarking that:

"The results of the researches that created it have made available in large quantity and at low cost a variety of commercially valuable organic chemicals distinct in origin as well as in application from the synthetic chemical products previously available."
May Replace Glycerine
A principal product of these efforts, he said is ethylene glycol, now widely used in explosive manufacture and as an anti-freeze fluid for automotive engines. It is also finding numerous new uses to supplement the inadequate supplies of glycerine.

The ethers of glycol are ideal solvents for nitrocellulose lacquers, and in the rapidly expanding lacquer industry they are introducing indispensable qualities, according to Dr. Weidlein.

He said the synthetic production of ethyl alcohol is considered by some experts as important a step in the field of chemistry as the production of synthetic indigo was in the field of aromatic chemistry.

"The displacement of natural dyes, such as madder and indigo by synthetic dyes," he said, "has been set up as an example of the manner of modern science. It would be interesting to know how much of the land formerly devoted to madder production in France has been turned to growing cotton-stuffs for the increased population in the French textile centers, owing to the increased impetus given the textile industry from cheap and diversified dyes."
Defends Synthetic Processes
Commenting on the invention and technical development of synthetic resins he said:

"These resins not only equal but in many cases excel the natural products. Moreover, very large quantities of resins are required to satisfy the needs of many manufacturers, and the natural supplies of the natural materials are by no means abundant."
Resins are extensively used in paints, varnishes, linoleum, oilcloth and the electrical, radio and automobile industries. Molded synthetic resins are now being developed for the building trades, being especially useful for flooring, decorative panels, switch plates and door knobs.

City Lays Aside Its Holiday Garb

Twin Falls started laying aside its Christmas holiday garb for another year today. Workmen began the task of dismantling the street decorations and storing them temporarily in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters. First to come down were the large silver stars at intersections, and the street light arrangements were to be next.
The decorations, property of the chamber, will be kept for usage next year.

Beer Taxes Mount To Over Billion

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (U.P.)—Beer sales in 1936 contributed about $390,372,100 in federal, state and municipal taxes, bringing the total revenues from that source to more than a billion dollars since re-legalization of beer, Jacob Ruppert, president of the United States Brewers' association, estimated today.

Ruppert estimated that the brewing industry had relieved unemployment 10 per cent.

U. S. FORECASTS POSTAL RECORD

Revenues May Break All-Time High for Department; Stamps Go Fast

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Booming business has the presses in the bureau of engraving and printing rolling day and night to meet demand for stamps and new currency.

Demand for 2 and 3-cent stamps, according to postal officials, is higher than at any time since the start of the depression. So far in the fiscal year demand for these stamps is 20 per cent over the previous fiscal year.

Post office revenues, an official said, bids to break the all-time record of $750,400,000 set in 1929.

High Daily Average
At the bureau of engraving, it was revealed that from July 1 to Nov. 30 a daily average of 60,000,000 postage stamps were printed, compared with 45,000,000 in 1933. The daily average of cigarette stamps was 32,000,000; for tobacco stamps 9,800,000, and for liquor stamps 4,800,000.

The daily average of new currency printing was 3,000,000 compared to 2,100,000 in 1933. A treasury official attributed the increase to more rapid circulation of money.

Two shifts are at work in the bureau of engraving and printing to keep up the stamp supply. Three shifts have been employed in producing new seamen certificates required under the Copeland safety-at-sea act. In addition, 1,000,000 posters are being printed for the social security board and two shifts are working on bonds and certificates, in connection with the recent treasury financing.

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES
WEST HOLIDAY MORGENTHAU CO., INC.
Mills Tower, 220 Bush Street, San Francisco, Calif.

STARTING AFRESH

A new governor steps into office in Idaho today. A new legislature takes over the reins of lawmaking.

There will be several pressing matters that must be decided by the legislature, chief among them the problem of replacing the revenues lost to the state's social welfare program by repeal of the sales tax act. Whether or not a new form of the tax is to be enacted will be a matter of prime interest on which the whole state will center attention. So will possible revisions in the liquor law. But the chief focus will be on Barzilla Clark.

Taking the helm as governor after incumbency of C. Ben Ross for three terms, Clark will be strongly in the limelight. Because he is unassuming and apparently makes no pretense to the often over-hearty outward trappings of the political strategist, there appears to be some doubt whether he will push essential measures through—using the "big stick" if necessary—in the manner he regards as best for the state.

Those who have studied Clark scoff at such doubt. "He will get things done."

If Russia is looking for a general for that feminine brigade of the Soviet army, Stalin should sign up the Daytona Beach woman mayor who held the city hall against Florida's governor and his national guardmen.

ORCHIDS FOR THE SOUTH

One of the excellent records hung up in the year 1936 is the fact that the lynching evil declined substantially. The year saw nine lynchings—and while it may be remarked that that was just nine too many, it should be noted that it was 11 fewer than 1935's total.

Furthermore, there were 35 cases in which courageous officers of the law prevented attempted lynchings; and 30 of these cases were recorded in the deep south. Altogether, 60 people—all but seven of them colored—were saved from violence at the hands of mobs.

It is cause for congratulation, that record. And it emphasizes a fact which northern critics too often overlook—that the average southern official, supported by the sentiment of his own locality, is aware of his duty and brave enough to carry it out.

Now for the happy ending—"Winsor wins her."

FLAW OF MACHINE AGE

Whatever this modern era of technology may do for us, it does leave us completely at the mercy of mechanical breakdowns. Never was the fact more strikingly illustrated than by the failure of the electric power system at Newark, N. J., the other day.

A small fire, unimportant in itself, swept a sub-station and cut off the power line which brought current into Newark. For five and one-half hours the city was dark.

Elevators stopped running, lights went out, movies were suspended, hospital service was checked, radios went off, traffic lights stopped blinking, and the thousand-and-one little gadgets that run by electricity ceased to operate.

Service was resumed before anything very terrible happened. But the incident does show graphically our utter dependence on the smooth working of the intricate machinery on which we have built our civilization.

One little accident can mean chaos for an entire city.

GYPSIES GO MODERN

As you might have expected, the gypsies are taking to auto trailers. Henry Arno, King of a gypsy band of a dozen families, told a Kansas newspaperman the other day, somewhat sadly, that next year his entire band will do its Romany plying in trailers.

This, he confessed, struck him as a bad thing. There will be no more flickering campfires, no more gypsy songs about the glowing embers, no more stews cooked over beds of red coals. Instead, there will be an oil stove in the trailer and a radio to bring all the music the gypsy soul can handle.

So this modern age clips the wings of another ancient tradition. But King Henry finds one consolation: The trailer will enable gypsy parents to keep the young folks with them.

The youngsters, it seems, have been falling away of late, protesting that the old gypsy way of life is too slow. Gypsies in trailers may seem very un-gypsy-like, but at least they will be 100 per cent up to date.

CONTINUE TO GIVE

An analysis of American charity, just completed by a New York committee for religious and welfare recovery, reveals a very striking and significant fact.

The highest percentage of giving that has ever been recorded was attained during the depression year of 1932. And during 1935, the year in which recovery began to set in, a new low in American generosity was reached.

On the surface, it seems odd that people are more inclined to aid others when they are least able; and yet, it is only natural. It may be only when suffering and distress are widespread, and brought home to them personally, that people really can sympathize with the plight of their fellow citizens.

If the return of good times is to benefit all, Americans must keep constantly alive to the needs of unfortunates.

YOU SEEM TO UPHOLD THE OLD SAYING!

Dear Pot Shooter:
A fellow can't go around very long in this life before some beam-coming vent will inform him as though it had just been discovered: "If you have a smile on your face, the world smiles with you." I think somebody in Pot Shots even wrote a poem about it some time back.

Well, I decided to try the thing just now you could explode or confirm another old theory. So for one-half of one day last week, I planted a smile on my face and held it there through thick and thin. And the results were these:

Seventy-nine per cent of the people I met smiled unconsciously right off the bat.

Ten per cent resisted a while but finally came through with a grin, even if not much of a one.

Nine per cent didn't react at all, just stayed frozen-faced.

The other two per cent not only didn't react but asked me sarcastically something like "What's that silly smirk on your face for? You look like a wooden Indian."

If this will do you any good, you're welcome.

IN WHICH DOC FINDS OUT HIS LICENSE NUMBER!

Pot Shots:
And this is how Dr. J. F. Johnston found his automobile with the aid of an astute friend.

He wandered up and down the street in front of his downtown office, but couldn't find the car. Finally he saw a friend, who asked what the what. "The girls brought the car down," said Dr. Johnston, "and didn't tell me where they parked it."

"Well," said the friend, "just look for license number GR-3635."

"What's that?" asked he, a little dazed.

"That's your license number," said the other fellow.

And by gum, if it wasn't. —Hey Hey

The Holiday Mystery

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The safety of the Christmas party at "Ponder Mesa," the de Forest hacienda in New Mexico, has a tragic ending when PEARL JOHN is found dead with a knife in his throat.

PEARL JOHN noded

"You mean he's right in the house with us?" exclaimed Bob.

"Pearl John noded. 'Yes, why not? All the other servants live here.'

"But the Mexicans—do they get along with him?" Bob persisted.

"I should think—"

"We never ask them what they like," was the rather haughty reply.

"They live better here than they ever could hope to off the mesa, so they're content. The same goes for the Indian. Besides, Broken Shield never has much to do with them. He's a solitary bird. Slays in his room mostly. He's got some fool idea about living on the site of his ancestral pueblo or something."

"There was a pueblo here then?"

"The house is built on its foundations," answered Pearl John.

"I suppose the Indian is afraid that if anything happens to the old lady, it will mean that he'll have to get out," suggested Bob.

"Is that why he's so glum looking?"

"It might be," answered Pearl John.

"And you can jolly well believe that's just what will happen, too. I don't have it in for Broken Shield as much as the other boys, but the less I see of him the better. Pearl Sam, especially, detested the very sight of him. And you can believe the Indian didn't exactly love him. That's why I think he and Tante know some things they'd rather we didn't find out."

"Then the obsidian knife might have had some connection with Broken Shield?"

"It might have," was the slow reply, "though I doubt if he knew where it was kept. After my brother found out it had real value, he was careful to keep it locked up."

"Yet it seems to have been loaned to Professor Shaw," Bob reminded him.

"Yes, it was," de Forest admitted, "though my brother did not approve at all of letting the knife out of his own hands. I heard him arguing with my aunt about it."

"Then you think your aunt had something to do with the murder?" Bob asked the question hesitatingly.

"I'll not say," Pearl John answered coldly, "but I do know her hysterics are just a smoke screen to cover up the scheming of her crooked old brain." He got up, making an excuse to leave, and Bob was alone in the darkening room with this disquieting suggestion.

they had to let him live here in the hacienda.

BOB hunted about until he found some matches and lighted all the candles and lamps the place afforded, then started to draw the heavy draperies across the windows to shut out the gloomy outdoors. As he did this, he caught sight of a person, so wrapped in great coat and muffler that it was impossible to tell whether it was a man or a woman, making off through the snow toward the edge of the mesa. There was nothing unusual in this, except for the fact that Bob was sure it was not one of the servants. While he stood watching, a man came slowly around the corner of the patio. After a furtive glance about, the second figure followed the first, though there was every evidence that he did not wish this known to the individual he was trailing.

Bob decided that he would walk about and see if he could find out who, in the household, was missing. He went first to the living room.

"Where's Pearl John?" Bob asked.

"I saw him going out with his coat on," Angeline answered.

"I think he said something about finding Pearl Pierre and Professor Shaw."

She motioned with a quick gesture of her pretty hand, and, as Bob leaned over her, she whispered, "Ramon has gone to try to find out something about that canyon road. He vows we're all to make a break for it if somebody doesn't come up from the city mighty soon."

"How does he figure to get past the Indian?" inquired Bob.

"Broken Shield's doing an errand for Tante Josephine," Betty told him.

"Ramon watched and slipped out when he saw the Indian start," Angeline went on excitedly.

So every man on the place was outside, each on a secret errand of his own. A smirk crossed Bob's face, as he thought of the possibility of their all coming face to face and the necessary explanations.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON'S
An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Most-moving Events in the Nation's Capital By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator.
(Copyright, 1936, By Paul Mallon)

passed a law divorcing the treasury from the federal reserve board, but there seems to have been a morganatic remarriage on the side. It was dictated by necessity, but was not a shotgun affair.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is still not a member of the reserve board, not even ex-officio. There is also a natural rivalry between the two organizations which will never be entirely suppressed.

But, recently, Mr. Morgenthau and Chairman Eccles of federal reserve came together on the new foreign gold purchase policy, and signed a pledge, apparently with-out benefit of clergy or Senator Glass, that they would cooperate thenceforth continuously and energetically.

To an outsider, this may not sound like a very important development, but all insiders will consider it so.

The result will probably be a much closer and wiser coordination in the development of highly important financial policies of the New Deal.

WAI F

One thing has not been settled clearly in the new arrangement. This is the parentage of the new gold purchase policy.

The lack of enthusiastic sponsors for the child is due to the un-announced fact that no one likes it very much. It was adopted as a necessary expedient, rather than a long term policy.

Mr. Morgenthau hopes it will not cost him very much, but there is every reason to expect the influx of additional foreign gold in the next six months will amount to $500,000,000.

The best official source furnished the recently published information that state NRAs were impracticable. Behind it was the purpose of scotch-ing some of the promotion material being put out by Major Berry's new business collaborative, co-operative and copersonal enterprise. It was the Berry conference which developed, among other things, the suggestion of state NRA laws.

The fact seems to be that neither the Berry move nor the Roper business advisory council has complete official sanction from the top.

No official statement has yet been made by any competent official authority as to exactly what will be done to encourage minimum wages and maximum hours on a national scale. The situation, however, has not changed. The union labor movement is being encouraged while the government awaits the supreme court decision on the Wagner labor board and the holding companies act to see what it may do otherwise.

NOTES

Treasury General Counsel Oliphant is not yet packing his bag. Whatever personal differences of policy have arisen lately within the treasury are not likely to prove fatal immediately. Both Mr. Oliphant and his boss, Mr. Morgenthau, would like to have everyone know they are good and loyal friends.

The most amazing news of the year so far is that Vice-President Garner is actually going to make a speech, and make it before the National Press club. It is generally expected he will use a ventriloquist's dummy in order not to spoil his record.

Arrangements for a light delivery and broadcast of President Roosevelt's messages to congress were called off because he decided to save his thunder for the inaugural speech two weeks later.

There will be no great rush for export licenses after what happened to Mr. Cuse. One other exporter came down here to sound out the state department on his proposal to send machine guns and rifles to Spain. He was wisely advised to hang back and wait until he saw what unfavorable publicity the administration could stir up against anyone who tried it.

The Misses Irene Howard, Clea Lindsay and Thelma Bott, teachers at Weiser and Moscow, spent their vacations at their homes here.

Miss Irene Reiman, nurse stationed at Moscow, spent the holiday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reiman.

H. P. Ross and son, Patton, have gone to Chicago to visit relatives. They will be gone two weeks.

Richard Kincaid, employed by Caxton Printers, Caldwell, spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kincaid.

Mrs. Gabe Winkle entertained members of the Ladies Aid society at her suburban home Wednesday afternoon. A social hour followed the business session.

S. S. Brooks expects to leave for California Jan. 6 to visit his son who is stationed with the marines at San Diego. Mr. Brooks will be gone a month.

Mrs. J. E. Wilson entertained the Good Will club at her home on Wednesday afternoon when a Christmas exchange and other holiday features were enjoyed. Carols were sung and Mrs. Goelert gave a Christmas reading. The next meeting will be held at the Oliver home with a pot-luck dinner.

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As gleaned from files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO—

JAN. 4, 1922
Idaho smashed all previous agricultural production records in 1921. That is the outstanding fact in a review of the accomplishments of this state during the year that has just closed.

In no other year in the history of Idaho were such large crops raised. Unfavorable market conditions prevented this state from netting extraordinarily large returns from these crops. Had the markets been favorable Idaho would have poured into its coffers more money for agricultural production than ever before.

Another outstanding feature of the year's review is the remarkable stride made along horticultural lines. Idaho with 5,200 car loads of apples, stands third among the states in the union in the number of cars of this variety of fruit shipped to market.

27 YEARS AGO—

Jan. 4, 1910
Don Lyman, who has been a stockholder and active participant in the Home Mercantile company, has sold his interest to Geo. H. Monahan, who recently arrived in this city from Goldfield, Nev. The company, which is incorporated, will continue business with Messrs. Monahan, Barnes and Durkee as the principal stockholders.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Mom, Baby has my tiddley winks and she's throwing them away. Hurry, Mom, she's eating one."

"I'm busy. You get them away from her."

Junior chases Baby to a corner and tries to pry open her mouth. A shriek brings mother running.

"Now what have you done, you bad boy! You've hurt little sister and made her cry. Shame on you."

"I only tried to get one out of her mouth and she bit me. She got the box and threw a whole handful in the fish bowl. She climbed on a chair."

"Well, she's just a baby. And you shouldn't let things like this around the way you do. Hush, darling. Junior's just a naughty boy!"

Buffing Junior's Disposition
The counters are rescued one by one, dried off, and restored to safety. Baby is herself again and Junior gets his truck. He piles up a load of bricks, blocks to you, and hauls it to Mr. Smith's house by the mantelpiece. Mr. Smith tells him to dump the load beside the concrete mixer and asks how much it is. Junior says "ten cents," and with much pulling and backing gets the truck in place. Junior has invented Mr. Smith, so he has to talk for both.

Baby approaches while Junior is putting the invisible dime in his pocket. She takes both hands and upssets the truck sideways.

"Mom, or Mom," calls Junior frantically, "Baby won't let me play. She dumped my bricks the wrong place. Put her in her pen, won't you?"

But mother, used to these. O. S. calls, does not come. Much mutterings and many "get out of here" came from the parlor. Then another scream from Baby.

"Now what have you done? I declare if you go on teasing your little sister that way, I'll go crazy. What? Is that all she did? Just upset your wagon. Well, you're a bigger baby than she is if you can't stand that. No, I won't put her in her pen. She needs exercise. You just have to learn to be generous, Junior, and help me take care of your sister."

"She won't play with her own toys. She's always after mine. I'll go up and play in my room. Can I Mom?"

"Every thing I touch she grabs. If she was my kid, I'd smack her heart out."

"Why, you heartless little rascal! You got all those lovely things and that's your thanks. I've a notion to take them away from you."

"I don't care. They're a — just a great big nuisance. I'm going out."

"No you aren't. You're staying here and taking care of Baby. And get that look off your face. I'm afraid you're going to have a very nasty disposition. The day goes on, as nearly every day does, with these tempests."

rites held for KETCHUM WOMAN

KETCHUM, Jan. 4 (Special)—Services were held this morning at the Halley Catholic church for Mrs. Teresa Parks, 80, resident of Ketchum for the past 45 years. Burial was directed by the Harry's funeral parlors.

Mrs. Parks, who was born in Italy, died Saturday at her home following a long illness. She was married twice and both husbands preceded her in death. She leaves five sons, John, Will, Joseph, Ernest and Frank Parks, all of Ketchum.

Gooding Relief Rolls Cut To 100 Names

GOODING, Jan. 4 (Special)—About 100 persons, or about one-fourth the number last winter, are on relief rolls in Gooding county this winter, states Mrs. Thelma Thompson, county relief supervisor. Considerable more employment this fall and winter, and additional restrictions in accepting applicants accounts for the smaller number.

One of the recent restrictions was to eliminate single persons from the rolls. A survey is now in progress to cut off more single persons and to check on those eligible to remain on relief is now being made, Mrs. Thompson states.

Two Local Theaters Taking Part In Adolph Zukor Silver Jubilee Event

Twenty-five years ago a pioneer producer of motion pictures named Adolph Zukor, turned his talent to the making of motion pictures, and with this a great industry was born. In the vision and courage of Adolph Zukor, the possibilities of the screen were realized, enlarged and refined until today Paramount Pictures and its far-flung international enterprises represent the growth of a quarter-century.

The 25th anniversary of Zukor's presence in the cinema world is now being celebrated as the "Adolph Zukor Silver Jubilee" in theaters throughout the world. In Twin Falls, the Orpheum and Idaho theaters are taking part in this celebration.

Paramount has designated the Gladys Swarthout-Fred MacMurray production "Champagne Waltz" as Silver Jubilee picture, according to Manager Earl Baughman of the Orpheum. The film will have a world premiere showing in Washington, D. C., and various capitals throughout the world on Jan. 22. Mr. Zukor will go to Washington for the premiere, and press the button which will set off premieres in other world capitals.

Hollywood will celebrate the jubilee on next Thursday. Mr. Zukor's 64th birthday, with a dinner and celebration by the Paramount Studio club, stars of today and associates of Mr. Zukor's early days will join in doing him honor.

Probably no individual has played a greater role in the growth of motion pictures than Adolph Zukor. He has, in a few words, guided the star parade from Sarah Bernhardt to Claudette Colbert. The "Divine Sarah" was Zukor's first star and since then he has inspired the rise of more film satellites than any man who ever lived. One by one, the men who pioneered the industry at the turn of the century has dropped by the wayside through death or retirement. Zukor alone still heads the organization he founded. He has followed no secret path to attain this unique record. He has kept young and he looks forward to many more years at the Paramount helm. He has never used an iron hand, and he counts diplomacy as one of his most useful aids.

Old Film Revived
Sarah Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth" will be revived from film vaults and screened again as a highlight of the Paramount Jubilee. It represents Zukor's first great contribution to the industry—the picture that bridged the gap between jerky two-reelers and full-length features.

When Zukor founded the Famous Players Film company in 1912, the cinema was held in extreme disrepute, particularly by the leading thespians of the nation on Broadway. He had ambitious plans for his company and even anticipated its achievement by adopting the slogan, "Famous Players in Famous Plays."

His first move in breaking down this prejudice was to import the Bernhardt picture, "Queen Elizabeth," from France at the then record price of $35,000. It was first exhibited at the Lyceum theater in New York on July 12, 1912 and it became the most important factor in influencing producers to abandon two-reelers in favor of the full length narrative films.

The names of Zukor's film "captains" proved magnets to other stage stars. Indeed, the signing of Mary Pickford was a feat comparable to the signing of Katherine Cornell for a movie today—something that Hollywood so far has failed to accomplish.

John Barrymore signed with Famous Players, and about that time Mary Pickford also came into the fold. Miss Pickford, a girl with golden curls, had become the "biograph girl" under the guidance of David Wark Griffith. Zukor signed her for the huge sum of $20,000 a year, and neither dreamed that in 1916, a few years later, he would be paying her a guarantee of $10,000 a week.

On Jan. 7, Zukor's 64th birthday, "Queen Elizabeth" will be shown. One of Paramount's most valued possessions is a perfectly preserved negative of this picture and now a print will be made from it for the occasion. Then, immediately after, "Champagne Waltz" will be shown at the Hollywood party.

FINER CIGARS THROUGH SOIL TESTS LIKELY

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The poor taste and aroma of some cigars can be corrected by proper soil treatment, according to the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment station.

"Experienced cigar smokers," said Dr. P. J. Anderson of the tobacco station, "frequently correlate the taste with the appearance of the ash on the cigar. A dark muddy ash in most cases is associated with poor taste and aroma; while good cigars produce lighter colored ashes."

The dark ash was found attributable to excess potash in proportion to other gases, causing incomplete combustion of the carbon, and the gaseous products thus obtained are not so pleasant to the smoker as those resulting from full combustion.

CHAMBER LISTS SELLING RACKETS

Mimeographed Directory Will Outline 'Dodges' Used By Many Salesmen

Petty rackets prevalent here among solicitors will be set down in black and white this week by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. Secretary F. G. Thompson said this afternoon.

A summarized list of the rackets will be compiled in a mimeographed directory to be distributed among business houses, Thompson said. The list will contain three or four pages pointing out the "dodges" and artifices practiced by varied salesmen for outside organizations.

Starts Work Today
Thompson started work today on the racket directory.

He urged Twin Falls residents to request all salesmen to show the blue cards issued by the Chamber of Commerce to business representatives who have shown their goods and company are legitimate. The cards are virtual endorsement of the product and mean that purchase can be made with safety.

MANERO, MANGRUM CLASH FOR MIAMI OPEN CROWN

ITALIAN STAGES BRILLIANT RALLY

Demonstrates Great Skill And Courage To Qualify For Playoff

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 4 (UP)—Tony Manero, steel-nerved little Italian who staged a finish reminiscent of the national open triumph of the Ray Mangrum for the Miami open title, today was favored to win their 18-hole playoff.

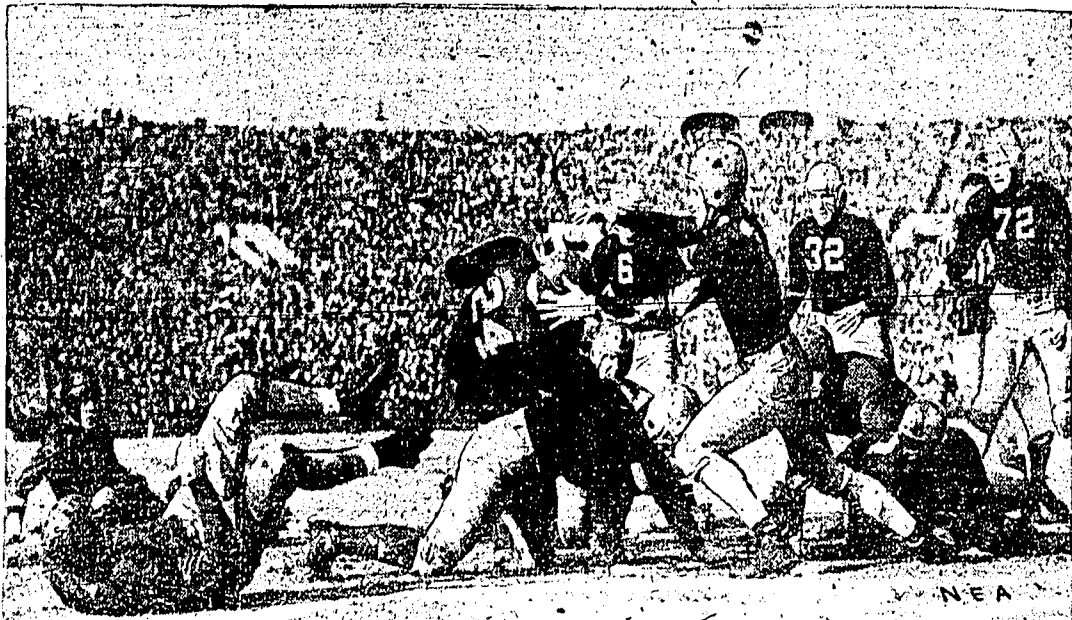

Manero, who was assigned to the also-runs when he followed his opening 65 with a second day 74, gave a great exhibition of skill and courage yesterday by storming back over the last 18 holes of the Miami open to wipe out a three-stroke deficit and tie Mangrum with 277.

Three Under Par
Manero and Mangrum were three under par for the 72 holes. Mangrum was consistent, taking 69-67-70-71—277. Manero started with 65, one over the course record, lost his putting touch and took 74, but closed with 70-68 on the last 36.

The winner of the 18-hole playoff today will receive the $500 first place purse. The loser gets $100.

Oliver, Wilmington, Del., had a 72-hole aggregate of 283, which gave him the $300 third-place purse. Frank Walsh, Chicago, had 284, for which he got $200.

As Panthers Drove to Victory in Rose Bowl Classic

This was the sort of steam-roller drive which carried Pittsburgh's Golden Panthers to a 21-0 victory over Washington's Huskies in the Rose Bowl football carnival at Pasadena on New Year's day. Frank Patrick, No. 24, is shown as he luried himself over all opponents to leave the 134 on Washington's 6-inch line. On the next play the Panther fullback went over for a touchdown, and in the third quarter he scored a second. A capacity crowd of 87,000 witnessed the classic, which the Huskies had been favored to win. It was Pittsburgh's first Rose Bowl triumph in four trips to California.

RANGERS REPORT SHORTAGE OF ELK

Animals Facing Extinction In San Isabel National Forest

PUEBLO, Colo. (UP)—Gradual extinction of elk in the San Isabel national forest was reported by forest rangers in their annual census of wild animals.

Deer, mountain sheep and bear held their own in 1936, rangers said, despite the fact that more deer were killed by hunters during the open season than for several years.

Elk Less Numerous
Elk, which formerly were fairly numerous in the Wet mountain range, have been decimated until they now are a rare sight. Lack of suitable winter range for these animals was considered one of the factors in the decrease. There has been a closed season on them for years.

A count of deer showed 2,300 and mountain sheep were estimated at 110. Checks on deer killed during the past hunting season showed that 130 deer were bagged by 325 hunters whereas last year 100 deer were killed. No bear were reported killed during the open season. Rangers estimated there were 110 bear in the forest, or about the same as last year.

Small Groups of Sheep
Mountain sheep were scattered in small groups along the Sangre de Cristo range from Mt. Blanca to Hayden pass, rangers said. There is no open season on this hardy mountain animal which has been barely able to hold its own for a number of years, due to severe climatic conditions in the high mountains.

Estimates of forbearing animals in the forest were: beaver 1,000, marten 350, badger 300, ermine 1,400, skunk 900, muskrat 750.

Rangers estimated there were 650 coyotes, 600 wildcats, 30 mountain lions and 1,000 porcupines on the San Isabel. During the past year 110 coyotes, 36 wildcats, 14 mountain lions and 185 porcupines were reported killed on or near the national forest.

Top Scorer

Registering 26 points in six games, Art Buck, above, quarterback of Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., led the nation's football point scorers during the past season. Buck, hailing from Elmhurst, Ill., is the big reason why the Pioneers were unbeaten and untied in the first half dozen contests of the season.

Largest Crowd In History Of Pro Tennis Will See Briton's Debut

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (UP)—Eliot Vines was established an 8 to 5 favorite today to defeat Fred Perry in the latter's debut as a professional tennis player at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

The Garden is virtually sold out of seats which were scaled from $1.10 to $9.00 and one of the promoters, Francis T. Hunter, said the "standing room only" sign would be out the night of the match. More than 17,000 are expected to pay more than $40,000 to see the duel, surpassing by far the record tennis pro gate of $30,800 set by Vines and Big Bill Tilden two years ago.

Competitive Spirit
Those are very fine examples of the spirit that is known as competitive. Some of you may think they constitute the finest samples of the flame that won't be quenched. But I don't know, and even though it may constitute treason on the part of a sportswriter to say so, my vote for the group of men who have the fiercest competitive spirits would not be cast for the athletes.

Two days ago it would have been, but not now. For I have been in Daytona Beach the past two days and have observed some gentlemen whose spirits could spot those of athletes a ten pound pull in the weights and romp home in a breeze. The gentlemen I refer to are politicians, the politicians who even as I write this, are engaged in a battle for the control of this city's town hall and government.

Use Light Artillery
There are two groups and they really have been going at it. On Friday their zeal to win made them drag out Roscoes, gats, Tommys, typewriters and other highways.
Mystery
I for one, though, can't figure out what this could be. After all, the privilege of driving through red lights, parking by fire plugs, and making the main address on Arbor day and the Fourth of July aren't very substantial rewards. Neither is the right to go home to dinner behind a police escort which frightens the wits out of citizens on the uninitiated.
Maybe I'd better stop this before some of you really believe I don't know why politicians politic with trigger fingers and eyes had been sharpened by years of knocking of the equal on the fly. They even had the fire ladders out to wave their big

HOCKEY TEAMS IN FIRST-PLACE TIE

Red Wings, Rangers Deadlock For Lead; Bruins One Point Behind

By United Press
The American division National Hockey league race tightened today with the Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers deadlocked for first place and the Boston Bruins only a point behind. The Canadiens led the international group by six points.

The Wings tied for the leadership by overpowering the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4 to 2, in a game featured by the return to the ice in the last period of Gordon Pettinger with eight stitches in his scalp after being carried unconscious from the rink in the first as the result of a head-on collision.

Eddie Shore suffered a leg injury in the second period, then limped back on the ice in the third to score Boston's tying and winning goals in the 3 to 2 triumph over the Rangers.
Les Canadiens scored a 4 to 2 victory over the injury ridden Americans after a hard battle. Tallies by Miller and Brown broke a 2-2 deadlock and clinched victory for the Canadians. The Montreal Maroons defeated the Chicago Blackhawks, 3 to 1.

GOODING TAMES HAILEY HOOPERS

HAILEY, Jan. 4 (Special)—A brilliant floor offensive won for Coach Ab Berg's Gooding eagles a 31 to 10 victory from the Hailey five in a game here during the week-end period.
The top sided basketball tilt saw Coach Allan Jeffries' Hailey Wolverine Cubs on the short end of the score throughout the game.
In the preliminary encounter Saturday night the Gooding reserves defeated the Hailey second string.

DOCTORS ISSUE PAPAL BULLETIN

Disease Spreads to Other Leg; Disturbance in Rhythm Of Heart

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 4 (AP)—The first official bulletin on Pope Pius' condition was issued today, announcing that both legs were affected with arterio-sclerosis.

There is reason, however, to hope for gradual recovery, although the pope's heart condition "advises certain prudence," the bulletin adds.

The bulletin summarized the pope's illness during the past month, and added that prudence was necessary because of the "nature of the illness and the age of the patient."

Heart Disturbance The fundamental cause of his illness has been a "process of diffused arterio-sclerosis with myocardia localization and subsequent disturbance of the heart rhythm," the bulletin continued.

In the past such bulletins have been issued only when a pope was desperately ill. But on this occasion, it was believed that Prof. Amintore Milano, the Vatican physician, had persuaded the pope and Cardinal Pacelli, his secretary of state, to issue bulletins in order to stop the circulation of false reports.

It was said that the pope spent a reasonably good night and that there was no appreciable change in his condition.

Usually well-informed sources quoted the pope as saying recently to members of the household: "We have seen the New Year, but we never shall see Easter."

MINISTRY BEGUN BY NEW PASTOR

Christian Church Pulpit Filled By Mark Cronenberger From Pocatello

Ministry of Rev. Mark C. Cronenberger at the Christian church here was begun yesterday at the morning service. He succeeds Rev. W. E. Harman, who had been here for the past year.

Mr. Cronenberger came to Twin Falls from Pocatello after serving for three years at Meridian. Before that he entered the ministry after being engaged in a business career.

Activities Prominent During his work with the church he has been recognized by the international convention and the national societies of the Christian church. When called to Pocatello he was especially selected by the home missionary department of the United Christian Missionary society.

While there he served as president of the Ministerial association, was pastor of the KSEF radio church of the air; a Parent-Teacher speaker and worker and was one of two leaders in the M. C. A. membership drive.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the office of the county clerk, auditor and recorder today by the Cosgriff Outdoor Advertising Co., Inc.

Incorporators were listed as C. P. Cosgriff, president; B. M. Cosgriff vice president and director; Robert B. Breene, secretary and director; and M. P. Cosgriff, treasurer and director. Capital stock was set at $50,000 and the firm's range of operations includes Idaho, Utah and Nevada.

CORN STRENGTH

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 (AP)—Corn took the lead in today's trading in grains on the Chicago board of trade with an advance of one to two cents a bushel that carried prices to the highest levels in 10 years. Unwillingness of producers to sell corn stored in cribs in spite of the upward trend in prices recently continued the underlying influence.

Firmness in cash corn prices and a broader shipping demand along with light receipts proved a persistent flow of corn-buying. Prices were bid up to $1.10 for May before selling became heavy enough to put a check on the advance. Selling was not particularly heavy in spite of generally clear weather, which would tend to dry up farm-to-market roads and permit a heavier movement to terminal points.

At the close wheat was 3/4 to 1/2 cent higher, May $1.35 1/2, new corn was 1/2 to 3/4 cent higher, May $1.07 1/2, and oats were 1/2 to 1/4 cent higher, May 52 1/2 cents.

TESTS PLANNED IN JOB SERVICE

Examinations Will Be Basis Of Eligible Lists for Employment Unit

Merit examinations to establish new eligible lists for the positions of field supervisor, manager, senior and junior interviewer in the state employment service and national reemployment service in Idaho will be held simultaneously in Twin Falls, Four d'Alene, Moscow, Pocatello, Salmon and Boise on Feb. 5 and 6, it is announced.

Closing date for applications is Jan. 23 and those who meet the specifications set forth in the detailed announcements will receive an admission card to the written tests. All are eligible to compete providing they are citizens of the United States and have resided in Idaho for at least one year immediately preceding Jan. 23, it is indicated.

Forms Available

Application forms, detailed announcements and information concerning the nature of the examinations may be obtained from Prof. William C. Moore of the University of Idaho, it is stated. Mrs. Moore has been designated as special representative of the United States employment service to cooperate in the program.

A general condition for minimum requirements for the written tests is that competitors must have had a background of full-time paid employment in work definitely providing familiarity with employment problems and practices such as are found in industrial, commercial, professional and labor fields, it is declared.

Detailed announcements for requirements to the written tests are obtainable for the Special Representative's Office at 105 West Third Street, Moscow, Idaho.

Eligibility List

An eligibility list will be established through the examinations. Positions on both the central administrative staff and in the local offices are to be filled.

Included in the various positions and the salary range are:

Field supervisor—$1,800-$2,400; manager—$1,620-$1,800; senior interviewer—$1,200-$1,440; and junior interviewer—$1,080-$1,200.

Editorial Results in Arrest

P. The warrant was sworn to by H. E. Beales, president of the Patriotic league.

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Mygale, the Health Magazine

Development of the mind or intelligence in babies is associated closely with children's ability to control their muscular actions.

Babies must learn certain things that are necessary for comfortable living. They must learn to control certain physical factors associated with their bodies. They must learn to tell the difference between people and things, and between their own people and strangers.

In previous articles I listed the various ages at which babies' development will permit them to perform certain functions.

For instance, very young babies will stare at brilliant objects. Older babies will follow moving objects with their eyes.

Young babies will grasp anything put into the hand. At the end of the second month, babies may be able to handle objects taken into their hands.

At the end of the third month, they may begin to wave objects about and to scratch them on the floor or on the table. It is not until the fourth or fifth month, however, that hand and eye movements begin to be associated.

By the sixth month, the babies will be looking on the floor for objects which they drop, and will endeavor to pull toward them objects which they cannot reach.

At the end of the first year, attempts to imitate words and actions of other people are noticeable.

Speech differentiates human beings from other animals. The progress of speech, therefore, is one of the best tests of the mental advancement of children.

Another test is the ability to draw. Still further changes are apparent in the kind of stories which interest children and in their willingness to listen to stories and to assimilate the information that they receive.

Some children learn to read much earlier than do others. After they enter school, the teachers will keep records of their progress.

Some children, too, do not do as well in school as others, although they appear to be quite as intelligent. Here the difference depends on the adaptability of the children their habits of study, the amount of interest that they show, and their physical condition.

All these factors should be taken into account by parents in estimating the mental capacity of their children.

The moon at times wanders slightly from its path. Although it does not stray more than about 20 miles from its predicted position, it is this variation which causes slight errors in time schedules of eclipses.

CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN AT RUPERT

Contracts For Two Additions On Rupert Schools Approved

RUPERT, Jan. 4 (Special)—It is expected that construction of two new additions to Rupert school buildings will be under way before the end of this week. Contracts were let last week.

William H. Kloefer, local contractor, was awarded the general contract for erection of a six-room addition to the high school building and a four-room addition to the Lincoln grade school building. The contract was granted by the school board of Independent district No. 1. Kloefer's bid of $27,038 was $6,500 lower than that of the second lowest bidder.

With a bid of $20,888, the Northwestern Plumbing and Heating Co., Portland, was awarded the contract for the heating plant which is to take care of heating both the high school and the Lincoln buildings.

Contracts for wiring of the buildings have not been let as no answers to the district's advertising bids were submitted. According to Supt. H. M. Cater of the local school district, it will be necessary to re-advertise for the wiring job.

At this time there is not enough money on hand to take care of all the contracts. Through the bond issues voted here more than a year ago and the P. W. A. grant, $61,818 is available for the construction. Contracts are estimated to total $2,000 more than this figure. It is expected that an additional grant by the government will be made to cover the deficit.

Dogs Trained

BERLIN (UP)—Dogs of many breeds are being trained for use with the army in a school near Berlin. Whippets are trained to carry messages from behind the lines to tanks in "No Man's Land." They are able to find any particular tank and safely deliver a message, it is said.

Case Baffles Medical Science

Mrs. Carl Wakefield, 37, Toledo, Wash., gave premature birth on Nov. 23 to the first of a pair of twins. The infant died within a few hours. The second twin is not expected until next March. Northwest medical men say the case is unprecedented in medical history.

FIRE THREATENS POOR FARM AGED

Reconstruction on the wall of one of the rooms at the county farm was expected to get underway today, following a fire Saturday afternoon which started, investigation revealed, from a lighted match or pipe left in the room by one of the aged inmates.

The fire started during the 3 p. m. dinner hour and an estimated damage of $50 was caused to the woodwork and contents of the room, according to W. G. Shipman, superintendent.

Smoke attracted the attention of the superintendent and a bucket brigade quickly extinguished the flames.

Rupert Pastor To Have Yakima Post

RUPERT, Jan. 4 (Special)—Having tendered his resignation the past week, Rev. H. Yadon, for four and one-half years pastor of the Pentecostal church here, will take up the pastorate of the Immanuel Assembly at Yakima, Wash., about Jan. 20.

With his wife and family, Rev. Yadon came to Rupert from Twin Falls in 1932. They plan to leave Rupert shortly for the Washington city.

With no successor named to fill the local pulpit at this time, it is expected that a substitute will be named to occupy the position for several weeks.

ISLAND ROMANCES DULLED HONOLULU (UP)—A story in an Austrian newspaper resulted in a flood of marriage proposals to the 31 men working on Midway island. The dispatch neglected to mention that most of the men already had wives in Hawaii.

SKELTON BARES INDIAN SUFFERING

Ancient Redskins Victims Of Toothache, Arthritis, Say Archeologists

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—The inhabitants of the Salt River valley during the 13th and 14th centuries suffered arthritis and toothaches, just as modern people do, archeologists concluded today after examining the weathered skeleton of a man found in a wall of the Pueblo Grande ruins here.

The skeleton, measuring five feet in height, was the 12th found in the ruins during the past two years.

J. D. Hayden, research worker, pointed to the enlarged, knecap and decayed and abscessed teeth. "This fellow was probably too weak or too ill to migrate with other members of the tribe when they left the Salt River valley because the soil became waterlogged," Hayden explained. "You see his teeth were in pretty bad shape, he probably had an awful toothache. And this enlarged kneecap indicates a bad case of arthritis. A small group of the aged and ill folk remained behind in Pueblo Grande," Hayden said. "When one of them died, the others were too weak to gather wood for cremation, as was the tribal custom. They merely dragged them outside to what we would call a porch dug a hole, and buried them."

WEED CONTROL TAUGHT BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—The University of California has opened a course in weed control. The reason is that it is estimated losses by weeds amount to $80,000,000 annually in California and about $3,000,000,000 throughout the United States.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Della Utt; two sons, Archie Utt, Corvallis, Ore., and Everett Utt, Eden; three grandchildren and a brother, David, Newcastle, Ind.

Services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the White mortuary chapel and interment will be in Twin Falls cemetery.

Speech differentiates human beings from other animals. The progress of speech, therefore, is one of the best tests of the mental advancement of children.

Another test is the ability to draw. Still further changes are apparent in the kind of stories which interest children and in their willingness to listen to stories and to assimilate the information that they receive.
