PEACE DELAYED AS AUTO HEADS, STRIKERS DEBATE

Martin Says 'Negotiations Are Off' As Conference With GMC Fails

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (UP)—Attempts of General Motors and the United Automobile Workers to open negotiations on wages, hours and working conditions failed today.

Present conferences are all off, said Homer Martin, strike leader, as he left a meeting attended by William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, and other corporation officials.

Martin and his companions were in session with the General Motors executives for about 45 minutes. The breakdown of negotiations came with the conference room was not disarranged and there was only one cigarette in the ash trays.

The union, in turn, said General Motors was guilty of "bad faith" because it tried to reopen the Cadillac plant here after strikers moved out; it refused to permit picketing at the guide lamp plant, Anderson, Md.; it agreed to bargain collectively with non-union employees who were not party to the Lansing truce.

MATTSON SLAYER BELIEVED SUICIDE

Police Think Killer, Fearing Consequences, May Have Shot Self

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 18 (UP)—Sheriff's deputies and police in the Puget Sound area who have worked on many phases of the kidnapping slaying of 10-year-old Charles Mattson today told the United Press they believed the degenerate who perpetrated the Finnish crime had committed suicide.

After the possibility was announced by an officer here, a United Press survey revealed that many other officers in Pierce county and in Seattle, county seat of King county, had arrived at the same conviction.

"It is my opinion that the Mattson kidnaper, who obviously was afraid to permit the boy to be released unharmed, was afraid of the consequences if he was captured," an officer here said.

"I don't think it is at all unlikely that the man would have lured himself in Puget Sound or have gone to some isolated spot in the woods and shot himself rather than face the threat of 'lynchers,' another said.

Aroused residents both here and in Everett, a few miles from where the frozen and naked body of the boy was discovered in the snow openly have threatened violence if the slayer were captured in either of the areas.

E. Spencer, Head of Electrical Company, Dies; Loomis Succumbs Sunday

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (UP)—Earl E. Spencer, Chicago businessman, died at 8:35 a. m. today, the fourth victim of the Western Air express crash of last week.

The businessman, president of the Stromberg Electrical company, had been missing for the past day. He suffered a skull fracture when the huge transport plane crashed on a snow-capped peak last Saturday.

Arthur L. Loomis of Omaha, Neb., died yesterday after being under an oxygen tent since Friday. Pneumonia resulting from exposure while awaiting rescue was blamed for his death.

Back to The Wars

Back to the grind of Spanish war troubles and other international crises, State Secretary Cordell Hull has returned to his desk at the capital. Accompanied by Mrs. Hull, he is pictured, here and rested, on arrival in New York from the Buenos Aires peace conference, started in December by President Roosevelt.

Main Highways Open; Side Routes Blocked

Efforts of men and machines had succeeded in opening practically all of the main highways in this section today, but many side roads in the vicinity were blocked to auto traffic following the worst blizzard recorded this winter.

The road to the Craters of the Moon was again blocked and will be left closed until next spring, state highway department officials at Shoshone reported today. The Fairfield road was closed today, but heavy duty plows were expected to have it open before evening.

Highway 30 was open to traffic as was highway 93 to Hailey. These roads were opened late last night after high winds had whipped the snow across them and blocked, or partially blocked them in many places.

Twin Falls highway district plows were working near Hansen today after that vicinity had carried the brunt of the storm. District plows were also reported working south of Twin Falls.

Ate Murtugha the roads were reported "all but impassable" Sunday night. A high wind, blowing from the west all day Sunday, added to the difficulties in keeping the highways open in that section.

The county road to Allendale school is open to Rhyol corner but blocked thereafter by drifts ranging from four to five feet. Traffic is turning west at Rayt corner.

Schools Close Kimberly schools, closed today because of badly blocked roads will re-open tomorrow, it was announced this afternoon by Supt. (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

WEST-END FIRE WRECKS SCHOOL

Northview Building Destroyed Completely By Flames Early Sunday

HUHL, Jan. 18 (Special)—A fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the Northview school building at Northview community about 4 a. m. Sunday.

The fire was first discovered by Mrs. Gertrude Ring, one of the instructors in the school, and by Maurice Curington, farmer. Mrs. Ring, sleeping in the nearby teacherage building, was awakened by the crackling flames and falling timbers. Curington saw the glare from his farm home.

A strong west wind and the assistance of the Huhl fire department kept the flames from spreading to the other building. Offer of two-room facilities in the Huhl school system was extended to the Northview board today by W. R. Hatfield of the Huhl board of trustees. No action had been taken this afternoon, and classes were suspended today for the students of the Northview district.

The Northview building, termed one of the best-equipped rural schools in south-central Idaho, was originally built in 1913 and since that time has been improved by addition of the teacherage and completion of the basement and recreational rooms. The basement was used as a community hall and meeting place for the Northview Grange.

Partially Insured Loss was partially covered by insurance on the building and some of the contents. The Grange carried its own insurance. No definite plans had been made today for rebuilding the school.

Marooned Party Reaches Safety

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 18 (UP)—Three women, a man, two cats, and a dog revelled in warmth, food, and security today. They had been snowbound for 22 days. Their companion had been frozen to death in a heroic effort to save them. The man had fought a raging blizzard and great snow drifts for 22 consecutive hours while the others remained imprisoned in a snow-covered automobile for seven and a half days.

Mrs. Lee Prettyman, wife of a mine operator at Yucca Pass, Fred Miller, 45, James Ross Poe, Mrs. Prettyman's brother, his wife, and Doris Dunn, Mrs. Prettyman's Negro cook, were going into town for the winter. On Dec. 27 they passed Groom Dry lake, deep in the Nevada desert. It started to snow. Soon a blizzard was raging. The car stalled in a drift. The men got it started, but soon it was stalled again. This time it was out of gasoline.

Snow Banks Car The screaming wind banked snow against the car and swirled it down in dense clouds. The temperature outside the machine was below zero. Inside the car the people and animals huddled together, absorbing what warmth they could from one another. The night of Dec. 27, the 28th, and the 29th were passed in this fashion. They talked fitfully, prayed, and the storm would abate, despairing of living. On the 30th, Smith volunteered to go for aid to the cabin of Bob Smith and his wife, 17 miles away.

It was agreed that if he did not return within two days, Poe was to follow. New Blizzard Starts Soon after Miller left, a new blizzard began, even worse than the first, laying down many more tons of snow. Nothing was said, but every person in the car knew that Miller was dead. But they counted the hours, even the moments. At last the two days had expired and it was Poe's turn. The temperature now was 10 below zero. He took a can of beef, tried to cheer the women, and set out. Hour after hour he flung himself against the car and swirled it down in dense clouds. The

CHINESE TRAIN FIRE KILLS 72

HONGKONG, Jan. 18 (UP)—Seventy-two persons were burned to death when flames, claimed to have been started by an arsonist, swept through three coaches of a speeding Canton-Hongkong train, it was officially announced by railway officials today.

The fire was blamed on an unidentified Chinese who boarded the train at Shekling station carrying two cases of celluloid bangles which he placed in separate cars. They were believed to have been set on fire by a timing apparatus. No motive for the act was indicated.

Lack of a communication cord made it impossible to warn the engineer and the train sped on with flames, whipped by the draft, roaring through the three coaches. Three of the persons burned to death were found hanging from windows.

LEGISLATORS ASK NEW SCHOOL TAX

Proposed Bill Would Equalize Levies In All Counties Of State

BOISE, Jan. 18 (UP)—A $1,500,000 annual appropriation to further equalize county school tax levies was provided for in a bill introduced in the Idaho house of representatives today.

The appropriation would approximately double school income and extend operation of a 1935 law designed to make general school levies equal in all counties, regardless of wealth or population.

Introduced by Handy, Minidoka, and Andrus, Bonneville, the bill provided that "it in no way operates to impair or abridge any source of revenue otherwise available for equalization purposes." State school funds now come from income to the irreducible school fund and receipts from certain excise taxes such as chain store, blowout levies, and liquor revenue.

Amendment Proposed Submission to the people of a proposed constitutional amendment to give Indians who are untaxed and have not severed their tribal relations civil rights was the subject of a house joint resolution.

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace, was petitioned to relieve the state of maintenance on forest highways on the grounds that no tax revenue is derived from adjacent land in terms of a joint memorial introduced in the senate.

Other senate bills provided authority for public bodies to anticipate building requirements by a levy not to exceed two mils for year, for an additional tax for county hospital purposes; for separation of bids on different parts of public works construction.

Street Car Strikers Ask Pay Increase

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 18—Every street car and bus in Terre Haute was idle today, the result of a strike for higher wages. Even interurban cars were halted at city limits.

More than 150 policemen and drivers of the Indiana Highway system called the strike to demand 20 per cent wage increase. They planted curbs and bus barns without disturbance.

Company officials said the strike was called by a small group of employees, that the majority had agreed to a 12 1/2 per cent increase offered by the company.

ADVANCE GUARD IN WASHINGTON FOR INAUGURAL

50,000 People Expected To See Roosevelt Sworn In As President

GRANDSTAND IS ERECTED First Chief Executive Since Washington To Take Post Before March 4

By LYLE C. WILSON WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (UP)—Advance guard of a multitude descended today on the capitol for the second inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 32nd President of the United States and ninth man to be twice elected chief executive.

Mr. Roosevelt will take his second oath of office at noon, Jan. 20, the first regularly elected President since Washington to take office on any day other than March 4. Vice President John Nance Garner, also will establish precedent by shifting his own oath-taking ceremony from the senate chamber to the outdoor inaugural stand on the east front of the capitol building.

Advances Date The inaugural date was advanced from March 4 to Jan. 20 by the 20th amendment to the constitution, popularly known as the lame duck amendment because it abolished hold-over sessions of congress to enable legislators to meet regularly within two months instead of 13 months after their election. The amendment became effective in 1933, first year of the Roosevelt administration.

Inaugural principals will be the same this week as on the gusty March 4, 1933, when Mr. Roosevelt took office with business stagnant, banks closing throughout the land and panic beginning to stir the nation.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, head of the judicial branch from which Mr. Roosevelt seeks a more liberal constitutional interpretation, will administer the presidential oath. The chief justice and the President will stand face-to-face, right hands upraised, the solemn moments during which Mr. Roosevelt will swear to protect and defend the constitution—a duty upon the discharge of which he and the jurist do not precisely agree.

Four years ago the President said in his inaugural address that the constitution was a flexible instrument, susceptible to interpretations which would permit the nation to arm itself against emergency. In many a decision since that day, the chief justice has joined (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

TAINED POWDER SPREADS DEATH

Two Die, 20 Seriously Ill In British Columbia From Effects

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 18 (UP)—Tainted baking powder today spread a poison scourge throughout southwestern British Columbia with two persons dead and more than 20 seriously ill.

Police and health authorities frantically tried to recover hundreds of tins of a consignment of baking powder believed to contain particles of some rare poison which chemists and analysts thus far have been unable to isolate.

Annie Bigwood, 57, died Saturday after showing symptoms similar to those which resulted in the death four days ago of Mrs. Elwood Dunbar, who ate biscuits suspected of containing the baking powder.

It was believed the powder contained sodium fluoride, a deadly insecticide. Hundreds of cans have been removed from stores and homes by officers working over a large territory.

Oddities

RIDES HIWATHIA, Kan., Jan. 18 (UP)—Men and boys are using the family ironing boards for "surf" boards here. They hook on behind automobiles for rides over the snow and sleet.

INTEREST EL DORADO, Kan., Jan. 18 (UP)—The price of a dime hamburger came back with interest today for Mrs. Mary McCleary, restaurant owner. A man who said he had "become a Christian" sent her 25 cents in stamps for the hamburger he didn't pay for 10 years ago.

Flood Dangers In Midwest Increase As Rain Continues

Thousands of Refugees Take Shelter In Make-Shift Shacks

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (UP)—Rain clouds today swept new terrors through the make-shift shelters where thousands of refugees huddled out of reach of raging river torrents in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri.

While national guardsmen mobilized to patrol weakening levees in southeastern Missouri and Red Cross officials administered to stricken farmers in southern Indiana and Illinois, government observers warned that more rain today may add to the threats of the most dangerous winter floods since 1927.

Five persons were dead, three in Ohio and two in Indiana. Barns and equipment have been swept off hundreds of farms, and highways and residences have been damaged. Business losses of river bank factories and mines mounted hourly as rising waters forced abandonment of operations.

SPANISH TROOPS CONTINUE BATTLE

Bombardment Rages As Both Sides Attempt Madrid Control

MADRID, Jan. 18 (UP)—Reserve troops were rushed into action along the Madrid front today as both sides sought to strike a decisive blow in the fourth day of battle for the capital.

Gen. Francisco's insurgent troops, backed by his heaviest artillery, fought all night in an attempt to break through the circle of government trenches.

The big guns still roared shortly before noon today with the front still unchanged. Desperate fighting went on in the hospital clinics sector.

ARMIES JOIN

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 18 (UP)—The vanguard of the southern Spanish insurgent army was reported today to have reached Fuenegrolas, 37 miles from Malaga, where they were reportedly joined by 122 carabineros, 27 civil guards and two companies of infantry.

TROOPS EMBARK

RABAT, French Morocco, Jan. 18 (UP)—Unceasing reports from Ceuta, insurgent stronghold in Spanish Morocco, said today two battalions of Moorish troops (ordinarily about 1,800 men) had embarked on four steamers for Algiers.

The same sources reported Miguel Hoff, commander of the international brigade had been killed in action at Marbella. He was said to be a Russian.

DETWEILERS WIN BAHAMAS CRUISE

Local Men Earn West Indies Trip for Iron Fireman Sales Records

Cruise to the Bahamas Islands and Cuba with the star salesman of the Iron Fireman organization was awarded today to George Detweiler and Claude Detweiler, Twin Falls.

The cruise, with expenses paid, including transportation from here to New York City, was earned by the Twin Falls men for gaining membership in the Super Iron Fireman sales records achieved in 1937. Sale of an individual minimum of 80 Iron Fireman stickers during the year was the central factor determining the awards.

Sailing on the M. V. Saturnia of the Italian line Feb. 11, the pair will be gone for about three weeks. They will leave Twin Falls the first week in February.

Court Legislation To Be Considered, Says Indiana Solon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (UP)—Sen. Sherman Minton, D., Ind., today said President Roosevelt told him he would call a conference soon to consider legislation affecting the supreme court.

"The matter that I took up involved potential legislation as to the court," Minton said. He added that he was not at liberty now to discuss exact nature of the legislation.

"The President said that he would call a conference," Minton said.

The Indiana senator suggested that there should be at least two-thirds concurrence in supreme court opinion. He carefully pointed out, however, that this suggestion was not discussed with the President.

and his colleagues in denying Mr. Roosevelt's theory.

Vice President Garner will be sworn first by Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson. The vice president will not speak, but immediately after the chief justice has sworn in the President, Mr. Roosevelt will deliver his second inaugural address to a throng likely to swell to 50,000 and over on the capitol plaza if Roosevelt luck holds good and the weather is fine.

Assembled for the ceremonies will be the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, the President's cabinet and members of the house and senate. Immediately after the address, Mr. Roosevelt and his party will return to the White House and shortly after 2 p. m. the chief executive will review the parade.

Covered Stands

Pennsylvania avenue has been partly lined with covered stands where seats may be had at prices ranging up to $10. The most expensive seats are in the court of honor opposite or aligned with the presidential reviewing stand, itself a $10,000 reproduction of "The Hermitage," Tennessee home of Andrew Jackson, the first Democratic President of the United States.

Political marching clubs, the top-hatted brigades of Tammany and other municipal organizations have been barred from the inaugural parade this year. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, was the biggest parade attraction four years ago in the front rank of Tammany marchers. This year the parade is limited to armed services of the United States, a small representation from the civilian conservation corps and the national youth administration, and an automobile division in which 36 governors and their guests will ride.

draining walls in several districts from St. Francis, Ark., to Cardwell, Mo.

One section of the levee near Cardwell broke Saturday and sent the muddy waters rolling over 6,000 acres of fertile land. Another break was reported in the swirled district last night. The river swelled over its levees toward abandoned farmhouses Saturday night and around St. Francis and Kennett, Mo.

GUARDIANS SUMMONED

Four more companies of national guardsmen were summoned from Kennett, Haiti and Charleston, Mo., to help plug the gaps with sandbags and brush over the week-end in these districts, and refugees prepared to return to their homes.

Cold weather slowed rampant drainage of small streams in Indiana and Illinois Saturday, but the ice thawed Sunday just as the peak of the upper valley runoff reached the stricken area.

More than 100,000 acres of valuable Kentucky and Indiana farmlands were inundated near Evansville, Ind. Country schools were closed in southern Illinois and Indiana, when wrecked bridges and flooded highways made attendance impossible. Dozens of Indiana and Illinois mines were abandoned before rising waters.

Most of the refugees found shelter with neighbors on higher land. At Harrisburg, 100,000 of them set up temporary quarters in abandoned school houses.

SOLONS ASK FOR MORE RELIEF AID

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Demands for increased work relief funds were presented to the house appropriations committee today by representatives of the Workers Alliance and northwestern senators and congressmen.

The committee, striving for early action on a relief deficiency bill to cover a cash deficit between Feb. 1 and June 30 heard David Lasser, workers alliance head, assert that relief aid should be increased 20 per cent a week.

Northwestern congressmen warned that an influx of drought stricken farm families necessitated more funds for Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Proposes Fund

Lasser proposed a $1,040,000,000 relief fund for the remainder of the fiscal year, compared with President Roosevelt's request for $700,000,000.

He urged that the committee ensure retention of 2,200,000 WPA workers on relief rolls and guarantee that employables on local relief be placed on the WPA.

The latter he said now number 600,000 in addition to 100,000 unemployed not placed on local relief rolls. The total program he said should call for 2,800,000 on WPA.

The workers' alliance program is backed by the house "liberal" bloc of from 30 to 60 members.

Request Americans to Lift Ban on Exporting War Materials

VALENCIA, Jan. 18 (AP)—Two former U. S. army officers, serving in the loyalist air force, telegraphed an appeal today to the U. S. state department to lift the ban on war materials for the Spanish government.

Derek D. Dickerson of Virginia, former captain, and Eugene Flinck of New York City, former lieutenant, telegraphed that "as loyal American citizens" they urged the United States government to discontinue measures preventing aid to the "legitimate Spanish government elected by a majority of the Spanish people."

Dickerson, who said he served 14 years in the army air service, is now a Spanish air captain serving in an advisory capacity.

Party Snowbound in Nevada Mountains Brought Back; One Dead

Mrs. Helen Sauley, fought, the clouds of white particles the screaming wind poured into this face.

Eleven hours later Poe saw a splash of color standing out against the snow. He scooped away a little snow. It was Miller, frozen to death.

Eleven hours later he came to the Smith cabin, flung himself against the door, staggered into the living room and, to the amazement of Smith and his wife, ran around and around their table, holding the half-filled can of beer, crying: "Here, kitty, here kitty." He imagined himself back in his cabin about to feed his cats.

Tells Story

The Smiths restored him somewhat, and he told his story. Smith got his truck and he and Poe set out immediately. But Poe still was incoherent and because his directions were inaccurate, they wandered through the snowy wastes two days, until Jan. 4 when they saw a little of the automobile standing out of a snow drift. The women, the cats and the dog were ill from exposure. By then they had been in the car seven and one half days.

All were loaded on the truck and they reached the Smith cabin without further adventure where they were made as comfortable as possible.

Message Painted

The next day was clear. An airplane flew overhead and they decided it was looking for them. On a bedsheet, this was painted: "Prettyman party, one dead. Three seriously ill. Bring medical aid." The sheet was spread on the snow. Soon another plane appeared. It circled low, then dipped as if in acknowledgment of the message. They knew that aid was coming.

CCC workers with a tractor and a snow plow had set out from Las Vegas.

At 6 p. m. last Thursday, this party reached the Smith cabin, having plowed a path through snowdrifts to 10 feet deep. It spent the night there and the next day set out for Las Vegas with the women, Poe, the cats, and the dog. Friday afternoon they reached the temporary base camp of the various CCC rescue parties 30 miles north of Indian Springs. There the tractor seemed no longer necessary, and they continued on by automobile.

A new blizzard came up. The cars were stalled in snow drifts, and, marooned again, they spent the night in the cars. Saturday afternoon tractors from Las Vegas arrived and pulled them out, having been previously arranged that if they did not arrive here Saturday morning a rescue party would be sent. Yesterday they reached the Tonopah-Las Vegas highway and arrived here last night.

Mrs. Prettyman was recovering today from frost-bitten feet. Her cook also was frost-bitten. Both of Poe's feet had been frozen and he will lose one toe. Mrs. Poe seemed to have suffered on all effects.

Men and Plows Keep Major Routes Clear, But Side Roads Blocked

L. A. Thomas, in spite of some drifts over five feet deep plows have cleared the country roads traveled by the buses.

Schools at Hansen were not closed although attendance was cut by radio announcement from other school districts that classes were to be dismissed. Ralph Nyblad, principal of Hansen high school, said.

Buses on Schedule

Today buses of the Union Pacific stages were reported running on schedule. The Twin Falls-Wells stage line was behind schedule on the return trip from Nevada yesterday, but today schedule was reported maintained.

The Union Pacific failed to dispatch a train to Wells Saturday night, according to Frank Haasch, local agent. Sunday night the train was dispatched south into Nevada preceded by a snowplow and two engines. Leaving at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, it did not reach Wells until 9:30 a. m. today.

Train Bucks Drifts

With automobile roads in the vicinity apparently blocked the train bucked drifts which ranged as high as 10 feet. The wind was blowing hard in the Nevada section and about eight inches of new snow had fallen.

Trains into Twin Falls from other directions were maintaining fairly accurate schedules, Haasch said.

A railroad snow plow was working on the line from Shoshone to Sun Valley today in order to keep the rails clear. When the automobile highway is blocked in that section the railroad is the only means of transportation. With roads open, buses carry many of the passengers from Shoshone to the lodge.

Snow Forecast

In Twin Falls a forecast of snow tonight and Tuesday, colder Tuesday, was issued. High temperature recorded here Sunday was 29 above with low, 16 above. Low this morning was 18 above. Precipitation totaled .01 of an inch as intermittent snow flurries spread over the city during most of the day.

No automobile accidents were reported to police headquarters Sunday and none had been recorded up to noon today, despite the slippery streets, records show.

PUPILS TO STUDY SAFETY COURSES

Schools to Inaugurate Required Instructions for All Students

Thirty-five hundred Twin Falls pupils will be enrolled in required safety courses the second semester with a new curriculum developed by the superintendent's office during the past few months which will be given to all elementary grade teachers in the near future. It was announced today by school officials.

Safety instruction has been included in the curriculum for a number of years, but this is the first attempt to include it in the regular course of study making it mandatory for all students.

Highway Safety

Special teachers in the junior high school will supervise the course during non-advocacy. At present great emphasis will be placed on highway safety and all enrolled in junior and senior high must pass the safety examinations before credits in any subject will be recorded. Ten explanations on highway safety have been prepared and students in junior and senior high will be required to reach a standard of "C" or better before passing. The course in the upper grades is organized in 10 units while lower grade curricula are amplified to meet the ability of the age group in each grade.

Special certificates will be awarded to students making a grade of "A."

The primary objective of all highway safety courses is to reduce substantially the highway accident rate, sponsors state. Courses are developed around the explanation of practical, traffic regulations with illustrations that portray clearly many points of the traffic code which are not easily understood. The titles of some of the units are Highway Traffic Problems, Use of Highways, Pedestrian Rules, Speed Regulations, Vehicle Operation, Right of Way.

Word was received here today that M. C. Ballenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ballenger, had passed the medical examination and has been accepted for enlistment in the army at Fort Lewis, 121 Paso, Texas.

The sheet was spread on the snow. Soon another plane appeared. It circled low, then dipped as if in acknowledgment of the message. They knew that aid was coming.

CCC workers with a tractor and a snow plow had set out from Las Vegas.

At 6 p. m. last Thursday, this party reached the Smith cabin, having plowed a path through snowdrifts to 10 feet deep. It spent the night there and the next day set out for Las Vegas with the women, Poe, the cats, and the dog. Friday afternoon they reached the temporary base camp of the various CCC rescue parties 30 miles north of Indian Springs. There the tractor seemed no longer necessary, and they continued on by automobile.

A new blizzard came up. The cars were stalled in snow drifts, and, marooned again, they spent the night in the cars. Saturday afternoon tractors from Las Vegas arrived and pulled them out, having been previously arranged that if they did not arrive here Saturday morning a rescue party would be sent. Yesterday they reached the Tonopah-Las Vegas highway and arrived here last night.

Mrs. Prettyman was recovering today from frost-bitten feet. Her cook also was frost-bitten. Both of Poe's feet had been frozen and he will lose one toe. Mrs. Poe seemed to have suffered on all effects.

TAX LEGISLATION TO BE SET ASIDE

Action On Administration's Request To Be Delayed Until Later

By EDWARD W. LEWIS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Plans for early congressional action on the treasury's proposed tax revision legislation have been sidetracked. It was learned today.

Action on the administration's request for removal of inequities in tax laws will probably be delayed until after the March 15 revenue bill and the effect of social security and corporate surplus levies shows more clearly.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the house ways and means committee, which originates revenue legislation, has already set early hearings on other matters. Next Thursday the committee will tackle the question of a two-year extension of the delegates' reciprocal trade powers.

Recommendations Later

Experts on the congressional joint committee on internal revenue taxation said that their recommendations probably would not be submitted until later. They indicated at the same time that no far reaching changes would be proposed. One forecast was that the bill ultimately drafted "will be a comparatively minor one."

A desire by the leadership to squash for the present a congressional flare up over taxes was apparent.

Doughton said he personally opposed opening the nuisance tax issue. In the face of demands for gratifying some levies, he said he was "afraid if we try to make even one change, we will have a fight over all of them."

Need Nuisance Levies

President Roosevelt in his budget emphasized a need to continue all the nuisance levies, most of which expire June 30. Various congressional groups have urged outright repeal or share revision of the automobile, oil and gas levies and a wide range of others.

Legislation to remove inequities was urged by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., Doughton and Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee at a White House conference last August. At that time it was agreed that an immediate study be made by the congressional staff and treasury experts.

spilled on evening gowns and white shirt bosoms. Women screamed. Suddenly Cicero slumped to the floor and the fighting stopped. He was carried out to an elevator and taken to the first floor where an ambulance surgeon announced that he had died of three wounds, two just below the heart and one in his left side.

Cicero Stabbed

Police said Cicero had been stabbed either by a table knife or a penknife. They could not find the weapon.

In the banquet hall waiters released order. Doors were locked. Police told all guests to sit at the tables they had occupied when the fight began. They attempted to reenact the slaying. As each guest disclaimed knowledge of the affair he was permitted to leave.

Fifty men and women were singled out. They sat at the tables until 5:45 a. m. when police released all but six men and four women for further questioning.

The slaying was advanced that the theory might have been the result of a feud in the trucking business between New York and Stamford, Conn. Cicero, 33, was connected with the garment motor transportation company of Stamford.

Police said two persons known to have been at a table near the Cicero table had not been located. Their names were said to be known.

FLU LISTED ON COUNTY REPORT

Kimberly and Hansen Cases Shown; Twin Falls Has Unofficial "Wave"

For the first time this year epidemic influenza appeared among communicable diseases listed on the weekly report compiled by the Twin Falls county health unit. The list is completed each week by Dr. J. W. Hawkins, director, from cases reported by physicians in the county.

Six cases of influenza were reported during the week, four at Kimberly and two at Hansen. At Kimberly the four stricken with the disease were in the same family, as was the case of the two at Hansen.

To date, in Twin Falls, no cases of the disease have been reported to the health units. Numerous persons in the city, however, are known to be suffering from influenza, grippe, and light attacks of flu.

Unofficial Figures

An impartial survey, made today by a reporter of the Evening Times, of business offices and stores scattered throughout the downtown area showed 27 persons were on the "sick list" from eight places at which inquiries were made. Colds or more complicated forms of flu were given as the reason for the layoffs.

Dr. Hawkins today urged citizens to pay particular attention to a set of instructions released by Surgeon-General Thomas Parran, jr., of the United States public health service at Washington. The instructions, given by Dr. Parran, because of the "rather widespread prevalence" of influenza follow:

Avoid crowded places, stores, public conveyances or any kind of crowd.

Avoid Chills

Avoid chilling and fatigue. Avoid use of common towels, glasses, eating utensils or toilet articles.

If you have a cold or fever, no matter how slight, go to bed and stay there until the fever has entirely disappeared. Call a doctor if you think you have influenza. If you have the flu, don't return to work without approval of a physician.

During the week 37 new cases of chicken pox were reported in the county, Dr. Hawkins said. This is in addition to the 31 new cases reported last week. The spread last week centered around Filer while the latest report shows the center of the disease moving to Buhl.

The report released today shows nine new cases of chicken pox in Twin Falls; six in Filer; 21 in Buhl, and one in Castleford.

Three cases of scarlet fever were reported, two in Twin Falls and one in Buhl. The report also shows one new case of mumps and one new case of measles in the county.

SUPREME COURT IN APPARENT DEADLOCK ON SOCIAL SECURITY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The supreme court recessed today, still in apparent deadlock over controversial social legislation.

The court took no action on any of the major cases before it. It will resume hearings cases and handling down opinions Feb. 1.

At that time it is hoped that Justice Harlan F. Stone who has been ill will be able to return to the bench. His absence is believed to have resulted in a four-to-four decision of justices on major problems, thus stalemating any action.

The court will assemble Wednesday at 11 a. m. for the ceremony of swearing in President Roosevelt for his second term of office.

By William E. McKenney

SLAM BY CAREFUL PLAY

By WM. E. MCKENNEY Sec'y, American Bridge League No doubt one of the things that makes duplicate bridge a source of pleasure to the hundreds of thousands who play it, is that of comparing what they have done or failed to do with what others have done with the same cards.

When Mrs. Maude Hall, of Morgantown, W. Va., made six hearts on today's hand, she did not realize that she had done any better than others who held the same hand at the recent tri-state championship bridge tournament held in Uniontown, Pa.

She deserved her thrill for the accomplishment, because she played her hand well.

Mrs. Hall won the opening lead of the diamond two with the ace in dummy. Then she led a spade and won with the king. Drop of the queen warned her that the spade situation presented danger, but she solved the problem promptly.

She re-entered dummy with a club, and led dummy's last spade, inviting North to ruff with a trump which she could have drawn. North did ruff and returned a diamond, which was won in dummy.

A heart was led to the king. A spade then was ruffed with the queen of hearts, the trumps drawn and East's remaining spades were good.

Had North refused to ruff, the contract could have been made by ruffing one spade with the queen and finishing against North's jack of trump.

(Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

Today's Contract Problem South has the contract for four hearts. The only adverse bid was made by West, with two diamonds. Since South must lose two clubs and one diamond, can he find a way to avoid loss of his contract by taking three spade tricks?

DEADLINE SET IN WATER REMOVAL

Feb. 21 Final Date to File Arguments Against Blue Lakes Spring Use

Deadline for protests against approval of the application of Raymond J. Huff, Seattle, for removal of 30 cubic feet of water per second from upper Blue lakes spring has been set for Feb. 21, according to word received here today from R. W. Faris, commissioner of reclamation.

Huff seeks the spring water as part of the plan he has proposed for furnishing a new domestic water supply for Twin Falls. The city, however, has not entered into any agreement with the Seattle man.

Protests must be filed in the department of reclamation offices at Boise, Commissioner Faris said. Applied Dec. 17.

Huff's application for the water diversion was made Dec. 17 of last year. His plan is to use the spring water from Snake river canyon as a domestic supply for Twin Falls, pumping it out of the canyon by means of power furnished through waters of Rock creek.

His previous application for 200 second feet from Rock creek for the pumping project has been approved by Faris.

Suit was filed in district court here last week by the Twin Falls Canal company, asking that the commissioner's decree granting use of Rock creek waters be set aside by the court.

IDAHO LIKES AMUSEMENT

When it comes to this matter of forgetting the routine of life by seeking amusements, Idahoans are right up on top among the eight intermountain states.

Federal census of business figures show that Idaho in 1935 had 243 places of public amusement, and that number has climbed in the intervening year.

Utah barely nosed-out Idaho with 254, the census figures show. And the only other mountain state to rank higher than the Gem state was Colorado, which has a considerably larger population and much larger cities. Colorado had 451, Montana had 227, Nevada 66, New Mexico 148, Wyoming 175 and Arizona 158.

The amusement places as listed by the census include motion picture theaters; establishments presenting theatricals, circuses and shows other than motion pictures; amusement parks, bowling alleys, billiard parlors and dance halls.

Proving that Idaho is willing to pay for its entertainment, the census lists only those places charging admission fees. Church, educational and club establishments swell the total considerably but weren't counted in the census.

Play helps to balance the more serious matters of life. Idaho apparently has kept its balance nicely.

The original sitdown strike was staged by the wallflower who decided to take a personality course.

WILL U. S. PAY NEUTRALITY PRICE?

When congress takes off its gloves and gets down to work on the new neutrality law, it ought to be possible to find out whether the American people are really in earnest when they say they want to keep out of the next war, no matter how much it costs them.

The crux of the matter depends on what we are going to embargo.

Munitions, of course. But that hardly scratches the surface.

Suppose a new world war should break out in Europe tomorrow. Both sides immediately would turn to the United States for supplies. But what kind of supplies would they be after?

Munitions? Yes, if they could get them. But every great power in Europe has been devoting the last decade to putting its own munitions plants in order.

What they can't possibly make for themselves is the bulk of the great raw materials without which a war cannot be fought—wheat, beef, oil, cotton and the like.

Shall we have the courage to put an embargo on them? It would be expensive; make no mistake about that. It would touch all of us in that sensitive pocketbook nerve.

But there is one other thing that would cost a great deal more. That would be for us to get into the war ourselves. And just as oil, wheat, cotton and beef helped to get us into the last war, they could help to get us into the next one.

We have not yet thought through this neutrality problem. There is infinitely more to it than munitions. Unless we have the courage to see that the basic commodities are as explosive as gun cotton, any neutrality law we get will be sadly imperfect.

When he was dismissed, a Huntington, W. Va., dogcatcher freed all the dogs, bearing out the adage, "Penny wise is pound foolish."

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

No matter how heavily the cares of office may rest upon him, Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan at least cannot complain that the fates are keeping him in obscurity.

Governor Murphy once had a nice job as governor-general of the Philippines. He gave it up to come back home and run for governor. Cooperating with the Roosevelt landslide, he was elected; and he had hardly got the gubernatorial chair warm before he found himself projected into a spot of national importance.

The General Motors strike has been a crisis of which any governor could be glad to be relieved. Nevertheless, it certainly has turned the spotlight on Frank Murphy, and given him all the chance a politician could ask to show the sort of stuff that is in him.

Whatever may happen to his career in public life, it is not going to droop and die for want of public attention.

NIGHT'S DANGERS

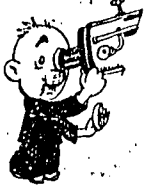

A traffic squad expert in a large American city recently published figures showing that more than half of the fatal accidents in his city in 1936 took place at night—although as a moment's reflection shows by far the greater part of any city's traffic moves in daylight.

The reason is not far to seek—Streets are often poorly lighted. On rainy nights every light sheds a dozen confusing reflections—on windshields, on auto windows, on gleaming pavements. Pedestrians, unwarily crossing a street in the middle of the block, are invisible until the driver is almost on top of them.

Part of the remedy, of course, is better street lighting. But the thing that is chiefly needed is greater care on the part of the drivers. It ought to be obvious that to try to make daytime speed under nighttime conditions of limited visibility is bound to lead to tragedies.

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

The HOLIDAY MYSTERY

By IDA R. GLEASON © 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The safety of the Christmas party "Under the Tree" in the de Forest hacienda in New Mexico, has a single ending when PEARL, the youngest of the de Forest children, is found dead with an ancient knife in his throat.

Each of the de Forest brothers has the first name "Pearl." PEARL JOHN is the youngest. PEARL PIETRE, next in age, is the murderer. He had been ordered to remain at the hacienda. The others are: TANTE JOSEPHINE, the oldest and the most beautiful; BETTY WELCH, her young companion; RAMON VANQUETZ and ANGELO ABEL, the de Forest brothers; and BOB GRAHAM, the salesman, at the hacienda waiting for his car to be repaired.

The body of Pearl John disappears. Later, Ramon and Angelo leave. It has been reported that the murderer is found, lifeless, below a rocky ledge, the same knife that killed his brother lying in his hand.

Pearl John accuses BROKEN SHELBY, an Indian servant, of the murder. He says that Josephine the dead and Broken Shelby is missing. Professor Shaw is investigating the basement of the house. Later he is found unconscious.

Shaw secures the key to the basement, and finds the entrance to a secret passage. Jealousy, the motive for the crime, is the passage and closes the door. Bob quarrels with Pearl John and Ramon. They had argued and each took him in his room. Bob escapes through a window.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER XXII STUMBLING along as rapidly as he could on the slippery footing, Bob came to the top of the canyon without encountering anyone. He cast a triumphant glance back over his shoulder and turned down the trail.

That journey back to the hacienda lasted for a space of time which always remained uncertain in Bob's mind, for, even when they came to the level of the mesa, the road did not stop a minute. They hurried on until apparently they came to the house itself. Then Bob felt himself being carried down a flight of stairs.

After a few moments he was laid on a floor and heard de Forest talking in low tones. Bob gritted his teeth, waiting to see what would happen next.

He did not have to wait long. Retreating footsteps told him that the two men who had carried him were departing, and now he had the sensation that someone was leaning over him, for a blur of light came through the thickness of the blanket. In a minute he was being pulled through some kind of an opening and bumped along a dirt floor.

There was the thin-faced archeologist, still lying in a coma. How did they know that he was what he said? What if the professor were only pretending that he could not speak or move? And that wooden-faced Indian who had guarded the top of the trail down the canyon.

If the old lady had not died with something to do with the death of her nephews. Maybe she did, at that. She had not been one-half so feeble and half-witted as she seemed. He was convinced of this and Betty thought so, too. Betty—where was she now? The thought lent wings to Bob's feet, and he strode ahead with added speed.

Then he heard a noise and turned quickly. Someone was coming behind him. He listened a minute, decided it was more than one person, and that they were coming with all the speed of familiarity with the trail. Bob hurried his own pace—then turned his ankle against a fallen log.

The stab of pain made him dizzy for a moment, but he bobbed a few steps farther before he sank in the snow. Nearer and nearer came the pursuers.

The next few minutes seemed an eternity. Then a glow of light blinded Bob as someone with a swinging lantern peered down at him in the darkness. There were three men together. At a curt command from one (Bob was sure he recognized de Forest's voice) an Indian blanket was dropped over his head and he was lifted and carried up the trail by two stout Mexicans—again a prisoner.

That journey back to the hacienda lasted for a space of time which always remained uncertain in Bob's mind, for, even when they came to the level of the mesa, the road did not stop a minute. They hurried on until apparently they came to the house itself. Then Bob felt himself being carried down a flight of stairs.

After a few moments he was laid on a floor and heard de Forest talking in low tones. Bob gritted his teeth, waiting to see what would happen next.

He did not have to wait long. Retreating footsteps told him that the two men who had carried him were departing, and now he had the sensation that someone was leaning over him, for a blur of light came through the thickness of the blanket. In a minute he was being pulled through some kind of an opening and bumped along a dirt floor.

There was the thin-faced archeologist, still lying in a coma. How did they know that he was what he said? What if the professor

Abruptly the journey ended and he heard his jailer moving away, though he had loosened the blanket so Bob could breathe more easily. After a while his ankle stopped throbbing and he tried again to get out of the blanket. He seemed to be tied around the waist with a stout rope. That was why he could not get his hands up to his pocket where he had a knife.

After a while he stopped struggling and lay still, listening. Something was creeping toward him slowly, softly, as though feeling the way in the darkness. Had he been left helpless to be devoured by some slinking animal? A cold chill of horror swept over Bob. This was the climax of all the de Forest cruelty. Now he was certain he had fallen into the power of a mad man, more ruthless even than the older brothers or Tante Josephine.

The creeping thing stopped at Bob's side. He felt hands—human hands—fumbling at the blanket. Almost at once the rope about his waist was loosened; Bob tore the blanket from his head and reached out into the darkness to grasp a girl's small hands.

"Oh!" she gasped. "Betty!" The next minute he held her tight in his arms. "It's Bob," he told her excitedly. "De Forest threw me down here, too. I was trying to escape down the canyon to get to the city. Sprained my ankle. They caught me and brought me back. For once, I've got the breaks—finding you again. I guess I sort of went crazy when I thought de Forest had done away with you."

"He?" she repeated when she could get her breath. "It was Angelique who got me down here, didn't you know that?" Quickly she told him what had happened, adding, "Angelique couldn't tie a rope any better than any other girl, so I got loose."

When she had finished and realized that the terrible wait alone in the darkness was over, Betty crept closer into Bob's arms and wept softly.

Bob pressed his cheek against her soft hair. "I think you're the luckiest girl in the whole world," he told her. "Wait a minute—let's strike a match. I want to look at you."

"Count your matches, Bob," she told him. "If there aren't very many, you'd better keep them to help us get out of here."

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO—

JAN. 18, 1922 PORTLAND— Auction here of one million pounds of wool, said to be the largest amount ever offered at a private sale in the history of the industry was being stormed by buyers from all prominent wool centers of the country here today.

The entire amount is Idaho wool, made up of several clips offered for sale by an Idaho pool headed by the First National bank of Elgin. The largest is the Van Dusen clip amounting to 300,000 pounds.

The pool was formed after dealers' bids at the shearing corrals had been rejected. More than 200,000 pounds were sold this morning with every indication that the entire amount would change hands today.

27 YEARS AGO—

Jan. 18, 1910 Articles of incorporation were filed this week for the Twin Falls Development company, which will do general real estate and development business in this city. The officers elected are S. H. Bolton, president; John Clair, vice president; D. L. Hickling, secretary and treasurer. The offices of the firm will be in the building now occupied by Mr. Clair on Main avenue. Mr. Bolton, the president of the company, was the founder of the Twin Falls Realty company, which is one of the well known realty firms of this city. Mr. Clair, as a land expert and expert of irrigated lands is one of the old timers who have passed through the trying times of the tract and knows to the "bed rock" the land here. Mr. Hickling, too, has been a resident here long enough to have gained the confidence and respect of the business men.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Probably the most significant of all items in the family medicine chest are laxatives and cathartics. I will describe some of those most commonly used.

Epsom salts is an old-fashioned remedy which acts by collecting fluid in the bowel. It is best taken on arising—about one tablespoonful of salts in a half glass of warm water. Several hours will be required for its action. The scientific name of Epsom salts is magnesium sulphate.

Some people prefer the milder acting Glauber's salts, or sodium sulphate. It is not, however, so popular as Epsom salts, and not nearly so popular as a milder product known as sodium phosphate. Sodium phosphate is less disagreeable and less active than either magnesium sulphate or sodium sulphate. Most frequently this product is used in an effervescent form, made by mixing active ingredients of sodium phosphate with the less active sodium bicarbonate, tartaric acid, and citric acid.

Much milder still is citrate of magnesium. This is a mild saline laxative, usually ordered by the bottle. It is customary to take half of the contents of the bottle on arising and the rest later, if needed.

BUHL BOY WINS F. F. A. LAURELS

BUHL, Jan. 18 (Special)—Willard Harder, Buhl high school lad, was placed as the highest individual in the entire contest of the Future Farmer's association which was held at Ogden. The Buhl F. F. Out of a possible 1,850 points the Buhl boys scored 1,361, with Willard Harder scoring 502 individual points out of a possible 550. There were 37 other teams competing in the contest judging breeding classes of Hereford heifers, Duroc Jersey girls, Rambouillet sheep and Holstein dairy cows.

The banquet was given the boys by the livestock association, that time the winning livestock teams were presented with cup and individual medals. Willard Harder was also presented a medal for being the highest individual.

PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-moving Events in the Nation's Capital By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator. (Copyright, 1933, by Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON — There will be no denying that President Roosevelt's reorganization plan knocked his congressional leaders approximately speechless. Some, like Speaker Bankhead, muttered only that it was a matter of great importance and should be studied. Others begged off on the ground they had not read the suggestion, while a few frankly declined to express themselves aloud.

This seemed inappropriate for legislators who were already 10 days ago to pass at once anything Mr. Roosevelt wanted. The proper explanation was offered by a Democratic senator, who could qualify for one of Mr. Roosevelt's proposed six leg-men assistance, as he expressed a passion for anonymity. Said he: "I recall that a W. S. Gilbert ship was once becalmed, and, as the crew had no food, they ate each other. The cook finally survived and announced, with a knowledge of what was within him: 'I am the cook, and the captain bold and mate of the Nancy brig, and a bosun tight and a midshipmite and the crew of the captain's gig.' The cook would be a thin man compared with Mr. Roosevelt if this reorganization goes through as recommended, but don't worry. It won't."

CONFLICT

The confidence of the passionate anonymity was probably premature. A peculiar inner situation has developed. Certain Democratic leaders appear to be handing together to conduct a wholly inside fight against the program of passive resistance, arranging indefinite delays, etc., against it publicly.

At the same time others started creating machinery to ram it through the house. Instead of letting the house select a standing committee to consider the matter, they arranged to have the speaker do it, in order that none except loyal administration men would be appointed.

The situation like this, it is impossible to tell how much of the presidential program will survive. The consensus is that about 50 per cent eventually will be approved by congress six months hence.

PROBABILITIES

Best advance guess is that this is what will emerge: Mr. Roosevelt will undoubtedly get his six new confidential agents. These jobs will be of super importance. Six presidential chancellors able to control the roads to the Presidents' mind from the government departments may develop more power than cabinet members. If each will be assigned a particular category such as finance, national defense, etc., each may become the most influential authority on his subject. The effect will be more presidential control over the government departments, less cabinet influence.

The two new departments of social welfare and public works will be authorized without much controversy. The proposed presidential accounting system will be dropped into the first handy congressional waste basket and a substitute plan composed. Congress will not permit the attorney general to write legal authorizations for presidential expenditures and the treasury to audit them, as both cabinet officers are removable by the President at will. Congressional sentiment will favor a stricter congressional audit and control in place of the admittedly inefficient present comptroller general system.

The President will get part of the control he wants over expenditure and half an hour later out she trudges in the deep snow. But mother feels that she cannot let the parent the futility of over-using the word, many have gotten the idea that it is criminal to say it at all.

But when Mary is reaching for the ice-pick to jab through the screen, what else is there to say? Nothing, that I can see. Substitution is all right, and has its place, but suppose there is nothing handy to give Mary, to divert her thoughts, or anything else that Mary wishes to do at that time. She has to be told to desist. And "don't touch that," seems to be as good as anything. Explanation may be added and reasons advanced to three-year-old Mary about danger and destructiveness. But she is not impressed with reasons much. All she wants to know is whether she can have the pick, or whether she can't. I think that parents are leaning too far back words today about this little forbidden word of the psychologists.

Prohibitions Teach Young True children should be trained as far as possible in the knowledge of what is permitted and what is not, but this takes time, and in the experimental stage direct prohibition is part of the lesson.

It is the same with other matters concerning the conditioning of children. "You mustn't say 'Don't,'" advise the psychologists, and you must set a perfect example. Very well, let us examine this, too. Mother takes a short cut over the snowy lawn to get some sugar from Mrs. Smith. Mary sees her asures of independent commissions, but not the most important part. Congress created these commissions (like federal trade and interstate commerce) so that no President could make them vehicles for administration policy. Safeguards against presidential control will undoubtedly be written into the law.

One other thing the President will not get is a central information bureau to "coordinate" and "re-coordinate" the information bureaus of the various government departments. Newsmen here generally fear the suggestion as another encroachment on their news-gathering rights.

News-gathering here has always been more or less of a game, in which both sides, the government and the press, are bound by unwritten rules of fairness. Government officials try to suppress all information detrimental to themselves or their causes. The press expects that. Newsmen seek not only the blurb which the officials hand out, but the other side of the story. Officials who are big enough should expect that.

The machinery instituted by the recently enlarged press agent system had the effect of removing news-gatherers further from sources of government news, except those officially selected. It was only insignificantly effective in that purpose. Officials are still complaining daily about unauthorized news which they consider to be erroneous or unfair, but which seems mainly to be objectionable for their purposes.

They say the new central division of information is merely a further insignificant routine step to promote efficiency, but any publicity authority knows that, at the hands of the right man, it might furnish the needed control to make the publicity system completely effective.

WILLINGNESS

Not all congressmen take the majority view outlined above. Possibly 25 per cent seem to feel that congress will never compose a satisfactory government reorganization of its own and that the President must do it, if it is to be done. They are not much outraged about decreasing their own power and increasing that of the head of an increasingly strong federal government. They are willing to let the President take the power—and the responsibility.

Arthur Brisbane, who died recently, addressed students at the University of Kansas in 1913. Upon that occasion he warned his youthful hearers not to follow his example as set forth in the following case: "I was correspondent in London for the New York Sun as a young man," he said, "and an English parliamentary crisis arose. I was able, by dint of much exertion, to get the first of a five-minute interview with Gladstone, then premier. And when I was ushered into the great man's presence, I spent three of my five minutes telling him what I thought about the situation, instead of listening to his views on the subject."

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton It is almost impossible to refrain from saying "don't" to children. In order to impress upon the parent the futility of over-using the word, many have gotten the idea that it is criminal to say it at all. But when Mary is reaching for the ice-pick to jab through the screen, what else is there to say? Nothing, that I can see. # GRANT DOWNS BUDGE TO WIN DIXIE CHAMPIONSHIP

SMEAD, OUTSIDER WINS GOLF MEET

Patty Berg Wins Invitation Tourney In Week-end's Sports Events

By LESLIE AVERY

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, mighty mite of a tennis player from Atlanta who rates only third with the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, captured top spot in the United Press week-end sports review today with second straight championship victory in eight days over Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., No. 1 in U. S. L. T. A. rankings.

Outpacing and outgeneralling the sorrel-topped Californian, Grant won the Dixie singles title at Tampa, Fla., yesterday, a week after his triumph over Budge in the finals of the Miami-Biltmore tourney.

Patty Berg won Grant's headlines, however, rather than little higher than a seasonal round of golf turned in at the Augusta, Ga., women's tourney by the wonder-girl from Minneapolis Patty Berg. Patty won the title, coming from behind after shooting mediocre scores in the early rounds. She clipped six strokes off women's par. Her 73 was only one over regular figures for the men.

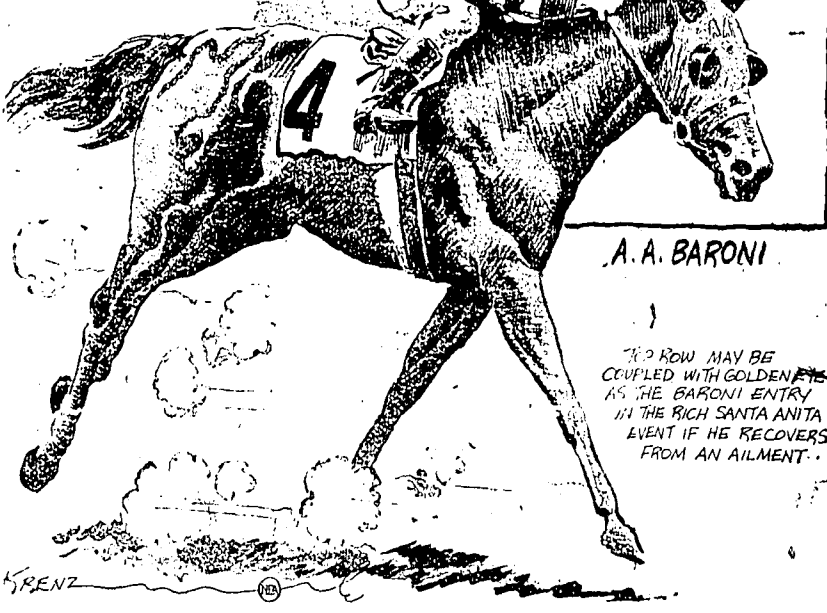

An outsider, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had to smash par to win the Oakland, Calif., open golf championship. He was one under par yesterday with a 667 and an aggregate of 270 to beat out Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis who was one over with a 69 to total 272.

BUDGE, WOOD, MAKO COULD CAPTURE CUP, SAYS TILDEN

By HENRY McLEMORE

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP) — The United States could regain the Davis cup this year if the officials of the Lawn Tennis association would name the three man team of Donald Budge, Sidney Wood, and Gene Mako for the job.

That is the opinion of William T. Tilden, the long-legged linguist who won and defended the international trophy for this country for eight to ten years. But he doesn't think such a team would be named because, to borrow his own words, "American tennis officials haven't the sort of mentality."

"They probably ignore Wood," Tilden told me, "because he has been out of tennis for a year, and surround Budge with a group of young men whose chief virtue is earnestness and chief fault an inability to play international tennis."

Bryan Grant, and Bobby Riggs, and Charley Harris and Frank Parker are good tennis players, yes, but they are not the kind of players who, with the cup at stake, beat such men as Gottfried von Cramm, Bunny Austin, Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist. They simply can't play tennis that well."

At this point it seemed logical to ask Mister Tilden if he thought Sidney Wood could beat those men when the stands were packed and the stakes were high.

Defeated Crawford "We know he can," Bill answered, "because he has the only truly great tennis match I have seen in recent years was in 1934 at Wimbledon when Sidney defeated Crawford in the interzone cup finals. I don't say that Sidney would win all his Davis cup matches this year, because the result is nearly always a toss-up when great players meet."

But my point is that he would have a chance, and God knows the likes of Riggs, Grant, Parker, and Harris wouldn't. If Riggs or Harris or Parker or Grant is named to assist Budge in the singles I wouldn't bet ten dollars against a thousand that they would win. Because they simply haven't a chance. Wood, on the other hand, is one of the world's finest players. His game is sound, he has a brain, and on his "right" days a more daring brilliant player never lived. He is working at his game in California right now. Working hard. If the tennis fathers had any sense at all they would give him the mental lift, the encouragement, of a letter telling him they needed him, were counting on him, and expected him to work with Budge and regain the trophy."

Rated Budge, Mako and Tilden rates Budge and Mako as the finest doubles team in the world, and sees von Cramm and Heiner Henkel as their only rivals. And the only reason he recognizes them is that von Cramm is so superb that he could play a ventriloquist's dummy as a partner and still be formidable.

Big Bill thinks Jack Crawford is just about finished as an international menace.

"Jack's nerve is gone. I think he lost it when Fred Perry beat him as many times, so effortlessly. He chokes up now even when playing rabbits. In all the time I have seen Davis cup tennis, the worst match ever played was the one between Crawford and Wilmer Allison at Philadelphia last spring. Neither could hit his hat. I forgot to mention Allison in America's cup squad. They'll probably include Allison but of courtesy, even though he has proved more than once that he isn't equal to the task."

Jesse Owens Chosen for Four Places On All-America Track Team

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — Jesse Owens' amateur honors end today with selection of the Ohio State Negro for four berths on the Amateur Athletic Union's all-America track and field team, picked annually by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer.

The only rival of Owens, who recently turned professional, was Donald Lash, the long-striding senior of Indiana named for three of the longer distance runs. Owens was chosen for the 100 and 200 meter dashes, the 200 meter hurdles and the broad jump. Lash was picked for the 5,000 and 10,000 meters and the cross-country run.

Each of America's nine Olympic champions was named.

It was the first time Ferris had honored an athlete with four all-America assignments since Willie Ritola, the Finnish-American, was named for the five and ten-mile cross country, and steeplechase in 1927.

Red Wings Tighten Hockey League Grip

By United Press

While the Detroit Red Wings strengthened their grip on first place of the American Division in National league hockey standings today, Boston's Bruins challenged the New York Rangers for second position.

The Bruins climbed to within one point of the Rangers by blanking the New York Americans, 3 to 0, last night. Despite six penalties against them Boston tallied once in each period while goalie Thompson did a sensational job of guarding the Bruins' wicket. Smith, Welland and Goldsworthy counted.

The champion Red Wings ran their advantage over the Rangers to six points, shutting out Chicago's Black Hawks, 2-0.

WOMEN WINS SKI JUMPING TITLE

Alf Engen of Salt Lake City Takes Fourth in Illinois Meeting

CARY, Ill., Jan. 18 (AP) — Casper Omen, bricklayer from Anacosta, Mont., and member of the 1936 Olympic team, held the jumping championship of the Norge Ski Club today with two perfect leaps of 164 and 168 feet.

Omen won the title on form in competition against the nation's outstanding jumpers on a slide of impetuous snow softened by spring temperatures. He was awarded $49.25 points.

George Kotlarek, Duluth, Minn., who won the national title last year, placed second with 149 points on jumps of 170 and 167 feet. A spill cost Lemoine Butson, Central, Wis., the championship after he made the longest leap of the afternoon, 175 feet. He made a second jump of 170 feet for 148.65 points and third place.

Alf Engen, Salt Lake City lumber camp foreman and holder of the Norge club record of 194 feet, finished fourth with 146.30 points on jumps of 168 and 171 feet.

MOSCOW, Jan. 18 (AP) — Idaho's Vandals were back home today with an even break in week-end basketball games against University of Montana.

GOLF PROS HEAD FOR SACRAMENTO

Sam Snead $1,200 Richer After Winning Oakland Open; Guldahl Second

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP) — The next stop on the winter trail of golf gold will be Sacramento, the capital of California, where on Friday, Saturday and Sunday the golfing pros spending the winter on the west coast will compete in the annual open tournament.

Most of the players who competed in the Oakland open, completed yesterday, will be found on the Sacramento course later this week. Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., will go to Sacramento $1,200 richer as a result of his pur-shattering victory in the Oakland tournament. Snead cracked par by two strokes to win in the final 36 holes yesterday. His 72-hole total was 270, two strokes better than Ralph Guldahl, former St. Louis auto salesman, whose second place was worth $750.

CARROTS HAVE BEEN UNDER DOMESTICATION SINCE THE DAWN OF HISTORY! IT ONCE WAS THE FASHION FOR LADIES TO WEAR CARROT LEAVES IN THEIR HAIR AT BALLS AND BANQUETS

The pelican's great beak was not fashioned for picking up food from the ground, but for catching fish. The bird can dive from the air and snatch a swiftly moving fish that is far beneath the surface of the water.

ACTIVITIES PLANNED BY RURAL FEDERATION

At Saturday's meeting of the Rural Federation held at the Methodist church plans were made for the annual winter picnic to be held Feb. 25 at 7 p. m. at Odd Fellows hall. Program numbers are to be contributed by member clubs under the direction of a program chairman. Menu and decorations will feature Idaho products.

Sponsorship of home products luncheons by the clubs was discussed by Mrs. William Baker, district home products chairman. She also spoke on the use of Idaho products in menus and decorations. It was decided that each club will name a representative to make a study of the subject. Miss Margaret Hill, home demonstration agent, extended an invitation to members of the organization to attend an all-day session to be held Friday at 10 a. m. at the Kimberly Christian church.

Mrs. Lee Smith, president, conducted the meeting.

PARTY MARKS BOY'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Roy King entertained 13 little guests Saturday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her son, Roy King, Jr. During the afternoon games were at play with prizes going to Patricia King, Keana Eubanks and Richard Greenwell. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with a birthday cake bearing lighted candles and gay place cards. Each guest received a favor and the host was given a number of birthday gifts.

Commissioners of Twin Falls county and other counties throughout the Idaho state will push a legislative bill calling for appointment of a relief commissioner in each county, it was indicated here today as the commissioners made plans to attend their state organization's meeting in Boise Tuesday.

The plan for a relief director would remove from the commissioners' shoulders the burden of handling welfare applications. At the present time such applications take a heavy share of the board's time.

LOW BIRTH RATE ALARMS FRANCE

PARIS (AP)—France today looks forward with fear as a declining birth rate seems likely to fall still lower during the next few decades, while at the same time the possibilities of war are rising.

There is a popular French saying that sums the situation in their eyes:

"A country with a falling population attracts the invader."

Moreover, the fear is more directly centered in discussions pointing to Germany as French vital statistics announce figures showing that Germany's birth rate had fallen more sharply than France's before the ascendancy of the Nazis, but since then has begun to soar. Today Germany counts roughly a population of 60,000,000 compared to France's 40,000,000.

State's Moisture Is Below Average

Moisture recorded in Idaho for the past two years shows precipitation for 1936 to be well under that of 1935, according to a report prepared by the United States department of agriculture weather bureau at Boise.

According to the figures issued precipitation from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31 for this year and last year, respectively, over the northern division of Idaho averaged 64 and 53 per cent of normal; over the southwestern division 48 and 22 per cent; over the southeastern division 77 and 65 per cent; and for the state as a whole 62 and 44 per cent.

The snow cover over the elevated regions of the state at the close of Dec. 1936, was quite generally below that reported at this time last year, and was below normal.
