10,000 Refugees Flee Rising Flood Waters

RESCUE FORCES READY TO HELP

Damage Estimated At $200,000 As 50,000 Acres of Land Are Inundated

(CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 20 (UP))—The nation mustered its flood rescue forces today to feed and shelter nearly 10,000 refugees, rescue hundreds of families marooned by fast-rising Ohio valley rivers, and prevent if possible a repetition of the 1913 disaster.

Eight were known dead and property damage and business losses were estimated at more than $200,000. Government observers warned the worst of the flood is yet to come.

Second in History Government observers said it was the second time in history that the entire 1,000 miles of the Ohio river was flooded. The Ohio was several times its normal width in many places. A similar crisis last March caused $200,000,000 property damage, but most of that occurred in the east which has apparently escaped the present threat.

More than 2,000 WPA workers and volunteers piled sandbags on top of weakening levees in Missouri, Indiana and Illinois. Nearly as many national guardsmen aided levee work and assisted emergency police patrols in rescues in Missouri, Ohio and West Virginia.

SPANISH RULE BY RUSSIA OPPOSED

Germany, Italy Will Not Allow Reds To Control Spain, Says Goering

(ROME, Jan. 20 (UP))—Col. Gen. Hermann Goering, Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's right hand man, asserted today that Italy and Germany are most resolutely opposed to the institution of Bolshevism in Spain.

Goering made his statement to Italian newspaper men at Capri, where he is taking a brief vacation with his wife after his talks with Premier Benito Mussolini here. He is expected back here Friday for another talk with Mussolini, and after that Italy and Germany are expected to make their delayed replies to British communications regarding neutrality in the Spanish civil war.

Makes Statement Enlarging on his assertion that Bolshevism must not establish a foothold in western Europe, Goering said in his statement to newspapermen:

"The two countries are firmly resolved to oppose any developments apt to favor such dangers. In this connection I want to declare that reports in the foreign press that the Italian government is attempting to influence the German government to abandon its present policy in Spain are false. This harmony of the two governments will be strengthened by close, continuous contacts and joint examination of all problems."

Cold Wave Hinders Clearing of Roads

Bitter sub-zero cold today added to the difficulty of clearing roads in the Twin Falls highway district of snow drifts caused by high winds early Tuesday morning and this morning.

HIGHLIGHTS of PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (UP)—Highlights from President Roosevelt's inaugural address:

"We... sensed the truth that Democratic government has infinite capacity to protect its people against disasters once considered inevitable."

"We refused to leave the problems of our common welfare to be solved by the winds of chance and the hurricanes of disaster."

"Four years of experience... hold out the clear hope that government within communities, government within the separate states, and government of the United States can do the things the times require, without yielding its democracy."

"Our tasks in the last four years did not force democracy to take a holiday... The constitution of 1787 did not make our democracy impotent."

"We have begun to bring autocratic powers into their proper subordination to the public government. The legend that they were invulnerable—above and beyond the processes of a democracy—has been shattered. They have been challenged and beaten."

"Our progress out of the depression is obvious."

"To hold to progress today is more difficult. Dulled conscience, irresponsibility and ruthless self-interest already reappear. Such symptoms of degeneracy may become portents of disaster."

"In taking again the oath of office... I assume the solemn obligation of leading the American people forward along the road over which they have chosen to advance."

PAIR OF WHALES BATTLES SHARKS

Australian Crowds See Grim Clash Between Traditional Enemies of Sea

SYDNEY (UP)—A grim battle between two whales and a school of thrasher sharks was witnessed at Maroubra, near here, by hundreds of persons.

Fights between these age-old enemies rarely are seen in coastal waters where the whales appear only occasionally during their migrations.

To the battle of Maroubra the thrashers, which were about 10 feet long, leaped as high as their own length out of water, and carried out their acrobatic dives and leaps with a grace that almost disguised their vicious intent.

After nearly an hour's fighting the combatants moved a quarter of a mile out to sea, where the battle was renewed even more fiercely. When last seen moving northward, the fight was still going on.

The objective of the sharks' attack is the whale's tongue, a delicacy for which they will pursue their victims for hundreds of miles.

RIVERMAN QUITS AFTER 41 YEARS

73-Year-Old Engineer Takes Life Easy on Farm Near Stream

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Retiring after 41 years and six months of toil, E. E. Powell, Black & Veatch engineer on the Mississippi river, Robert (Bob) Page, 73-year-old engineer, today rests easily on his farm at Maurepas, La., on the Atchafalaya river.

Page, who was engineer for eight years on one of the ferries plying between New Orleans and Gretna, on the other side of the river, recently hung up his gloves and shut the engine room door for the last time.

"I guess I've put in my years around here," he said, "and I'll be glad to get away for a rest." Page was born in Fort Madison, Ia., Sept. 23, 1863. He received his apprenticeship on steamboats up and down the Mississippi river while in his teens.

During his eight years of plying among the steam gauges, valves, pet coxles and other gadgets in the engine room of the ferry Edward M. Husar, Page became a popular man with the poor on the other side of the river.

Page had friends who would bring him bread, stale and fresh. He would distribute the fresh bread to the poor and cut up the stale bread to feed seagulls that flock continually around the ferry houses.

No ceremony marked the retirement of the old engineer. Only the tolling of the 2 p. m. bell which signified that he had finished his eight-hour watch marked his passing.

When it sounded, Page took off his greasy gloves, shut off his steam, left a note to his successor that "the extra steam coxles are in the front left locker," picked up his lunch box and sauntered down the gangplank, never to return, unless as a passenger.

POPE TO DEFEND VALLEY FARMERS

Junior Senator Seeks Method To Compensate For Loss of Land

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (Special)—In the upper Snake river valley the bureau of reclamation is constructing a cross-cut canal through the farms of a number of land owners claiming right-of-way under an act of congress dated August 30, 1890. Apparently the bureau is seeking to take advantage of its statutory rights to utilize farm land without compensation to farmers for their loss. This, however, says Senator Pope, will not be done. The bureau of reclamation is being asked to compensate adequately the land owners whose farms are decorated with the new canal. If the bureau does not comply, special legislation will be introduced in the land owners' behalf.

Mrs. Verda Barnes, T. A. Walters' new secretary, arrived in Washington and assumed her duties. Imagine our surprise when we called up Secretary Walters' office this morning and were greeted by Verda's melodious voice saying, "Democratic Headquarters!" Ira Taylor, Democratic state chairman, to whom Verda was secretary during the campaign, should be complimented. He certainly leaves an impression on people.

FUR FARMERS OF U. S. ARE FIRST

Fifth of Total Supply of Pelts Produced in America

NEW YORK (AP)—Fur farming has become a permanent part of this nation's agricultural development and farmers soon may produce a "streamlined" silver fox to cope with fashion trends, according to Frank G. Ashbrook, chief of the fur resources division of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Discussing the silver fox situation at a conference sponsored by the New York Auction company and Milligan & Morrison Fox Producers' association, Ashbrook disclosed that the fur markets of the world handled more silver fox pelts last season than in any previous year.

Spreads to Latin-America

"Fox farming," he said, "is no longer confined to the Canadian provinces of Prince Edward island or the state of Maine, but has spread over the entire North American continent, parts of South America, Europe and the Orient."

"Silver fox production in the United States as compared with foreign countries shows that Canada and the United States are producing annually close to 400,000 pelts; Norway, Sweden, Netherlands, Denmark, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Germany, England, France, Switzerland, Japan and South America together produce about 350,000 pelts. The fur farmers of our country are now producing annually 20 per cent of the total raw fur supply."

Darker Pelts Not Wanted

Ashbrook said the most difficult problem confronting the farmer was that of disposing of the darker pelts at a profit. He suggested that fur traders cooperate with farmers in developing a market for the darker pelts.

"Some styles will have to be created and the same kind of propaganda, namely national advertising, which has made the light silver pelts most popular can be resorted to in developing the darker shades."

"It is not entirely impossible that the fox farmers will produce a streamlined silver fox to cope with fashion demands. When the basic principles of breeding involved in silver fox production are thoroughly understood by the breeders anything will be possible."

First Meeting Held By Gooding P.-T. A.

GOODING, Jan. 20 (Special)—first meeting of the recently organized chapter of the Parent-Teacher association in Gooding was held at the Lincoln grade school Monday afternoon. Mrs. Sam Eakin of Jerome, district president, presided at the installation of officers of the association who were elected at a meeting last Monday.

Program for the meeting was on "Safety." Mrs. Walter Ruby gave a talk on "Safety in the Home." Emory Sears talked on "Safety in the Schools." Other things on the program were several numbers by the musical students of Miss Ilota Watts, and a humorous reading, "Ma and the Auto," by Betty Jane Hemphill.

Room mothers for the first six grades were also named at the meeting. Regular meetings will be held on the third Monday of each month. The next meeting will be Feb. 15 in the high school auditorium, Mrs. Hemphill states.

Mrs. Hemphill, who was connected with P.-T. A. work at Twin Falls before she moved to Gooding, was organizer of the club here. She states that the attendance of mothers at the last meeting was very good in spite of the unfavorable weather.

CONCERNING ROSES

Editor, Evening Times:
 My attention was directed today to your "You May Not Know That" column in your issue of Saturday, Jan. 10, in which the statement is made that "The Boone rose, widely known among horticulturists, was originated by William Judson Boone, late president of the College of Idaho at Caldwell."

This is not quite accurate. In the first place, the rose is named "President Boone." Secondly, the rose was hybridized and named by Howard and Smith, Montebello, Calif., florists and rose hybridizers and named for Dr. Boone. At first the rose was called "Dr. William Judson Boone," but the protest of J. Horace McFarland of Harrisburg, Pa., long a leader among rosarians of the United States, that the name was too long and awkward, prompted the change to the simpler nomenclature.

Howard and Smith are perhaps the nation's foremost garden rose hybridizers. They have such widely known sorts as Los Angeles and W. F. Dreer, among the old stand-bys, as well as scores of other fine and newer roses to their credit. I doubt, however, if there is a better rose in the entire group than "President Boone," a fine crimson of a particularly sturdy plant. The blossom has two distinct characteristics: great size and color tenacity, being included among the select few reds which stand up under Idaho's sunshine without fading of "bluing."

Caldwell has thousands of roses, an active rose society and more members of the national organization than all of the rest of Idaho together. Each year we hold the Mauricie accredited American Rose society show in the state. Most of this work was the product of Dr. Boone's rose enthusiasm and it was quite fitting that an outstandingly fine rose should have been named for him.

For the benefit of those who may be interested, "President Boone" planters are obtainable from Howard and Smith or from Henry Dreer at Philadelphia.

Sincerely,
ADEN HYDE
Caldwell, Jan. 18.

MONTANA TRAINS CRASH HEAD-ON

None Injured As Two Freight Trains Come Together Near Livingston Hill

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 20 (AP)—Working in a howling blizzard and a temperature of 20 degrees below zero, Northern Pacific railroad crews today removed the tangled wreckage of two freight locomotives which crashed head-on 12 miles east of here. None of the members of the crew was injured.

Cause of the crash was not determined immediately. None of the freight cars of either train left the rails. The collision occurred near the Livingston hill at the east entrance of the Rocky Canyon tunnel.

Rail traffic was re-routed through Livingston. A wrecking train was expected from Billings. Acetylene torches were used to cut the engines apart.
