BOARD VOTES TO EXPAND SCHOOLS

Plans $200,000 Construction Program After Reelecting Supt. W. B. Smith

(Continued from Page One) The vote to provide 20 to 22 rooms and an auditorium. Lincoln is now using 12 rooms, with two more rooms being used in the basement of the building.

High School High school: Construct a new auditorium with a view to its eventual use as the first unit of a new school building. First floor of the new building would accommodate teachers, locker rooms, music room, manual training finishing department and girls' activities. The present high school auditorium seats only 750, against an enrollment of 1,050, and would be converted into four additional classrooms.

The superintendent indicated that a PWA grant might be possible after approval by the voters of the school building bonds. In referring to the potentiality that a new building might be considered advisable by the board, Supt. Smith indicated that its site, if the trustees should decide on another structure, should be in the area between Washington and Lincoln schools and north of Shoshone street.

An Idaho high school inspection report from Boise, read at the meeting, disclosed seven teachers at the high school carry loads of over 170 students each. The congested condition here at the present time was described as being "never so acute."

Expansion Essential The report for the school that "due to the continued increase in enrollment this school (Twin Falls) plant will soon require expansion. The auditorium capacity is already exceeded by several hundred making it necessary for several hundred students to remain in home rooms when an assembly is being held."

Another report showed enrollment at Twin Falls for 1935-36 term to be 1,029 in the high school alone. It is considerably more this year.

In support of an argument advanced by women members of the board that "Twin Falls teachers' salaries are the lowest in the state," the following annual average figures were presented: Boise, $1,642; Pocatello, $1,670; Nampa, $1,480; Idaho Falls, $1,040, and Twin Falls, $1,300.

It was stated at the meeting that because of the low salaries it was almost impossible to hold teachers here and the state report listed teacher turnover as "high."

December Expenditures The clerk's report showed expenditures in December to be general control, $4,767.53; instructional service, $12,347.25; operation of plant, $1,370.21; maintenance, $365.23; interest on bonds, $1,102.50; transportation of pupils, $1,102.50; library, $117.85; and sundry activities, $22.23. Total spent for December was $16,468.31.

During the meeting several heated discussions, lead principally by Mrs. Strugeon McCoy, centered around the re-hiring of Superintendent Smith. "I should like to hear Mr. Graves' reasons for wishing to retain the superintendent at an increased salary," Mrs. McCoy said.

Verbal Tiff "I don't think we have the poorest school in the country," Mr. Graves started to say but was interrupted by Mrs. McCoy who said, "That, of course, is only your own opinion."

Mrs. McCoy admitted it was and proceeded after Mrs. McCoy asked: "Haven't we been facing a building problem for several years?"

"We have met it as quickly as we economically could," Graves went on to say, "and I feel that we shouldn't swap horses in the middle of the stream, and that if we can float the bonds we should be in a position to go ahead."

Praises Supt. Smith "A superintendent is a general manager and he either makes or breaks an institution. In my opinion Mr. Smith has done a noteworthy job."

Mrs. McCoy then asked if there was any connection with the economy practiced in the local schools and the peak enrollments found this year at the state industrial school, the state prison, and the home-finding society.

"I don't believe our economy has," Mr. Graves commented. Mrs. McCoy expressed the hope that the next three years will see "an improvement in the Twin Falls standing among the 27 Class A schools."

Vote on the superintendent came after an hour's discussion of the various issues at hand. Women Vote No When the vote was taken, the two women members of the board, Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Ralph B. Smith, voted against retaining the superintendent, but were overruled as the men voted for his retention.

COLD WAVE HITS 20 BELOW ZERO

Winter Records for Four Years Tumble Here As Frigid Spell Returns

(Continued From Page One) Using their efforts to open those Twin Falls highway district roads which were still clogged with snow, J. D. Sinema said today. In temperatures ranging to 25 below, the crews, in many cases were forced to shovel through stretches of road as frozen drifts made it impossible for plows to navigate.

Today roads north, south and west of Twin Falls were open, as well as a stretch to a point three miles south of the city. At Hansen roads were opened two miles south and two miles north, as well as a stretch one mile north of the state highway. The road a mile west of Hansen is open from there to Addison avenue.

Others Opened During the night the roads in the vicinity of the Shamrock and Allendale schools were opened for travel.

Schools in the area had all resumed classes again today as buses were able to get through. Hansen and Kimberly buses are reported operating over alternate routes. Approximately 20 school buses, nine of which make two trips each day, are operating in this district.

A majority of the roads are open today, Mr. Sinema said, "and with good luck we should be able to open the balance of approximately nine miles by morning."

Four Accidents The cold wave, keeping Twin Falls streets icy and slippery, brought four accidents in the city yesterday afternoon and evening. Police records show today.

At 1:45 p. m. yesterday cars driven by Lou Jain and Mrs. E. N. Jones, both of Twin Falls, suffered dented fenders when the Jain car struck that being driven by Mrs. Jones, forcing it to skid across the street and over the sidewalk at the intersection of Third avenue and Fourth street north. Slippery streets caused the mishap.

At 5:20 p. m. cars driven by Louis Hutchinson and R. B. Greine, both of Twin Falls, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Second avenue and Fourth street west, police records show. The Greine car is said to have struck that driven by Hutchinson, bending fenders, of both cars and smashing a door on the Hutchinson machine. Slippery streets made the accident unavoidable.

Another Collision A car driven by Mrs. Frank McCleary of Twin Falls and a car registered in the name of H. A. Wilcox of route 2, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Sixth avenue east and Locust street at 5:40 p. m. Considerable damage resulted to the McCleary car and the woman told police the driver of the other car, after speaking to her in an "ungentlemanly" manner, left the scene without reporting to the police.

Frank Messenger reported to police at 7:10 last evening he struck a car bearing license No. OR-2474, when he attempted to pass it at the end of Main street east. TWO JUDGMENTS AFFECT OFFICERS

Decrees of $75 and $50 Entered As Outgrowth Of Arrests

Outgrowth of two arrests made here in 1935, judgment for $75 in favor of D. P. Holden was entered in district court today against Sam B. Elrod, former police chief; H. W. Gillette, present chief; Jesse Carlton, former patrolman who is now state traffic officer, and the American Surety company.

A second judgment for $50 was recorded on the court's books in favor of Holden against Elrod, Jack A. Empey, patrolman, and the surety concern.

Had Asked $33,500 Holden had asked for a total of $33,500 in the two suits, both of which were tried before juries in district court with Judge T. Bailey Lee presiding.

The cases were based on different counts. Holden, against Elrod, Chief Gillette and Carlton, charged entry of his home without a search warrant Aug. 28, 1935, and claimed imprisonment in city jail until the next day. His complaint at the time asserted no charges were filed. He asked $15,000 damages and $500 from the surety company for each of the three officers.

Denied Intoxication The suit against Elrod and Empey claimed arrest for asserted drunkenness, which Holden denied. He asserted he was jailed from a. m. Dec. 9 without charge of complaint. Intoxication charges were then filed before Justice H. M. Holger. Holden sought $15,000 and $1,000 from the company for each of the two defendants.

Chapman and Chapman were counsel for Holden. Attorneys for the defendants were C. A. Bailey, Rayborn and Harry Benoit.

The government troops, reinforced by replacements brought up from other sectors, held all their positions gained in the victory two days ago on the southern front and dug in to prevent a surprise insurgent counter-attack.

In retaliation, the insurgents opened up with their heaviest artillery from the Carabanchel sector, south of the city, blasting with shrapnel and high explosive shells and killing between 20 and 30 persons in the last few hours.

The youth's brother, George, 24, and Ray Yancey, 25, both of Kimberly, are serving four-month sentences in county jail for burglary of Mr. Steinberg's potato cellar at Kimberly.

The parole terms order Floyd Cunningham to record his daily doings in a book, to write down his financial deals, to be truthful and obedient, to refrain from liquor, and to consult Steinberg concerning residence, employment and amusements. He must report regularly to the district court and Sheriff E. F. Prater.

PRESIDENT GETS INAUGURAL BATH

Executive Salutes to Parade as Rain Pours Down On Capitol

Solid Roof The President's grandstand, the $11,000 replica of Andrew Jackson's hermitage, had a solid roof, but secret service agents stamped through it so frequently, looking suspiciously at everybody, that a cold wind nullified the good work of the electric radiators.

The house didn't do Mr. Roosevelt a bit of good. The inaugural committee built an enclosed booth on the front porch for his use in reviewing the parade. It was a nice booth, too, heated and protected on all sides with half-inch thick sheets of bullet-proof glass.

The President took a quick look at it—and ordered the windows removed. There was so much rain on 'em, that he couldn't see the parade!

Gets Good View Out went the windows, Mr. Roosevelt got a good view of the marchers, and vice-versa. The rain and the wind also got a good whack at the President, soaking him as thoroughly almost as if he'd fallen into a lake. The President watched the parade for two solid hours, acknowledged every salute, and smiled at every last cheer.

But when the final soldier had marched by, Mr. Roosevelt became visibly happier. So did I. I don't know what was in the President's mind, but I was thinking about that hot bath and those dry socks. I never knew before how thrilling the thought of warm, wool socks could be.

Flood dangers of Arkansas and Tennessee were confined to the corners reaching up to the St. Francis river valley at the boundaries adjoining Missouri. The situation was not believed serious in West Virginia.

Cold weather predicted for the flood states already had struck the west where nine were known dead and at least 19 feared lost amid towering snowdrifts. San Francisco had the coldest Jan. 20 in its history with 32 above. It was 44 below at Meacham, Ore.

Southern California citrus growers fought frost and freezing temperatures with smudge pots. A passenger train was stalled for nine hours in snow drifts near Curtis, Minn.

DAMAGES SOUGHT IN AUTO WRECK Damages of $10,145 are asked in a suit which had been filed in district court today by Byron Wheeler and his wife, Mrs. Opal Wheeler, against the Idaho Packing company.

The suit alleges injuries received by Mrs. Wheeler when the automobile in which she was a passenger was assertedly hit and turned over by one of the company's trucks west of Hansen Dec. 21. Injuries as listed in the complaint include the claim that Mrs. Wheeler was shocked and injured, and that premature birth of her baby came one day after the accident. J. W. Porter is counsel for the plaintiffs.

"SIT-DOWN" MEN PEACE BARRIERS

GMC Heads Refuse to Talk Until Workers Leave Factories

(Continued from Page One) used not to deal with the Flint alliance—organization of non-union workers and businessmen—while peace conferences were on. However, she indicated wearily that actual beginning of new negotiations apparently was still far removed.

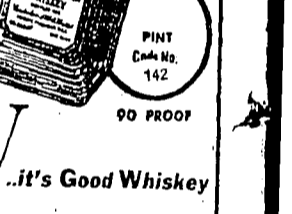

She refused to state whether she would ask GMC officials and strike representatives to "get together" here today but indicated it would be futile to make such a request now despite the fact all the principals to the dispute are in Washington.

Miss Perkins said she believed the General Motors officials would not leave Washington "immediately" and "the principal barrier is that the men are still in the plants."

"The company," she said, "says they are willing to negotiate with anyone tomorrow if the men are taken out of the plants."

THEATERS

Powell-Loy Picture

Now At Orpheum
"After the Thin Man," starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, opened at the Orpheum theater yesterday, a sensational sequel to "The Thin Man."

Powell and Miss Loy excel their stellar performance in the original and the story is even more intriguing. A first rate supporting cast includes James Stewart, Ellsandra Lund, Joseph Calleia, Jesse Ralph and Asta, the smart little wire-haired terrier that played such a clever role in "The Thin Man."

"After the Thin Man" presents a sparkling comedy-mystery, placed in San Francisco. Powell, as the detective, Nick Charles, arrives home after a New York venture determined to abandon the profession of sleuthing. But he encounters immediate mystery, murder and intrigue in an affair that extends from the aristocratic heights of old Nob Hill to the shadowed alleys of Chinatown.

Texas Ranger Story Will Open At Roxy

AT IDAHO

Patricia Ellis and Warren Hull are featured with Hugh Herbert in one of the most fascinating and hilarious comedy hits of the year, "Love Begins at 20," which begins tomorrow at the Idaho theater. Not that it is all romance and comedy, however, for there are plenty of thrills in the picture when a band of bank bandits go on a rampage and attempt to shoot up the town. The program is completed with "The Vigilantes" No. 11, cartoon and news. Showing for the best time tonight is Zane Grey's "Desert Gold" with Larry Crabbe, Marsden Hunt, Tom Keene and Robert Cummings.

CONTEST HONORS FOR TWIN FALLS

Mention Granted High School Here in Health Event; Jerome Praised

Twin Falls high school was awarded honorable mention for its entry in the school health newspaper contest conducted jointly by the Idaho State Editorial association and the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association in connection with the 1936 Christmas seal sale. It is announced, W. T. Marfneau, 1936 president of the editorial association, headed the committee of judges, which included G. R. Maxwell, secretary of the association, and Alvin Reading, Wendell.

First prize in the high school class was won by Montpelier, which was awarded $5. Arco school won the first prize of $5 for town schools, and the Halsey district school of Nez Perce county won the first prize of $5 for rural schools. Honorable mention was given to the entry of the Big Bend rural school of Mandoloka county.

Jerome Honored
Praise was given for printed school health newspapers as follows: Red and Blue from Pocatello high school; Buzz Saw from New Plymouth high school; Live Wire from Jerome high school, where it was reported that the students also secured articles printed in the local newspapers.

In the rural class special mention was made of health newspapers submitted by Riverview school of Minidoka county, and Central school of Howe in Blaine county, both of which showed originality in preparing material in health education.

The school health newspaper contest was part of the annual observance of "Thanks-for-Health" day instituted by the National Tuberculosis association and the Idaho association.

Angling is believed the most popular sport in America. It is said that 12,000,000 persons in the country engage in the pastime, although only 6,000,000 obtain fishing licenses each year.

Clark Votes Yes; Taylor Says No; Masters Decides

BOISE, Jan. 21 (AP)—It's a waste of time for Governor Barzilla W. Clark and Attorney General J. W. Taylor to attend meetings of the state pardon board if its action on cases appearing on the January calendar can be taken as future policy.

In each of 66 cases considered on one day to clean up the quarter's business, the vote of Secretary of State Ira H. Masters, third member, determined the board's action.

Clark Votes "Yes"
Reason was Governor Clark voted "yes" on each case considered with the exception of six. On all pardon applications except two Taylor said "No." So, in 59 cases, it was Masters who broke a deadlock between the governor and attorney general.

The board granted 20 pardons—only two of which were unconditional, set over five for the April meeting, and denied 41.

HAGERMAN DANCE HELD
HAGERMAN, Jan. 21 (Special)—Regardless of slippery roads and cold weather, 150 couples attended the Basque dance held at the Legion hall here Saturday night. Many out-of-town people were present. Music was furnished for the dance by the Basque orchestra of Mountain Home. Seventy-two dollars was cleared which will be donated to the high school athletic fund and the Legion hall.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE?

Reduction of Idaho's auto license fee to a flat rate of $5, as proposed by the Idaho Association of County Assessors, is regarded by most of the state's motorists as a plan that's too good to come true.

And yet there is apparently no sound reason why it should not come true.

The assessors seek the low flat rate, and ask return of one cent per gallon of the present gasoline tax to the counties to replace the revenue that would be lost if the present weight system of auto licensing were abandoned. The association estimates that the cent per gallon would provide the counties fully as much revenue as under the present system. And that cent constitutes the added gas tax that was tacked on years ago to retire state road bonds now amortized. The tax, however, returns.

The assessors hope for action of some sort at the present legislature. Compromise might bring a less drastic lowering of the license rate and return to the counties of a part of the gas tax funds suggested.

But that $5 flat rate looks mighty good to the man who drives a car.

The fur-lined cup and saucer on display at a New York surreal exhibition seems just the thing for that "morning after" breakfast.

CHEER UP, FORTY!

For years you've heard it said that "life begins at 40." Youthful sprigs chuckle at that and tolerantly eye those in their forties as antiquated and senile.

Not-so-youthful persons ponder the axiom as they approach 40 and fervently hope that it's true.

But it very definitely isn't just an optimistic mirage fostered by the elderly, not if you consider Mrs. Simpson and Mary Pickford.

They're doing nicely in a romantic way, and both are several years over 40.

So keep up the facials and massages, ladies, and start living instead of rusting at the four-decade mark.

"Ruhloff has been on the air a long time, but never has uttered a word." Dura thinks it serves him right for teaming up with a politician.

THREAT TO RECOVERY

To Idahoans, the blame for the increasingly wide General Motors strike may not appear clear on all points but of one fact there can be no doubt—a grave threat to business recovery has been thrust into the nation's economic picture.

The threat, if it becomes more serious, will touch pocketbooks as far away as those in Idaho.

Shut-down of the vast plants in Michigan, and of subsidiary feeder and assembly plants in other states, has already cut off the purchasing power of thousands of men. If the dispute is prolonged because of belligerence on either side, that reduced purchasing power will be felt nationally. In Idaho the chief threat in the near future looms as possible loss of business to scores of auto firms and their employes if the shut-downs continue long enough to exhaust the available supply of motor cars affected.

Chief stumbling block in the dispute between General Motors and the United Automobile Workers is apparently the matter of sole recognition for the union as the bargaining agent between G. M. C. and its workers. Whether or not the union's ranks include a majority of the plant employes is a moot question. The collective bargaining principle, however, is not at stake. The company emphatically is committed to that principle in policies made public long before the present controversy.

If federal mediators arranged an impartial vote of the workers themselves, the mandate would be clear and conflicting claims would be promptly proved or disproved.

In any event, both the union and General Motors must be made to realize the interest of America at large in the dispute.

This is not their own private squabble.

MODERN UTOPIA

An Ohio college professor tells some interesting, if odd, things about the little republic of San Marino, situated high on a peak adjoining Italy.

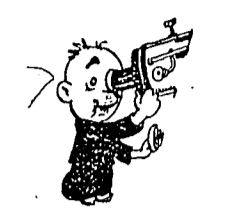

The professor, who has spent several summers in the region, says that the people of San Marino do not want wealth, "for that would make their republic worth conquering." They have refused opportunities to turn their republic into a resort such as Monte Carlo. They once even passed up offers of lands made by Napoleon.

Digging into the archives of the little nation, the professor learned that San Marino is a sort of Utopia. Since its founding in 301 A. D., it has had no labor troubles, unemployment or debts; and has had exceptionally long periods of peace.

But since neither the little republic nor its people are so avaricious that they are willing to victimize other countries or peoples to enrich themselves, does that seem so strange?

POT SHOTS

The Gentleman in the Third Row

POT SHOTS WISHES to announce that, like all other prominent business and professional institutions, the colyum has joined the Chamber of Commerce. This, however, will not exempt fellow chamber members from receiving due mention when they perform notable feats in which Pot Shots would be interested.

REFLECTION BY A LADY WITH A COLD

One thing makes me very cranky— It's when I sneeze before I reach my hanky! —Antoinette Marie

WE GATHER YOU HAVE A BUMP OR TWO

Dear Pot Shots: There is great need of a method of procedure that would guarantee more careful finishing of streets and highways. I would suggest the following method, compel the man who is in charge to drive an old model T Ford car with high pressure tires over it about 25 times and have his helpers ride with him. We have a good place to try it out. That is up on Eighth avenue east across Blue Lakes boulevard. For those in doubt tie your hat on and drive up sometime. —The Grouch

THE EVETIMES IS GETTING PRACTICALLY CLEVER!

Pot Shots: One of your contribs made mention the other day about how the Evetimes is valiantly going out and coining new words. Like that "finance" describing the rich Miss duPont. Well, you guys been at it again. In an item about personal property tax collections, the Evetimes mentioned "distress warrants." The usual way of describing those is "distrain" warrants, but after thinking the matter over I can see where the new way is appropriate. A gent against whom such a warrant may be issued probably thinks of it as "distress." Just helping you out, pal. —Tuckahoe Tad

STILL, OUR WEATHER'S A BIT CHILLY!

Pot Shots: Twin Falls talks about sub-zero weather but I'll tell you how cold it is here (up the river). See if you can imagine this: weather so cold that a blizzard from your direction would seem warm to us. —Emerson

OH, GRANDPARENTS ALL LIKE POT SHOTS!

Dear Pot Shots: I wonder how many grandmas entered your turkey contest. "Katie the Kook" was the first to "fess up." I will admit it great to be grandma for I have two of the sweetest granddaughters in the world. (Is that too much territory?) Pot Shots, I think you are going to have to come across with that big "How Do-o-o you do" just before you read the Pot Shots on the air. It won't hurt you any and I'm sure you will please lots of grandmas that's "listenin' in." —Lulabelle

WE UNDERSTAND THERE WAS A GENT NAMED GARNER INAUGURATED YESTERDAY. POT SHOTS DETECTIVES ARE INVESTIGATING THE RUMOR.

IT SEEMS TOUGH ON THOSE PETS!

Mr. Third Row Gent: I suppose old wide awake Pot Shots knows all about the latest idea for keeping warm in cold weather.

The stunt, I mean, of putting a small animal pet in your muffler to keep your neck warm. The pet keeps warm there and also keeps you warm.

Don't you see the possibilities of that idea, Pot Shots? Really, you ought to abandon newspaper work to open a pet shop in Twin Falls. You could sell people cats and dogs of small sizes to put under their overcoats as portable heaters. Only don't sell the same person both a cat and a dog, or by the time the fight was over the owner would be lying flat on his back in zero weather with no muffler or overcoat left.

I give you this hint out of the goodness of my heart to help you get into a more profitable business than the vocation you're following now.

—Betty of Burley

YOU BETTER TRY A FEW MORE LESSONS!

Pot Shots: I have been taking a memory training course by correspondence. It's wonderful stuff, too. Yes sir, I can now remember the first name of that movie actress, Miss Simon. Or is it that name?

CHAPTER XXV

DAYLIGHT was just tingling the mesa when Coroner Snelling and Sheriff Buckley arrived at the hacienda. Immediately the household came under the jurisdiction of the law. Tante Josephine's death was due to apoplexy, the coroner said, brought on by some unusual excitement—probably her nephew's death.

The confessed murderer lay where he himself had fallen, a victim of the sacred knife, and when they went to the Indian's room to accuse him of the crime, they found that he, too, was dead. Of a heart attack, the coroner decided again.

Pearl John said that the reason for the murder of his older brother had been robbery, and there had been witnesses present when Ramon had confessed that. After a great deal of interviewing of everyone in the house, and talking copious notes on the case, the officers departed, giving permission for all concerned to leave the mesa if they reported in Santa Fe for the inquest.

AFTER the first shock over Ramon's death, Angelique was able to tell how she had found the secret panel. She did not seem in the least abashed over her reason for making Betty a prisoner. "I thought Ramon loved her," she said simply, as though that was explanation enough for anything.

Betty ran to her and impulsively grasped her arm. "It came out all right, Angelique," she said. "I forgive you. I wasn't hurt."

Angelique shook her head. "I can never be anything but wrong for me to have sinned that way. I'll not know a moment's peace on this earth as long as I have such a thing on my soul. I didn't hurt you, Betty, but I hoped you would die when I pushed you through that doorway. I was mad with jealousy and I would gladly have strangled you with my own hands if it would have made Ramon mine alone."

"But there will be other men, Angelique," Bob began, then paused and looked at Betty. He knew very well that there could be no one else for him.

De Forest took Angelique's arm and gently led her away. Now that the mystery of the mesa had been explained, he was again the thoughtful, kindly host he had been on Christmas Eve. How long ago that gay party seemed now, and what tremendous changes had taken place since that Christmas

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As Cleared from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO—

Jan. 21, 1922
BOISE—Idaho stands next to Maine in the productiveness of the potato fields, according to Agricultural Statistician J. H. Jacobson in a report made public yesterday, in which he defends the maintenance of high spud grading.

Utah was Idaho's nearest competitor. Five states ranking high in production are New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Iowa was lowest with 43 bushels per acre. The United States average was 90.9 bushels per acre.

The report says: "Just as Idaho excels in yields so does she excel in the quality of her potatoes which accounts for her successful competition against all other states in the large potato market in spite of the serious handicap of high freight rates. In many markets Idaho potatoes command a premium."

27 YEARS AGO—

Thursday, Jan. 21, 1910
A move was launched Tuesday for bringing of the Snake river by two bridges to be put in jointly by Lincoln and Twin Falls counties for the proper promotion of tourist travel into this section. The committee of businessmen waited upon the commissioners headed by Attorney J. B. Hall, who has taken great interest in the matter, and the feasibility of putting two bridges across the Snake river was discussed with the final outcome that the commissioners have asked the similar organization from Lincoln county to meet in this city next Tuesday. The two boards will then proceed to Shoshone falls to look over the site proposed for the upper bridge. Later the investigation will be made of the bridge across the Snake river near Clear lakes, which has been planned for about $15,000. The bridge at the falls will not cost any more than the lower bridge and will cross somewhere below the ferry and above the main sweep of the falls.

As planned, good grades will also be put in leading to the bridges on both sides of the river, making the drive from the top of the grades not dangerous in the least and thus making it an ideal pleasure drive from both north and south side towns.

PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-moving Events in the Nation's Capital By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator. (Copyright, 1935, By Paul Mallon)

STRIKE NOTE
WASHINGTON—A good friend of the President was chatting with him last week about the peculiar state of the world, including the people in it.

The friend remarked that John L. Lewis, the labor titan, lives in an Alexandria, Va., house of ancient lineage. It was built of wood by the physician who attended George Washington in his last illness. The friend recalled that George's end was probably due to the fact that the physician, in accordance with medical custom of the day, bled the first President to death.

The President is supposed to have hesitated a moment, chuckled, and then replied: "Let us hope there is nothing allegorical about the house."

EGGS
The social circle of the White House seems to be extending at a significant rate. It has just been announced that President Runciman of the British board of trade is coming to see the President on a purely—just purely—social visit.

It was not announced, but society circles have the idea that the President would have enjoyed the company of Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain equally as well. Mr. Chamberlain is well versed in the lighter topics of the drawing room, including the war debts, gold movements and reciprocal tariffs. However, Mr. Chamberlain has the reputation of being a hard-boiled egg. In fact, some Britons classify him as a 10-minute egg, which indicates he is decidedly overdone, even for the British.

ADVANCE
President Roosevelt, however, may yet be surprised. Trade-Maker Runciman is classified by some as a 20-minuter, which is just about the ultimate in eggs. Size rather than amiability may have had something to do with the choice.

Conversations about an Anglo-American trade treaty, involving debts but probably not de facto stabilization, have been going on for a year, but not getting anywhere. Mr. Runciman's visit is expected to advance them to the preliminary stages of negotiation. A definite settlement is said not to be imminent.

EDEN
The birth of two new babies over the week end were reported, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Springfield and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Erskine at their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lance returned from their wedding trip Saturday. They visited in several points in southern Utah with relatives.

The freshmen and sophomore debate teams will hold their debate Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the high school. The freshman debaters are: Virginia Grant and Madge Little against Ione Claiborne and Dora Heuttig.

A number of cases of sickness have been reported with the majority of them being the old time "flu."

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

We think of a jealous child as one who pouts when another is petted or who snatches a new toy from his playmate and stops on it. But not so. Usually the jealous child guards his secret with his life. We cannot tell when a child is eating himself up inside with envy. Maybe he lies around and maybe he is mad, but he won't tell what ails him because he hardly knows himself, not in so many words.

More unfortunate conduct can be traced to this feeling of jealousy than many parents suspect. They know that Billy won't play with a certain boy or anybody that boy goes with. They may even find Billy kicking the Smith cat or, if all things, the Jones cat. And the Jones cat does no more than run across the street to the Smith's sometimes.

Maybe Billy does not try to get his spelling. Who would suspect that his dislike of spelling lies at Tommy Smith's door, because Tommy, one day, got a star when he, Billy, didn't?

Jealousy and Hate
And why does Billy hate Tommy? Oh, yes, he hates him. Jealousy is nearly always the cause of hate. Because Tommy has more clothes and bigger toys? Not at all. It is jealousy because the happy-go-lucky rival has friends.

Tommy grew up in a house with a sister, a brother and a step-brother. There was not much money in those former days, either. And the mother, fearful lest the boy belonging to her second husband would feel odd and lonely, became very wary of showing preference at any time to any one child. They were all treated exactly alike and not allowed to make

AS WE "Go Modern" LET'S NOT FORGET OLD-TIME FUNDAMENTALS

When folks bought ranges, back in 1903, this MONARCH was the last word in snappy new style. In those days there was no porcelain enamel—no artistic designs to divert attention from the malleable iron construction and riveted joints that women considered vitally important. Long life, good baking and fuel economy were the features that housewives insisted on having. And "malleable" ranges gave three qualities as no other range could. Are these considerations less important today? We believe not. MONARCH has "Gone Modern" in the limit—but MONARCH has not forsaken the fundamentals of malleable iron construction that insure tight joints, efficient cooking and "Satisfactory" service. Underneath that beautiful enamel body you will find the same unbreakable malleable iron parts—the same riveted construction that there was 30 years ago. And the good qualities your Mother demanded in her range are the same ones YOU should demand today. Buy a beautiful enameled range, by all means—but be sure there are malleable iron parts and riveted joints underneath the enameled body. Let us show you a MONARCH—and explain how it is made.

POLICE SYSTEM BOTHERS SOLONS

Amount of Authority to Give State Officers Causes Debate

BOISE, Jan. 21 (CP)—What to do about a state police system promises to become one of the more important headaches before Idaho's 24th legislature before the end of its 90-day regular session.

Up for consideration are two bills—one providing for a police system with complete enforcement powers, the other a highway patrol with its officers empowered only to make arrests for violations of motor vehicle laws.

The traffic system, proposed in a bill introduced in the senate by George Donart of Washington county, would be under the control of the commissioner of public works. Also to be transferred from the department of law enforcement would be collection of motor vehicle taxes. The patrol would not be under civil service in terms of Donart's bill.

Wants Civil Service

A proposal by C. W. Larsen, Ada county, for a state police system under civil service is more broad, delegating to the enforcement officers the powers now held by any peace officer in the state. There would be created an independent department, headed by a superintendent of state police who would be paid $3,600 a year—regular salary of state department heads.

Along with proposals to set up an independent police unit, or to put it in the department of public works there is agitation for legislation to lump scattered tax-collecting bureaus of the state under a tax commissioner.

The two pieces of legislation, if put into effect, would serve to eliminate the department of law enforcement as it is now set up. Probable effect would be naming of Commissioner of Law Enforcement John L. Balderston to head the state police, relieving him of responsibility for tax collections.

Waves Extradition

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 21 (CP)—A. M. Winn, 65, former broker of Boise, Idaho, signed a waiver of extradition today to return to Idaho for trial on embezzlement charges. He said he was "broken and tired and worn out with dodging the law."

The elderly, grey-haired man walked into the office of Sheriff R. A. Schmid yesterday and surrendered. He said he was wanted in Idaho for embezzlement of $30,000 in trust funds.

Striking to Save Cop's Job

Dismissal of Patrolman William (Pete) Eckley, 50 per cent of the Deepwater, N. J., police force, aroused such resentment that the campaign to win his reinstatement spread to school children, who eagerly went on strike in his behalf. A group of boys above carry high the banner that dented school authorities to aid their favorite cop on the job. Eckley meanwhile refused to surrender uniform, badge, pistol and key to the village's only traffic light.

CHIEF ENGINEER TRAVELS WIDELY

Member of Santa Clara Crew Covers Over Million Miles On Ship

NEW YORK (CP)—When the liner Santa Clara docks at New York soon from Valparaiso, Chile, Chief Engineer Charles H. Elliott will have completed exactly 1,500,000 miles in 23 years with the Grace line. During that period, which includes two years transiting the Mediterranean, he has never met with a disaster at sea. The worst that ever befell the propeller blades when they tangled with submerged wreckage.

Born in Philadelphia

Born in Philadelphia, Elliott started his career at sea at the age of 24. He is 53 now. His roster of travel reads like a page from a geography book. One of the first men to go through the Panama canal, he since has traversed the "big ditch" more than 200 times. He has been around "the bottom of the earth" through the Straits of Magellan some 14 or 15 times and crossed sharp edged window glass of a car the Atlantic a dozen times to take troops and supplies to France and then to bring them home, after the war.

Asked recently what he thought of youths making a career for themselves at sea, Elliott said: "My advice is that if a boy has a yearning to go to sea, by all means go. There is more chance today than ever before for a youth to make a real career for himself. The pay is good and the work isn't what it was when I first started. I wouldn't trade my job for the best of those on land."

SET PRICES HIT IN FARM STUDY

Specialists Claim U. S. Not Yet Ready for Price Fixing

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—The United States has not yet reached that point of agricultural development where it is ready for a policy of price fixing, either by federal agencies or others, according to the Glanville Foundation of the University of California, which specializes in farm problems.

Furthermore, the foundation is convinced it will be a long time before American agriculture is ready for such a development.

According to a survey just made by the foundation, if it were legally possible to empower federal or state governments or other agencies to fix agricultural prices high enough to cover cost of production and a 10 per cent one of two things would happen, as follows:

Cost Varies Greatly

In the first place, the survey found, if the price level were fixed at the average cost of production, plus a fair profit, the resulting price would yield an unusual profit to some producers.

Second, that there would be other producers whose costs would be higher than the price itself and they would lose money.

Taking peaches as an example, the foundation found that during the past 10 years, production costs to individual growers have ranged from $18.68 to $68.72 a ton for the canned product, with an average of $33.15. If the price of $30 a ton had been fixed during the period more than 25 per cent of all growers would have sold below cost of production while 35 per cent would have made a net profit of $8 a ton.

Climate Also Factor

The foundation found there was a wide variation in costs from year to year, due not only to different conditions in various sections of the United States, but to variations in climate and other factors, one which the producer had no control. It held that for this reason it would be impossible to fix a set price for a crop based on the previous year's record, because yield per acre is the most important factor in determining unit cost, and this cannot be established in advance. Furthermore, costs vary greatly during different series of years.

As regards Valencia oranges in California for example, the average cost of a packed box from 1925 to 1928 was $2.02, while from 1930 to 1934 it was $1.31.

The foundation concluded that these conditions apply to all classes of agricultural products in all parts of the United States and therefore make price fixing equitably impossible.

Loses Fortune

Loss of $200,000 of inert diamonds forced Joseph Rose (above) 63-year-old resident of Brooklyn, N. Y., to reveal that he had been receiving relief fraudulently. He accused Louis Guendel, a friend to whom he had confided his secret, of taking the gems. Rose claims to have been a founder of the New York Diamond Exchange.

LOVELORN SCAR SAINT'S STATUE

Ecclesiastical Officials Tire Of Replacing Nose On Work of Art

BREST, France (CP)—Breston ecclesiastical officials are searching for an asbestos or varborundum nose for one of Brittany's favorite saints. They find that because of his popularity among the Breston women folk the saint's third nose has disappeared. Weary of replacing his noses they are searching for something really permanent.

Saint Guirec, Breston patron saint of young maidens desiring marriage has lost his nose several times since he began his good work in the 13th century. Ecclesiastical authorities thought they had solved their problem by erecting a granite statue of the saint after his first wooden nose disappeared, but they never counted on the force of love. Tourists who are familiar with the many statues of saints in European cathedrals have seen the hollowed marble on toes, or fingers, where hundreds of thousands of pilgrims have left the imprint of their ardor, but few of them have seen the Breston holy man whose nose point is his nose.

Nose Is Pricked

According to Breston legends, Saint Guirec is an expert at arranging marriages, and if only the young woman who seeks a proper spouse will prick his nose with a pin and then say the proper prayers, everything will soon be ready. This promise has brought women of all ages and with all sizes pins flocking to his statue here. Those assaults have made it necessary to replace the nose time and again.

The white-tail deer was of great economic value to the early settlers of the eastern United States. Its flesh was one of the most reliable staples in the food supply. Yet, today, in spite of the heavy annual toll, the white-tail continues to thrive within sight of New York City, in the most densely populated areas of the United States.
