Youth Confesses Kidnap-Slaying Of Aged Doctor

20-Year-Old Police Character Shows State Troopers Way To Body

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 3 (UP)—Robert Kenyon, 20-year-old morose police character, led federal agents and state troopers today to the body of Dr. J. C. Davis, whom he kidnaped and killed before attempting to collect $5,000 ransom.

The body of the 67-year-old physician was found in a thicket 200 yards from U. S. highway 63, 14 miles south of Willow Springs. A check book was clutched in the left hand, indicating officers said that he had attempted to use it to buy his way from the kidnapers.

Worked Alone Earl J. Gombel, led a bureau of investigation agent directly under J. Edgar Hoover, said Kenyon apparently worked alone. "How could one man hold a victim and collect the ransom?" the agent said in reply to questions of whether Kenyon had companions. "The position of the body indicated there had been no struggle."

Comely believed that Kenyon killed Dr. Davis, then sent the ransom notes. The first note was received last Thursday morning, demanding that $5,000 be paid in four $1,000 bills, nine $100 bills and five $20 bills. The second was received yesterday after Kenyon was arrested.

Buried Confession In Kenyon's pocket when he was arrested was found a piece of white paper bearing identifications identical to the wording of the ransom note. Apparently this sheet of paper had been placed directly beneath the ransom note while it was being written. Kenyon blurted out his confession.

Kenyon led federal agents and state troopers to the body after 18 hours of questioning in which he finally broke down and confessed kidnaping Dr. Davis a week ago yesterday as the physician walked from his office.

The kidnaper was rushed away to an unnumbered jail for safekeeping immediately after the body was found to prevent mob violence. Feeling had become intense here as word of the confession spread among townsmen before dawn.

Would Be Lynched "They would lynch him in a minute if he stayed here," Supt. B. Marvin Casteel of the state highway patrol said. Casteel and Comely led the search for Dr. Davis and the kidnaper. Both were called into the case the day after the physician disappeared.

Kenyon was arrested yesterday by Sergeants Nathan Masie and Otto Voss of the state highway patrol. They said they received a tip but refused to reveal from where it came. Kenyon had an automatic pistol in his possession, the officers said. It was believed to have been (Continued on Page 2, Column 6)

CATHOLIC MEET OPENS IN MANILA

Pilgrims From 54 Nations Gather For Eucharistic Congress

MANILA, Feb. 3 (UP)—Thousands of Roman Catholic pilgrims from 54 Christian nations of the world tonight were participants in the 33rd International Eucharistic Congress which opened here today. With heads bared and bowed reverently, they stood before Archbishop Michael J. O'Doherty of the Manila diocese and listened to his summons for them to turn from the cares of passions, time and money and devote their lives to the love of God.

The congress, the first ever to be held in the far east, found Christians of every color and every race in attendance and converted the city of Manila into a mecca for the devout. The pilgrims, thousands of whom had come from every corner of the earth, assembled on the vast Luneta park and all eyes were turned on the splendor of the altar where grey-haired Archbishop O'Doherty exhorted them to follow in the footsteps of the clergy and follow "in our lives the great example of sacrifice which the holy mass gives to the world."

Offers Tribute The archbishop of the diocese of the Philippines stood in the shadow of the altar, chair-topped balding as he opened the congress here. His first official act was to welcome Denis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, who, as papal legate, was the personal representative of Pope Pius XI. O'Doherty said, "we offer our tribute to the homage of your eminence, our welcome and obedience in all the things you have been placed over, and throughout on this solemn occasion we offer our loyalty and love to the common father of the faithful."

IDAHO SUPREME COURT APPROVES DEATH PENALTY FOR VAN VLACK

Hope of Escaping Gallows Is Killed

Idaho's supreme court this afternoon upheld the murder conviction and death penalty against Douglas Van Vlack, found guilty here nearly a year ago of murdering his divorced wife, Mildred Hook of Tacoma.

The court's decision, upholding the verdict of a district court jury in Twin Falls, killed the last hope of Van Vlack for escaping the gallows.

Date for execution must be re-set in district court here. Judge Adam B. Barclay, who imposed the original death decree, died last week and Van Vlack will face another jurist, probably Judge J. W. Porter, in hearing his final doom sealed.

The supreme court opinion affirming the judgment of conviction and death, according to a telephoned United Press dispatch, was concurred in unanimously by Justices Givens, Morgan, Holden and Judge C. E. Winstead of Ada county, sitting in because of disqualification of Justice Ailshie. The four disagreed on minor points but concurred in the judgment ending Van Vlack's hope of commutation to life imprisonment.

The appellant's own confession and admission, although later denied, were competent proof of evidence of guilt, the court's decision held. "All the jury could take into consideration the demeanor and general appearance of the appellant.

"All of this evidence was competent and amply sufficient in law to sustain a conviction of Van Vlack of willful, deliberate and premeditated murder of the deceased (Mildred Hook) with knowledge aforethought, being murder in the first degree." Concerning Van Vlack's insanity plea, the court said: "There was ample and entirely plausible evidence leading clearly to the conclusion that Van Vlack was sane during the entire period in his acquaintance with the deceased and up to and including the time of trial."

The decision came just five days short of a full year after the district court jury in Twin Falls tried to convict, announced the guilty verdict before a hushed and jammed courtroom, and fixed the death penalty.

The jury brought in its decision at 2:20 p. m. on Feb. 8, 1936.

Van Vlack's attorney, E. V. Larson, immediately announced that the convicted man's parents would appeal the case and would spend their last cent in fighting to avert hanging for their son.

Part of early delay in the appeal came because of the long time needed to transcribe the voluminous testimony. Statutory filing and counter-filing by the state took additional time, and Van Vlack's last appeal then went on the crowded docket of the supreme court which has had the case under advisement for months. Today's decision wrecking his last hopes broke a long silence on the fateful appeal.

The crime for which Van Vlack must die—slaying his divorced wife, Mildred Hook—was only one of three on which the state had prepared to act if needed. Shooting to death of Fontaine Cooper, state traffic patrolman, and Deputy Sheriff Henry C. Givens, were admitted by Van Vlack. The pair was shot when they stopped Van Vlack and Miss Hook on the highway near Buhl Nov. 25, 1935. Cooper died on the spot and Givens succumbed 10 days later.

Miss Hook's slaying, the jury's verdict of guilt decided, was carried out by Van Vlack as the pair hid in a culvert to escape an intensive manhunt.

1937 Soil Program Mapped at Session

Community committee-men of Twin Falls county Agricultural Conservation association today met at the county court house here to hear an explanation of the 1937 soil conservation program by H. J. Spencer.

The group which was meeting here today will return to their respective communities and instruct their farmers in their districts, Mr. Spencer said.

The 1937 program, like that in 1936, emphasizes conservation of the soil for agricultural improvement. Spencer pointed out, and followed closely the 1936 report. The program this year has different divisions on payments, less being earned by diversion, and more available to be earned by eroding out approved soil building practices.

Farmer who signed the work sheets last year will not have to sign again to participate in the 1937 program but rather will be carried over. Spencer told the committee.

FDR Asks Flood Control Money

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UP)—A $2,750,000,000 plan for bulwarking the nation against such floods as the current disaster was placed before congress today by President Roosevelt.

The program featured immediate expenditure of $116,000,000 in the Ohio and lower Mississippi river areas now stricken by flood. Most of the money would go for improving dike and levee systems and constructing new reservoirs.

Mr. Roosevelt sent the report, compiled by the National Resources Committee, to congress with a special message. He also urged development of a public works program on a permanent basis, suggesting immediate establishment of a six-year building plan.

In the Ohio river section, the resources committee recommended immediate expenditure of $50,000,000 for a continuation and expansion of previous flood control surveys by the corps of engineers.

Spending of $600,000,000 at Middleboro, Ky., to construct levees protecting property from flood ravages also was put before congress.

In the lower Mississippi valley, the committee urged spending of $100,000,000 in the next two years constructing flood control projects approved by congress last year. Work would extend from Arkansas through Louisiana to the Gulf of Mexico.

The committee outlined $15,100,000 worth of other control projects needed along the Mississippi including improvement of existing levees.

Behind that, current spending was another recommendation for allocation of $35,000,000 for "deferred construction" of an Ohio river flood control project featuring 14 reservoirs already authorized by congress.

Discusses Ohio Valley In all the committee presented water development projects for the country's 17 drainage basins. It discussed the Ohio valley with this statement:

"A system of flood control reservoirs on the tributaries would provide the most practical means of controlling the floods of the Ohio and its larger branches.

Protection against major floods was provided years ago in the Mississippi basin by a system of reservoirs now under construction. A comprehensive plan developed by the corps of engineers includes some 80 reservoirs for flood control and power production.

Many of the possible benefits in flood control could be obtained by building 39 of these reservoirs, about half of which are judged to be economically justified at this time. Fourteen were authorized by congress in the flood control act of 1936.

Builds Water Projects The committee's study, ordered last year by the President, divided water projects into an "A" group containing $1,757,000,000 worth of (Continued on Page 2, Column 8)

DEFENSE CALLED IN FALLS TRIAL

AMERICAN FALLS, Ida., Feb. 3 (UP)—Defense witnesses were being called today in the first degree murder trial of L. W. Evans, 40-year-old farmer, and his housekeeper, Leah Broadhead.

The pair are charged with responsibility for the death of Evans' four-year-old daughter, Georgia Marie, who a neighbor's boy reported died on Nov. 7 of "atypical meningitis."

The defense is attempting to prove that the small girl had not been discriminated against in the family of eight children—five Evans', three Mrs. Broadhead's and that she had not been beaten or otherwise mistreated as the prosecution had attempted to show.

MOTOR LICENSES ADVANCE $2,000

Twin Falls county bought nearly $2,000 more in motor vehicle licenses in January than during the first month of 1936. County Assessor J. D. Barnhart announced today. Receipts from the fees for the initial month of the current year were $10,497.80. Mr. Barnhart reported. Funds taken in during January, 1936, were $8,499.95.

Passenger cars licensed through Jan. 30, last business day of the month, totaled 112 more than for the 1936 figure. Registrations this year were 499 and last year 387. Trainers took a decided jump in license assistance for the first month of the year, showing 79 as against 46.

The figures, with 1937 quoted first: passenger autos 499 and 387, trucks 45 and 42, farm trucks, 26 and 37, commercial 5 and 5, depreciation last month, one in January, 1936, two in 1936, trailers 78 and 66.

Engineers Refuse Crest Prediction

CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 3 (UP)—Men and the "super flood" were fighting each other to a standstill on the walls of Cairo today.

After a steady rise through the night, the Ohio river remained at 59.58 feet for eight hours. Engineers refused to predict whether the crest had arrived or whether the Ohio merely was gathering strength for another assault on the 63-foot wall that protects the lives of 6,000 men in the city.

Twice before in the last three days the big gauge on the sloping concrete wall has clung to one marker for a considerable time—once for 12 hours and again for seven hours. But both times the river returned to the attack and pushed its flood higher on the concrete.

Bursting "Sandbars" The battle went on and no one relaxed vigilance after a night of bursting "sandbars" of spouting geyser in the streets; of breaking gas mains; of sinking sidewalks and collapsing houses.

All the way down the Mississippi from the Ohio and in its path were Hickman, Ky., and New Madrid, Mo., waiting breathlessly to see if Cairo could throw back the spirit that the river brings. Their hour comes later and while they waited the fear of the unknown was in the minds of their people.

Behind the crest was Paducah, Ky., a "ghost city" where the river was 10 miles wide and five feet in the streets. Thirty-four thousand persons have been driven out of Paducah, and fate, piling one on top of sorrow, sent fire raging into the town.

Deaths Toll Climbs Louisville, still farther back of the crest, had 230,000 homeless, 211 dead, and 25 of its 40 square miles under water.

Deaths throughout the long roll of the flood from Pittsburgh to the gulf climbed to 395. There are 1,000,000 persons homeless and the property damage totaled $500,000,000.

Tragedy walked ahead of the crest as well as behind. At New Madrid, Mo., 10 more bodies were recovered from a strong-running spillway, bringing to 15 the known dead in the sinking of a barge carrying 100 workmen.

Fourteen of those aboard the barge still were missing, and army engineers said there was little hope that all would be found alive.

Gauge Crawls Up For a time last night Cairo thought it had the river whipped. At 3 p. m. yesterday the gauge read 59.52 feet. At 4:30 p. m. it had crawled up to 59.54 feet.

There it stood for seven hours, but there was no rest for the men who guard the walls.

Just when they were making exultant predictions that they had (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

HOPES INCREASE FOR STRIKE END

Lewis and Knudsen Confer At Peace Meeting Held In Detroit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UP)—Officials of the U. S. labor department were informed today that the first conference between John L. Lewis, labor leader, and William S. Knudsen, vice president of General Motors corp., increased hopes of peaceful settlement of the automobile strike.

By CYRUS L. SELZBERGER DETROIT, Feb. 3 (UP)—Capital and labor chiefs, brought together through intervention of President Roosevelt in a last, desperate effort to avert violence at Flint, met for an hour and a half today to explore possibilities of a peaceful settlement of the General Motors strike.

John L. Lewis, chief of the committee for industrial organization, sat face-to-face for the first time with William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors.

Gov. Frank Murphy presided as mediator and special representative of President Roosevelt, C. L. James Doney, federal conciliator, also was there.

"Interesting Conference" "There has been an interesting, friendly and helpful conference," Murphy said. "There will be another later today, here."

The meeting took place in the chamber of Judge George Murphy, brother of the governor.

Lewis waved his hand toward Murphy when pressed for comment. "It's all up to the governor," he said.

Knudsen ran from Judge Murphy's office into a waiting elevator so fast that news cameramen could not even snap his picture.

Officials Ejected From Own Factory By Strike Leaders

AKRON, O., Feb. 3 (UP)—The "rooney" fire and Rubber company's plant 2 was closed indefinitely today after a disturbance in which two officials were ejected forcibly.

The management ordered the closure after C. C. Blusser, vice president, and L. B. Tompkinson, superintendent, were shoved from the factory in a disagreement with unionists over whether a member delinquent in dues should work. Four thousand were idle.

PARLEY TO TALK MILK STANDARDS

"School" Planned Thursday At Health Unit Under U. S. And State Experts

A "milk school" for the purpose of improving the standards in the production of milk, and to answer the questions of dairymen concerning their problems, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m., in the offices of the Twin Falls county health unit, officials of the unit announced today. The unit offices are located in the east end of the nurses' home at the county hospital.

The school will be under the direction of Dr. F. A. Clark, milk specialist of the public health service with offices in Washington, D. C., and W. V. Leonard, state chemist with headquarters at Boise.

These will attend the meeting are: J. M. Welsh and C. H. Watson, sanitary inspectors for the state of Idaho; Dr. E. R. Price, Twin Falls city sanitary inspector; Paul C. Ward of Boise, representative of the state office of milk survey; H. S. Post of Twin Falls, county sanitary inspectors, and O. H. Coleman, Twin Falls city commissioner of public safety.

Officials hope the educational program will assist the dairymen in improving their methods of milk production, with special reference to requirements as they are now outlined under the Twin Falls city milk ordinance.

Local dairies and milk distributors are now operating under a re-arranged moratorium which is tentatively scheduled to end Feb. 20 at which time the grade of milk being delivered by each individual will be stamped on the bottle cap.

OHIO RIVER LAPS AT LEVEE TOPS

Engineers Refuse to Predict If Crest Has Been Reached

(Continued from Page One) won, there came a loud sound at their backs—a sort of "whoosh" and water leaped into the air near Third and Poplar streets.

"Sandbags" somebody yelled. Men left the walls to meet the enemy on this newest front. Trucks clattered through the streets, carrying 100-pound sandbags which are used to build a wall around "bolls" and attempt to keep the water under control.

Come With Flood

Sandbags' almost always come with floods. They are caused when the normal outlets for underground water is shut off swollen creeks and rivers. The ground water, pushing with terrific force in an attempt to free itself from the imprisoning earth, gets closer and closer to the surface of the ground. Finally it makes a bump in the ground. Then it bursts through and rises like a geyser.

It was toward one of these big sandbags that men raced. They had no trouble locating it because a sweet, sickening odor led them on. A gas main had cracked.

House Collapses

Thousands of gallons of water poured out and began to spread over two square blocks.

A house, one and a half stories high, shook crazily and collapsed. The earth shifted and a long section of sidewalk dropped three feet.

Pumps were put to work and gradually the workmen gained control of the spouting water. All night they used electric pumps to keep the streets clear of water from smaller sandbags, some of them no larger than a man's thumb. No one was injured because that section of the town had been evacuated.

More than $1,700 has been raised as a contribution to aid the American Red Cross in flood relief, Mayor Duane McD. Johnston, Twin Falls chapter disaster relief chairman, said here at 1 p. m. today.

This makes the local unit approximately $200 over the quota of $1,500 set for this section, the mayor said.

ISOLATED TOWNS ASK FOR BOOKS

Requests Show General Gains in Reading Trend, Says NYA Supervisor

Numerous requests for the provision of library facilities by residents of isolated communities, is indicative of a general increase in reading interest, Harold A. Sallsbury, National Youth administration area supervisor, said here today.

In cooperation with the state library planning board a statewide book drive, designed to provide rural areas with reading matter, was recently completed.

Many Donated

"The drive brought in several hundred books and magazines in the Twin Falls area," Mr. Sallsbury said. "Material obtained has been sent to small communities interested in setting up libraries or reading rooms. An example of the work accomplished in this area is to be found in the county library, established by the N. Y. A. at Carey."

Books and periodicals garnered from the drive have been supplemented by long-time loans from the state traveling library, with the result some degree of library service has been extended to practically every remote community in the state, the supervisor said.

Sallsbury points out that through the development of the library project, employment for approximately 40 Idaho youths has been provided over the state.

Clothing And Canned Foods Are Donated

Donated gifts of clothing, shoes, blankets and canned goods were coming in today to the headquarters of the voluntary Twin Falls drive to aid needy children and their families.

The office is open from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Can Telephone

Twin Falls residents desiring to give materials or foodstuffs to the youngsters and their families may bring the goods to the headquarters of the drive, 1197 W. of the Green for the establishment, 350.

All types of clothing and shoes will be accepted. It was announced, but the example of one Twin Falls housewife was used for those who can follow suit.

The woman brought in old shoes but first had them half-soled and put into ready-to-wear shape for the needy child who will receive them.

100 Ducks Banded In Operations At Blue Lakes Trap

Birds, Seeking Food, Easily Caught for Marking, Says W. R. Priebe

To date, 100 ducks have been banded by W. R. Priebe, cooperating bird bander under the biological survey, at a trap maintained on the Snake river, it is announced today.

Out of the 100 banded, 73 were male mallards, 19 female mallards, six pintails and two baldpates. In the capture two birds, which had been banded at the same station last year, were noted.

The trap used is a government "V" type, being 30 feet long six ways. The trap is baited with feed, the birds entering through two entrances and then being unable to leave.

At the last trapping it was only necessary to shut the trap for 45 minutes to capture 83 birds. It is pointed out, because the birds were hungry and took readily to the feed.

Under ordinary circumstances the trap is baited for a period of 48 hours.

Of the birds banded to date, 25 per cent were in excellent condition, 50 per cent in favorable condition, and the remaining 25 per cent were weak because of lack of food and cold weather existing in past weeks.

The birds are banded for the purpose of mapping their flights, span of life, and areas visited as well as for other data obtained.

MINES ORDERED SOLD FOR TAXES

Arizona Plans to Confiscate Phelps Dodge Property For Non-Payments

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 3 (UP)—Phelps Dodge copper mines properties in four Arizona counties were ordered sold today by State Attorney General Joe Conway to satisfy $2,083,084 tax claims for 1933 and 1934.

Conway wrote to county treasurers of Yavapai, Pima, Greenlee and Cochise counties, ordered them to sell all or part of the properties to pay the lien of taxes, penalties, interest and costs of collection or sale.

The copper company has property holdings exceeding $100,000,000 in value and has disputed more than $4,300,000 in taxes, contending there is dispute if the counties could return money should amounts be found excessive.

The state recently won tax suits covering the 1933 and 1934 payments in federal court but taxes for 1935 and 1936 also are delinquent.

Influenza Epidemic Threatens Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 3 (UP)—An influenza epidemic has developed among flood refugees in Memphis, the Red Cross reported today. More than 1,000 flood sufferers are in hospitals, stricken with flu. A majority of the 2,500 housed in school buildings were suffering from colds.

100 Ducks Banded In Operations At Blue Lakes Trap

Birds, Seeking Food, Easily Caught for Marking, Says W. R. Priebe

To date, 100 ducks have been banded by W. R. Priebe, cooperating bird bander under the biological survey, at a trap maintained on the Snake river, it is announced today.

Out of the 100 banded, 73 were male mallards, 19 female mallards, six pintails and two baldpates. In the capture two birds, which had been banded at the same station last year, were noted.

The trap used is a government "V" type, being 30 feet long six ways. The trap is baited with feed, the birds entering through two entrances and then being unable to leave.

At the last trapping it was only necessary to shut the trap for 45 minutes to capture 83 birds. It is pointed out, because the birds were hungry and took readily to the feed.

Under ordinary circumstances the trap is baited for a period of 48 hours.

Of the birds banded to date, 25 per cent were in excellent condition, 50 per cent in favorable condition, and the remaining 25 per cent were weak because of lack of food and cold weather existing in past weeks.

The birds are banded for the purpose of mapping their flights, span of life, and areas visited as well as for other data obtained.

WEATHER EASES, ROADS CLEARING

Moderate Temperatures Melt Snows in City; Plows Open Routes

Moderate weather continued in Twin Falls and vicinity today and a cloudless sky permitted a bright sun to melt considerable snow gathered during the past few days.

Temperatures continued above the zero mark, and this morning low reading was 19 at the bureau of entomology. Yesterday high temperature was 37 while low was 22 above. Precipitation totaled .01 of an inch.

Light Snow

Forecast called for cloudy weather tonight and Thursday with light snow in the south portion. No change in temperatures is indicated.

All roads in the Twin Falls highway district, were expected to be open again tonight after high winds during the past three days had closed many of them.

All last night and today, plows were busy on the Salmon tract and south of Kimberly. Crews were also working on the east and west roads south of Twin Falls. J. D. Strama, district engineer, reports.

Severe Condition

A severe condition was found at Hollister, Simca said, where high winds had caused huge drifts to form and after removing the snow from the fields, had also started to blow off the top soil.

Today, school bus routes in the area of Hollister and Amsterdam were open again. When all the district roads are open tonight, crews will widen the roads in efforts to prevent sudden blockades by the event of future blizzards.

MISSOURI YOUTH ADMITS KILLING

20-Year-Old Character Leads Police to Body of Aged Doctor

The tip was believed to have come through a previous tip by Kenyon who last Nov. 24 held up an automobile sales agency at Rolla, Mo., and forced a salesman to take him to a point near Yukon. There, according to troopers, Kenyon took $2 from the salesman and escaped in the new Ford V-8 car in which they had ridden from Rolla.

Sedan Identified

The blue sedan was identified by four men here as the one in which Dr. Davis was last seen with the stranger, whom they later identified as Kenyon.

Kenyon admitted according to Connelley, that he threw Dr. Davis' medical kit in the North Fork river 16 miles southeast of here where it was found last Friday by Buster Briley, a farm youth.

Discovery of the kit brought apprehension here that the physician, beloved throughout the Ozark hill country for his charity work, had been slain.

Officers described Kenyon as small, weighing about 135 pounds and about five feet eight inches tall. He has dark hair and dark piercing eyes.

He pointed indifferently, troopers said, to the body after he had led officers to it in a thicket before dawn.

From Tacoma

Connelley came here directly from working on the kidnaping of 10-year-old Charles Mattson at Tacoma, Wash. With him were Dwight Brantley, special agent in charge of the Oklahoma City bureau, E. E. Conroy, agent at Atlanta, and 12 other agents.

Connelley attributed success in apprehension of the kidnaper to "results obtained solely through the cooperation of the Missouri state highway patrol."

He said Dr. Davis "undoubtedly was killed the day he was taken away." He attributed the kidnaping to Kenyon's general urge to spend money.

Mrs. Davis was prostrated when advised of her husband's death.

Davis' willingness to serve, even at 67, had led him into the abduction net. Custel said that it was the physician's generosity to the unfortunate and the fact that he had brought half the community into the world that intensified lynching feeling.

Dairy Output Climbs, Co-op Group Advised

Gains in practically all lines of dairy production were reported to approximately 200 members of the Twin Falls Cooperative Dairy men's association in annual meeting yesterday at the Twin Falls county fair grounds, at Filer.

Don't Deduct Tax, Employers Told

Can't Take Portion Off Pay of Workers, State Chief Tells Bosses

Warning that employers are not to deduct from their employees wages, that portion of the payroll tax which they themselves are required to pay was issued at Boise today by Laurence B. Lyman, superintendent of the unemployment compensation division of the industrial accident board.

The Idaho unemployment compensation law provides two separate and distinct payroll taxes, one on employers and one on employees.

As to the employers' tax, Lyman said, the law states that contributions required from an employer on his own behalf shall not be deducted, in whole or in part, from the wages of the individuals in his employ.

Mr. Lyman explained that during 1937, employers are required to contribute nine-tenths of one per cent of their wages, which the employees must deduct at the time such wages are paid. In addition the employer are required to pay one and eight-tenths per cent of the total wages payable during 1937 which must not be deducted from the employees' wages.

Many employers are deducting both taxes from their employees' wages through a mistaken understanding of the law. However, there is ample evidence that other employers are deliberately making both of these deductions in an effort to save as much as home life.

Both of these deductions in an effort to save as much as home life. The tax on employers is based on the number of employees in a business and home.

OHIO RIVER LAPS AT LEVEE TOPS

Engineers Refuse to Predict If Crest Has Been Reached

(Continued from Page One) won, there came a loud sound at their backs—a sort of "whoosh" and water leaped into the air near Third and Poplar streets. "Sandbolls" somebody yelled. Men left the walls to meet the enemy on this newest front. Trucks clattered through the streets, carrying 100-pound sandbags which are used to build a wall around "bolls" and attempt to keep the water under control. "Come With Flood" Sandbolls almost always come with floods. They are caused when the normal outlets for underground water is shut off swollen creeks and rivers. The ground water, pushing with terrific force in an attempt to free itself from the imprisoning earth, gets closer and closer to the surface of the ground. Finally it makes a lump in the ground. Then it bursts through and rises like a geyser. It was toward one of these big sandbolls that men raced. They had no trouble locating it because a sweet, sickening odor led them on. A gas main had cracked. Thousands of gallons of water spouted out and began to spread over two square blocks. A house, one and a half stories high, shook crazily and collapsed. The earth shifted and a long section of sidewalk dropped three feet. Pumps were put to work and gradually the workmen gained control of the spouting water. All night they used electric pumps to keep the streets clear of water from smaller sandbolls, some of them no larger than a man's thumb. No one was injured because that section of the town had been evacuated.

ISOLATED TOWNS ASK FOR BOOKS

Requests Show General Gains in Reading Trend, Says NYA Supervisor

Numerous requests for the provision of library facilities by residents of isolated communities, is indicative of a general increase in reading interest, Harold A. Salisbury, National Youth administration area supervisor, said here today. In cooperation with the state library planning board a statewide book drive, designed to provide rural areas with reading matter, was recently completed.

Many Donated

"The drive brought in several hundred books and magazines in the Twin Falls area," Mr. Salisbury said. "Material obtained has been sent to small communities interested in setting up libraries or reading rooms. An example of the work accomplished in this area is to be found in the county library, established by the N. Y. A. at Carey." Books and periodicals garnered from the drive have been supplemented by long-time loans from the state traveling library, with the result some degree of library service has been extended to practically every remote community in the state, the supervisor said. Salisbury points out that through the development of the library project, employment for approximately 40 Idaho youths has been provided over the state.

Influenza Epidemic Threatens Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 3 (AP)—An influenza epidemic has developed among flood refugees in Memphis. More than 1,000 flood sufferers are in hospitals, stricken with flu. A majority of the 2,500 housed in school buildings were suffering from colds. Red Cross physicians said eight out of every 10 refugees now arriving have influenza.

100 Ducks Banded In Operations At Blue Lakes Trap

Birds, Seeking Food, Easily Caught for Marking, Says W. R. Priebe

To date, 100 ducks have been banded by W. R. Priebe, cooperating bird bander under the biological survey, at a trap maintained on the Snake river, it is announced today. Out of the 100 banded, 73 were male mallards, 19 female mallards, six pintails, and two bayducks. In the capture two birds, which had been banded at the same station last year, were noted. The trap used is a government "V" type, being 30 feet long six ways. The trap is baited with feed, the birds entering through two entrances and then being unable to leave. At the last trapping it was only necessary to shut the trap for 45 minutes to capture 83 birds, it is pointed out, because the birds were hungry and took readily to the feed. Under ordinary circumstances the trap is baited for a period of 48 hours. Of the birds banded to date, 25 per cent were in excellent condition, 50 per cent in favorable condition, and the remaining 25 per cent were weak because of lack of food and cold weather existing in past weeks. The birds are banded for the purpose of mapping their flights, span of life, and areas visited as well as for other data obtained.

Moderate Temperatures Melt Snows in City; Plows Open Routes

Moderate weather continued in Twin Falls and vicinity today and a cloudless sky permitted a bright sun to melt considerable snow, gathered during the past few days. Temperatures continued above the zero mark, and this morning low reading was 19 at the bureau of meteorology. Yesterday high temperature was 37 while low was 22 above. Precipitation totaled .01 of an inch. Light Snow Forecast called for cloudy weather tonight and Thursday with light snow in the south portion. No change in temperatures is indicated. All roads in the Twin Falls highway district were expected to be open again tonight after high winds during the past three days had closed many of them. All last night and today, plows were busy on the Salmon tract and south of Kimberly. Crews were also working on the east and west roads south of Twin Falls. J. D. Sinema, district engineer, reports. Severe Condition A severe condition was found at Hollister, Sinema said, where high winds had caused huge drifts to form and after removing the snow from the fields, had also started to blow off the top soil. Today, school bus routes in the area of Hollister and Amsterdam were open again. When all the district roads are open tonight, crews will widen the roads in efforts to prevent sudden blockades in the event of future blizzards.

MISSOURI YOUTH ADMITS KILLING

20-Year-Old Character Leads Police to Body of Aged Doctor

(Continued from Page One) the weapon with which Dr. Davis was killed. The tip was believed to have come through a previous tip by Kenyon who last Nov. 24 held up an automobile sales agency at Rolla, Mo., and forced a salesman to take him to a point near Yukon. There, according to troopers, Kenyon took $2 from the salesman and escaped in the new Ford V-8 car in which they had ridden from Rolla. Sudden Identified The blue sedan was identified by four men here as the one in which Dr. Davis was last seen with the stranger, whom they later identified as Kenyon. Kenyon admitted, according to Connelly, that he threw Dr. Davis' medical kit in the North Fork river 16 miles southeast of here where it was found last Friday by Buster Briley, a farm youth. Discovery of the kit brought apprehension here that the physician, beloved throughout the Ozark hill country for his charity work, had been slain. Officers described Kenyon as small, weighing about 135 pounds and about five feet eight inches tall. He has dark hair and dark piercing eyes. He pointed indifferently, troopers said, to the body after he had led officers to it in a thicket before dawn. From Tacoma Connelly came here directly from working on the kidnaping of 10-year-old Charles Mattson at Tacoma, Wash. With him were Dwight Brantley, special agent in charge of the Oklahoma City bureau, E. E. Conroy, agent at Atlanta, and 12 other G-men. Connelly attributed success in apprehension of the kidnaper to "results obtained solely through the cooperation of the Missouri state highway patrol. He said Dr. Davis "undoubtedly was killed the day he was taken away." He attributed the kidnaping to Kenyon's general urge to spend money. Mrs. Davis was prostrated when advised of her husband's death. Davis' willingness to serve, even at 67, had led him into the abductor's net. Connelly said that it was the physician's generosity to the unfortunate and the fact that he had brought half the community into the world that intensified lynching feeling.

Mrs. J. D. Barnhart Speaks And Questionnaires Are Handed Out

Girls of the senior high school were entertained at an assembly this afternoon sponsored by Camp Fire guards. Mrs. C. A. North, counselor for girls, presided over the meeting.

The first half of the program was to be devoted to group singing under the leadership of Mrs. Russell Potter, accompanied by Mrs. E. H. Baughman. The singing was followed by a talk by Mrs. J. D. Barnhart on "Building A Life" in which she planned to consider popularity, manners, and their place in society.

Submit Questionnaires
During the meeting questionnaires containing about 85 queries were to be distributed to the girls who will take them home and answer them. The questionnaires will then be discussed next week in various group meetings such as Campfire and Girl Reserves.

During 1936, 25 million pounds of milk and cream were produced by the county, and payment received totaled $40,618 in this county.

Mr. Smith also said 75 per cent of the butter, and 73 per cent of the cheese was marketed through the Challenge Cream and Butter association, which is the co-ops marketing association. O. T. Koster, Twin Falls, district manager, reported $248,795 was paid out in this district during the past year and local sales totaled $168,792, showing a 21 per cent increase over 1935. Increase was shown in all items with the exception of cheese and ice, officials point out.

Other speakers at the all-day meeting included T. B. Brush, Twin Falls, district manager; Thomas Speedy, field manager; Clyde C. Edmunds, general manager of the Twin Falls Dairy Producers' association; and Ivan H. Loughrey, state extension dairyman.

Mr. Speedy's report showed 1,046 acres of producers in Twin Falls county during 1936 as compared with 1,027 in 1935. He said 13 trucks are employed for daily gathering of milk and cream from the producers in the county.

Two Re-elected
During the meeting, C. H. Hemphill of Twin Falls was re-elected to serve on the county board of directors for a five-year term, and A. H. Jacobs of Buhl, was re-elected to serve a three-year term on the general board.

Among several resolutions passed by the group were the following: opposed to the Pettengill Bill, in favor of a federal tax of at least five cents per pound on oleomargarine to offset taxes already levied against dairy products; recommending that the same sanitary regulations be applied to dairy products imported into this county as are applied to dairy products produced in the country; recommending that the state legislature red-line and re-empower the Idaho dairy laws bringing them up to date, using California and federal laws as a model; and favoring organization of an associated meat processing plant at Twin Falls county.

During the noon hour lunch was served by members of the Piler Grange auxiliary.

Carry On As Fixed
"Salaries of all others," the chairman pointed out, would carry on as fixed by the outgoing board last April except for the prosecuting attorney, whose remuneration is determined by statute.

Pay of county officials is determined every two years in April by the board of commissioners, then nearing the end of its term. The incoming board, under Idaho law, cannot tamper with the salaries thus determined.

Section 30-2806 specifies minimum and maximum salaries for the county officers. Chairman Barnes said "the commissioners can set the specific figure for each officer at any point in between the statutory low and high point regardless of the class of the county. This applies to all counties and to any county not not fixed by law."

Two Re-elected

Don't Deduct Tax, Employers Told

Can't Take Portion Off Pay of Workers, State Chief Tells Bosses

Warning that employers are not to deduct from their employees' wages that portion of the payroll tax which they themselves are required to pay was issued at Boise today by Lawrence B. Hyman, superintendent of the unemployment compensation division of the industrial accident board.

The Idaho unemployment compensation law provides two separate and distinct payroll taxes, one on employers and one on employees.

As to the employers' tax, Hyman said, the law states that contributions required from an employer on his own behalf shall not be deducted, in whole or in part, from the wages of the individuals in his employ.

Employer Tax
Mr. Hyman explained that during 1937, employers are required to contribute nine-tenths of one per cent of their wages, which the employees must deduct at the time such wages are paid. In addition the employer is required to pay one and eight-tenths per cent of the total wages payable during 1937, which must not be deducted from the employee's wages.

Punishable By Law
Many employers are deducting both taxes from their employees' wages through a mistaken reading of the law. However, there is unquestionable proof that other employers are deliberately making both of these deductions in an effort to evade payment of their portion of the tax.

To this latter class Mr. Hyman pointed out that such procedure is a misdemeanor under the provisions of law and is punishable as such.

Full explanation of the law will be made in Twin Falls at 8 p. m. Friday when state experts discuss the statute at an open meeting in Chamber of Commerce offices.

LEGISLETTERS

By NEWTON STEARNS
United Press Correspondent

HOUSE, Feb. 2 (AP)—With little yet heard of an administration program in Idaho's 24th legislative session, Governor Barzell W. Clark is planning a second message to the legislature, probably to be delivered at the time the power program is presented.

At the session, managed to do about the original gubernatorial program was to vote down in the senate a bill outlining Clark's idea for setting up a public health department. Chief objection was to requirement that the commissioner meet standards set out by the U. S. surgeon-general.

After thinking it over, however, the senators decided they had committed a tactical error in crossing the executive the very first time one of his proposals came up. They voted to reconsider keeping the public health bill alive for future action.

Power, it will be remembered, is the engineer-governor's major interest in life. Fresh from ambitious public ownership accomplishments in Idaho Falls, he will attempt to have enacted into law his view on "hooked" valuable power sites for public uses, broader provisions for municipalities to enter the power business, and more strict regulation of private utilities.

The legislature is heading for a last minute mad rush of business today about the 20th day of the session. More bills are introduced today, are disposed of in committee, are acting slowly so that now at adjournment both houses frequently have only two or three bills on the calendar for final consideration.

The greatest final rush will be in the senate, because appropriation bills coming late in the session have to be considered first in the house. As a result many ordinary session bills die at the session's end without having even been reported out of senate committees.

House sentiment on the subject was expressed by Democratic Leader Orval F. Hendricks, Barnock, who asked the senators to "speed it up" reminding them that the 1935 session ended with about 150 house bills, not even considered in the upper house.

Chain Store Interests Have Two Bills to Prepare Their Defenses

Each session sees many attempts to create new state departments for one purpose and another. Law to survive the house was a proposal to establish a full-time reference bureau to supply the legislature and the public with information on proposed legislation.

Chain store interests have two bills to prepare their defenses for. One, backed by organized labor, would forbid selling of food as a sideline in drug stores and other non-restaurants. The other would enable a manufacturer to establish a price and forbid any store selling his product below that figure, being aimed at the practice of chain stores selling cigarettes and other commodities as "loss leaders."

GALVESTON NEW COTTON CAPITAL

Texas City Outstrips Houston and New Orleans in 1936 Shipping

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 3 (AP)—Port Galveston assumed world supremacy in the handling of cotton during 1936, outstripping New Orleans and Houston.

H. Bentler, president of the Galveston Cotton Exchange and Board of Trade, reported that Galveston exported 1,699,000 bales in 1936, compared with 1,340,000 for New Orleans and 1,310,000 for Houston.

Houston had held the leadership as a cotton port for 12 consecutive years.

Cotton received receipts of 1,841,667 bales at Houston last year, but head office at Galveston, where the receipts were reported as 1,724,444 bales.

Rates Reduced One Cent
One important reason for the rapid port advance was the transfer last year of the American Cotton-operative associations' clearing and shipping office from Houston to Galveston. The office for was ordered when ACCA officials were offered a substantial reduction in office charges by Galveston interests.

Bentler reported that 1936 was a poor cotton year because of bad crop failure of American exporters to have the proper grade of cotton on hand to fill orders, development of foreign cotton exchange tariff barriers, which concentrated the wheat and in the hand of a few states, and the development of synthetic fibers as cotton substitutes.

Houston export total was up probably half that of a bumper year 1931, when the figure was 2,600,000 bales.

BRITAIN WIDENS AERIAL DEFENSE

Precautions Bureau Leads in Building of Safe Hospitals

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—At a cost of many thousands of dollars, British hospitals are preparing schemes for the protection of patients in the event of air raids and to make the buildings gas-proof.

Management of voluntary hospitals throughout the country were invited to a meeting, which was addressed by officials of the air raids precautions department.

London hospitals are already tackling a problem made difficult by the fact that they have 45,000 patients and staff of 10,000. When completed the new $4,250,000 Westminster hospital will be Britain's first gas-proof hospital. Architects' plans provide for a covered road wide enough for two lines of traffic and emergency, passing through the building's double air-lock doors at both ends so that ambulances with air-raid casualties can enter without allowing the penetration of gas. Strong roots to resist light bombs and air-conditioning in the wards and non-splinterable windows.

The design of existing hospitals is probably the worst possible for safety in an air attack. Wing-Commander E. Hodson, of the air raid precautions department, declared the new Westminster hospital has been designed after consultation with the air raid precautions department.

The department would like to see all new hospitals designed on similar lines. In event of a threatened air attack all patients that could be moved would be taken from London hospitals to the country. That would give greater accommodation for air raid casualties.

MILLION DOLLAR BOUT FORESEEN

Garden Head Says Braddock Has Iron-Bound Contract With Sport Club

He suggested if the Garden could be persuaded to settle its existing contract to the satisfaction of all concerned, "we should be in the best position to stage the million-dollar Louis-Braddock fight in Chicago."

The Stadium corporation has sought for weeks to match Louis with the winner of the Max Schmeling-Braddock bout, but quickly jugged its hand when the champion agreed to fight Louis for $500,000 or half of the net receipts.

This offer was extended by the Sporting club of Illinois through its millionaire president, Sheldon Clark. The Illinois athletic commission approved the bout and set the date for June 15.

The stadium appeared in complete accord with Promoter James J. Johnston of the Garden who said there was no loophole through which Braddock could wriggle out of his contract to box for the Sporting club.

Norris presented his plan to Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, who has an exclusive ticket on Louis' services through 1940. Shrew Mike was highly interested because of the retired grain broker's strength in Garden affairs.

Jacobs previously had appeared none too enthusiastic about the Sporting club's offer despite the fact it would give Louis his shot at the championship almost a year sooner than he had expected.

A tight first quarter, deadlocked at 2-2, started the girls' game off as a thriller but the Perry lassies slipped into a four-point edge at the half. King Hill held them scoreless in the third and lessened the gap but failed to hold that pace in the last stanza. Paris had 12 points for Glenns Ferry and Thebo collected eight for the visitors.

LAWMAKERS END HALF OF SESSION

75 New Laws Proposed By Solons in Houses Yesterday

By NEWTON STEARNS

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 3 (U.P.)—Idaho's 24th legislature entered the second half of its 60-day session today, with fully three-fourths of its work ahead.

Members took advantage of the final day for introduction of personal bills yesterday, proposing 75 new laws, resolutions and memorials. Rules require bills appearing after the 30th day to be sponsored by committees. The first month ended with 165 bills introduced in the house and 120 in the senate.

Abolition of the state liquor control commission as a separate state agency was asked in a house bill by Baseline and Park, Blainette county. The commission's duties would be given a board made up of the governor, attorney-general and state treasurer.

Asks Liquor Price Boost

A rise in the selling price of liquor by state stores was suggested by King, Canyon. The bill would fix the liquor markup at 40 per cent of the purchase price.

Whittle, Franklin, proposed another automobile license fee reduction plan. He would have the charges range from $5 on new cars to $1 for automobiles more than five years old. The bill provided a refund on larger 1937 fees already paid.

Peck, Bamock, asked that cities be given the right to license or prohibit pin ball games and similar devices.

Appropriation bills asking $501,041 for the fish and game department; $7,620, bar commission, and $59,131, soldiers' home, were introduced by the house appropriations committee.

Amendments Proposed

Two proposed constitutional amendments made their appearance in the senate, to prohibit use of motor fuel tax receipts for other than highway work, and to authorize creation of public corporations to develop natural resources. A senate joint memorial petitioned congress to remove the federal one-cent tax on gasoline and motor oil.

To allow a five per cent differential in favor of Idaho bidders on state contracts; a $1 per gallon tax on imported beer; regulation of itinerant sheep-shearing outfits to protect Idaho labor; confining sale of contraceptives to drug stores; were subjects for legislation proposed in the house.

Two bills proposed to regulate the trucking industry suggested a maximum length of 45 feet for truck and semi-trailer, and a maximum weight allowance of 60,000 pounds, for any combination of vehicles.

Other Bills

Other house bills would permit storage of irrigation water, reduce membership of certain school boards from six to five, allow deduction to be made for shrinkage, loss or destruction in paying gasoline tax, make possession of a federal permit to sell liquor prima facie violation of the state liquor law, exempt from judgment $150 worth of poultry, grant a 1 1/2 per cent commission to counties for collecting motor vehicle license fees.

A bill to bill in the senate proposed cancellation of all interest and penalties on delinquent taxes for the year 1936 to 1940 except for a two per cent penalty added at the time of delinquency. Sponsor was Right, Malheur.

Miner companies not owning the property which they are working would be required to post security for payment of wages in a separate bill by Loren, Ada. A similar bill would put the same requirement upon contractors. Anderson, Elmore, asked that occupational diseases be brought under provisions of the workmen's compensation act.

Trailer Bill

Written, Boise, suggested that all house trailers be required to be equipped with chemical toilets.

Other senate bills provided for elimination of record of illegitimacy where children later become legitimate; regulation of the cleaning and dyeing trade; payment for state lands in 20 year contracts; posting of city statements in counties where no newspaper is published; rates to be charged by public warehousemen; a six per cent tax on delinquent taxes and a three per cent discount if paid before becoming delinquent.

G-Men Killers Find Vengeance Sure; Death Or Prison Awaits

By WILLIS THORNTON (NEA Service)

WASHINGTON — Sudden death before the muzzles of spitting guns, cold and measured execution at the hands of the state, or prison bars and an endless succession of days and nights behind high walls.

That is the best that can be looked for by those desperate gunmen who defy the police power of the federal government by shooting its agents, the G-men or special agents of the federal bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

At least that has been their fate to date, as shown by the records filed in neat cases in the offices of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the F. B. I. in Washington.

On Oct. 11, 1925, just 11 years ago, the first G-man met death in line of duty. Since that time eight others have followed him, six of them by outlaws' bullets. But in only one case have fellow officers failed to run down the killed and wreak a relentless revenge for their colleague's death.

And in that case, though it is now seven years since Agent Paul E. Reynolds was shot to death by unknown gunmen, the G-men are still active, certain that sooner or later they will "get their man."

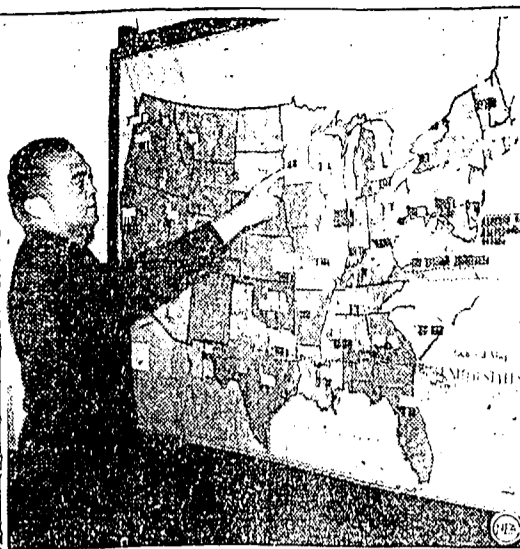

The record of the G-men in running down those who have killed other G-men is a classic of crime detection. Two of the G-men were killed accidentally in line of duty under circumstances which left no mystery and no guilty ones to punish. Seven were shot down in cold blood by criminals seeking at any cost to avoid arrest.

Two of the killers are in prison. One has been executed, one awaits death. Two fell before the guns of the G-men; one was killed by his own kind. At least one is still at large, with the knowledge ever before him that the G-men are alertly awaiting the "break" that may put him in their hands.

The first G-man to give his life was Edward C. Shanahan, who was ordered to arrest Martin Durkin, the sick, smiting little Chicago auto thief with had stolen expensive cars all over the country and wounded four police officers in various escapades. Durkin shot Shanahan to death when the G-man approached Durkin's car as he drove into a garage.

Dragged From Train

A little more than a year later, special agents and police stopped a train near St. Louis, Mo., and dragged Durkin from his compartment before he could use the pistols that were in his handbag and overcoat pockets. Because it was not then a federal offense to kill a special agent of the FBI Durkin got off with a pass sentence of 30 years.

Paul E. Reynolds, the second agent to die, was the one whose case has not been solved. Operating in the Pacific Northwest in August, 1929, Reynolds, in the hotel one night, was shot down by a desperado. The desperado is still at large.

Reynolds' death was the first of the G-men's deaths in the bureau's history. He had been shot through the head.

Through the seven years that have passed, the G-men have not always had the best of things. In some instances, they have been shot down by desperadoes.

that the bureau poured all its resources into the investigation. It soon found that "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Verne Miller, and Adam Richetti, all known gangsters and machine-gunners, were the killers.

Floyd Hunted Down

Miller, a blood-crazed desperado, was found in a ditch near Detroit, trussed like a turkey and peppered with bullets. His own kind had done for him.

The chase for Floyd was a dramatic one, and led to forays and scares all over the country. Finally, G-men ran him to earth in an Ohio cornfield and shot him down as he made a last desperate attempt to escape. Among his effects were a watch and a silver dollar scored with 10 bullets, believed to have been the killer's crude way of keeping track of his victims.

Richetti stayed at liberty for more than a year running with Floyd until the trail grew too hot. Then he too, was taken after a shooting affair with Ohio officers.

Richetti was convicted of murder in Missouri and was sentenced to death. His appeal is pending.

W. Carter Baum, Herman E. Hollis, and Samuel P. Cowley were all victims of the Dillinger-Nelson gang in 1934. Baum was shot down when, with a local officer, he approached a parked car near the Little Bohemia resort near Rhinelander, Wis. They made themselves known as officers and were met with point-blank fire.

"Baby Face" Is Slain

"Baby Face Nelson" whose name was really Lester Gillis and who was a member of the Dillinger gang, was believed guilty so the G-men went after Nelson. They caught up with him near Lake Como, Wis., and in a running gun-fight, Agents Hollis and Cowley were mowed down by machine gun fire.

As they lay mortally wounded on the ground however, they returned the fire, wounding Nelson. During the wild fight, Nelson died, and his body was hung from the car by his wife and associates.

John Paul Chase, Nelson's accomplice in the murders of Hollis and Cowley, was captured and is serving a life term.

Killer Is Hanged

No special FBI agent has been killed since 1935, when Nelson II (he is called George W. Barrett, a wholesale automobile thief at the home of relatives in College Corner, Ind.) Barrett had been warned that the G-men were after him and when Klein approached, he was ready.

He died behind a tree and opened fire on Klein, who, though mortally wounded, shot Barrett in both legs.

Barrett's conviction was simply a matter of time. For the law had been passed meanwhile making it a capital offense to kill a G-man. Barrett was the first convicted under that law, and was hanged in Indianapolis in March of last year.

Gun Made in 1377

BERLIN (U.P.)—A firearm believed to be the oldest in the world is one of the exhibits at the collection of weapons on view at the Armory Museum here. It is a Chinese hand-gun, dating to 1377. It bears an inscription indicating the name of its bearer and his military unit.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Sec'y American Bridge League

Volumes have been written by bridge writers on management of the trump suit. One trouble with much of that is written is that it is entirely abstract, disregarding opposing bidding and the human equation as well.

In today's hand, the deciding factor in determining the line of play by declarer was his faith in the honesty of an opening bid by an opponent. With this as his only guide, he was able to chart his way through very dangerous waters and reach the safe haven of a game bid and made.

When the opening lead was made and dummy exposed, declarer at once decided that if North's third hand bid was anywhere near honest, he had had to hold most of the missing cards.

The opening lead, however, looked like a singleton if this were so, it would be dangerous to let South have the lead before trumps were drawn. Still, if North had the king,

YOUNGSTERS ASK SENATORIAL AID

$500,000,000 Fund Sought To Provide Public Jobs For Students

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD

WASHINGTON (Special)—Economic planners are born, not made. Generally, those who present panaceas for the nation's ills are white-haired patriarchs. Today, however, a sizable delegation of heedless youths were making the rounds of the senate office building seeking senatorial support of an "American Youth Act." They contend there are some five million American youths unemployed, who, by the process of inflation, cause the unemployment problem to continue to grow. They seek to establish a program of public works to provide jobs for students. Prime recommendation is "a system of academic work projects to be conducted in or near all colleges." "To get started off properly," say the students, "we need a small appropriation—$500,000,000." Most senators, busily engaged pursuing a few paltry millions, greet the proposal with shocked silence and sudden recollection of other appointments.

Moratorium?

Settlers on reclamation projects throughout the west are expressing interest in possible future moratoria on construction charge payments to the government. Last year a 50 per cent moratorium was declared by congress. Several districts, notably the American Falls Reservoir district number 2, contend inability to pay even 50 per cent. Also enacted last year was legislation authorizing a commission to investigate reclamation projects and coordinate construction charge payments with ability of land owners to pay. Congress forgot to appropriate any money for the purpose so the investigation was never made. This year John C. Page, commissioner of reclamation, favors the creation of such a commission and the appropriation of money with which it can carry on its work.

FEMININE LEADER SEES JAP PERIL

Visiting Nippon Leader Calls Mrs. Roosevelt Great Inspiration

By HENRY WOOD

United Press Staff Correspondent SAN FRANCISCO—If Communism ever comes to Japan it will come from conditions that now exist in the country and not from Soviet propaganda, is the belief of Baroness Shizue Ishimoto, Japan's most famous feminist leader, founder of Nippon's only clinic for birth control and interpreter of the Japanese woman of today.

The baroness has just arrived in the United States to study development of feminism and to make an extended effort throughout the country to convey to the American public an accurate idea of the status of the Japanese woman of today and the effort she is making for emancipation.

If President Roosevelt is making an impression on the rest of the world today, Baroness Ishimoto declares, that the activities of Mrs. Roosevelt are making an even greater impression on the women of Japan. They follow her activities daily in an effort to find inspiration and justification for what they are trying to do for themselves, she declared.

Feudal Family The baroness, the daughter of an old-time noble feudal family, married a modern engineer and found herself immediately in the center of the conflict in Japanese life that centers around those who prefer the retention of feudalism, and the modernistic element. The one element of Japanese life that has been allowed to contribute to Japan's present greatness is the Japanese woman, according to the baroness. She has dedicated herself to the task of breaking down these restrictions.

Baroness Ishimoto is an ardent follower of the birth control theories of Margaret Sanger and as a result of the latter's teachings opened the first birth control clinic in Japan. During the three years that it has been in operation more than 30,000 Japanese women have come to it for counsel and help.

The baroness confesses that her one great ambition is to bring about a middle class, which does not now exist in Japan, where there is only the upper class of nobility, governmental, military and ruling strata and the lower class of the peasantry and factory worker. She hopes to make this middle class, if not the dominant one in Japan, at least one that can make its voice heard in national affairs.

"Japan," said Baroness Ishimoto "is striding ahead commercially, but not socially. Her women are therefore barred from practicing law, teaching school, or practicing medicine."

The articulate woman is still frowned upon by the government. But the women themselves are at last finding broader horizons. They are greatly interested in the work and crusades not only of Mrs. Roosevelt, but of Margaret Sanger, and they are thoroughly convinced of the necessity of raising the standard of living by limiting the number of children in any family.

The baroness insisted that, contrary to worldwide opinion, Japanese women are unanimously for peace and are against war. "We want peace," she said, "and we want lives free from the terror of impending struggle."

At present Japan is opposed to both Fascism and Communism, but unless the condition of the masses at large is improved either might be adopted as a means of trying to improve the situation of the people in general.

"However, we are slowly losing our freedom of self-expression. The government wants no such expressions broadcast, but we do want a peaceful solution with China."

Legal Gambling Faces Hard Road

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 3 (U.P.)—Liberalization of gambling laws, recommended by Governor Barzell Clark, today faced a hard road in Idaho's 24th legislature. The house revenue and taxation committee late yesterday recommended that a bill to license nearly all forms of gambling, including slot machines, not be passed.

Fright Launched Garbo on Career

By PAUL HARRISON (NEA Service)

HOLLYWOOD — Today's news about Greta Garbo is 12 years old. But what are 12 years in the history of an actress who has been described as "the haunting embodiment of all women since time began?"

The story is about how the Greta-a Garbo became languorous and, consequently, glamorous.

It would seem that she owes her current success to the fact that she was frightened. It is death at the beginning of her career. She appeared in two pictures before coming to America. The first was "The Legend of Zorro" and the second, "The Sign of the Cross." It was directed by Maurice Stiller, and she was not especially happy. Neither did her acting attract much attention.

The second picture, made in Berlin, was titled "The Street of Sorrows" and was meekly followed by G. W. Pabst. Miss Garbo had no confidence in him or in herself.

She rushed through her scenes in Pabst's Kelly tempo. She trembled with nervousness. What was worse, she further displayed her unconsciousness by awkward, jerky movements which were accentuated by the camera.

The director had a hard time of it. He tried pleading and coaxing. He ran off some of the film and showed her that she was moving like an automaton. But the more he tried, the more scared and unhappy was Miss Garbo.

Then he got a great idea. He told her to concentrate on the fact that she was playing a woman who was in love. That did the trick. It was the principle of sex motion. Miss Garbo's jerky movements were drawn out into slow graceful movements.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

When we get past the early books, written for children of six and under, we find the stream branching. Whereas the former were usually amusing and full of the unconscious humor of animals and nursery characters here we are confronting life with stories about all sorts of folk with every kind of experience.

I can't say why I suddenly drop the comedy motive, unless it might be that parents themselves think it high time for George to stop being a nut and a merron, to their way of thinking, and concentrate on the seriousness of life.

We must not overlook the fact that children take fiction very seriously. There are many who take it entirely too seriously. And, if this surprises you, ask a children's librarian in a big city, about girls asking for "sad" books, "a book to make you cry, if you please." It had to be stopped. The very child who asked for the "weeper" never got it, for the simple reason that she could not be encouraged in morbid emotions.

Child's Needs Guide Choice

The way to select the books of a little boy or girl, if you are attempting to supervise reading, is to know the child himself. It he needs to be softened and made helpful of suffering, then sad books or tragic ones won't damage him.

INDIANS TERMED WEAK FIGHTERS

They Were Poor at Hand to Hand Scraps, Says Old South Dakotan

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D. (U.P.)—Although the American Indian of the frontier days was a dangerous fellow when equipped with gun or bow and arrows, he really was a weak fighter when measured by the white man's standards, according to R. H. Somers, one-time Indian fighter.

"I would like to see return of the frontier days," Somers said recently, "but if I wanted a good old-fashioned, shirt-sleeved, rough-and-tumble fight, I wouldn't pick on an Indian."

"No Indian, not even Sitting Bull, the chief of the Sioux tribe—ever was match for a white man in a fist fight or hand-to-hand encounter," he recalled.

Somers said that although they made plenty of stir among white settlers when they were equipped by federal troops the Indian with guns superior to those used "bucks" really were weaklings by the white man's standards.

Primarily Hunters "They were primarily hunters," he said, "they didn't work—the quaws did the hard labor—and they just weren't physically fit for a combat man to man."

When Somers came to the Chamberlain area, 59 years ago, "there wasn't a board in the whole territory." It was just about the time Custer made his famous "last stand" up in North Dakota. It was after that historic battle that Somers came face-to-face with Sitting Bull.

"He was a powerfully built man," Somers recalled, "weighing about 210 pounds and was about 5 feet 10 inches tall. A dangerous man in a fight? Not at all. No Indian could fight without a gun. When they settled a grievance it was with bows and arrows—or later with guns. The money were the strong ones."

The bill of the modern bird is lightly constructed. Even those of horribles and toucans are surprisingly light.

OPERATIC FIELD OPEN TO SCREEN

Rewriting of Old Material Necessitated By Many Musical Films

By JOHN DUNLAP

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—With the successful adaptation of great operas and symphonies for motion pictures a vast new field of operatic material has been opened up for the screen.

Herbert Stothart was the arranger who opened the idea in such fashion that all studios with great singing stars under contract are hurrying to follow his example.

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy were starred in "Mastodon" but no suitable operatic sequence for a soprano and baritone was available, since the tempo and so on are usually lovers. Stothart went into solution and turned out an original opera sequence, "The Captive" using for the music the "Eggs" symphony of Tschaiakowsky.

CANADIANS SEEK MORE SETTLERS

Debate in Parliament Due Over Restriction of Immigration

By ALEX JANUSITIS

OTTAWA, Ont. (U.P.)—Canada once again is beginning to direct attention to the problem of immigration.

Agitation favoring lowering of the barriers that have reduced the great pre-war influx of settlers from the United States, Great Britain and other parts of Europe to a mere trickle is increasing with the steady recovery in the country's economic and employment conditions.

Population Only 11 Million Influential newspapers, transportation officials, political leaders and other authorities interested in the problem are urging the government to reopen Canada's doors for immigrants on the grounds that recovery in Canada, and the country itself, are large enough to absorb many more settlers than at present.

manage to enter the country under the rigid immigration regulations. Authorities favoring revival of immigration point to the fact that Canada, occupying half the North American continent, but with a population of only approximately 11,000,000 cannot, and should not, indefinitely prevent carefully selected "land hungry" settlers, particularly from Britain and the United States, from entering the country and helping to swell its population and wealth. Canada, it is argued, is rich enough in natural resources and large enough in territory to absorb 10 times the number of settlers that are now allowed to enter.

The government at present in power, however, remembering the unhappy experiences previous administrations have encountered because they were too eager to build up the country's population, is proceeding warily and adhering to the policy that if work cannot be provided for the Canadian citizens themselves, it would be folly to admit more. Officials point to the fact that despite an admitted recovery in economic conditions there are still at least 1,000,000 people, or roughly 10 per cent of the country's total population, being supported by public funds, and have no immediate prospect of re-establishing themselves.

NINE ARE HELD SUSPECTS IN YACHT MURDER MYSTERY. British Financier Vanishes at Sea After Boarding Rival's Ship. MURDER, stalking the cabins of a mystery yacht, bound for the Bahamas on a mystery cruise, presents Florida police with their strangest case. Two hours after Bolitho Blane, British financier and world soap king, boarded the palatial yacht, Carlton Rockavage, he vanished from his cabin. The window of his drawing room cabin was wide open and it appeared as if Blane had thrown himself overboard. On Blane's table lay a note addressed to his secretary, Nicholas Stodart. It indicated suicide in face of approaching bankruptcy. A stock market memorandum detailing closing prices for that day showed Argus Suda, Blane's company stock, at new lows. Aboard the yacht and detained by Miami police in addition to Rockavage, are his daughter, Ferris, socialite and press personality, Lady Weller, British publisher and youth reform leader, her socialite daughter and husband, Pamela and Reginald Jocelyn, Count Posodini; the Bishop of Bude and Inosuke Hayashi, Japanese agent. Stodart, in an initial statement, indicated the case to be a clear suicide, pointing out that Blane succed a crash of his companies and eventual surrender to Rockavage of his mastery in the world soap trade. Police were inclined to this theory until examination of Blane's suite showed two strange parallel marks across the carpet, running to the porthole. At the same time police found a discolored patch on the rug and a smear of blood on the curtain. Death followed Bolitho Blane aboard this yacht off Miami.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

WE KNOW THAT THE PLANETS DO NOT TRAVEL AROUND THE SUN IN TRUE CIRCLES, SINCE AN ELLIPSE IS THE ONLY PATH IN WHICH ONE BODY MAY MAKE REPEATED REVOLUTIONS AROUND ANOTHER, UNDER THE ACTION OF THEIR MUTUAL GRAVITATION.

THE UNICORN RAM, OF INDIA.

APPARENTLY SINGLE-HORNED ANIMALS, THESE SHEEP DO HAVE TWO DISTINCT HORNS, WHICH ARE KEPT PRESSED TOGETHER BY THE NATIVE BREEDERS.

SAND OR GRAVEL IN THE GIZZARDS OF BIRDS IS NECESSARY FOR THE GRINDING OF FOOD, SINCE NO MODERN BIRD IS EQUIPPED WITH TEETH.

Birds can digest large quantities of food very quickly. In spite of the fact that they have no teeth with which to chew it. Some birds partially crush their food with their beaks. High temperatures of birds, combined with their perfect respiration and rapid circulation, aid in the rapid digestion.
