Plant Executives Expect to Be Turning Out 225,000 Cars Per Month

115,000 RETURN TO JOBS New Pay Increase Will Put $25,000,000 Annually in Workers' Pockets

By CYRUS L. SULZBERGER DETROIT, Feb. 12 (AP)—General Motors executives, acting swiftly to resume capacity production, believed today that they could reopen some strike-crippled plants Monday and by March would be turning out automobiles at a rate of 225,000 a month.

Leaders of the United Automobile Workers of America, who signed a pact with General Motors yesterday ending the 44-day strike, started complying the demands they will present to the corporation in collective bargaining conferences scheduled to start Tuesday.

Complete Resumption of operations will require about 12 days. Of course we expect to start all plants, if we can, right away, some Monday and then increase operations as fast as we can to get people back to work.

Knudsen estimated 120,000 General Motors workers and office employees had returned on the payroll during the strike and that full operations would put another 115,000 back on production lines.

A pay increase of five cents an hour, announced simultaneously with the agreement yesterday, was expected to put an additional $25,000,000 in the pockets of General Motors employees.

CIVIL LIBERTIES PROBE DELAYED

Murphy Asks Postponement, Fearing Collapse in Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Settlement of the General Motors strike was revealed today to have caused the La Follette civil liberties committee to consider indefinite postponement of its investigation of alleged espionage activities during the controversy.

The delay, it was learned, was requested by Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, who guided peace negotiations in a telephone conversation with Committee Chairman Robert M. La Follette, P., Wis.

The bill, made with La Follette was holding public hearings on alleged espionage conducted for General Motors by the Pinkerton Detective agency, caused temporary suspension of the proceedings.

Landon Will 'Have Something to Say' On Court Demand

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Former Governor Alfred M. Landon will "have something to say" about President Roosevelt's supreme court proposals when he speaks at the national Republican club's Lincoln day dinner tonight.

Oddities

DATE NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Chinatown celebrated the arrival of the New Year today with bursting firecrackers and thumping tom-toms but members of the Hip Sing and Leong Tong couldn't agree whether it was the year 4641 or 4488. A few argued that it was 4634. It made no difference, however, to the 5,000 Chinese and the festivities will go on for several days.

GOING NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 12 (AP)—George Mangold, 70, lost his old pension rating and was denied admission to the county infirmary. "I'm going some place. Either the county jail, infirmary or the penitentiary," he told friends.

THREAT LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, an expectant mother suing for separate maintenance, charged her husband threatened to kill her if she bore children.

DRIVE SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Disgusted because his first shot fell into a creek, Jimmy Thomson, California golf professional, drove the second ball in an exhibition match here down the fairways 360 yards into the overcast pocket of a spectator.

FEW CHANGES IN COUNTY BUDGET

Estimated '37 Expenditures To Be Made Final Today With Little Shift

Twin Falls county's 1937 tentative budget will go through with very few minor changes, James I. Barnes, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said this afternoon as the board mapped final details on the last statutory day of changes.

Mr. Barnes and Robert Rayl, Alendale, said that no protests have been entered against the $400,000 proposed expenditures for operating the county this year.

The $400,000 budget represents an increase of $89,563 over the 1936 expenditures. The advance was made Mr. Barnes said to provide for expected contingencies during the year.

Engineer and Fireman Die of Injuries When Flyer Hits Stalled Auto

SELMA, Calif., Feb. 12 (AP)—The engineer and fireman of the southern Pacific's Owl were fatally injured when the passenger train struck a stalled automobile south of Fresno, Calif., early today.

Three persons were injured. Robert F. Brown, Fresno, 53, fireman, was killed instantly. His body was pinned by the boilers of the locomotive.

Rebels Capture 2 Russian Tanks

BIARRITZ, France, Feb. 12 (AP)—Insurgent general headquarters broadcast today as follows: "Nationalists, inflicting terrible losses, crossed the Jarama river and took the Valencia road, capturing two Russian tanks, one of them operated by French volunteers."

Wreckage of Air Liner Lifted From Bay

The fuselage of a passenger plane from 36 feet of water in San Francisco bay, just off the pier, was being lifted today. The plane was a Lockheed 44, which crashed on Feb. 11, 1936, when it was flying from Los Angeles to San Francisco. The plane was carrying 28 passengers and five crew members. The wreckage was found by a diver, who was later killed by the plane when it was raised. Eight passengers and the three crew members were killed in the crash and submersion.

Twin Falls Forms Group To Fight Slum Problem

First concerted movement to be introduced in Twin Falls to remove those of limited means from slum areas and makeshift houses into modern, up-to-date homes was underway here today, and an advisory board, composed of prominent local citizens, was being formulated.

Actual organization of the association, which is a branch of the national Citizens Protective Association, Inc., was completed here last evening at a meeting attended by Thomas D. McDougall of Pocatello, state organizer.

Officers of the board, which will work as a branch of the Pocatello group until Twin Falls county is completely organized, were elected at the meeting and include Eugene Scott, president; John Holm, vice-president; L. H. Barker, secretary; and Al Hober, chief of the research department for Twin Falls county.

The advisory board composed of five citizens from representative groups, was being formed today. Mayor Dungan (McD) Barker and Frank L. Stephens, local attorney, have already signified their intentions of serving, and H. P. Robinson, E. F. Frazer and Dr. Valde Fuenfuehr were to be contacted and asked to serve.

The board members will assist in all business transactions for the benefit of local business, and the protection of the local organization. The association, according to its articles of incorporation, is formed to carry on an association designed for the betterment of the spiritual, educational and material conditions of its members, to assist its members to secure homes, to provide means by which such homes can be financed and paid for, and to generally protect the interests of its members in their constitutional and political rights. It is incorporated for a period of 50 years.

Ecuador President Solves Relief, Pork-Barrel Trouble, Spy Reports

By FREDERICK C. OTTMAN WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—My private international spy sent up word from Ecuador of a new deal in new deals today, solving the relief, the pork-barrel and numerous other federal problems in a single sweep of the President's pen.

I imagine it also has stopped the business of political bigwigs hanging around the presidential palace at Quito, demanding soft spots for themselves and their constituents. That's where the pork problem goes glimmering.

of the decree over before them. I think President Paez expects mostly poor men to triumph at the polls. There are some other unique portions of the new law. For one thing, when a government official reaches the retirement age, he's got to retire—and no monkey business. If the government gives him a pension amounting to $30 a month, then he can't sneak around to some other federal bureau and get himself another job.

other organs to Boise after the autopsy is conducted under Coroner Payne.

Peace officers called to Albion to investigate the two deaths included Deputy Sheriff George Bray.

Last Seen Yesterday

The students had been living in their trailer house during the winter, and had been doing their own cooking.

Since the roads have been blocked by snowdrifts and mail service has been irregular, Mr. Roberts made the trip to Albion today with food supplies for his son and the latter's friend.

Examination of stomachs of the dead youths by the state chemist, it was indicated, will be directed toward finding signs of poison although neither county or school officials made any statements this afternoon concerning ptomaine or other symptoms.

When found, the bodies of the two boys showed no signs of any struggle, observers said.

Young Butler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Butler, and Roberts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roberts.

STORMS FAIL TO HAMPER TRAFFIC

All But One of State Roads Open; District Travel Nearing Normal

Snow storms in this section last night and early this morning failed to hinder operations of road clearing crews and today all state roads, with one exception, and a majority of the Twin Falls highway district roads were open to travel.

State plows were working today on the road into Fairfield, blocked for several days. Other than that operations were centered on highway widening operations, officials at the state highway office at Shoshone said.

Urge Caution

Because of the slippery conditions of state roads, officials today urged motorists to take "extreme caution" in traveling. This morning several cars left highways in various sections as poor visibility made it impossible for them to follow the road.

State officials suggest motorists traveling through Wendell to Gooding on the north side highway, come by way of Shoshone as rutted conditions exist on the Wendell-Gooding stretch. That road, they explain, is old construction and has many sharp turns, while the road through Shoshone is modern, of wide construction, and has few curves.

One Snow Removal Unit of Twin Falls Highway District Today Working in Vicinity of Hansen, and Will Continue to Work There Through the Night

Another unit has finished removal operations between Berger and Hagar, on the pole line road, and is now working in the Hollister and Amsterdam sections.

Nearly Normal

Traffic is nearly normal on the district roads, those still blocked affecting only a few families, officials point out.

Rain fell in Twin Falls this morning, melting the snow and causing water to make pedestrian traffic uncomfortable. The sun broke through at noon and the sky was partly cloudy.

Low temperature this morning, according to the official readings taken by the bureau of entomology was 77 above. High yesterday was 33 above, with a low of 11 above. Precipitation totaled .18 of an inch. Forecast calls for slightly colder weather tonight with light snows.

SLIPPERY ROADS CAUSE MISHAPS

Machines Damaged But None of Occupants Injured in Collisions

Slippery roads and streets caused three accidents here today and late yesterday afternoon.

Machines owned by E. O. Herrick, Filer, and Ed Herzinger, Buhl, were damaged to the extent of approximately $150 today near the Five Points corner. The Herrick car skidded into the Herzinger machine as the latter approached it, according to Jessie Carlton, state traffic patrolman.

Two other accidents, one in the city and one southwest of town, were reported to police late yesterday afternoon.

A car driven by W. M. McDaniell of Hollister, and a truck driven by a Mr. McWilliams of Twin Falls, collided at a point two miles south and five miles west of the city when the truck skidded into the parked McDaniell machine. In Twin Falls, a truck driven by Art Babbel of this city, and L. H. Blair of Filer collided at the intersection of Shoshone and Fourth avenue west.

Deputy Selected

Wiley O. Illst, Hollister, has been named as deputy field assessor, according to announcement today by County Assessor J. D. Barnhart. He will handle the Hollister sector.

hour work when construction of their own home starts.

The loan is paid back at the rate of $4.07 cents a month, which includes interest and principal, McDougall said. The organization is not a union nor a labor organization, but a citizens' association to which any citizen of the United States may belong.

Expect 25,000

McDougall said it is expected there will be 25,000 members of the organization in Idaho by the middle of next summer. He is en route to Boise to confer with state officials, including Gov. Barzilla Clark, regarding funds with which to carry the work forward.

Commenting on the introduction of the organization into Twin Falls county, Mayor Johnston said today he "thought it was one of the best things ever to be introduced in the community."

John G. Milner, child welfare consultant for Twin Falls county, said today: "After studying the set-up of the association at Pocatello I can say a similar group would be of untold value here in Twin Falls in improving living conditions for needy persons."

Stephan Approves

Frank Stephan, local attorney, said regarding the movement: "Too much cannot be said in commendation of the effects of the association in rehabilitating families, giving those of extremely modest means an opportunity to support themselves, maintain their self respect, and care for themselves."

Mr. Stephan issued this statement after he had made a study of the association, which is non-political, and to which the only requirement to membership is that the man or woman must be a citizen of the United States.

Ban on Reckless Riding of Horse Still in Effect

If ever a cowboy rides into Twin Falls, he had better tell his horse of an ordinance to be found on the city law books, better known as the re-codification ordinance code, 1933 edition, which is in force today.

The ordinance, section 12, reads as follows:

"No person shall recklessly or carelessly drive or ride any horse or other animal on any street, alley or other public place."

That the cowboys, and the horses or "other animals" are behaving, is found in the fact that no arrests have been made under this law for a "considerable period," police report.

FUNDS HELD UP IN FIVE DISTRICTS

County and state apportionments for five independent school districts of Twin Falls county are being held up because some teachers in the district are not certified. It was announced this afternoon at offices of Mrs. Doris Stradley, county superintendent of schools.

Funds for Kimberly, Buhl, Maros, Hollister and Murtaugh have not been dispatched to the districts.

A few of the teachers either are not certified or have not recorded their certification with the county superintendent, Mrs. Stradley announced. All instructors must have teachers' certificates from the state or from an Idaho normal school. Mrs. Stradley indicated that the situation is largely attributed to neglect.

Dramatic Hit

A dramatic thunderbolt hits town today when "You Only Live Once," brings Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda, the sweethearts of "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," back to the Orpheum screen. Sylvia Sidney has her best role to date as Joan Graham, who loves Eddle Taylor, a convict released through the efforts of Joan's employer, who also loves the girl. Fonda displays a dramatic power unhinted at in his previous roles, as Eddle Taylor.

War Drama Shows At Idaho Theater

Something entirely new in film stories comes to the screen at last in "I Stand Condemned," the gripping drama of romance and espionage in World War Russia, which comes to the Idaho theater beginning today. The powerful story depicts the conflict between three people—Brioukoff, his lovely young war nurse fiancée, and the handsome young officer with whom she falls in love. The picture rises to a powerful climax in what has been called one of the most gripping courtroom scenes ever filmed, where the young officer realizes that the only one who can save him is his mortal enemy. The program includes "Robinson Crusoe" No. 3, cartoon and news.

Coming Sunday at the Idaho theater is "The Holy Terror," with Leah Ray, Anthony Martin, and El Brendel.

the judiciary, and that power to determine the number of federal judges was part of the constitution itself.

Wisdom Attacked

"Those who attack the President for suggesting use of this power are thereby attacking the wisdom and patriotism of our founding fathers," he said.

King, on the other hand, argued that no conditions exist to justify the proposed changes.

"The supreme court of the United States," he said, "can truthfully be said to have proven to be our 'ark of the covenant.' To weaken or impair the power of the supreme court or to tamper with the judicial system can not help but raise grave apprehensions in the minds of thoughtful Americans."

Speaking from Chicago, Attorney Philip R. Davis of the Chicago Bar association introduced five attorneys.

Judge Edward B. Casey of Chicago's municipal court said that "this is the time for every American to speak up in the terms that so un-American a proposal deserves."

Elected Anyway

Louis A. Stebbins, president of the Chicago Life Insurance Lawyers club, said that the chief charge against Mr. Roosevelt in the recent election was that he would "do this very thing" yet he was elected by a majority of 11,000,000 votes.

Alce Greencare, former president of the Women's Bar association, asked listeners to consider whether the President's proposals complied with the principle that appointment of judges should be impersonal.

Judge Frank M. Padden of municipal court said he favored the bill, believing it would break down "the barrier erected by the supreme court against the general welfare of the peoples' expressed wishes."

HOOVER SERVICE PAYS LAST HONOR

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie Hoover were held today at 10:30 a. m. at the Methodist church, with Rev. E. L. White officiating.

Ed Waite and Leo Morris were in charge of the flowers and music was furnished by quartet composed of Mrs. Tom Mott, Earl Daugherty, J. E. White and Mabel Case, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. C. H. Stinson.

Full bearers, all members of the Pickett Progressive Methodist Sunday school class, of which Mrs. Hoover was a member, were: C. C. Dudley, Harry Wilcox, Jerry F. Cordes, Harry Wohlhab, George A. Bradley, and A. E. Poe.

Interment was in the Twin Falls cemetery under the direction of the Twin Falls Mortuary.

Birthday Celebrated By Surprise Party

Mrs. Goldie Morrison was honored at a surprise birthday party Friday evening at her home on Second avenue north by a group of her friends. Pimochie was at play and refreshments were served from a table centered with a large birthday cake presented by one of the guests.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rohrer, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tarr, Mr. and Mrs. John Winters, Elmer Leichter and Herbert Morrison.

I Divorce Given; 2nd Is Pondered

One divorce was granted by District Judge J. W. Porter today and another was taken under advisement.

The decree was given Mrs. Nellie M. Holden against Demill P. Holden. Attorney for the plaintiff was O. P. Duval.

Request of Mrs. Thelma Kelson for divorce from J. Milton Kelson was being considered by the judge this afternoon. W. L. Dunn is attorney for Mrs. Kelson.

conflict. Trade officials believed resumption of manufacturing would spur all lines of business in the Detroit area.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of the Buick Motor division of G. M. C., largest unit of the corporation, announced that Buick employees in all departments except final car assembly and related departments would be called back to work Monday morning.

Fisher Body hoped to resume production early next week.

Gov. Frank Murphy, who was hailed in all quarters for his mediation efforts, had a letter in his pocket signed by Knudsen, agreeing that U. A. W. members may wear union buttons in the 60 company plants. This is to be made public tomorrow, it was understood.

The agreement to allow this request of the union was brought about in exchange for relinquishment by the U. A. W. of a demand that recruiting of new members be allowed on General Motors premises.

Plans Laid

As the delegates gathered in this jubilant auto capital, John L. Lewis, bed-ridden leader of the committee for industrial organization, began to lay plans for collective bargaining drives in the steel industry. Lewis is suffering from influenza.

C. I. O. leaders said a national convention of steel workers probably would be called in Pittsburgh about March 10. There is a distinct possibility of a strike in the mills.

One C. I. O. leaders said, "the more men we are able to draw out in case we are forced to strike in steel, the better."

Union leaders believed the General brought about by a "break" in the 10 Motors agreement finally was "united front" of automobile manufacturers. They said it had not been expected until five minutes before Murphy announced settlement in a press conference early yesterday.

Signal of Break

Announcement that Chrysler corporation had granted a wage increase was regarded by U. A. W. leaders as the signal of the "break."

They said that previously Chrysler never had taken such a step without first consulting General Motors but that this move came as a surprise to the strike-bound corporation.

Union leaders said yesterday's peace was the first "recognition" of a national union in the automotive industry.

TRIBUTE OFFERED LOCAL PHYSICIAN

Friends and relatives from southern Idaho gathered this afternoon at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel to pay final honors to Dr. Charles Weherbee, one-time physician in Twin Falls and former mayor of Buhl.

Rev. E. L. White, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated at the rites and at the cemetery members of the Masonic lodge, to which he belonged, conducted rites.

MURTAUGH Ousted as Day's Play Progresses in Burley Meet

BURLEY, Feb. 12 (Special)—A last period rally by the Murtaugh Savages fell one basket short and McCall scored the first elimination of the outlaw tournament here this morning. The final count was 32 to 34. McCall had annexed a 23-11 margin at the half time. Parish led the scoring for the winners with 12 points, while Bates topped Murtaugh with nine.

In the first game played this morning, Jerome Moose staged a last half spurt that smothered DeLo's efforts in the first tilt for both teams. The score at the end of the game was 52 to 31. At the half the Moose were ahead 22-18. John Nobby topped the winners with 16 points, while N. Christianson scored 10 for DeLo.

PARTY SQUABBLE IN IDAHO SENATE

Implications Flash on Floor As G. O. P.s and Bourbons Hold Debate

BOISE, Feb. 12 (Special)—A "party squabble" broke loose on the floor of Idaho's senate today, only a few minutes after Republicans and Democrats had joined in paying tribute to Abraham Lincoln.

Heated words and implications flashed across the chamber between J. H. Nell, Benewah, majority floor leader, and Gene Anderson, Elmore Republican, during an hour's debate on the question of printing one of Anderson's pet measures, to put occupational diseases under provisions of the workmen's compensation law.

The senate insurance committee had recommended that the bill not be printed. The recommendation was finally reversed and the measure ordered printed.

Larsen, Ada Democrat, threw the torch in partisan powder when he charged that the "senate had killed every bill which would be to the benefit of labor," his statements being immediately resented by Nell.

"The Democratic party," replied the floor leader, "has always been for the laboring man, and always will be. However, I believe, gentlemen, that we should stick by the report of the insurance committee and not print this bill."

Anderson accused Nell of implying that "we should not print the bill because its author was a Republican. May I remind the senator that in the last election it took a mighty good man to be elected to this legislature as a Republican."

IRRIGATION AID SEEN FOR IDAHO

Numerous Projects of Benefit To Farmers Urged for Construction

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD WASHINGTON (Special) — The national resources committee, in its report recently sent to congress, recommends the following irrigation studies and projects for immediate construction in Idaho:

Investigations: Clearwater river basin, $30,000; Salmon river and tributaries, $50,000; Columbia river: Idaho, Oregon and Washington, $222,000.

Irrigation Projects: Diversion dam on Big Lost river, Arco, $55,000; Squirrel Meadows storage reservoir, Ashton, $200,000; Salmon river drainage, Custer county, $44,000; storage on Teton river, Driggs, $1,050,000; diversion canal for Black canyon irrigation district, Emmett, $2,500,000; Port Hall Indian reservation project, $150,000; reservoir for irrigation Indian valley, $128,000.

Projects Recommended for Deferred Construction: Jerusalem valley and reservoir on Porter creek, Boise county, $35,000; Fyppass irrigation canal on Big Lost river, Butte county, $96,000; Lost Valley dam and storage reservoir, Council, $20,000; irrigation storage reservoir on Clover creek, Gooding county, $68,000; Texas creek dam for irrigation, Lardore, $180,000; replacements to existing system, Lewiston, $180,000; irrigation storage reservoir on Silver creek, Pierce, $206,000; diversion canal to the Salmon tract, Rupert, $67,000; irrigation storage in upper Payette lake, Valley county, $166,000; Clear creek dam and storage reservoir, Valley county, $25,000; dam and irrigation canal on lower Monah's creek, Washington county, $100,000; irrigation storage reservoir on upper Monah's creek, Washington county, $101,000.

If all the individuals currently mentioned for the presidency in 1940 were to go to Idaho and get acquainted, we believe Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace would win Idaho's support, hands down. 1940 is a long way off but most observers give him a distinct advantage at the present time. Mr. Wallace is probably the most democratic and most human of the contenders for high political honor. Ordinarily, a cabinet member ranks high enough to inspire awe and travels with a small entourage in official Washington. Secretary Wallace, however, avoids self-imposing dignity. He beams on high and low alike and is on genuinely friendly terms with most members of congress. His liberalism is not political. One of the most sincere men we have ever seen, he really sets as a goal the idea of helping people.

Indications are that the President's plan for judicial reorganization will pass congress by a margin of five to ten votes. And drive the final wedge between conservative and liberal statesmen. If anything will reorganize the political parties along distinctly liberal and conservative lines, the court proposal will do it. Chances are if the bill passes, there will be no additions in the personnel of the supreme court. It is unlikely that any self-respecting judge would stay on knowing that a new man was to come on the bench because of his disability of age. The President's message is generally conceded to be the most adroit move of recent years.

VALENTINE DINNER ROMANCE IS MADE OF RICE WEDDED TO CREAMED BEEF

A colorful one-dish luncheon that tastes even better than it looks—green peas in the center of a golden rice mold with creamed dried beef lending its savor all around.

(NEA Service)

You don't have to have six eyes to enjoy rice. Nor must you be a Chinese chef to master the secret of a rice ring with creamed beef. It's not on magic, but on this recipe.

Rice Ring

16 servings—1 cup uncooked rice, 3 eggs, 1 cup cream, 1/2 cup grated cheese, salt and pepper. Boil rice. Have it dry and light. Add the beaten eggs, cream and grated cheese. Butter a ring mold, pour in the rice mixture, set mold in pan of water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 1 hour. When done, unmold on hot platter. Fill center with green peas and surround with creamed dried beef or creamed fish. It makes an excellent one-dish meal. It's another buxom answer to the Lenten problem.

Have you planned something a bit romantic for dinner on Valen-

Sunday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit and tomato juice, broiled kidneys, toast, red currant jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Orange and grape cup, stuffed shoulder of veal, mushroom dressing, brown gravy, surprise baked potato, buttered white onions, celery stuffed with mashed green peas, tartlets with almond cream coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Oysters and celery on toast, jelly roll, tea, cocoa.

line's day? Then take a look at this heart winning recipe.

Heart of Rice

16 to 18 servings—One cup cooked rice, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup cream or evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup sugar.

Pour cold water in bowl then sprinkle granulated gelatin on top. Place bowl in boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add this mixture to cooked rice. Add sugar, salt and vanilla. Beat well. Cool. When it begins to thicken fold in cream whipped. Now for the Valentine color. Ingredients: 1 package cherry gelatin, 1 pint whipping cream, 1/2 cup powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Dissolve gelatin according to the instructions on the package. They vary according to brands. Rinse heart-shaped mold in cold water. Pour in gelatin mixture. Let set. Then fill mold with the rice Bavarian mixture. Chill thoroughly. When ready to serve, unmold on large plate. Beat cream with sugar and vanilla. Garnish red top of your dessert with the sweetened

Hailey High School To Sponsor Review

HAILEY, Feb. 12 (Special)—Hailey high school is sponsoring a show, "Just For Fun," in the form of a musical review. The proceeds will be used to buy new satin basketball suits for both squads. The student body of the school feels that it should have the new suits for the Wood river valley tournament to be held in Hailey Feb. 25, 26 and 27.

"Just For Fun" has five acts with specialty numbers. An eight-piece stage band has been organized as a background for one of the acts. Three dance choruses have been working on routines for several weeks. Another act will include a combination Negro minstrel and mule chorus. The director, W. C. Cherrington, states that he has obtained elaborate costumes and new stage settings. One of the many specialties is an interpretation of "The Lady in Red."

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS WAS A FAVORITE SPORT

LID-BANGING

Is the man going to hit the lady with the stove lid? No! He is just banging two lids together to prove that malleable iron does not break.

That was a favorite stunt with Monarch range salesmen "in the good old days" ... and it ought to be done today so every customer would pay more attention to the great difference between unbreakable Malleable Iron and brittle cast iron.

For Malleable Iron means long life, good baking and fuel economy ... qualities that are just as important TODAY as they ever were.

Beautiful design and porcelain enamel are not to be overlooked. Far from it! We believe the MONARCH is the most beautiful range ever built ... but it is also a FULL MALLEABLE range, built exactly the same way Monarchs were built thirty years ago. All parts subject to strain or breakage are made of this unbreakable iron. All joints are made permanently tight with rivets ... not temporarily tight with stove bolts and stove putty.

Of course all modern MONARCHS are Full Enamel. Enamel outside for beauty and easy cleaning; enamel inside as the best known protection against rust damage.

Let us show you the latest MONARCH models. They are ranges we are proud to sell.

TASTE SCHLITZ TODAY... In the new, compact, easy-to-handle "Steinie" Brown Bottles. It is reminiscent of olden days... of beer sipped from the cool depths of stone steins.

Old-time brewmasters never enjoyed the facilities of modern science to assure uniform deliciousness to their brew but Schlitz has expended millions of dollars in research and development to make each glass (uniformly delicious, appetizing and healthful.

With the first sip you instantly recognize the difference between Schlitz and other beers. That delightful, satisfying difference is old-time flavor which Schlitz brews with scientific uniformity into every sparkling drop.

It's the full-bodied flavor of rich barley-malt wedded to the piquant tang of the finest hops the world affords... brewed to the peak of ripe, mellow perfection, winter or summer, under Schlitz Precise Enzyme Control. Treat yourself to Schlitz in the modern "Steinie" Brown Bottle... with the added health benefits of Sunshine Vitamin D.

Schlitz "Steinie" Brown Bottles are compact—light in weight—easy to carry—take less space in your refrigerator. Contents same as regular bottle. Also available in the familiar Tall Brown Bottle and Cap-Sealed Can.

[You don't have to cultivate a taste for Schlitz... you will like it on first acquaintance... and ever after.]

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES WEST-HOLLIDAY-MOENSEN CO., INC. Mills Tower, 220 Bush Street, San Francisco, Calif.

A LOGICAL TIME TO TALK BUSINESS

Introduction in the legislature of a measure which points to the state's eventual purchase of the Twin Falls-Jerome inter-county toll bridge comes as a further recognition of what seems to be the inevitable.

Since erection of the span, developments would indicate that as a toll bridge it apparently will not pay a fair return on the investment. Already there are several obvious reasons in substantiation of that belief and still further developments now in the making are working to an added disadvantage.

Primarily, motorists in this vicinity have regarded the toll as too high. Traffic over the Hansen bridge route to the north has continued to grow and in recognition of this increased travel the highway has been improved. The new hard-surfaced shortcut on the north side and plans for further improvement in the spring are making this route increasingly popular. It is but a few miles longer than the other route, and Hansen bridge is toll free.

Coupled with this fact is the growing demand by supporters of U. S. highway No. 93, that the toll on the inter-county bridge be removed to permit of necessary improvements on this important north and south crossing of the United States. Only last summer a delegation boosting this highway from lower California to Canada criticized Twin Falls and Idaho generally for permitting the toll bridge to remain as an obstacle to the proper development of this artery of traffic. It was explained that the government refuses federal aid for highways approaching a toll bridge and that for this reason, if no other, the bridge under its present set-up constitutes a drawback.

Recognizing the need for correcting this situation, engineers already have made tentative estimates of putting an alternative span across Snake river just below Shoshone Falls, and of properly improving Blue Lakes grade into a modern highway.

In the event either of these two projects was completed it would further impair the earnings of the toll bridge to the further disadvantage of the shareholders.

Taking all this into consideration the logical course would seem for the state to buy the bridge. There has been some talk that the state might be ready at this time to purchase the span if it could be bought at its actual worth. If that is true it looks like a practical solution to an unfortunate problem.

At present the bridge company is attempting a re-organization in an effort to iron out its difficulties. With a bill already introduced in the legislature for the purpose of taking over toll bridges, there is no better time for the bridge company and state officials to enter into negotiations.

HELPING TO AVOID COSTLY MISTAKES

The government's plan for a long-range rehabilitation program to rescue the drought-ridden states in the middle west from economic starvation will be welcome news to the affected area, but to outsiders it will seem a task next to impossible for man to accomplish because of the major role nature has played in bringing the troublesome condition about.

It is difficult to understand how legislation, surveys, experiments and the like can effectively cope with the laws of nature which in recent years have been working to the disadvantage of the "breadbasket" of the United States.

Those familiar with the middle west, however, can better appreciate the need for such action as is now being contemplated by the government. They recall only too well the mistakes made in the past in trying to reshape the forces of nature to accommodate temporary conditions.

As recently as ten years ago many districts in the middle west were greatly concerned about their sloughs and shallow lakes. They visualized farms and abundant crops in the place of these water bodies and immediately set about to have them drained. Ditching machines were brought into action and hundreds of miles of drain tile laid.

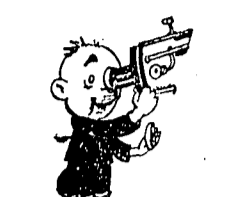

Now during dry years, they see the all too infrequent and precious rains carried off by these same elaborate drainage systems. The necessary moisture, instead of being conserved as nature had originally provided, now finds its way to the tributaries of the Mississippi river and thence down the "father of waters" to the gulf. Even the recent floods in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys have been aggravated to an extent because of this mistake of man.

And so it has been with our timbered areas that once retained moisture which now is lost. The inroads made upon American timber resources likewise have contributed their part to our present flood menace, although efforts are already under way to correct this mistake by reforestation methods.

That is how the government can help. If we can be made to see these mistakes before others are made, the effort and expense will be well worth while, even though it may take years to rectify the errors already committed.

SAY, HAS THE MODREN GAL NO FRIENDS?

Dear Pot Shots: You're in a contest, so you say About the women of today. They smoke, drink, and gamble too. And always wear a high-heeled shoe.

And if by chance they must bulge bread, They almost wish that they were dead; And to a church they never go Or stay at home sometimes to sew.

SHE'S A CONNOISSEUR!

Hon. Pot Shots:

At a fashionable cocktail party the other night I overheard the host ask one of the lady guests which she preferred, bourbon or scotch.

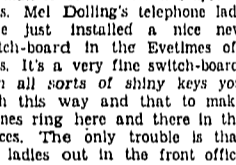

Imagine my disgust when she replied very nonchalantly: "If you don't mind, I'd prefer whiskey."

—The Old Soak

WE KNOW JUST how you fell, Soak. Anyone who has topped at all would have known better than to take such a chance in mistaking those two famous wines!

WE SERVE YOU due warning—if you're thinking of phoning to Pot Shots with a contrib, you'd better mail it or wait for a couple of days. Mel Dolling's telephone lads have just installed a nice new switch-board in the Evelines' offices. It's a very fine switch-board, with all sorts of shiny keys you push this way and that to make phones ring here and there in the offices. The only trouble is that the ladies out in the front office haven't found the combination yet, and some surprising things happen. So if you call Pot Shots and get the sassiest editor's dulcet (?) feminine tones, don't be misled. It isn't us. We still smoke our pipe and talk in very masculine language.

BOUQUET FOR HAP!

Pot Shots:

Yeh, it's Hap Yelton again. He was downtown in one of our restaurants when some gal phoned and asked if he happened to be there, and if he intended to remain there for another 15 minutes. Getting affirmative answers, the gal hung up. . . . but a few minutes later in comes a telegraph messenger boy with a scrawny-looking bouquet of sweet peas (about five cents worth).

The accompanying message said: "Forgive me, dear, I'm sorry." And there was something about "Do my Valentine."

Hap suspects some of his male friends of pulling a put-up job on him.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

By Dennis Wheatley © 1937, NEA Service, Inc. William Morrow & Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOLITHO BLANE, British passenger disappeared from yacht crew by his principal conspirator, CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE, of Miami, A note found in Blane's cabin, addressed to his secretary NICHOLAS STODART, indicates Blane's safe since he faced bankruptcy. A memo written by Stodart shows Blane's company stock, ARCHA SLEIGH, closing at a very low that day.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAMES'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF MISS FERRI ROCKSAVAGE.

K.: Good morning, Miss Rocksausage. Come right in.

F. R.: Good morning.

K.: Come and sit down. There are just a few questions I want to ask you about this unfortunate business last night.

F. R.: Certainly; anything I can do.

K.: Would you just tell me, Miss Rocksausage, what you were doing, and where you were, from the time the yacht sailed until you went in to dinner.

F. R.: When the ship left Miami I was sitting on the port deck with Mr. Jocelyn.

K.: Did you see Mr. Blane come aboard?

F. R.: No. We were on the port side of the ship; that is, we were facing out to sea. We sat there until about 7:15, and then we both went below to our cabins. I got interested in a book, so I was a little late in changing and I didn't get up to the lounge until about 8:40. The other guests were all there, except Mr. Bolitho Blane and his secretary, neither of whom I had met, and I was just looking round for my father when the steward came up with a message from him. He said to me, "Mr. Rocksausage says, Miss, would you please take everybody in to dinner. Mr. Blane has had a heart attack, so we are returning to Miami."

R. JOCELYN. RETAKE 8.1.37

K.: And what happened then?

F. R.: I did as my father had asked me to and I didn't know anything about what really happened until father told us all after we had anchored off Miami again, just a few minutes before the police came on board.

K.: Did you know of any special reason for this trip?

F. R.: No.

K.: Are you certain of that?

F. R.: Well, it's just a pleasure trip, like lots of others we've had on the yacht, but as there were several strangers on board I naturally assumed that some big business deal would be discussed during the time we were at sea. Father often uses these trips to entertain people with whom, if he were seen ashore, comment might be aroused which would affect the markets.

K.: I see. Thank you, Miss Rocksausage. That'll be all for the moment.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAMES'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF THE HONORABLE REGINALD JOCELYN.

K.: Good morning, Mr. Jocelyn.

F. R.: Now, I'd just like you to tell me anything you can about this unfortunate affair last night.

J.: I'm afraid I can't tell you anything.

K.: Well, let's hear what you were doing between the time of the ship's sailing and your going in to dinner.

J.: When the ship sailed I was sitting on deck with Miss Rocksausage. We stayed there until the ship was well out to sea and somewhere about 7:30 we went down to our cabins to change for dinner. I came up to the lounge at 8:30 and Mr. Rocksausage arrived soon after. A steward spoke to him and he went below, then a message came up that Mr. Blane was ill, so we were returning to Miami. After that we went in to dinner.

K.: Do you always take an hour to change your clothes?

J.: Sometimes an hour, and sometimes two if I feel like it.

K.: No need to get fresh now. Were you changing all that time?

J.: I don't see what the devil it's got to do with you but, if you must know, I spent a long time lying in my bath.

K.: Thanks. Now, this trip. You were in on the object of it, weren't you?

J.: I don't understand what you mean.

K.: Oh, yes you do. Bolitho Blane and Carlton Rocksausage were using this as a meeting ground to patch up a truce in the commercial war they've been waging.

J.: Oh; that. Yes.

K.: That, yes! And how much more did you know about it?

J.: Nothing, except that Lady Weiler, my mother-in-law, has very large holdings in the Rocksausage companies, and that she always likes me to stand by so that I can advise her where her business interests are concerned.

K.: Right. That'll do for the moment, Mr. Jocelyn.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAMES'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF THE HONORABLE MRS. REGINALD JOCELYN.

K.: Good morning, Mrs. Jocelyn.

Sit down, won't you?

P. J.: Thank you.

K.: Now, just what can you tell me about this unfortunate affair last night?

P. J.: Nothing at all, I'm afraid.

K.: It would help me to check up on things if you wouldn't mind giving me your movements from the time the ship sailed until you went in to dinner.

P. J.: I was in the lounge with Count Posodini.

K.: Anyone else there?

P. J.: No, not until Mr. Rocksausage arrived.

K.: What happened then?

P. J.: We had more drinks and talked for a bit, then Mr. Blane's secretary came in and was introduced to us. There was some talk about his sending a message down to Mr. Blane, and just after that I said that I must go down and change for dinner. Count Posodini said that he thought he would, too, so we went below together.

K.: What time would that be?

P. J.: About ten minutes to eight.

K.: And then?

P. J.: I changed and came up to the lounge with my husband again just as the dinner bugle sounded at 8:30. A few minutes later a steward came in and spoke to Mr. Rocksausage, who had just come in, and they both went below together.

K.: Just when did you know the real cause of the trouble?

P. J.: Not until the yacht was anchored off Miami again. Mr. Rocksausage told us then, and said that the police would be coming on board in a few moments.

K.: Good. Now, did you regard this just as a pleasure trip?

P. J.: Not altogether. I know that my mother has a big interest in the Rocksausage companies and, as Bolitho Blane was expected to join us at Miami, I thought that there must be something in the wind.

K.: Your husband advises your mother, though, where her financial interests are concerned, doesn't he?

P. J.: Yes, but we go about with mother quite a lot on social parties, where no business comes under discussion at all.

K.: Thank you, Mrs. Jocelyn, that'll do for the present.

Behind The Scenes in Washington

PERPLEXITY WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—Congressional politicians were frankly caught in the switches by President Roosevelt's move to repack the supreme court. Leaders knew they had to go along with the President and gave guarded approval to his course. But the rank and file found itself wholly unable to guess the probable public reaction with any degree of self-confidence. That is why they remained quiet.

A few felt that the move would cause Mr. Roosevelt's popularity to decline. They figured that it would confirm the political suspicions voiced against him, but, more important, that it destroyed his formerly advantageous political position. It would force upon him a direct responsibility for prices, wages, working conditions, farm prices, and all complained-of ills. In the course of years, the exercise of this responsibility might very naturally be expected to prove discouraging.

Note—NRA experience, also AAA, including production control, etc.

A majority of congressional politicians, however, seemed to be content to analyze immediate rather than long range prospects. They judged the move would be unpopular among statesmen, lawyers and well-informed critics, popular among people who do not understand ultimate ramifications or details, which would mean the great bulk of the people of the country.

That is why predictions now are being freely made that the plan will be adopted.

POWER There is another equally important hidden reason. The power of a popular President over his party members in congress is so strong that any legislator who arises against him thereby invites automatic political death.

To live, congressmen need support of the leaders of their party. They must get their committee assignments from the top. (Note—The experience of young Senator Rush Holt of West Virginia now being chastised by senate leaders for rebellion.) They must get executive appointments for their friends back home. If they are to keep any friends. (Look at the 50 new judgeship appointments which may be opened up by the suggestion, and remember that most legislators are lawyers, with law partners and legal friends looking for judicial appointments.) If their wives are socially inclined, and two-thirds of them are, they court social oblivion in the dining circles of state for at least four more years by opposing the wishes of the powers-that-be.

BACKGROUND The inside scene in which Mr. Roosevelt moved to revise the constitution without changing it was lost in the shuffle when he submitted his sensational message to congress. It should be pointed to hang alongside the signing of the declaration of Independence, Washington at Valley Forge, and Coolidge taking the oath by the light of an oil lamp.

It was 11 a. m. last Friday. Two hundred newsmen filed in to the circular presidential office, where he was seated at his desk. Behind him sat his publicity experts, Charles Michelson, Steve Early, Marvin McIntyre, the men who tell him what popular effect his moves will have.

The President lit a cigarette in an amber holder and announced with a flashing grin that he had a matter "somewhat important" to announce. He cautioned reporters not to mention the matter to anyone outside their own offices until the reading of his message in congress actually began. A voice from the audience called out everyone had brought his lunch. The President led the laughter.

Then he started to read his message, pointing out what he considered the significant things the newspapers should stress. His voice had a barely noticeable quality of strained emotion. It was pitched a couple of notes higher than his ordinary conversational tone. Obviously, he was aware of the importance of the setting, but he broke the text with six observations, indicating he was not overwhelmed by solemnity.

MERRIMENT The President stressed particularly the line that on one issue is charged with the responsibility of reorganizing the judiciary, and when he came to the point about Justices riding circuit in the Washington administration, he observed in a pointed aside: "And they actually rode on horseback in those days. It might be called the pre-horse and buggy era." The audience roared at the sarcasm in his tone.

When he came to the point about the ages of the Justices being "a subject of delicacy," he read the words with such mock emphasis that his ever-appreciative audience again tilted so much he had to pause before continuing.

Laughs broke out frequently thereafter, heaviest and longest when the President identified Justice McKeynolds as one of the two attorney generals who he said had once recommended appointment of additional judges in courts whose aged justices would not retire.

The humor of the reference was striking to the audience, as Mr. McKeynolds is now one of the supreme court Justices whose retirement is most desired at the White House.

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO—

Feb. 12, 1922

Everything is in readiness for the big Republican Lincoln banquet and celebration tonight at the Perrine hotel.

The program opens with a patriotic selection by the orchestra. Attorney Harry Benoit will read Lincoln's Gettysburg address and this will be followed by a solo by Miss Pearl Boyd. The address of the evening will be delivered by Prosecuting Attorney Hugh A. Baker, Mindoka county.

Thomas E. Harris of this city, a personal friend of Lincoln before the Civil war and his guest 61 years ago, will talk on the personal characteristics of the President.

27 YEARS AGO—

Feb. 12, 1910

Agent D. E. Sullivan stated this week that the amount of coal shipped into this city during the month of January would surprise some of the men who were howling the most, if figured out. On going over his daily reports he found that in spite of the continual clamor for coal that 52 full car loads had been received in this city alone. The company, Mr. Sullivan stated, had in many cases let other freight go in order to bring the coal in on this branch. Ten cars of coal were received yesterday by the local dealers.

The Family Doctor

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. The summer of 1936 was one of the hottest on record in the United States, the number of cases of heat stroke was greater than the average.

It should be remembered that heat stroke occurs not only in extremely hot weather, but may occur at any time in factories, laundry rooms, and kitchens where people work in extreme heat associated with considerable moisture.

The symptoms of heat stroke seem to come suddenly on people outdoors because they are unaware of the effects of the heat. The person who is about to suffer a heat stroke feels weak and tired, gets dizzy and then drowsy. His digestion may be disturbed and he may have pain in his abdomen. Gradually he develops a fever; his pulse becomes rapid and his skin dry, hot and flushed.

The pupils of his eyes are usually contracted or small. Associated with these symptoms is rapid and noisy breathing. In many cases of heat stroke, the pupils of the victim's eyes widen or dilate just before death.

As I have already said in previous columns in this series, the unconsciousness of heat stroke is occasionally confused with that resulting from drugs, bleeding, diabetes, changes in blood circulation, or epilepsy.

To avoid heat stroke, keep as cool as possible. In exceedingly hot weather, wear light clothing, loose and porous. While working in an especially hot atmosphere, make certain that clothing is light, so that unnecessary heat is not retained in the body.

Taking cool baths at frequent intervals, or even washing the face and hands with cool water will cool the body. Adequate sleep helps fortify the body for the unusual strain associated with heat.

People in a hot atmosphere will drink plenty of water because of the excessive evaporation of water from the surface of the body. They should remember, however, that this evaporation also causes the body to lose salt.

In industries in which people work under conditions of extreme heat, arrangements now are generally made to provide drinking water with a small amount of added salt, to prevent dangerous results. A solution of water containing about 1 per cent salt has been found quite successful in preventing heat exhaustion.

In case of heat exhaustion, the first thing to do is to get the person into a cool place and keep him absolutely quiet and flat on his back. Sponging with cool water will help control his temperature.

It may be necessary to give him coffee, to stimulate his blood. A doctor will administer all other necessary stimulants, by injecting them into the body with a hypodermic syringe.

Tropical authorities recommend that the victim be placed on a bed covered with a large rubber sheet. Then ice and cold water are rubbed over the body. At the same time the rubbing with the ice will encourage blood circulation. The temperature should be taken regularly with a thermometer inserted into the lower bowel. If his temperature falls below 101 degrees, the cold application is stopped, the patient is covered with blankets, and the condition of his circulation is studied carefully to make certain that he does not collapse.

If the victim of heat exhaustion stops breathing, it is necessary to apply artificial respiration to keep the lungs ventilated.

After a person improves from heat stroke, he is given plenty of nutritious food and fluids to aid rapid recovery.

People who travel in the summer, particularly those using trains or trailers, should remember that ventilation is of greatest importance. It is better under conditions of extreme heat to sit in an open coach with free circulation of air than in the smaller compartments and drawing rooms.

In a trailer the windows should be arranged to permit constant circulation of air and thus prevent exhaustion due to heat.

Museum Urged

LLOLLAND, Mich. (AP)—A concerted move to establish a permanent Dutch museum in this city has been launched by western Michigan persons. The purpose of the museum would be to preserve material relating to Dutch traditions and other historical data, which was discovered solely lacking by workers on the survey of historical records.

FINAL PLANS FOR PROGRAMS MADE

Arrangements for Burley Leadership Week Are Announced

BURLEY, Feb. 12 (Special)—Final plans for Southern Idaho Leadership week, which began here Monday, were made this week as improved weather dispelled all fear that it would have to be postponed because of blocked roads.

A new addition to the special classes was added Wednesday, according to R. Golden May, director, when Miss Margaret Thomas, state nurse for the Anti-Tuberculosis association, who has been giving tuberculosis tests here, agreed to stay and conduct daily classes on health education.

Other special subject classes include scouting, genealogy, relief, society, agriculture, home economics and moral and religious education.

Besides the special classes, general assemblies are offered each afternoon with speakers that will appeal to the general public.

Tuesday's general assembly speaker will be Earl J. Glade, manager of KSL, Salt Lake City, on "Principles of Personal Achievement." Wednesday the featured speaker will be Hugh B. Brown, Utah State liquor administrator, on "Banishing Superstitions," and Thursday Dr. W. W. Henderson, head of the department of zoology and entomology at the Utah State Agricultural college at Logan, will speak on "Eugenics and Serious Problems Facing Population." Dr. Henderson has specialized in eugenics for many years, and his speech promises to be one of the most interesting of the week.

Friday Carl P. Eyring, Brigham Young university, Provo, will speak on "The Self in a Changing World." Entertainment during the evening meetings will include a musical concert, a dramatic rendition of John Dryden's "Abraham Lincoln," by Maud May Hubbard, head of the dramatics department of the University of Utah, Salt Lake City, and two dances, one Monday evening and the other Friday evening.

GOODING

Word was received here this week that Miss Jane Schubert, who entered the University of Idaho for the second semester, has been pledged in Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She is the daughter of Mrs. Louise Schubert.

Miss Elizabeth Poulton, member of the Gooding college faculty, is leaving with Miss Dorothy Sturgeon, head of going to and from her home in Hagerman to the college while the roads are in poor condition.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson have returned from San Francisco, where they had spent two weeks. While in California Mr. Thompson, who is connected with the Thompson Furniture company, attended the furniture markets, held in both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Officers for the remainder of the college year elected by the Wesley league at Gooding college this week are: Hugh Nelson, Fairfield, president; Jack Miller, Logan, first vice president; Marsh Rees, Twin Falls; second vice president; Zeida Burgquist, Buhl, third vice president; Charlotte Peterson, Piler, and Bruce Gage, Dietrich, fourth vice presidents; Kenneth Leger, Minkola, secretary-treasurer, and Will a Young, Wendell, pianist.

Tailored Clothes Possible for $25 Per Week Man if He Keeps A Budget

By WALTER C. PARKES (NEA Service)

NEW YORK—If some $25-a-week youngster of your acquaintance suddenly blossoms out in beautifully tailored clothes and smart accessories, don't suspect (1) a legacy from the rich uncle in Australia, (2) a winning sweepstakes ticket, (3) that he's snagging the firm's books to his advantage.

The chances are he has discovered that by buying his clothes on a budget basis he can make just as good an appearance as the man to whom his salary would be cigarette money.

At least that's the picture painted by merchant tailor Frank C. Nagel, spokesman for the New York Custom Cutters' club, which holds its 18th annual convention and style show at the Hotel Commodore on Washington's birthday.

Which one of the three young business men seen above as they lunch and talk shop at the Hotel Commodore makes $25 a week and which nicks the boss for $100? You're right—it's hard to guess their financial status from their attire because even the lean-pursed among them know how to use their clothes money to best advantage.

Clothes for Little

"Clothing expense budgets for men of varying incomes will be one of the most important topics of discussion at the convention," said Mr. Nagel. He pointed out that more and more ambitious young men are realizing that good grooming is a distinct business asset.

"But many of them are under the impression that they need a six-figure income to acquire a proper wardrobe," he said. "That simply isn't so. By carefully allotting a small proportion of his income for clothes, Johnny Job can present as good an appearance as J. Willburton Boss."

Mr. Nagel declared that the $25-a-week chap is justified in spending up to 14 per cent of his annual income for well-tailored clothes of good material and authentic style. In support of his contention he offered two tentative budgets, one for a man with a $25 salary and the other based on $100 a week.

Only $3.50 Per Week

This $25 budget averages $3.50 per week:

- 1 felt hat $ 5
- 1 straw hat $ 3
- 2 pairs shoes at $5 $ 10
- 6 shirts at $2 $ 12
- 10 pairs socks at 50c $ 5
- Underwear and pajamas $ 12
- Ties and muffler $ 4
- Gloves $ 4

Suit, 1 tailored suit each year, alternating from year to year in type needed, from $60 to $75

Overcoats; get two in three years, paying $75 for heavy winter coat and $50 for light topcoat, making cost for 3 years $125, or average per year about $42

Incidentals, handkerchiefs, sweaters, golf Sox, etc. $ 8

TOTAL BUDGET $182

Proportion Drops

Increasing the total to $195 would cost only $3.75 a week and permit considerably more leeway in variety and number of clothes purchases.

The $100 budget calls for a larger total, but actually requires a smaller proportion of the annual income, as the $64 allotted is only a little over 12 per cent:

- 2 felt hats at $7.50 $ 15
- 1 straw hat, from $3 to $5. $ 3
- 3 pairs shoes at $10 $ 30
- 12 pairs silk socks at $1 $ 12
- Wool socks for golf or sports $ 10
- 12 shirts from $3 to $5 $ 40
- Underwear $ 15

RANGE LIVESTOCK CONDITION GOOD

Palamas 12 neckties at $2
Gloves $ 13
Studs: 2 tailored business suits at $90 to $100 each $ 300
One specialized tailored suit each year (sports, tropical, evening clothes); evening clothes to be replaced about every five years $ 100
1 overcoat each year, alternating heavy winter coat and topcoat, evening coat of light Heavy coat $130 lighter coat about $100 $ 230

TOTAL $641

If your income falls between these extremes, you can have fun during the long winter evenings figuring out a budget for yourself using these as a guide.

BURLEY TO HAVE NEW BUS DEPOT

Building Remodelled by U. P. Lines to Be Opened March 1

BURLEY, Feb. 12 (Special)—A new Union Pacific bus depot will be opened here about March 1 in the building formerly occupied by the Al Seeds garage on north Oakley avenue, which is now undergoing reconstruction and remodeling for the purpose.

A long term lease for the building has been signed by the Union Pacific company, according to Mr. Seeds. The new depot is 35 x 75 feet in size and will contain ticket offices, waiting room, large rest rooms, a news stand, and a restaurant. Furnishings will be of the new Old Oregon Trail type.

The remodeling includes a new modern front and hardwood floors. Buses will load and unload at the rear of the building, where large doors are to be built. The balance of the lots occupied by the building (yards plenty of space so that the buses will be off the streets and off the white loading and unloading.

Establishment here several months ago of a bus terminal led to the building of this modern depot, according to the reports. The National hotel is at present the bus depot.

Gooding Cafe Bought By Salt Lake Man

GOODING, Feb. 12 (Special)—

Leon Klont of Salt Lake City has bought the fixtures and stock in the cafe owned by Mrs. Mary Robinson and has leased the building from her. He and his wife arrived here the fore part of the week, and he began work rearranging the stock and fixtures.

He states that the Sawtooth Shack, a sports shop, will continue to occupy part of the building, but he plans to change the name of the cafe. At present it is called Dutch's cafe.

L. K. Willy, who has been employed in the cafe the last two months, will continue to work there.

CHOICE QUALITY CANADIAN WHISKEY

AGED IN WOOD 5 YRS. 6 MOS.

MOTHERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

The family looks to you to aid your doctor in keeping them well. You can help prevent much illness and poor health by guarding them from common constipation.

Most constipation comes from faulty diet—meals low in "bulk." This condition can be corrected so easily and pleasantly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the safe way to prevent constipation by putting "bulk" back in the diet. Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass which gently sponges out the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. It is so much better for your family than constant dosing with artificial pills and drugs.

Two tablespoons daily as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes, are enough for the average person. Three times daily in severe cases.

Sold at all grocers—and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"It's Amazing the Way VAN-TAGE Helped Me. I Think It's the Finest Medicine Ever Put in a bottle."—MRS. ANNA SLUMSKI, of Denver, Colo.

Awful gas and bloating—indigestion after meals—horrible pains in the intestines—splitting up of sour food substance that almost causes strangulation—a terrible feeling like a mass of swollen blot in the stomach—sleeplessness—a burning misery around heart—weak, worried feelings—breathlessness—wild heart palpitation from gas—these are some of the penalties of an Upset Stomach. Many people in this section have suffered in this way FOR YEARS. Now Van-Tage is relieving them by the thousands. This is the "Amazing New Medicine" now being introduced to crowds daily here at the Schramm Johnson Drug Store, 102 North Main street and Kingsbury's Drug Store, 116 Main avenue south. For instance, just a few days ago, Mrs. Anna Slumski, of 1024 Navajo St., Denver Colo. (A Long-Time and Popular Resident of this Section) said:

Stomach Gas, Headaches, Rheumatic Pains

"I endured agony for 20 years due to terrible gas. I had awful pains that would press up around my heart. My kidneys were weak and forced me to rise 2 to 4 times every night. My whole system became contaminated and my ankles would swell to twice normal size and my skin would turn black under the rings of my fingers. I had awful headaches and impurities inside me that even made my skin break out with blemishes.

Was in Despair Before She Found Van-Tage

"I was in despair because nothing I tried helped me. A friend recommended Van-Tage and I started taking it. This medicine was a GOD-SEND to me! It moved out loads of gas and blot from my stomach. My kidneys are relieved and I have no more night rising. Headaches are gone and my skin is clear. I am 72 and nothing had ever done me any good until I took Van-Tage. I think this is the Greatest Medicine ever put in a bottle. It's Amazing!

21 Great Natural Herbs In the Van-Tage

VAN-TAGE contains 21 Great Herbs, and nearly a dozen Other Powerful Ingredients. Burley, Twin Falls and Shoshone Win Two Tilts

(Results of the morning games of the Burley tournament today will be found on page two).

BURLEY, Feb. 12 (Special)—The battle continued to rage on the basketball front here today as 13 teams were scheduled to participate in eight games in 12 hours. Yesterday all but two of the 13 teams saw action. Jerome and Declo drew first day byes and met in the initial clash on today's program.

Scores at yesterday's games were as follows:
Twin Falls 62, Malta 12.
Burley 39, Rupert 34.
Shoshone 65, American Falls 22.

Twin Falls 12, Malta 12.
Paul 34, Oakley 33 (overtime).
Burley 37, Murtaugh 22.
Rupert 32, McCall 25.
Shoshone 45, Gooding 25.

Opening games of the tournament yesterday saw between the powerful Shoshone Indians and Gooding Legion, the former winning from last year's state amateur champs, 45 to 25. Thompson led the scoring for the contest with 14 points, while Keller was high man for the Gooding squad with seven.

Rupert Boosters found the going tough, but emerged victorious in a hot battle with the McCall Loggers; the final count being 32-20. Lucy led the scoring for the Boosters, who were ahead at the half time, 14-7. Rutledge counted nine for McCall.

Murtaugh Savages couldn't connect with the basket the second half in their game with Burley, and the final count was 37-22 in favor of the host team. The Elks led 18-14 at half time.

Orange Transportation took the heralded Paul quint 42 to 24, gaining a 22-13 lead at the half time and continuing the pace. "Spec" Haslam counted 14 points and Johnny Wells 13 to lead the Twin scoring.

Although dropping their game to Twin Falls, Paul boosters had previously shown power in nosing out Oakley 34-33 in an overtime contest, securing the winning point on Rulon Stanfield's free throw. The game had ended 31-all. Wilson led with 11 points, and Squance was high for Paul with 10.

Malta quint was outclassed in its tilt with the Orange team, dropping a 65-12 decision. The Magic City five led at half time, 27-5. Haslam again topped Twin Falls scoring with 15 points.

Shoshone 65, American Falls 28. Shoshone displayed the most power of the tournament as the Redskins smothered the American Falls Damaters, last year's Gooding tourney champs, 65-26. Bob Haddock led the north siders' counting with 17 points, while Ringe led the Damaters with seven.

To a good share of the audience that packed the new gym for the evening's performances the most thrilling game was between the old-time enemies, the Rupert Boosters and the Burley Elks which the host quint won 39 to 34. "Shanty" Hoggan, former Southern Branch star, led the scoring for the victors with 16 points, but Ed Lucy topped him for Rupert with 17.

High point men at the end of the first half's play were:
Haslam, Twin Falls, 29; Lucy, Rupert, 25; Haddock, Shoshone, 26; Johnny Wells, Twin Falls, 25; Thomason, Shoshone, 24; Hoggan, Burley, 18; Squance, Paul, 18; Hirt, Burley, 18; Turner, Twin Falls, 18; Baker, Burley, 15; Bella, Shoshone, 15; Smith, Rupert, 15; Chess, Shoshone, 14; Westergren, Twin Falls, 13; Stanfield, Paul, 12.

Swisher	119	84	131	334
Hancock	114	148	149	411
Harper	153	117	148	420
Totals	625	665	737	2027

Jack Ford got doubles in the two games he rolled. John warmed the bench first game.

Bill Towan struck out to end his second game.

It was the police commissioner who got into trouble last night. Eight splits and five errors made trouble in big letters for Colie; no doubles.

Charley Larsen got a double his first game and a turkey his second. That big boy really stirs up those pins. His 199, second game, was good for high.

Holly Jones was high for his team as usual. Two doubles for Wimpy his second game, one his last. He had one split each game.

Cap Brinegar poured 'em in there (sometimes). A double in each of his games; also some errors.

Speaking of errors, Bill McDonald had plenty for one bowler. A double in both his first and second games helped a little.

N. O. Johnson was there in a big way; well, not too big. N. O. couldn't strike.

Charles Brueggemann got a double his first game and went out with his last with three strikes in a row to make the Elk team quite uneasy for a little while.

Chevrolet took all three from Brookfield in the City league.

Maxie Miller led both teams for the high total of 469 (I think he also led Cap Brinegar!). Max got one double his second game.

Edwards, lead-off for Chevrolet, got a turkey for his team his last game.

No doubles for Jenkins and Ross Nelson.

Welty of the Brookfield team took high single game of 201. Four strikes in a row that game.

Hancock got a double his last game and Harper doubled 'em up in both his first and third tilts.

Log Tavern and Twin Falls Lumber Co. bowled a postponed game tonight.

Applications for seven Boy Scouts of the Snake River area council, for a total of eight merit badges, and two second class rankings were approved today by local officials, and forwarded to national headquarters.

The two second class applications, those of James Brennan and Mahlon Haunquerst, both of troop 30 at Plett, have been awarded the merit badge.

These making merit badge applications for the Buhl court of honor include Donald Barry, George Howag and Jim Snee, all for first aid badges, and Gene Venter for first aid and cooking. All are members of troop 1.

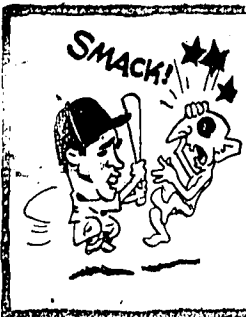

Application for animal industry, bird study and conservation badges made by John Maxey of troop 40, Jerome court of honor, was also approved.

Board of review for the Twin Falls-Piler court of honor were W. E. Nixon and J. R. Keenan.

Jerome court of honor counselor was Hal Wallington, while counselors for the Buhl court of honor consisted of J. W. MacManus, Mrs. J. G. Venter, Elmer Van Houten and J. G. Venter. Court of honor was in charge of S. A. Constant.

Scoutmasters are W. C. Senften of troop 1, and Sam Hatmaker of troop 40.

DIZZY DUE TO COMMENCE ANNUAL HOLDOUT HOLLER

By HENRY SUPER (Pinch Hitting for Henry McLemore)

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Today being Lincoln's birthday it is only fitting that this space be devoted to another emancipator—one, however, whose cry for social justice is only a first person affair.

I refer, of course, to Jerome Herman Dean, the dizzy, No. 1 problem-child of the St. Louis Cardinal plantation. Reports from the front indicate this diamond slave's annual campaign for freedom or more dough is ready to start.

And, after a careful study of past performances, weights and lung-capacity of the participants, I think the scrap will proceed along the following lines:

Dizzy, accompanied by his chief-of-staff, Mrs. Dean, will arrive in Hot Springs, Ark. over the week-end from his winter quarters at Bradentown, Fla. There, after opening his contract (terms unrevealed), Diz will call in the press and sound off something like this:

Being Robbed
"I'm being robbed. I refuse to pitch for less than $50,000. What do you think I am, a sandlotter? Unless I get what I want, the Cardinals won't win the pennant because they need me in there foggin' 'em over. I don't have to play baseball. In fact, I'd rather play golf."

Then Col. Sam Breadon and Vice-Col. Branch Rickey will "deny" everything. One of them will let a word slip—probably to the effect that "Dizzy ain't so hot anyway"—and the battle will be on.

Accusations, charges and counter-charges will be hurled over an arena covering 33 states. Frankie Frisch will be dragged into it; a couple of players will give their reaction to the situation; Judge Landis will be reported ready to intercede for the good of baseball and finally the Cardinals' batboy and grounds-keeper will be interviewed on the subject.

Worrying Starts
Along about a month hence, when the Cardinals start gathering for spring training at Bradentown, Dizzy still will be out of the fold. Everyone will admit they are worrying—because "he really means it this time."

Diz, the Mrs. and the golf clubs, meanwhile, will be camped in Bradentown—but none will be on speaking terms with the Cardinals and their associates.

Mr. Dean will play golf daily, and sound off each afternoon at four on the 19th hole. Mrs. Dean will take up a watch on the porch and explain to all and sundry "why we don't play ball unless we get what we want!"

Finally, when everyone has become sick and tired of the affair, Rickey, Breadon and Dean will gather at midnight in a cemetery, under full moon with bound dogs baying in the distance, and talk terms.

Gone Far Enough
"I think it's gone far enough this time, Diz," Breadon will say. "You know you still are out of condition. How about signing at the old figure?"

"Sure, Mr. Breadon," Diz will reply. "I wanted to play all the time but you never gave me a chance to tell my side of the story. I'm in perfect shape and I could whip them Cubs or Giants tomorrow with my left hand. Gimme that paper—where's a pen?"

And Mr. Dean will be a Cardinal for another year.

The act will have a refreshing twist, however. It won't be "me 'n Paul," because Paul signed up a couple of weeks ago—thank heaven.

GOODING COUNTY CARES FOR BIRDS

Feeding of Pheasants, Ducks Being Carried Out on Large Scale

GOODING, Feb. 12 (Special)—Feeding of pheasants and ducks in Gooding county is being done on a wide scale, announces Taylor Williams, president of the county sportsman's association and regional director for the Idaho Wild Life association. At present 30 feeding stations for pheasants are being maintained and the number will be doubled soon.

Frank Ravencroft, county game warden, is assisting Williams in this work. They have been feeding the pheasants in this vicinity now for four weeks. So far they have not found any dead birds, and state that the pheasants are a little weak but are still able to fly quite readily.

Williams estimates that flocks of the ringnecks range in size from 50 to 200 at the various stations. He points out that Gooding county is the heart of the pheasant territory of Idaho and has more pheasants than any other county in the state.

Cooperation of the farmers has been excellent he says, and many of them are feeding pheasants themselves.

No ducks are being fed in the Gooding vicinity, but are being cared for in Hagerman valley by the Hagerman CCC camp. The large bodies of water and a higher temperature draw the ducks to the valley. At one station there 1,500 ducks are being fed by the CCC enrollees.

CANADIENS DOWN DETROIT WINGS

By United Press
Les Canadiens lightened their grip on first place of the National Hockey league's International division today, increasing their margin to nine points over the Maroons.

The Flying Frenchmen defeated the American division leading Detroit Red Wings, 3 to 2, last night. The New York Rangers, trailing the Wings by six points, failed to gain ground as they took a 5 to 2 shelling from the Chicago Blackhawks.

Comiskey Threatens Fines for Holdouts

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Owner Lou Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox threatened to fine every hold-out $100 for every day of spring training missed. Although Luke Appling, league batting champion; Minter Hayes, Rip Radcliff and Merritt (Sugar) Cain were among the hold-outs, perennial Zeke Bonura was considered the only serious case.

DENSE FORESTS ARE NOT SUITABLE FOR BIRD LIFE!

ABRAHAM LINCOLN ERRED IN HIS GETTYSBURG ADDRESS!

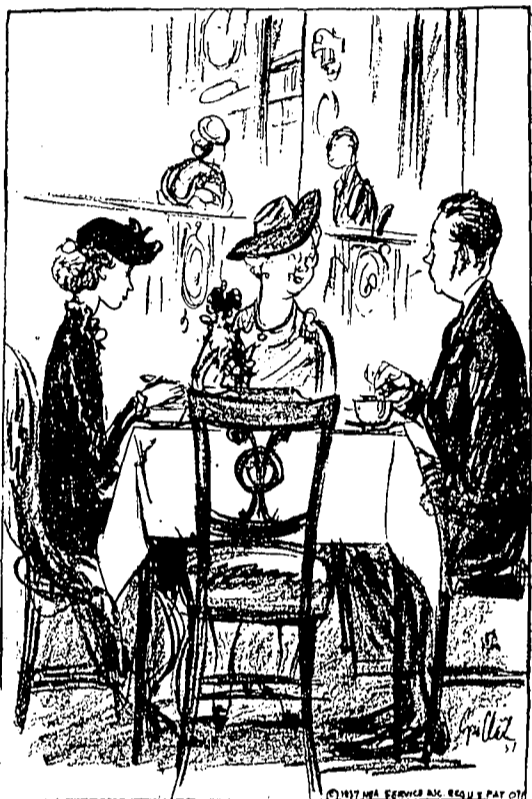

HE SAID: "THE WORLD WILL LITTLE NOTE NOR LONG REMEMBER WHAT WE SAY HERE."

YET IT WAS BOTH NOTED AND REMEMBERED.

Bird life is closely associated with forests in the minds of most people, yet, the farther that one penetrates a densely wooded area, the scarcer the birds become—in both numbers and variety.

50 BILLS STILL ON HOUSE CARD

Refusal to Work at Night Causes Deluge of Measures

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 12 (UP)—Refusal of the house of representatives of Idaho's 24th legislature to work at night "until really a matter of necessity" today brought a new session record of bills up for final consideration.

Fifty bills were on the calendar when the house went into session this morning. Yesterday there were 49 which made it impossible for clean up.

The house, however, considered 14 measures before adjourning at 5:30 p. m. A movement to bring the body back for a night session failed when Hendricks, Bamcock, motioned that the body recess until later in the evening. A standing vote indicated the motion had failed, after which Hendricks motioned for adjournment.

Easy Day
The senate experienced a comparatively easy day. Six bills were up for final consideration. The upper house finished all of them.

Three bills were passed, one was held on the calendar and one referred to the state affairs committee.

BH 110, which provides a method by which county mutual insurance groups could organize, was unanimously passed. Donart, Washington, advised the bill enabled the Canyon county mutual company to organize. He said the bill was "right in the opinion of attorneys."

Liquor Bill Passed
HB 34 was passed, enabling liquor control commission to collect certain fees.

The senate held on the calendar until today a bill which would permit a new payment schedule for delinquent taxes.

Most important measure on the senate calendar, a bill which would abolish the state planning board, was re-referred to the state affairs committee on motion of Anderson, Elmore.

The house went to work in earnest on its heavy calendar, hardly debating each measure as it came up for consideration.

HATCHERY WILL GET REPAINTING

Youths Under NYA Scheduled To Receive Work When Project Starts

An extensive program, whereby buildings will be painted and renovated, and considerable landscaping done at the state fish hatchery station on Rock creek next summer, was announced here today after a communication had been received by Harold A. Sallsbury, NYA area supervisor, from Claude C. Drake, state fish commissioner.

In the communication Mr. Drake said the commission will furnish paint, brushes and other necessary material under an arrangement whereby the National Youth administration will furnish the labor from its rolls.

When the project gets underway, Sallsbury said, it will give employment to approximately 10 youths on the rolls. It is one of the many projects scheduled for operation as soon as the weather breaks, he said.

What's Doing at SUN VALLEY

(By Evening Times Special Correspondent)

MOVIE COMPANY WORKS ON THRILLING BOBSLED SHOTS

SUN VALLEY, Feb. 12 (Special)—Mrs. Leo Tover has left for her home in Los Angeles. She plans to return in a week or 10 days and rejoin her cameraman husband. To those who remember, and it wasn't long ago, she is Mary Korman who was the first to give up the feminine leads in Hal Roach's Our Gang comedies, an assignment which she held for some 10 years. Among all the guests, she is tops in piquancy and actual prettiness. . . . Paramount's newsreel cameraman left today too, an engaging young chap by the name of Earl "Half" Nelson. . . . They come and go, but once they come, they are reluctant to go.

Among arrivals today is E. C. Webster of Omaha, superintendent of Union Pacific's dining car and hotel department, for one of his periodic visits to Sun Valley. . . . Paramount Pictures have literally taken over Dollar mountain, and they are busy shooting bob-sled sequences, one of which is slated to form the most thrilling scene in the picture, one which is really quite dangerous. It is really interesting to see cameras and sound equipment riding in the chair ski-lift instead of guests. . . . We dominate us tops for the strangest and yet most intriguing sight of the week, the spectacle of Mr. Neal of Gordonville, Va., taking a dip in the snow-surrounded outdoor swimming pool in a pair of silk trunks and a bushy fur cap. . . . Incidentally we are still trying to establish the identity of the guest who, when asked by a new arrival as to the whereabouts of the natatorium, replied, "Gee, they have everything here I've been here a week and I didn't know they had a hot-house."

Police Question Man and Wife in Mattson Slaying

SEATTLE, Feb. 12 (UP)—Detectives questioned a man and wife and held a checkered cap today as investigation of kidnapping and murder of Charles Mattson, ten-year-old Tacoma schoolboy, went on relentlessly nearly two months after the crime.

The cap was found in a hideaway in the underworld where it had been discarded, officers said.

The couple, arrested downtown, was questioned several hours as to their whereabouts Dec. 27, night of the kidnapping. Chief William Cole of the state patrol sought a woman believed to have been a companion of "Tim" Donovan, alias James G. McDonald and H. A. Post, under arrest since Wednesday. The man, whose name was not given, was said to have been an ex-inmate of San Quentin penitentiary, where "Tim" once served.

"Tim" was the signature of the $28,000 ransom note left at the Mattson home.

The cap, which police said was similar to the one described as having been worn by the kidnaper, fitted Donovan, patrolmen said.

High School News

"During the senior high school assembly program this afternoon members of the casts for the junior play, "New Fires," which is to be presented next Wednesday and Thursday, presented four skits as teasers to advertise the play. Preceding the skits Carl Boyd gave a talk on Lincoln and several patriotic songs were sung by the assembled students.

Miss Florence Rees, dramatic instructor, awarded free tickets to the winners of the contest on a determination of "New Fires."

The Latin club with Miss Eva Dunagan as sponsor met yesterday afternoon and made plans for initiation of 35 new members which they held in the dining room of the high school last evening. All students taking Latin and having an A or B average are eligible for membership in the club. Following the initiation of new members a social hour was held and refreshments were served.

During the business session which was presided over by Rita Mae Salmon, regular business was transacted and plans were made for the annual Roman banquet which will be held March 11. The theme of the banquet will be carried out in the form of prophecy foretelling the stabbing of Caesar. Committees appointed to have charge of the arrangements were: Invitation—Cecil Jones, chairman, Margaret Bacon, Irene Davidson; food—Mary Wright, chairman, Dorothy Margaret Smith, Bernice McKay, Gladys McKee and Wilton Hovorka; program—Leonard Blandford, chairman, Dorothy Jean Smith, Arthur Vallton and Virginia Brose; decoration—Virginia Taber, chairman, Raymond Mills, Ann Perrine and Jean Harvey; cleanup—Wilson Anderson, chairman.

Along with other departures today was A. Eisenstadt who has been here for several days, taking pictures for the magazine "Life." By the way his name is especially appropriate here as Eisenstadt literally translated, means "city of iron." However, two guests were enthusiastically discussing his work this morning, to say nothing of his candid camera in the most unusual manner, and in the most unexpected places, including windows, from behind public bars, and even out from under Ketchikan's one man-hole cover. One of the guests mentioned seeing an eight-foot leech fall from the cave on the third floor. "Did he get a shot of it?" the second guest asked eagerly. "Good Lord," the first replied. "He was in it!"

NYA YOUTHS AID IN FLOOD-REGION

Approximately 75,000 youths, project, employees of the national youth administration, are assisting in flood relief work in the Ohio and Mississippi river basins, a communication from W. W. Godfrey, state director, reveals here.

Of the 75,000 engaged in flood relief work are 75 medical students from southern universities. These future doctors are assisting in the inoculation of the population against typhoid and other communicable diseases. They work with units of the Red Cross. Six hundred girls from NYA roles are assisting in emergency kitchens and food distribution centers.

RITES SATURDAY FOR E. ARUTZEN

During the meeting of the French club yesterday afternoon Carl Boyd played two piano solos, "Country Gardens," and "Prelude Six and Seven," by Chopin. The meeting was presided over by President Bert Tolbert and the program was introduced by Marjorie Driscoll. Following the business session French songs were sung by those present and the game, "Bird, Beast or Fish," was played in French.

Science club of the high school yesterday in their regular meeting heard a talk by Hugh Joslyn on "Electric Pick-up." He demonstrated the talk with a phonograph and records which he procured for the occasion.

Staff members of the "Coyote," senior high school annual, are at present engaged in mounting pictures and snapshots and planning the layout of the book.

This play club group was most yesterday to approximately 23 prospective members. Those present, and any others who are eligible and wish to join, were invited to be present for initiation Feb. 24. Mock ceremonies will be held during the school day with the serious initiation taking place that evening at the home of Eleanor Hollingsworth. In order to be eligible for membership in the Thespians, a student must have appeared in at least two major play productions.
