NEW IDAHO BILL ASKS SELLING OF LIQUOR BY GLASS

Measure Sponsored by State Affairs Committee in House

SIMILAR ACT WAS KILLED

Bonds of $3,000 Would Be Required to Assure Rule Compliance

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 19 (UP)—A new bill to permit sale of liquor by the glass, where it will assist in suppression of illicit liquor traffic, made its appearance in the Idaho house of representatives today, sponsored by the state affairs committee.

A similar measure was killed earlier this week by being indefinitely postponed in the house.

A limited number of special licenses for sale of liquor by the drink would be permitted, under strict regulations, as to reputation of the applicants, number of establishments already licensed, and other points. A state license would be issued only upon approval by the city or county commissioners concerned.

Bond Required—Bonds of $3,000 would be required to insure compliance with liquor commission regulations. No license fee would be charged by the state, but municipalities would be allowed to levy between $300 and $500 annually. Railroads would pay $100 a train to the state for maintaining bars in club cars.

Creation of a teachers' retirement fund to be made up of contributions by teachers of one half of one per cent of their salaries, was suggested by the education committee.

Teachers with 25 years of service, 15 of which have been in Idaho, would receive pensions of $700 a year. Men would be required to be at least 55 years of age and women 50.

Joint Memorial—Two joint memorials to congress proposed to ask enactment of the crop insurance bill recently introduced by Sen. James P. Pope; continuation of the national reclamation program and development of approved reclamation projects.

NO BREAK SEEN IN SPAIN'S WAR

Ranks of Both Sides Thinned By Days of Fierce Fighting

French-Spanish Front—The ranks of both sides thinned by days of fierce fighting and counter-attacks, remained stalemated today on the Madrid front.

Reports from both sides indicated no imminent break in a siege that started Nov. 8. The nationalists, however, were understood to have received reinforcements of 20,000 men from the Malaga front for new attacks.

A strong nationalist defense system along the Jarana river front, where the nationalists' desire to cut the vital railroad from Madrid to Valencia, broke a loyalist counter-attack that began at dawn Wednesday.

The nationalists were left in positions which permitted them still to level artillery fire on the Valencia road.

The attack, supported by tanks, broke under a terrific nationalist artillery barrage. Both sides suffered possibly the heaviest losses of any single battle since the siege began.

Supreme Court Poll

FOR AGAINST IDAHO EVENING TIMES 28 16 NATIONAL RESULTS 3,036 6,354

Running contrary to voting results in other parts of the country, the Idaho Evening Times first-day results on the supreme court poll showed support for the proposed change. Soon today the count showed 28 in favor of the plan and 16 against, as the first votes arrived.

Newspapers in 18 states showed a vote of 3,036 for the proposed change and 6,354 against.

The New England states pile up huge margins against the plan, the Berkshire Eagle in Pittsfield, Mass., polling 1,124 against the plan to 64 for. The St. Paul Daily News counted 617 for the plan and 319 against. The Topeka (Kan.) Capitol, from the home state of the Republican presidential candidate, Alf Landon, showed a count of 91 for and nine against. Generally western papers were getting results in favor of the plan, with a much smaller poll being made.

PRESIDENT SEEKS STEEL FOR NAVY

40-Hour Week Required by Contractors Slows Ship Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (UP)—President Roosevelt intimated today that the government will take prompt action to obtain steel for its naval building program. Material has been difficult to procure because of the Walsh-Healey act, setting a 40-hour week for large government contractors.

Mr. Roosevelt, speaking at his press conference, said the government must act to obtain a sufficient supply of steel within a few weeks.

Action to clear up the steel jam has been urged by the American Iron and Steel Institute, which estimates that Great Britain's $7,500,000,000 naval construction program.

Mr. Roosevelt said that despite the difficulties of operating under the Walsh-Healey act he favored the labor standards established by it and would like to see similar provisions applied to industry all over the United States.

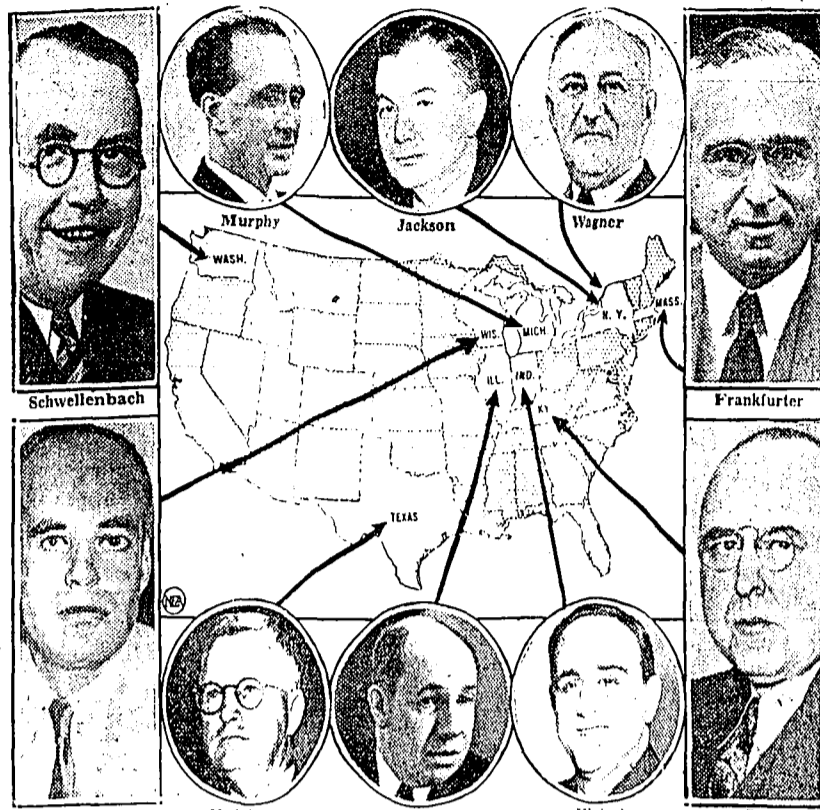

Walsh Makes Statement—As the President was making his statement, Sen. David I. Walsh, D. Mass., chairman of the senate naval affairs committee and co-author of the Walsh-Healey act declared in a statement that steel interests were not "a party to any interference or blocking government proposals to purchase steel."

Government efforts to end the difficulties arising from lack of bids from steel suppliers are in charge of Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward P. McGrady. Assistant Secretary of Navy Charles Edison also is working to end the jam and speed the American naval construction.

Probe Started in West Coast Warship Disaster

Seven Killed, 10 Hurt After Powder Explodes

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Feb. 19 (UP)—A sweeping naval investigation into the explosion aboard the old demilitarized battleship, the Wyoming, that killed seven marines and wounded 10 began today. It was believed that some of the eight hurt critically would die.

Admiral Arthur J. Heppburn, commander-in-chief of the fleet, ordered an inquiry to begin an investigation Saturday.

It was the second serious accident aboard naval vessels off the San Clemente Island training grounds within seven months, and the fifth within a year on the Pacific.

Thirteen hundred men were aboard the old dreadnaught yesterday when a charge of powder in a five-inch gun exploded prematurely, sending torn steel and iron fragments into its crew. Four men were killed outright, three died later and 10 were burned and maimed.

Demilitarized Ship—Capt. C. N. Hinkamp, commander of the Wyoming, raced his ship into San Pedro harbor and transferred the wounded and dead to the hospital ship, the Relief.

The Wyoming was stripped of her 14-inch guns mounted in turrets under the Washington naval treaty, thus "demilitarizing" her. She still carries her secondary batteries of 12 and 5-inch guns, the latter mounted in casemates, small gun runs projecting from the hull just below the main deck.

COUNTY TOPS IN CHEESE MAKING

Twin Falls Ranked First, Seventh in Cream Production

BOISE, Feb. 19 (UP)—Butterfat production in Idaho reached an all-time high in 1936, giving dairymen their best year since 1929, W. A. Boise, state director of dairying, reported today.

Production was 31,940,362 pounds, bringing in about $12,000,000, an increase of more than $2,000,000 over 1935 when 30,641,058 pounds were produced, Boise said. An all-time record was reached not only in butter but in cheese and ice cream production as well.

Canyon county continued to lead in the manufacture of creamery butter with 6,621,610 pounds for the year. Other leading counties were Twin Falls, seventh, 1,229,132 pounds; Nez Perce, eighth, 977,369.

Twin Falls ranked first in cheese production with 1,819,001 pounds for the year. In ice cream, Blaine county led the list. Nez Perce ranked third with 93,550 gallons; Canyon, fourth, 90,152; Twin Falls, fifth, 80,324.

RESIDENTS PUSH BATTLE ON CITY ANNEXING MOVE

Property Owners in Section Outside Limits Circulate Protest Petitions

Protesting against "annexation without lowering" several property owners living within the 180 acres which, under present plans would be annexed to the city at an early date and which would increase the population approximately 1,200, today were circulating petitions against the move and planned to present them to the city council next Monday evening.

Approximately 25 property owners who represented at least 100 persons by proxy at a meeting held last night in Twin Falls, have already protested against the annexation. R. F. Mallon, spokesman for the group said.

"We have found that people living in the district in question are almost 100 per cent against extension of the city's boundaries rather than 100 per cent in favor of the proposal," Mallon said. "We resent (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Mr. Heter, a Jerome county county resident who works in Twin Falls, saved the five children at 8:30 a. m. yesterday after the auto had dropped into water engulfing it fully two feet over its top. Court Plan Imperils Right, Says Bar Head

Suggests Voter Weigh Consequences of Any Supreme Judicial Change

To determine the sentiment of Idaho Evening Times readers on President Roosevelt's proposal to revamp the supreme court, the Idaho Evening Times, in co-operation with 700 other U. S. newspapers served by NEA Service, Inc., is taking a poll on the question. Use the ballot on this page to cast your vote. In the accompanying article, Frederick H. Stinchfield, president of the American Bar Association, presents arguments against the President's proposal.

By F. H. STINCHFIELD, President, American Bar Association—You have noted the proposal. Be sure you are clear on it. For you are one of the 130,000,000 Americans whose rights congress is told to give away. You and Americans before you have had these rights for 150 years. Your ancestors didn't give them up; if your children haven't them, it will be because you have surrendered them. This is what is to be done, from your standpoint: the court is to be changed by the proposed law. Let's see if it isn't perfectly plain. There are nine members of the supreme court. Six more men will be chosen by the President. When asked to decide, at least three of the present nine justices have, almost every time, up-

Officers Hurl Tear Gas Into Waukegan Factory

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Feb. 19 (UP)—Strenuous peace efforts were made today after 120 police and sheriff's deputies had battled unsuccessfully for two hours in an effort to dislodge 100 sit down strikers from the Pansteel Metallurgical corporation plant near here.

Two sheriff's deputies were injured seriously, one by explosion of a tear gas gun in his pocket, and the other by acid hurled from the besieged buildings.

One sit-downer, Ill. ran from the plant but the others smashed windows to let out the dense clouds of white gas and remained in the $1,500,000 factory which they have held since Wednesday.

U. S. Department of Labor Conciliator Robert Pilkington arrived to seek peaceful settlement and Conciliator John E. O'Connor was en route from Chicago. Mayor John Dromey of North Chicago, where the Pansteel plant is located, said "I hope the sheriff will delay attacking again until we can reach an agreement."

Mayor Dromey told Federal Conciliator John E. O'Connor at Chicago that "there is some kind of tentative arrangement or agreement" reached but that it awaited arrival of Robert Pilkington, U. S. department of labor conciliator sent here from Washington. Pilkington was expected this afternoon.

Fumes Still Come—While tear gas fumes still curled from hundreds of shattered window panes in the embattled factory buildings, company officials conferred with Mayor Dromey, State Labor Conciliator Patrick Cullen, Sheriff L. A. Doolittle and other authorities.

Max Swiren, attorney for the company, announced Pansteel officials would meet with representatives of their own workers but would not bargain with "outside organizers."

The strike was called Wednesday by the Amalgamated Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, a committee for industrial organization affiliate, in demand for union recognition and collective bargaining rights.

Committee Chosen—The steel workers organizing committee telegraphed plant officials today that they had been chosen to represent Pansteel workers and that "injunction, force, or violence will not settle this matter."

Swiren said the company would talk terms while the men still remained in the factory but "we will not retard our efforts to regain our own property."

"We insist that the plant be evacuated," Swiren continued. "The sheriff got an order from the court to evict the men forthwith and it is his duty to enforce it."

Officers Nurse Injuries—Sheriff Doolittle's "army" nursed its injuries and rested shortly before noon awaiting arrival of a new supply of gas, reportedly en route from Chicago.

The attacking force threw approximately 50 tear gas bombs valued at $500 in the two hour assault which began at 6:30 a. m. when the strikers refused Doolittle's order to "come out peacefully."

The sit-downers replied with a barrage of missiles including bottles of kungsten and other rare metals valued at $500 each, bolts, weights, jars of acid, and other objects.

"We're sending for more gas from Chicago," Chief Deputy Sheriff Tom Kennedy announced. "We're trying to get some knockout gas. If we can get that to them they'll fold up and we can lead them out by their earlobes."

Supreme Court Poll Editor: Idaho Evening Times, Twin Falls, Idaho. This law, under present conditions, would require the President to add six justices to the United States supreme court. the attitude of being driven into the city. We are all willing to be of service to the city and will aid at anytime, but we would like to be shown the advantages to ourselves and to the city," he said.

A committee had been named today to meet Monday with council members in regular session.

The protest came after the council voted unanimously at its last meeting to have the city attorney draw up an ordinance pertaining to the annexation. At that time the city attorney pointed out that, under law, it was only necessary for the city council to pass an ordinance annexing that section of the city and that also, under the law, no public hearing was necessary although none would be denied.

The protest meeting last night was held in the office of Attorney Ray Agee, and Elmer Laubenhelm presided.

MAYOR DRAWS REPORT

Today Mayor Duncan McD. Johnston said he was preparing a report which will include every property owner in the district and which will be presented at the council meeting Monday.

The report, he said, will list the assessed valuation of each piece of land and will also show the savings to owners should they come into the city.

A section of the report, which is completed today, shows that property with a valuation of $800 would be taxed $15.40 additional when they came into the city. To compensate for this rise in taxes the mayor pointed out $12 a year will be saved in water rent. He also said that, with coming into the city, the insurance rate on buildings would be reduced from $2.98 or more a hundred dollars of valuation, to 99 cents a hundred. These figures, he said, were given by representatives of various insurance companies in the city.

On a valuation of $240, the tax would be $4.62 over what they now pay, the mayor points out, and they would also get the $12 water reduction as well as insurance cuts.

Fire Protection

Other valuations were cited today, and all will be available at the council meeting Monday night.

Aside from these savings, the mayor said they would also get police protection and fire protection. The fire truck, he said today, is not permitted to leave the city limits and, if one of the houses in the area in question should catch fire, the flames could not be fought with city equipment.

The mayor also said that at any time which the city would have to condemn anything it would have to be put before a board of three disinterested persons, appointed by the court, and that this board would fix the value of the condemned property.

To arrive at additional tax necessary, the mayor said $1.92 a year should be added for each $100 of property valuation. The tax rate in Twin Falls, he said, has dropped from twenty-nine and three quarters mills in 1932, to the present rate of nineteen and one-quarter mills today.

crew, she carried 1,000 marines from the Quantico, Va., marine barracks.

Captain Killed

Capt. Edward J. Trumble, who was killed, and his working crew of six gunners were loading a 40-pound shell in the breach. Private David Williams, with a ramrod in his hand, was directly behind the gun when the explosion occurred. Behind him was a "powder man" with a 20-pound bag of powder for the charge. The powder did not explode, however, and the man staggered away with it. Williams received the full force of the blast. His right arm was torn off.

Captain Trumble was nearly decapitated, according to witnesses. Other marines watching the gun loading were bowled over.

Physicians Labor

The blast blew out parts of the bulkhead around the casement. About 20 men were crowded in the small room, no more than 10 by 14 feet and seven feet high.

Twelve physicians worked all night in an effort to relieve the injured men. Most of the seriously injured were unconscious.

Vice Admiral William T. Tarrant, commanding the scouting force, of which the Wyoming, though a training ship, was a unit, named the naval court to hold the inquest aboard the Wyoming today.

The board of inquiry tomorrow will meet aboard the U. S. S. New York, flagship of the training squadron.

All shore liberty for officers and crew of the Wyoming was cancelled.

CAST SCORES IN JUNIOR OFFERING

Final Showing Nets Plaundis For Performers in H. S. Play, "New Fires"

"New Fires," this season's junior play, was presented in its final performance at the high school auditorium last evening with a highly capable cast receiving congratulations for fine portrayal of characters.

The hard working author, Stephen Santry, played by Paul Leighton, and his spoiled wife Ann, interpreted by Virginia Kerlin, ably bore the main dramatic plot. Arthur Valiton as the country boy gave a performance typical of the provincial country yokel. The country element of the play was further portrayed by Ann Peavey, as Lucinda, the eccentric housekeeper. Bob Wilson as Sid the hired hand, Lucille Tucker, as Suzanne, and Lillian Roberts as Mary Marshall.

The comedy situations were handled by Martha Asbury, as Phyllis, and Theron Knight, as Billy. The clowning of these two throughout the play relieved the seriousness of the plot as carried by the mother and father.

The willful young daughter was portrayed by Betty Wegener, and the part of the young country doctor, who finally converted her to a new mode of living by Roland Hutchinson. The young married son and his bride were effectively pictured throughout the production by the work of Merle Orchard and Gloria West.

Much of the credit for the success of the play is due the director, Miss Florence M. Rees, for the selections she made when casting the play.

Music between acts was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of J. T. Bainbridge.

COURT PROGRAM TERMED "MILD"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Chairman Henry F. Ashurst of the senate judiciary committee appealed in the senate today for support of the President's judicial program as the "mildest" measure that could have been proposed.

Ashurst's senate address was presented as administration supporters rallied to swing support behind Mr. Roosevelt's program. Additional senators were called to the White House to discuss the plan with Mr. Roosevelt and Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., emerged with a statement he would support the Roosevelt legislation.

Sen. James E. Murray, D., Mont., also a White House visitor, was non-committal.

Ashurst told the senate: "I marvel at the President's moderation."

UAW BACKS PROGRAM

DETROIT, Feb. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt had the backing of the United Automobile Workers union today in his proposal to reorganize the federal judiciary.

In a telegram sent to the White House by Homer Martin, union president, the President was told: "It was never intended that the supreme court should substitute its judgment for the judgment of the congress and the people of the United States on legislation affecting political, economic and social problems."

Assistant, Lawrence Bourlier, were adjusting the planks to run the car off the ferry toward Twin Falls, one of the children let the car out of gear and it started rolling toward the Snake river. Heter grabbed the car but was unable to stop it before it broke through the gates. It submerged in approximately eight feet of water.

Heter's son, Douglas Heter, a junior high school student, was able to save himself but the other five children, students in the first and second grades at Washington school, owe their lives to the quick action of Heter, who jumped into the ice cold water, pulled them out of the car, and handed them to Bourlier standing on the ferry.

Rushed Home To Bed

The other five children in the car were Deloris Heter, Kenneth Moon, Richard Moon, Nevada Gray and James McAdams. They were rushed to their homes by Heter and put to bed, although the quick work of Heter in taking them from under the water prevented them from being seriously injured.

Parents of the children today were high in their praise of the heroic work done by Heter.

An investigation today by Carlton disclosed the ferry gate is now adequately enforced and "is absolutely safe."

"I say today the ferry is absolutely safe from any angle," Carlton said, "and the accident yesterday was just one of those things which happen although all precautions had been taken to prevent it."

The car, a three-door Ford sedan, was taken from the river and towed to the city by the Barnard Auto company wrecker yesterday afternoon.

All the children in the car reside in the Jerome county area adjacent to the ferry, and Heter was donating his services in bringing them here to school.

program. Edison conferred with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday and said naval shipyards might be forced to close in a few weeks if steel supplies are not received.

Walsh said he believed there was general misunderstanding concerning the Walsh-Healey situation. He pointed out that the act provided that:

Attention Aroused

"On a written finding by the head of a government department that the inclusion in a contract of the working hours set forth in the law would seriously impair the conduct of public business, the secretary of that department shall make exceptions in specific cases."

Public attention has been aroused within the last few days over the failure of the navy department to obtain sufficient bids to cover invitations on 25,000,000 tons of steel needed for naval construction. Steel companies submitted offers on only 7,000,000 tons.

The 40-hour week provisions of the Walsh-Healey act were reported to be the principal factor, since major steel companies are now operating on a 44 hour basis.

ADULT EDUCATION SET-UP WIDENED

Extra Teacher Will Be Put On Project Here After Conference Today

Aiming at expansion of the adult education classes now being held in Twin Falls as a WPA project sponsored by the state department of education, R. S. Brown, Boise, assistant supervisor, conferred here today with A. H. Lehman and Mrs. G. W. Erbland, who are handling the instruction for the classes in Twin Falls.

Plans were formulated to add another teacher to the staff next week, and Mrs. Leonard Johnson was announced as the choice. Efforts will also be made to secure a typing and shorthand teacher to remove some of the load carried by Mr. Lehman, the assistant supervisor said.

The adult training project here now includes commercial subjects, psychology and parent education classes. The commercial groups meet nightly in the Twin Falls high school commercial rooms under direction of Mr. Lehman; the psychology class, under Mrs. Erbland, convenes each Wednesday in room 101 at the high school; parent education groups, also under Mrs. Erbland, are held weekly at Lincoln and Bickel schools.

FOREST GRAZING DETAILS MAPPED

Plans for applications and allotments for 1937 farm flock grazing in Humboldt national forest were outlined here today at a meeting of three officials of the forest with the directors of the Twin Falls County Grazing association.

The directors conferred with Alexander McQueen, supervisor of the forest, A. R. Torgerson, assistant supervisor, and Carl Haycock, ranger for the Jaridge area.

Total allotment for farm flocks in the forest has been set at 3,000 head, the county grazing chiefs were told at the meeting. The total is to be divided among approximately 15 flock-owners.

CLARK OPPOSES RECONSIDERATION

Governor Against Bill to Repeal Mortgage Measure

BOISE, Feb. 10 (UP)—Gov. Barzilla W. Clark is opposed to an attempt in the senate to force "reconsideration" of a new law, which he has just signed, to prohibit granting of deficiency judgments in mortgage foreclosure cases.

The senate judiciary committee has introduced a bill to repeal the law. In the senate where the measure in question passed only after a hard battle, concern was expressed that a "tightening up" of money available for real estate loans will result from its operation.

The federal farm credit administration office in Spokane was reported to have already stopped making loans in Idaho because the new restriction gives insufficient protection for invested funds.

Clark, however, said he believed the law to prevent deficiency judgments would prove beneficial. "In the past fluctuations in prices would permit a foreclosure on one piece of property to absorb all a man's property and also his earnings for a considerable period.

"By the time attorneys' fees and court costs were added to a mortgage it might mean the entire loss of other property, also. Or in case of a man who had mortgaged his only piece of property, foreclosure would mean a lien on future wages, which would make it impossible for him to regain financial footing.

The new law will discourage foreclosures in the interest of speculation on hard-time prices and give a more nearly equal advantage to the borrower and the lender," the executive said.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Parents today are up against something, I must say. Their constant enemy is the gawdewee, life itself, and the social influence of a rapidly changing order.

No one thing can be named as responsible for this siren call, away from mother's gentle direction and father's more determined efforts at discipline. It is just everything. Moves, yes, but more important still, is that comeback of Jack's or Carol's that "everybody else is doing it."

Why, even the schools are up in the air about what to teach and what not to allow in the curriculum. And if the schools don't know where they stand on questions of economy, how can parents hope to know what tenets are old-fashioned, and which modern ones fit into preparation for life without being too radical or too undermining to character and conformity?

The pull today is out of the house. One club may be an excellent influence. But half a dozen can defeat the influence of home, because they make home a stranger.

One dance is splendid, every so often, or one movie, or one game. Combine any half dozen of like kind, or unlike kind, and here again we have not only the pull of the world, but the thinning of the thread between home and child.

Children and young folk have another besetting temptation. This is to put the opinion of classmates or a chum or a neighborhood up against the word of worth from a parent.

In short, today's children are no longer the product of environment and suggestion of those who produced them, but the thousand greedy hands that beckon toward the open world.

So what? I get a bit weary of wailing, urging parents to recognize liberty, and of rhetorical expounding that self-development is the chief end of man. Surely, self-development is the goal we're all after, but a roebush won't bear roses if it is torn out by the roots. A rebuttal may bring up the fact that young birds are thrown out of the nest and do very well for themselves. Many do, but I've seen many cats get the newly-fledged babies, and too many stoppings down others. It may be nature's way with beasts and birds, but man is a different proposition.

Absence Cuts Ties. There is a saying that "those who write often, write long, and those that write to each other seldom have nothing to say."

This illustrates what I am saying about the child and the home. If too long away, or too much about his own business, the child loses interest in his home. Then he begins to question its authority and its rights to his time and attention.

Mothers and fathers are after all mothers and fathers. They should not too weakly give in to the demands of a greedy modern world that threatens to estrange their offspring.

They should study the question from its sources to its conclusions. So much liberty, so much independent living, so much club time and time for celebrating. But in this budget should be compulsory home time. This can be done by making home ties bearable and cozy. But I'd have some say-so as to what the children did, where they went, and whom they went with. I think it high time for parents to stop saying, "Excuse us for living."

EXPERT OFFERS TERMITE CURBS

School Forestry Professor Issues Warning to United States

BERKELEY, Cal. (UP)—Owing to the fact that the "peak season" for termites has been reached and coincides with a general expansion of building activities throughout the country, Prof. Emanuel Fritz, of the Division of Forestry of the University of California, has just issued a nationwide warning.

He declared that the initial flights of the termites are over for this season and that they already are engaged in undermining buildings and unprotected foundation work. His warning was addressed not only to builders who are about to undertake constructions but to home owners generally.

Fritz said that the real trouble does not concern the insect itself, nearly as much as it concerns faulty building standards and ignorance and carelessness of gardeners and others who pile dirt and refuse about home and other concrete foundations.

He also called attention to housekeepers who discard boxes or wood refuse on bare basement floors and allow this refuse to remain there, sometimes for years.

Plumbers were cautioned not to pile earth over any part of concrete foundations. Activities of the sort, he said, nullify the value and the protection of concrete foundations and give the termites direct access to the wooden superstructure.

Owners of wooden buildings Fritz said should have a thorough inspection made twice a year for the detection of any termites which might have escaped original precautions. Termites have been known occasionally to crawl some distance over concrete walls to wood.

If this happens, he pointed out, their presence is shown by mud-covered galleries, which should be broken, and traced to the ground, then dug up and treated to kill the colonies.

Form lumber, he said, should never be left on concrete, and no superstructure or any part of it should be so enclosed that the wood cannot dry out and remain dry.

STATES SCORED ON FOOD LAWS

Variety of Statutes Impedes Flow of Vegetables Across Line

WASHINGTON (UP)—A multiplicity of state laws dealing with fruits and vegetables impedes the flow of perishable products across state lines, according to A. Wells Sherman, of the bureau of agricultural economics.

Sherman urged co-operation between produce dealers and growers to obtain state laws and regulations which will facilitate interstate trade in fruits and vegetables.

Many state laws dealing with the grading, branding, inspecting and packaging of fruit and vegetable shipments go far beyond anything which is required by federal law, Sherman said.

"State action should apply only to interstate business or to those products of the state which are not yet under interstate billing," he said. "The jurisdiction of the state in purely economic matters which do not involve public health, pest or disease control or fraud misrepresentation, begins only when the goods are offered for sale within the state, not when they reach its borders."

Sherman said many state officers have exceeded their authority at border stations to compel dealers to brand, mark, grade or describe incoming products in accordance with the laws of the state into which they are moving.

"Since these products are in interstate trade," Sherman said, "they are subject only to the laws of congress, except as the states may examine for the purpose of enforcing quarantine or public health measures."

BEWARE OF COLDS WHEN CONSTIPATED

In winter, colds and other germs collect in every crowded place. People whose resistance is low are easy victims.

That's why you should guard against common constipation. It saps your vitality, pulls down your defenses against infection.

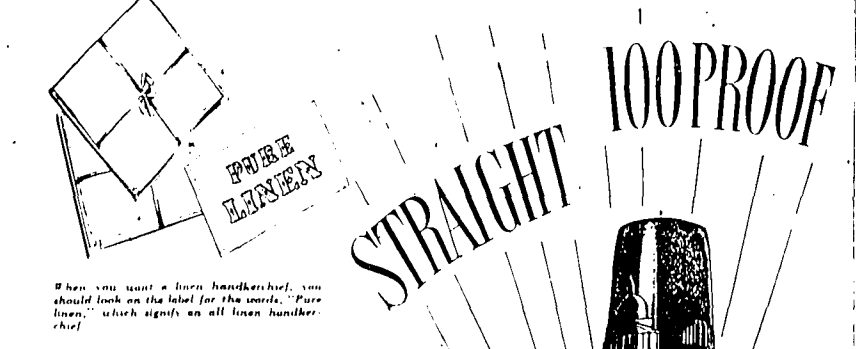

Keep on your toes this winter. Protect yourself from constipation by eating a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran is a generous source of corrective "bulk."

Within the body, Kellogg's All-Bran absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, and gently sponges out the system. All-Bran also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood.

How much better than taking weakening pills and drugs. Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Just eat two tablespoons daily. In severe cases, with every meal. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Important facts on every label

TWO THINGS TO LOOK FOR ON A WHISKEY LABEL

1. The type of whiskey . . . blend or straight
2. The "proof"

These statements on the label are dependable guides to the kind of whiskey you want.

The word "Straight" appears on the label of every straight whiskey bottle to help people who want "all whiskey" and "all one kind of whiskey." To help you get the most for your money, the "proof" is also plainly printed right on the label because it's the measure of strength and, hence, a measure of value.

Look for the name "Old Mr. Boston" and you'll get full value, not just because it's full strength, full 100 proof, but because its higher proof delivers more whiskey taste. You need less whiskey in a highball, which gets you at least two extra highballs from every bottle.

LEAGUE STILL VALUABLE

The League of Nations has not exactly been covering itself with glory in the last few years. Having been defied by its enemies and deserted by its friends, it has withdrawn to a quiet corner of the stage and is, seemingly, waiting only for the undertaker to come and provide a decent burial.

But it hasn't been buried yet, and it is still as busy as it ever was in those quiet, unobtrusive activities which never do get the headlines.

A recent bulletin from the League of Nations association in New York summarizes some of the things which the league is now doing.

It is preparing to summon an international conference on the sugar trade, by which the industry may be stabilized and decent security assured to planters and workers in far-distant parts of the globe.

It is continuing to help the Chinese in their reconstruction program. League experts are busy advising the Chinese on such matters as health, finance, agriculture, hydraulics, and flood control.

The league also is enabling Chinese engineers and other specialists to study abroad and get contacts and information which will enable them to serve their country better.

The league's health organization, meanwhile, has been getting international standards set for such things as anti-pneumonia serum, staphylococcus anti-toxin, and so on. Governments and commercial laboratories throughout the world, as a result, are enabled to give their people better protection against disease.

Standing alone, this catalog of activities is impressive. It is only when contrasted with the great war-prevention work that the league was designed to do that it looks small. Because the league has failed miserably in the larger sphere, the solid and substantial work it has done in the lesser one escapes our notice.

And yet, with this kind of work being done quietly, honestly, and fully, we cannot say that the league has failed. For if it is doing nothing else, it is at least giving us a constant object lesson in the value of international co-operation and mutual help.

The dictators and the war-mongers may rant and strut and rattle their sabers; all the while, these self-effacing league workers are doing their part to make men happier and life richer—doing it with a serene disregard for international boundaries, hatreds, or suspicions.

May the power of that example have its effect on us, before the world slips into the orgy of collective throat-cutting which seems to lie ahead of it.

COIN "RACKET"

Every now and then congress in its wisdom orders the coinage of a special issue of half dollars, commemorating some anniversary or other. In recent years, this has created a very pleasant little racket for the dealers in rare coins. Now President Roosevelt has asked that the practice be ended.

Last year, for example, 21 special issues were minted. One of the issues commemorated—of all things under the heavens—the 50th anniversary of Cincinnati, O., as a music center. Coin dealers are now quoting a price of $47 for a set of three of these coins minted in Denver, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

To the ordinary citizen a half dollar is a half dollar. The old familiar article suits him just as well as any other. Why congress should go out of its way to make a continuing field day for the coin dealers is more than a little hard to understand. It is to be hoped that the president succeeds in squelching the game.

UNDERMANNED

The parole and probation system comes in for a good deal of criticism. Very often, however, what the critics are really protesting (although they don't know it) is the fact that the system gets too little support rather than too much.

The University of California Bureau of Public Administration recently made public an exhaustive study of penal reform in California. It showed that whereas California has approximately 2,300 persons on parole from its state prisons, it has entrusted the tremendously important job of supervising them to a staff of 17 officers, of whom 10 are engaged in office work.

To be effective, a parole system requires a most thorough study of the lives, habits, backgrounds, and prospects of prisoners, both before and after they are paroled.

Try to picture how effectively seven field agents can check up on 2,300—and you can understand why Californians occasionally express dissatisfaction with the way their parole system is working.

"U. S. treasury executives now have their own restaurant." We wonder if the tablecloths will be wild enough to accommodate all the ciphers.

PASS THE EGGS—WE WANT TO PRACTICE THAT!

Pot Shots: I think the grocers or the poultrymen are behind the thing, but there seems to be a revival of that can-you-break-an-egg-in-your-handfad. The idea is simply to hold the egg in one hand and squeeze. There are people who will bet you a dollar you can't break the egg. I bet a prominent local pioneer, five whole pennies he couldn't do it. "Shucks," says he. "I used to milk 20 cows." He squeezed a mighty squeeze—and ploppo... the egg squirted all over. But a lot of people can't do it. Can you, Patsy? Incidentally, it's worth a five-cent bet, because somebody always gets plastered with the egg if the squeezing gent does succeed in breaking it. —I. Egg Spect

SAYS THE MODERN GAL—

Dear Pot Shots: In your column I read what some people said that seemed unjust to me. We're not as bad as we're painted to be. They denounced the high-heeled shoes that we modern ladies use. They thought it o. k., a slim waist. That was too tightly laced. They used burned matches to black their brow and they didn't tell how they used, for powder, cooking flour, and primped with curlers by the hour. They are really just the same. Dear Pot Shots: I think we've heard enough about the ducks and starving babies, modern girls vs. old fashioned girls. THIS IS THE WISEST CHOICE YET!

Boarding CARLTON H. KRAVAGE's yacht, GOLDEN GULL, off Miami, to investigate the disappearance of BOLITHO BLANE, British seaman and Rockaway's chief competitor in world wide trade. Detective sought BLANE's cabin carpet and blood on the curtain. Kettering examines all passengers including NICHOLAS STODARD and his daughter FERRIE; LADY WELTER, REGINALD and MRS. JOCELYN, Lady Welter's daughter and son-in-law; the BISHOP OF BUDE; LUIGI POBODINI and OSOBUKE IYASHI. Kettering finds in preliminary interviews that it is a strange case sought a messenger with Blane to save their companies; that Lady Welter is heavily interested; that Iyashi desperately sought to sell, either to Blane or Rockaway, a huge soap monopoly; that Blane had a son named that the Bishop had some mysterious relationship to Rockaway. Then later, through police channels, it is learned, too, that Rockaway's former partner died mysteriously in his office; that Blane was involved in an unsavory army scandal during the World War.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XII DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S FOURTH REPORT.

I HAVE to acknowledge your memo, of today's date, together with cabled report from Scotland Yard upon Mr. Blane, the Bishop of Bude, Lady Welter and Mr. and Mrs. Jocelyn; also about Mr. Iyashi from the Japanese police; the identification particulars of George ("Slick") Daniels, alias Count Posodini; and the information supplied by you about Mr. and Miss Rockaway.

Last night I decided that it would be a good thing to have a talk with Nicholas Stodard in order to find out from him as many particulars as possible about Blane's life and affairs. I therefore suggested that he should join me for dinner as all my meals are served separately in the small writing room in which I am conducting my examinations. He agreed readily enough, but the meal did not prove a particularly happy one as Stodard has a small abscess and, on account of this, is suffering somewhat with his false teeth, which gave him pain when eating solids. He is also very distressed by his employer's death which leaves him without a situation, and I gather, very little money. He talked quite freely, however, and the following is such information as I gleaned from this interview.

PARTICULARS GATHERED FROM A TALK WITH BLANE'S SECRETARY, NICHOLAS STODARD.

BLANE was a generous, but difficult, employer. The work which he demanded of his secretary was light but, on the other hand, he liked to have him at his beck and call the whole time, and part of the understanding on Stodard's engagement was that except in very special circumstances, he would not be allowed any free time off duty.

This suited Stodard as he is quite alone in the world and has no relatives or friends whom he wished to visit.

His history is as follows:—He is 48 years of age and was born at Felixstowe, Suffolk, England. His mother died at the time of his birth and his father was employed in the Indian Forestry Department.

During his early childhood Stodard lived with a maiden aunt, the sole surviving member of his mother's family, to whom she had come home when she was about to have her baby. The aunt was killed in a railway accident, however, when Stodard was eight years of age, and so he was sent to a boarding school in Felixstowe and he never saw his father, except during four periods of leave at intervals of several years, until he was sixteen, when he left school and went out to live with his father in India.

For the next few years he studied accountancy and, having served an apprenticeship with Messrs. Wayne, Robins & Co., of Calcutta, he succeeded in obtaining a position with the Ranaga Rubber Company. His duties with this company entailed visits to numerous rubber plantations owned by the company, where he spent anything from a week to a fortnight inspecting the accounts on the spot twice yearly, and then moved on to another station.

He enlisted in 1914, but was not sent home, being drafted as one of the reserves to the India Frontier Force, and thus spent the whole of his war service in northern India. His father died in 1917 and Stodard was disappointed to find that his father left practically nothing.

He received promotion in his firm from time to time but never rose higher in it than deputy accountant at a salary of £600 a year. Then he suffered a big setback because his firm went under in 1931, owing to world depression, so he found himself out of a job at the age of 41.

He remained in India for a further two years, partly living on his savings and partly by temporary work which he managed to obtain with one or two firms in rush periods.

Early in 1934 he decided that the prospects of earning his living in India were becoming more and more hazardous and so he decided to return to his mother country. There, however, he did not meet with any better fortune as there were few openings for men of his age and scope. Until early this year he managed to support himself by taking various temporary clerical posts, but he had practically exhausted his savings, and was in a pretty bad way, when he noticed an advertisement in a local paper.

The advertisement offered a permanent post with good remuneration to a man free of all responsibilities, who was prepared to travel if necessary. Qualifications demanded were that the applicant should be under fifty, but have had at least twenty years' experience in a secretarial post, or as an executive in a business office. Public school education not essential but must possess decent manners and appearance.

The advertisement appeared in the East Anglian Times and applicants were asked to apply to a Mr. Benwood at the White Horse Hotel, Ipswich. Stodard was staying in the town at the time, so he called and managed to secure the job.

Having taken him on, Benwood explained that his real name was Bolitho Blane but he had not advertised under his real name in order to avoid unnecessary publicity. He took Stodard off the next day to his home at Cobham in Surrey. For the next fortnight Stodard acted as Blane's secretary but his duties were very light as Blane did nearly all his business over the wire, and never went to London.

In the latter part of February Blane informed Stodard that he would shortly be leaving for the United States and explained the reason for his decision to make the trip. By that time Stodard, of course, had acquired a certain knowledge of Blane's situation and his financial position, so he was competent to undertake the secretarial work which Blane gave him on the voyage over.

Stodard says himself that it seemed queer Blane should take on a complete stranger for this job of secretary with very little knowledge about him, but he thinks that Blane already had the American trip in mind when he engaged him and was anxious to have somebody with him who was capable of doing the odd jobs in connection with his journey and, at the same time, competent to take accurate notes of his conference with Rockaway, yet someone completely outside his business, so that there could not possibly be any leakage of information about what occurred at the conference to any of his other employees in his London office. The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. With extensive use of coal oil and gasoline for heating purposes, and with introduction of many new by-products in the chemical field, other types of industrial poisoning by gas are beginning to attract increasing attention.

Benzene is widely used in the home and in industry because of its value in dissolving rubber, fats and resins. It is involved in blending of motor fuels and in making dyes and leather stains. It is also used in the rubber and artificial leather industries.

In some cases people are asphyxiated while working in tanks which formerly contained benzol. Others are poisoned gradually by benzene fumes inhaled during the course of their work. Benzene poisoning occurs more often in cold than in warm weather, because ventilation is greatly reduced by closing of windows and doors. Women about to become mothers, and young girls seem especially predisposed to benzene poisoning from inhaling benzene fumes.

The first signs of benzene poisoning are headache, dizziness, loss of appetite, fatigue, and general weakness. Later the benzene affects the blood. As soon as there is any suspicion of poisoning from benzene or other gases, the person should change his employment, preferably to open-air work, to avoid contact with the poison.

Doctors treat such cases with plenty of rest, fresh air, and sunshine, and with foods and drugs planned particularly to build up the blood. In very severe cases, blood transfusions may be necessary to save life.

Gasoline poisoning resembles that caused by benzene, and drowsiness is a prominent symptom. Occasional children drink gasoline or coal oil. These substances seem to act like alcohol, except that they produce much more irritation of stomach and intestines.

Following drinking of such poisons, the first thing to do is to get as much of the poison as possible out of the stomach.

Vomiting may be brought about by any of the common methods, such as putting the finger down the throat, swallowing salt water, or having the doctor inject drugs which cause vomiting.

After collapse the patient immediately should be put at rest and kept warm and quiet. Coffee may be given as a stimulant.

POTATO GROWERS PLAN AGREEMENTS

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 19 (UP)—Idaho growers have signified their intention to plant 117,000 acres to potatoes in 1937, Richard C. Ross, U. S. department of agriculture statistician, reported today. Acreage in 1936 was 108,000.

Indicated acreage for the United States was 3,469,000 acres, 12 per cent above the 3,058,000 acres harvested in 1936, on the basis of Jan. 1 reports, the department announced.

The proposed increase was accounted for by relatively high prices received by growers this season. On the other hand, seed potatoes will be difficult to obtain and the price will be high at planting time. These factors undoubtedly will cause some growers to modify their present acreage plans for the coming season, in the opinion of the department's experts.

While practically every state has indicated an increase in potato acreage in 1937, largest increases are expected in states which suffered serious abandonment due to the drought. In some early potato states, prevailing high prices are expected to stimulate large increases in plantings.

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO—

FEB. 19, 1922
The wheatgrowers' association of Idaho decided at its meeting Saturday to let out the 700,000 bushels of wheat in storage gradually, now that the market is good and improving. Pres. W. F. Alworth indicated yesterday on his return from American Falls where the meeting was held. "Approximately 200,000 bushels are owned by growers in Twin Falls county, and of this wheat about one-half is in storage here in different elevators and the rest is in Ogdén. I am confident that the farmers will get from 50 cents to a dollar a bushel over advances on this wheat," he stated.

27 YEARS AGO—

FEB. 19, 1910
The new rock crusher ordered by J. M. Maxwell, City Engineer Mull and C. C. Bedford, has been in place for about two weeks while the machinery has been put into working order. The crusher is now ready to turn out lava rock in any kind of fragments desired. The crusher, while a new venture with its owners, is already bringing in returns from the crushed rock furnished the contractors and builders as filling for concrete work. When the time arrives for the paving the big machine will probably gain a great deal of business from the paving contractors.

You May Not Know That—

Horses and mules are the only types of livestock which are decreasing in Idaho.

CAREY

Several local boys are employed at Sun Valley, among them Drexell Ivie, Elmo Patterson, Vincent and Delmar Olsen, Stanley Dilworth and Percy York.

The M-Men and Gleaner girl banquet will be held Monday evening with a special program arranged. Elder Marold Dilworth is expected to be speaker of the evening at the L. D. S. services Sunday evening. He has just returned from a two-year mission in South Carolina. Mrs. Alice Gilford returned this week from a visit her daughter in Boise. She will visit her daughter here.

PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-moving Events in the Nation's Capital By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator. (Copyright, 1935, By Paul Mallon)

DESTINATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Where the world is going is the chief topic everywhere here, from the east room down to the kitchen drawing rooms of the proletariat. The best available data on the subject are probably those being furnished privately by top economists employed by business authorities to find out what is coming. Their views represent at least the most sincere effort to penetrate the confusing mass of political propaganda in the search for realistic facts.

They may not be right, but they should know more about it than anyone else, whether or not they do.

Among the most trustworthy of these survey predictions now in circulation behind the scenes are these:

UNITED STATES

The Roosevelt purpose may now be clearly defined by piecing together the events of the last 30 days. The government reorganization plan, plus the budget, plus the NRA promises, plus the Wallace farm control program, plus the move to get control of the supreme court shows the prospect. It is a federal government about twice as big and twice as strong as any known in a democracy before.

It might be called a "socialized democracy" based on the assumption of federal responsibility to cure immediate group ills now, all ills of all groups later. The immediate objective is to establish and maintain standards of living arbitrarily for organized labor and farm groups first. This involves control of industrial prices (new NRA, hour and wage control, taxes, credit and monetary policy, etc.) and farm prices (production control, crop insurance, etc.) It will require a seven, eight or nine billion dollar annual government cost, to be financed from taxes. Meaning a further increase will necessarily be made possible next year. (Deficit financing cannot be continued longer.)

The unavoidable effect of this expansion of responsibility will be further control to include federal control for health, education, all housing, whatever group ills crop up. It is questionable whether such responsibility can be exercised through Democratic processes indefinitely over a period of years.

Note—The President's court move is just a phase I congress defeats him, his government reorganization plan will probably also be defeated and he will be stopped all along the line, but just for the present. He is certain to continue to pursue the same objectives in another manner.

GERMANY
The high tide of Hitler seems to have been reached. Evidence is accumulating that the army general staff has the stronger hand on the reins of power, also that the Nazi party and Hitler are no longer synonymous with his control over all the avenues of expression of popular opinion. It is difficult to ascertain the extent of his popular weakness, although his economic weakness is obvious. There is no one in the party capable of supplanting him. Hence, a military control probably will come next, in the form of a regency or a monarchial restoration, possibly before the end of 1937, probably in 1938.

A German-made war is extremely unlikely, but a collapse of Nazism only a matter of time.

JAPAN

The nation is economically extended. Manchukuo has been a liability rather than an asset. The weakness of the Yen is supposed to be planned, but is probably genuine. Unrest among the army politicians is growing. An army regime is likely to be established during the course of the year. Yet no Japanese-made war is considered likely.

RUSSIA

Stalin seems to be making concessions fast to popular pressure. His proposed constitution may not have been offered entirely in good faith, but is nevertheless a concession to the democratic idea. His staged trials betrayed his nervousness concerning his associates. A further weakening of principles is to be expected as he tries to whip his army and nation into the proper spirit for national defense, rather than for an international revolution.

ITALY

Fascism has made little headway outside Italy in the last year—not even in Spain. Mussolini is still suffering economically from his victory in Ethiopia. His dictatorship is secure, but his economic position weak. He never enacts the same role twice, and is likely to emerge soon as leader of a peace boom or a disarmament boom to cover his position.

ENGLAND

The position of the Baldwin government never seemed stronger than when it defeated Mrs. Simpson for Queen. But, there is some question whether Baldwin could defeat anyone else. Left-wing movements are almost non-existent. Some are predicting the fall of the Baldwin regime within a year, in the pinch of rising prices and low interest rates.

NO. 1 ANONYM

The man behind Mr. Roosevelt's move to get control of the Supreme Court is not even in Who's Who. Few disciples of the new order here know him. He has rarely appeared in public with the President. His name seldom is mentioned in newspapers, except in the social columns, where he last appeared as the only overnight guest of the President during the inauguration. If he has made any speeches, they are not on record here, and few seem to know him or his record.

Yet Justice Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York state supreme court has been a secret judicial adviser of the President throughout the New Deal, was a former member of the New York state assembly, a graduate of Columbia law school (1920), a Tammany product, the father of the brain trust, and Raymond Moley's magazine. (Today) calls him currently "the godfather of the New Deal."

Washington calls him the most anonymous of Mr. Roosevelt's passionately anonymous.

1937 License Sales Records Increase

RUPERT, Feb. 19 (Special)—Despite present activity in the state legislature concerning the reduction of the cost of automobile license plate sales in Minidoka county are making more of a showing than they did last year.

Total sales of the 1937 edition in Minidoka county from Jan. 1 to Feb. 17 includes 256 sets of plates of 36 over sales during the corresponding period of 1936 at which time 220 sets of plates were sold. According to Arthur T. Smith, local assessor, the increase is mainly because of the many out-of-state cars from the middle west carry licenses which have expired.

Classifications of plates sold the past month and one-half include 214 passenger cars; 21 farm truck; 20, private truck; one motorcycle; 18, trailer. For the six weeks last year plates sold here were 161, passenger car; 14, farm truck; 13, private truck; 32, trailer.

SENATE DEFATS PATROL MEASURE

Work Piles Up in Legislature Despite Third Night Session

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 10 (UP)—The work continued to pile up for Idaho's legislature today, despite night sessions in both house and senate last night.

The senate in its third night meeting of the current session killed B-28, a measure seeking to create a state highway patrol to be transferred along with other motor vehicle functions of the state department of law enforcement.

Liquor Bill Defeated Asked by Ada county's woman legislator, Maud Cosho, on the grounds that each city should have a right to decide its own liquor store problem.

Among those favoring local option were Atkins, Twin Falls, Smith, Latah, Cosho and Walker. Ada's voting "no" included Cavanaugh and Powers.

Debate on the question of right of water users to store water during the early part of a season for use later in the summer highlighted the house late afternoon session.

Argument that holders of water rights were entitled to water for use as they saw fit was met with debate that a water right entitled its holder only to the use of water that was the property of all.

Passed during the afternoon also was a senate bill authorizing the state to lease lands for mining purposes, between high and low water marks, in navigable streams.

Other house bills passed had to do with permitting delivery of school warrants to "pays or order" and burning and regulation of the public business.

Highlighting attack on the senate traffic patrol measure Anderson, Idaho Republican, declared the bill "proposed to take about 80 per cent of the department of law enforcement to the highway department."

He added that duties of about 95 of the present 125 employees in the law enforcement department would be taken away, leaving little for that department to do.

Donat, Washington, sponsor of the bill, suggested that "we should start with a traffic patrol, then expand the system into a police set-up when we can better afford it."

He said his bill would not set up a "Mexican army" but provided for all working officers. He pleaded economy, declaring that addition of officers as provided in his bill would not cost any additional money.

Because of the basketball tournament which convenes in Castleford on Feb. 25 to 28, the Men's day meeting of Everywoman's club will be held Tuesday, and will be at the home of Mrs. Ed. Klynson.

The pot-luck lunch will be served at noon, followed by a program prepared by Mrs. John Thomas.

Minidoka Conducts Drive for Funds A financial drive conducted here last week by the Minidoka district of Snake River Area Council Boy Scouts of America was very successful, according to local officers who believe that by the time all returns are in, the district's quota of $225 will have been more than raised.

A. K. Friesen, finance chairman, was in charge generally of the drive with five teams of two men canvassing business and residential and farming districts.

The five teams were composed of Charles Imel and Joe Dolan, Henry Hesselholt and A. V. Moore, Ed. Doring and Lou Dickson, Dave Hyde and Floyd Bitt, and Rev. George G. Roseberry and Wayne Hollenbeck.

HOUSE RECEIVES 24 MORE BILLS

Night Session Brings Flood Of New Measures to Idaho Solons

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 10 (UP)—Idaho's house of representatives today had before it for consideration a proposal to establish a state department of conservation and development. The measure was one of 24 bills introduced at a night session last night.

To be consolidated within the proposed governmental unit would be the present departments of fish and game, land, forestry, board of public utility, administration of Fisheries and Spaulding state parks.

The department of conservation would be organized with a division of state lands, division of fish and game and division of state forest. Sponsor of the bill was the hon. forestry committee.

$25,000 Asked An appropriation of $25,000 to be used for employment of inmate of the state penitentiary in reformation activities was suggested to the house by its charitable and penal institutions committee.

After scoring one-sided triumphs in the opening round of the tournament in the morning, the Redskins downed the Moscow "G" club 29-19 and the Bobcats smothered American Falls, last year's champions, 51-33. The first game of the evening saw the Jerome Moose down Wendell 70-24.

Braddock and Louis Meet Today to Sign Contracts for Chicago Fight

By STEVE SNIDER
CHICAGO, Feb. 19 (U.P.)—Heavyweight champion James J. Braddock met Bomber Joe Louis today to sign for a 15-round title fight at Comiskey park June 22 against the first Negro challenger since Black Jack Johnson knocked out Jim Jeffries at Reno.

Contracts were to be produced shortly after noon at a conference of the principals and Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois athletic commission, despite protests of Madison Square Garden.

Braddock will announce whether he accepted a flat guarantee of $500,000 made by the Sporting Club of Illinois or agreed to take his chance on half of the net receipts. Louis will receive the challenger's cut of 17 1/2 per cent.

First Defense
It will be the champion's first title defense and first fight since he defeated Max Baer for the crown, May 13, 1935.

The Garden, which has a contract for Braddock to defend his title against Max Schmeling of Germany in New York June 3, warned Triner, Gould and others high in the promotion that it would take legal steps to protect its interests if Braddock tries to jump his Garden contract. Triner said he "never at any time had any thought of interfering with the Garden's contract." Gould said he was fully aware such a contract existed but he refused to be checked in his determination to land the Louis match.

"We fight here regardless of anything," Gould said. "We'll sign and take the consequences."

Everything Set
"Everything is set as far as we're concerned. I wouldn't go to all this trouble if I didn't know what we're doing. The Garden can't tell us what to do."

"Big corporations break contracts every day. That's what lawyers are for and I'll use them if I have to, to protect Braddock's best interests."

Gould quickly withdrew his objections to Comiskey park when the park board made its rental demand of 25 per cent of the gross for use of Soldier field.

"Who's Soldier field fighting anyway? That's more of a cut than Louis will get," Gould laughed.

Braddock appeared in excellent condition—within six pounds of the weight at which he went in against Baer. Despite his long stretch without a major fight, he looked better than he did after his first banqueting year as heavyweight champion.

The Bomber, however, was reported ill. A cold and sinus infection slowed him up during his Nite Brown fight Wednesday night, his handlers revealed, and they ordered a long rest.

STEELE SET FOR EASTERN BATTLE

Tacoma Pride 6-5 Favorite To Defeat Babe Risko In New York

By HENRY SUPER

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (U.P.)—The busiest week the middleweight division has seen in years is climaxed in Madison Square Garden tonight when Freddie Steele, pride of Tacoma, Wash., risks his title in a 15-round duel with Eddie (Babe) Risko of Syracuse, the former champion.

Steele, who won the crown from Risko in Seattle last July, is 6-3 to win his first appearance in an eastern ring and score his third victory over the former job.

Thill Won

Earlier this week in Paris, Marcel Thill, recognized world champion by the International Boxing Union, retained his title claims by winning on a foul from Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass. Wednesday night, young Fred Apostol of San Francisco smashed into the front ranks of contenders with a sparkling victory over Solly Kreiger, New York veteran.

Thus, there is a possibility that the winner of tonight's fight may defend his crown against Thill in Paris or against Apostol.

Steele, an unusual champion these days because he's willing to fight anybody, has defended the title once. That was a 19-round decision victory over Gorilla Jones New Year's day in Milwaukee.

Tonight's battlers have met twice before. Steele, who has been a professional fighter since he was 15, got the nod both times. He whipped Eddie in Seattle in November, 1935, in a non-title affair and then beat him by a shade over the 15-round route last July.

On past performances, Steele should win tonight in 52 starts as a professional, this 24-year-old has lost only once—a four-round decision defeat in 1934 by one Tommy Herman. Twenty-one of his victims went out via the knockout.

Risko, who is 26, won and lost the title over a span of 37 fights. He kayoed seven opponents, won 16 decisions, lost seven decisions and was knocked out once—in the first round, in December, 1935, by Jack McAvoy of England.

Risko is particularly strong over the 15-round route and Steele figures to go right after him at the start so he will be too groggy to make any spectacular late rallies.

MILE RACE HAS ALL-STAR ENTRY

Italian Champ Joins Galaxy of Stars in Baxter Duel At New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (U.P.)—Former Olympic Champion Luigi Beccali, Italy's great distance runner, succumbed today to the glitter and prestige of the "Baxter mile" and withdrew from his scheduled two-mile duel with Don Lash, long-striding Indiana seafarer, in the New York A. C. track and field games at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Beccali's decision to enter the mile gives the entry list for this event an all-star Olympic cast. The Italian will be matching strides with one man who beat him and three others he outran in the 1936 Olympic 1,500 meters at Berlin.

Glenn Cunningham, world indoor and outdoor mile record holder, who ran second to Jack Lovelock of New Zealand at Berlin, constitutes Beccali's biggest threat. Luigi lost the Olympic title he won in 1932 at Los Angeles when he strode behind Lovelock and Cunningham last summer. Cunningham's flame scarred legs, however, appear to be in as good shape as ever, and he hasn't lost a start since he began running in the colors of the New York curb exchange A. C. this fall.

Archie San Roman, who finished right behind Beccali in the Olympic 1,500, is the third entrant in this 26th running for the Baxter cup. The field assumes an added international flavor with Miklos Szabo, the great Hungarian middle distance runner. Fifth is veteran Venke from Pennsylvania who has been dueling the mile with Cunningham for five years. Szabo and Venke finished eighth and ninth respectively in the Olympics.

LEADER SLIPS IN HOCKEY LEAGUE

By United Press
Detroit's leadership in the National Hockey league's American division was challenged by Boston's Bruins and the New York Rangers today.

Tied for second place, they moved to within five points of the leading Red Wings as a result of last night's victories. Detroit lost 3 to 1, to Toronto.

Rookie center Apps of the Maple Leafs tallied twice in the first period to down the Wings. Howe gave Detroit its only counter which was matched in the last period by Boll of Toronto.

The Rangers won a hard fought battle from the Chicago Blackhawks, 2 to 1, with Ott Heller's goal in the overtime providing the margin. The Bruins won by the same score over Montreal's Maroons as Ray Gentilife drilled home the winning goal in the second period.

ROGERS TAKES BILLIARDS TITLE

21-Year-Old Youth Captures Amateur Crown in New York Play-Off

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (U.P.)—Ed C. Rodgers of Glen Cove, N. Y., became national amateur pocket billiard champion today by defeating the defending titleholder, Lewis Brooks of Philadelphia.

Rodgers, who dethroned the 21-time Champion J. Howard Shoemaker of New York last year only to drop the title a few weeks later to Brooks, shot brilliantly last night to defeat the 21-year-old defender, 125 to 43, in a 12-inning game.

Third place was taken by Art Cranfield, the 19-year-old Syracuse, N. Y. Star, the youngest player. The three had ended in a tie for first place with five victories and two defeats in the regularly scheduled games, but Cranfield dropped from the title play-off when he lost consecutively to Brooks, 125 to 113, and to Rodgers, 125 to 103, in the first two elimination matches.

"WHEN SOMEBODY STARTS RAVIN' ABOUT HOW GOOD A WHISKEY IS, I JUST ASK 'Is it as good as Town Tavern?'"

says the OLD TOWN TAVERN KEEPER

That is a good test for judging any whiskey—comparing it with Town Tavern. As far as hundreds of thousands of men are concerned, Town Tavern is the standard straight rye in its class... If you judge whiskey the way the most discriminating men judge whiskey—by taste, aroma, smoothness and all-round friendliness—then you'll award Town Tavern a place of honor... Not forgetting the sensible price! It certainly is a reasonable figure for such a fine straight rye.

TEXAS DISPUTES OKLAHOMA LINE

Red River Boundary Between States Cause of Friction

DALLAS (AP)—Dispute between Texas and Oklahoma over the Red river boundary between the states—an issue that has caused friction since 1923—is threatening to cause trouble again.

This time the trouble is over hunting and fishing rights of Texans.

Texas game officials and a commission from the Texas legislature argue that citizens of their state have a right to hunt and fish on the river, as long as they do not violate Texas laws.

Oklahomans, however, refer back to a treaty between Spain and the United States, signed in 1819, which set the boundary between the nations at the Spanish bank of the river.

Validity of the treaty in applying to the boundary between Texas and Oklahoma was upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court in deciding an oil case in 1923.

The treaty, however, granted Spain the right to hunt and fish as well as to put boats on the river.

A. S. Broadfoot, of Bonham, Tex., complained at a meeting of officials of the two states that Texans have been arrested by Oklahoma game wardens for fishing in the river without possessing non-resident Oklahoma fishing licenses.

Texas also have been denied the right to hunt ducks on the river without buying Oklahoma hunting license, Broadfoot said.

"Texans should not be denied the right to hunt and fish on the Red river," Broadfoot said. "I personally believe it should be handled on a reciprocity basis."

Army's Flying Serpent

In such perfect alignment that they give the appearance of a weird serpent rather than airplanes, a squadron of U. S. army bombers poised above the clouds over Langley Field, Va., ready for the 2000-mile "routine flight" to France Field, Panama Canal Zone. After an 810-mile hop to Miami the bombers were to nose out over the Caribbean for the last 1140 miles, mostly over water.

FIRST ELECTRICALLY-HEATED SCHOOL SWITCHES TO STEAM

RUPERT, Feb. 19 (Special)—Termed the first electrically-heated high school building in the world, the Rupert high school will be heated by steam next winter.

The school was built in 1913, and the first electrical heating unit ever put in such a building was installed. Now, 24 years later, with a PWA grant allotted the local school system, contracts let and actual work soon under way, the electric heating system will be discarded and steam heat will be installed for the first time.

World Recognition The proposed change which will soon be a reality, according to present plans, brings to recollection the international recognition accorded the Rupert building more than a score of years ago when the electric units were installed.

Then came the years of changes in arrangement of the heating system to secure the highest possible satisfaction and efficiency. It was just a few years ago that students frequently were overcoats to class when the mercury dropped low in the winter time. The system has been altered and improved until of late years it has been more satisfactory.

Humidity has been regulated a number of ways. The method now being employed provides an open boiler of hot water in the main room. Steam given off by the boiler is blown into classrooms along with the heated air.

It has been pointed out that, with steam heat, plenty of hot water for wash basins and shower rooms will be available at all times. In the past it has been necessary to heat water in a coal-fired boiler located in the boys' dressing room.

Part of Program The new heating plant is part of an extensive building program here that includes also a six-room addition to the high school building.

The proposed heating plant will be located on the Lincoln school grounds and will provide heat for both the Lincoln and the high school buildings. The grade school is at present heated by coal stoves in each classroom. When the steam plant is completed Johnston thermostats in each room will automatically keep temperature uniform.

The large boiler will be provided with an automatic stoker which has a capacity of 100 tons of coal. The Northwestern Plumbing and Heating company of Portland, Oregon, is in charge of the work of construction.

Addition Started Work was begun this week on the six-room addition to the high school with William H. Kloepfer, local contractor in charge. Excavations for the foundations are now

PARIS MAY DAY TO BE ARTISTIC

Fiction of "Stage" French People Will Be One Of Keynotes

PARIS (AP)—With the opening of the Paris Exposition of Arts and Crafts scheduled for May 1, plans for a massive celebration of Labor Day, now a semi-official holiday, promise an imposing spectacle.

Proof that the "stage Frenchman" as depicted in America, is a caricature and a fake, will be one of the keynotes of the "Pageant-Procession of France at Work," which forms the central theme of Paris May 1 celebration this year. It will be the first and outstanding of Paris fetes which are being planned for the Exposition period.

The aim of the organizers of the procession is to show the manifold aspects of French working life, its creativeness, its power and its joy.

All classes of workers, gathered from all parts of France, will form a section of the massive parade, from aviation to agriculture, from metallurgy to winery, from mining to administration. More than 10,000 workers, from every province and region of France will march in the procession, each depicting in a striking manner the work and the products of their region.

Paul Colin well-known artist and decorator, will be the marshal of the parade. His conception of a procession is entirely new to France. Not only will it be synchronized in its color scheme, but it will embody movement and counter movement, as the serpentine procession winds along the Parisian boulevards, and each "element" to use Colin's phrase will be accompanied by sound effects. The "element" of steel and iron will emit sounds which will be a symphony of drills boring, giant hammers thundering, metal saws singing, cylinders grinding and wheels roaring. Perhaps Colin took some of his inspiration from the "Industrial Symphony" of George Antheil written about 10 years ago. In any case he was reassuring and said that the sound effects would be imposing and not just noise.

Airplane Club Asked By Rupert Students

RUPERT, Feb. 19 (Special)—Model airplane building may soon take its place among the extracurricular activities of Rupert high school with R. D. Armstrong, local high school principal, as proposed instructor and leader, the Model-airplane club begun by him last year is the subject matter of a petition requesting that a similar organization be instituted this year.

Among those pushing plans are several members of last year's club: Jack Judd, Blair Ballard, Kenneth Frison, Clyde Stone, Elmore Lacy, and Clyde Lutz. Lutz two years ago was a prize winner in a state-wide contest on model construction. He is now part-owner of a 36-inch wing-spread gasoline powered monoplane model.

A number of new members are also expected to join in the event the club continues again this year. They are Louis Runyan, Ross Totten, Buzzie Duffin, Gordon Nelson, Francis Jullian, Dale Hansen, Bill Smith and Ralph Winter.

A meeting to determine whether the club will resume meetings will be called by Mr. Armstrong shortly.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

SACRIFICE IS TOO GREAT

By WM. E. MCKENNEY Secretary, American Bridge League Duplicate bridge players naturally are good mathematicians. They know exactly the value of a game, a part score, or a slam, and so they can figure with absolute accuracy just what they can afford to go down, to stop their opponents from making their contract.

Today's hand was taken from the open pair championship of the recent Metropolitan Greater New York tournament, won by Sydney Rusinov and Benedict Jarmel, both of New York.

Today's Contract Problem If North, after two passes, opens the bidding with one club, should East double for a takeout? If North and South reach five clubs over West's contract of four hearts, should East double or bid again?

VACUUM CLEANER USED IN ORGAN

Substitute Method Furnishes Air to Produce Music In Church

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (AP)—The Millport Methodist church has put the vacuum cleaner to a new use.

At every Sunday service a vacuum cleaner is used, but not for the purpose for which it was originally manufactured. It is used to furnish air for the church pipe organ, which after a 10-year period of silence is now in service again.

It all happened when a number of parishioners wanted to have organ music with their services. The church contained a one manual organ, which could not be used since some years ago when the church interior was rebuilt, the walls were changed and the "old pumping room" boarded up.

It was estimated that repairs to the organ plus a motor would cost about $150—more than the church and the parishioners could afford.

The parishioners began repairing the organ themselves and finally decided to try a vacuum cleaner to solve the problem of pumping air into the organ.

So far, they said, the system has worked perfectly.

BUICK PONTIAC

BENT DOUBLE BY PAINS OF GAS BLOATING

Had Upset Stomach 10 Years; So Swollen with Gas She Could Hardly Breathe—Kidneys Weak—Now This Lady Tells How Van-Tage Relieved Her.

"I never would have believed there was such a medicine!" That is what people all over this section are saying about VAN-TAGE, the Amazing Mixture of Nature's Herbs and Other Splendid Ingredients now being introduced to the local public at the Schramm-Johnson Drug Store, 102 North Main St., and Kingsbury's Drug Store, 116 Main Ave. South. Day after day, widely-known men and women continue to come forward and publicly endorse this Great Compound. For instance, just a few days ago, Mrs. Emma Schafroth, of 7235 N. Penwick St., Portland, Ore., made the following statement:

Upset Stomach, Sluggish Kidneys 10 Years "For 10 years I was a suffering, miserable person," said Mrs. Schafroth. "I had a terrible upset stomach. Was just full of gas and could hardly breathe. I had terrible gas pains, in fact, they got so bad at times that I would be bent over double. My kidneys were so weak that they kept me rising all right long. I tried all kinds of treatments, but never got any real relief. Then one day I saw a friend and she told me about Van-Tage and I started taking it. And I simply bless the Day I heard of it. It cleared so much gas from my stomach and relieved my kidneys. I can go to bed and sleep without having to get up. I honestly believe this medicine to be the Greatest 'Thing of the Kind.'"

Over 30 Ingredients in This 'Great Compound' VAN-TAGE contains over 30 ingredients (including 21 Great Herbs) which cleanse the bowels, tone the stomach and invigorate liver and kidney action. People declare this Great Formula has made them feel LIKE NEW in general. Another thing—due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. Get it TODAY—at the Schramm-Johnson Drug Store, 102 North Main St., and Kingsbury's Drug Store, 116 Main Ave. South.

COURT PROGRAM IMPERILS RIGHT

Bar Association President Urges Scrutiny Before Casting Vote

preme court, sometimes by a bare majority.

Urges Voters Speak

Now, what is said to congress? This.

"What you've tried to do these many times, you can do after this with complete freedom—if you will pass a law giving the President the power by appointment of additional judges. These new judges will change a minority of the supreme court to a majority. Presto! The constitution isn't what it used to be, and you, congress, can cease thinking about it. The teacher who told you to be quiet will now say, 'Let's go!'"

You, the voters, may want it so. No one knows. We have no way of finding out whether or not you like the constitution, and the rights under it which you didn't give up. But we would rather you told us than have congress tell you what you would say. If you had a chance to speak. Some of us don't like gossip or hearsay, anyhow. We want to hear you tell us your story. The word of congress about you doesn't satisfy us.

Amendment Natural

Now the strange thing about all this is that you aren't asked to speak. Why not? I'm inclined to believe it's because you'll say "No," that you guess government is powerful enough already, and that what powers you have kept to date you think you'd better keep a while longer.

But it is odd, isn't it, that you aren't asked? The constitution is clear enough on that matter. It provides, in a separate article all its own, how it can be amended, what should be done when a government, greedy for more power, wants you to surrender the rights you didn't choose to give up when you agreed to the constitution.

The constitution says with reference to the method generally used, perhaps a score of times, that to amend the constitution both branches of congress must make the exact proposal by a two-thirds vote and then have three-fourths of the states ratify what congress did.

You might have said originally that you wouldn't give up any more of your rights under any circumstances; that you agreed to surrender part of your personal rights only because it seemed necessary in order to establish the federal government, and that you'd never yield any further rights. But you did in fact say that you would give up more rights if two-thirds of congress and three-fourths of the states agreed.

You understand I have no official standing, of either government or any association, in talking to you. I speak only for myself. I trust that you will still listen without looking for an official badge. Sometimes officials aren't so friendly to you as the people you see every day near home or at work.

Quins Get Winter Sports Fever

"Now that we've got snow, what do we do with these funny stafs?" little Ceille wants Dr. A. R. Dafoc to tell her as the Dionne quintuplets get their 1937 introduction to winter sports—an event long delayed by the unusual scarcity of early snows in Ontario. Only Annette (right) doesn't seem to take any interest in the business of skiing, perhaps, that her feet would get all hulled up if she ever got on the boards. Marie calmly waits for instructions from Dr. Dafoc while Yvonne and Emilie (center) crowd around him.

"Aw! Don't kid us. Nobody could walk on those things," the Dionne quintuplets seem to tell Dr. A. R. Dafoc. They can't be blamed, of course, for until they've tried them, snowshoes look like the least useful nearly as big as she; and Marie, Emilie, Yvonne and Annette treading their snowshoes debut.

Eleanor Holm Presents Trophy

Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, left, presents the District of Columbia A. A. P. trophy to June Booth, who won it in the pool of a Washington hotel. Mrs. Jarrett gave a backstroke exhibition, her first public swimming appearance since she became the principal figure in last summer's Olympic games controversy. This would seem to indicate that the breach between the beautiful star and the governing body of amateur athletics has mended.

TAX HINTS GIVEN IDAHO FARMERS

Points on Income Levy Are Stressed for Benefit of Agriculturists

A summary of some of the points pertaining to farmers and their state income tax, was made today by Leslie D. Shellworth, deputy income tax commissioner for Idaho, in a special explanation sent to the Evening Times.

Farm Advice

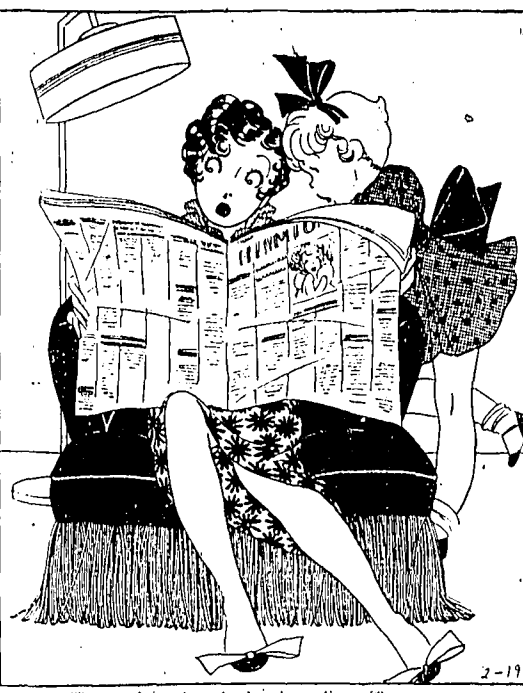

"In the case of a livestock grower or produce grower, who carries a part of his produce or livestock over from year to year pending favorable market conditions, it is to the taxpayer's advantage to report on an accrual basis for the reason that any profit is reported in the year in which it is earned, rather than two or more years' profit being reported in one year," he points out.

Free Help

Field representatives of the department are visiting this section at the present time and their schedule of stops in each community will be announced through the newspapers.

Shellworth suggests that farmers and other taxpayers take advantage of this free service in filling out their return blanks inasmuch as it will eliminate the chances of making errors which will make further reports necessary.

SEED LOAN BILL AID TO GROWERS

Idaho Delegation in Congress Moves to Have President Help Orchardists

By RALPH W. LHMSTEAD WASHINGTON (Special)—In the seed loan bill recently passed by congress and signed by the President, loans up to $400 may be granted to farmers for producing their next year's crop. One provision of the act is that any area may be certified by the President as a "distressed emergency area" and the amount of the loans increased.

Communications on the President's proposal to reorganize the judiciary are coming in very slowly.

Members of the Idaho congressional delegation have received between 25 and 50 letters. Many of the letters are from bar associations and lawyers who almost all disapprove "interfering with the supreme court."

The federal housing administration asked for an appropriation of $12,000,000 on which to operate next year.

The bureau of the budget cut it to $6,500,000, the house of representatives raised it to $9,500,000 and the bill is now before the senate appropriations committee. If passed in its present form there will be wholesale consolidation of PHA offices over the United States.

By timely action Compton I White of Idaho's first district saved many a bill which would benefit our section of the country from the merciless ax of the gag rule.

On the floor of the house several days ago it was suggested that the practice of calling the calendar each Wednesday be suspended. If this were done, it would be necessary for all bills to go through the rules committee which virtually means that no reclamation bills would get to the floor.

Wisconsin Scientist Learns Secret From 20-Year Tree Study

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—From a two-year study of 10,000 wood knots, Benson H. Paul, U. S. forest products laboratory scientist, learned how to produce knotless lumber.
 Paul, an associate of Arthur Koehler, wood expert called as a witness in the Hauptmann trial, has studied trees from the forests of Wisconsin, North Carolina, Florida, and Mississippi for the last 15 years. He can look at a tree's knots and determine immediately its value as lumber.
 "Since knotless lumber is of far greater value than knotty timber, Paul went to work to discover how to develop knot-free trees.
 In releasing the results of his studies, Paul pointed out that side branches on tree trunks are responsible for knots on a log. Natural pruning of side branches is the limbo dying from exclusion of sunlight, he said.
 "The decayed branches drop to the ground, leaving irregular stubs that often cling to the tree for 50 or 100 years before they are enclosed by new growth layers as a fence post by drifting sand," Paul explained.
 It is these broken branches that appear as knots when the trees are cut up for lumber.
 To escape knot formation, Paul recommended early pruning of forest trees. That makes the prun-

PRICE OF WHEAT REMAINS STEADY

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 (UP)—Wheat prices moved through a narrow range around previous closing levels on the Chicago Board of Trade and finished the session about steady for the day. Speculative interest was at a low ebb and price movements were governed by a small volume of professional dealings.
 At the close wheat was 1/2 cent lower to 1 cent higher. May $1.35, new corn unchanged to 1/2 cent lower. May $1.07, old corn off 1/2 to 1/4 up. 1 cent, May $1.05, and oats 1/2 cent lower to 1 cent higher. May 49 1/2 cents.
 Corn met with commission house selling that forced prices down for fractional losses in the first half of the day but held about unchanged for the day at the close. Pressure of Argentine offerings at the seaboard had a depressing effect here.

Today's Picture Story

Repeat drastically curtailed the vast liquor smuggling traffic, but the ingenuity of smugglers' attempts to evade payment of import duties taxes the watchfulness of Uncle Sam's customs officials with the arrival of every ship from abroad. Customs Inspector Fagan shows a young woman how a book with pages cut out was used to conceal jewelry in a smuggling attempt.

Long experience at this dangerous game of hide and seek has taught investigators to be suspicious of all articles. Who else would think to look in the sawdust stuffing of a doll for smuggled gems? But it is not by their unaided sleuthing abilities that most of the culprits are caught. A highly organized information system abroad tips them off to suspicious jewelry and narcotics purchases.

Because their small bulk makes concealment easy and the rate of duty is great enough to make it very profitable to evade, gems are among travelers' chief smuggling articles. Professional smugglers—mostly sailors—concentrate on efforts to bring in narcotics. However, a smuggler who devised the curved under arm container wasn't clever enough to evade alert inspectors.

This is how another smuggler was brought to heel—when jewels bought abroad could not be found elsewhere, search of the suspect's clothes revealed the hollowed rubber heel as their hiding place. Customs law makes it worth the while of anyone learning of big jewel purchases to tip off Uncle Sam's men. If smuggling is detected, the informer gets a generous cut of the government's gain.

The device enables him to hear the speaker even when he whispers.

Skull Fracture

WATERBURY, Conn. (UP)—Daniel P. Martin didn't know he had been working for nearly two years with a fractured skull until he consulted a doctor for relief from headaches. Then he recalled he had bumped his head sharply on a counter and gave it no further thought after a temporary soreness had passed.

ZINC ARSENATE GETS EFFECTS

Fruit Growers Advised That It is Substitute for Lead Arsenate

Important facts for fruit growers of south central Idaho were pointed out today by W. T. Callender, director of the bureau of plant industry at Boise, in referring to an article taken from the Feb. 1 issue of the "American Nurseryman." The magazine is published semi-monthly in Chicago.

"Zinc arsenate, on the basis of its performance during the last two seasons, one dry and one normal, appears to be a satisfactory substitute for lead arsenate in codling moth control. The control has been practically equal to that obtained with lead arsenate, and the lead residue was eliminated, although arsenic was not. Since lead is the more difficult material to remove, this development is of distinct promise."
