Youth Dead After Kidnaping Former Twin Falls Woman

Emmett Man Calmly Kills Himself Over Former Sweetheart

EMMETT, Idaho, Feb. 25 (UP)—Miss Geynell Soom, 20, was stunned and surprised that he had gone through with it today after her suitor, Kenneth Crowther, 22, had calmly killed himself when she refused to reconcile their lovers' quarrel.

An inquest was planned into the youth's death, which followed his kidnaping the girl from an L. D. S. church here last night and four hours' argument while they were parked on the bank of an irrigation ditch in an isolated spot seven miles west of here. Miss Soom is a former Twin Falls girl.

About midnight, they left the car, walking about a quarter of a mile to a main road, the girl said. There they parted company, she walking to a nearby construction camp, he returning to the car. In a few minutes she heard a shot, and returning with help from the camp, found Crowther dead.

Crawls in Seat He had crawled into the rear seat, placed a single shot .22-caliber rifle against his left temple and fired, said Gem county Sheriff Boise Riggs, who investigated.

The two had been keeping company for some time, breaking up two or three weeks ago, Miss Soom said.

During his pleas for a reconciliation while they were parked on the ditch bank, he continually threatened to kill himself, she said. Unwilling, he finally yielded to her demands to be permitted to return to Emmett.

She explained that Crowther did not appear excited just previous to his death. He resignedly bid her good-bye, returning a class ring she had given him.

Called at Home Early last evening, Crowther called at the Soom home, asked for Geynell, but was told she was at the church rehearsing for a ball for which she had been elected queen.

Asked by her father, Robert Soom, what he wanted the youth explained he desired to return her ring. Refusing to give it to the father, he drove to the church.

He called his former sweetheart outside, tried for a few minutes to persuade her to get into the car, then pleaded her up bodily, threw her into the machine and drove off.

Soom and Cornelius Fowler, with whom the girl had kept company following her disagreement with Crowther, had in the meantime run to the church, unsuccessfully attempting to stop the car.

They, along with Sheriff Riggs, immediately started pursuit in automobiles, but did not locate the girl and her abductor until she telephoned from the construction camp.

MYSTERY DEATH CLAIMS WRITER

Wife Found Weeping at Side Of Murdered Hollywood Scenarist

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 25 (UP)—A real-life killing as mysterious as any that he wrote for motion pictures today claimed the life of Humphrey W. Pearson, 43, movie writer and scenarist. In his fashionable desert home at Palm Springs, Pearson's widow was under observation in the Riverside county hospital, where she was removed last night after police found her weeping hysterically beside the body of her dead husband.

Although Chief of Police Lloyd Bolter said that theories of murder and suicide both were being checked, he intimated the discovery of a .38 caliber revolver in another room of the house would have to be explained by Mrs. Pearson as soon as she was able to be questioned.

Bullets that killed Pearson reportedly came from the same gun, police said.

The former New York and Ohio advertising man was shot twice in the chest and had been dead about an hour before his Negro butler heard Mrs. Pearson crying and trying to telephone police.

The Pearsons were members of a fashionable Hollywood set that spent week-ends and vacations in the desert oases east of Riverside. They moved here about seven years ago.

Borah Recommends Court Compromise

Measure Effects Aims of Judiciary Reorganization Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, introduced in the senate today a joint resolution designed as a compromise measure to effect some of the aims of the judiciary reorganization proposal without going as far as President Roosevelt's original plan.

Borah directed his proposed compromise at the 14th amendment of the constitution which he would redraft to "give to the states full power to treat their social and economic problems within each state."

In effect, it would prevent the supreme court from invalidating state laws under the "due process of law" clause of this amendment and would take from the jurisdiction of the court such issues as the New York minimum wage law recently acted upon.

Cuts Jurisdiction Borah's proposal was submitted while President Roosevelt was conferring with a group of nine members of the house on the judiciary question and while the house itself was engaging in bitter controversy on the issue.

"Under this proposal, the supreme court would not have jurisdiction over minimum wage questions as presented in the New York case," Borah said.

"The procedure by which acts are done by states according to established law could not be questioned by the supreme court."

"Would Go Further" "All state legislation dealing with social and economic problems would be eliminated from supreme court jurisdiction."

"It leaves to the states the solution of their social and economic ills."

Explaining the proposal Borah added: "It would relieve the supreme court of a lot of pressure and odium."

"I would go even further than this if I thought there was a possibility of getting it through."

"I would provide that 'person' does not include 'corporation.'"

Government Guardianship "Good Thing," Father of Quints Admits

CALLANDER, Ont., Feb. 25 (UP)—Olivia Dionne, father of the quintuplets, long bitter because the Ontario government took charge of his famous daughters, admitted today that the government's guardianship was "a good thing."

Since their birth on May 28, 1934, Dionne has contended he wanted to bring up his children in his own way, without government interference. When the quintuplets guardianship act was passed in March, 1935, making the babies "wards of the king" and naming a special board of guardians for them, Dionne was loud in his criticism. Named as one of the guardians he has attended only one meeting, but he indicated today all that would be changed now.

POWER PROGRAM TO CAUSE FIGHT

New Clash Threatened as President's Plan Gets Underway

Cavanagh Has No Bridge Bonds, Lobby Quiz Shows

Strife Lessens In Labor Crisis

LABOR STRIFE IN industry lessened perceptibly today. Two groups of sit-down strikers had been evacuated without bloodshed from the property of their employers. One strike had been ended. The Chrysler corporation had agreed to negotiate with the United Automobile Workers, ending the threat of another wide-scale automobile strike.

Three major strikes remained. Several hundred sit-down strikers were in possession of the Douglas Aircraft corporation plant at Santa Monica, Calif. The plant was closed. 5,600 workers had been laid off. The management refused to negotiate so long as the strikers remained in the plant. The strikers refused to evacuate.

Timken Plant Held Five hundred sit-down strikers held the plant of the Timken Detroit Axle company at Detroit. The plant, which manufactures axles for Chrysler, General Motors, and Ford, was closed.

One hundred sit-down strikers continued their occupation of the Pansteel Metallurgical company plant at Waukegan, Ill. The protracted dispute seemed deadlocked.

At Detroit, Ill., the Century Wall Paper company resumed operations with non-union workers. Forty-four men and women sit-down strikers, who had held the plant 48 hours, evacuated peacefully and were taken into court on contempt charges growing out of their failure to obey an injunction order promptly.

Baker Resumes Work At Los Angeles Pie Baker Wilhe Pletty resumed operations after his 11 striking bakers had evacuated peacefully in obedience to a court order. Pletty filed suit for $70,000 damages against the bakers and their union.

At Springfield, O., the Crowell Publishing company, publishers of such magazines as Colliers and the Woman's Home Companion, settled the strike of its 800 pressmen. The company recognized the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants union as sole representative of the men, and collective bargaining negotiations will begin Monday.

10,000 Return In Massachusetts and New Hampshire, shoe manufacturers were capitulating rapidly to the demands of the Leather Workers' union for a 15 per cent wage increase. Of the 17,000 men who went on strike yesterday, 10,000 had returned to work and the rest were expected to return today.

At Groton, Conn. approximately 100 strikers continued to picket the plant of the Electric Boat company, which was operating on what company officials said was its normal schedule. The strikers had been evacuated from the plant by state police early yesterday.

In the Detroit area, eight minor sit-down strikes continued.

ANTI-LYNCH BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (UP)—A federal anti-lynching bill, similar to that sponsored unsuccessfully for several years by former Sen. Edward P. Costigan, D., Colo., was introduced in the senate today by Sens. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., and Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind.

Subject of controversy in the last two congresses the program in the past has usually seen southern congressmen line up against such legislation.

Attorney-General to File Third Suit in Money Recovery Case

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 25 (UP)—Attorney-General J. W. Taylor today prepared for filing in Ada county district court a third complaint against J. P. Martin, Boise attorney, and Commissioner of Public Works G. E. McKeelvey, seeking recovery of money alleged illegally devoted to the production of plane parts for the army and navy.

Today's suit involved $13,400 worth of equipment purchased from Martin and the Bunting Tractor Co., 777 Ker, Ore. As in two previous actions, the complaint held that agreements to rent the equipment were in effect conditional sales contracts made in lease form to avoid calling for competitive bids.

Inquiry Finds Solon Has No Holding in Rim Span

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 25 (UP)—A hearing into alleged lobbying activities of James W. Galloway, Boise attorney, today brought out information to show that Dan Cavanagh, Twin Falls, holds no bonds of the Twin Falls-Jerome inter-county toll bridge.

Cavanagh is sponsor of two bills levying an additional gasoline tax on distributors, with proceeds to go for purchase by the state of toll bridges. The Twin Falls bridge is said to be the only such span in the state. The two bills are on the senate calendar for final action today, having been previously passed in the house.

At the hearing, conducted by the house appropriations committee of which Cavanagh is chairman, Galloway was charged with spreading rumors that the Twin Falls representative had a financial interest in the bills.

Galloway testified that he represented the Associated Petroleum Industries, and had been instructed to lobby against the additional one-half mill gasoline levy. He said he first heard the reports from a senator whose name he refused to divulge, but later had made a personal investigation and found the rumor unfounded.

A wire from Ferris and Hardgrove, Seattle bond house, was produced, stating that only one $1,000 bond of the bridge company was held in southern Idaho and that not by Cavanagh.

Investigation of the rumor was requested by F. G. Thompson, secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, Cavanagh said.

HOUSE MEMBERS DISCUSS COURT

President Roosevelt Calls Nine Representatives To Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (UP)—President Roosevelt called in a group of nine house members today to discuss his judiciary program.

Those participating in the discussion were all members of the house liberal bloc which has announced support of the President's plan.

White apparently devoting his major attention for the present to the house, Mr. Roosevelt also scheduled what appeared to be judicial conferences with two more senators.

The senators were James H. Hughes, D., Del., and Ernest Lundeen, F. L., Minn.

Mr. Roosevelt's new judiciary conferences were scheduled as administration leaders considered an inquiry into a campaign to send identical letters to congress opposing the judicial plan.

Hughes, a member of the senate judiciary committee, made this statement after meeting with the president.

"I am inclined to go along with the President as a rule because I am interested in his program."

"I have not, however, made any announcement (on the court plan) and will not until after the committee hearing."

"I am pretty open minded I am not worried about what I hear about the alarming part of the President's program."

SPAIN'S REBELS RENEW ATTACKS

Open Fire on University City At Dawn Today as Battle Tide Sways

MADRID, Feb. 25 (UP)—Rebels renewed their offensive of the Madrid siege today with an attack in University city.

At the "zero hour" before dawn they opened fire on the northwestern sector.

Mortars and machine guns laid down a heavy fire. Artillery on both sides was brought into play as the tide of battle swung back and forth in the embattled university salient.

The insurgents spread their offensive across to West Park at dawn, but the loyalists threw them back and their positions were reported unchanged. Low clouds and cold winds terminated the springlike weather of the last ten days.

Disputing from Oljon in northern Spain reported the loyalists furiously attacked the arms factory on the outskirts of besieged Oviedo in intensive fighting for the Asturias city. The loyalists were confident the strategic arms plant, almost destroyed in the siege, would be captured from the rebels shortly.

Veto Was Expected Veto of the measure was not unexpected, since the governor in his campaign and later in his legislative message declared himself in favor of liberalizing restrictions in regard to liquor and gambling.

To overcome a veto in the senate 20 votes are required. Yesterday's attempt to pass over Clark's veto, a bill to place responsibility for enforcement of the state's liquor laws in the department of law enforcement failed by only three votes.

The gambling measure originally passed the senate 34 to 10. In the house it was approved 47 to 10.

Healy Speaks The house in caucus heard William Healy, general counsel for the Federal Farm Credit administration, Spokane, speaking on behalf of a senate bill to repeal a measure passed earlier in the session prohibiting deficiency judgments in mortgage foreclosure cases.

Healy explained that laws governing making of loans by four federal agencies which he represents, would act to prevent further government loans on Idaho real estate unless the law is repealed.

He said that a bank's paper must have greater protection than would be given under the newly-adopted law. A deficiency judgment formerly could be obtained when foreclosure of a mortgage yielded less than the amount of a loan. It enabled the lender to collect against any other property a borrower might have.

Governor Clark in a statement last week said he still believed in the measure he had signed and indicated he would veto an attempted repeal.

PIN GAMES BILL GETS CLARK AXE

Governor Vetoes Bill to Outlaw Gambling on Ball Devices

BOISE, Ida., Feb. 25 (UP)—Idaho's senate, fresh from an unsuccessful battle against Governor Clark's policy of liberal liquor regulations, today awaited a fight to override the executive's veto of a bill to outlaw pin-ball games and similar mechanical, semi-gambling devices.

The veto message was read shortly before noon. Boise county Senator R. W. Whitten, Republican leader, then moved that the message be made a special order of business late this afternoon to permit adequate study of Clark's objections.

Both Bruce Blake, Clearwater, sponsor of the measure, and Whitten indicated they would move to override the veto.

In his message, which was brief, the governor said he did not believe in a multiplicity of ineffective laws.

"When we accept without question the workings of the stock market, Main street betting boards on the game of elections and athletic games, raffles and bridge prizes, we cannot expect to curb the gambling instinct by merely designating pinball, marble games and dice, as gambling," he said.

"To classify these games as gambling would mean that they would be moved into back rooms while games of other names would take their places."

COUNTY CLINICS PROVE POPULAR

Many Mothers Are Taking Examinations Under Health Unit

So great is the response being given the infant-children and maternal health clinics being held alternately at Murtaugh and Kimberley that Dr. J. M. Davis, physician in charge, is unable to meet the demand despite the fact he is devoting considerable more time to the work than was at first thought necessary. Dr. J. W. Hawkins, director of the Twin Falls county health unit, said today.

At the present time an active demand is present in the city of Twin Falls for the establishment of similar clinics. Dr. Hawkins said, but whether or not one will be established here depends almost entirely on forthcoming state appropriations.

Alternate Clinics

The clinics alternate between the two towns, being in the form of a maternal clinic one week and one for infants and children the next. The next clinic, for infants and children, will be held Wednesday, March 3, at the Murtaugh school building.

Complete records are kept of each child examination given, and a check on individual development is made as well as a complete physical examination. The same service is given free of charge to women, before and after the birth of their child. This includes a more detailed history of pregnancy and allied conditions.

Aided by Nurse

Dr. Davis is being assisted by Mary Ann Reber, public health nurse working out of the local health unit. She also holds special nursing classes and makes private home visits.

The present series at the two towns will be carried on indefinitely, Dr. Hawkins said today.

BUYERS SEEK TO VOID FARM SALE

Twin Falls Couple Informs Court Ex-Owners Made False Claims

Claiming the farm land they bought is not as productive as represented and has considerable infestation of noxious weeds, John S. Brassfield and Mrs. Ethel Brassfield had filed suit in district court today asking that the purchase contract be voided and that $2,919.16 be returned to them.

The suit was directed against Robert H. Schuster and Mrs. Mary Alice Schuster.

The contract for purchase of the 40-acre farm southeast of Twin Falls called for $5,000 in $25 monthly payments. Funds for which return is asked were paid on the buying price and on improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Brassfield informed the court that the Schusters asserted the farm land was productive and had only minor infestation of morning glories. Instead, the complaints said, the farm showed losses of $163.15 last year and $221.37 in 1935. They claim the soil was depleted instead of highly-bearing, six acres showed seepage, 20 1/2 Canadian thistle and five show morning glories. The purchase contract, according to the claimants, was executed Feb. 22, 1935, when snow still covered the land involved.

Chapman and Chapman are counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Brassfield.

AUTOPSY CALLED IN ACTOR DEATH

Coroner Will Investigate in Sudden Collapse of Sir Guy Standing

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—The coroner's office ordered an autopsy performed today on the body of Sir Guy Standing, elderly English actor of stage and screen, who dropped dead yesterday in a Hollywood garage. A heart attack was believed the cause of death.

The 63-year-old actor was stricken as he called at the garage for his motor car. An attendant asked him how he felt.

"Excellent," Sir Guy said. "In fact, I never felt better in my whole life."

A moment later he collapsed. He was dead when an ambulance brought him to the Hollywood receiving hospital.

Although he had been in good health, studio friends recalled that he had complained of severe pains ever since he was bitten by a black widow spider more than a year ago while working with "The Bengal Lancers" company in location. The pains recurred from time to time and friends thought it likely that the seizures weakened his heart.

DEAN CHOSEN ON AIR MEET STAFF

Named by Governor as One Of Committeemen for Big Session

Appointment of Lionel Dean of Twin Falls, a transport pilot, to serve on a special committee in connection with the Northwest Aviation planning council meet at Boise June 17, 18 and 19, was announced here today upon receipt of a communication from Gov. Barzilla Clark, who made the appointment.

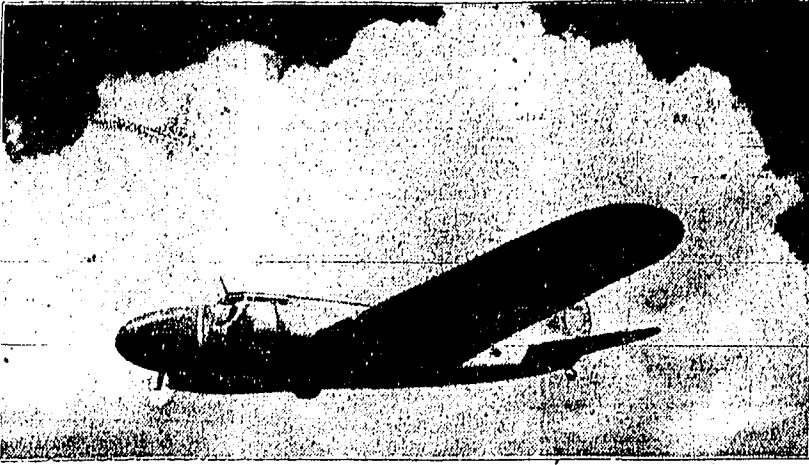

Dean, long a figure in local aviation circles, will assist in preparing the program, welcoming the guests, and publicizing the event, which will attract fliers from all over the United States.

Attending the meeting will be scores of nationally known figures as well as high government officials connected with the advancement of airports and aviation.

It will be held for the purpose of further developing aviation in the four northwest states and Alaska and will feature demonstrations by mass flight army bombers and pursuit ships.

Aviation and South Central Idaho

Will Twin Falls Be Next Stop for Ships Like This?

If present plans of Mayor Duncan McD. Johnston, Chamber of Commerce members and others interested in aviation materialize, planes like the United Airlines ship pictured above will operate in and out of the local airport, carrying passengers and mail. At the present time ships like the above may be seen plying the air over this city en route to Boise or Salt Lake City.

Mayor Plans Bid For Air Service In Near Future

Immediately following the completion of extensive repairs and modernization of the local flying field, efforts will be made through the federal government and officials of the United Airlines to establish air mail and passenger service in and out of Twin Falls, Mayor Duncan McD. Johnston said today.

At the present time a bill is pending in the state senate, probably to be acted upon today, whereby the city would be given a 99-year lease on 460 acres of state-owned ground on the site of the present airport. If the bill fails, it is expected the land will be bought or leased by the Chamber of Commerce in anticipation of the improvement program.

Improvements will be made to the local field just as soon as the allocation is received by the WPA at Boise and as soon as assignments are made, the mayor said today.

Improvements would consist of re-grading the field and construction of new runways, as well as installation of border light and a beacon for night flights, the mayor points out.

"Interest in aviation in Twin Falls is at its highest peak since man first learned to fly," Johnston said. "Many local persons will purchase private planes as soon as the field work is completed and strong efforts will be made to secure United Airlines service for airmail, express and passengers.

Ideally Located

"The city is ideally located for sportsmen who wish to fly to Sun Valley and who are looking for a good field and place to house their planes while they visit the resort. When the program is complete the facilities they desire can be furnished them," the mayor said.

Johnston pointed out that every week he receives inquiries from local citizens and persons in surrounding towns as to equipment to be found in Twin Falls. Many, he said, stated they would purchase planes as soon as adequate housing facilities and the modern airport is completed.

Flight Tests Set

Glen W. Neel, inspector of the department of aeronautics with headquarters in Portland, will arrive in Twin Falls March 13 to conduct flying examinations and inspect local planes. It is announced today.

Neel is well known in this locality and has complete charge of flight tests and plane inspections. It is expected several local fliers who wish to obtain their first license or those in the higher brackets, will take tests at that time.

Neel travels entirely by plane, flying one of the best equipped of the smaller ships to be found in this section of the United States.

Local Field Ideal

Belief that the Twin Falls airport will be one of the most widely used in the state, after completion of extensive improvements slated for this spring and summer, was voiced here today by Lionel Dean, local transport pilot.

"The site of the local field is ideal for flying," Dean said today, "and completion of the improvements scheduled will see more people than ever flying in this vicinity."

Opinions along the same line were voiced by W. H. "Pete" Hill, transport pilot who gave Charles A. Lindbergh his first flying lessons, and W. H. "Wild Bill" Weber, pilot and owner of a local ship, now being rebuilt for spring and summer service. Weber and Hill will probably be associated in the establishment of Twin Falls' first flying school.

Rebuilding Plane

Rebuilding of the Curtiss-Wright Junior "pusher" type training plane belonging to W. Grant Kilbourne of Twin Falls, is rapidly nearing completion at Dean's shop in the city.

The plane will see service off the local field for both pleasure flights and student training service. The ship is powered with a 45 horsepower, three-cylinder motor, and is a monoplane.

It is noted as one of the more inexpensive type planes which find favor among private fliers.

Some of his most treasured shots are those of bull-fighting, a sport for which he was originally intended to follow by tradition. His father, Francisco Alonso, is a retired matador and his grandfather and great-grandfather followed the profession.

When Roland gets time off in Hollywood, he visits with his father on a ranch near San Diego. The actor, originally Luis Antonio Damasco de Alonso, left Mexico during his family during a revolution. After living in El Paso, Tex., Roland came to Hollywood a dozen years ago hoping to get a start in pictures.

His first day's work was that of an extra in Priscilla Dean's picture, "Under Two Flags," at Universal. His career developed rapidly until he started on a travel tour two years ago after having played leads with Mae West in "She Done Him Wrong," Claire Trevor in "Elmer Norton," and Mona Barrie in two pictures.

The Mexican actor returned to Hollywood to play in "Midnight Taxi" for 20th Century-Fox. During his travels, he built up an extensive collection of rare phonograph records of Chinese, Japanese, Hindu, Persian, Arabian and Turkish music. He now has more than 3,000 records.

"Luckies have been my cigarette for five years now. I rate them a 4 star cigarette. They're always good to the throat, and taste so much better than other cigarettes that it seems to me this 'Toasting' process is a swell idea. Yes, a light smoke like Luckies rates aces high with both my throat and taste."

APPEARING IN THE NEW COLUMBIA PICTURE, "WHEN YOU'RE IN LOVE"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Grant verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

GIANT WARSHIP IN MODEL FORM

13 Months' Work Required to Build 16-Foot Replica Of U. S. S. Ranger

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP)—After 13 months of work, a 16-foot model of the U. S. S. Ranger, constructed for the U. S. Navy according to plans and specifications of the original aircraft carrier, has been placed on display here by its creator, Frederick A. Craven, nationally famous model ship builder.

Weighing 2,000 pounds, the miniature ship now is to be inspected by officials of the navy department after which it will be sent to Washington to be placed on permanent display in the Navy Building along with other reproductions of U. S. fighting craft.

Model U. S. S. Mississippi. Its completion brought Craven the distinction of having created more models for the navy department than any other builder. He has constructed four in all, the other three being the battleship Mississippi, the destroyer Farragut and the heavy cruiser New Orleans.

Craven said construction of the Ranger was the biggest model ship assignment he had yet completed. Magnitude of the task is revealed in the fact that the model is built on a scale of one-quarter inch to a foot and the original ship is 765 feet in length, 88 feet at the beam and rises 80 feet from keel to deck. Complete with rope ladders, machine guns, auxiliary craft, airplanes, anti-aircraft guns, riding lights, searchlights, and the bridge and superstructure, the model is a faithful reproduction of the original floating fortress and navy aerial base at sea.

A striking feature of the model is the fleet of aircraft on the deck. The tiny planes, 36 in all, are equipped with machine guns and are complete even to the bombs racked beneath wings and cock-

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Be careful, mothers, about all the favors in a family traveling a one-way road—toward the children, that is.

Don't be one of those who in later years, goes off into a quiet corner and cries bitter tears of disillusionment. If you do, people will only say you are neurotic. And the children, not suspecting the cause of your hurt, will be the last ones to sympathize. They won't understand perhaps, until their children, in turn, are grown, and they too seek corners to grieve in.

Gratitude of children is, of course, sometimes a matter of pure goodness of spirit, but mostly it is a result of careful training and preparation.

But ah, you say, "I never want any reward for what I do for my children. I do it because I love them. I don't expect thanks from a child."

Oh, don't you? Maybe not now, in so many words. But as the years travel and these little folk grow into men and women, most mothers crave some appreciation for the work and sacrifice lavished without thought of self in the not-so-far past.

Teach children to give you things, to do things for you, and to deny themselves once in so often, for your sake, just as you would teach them industry or honesty. The ratio of what you do for them and what they do for you is important. Don't think that a tiny gift for a small effort to help once a month just too touching for words. It is, really, but try to school yourself to expect more. Just enough to instill a habit.

If it sounds selfish or mercenary, comfort yourself with this thought: It is one of the kindest things you can do for your John or your Mary.

Avoid Bargaining. Many children, it is true, are put to too great a strain of responsibility, and more is expected of them than they can happily give. Some children are living in too constant self-denial. And worst of all, still more are small slaves of the dreadful plea, "Do it for my sake, John."

But sensible mothers avoid these things. They strike a steadier balance in the home life, and co-operation and sympathy underlie all family relations. Except in this one thing that I speak of, they themselves have a tendency to lavish on the children without instilling at the same time some idea of return, of obligation, and appreciation.

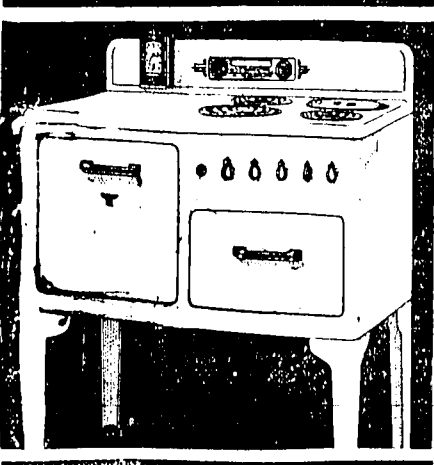

No, it would be ruinous to say, "I'll do this for you if you'll do that for me." No bargaining. Indeed, it is so subtle a matter that each will have to solve her problem alone. Someday, then, she'll thank herself, when with all other interests gone, her children will remain more than a remnant of gratitude, and remember, and thank her for all she has done.

WHERE REFORM IS NEEDED

While the country has its eyes on the general subject of court reform, it might be a sound idea to forget all about the federal judiciary and concentrate for a while on the courts nearer home.

They vary, of course, from state to state. But the most obvious thing about them is that most of them have a striking resemblance to the mills of the gods, in that they grind exceedingly slow.

Most states elect their judges, thereby making certain that the average occupant of the bench will be a time-serving politician rather than a learned jurist.

It is a tangle in which the rich litigant has every conceivable advantage over the poor one. The man who is equipped with a smart or a politically influential lawyer has every advantage over the man who is not.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the mysterious disappearance of BOLITHO BLANE, British banker, from the yacht of CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE, is principal competitor in world sports. Detective Officer KETTERING runs into a mass of conflicting clues.

Each of the ship's passengers appear involved in some manner. These include LADY WELBY, her daughter and son-in-law, REGINALD and MISS JOCELYN; COUNT POSODINI, the BISHOP OF BUDE and INOSTIKE HAYARILL. Only Blane's secretary, NICHOLAS STODART, appears above suspicion since he was in the ship's lounge all during the period in which the crime obviously was committed.

CHAPTER XVII

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S SECOND EXAMINATION OF MISS FERRI ROCKSAVAGE.

K: Good morning, Miss Rocksavage. F. R.: Good morning. K: Sorry to trouble you again but there's just a little difference of opinion between Mr. Jocelyn and myself as to what time you came down from the top deck on the evening of Blane's death. He says it was 7:30 and you say it was 7:15. Can you clear that up for me?

K: I see, and you did not see Mr. Jocelyn again after, say, 7:30 at the latest, until you reached the lounge at 8:40? F. R.: Why do you ask that? K: Well, I'm just going to let you in on something, Miss Rocksavage, which I want you to keep to yourself. It's not your movements that I'm interested in but Mr. Jocelyn's.

F. R.: You don't think... K: I don't know, Miss Rocksavage, but unless he can bring somebody forward to vouch for what he was up to between 7:30 and 8:10 things aren't going to look too good for him.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF MISS ROCKSAVAGE'S MAID, NELLIE ORDE.

K: Come in. Don't look so scared now. I'm not going to bite you. Sit down kid. O: Oh, I'm not scared. K: That's the way. Now, you're Miss Rocksavage's maid, aren't you? D'you help her to dress every evening? O: Yes. K: Did you help her the night that Blane got his? O: Yes. K: How long were you with her? O: She rang for me about ten after eight and we weren't through till near a quarter of nine. K: How'd you find her when you came along? O: All right. She's always cheerful. I'll give her that. She made me hustle though, getting her out of her dress. K: That so. How was the cabin? O: Just like any cabin always is. K: Can it. You know what I mean. Was it all tidy, or did it look as though she'd had a party there? O: If she'd had ten parties I wouldn't be telling you. I like Miss Ferri and I like my job. K: I get you. Maybe you wouldn't object to a party yourself some time? (NOTES CONCLUDED ON THIS AS HAVING NO FURTHER REFERENCE TO CASE.)

TION OF MR. CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE.

K: Good morning, Mr. Rocksavage. R: Morning, Mr. Kettering. K: What's the latest quotation for Argus Suds? R: Eh? Oh, they opened at 13 1/2 this morning, but why the question?

K: I was just thinking what a fine break it is for you that Blane should have faded out just when he did.

R: Only that you must be picking up those Argus shares by the bucket full and making a fine thing out of it. That's all, Mr. Rocksavage.

R: Now look here, what are you insinuating? K: I'm not insinuating anything. I'm only voicing what is quite apparent to anybody who knows anything of your financial situation during the past few weeks. You were up against it Mr. Rocksavage. Up against it pretty badly until Blane's death, but once that happened it was easy enough for you to get all the financial backing you needed and you're picking up Blane's shares as hard as you can, so that before you're much older you'll have control of his companies as well as your own. That will make you the unchallenged king of the soap market with a secure future. It's a bit unfortunate though that Blane should have died on your yacht.

R: Everything you say is perfectly true. I admit that, as you would see it, I had a strong motive for putting Blane out of the way, but very fortunately the facts of the case place me absolutely beyond suspicion. I did not leave the lounge until ten past eight, so how could I possibly have murdered a man, disposed of his body, and changed for dinner—all in twenty minutes?

K: Twenty-five, Mr. Rocksavage. You didn't get back to the lounge until 8:35 and I hear you are an expert quick-change artist. I've just been talking to Mr. Jocelyn. He tells me that you wagered Count Posodini a hundred dollars that you would change in under four minutes on the night before Blane's death, and that you won your bet. If you did that the night Blane died it would have left you a full 20 minutes to commit this crime and clear up afterwards.

R: So Jocelyn said that did he, but what a minute, how d'you know that he didn't do this job? I passed him in the passage, still unchanged, at ten past eight when I went down to change myself. (To Be Continued)

REJOICING

WASHINGTON — The capitol dome was lited two inches by the sigh of relief from congressional politicians at the departure of Chairman Winant of the social security board. There has not been such silent enthusiasm among the politicians since Prof. Tugwell left for Wall Street.

Mr. Winant may not choose to say so, but it was an updraft from this same source which lifted him out of his seat here and blew him back to New Hampshire.

It seems Mr. Winant had the naive notion he could appoint his own men for merit in the key positions of his new board, and regardless of the people's senators. If he had just disregarded the ordinary senators and representatives, he might have had a comfortable and long existence in the new order, but he made the unpardonable mistake of including in his disregard the people's senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. Joe Guffey. He was even rude to the people's choices on the telephone, telling them to go to the most remote places, etc.

Consequently, his nomination has languished in the senate finance committee since Jan. 8, when it was submitted by President Roosevelt. There is reason to believe it would have languished there until Mr. Guffey dies or ascends into heaven, which, presumably will not be soon.

SPOT

Mr. Winant is one of those independent cusses, a species which is practically extinct in Washington. Only a few other government officials have independent means and temperament sufficient to sustain them in case they lose their jobs here. Another notable example is Chairman Eccles of federal reserve. He, too, will walk out and return to his Rocky mountain financial interests any time the air becomes too close for comfort.

Those who were near Winant suggest that Mr. Roosevelt might have gone to bat for him in his misunderstandings with the senators, except that this happens to be a very bad time for it.

The President is known to have backed some other government officials in their patronage tussles with senators, but just now he is trying to beg, borrow or force every possible vote in the senate for his court repacking program. He cannot afford to fight with august senators.

Apparently all that could be safely done for Winant was to give him a presidential letter address. "Dear Gull," thereby making him a member of that great fraternity of the "dear dash" boys who, upon their departure from the new order, have received familiar notes of gratitude from the President.

There is some talk of holding a national convention of the D. D.s, now boasting such names as "Ray," "Hugh," "Red," "Gill," and a dozen others.

Note—This interpretation of the Winant resignation is being disputed by a mass of rumors to the effect that Winant's job was too heavy, that his health was suffering, that the Republicans were reforming because he belted Roosevelt in the last campaign, etc. etc. but his work, health and politics would not have proved fatal, were it not for his senatorial patronage difficulties.

15 YEARS AGO—

FEB. 25, 1922 That all standard fruits are in fine condition, was the statement of J. A. Waters, fruit expert, this morning. There may be a light crop of early cherries, apricots and peaches, while late cherries are in fine condition, Mr. Waters says.

After the intense cold in January Mr. Waters believes that the peach crop would be an utter failure. He says, however, that he now is of the opinion that weak buds which under ordinary circumstances would not bloom are alive and that the trees may push these out with the vitality which would ordinarily be used in developing the stronger buds, so that something near a full crop may be raised provided these escape the later frosts.

27 YEARS AGO—

Feb. 25, 1910 Leonard Fowler, journalist, novelist, and special writer for the New York World, is planning to visit Twin Falls as a guest of LeRoy Benson, well known in this city as a journalist, investor, and Twin Falls booster in general. By a chance meeting in Pocatello a few days ago the two men renewed an old friendship and it was at this time that Mr. Fowler was persuaded to visit Twin Falls on his next tour of the west.

As a journalist and writer, Mr. Fowler has done much for the exploitation of Washington and Oregon, where the phrase coined by him, "where dollars grow on trees," has been used to such good advantage in the advertisement of the Wenatchee valley, and to secure his interest in Twin Falls and the adjacent irrigated tract, would be a service of inestimable value to southern Idaho, and this city in particular.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

It is common for an individual suddenly to bend over double with a gripping pain in his midriff, assert that it must be from "something he ate," and then shake his head and say that he suffers from ptomaine poisoning.

Actually, most of the cases of so-called ptomaine poisoning represent infection with germs principally of the paratyphoid type. These germs have been isolated from crab meat, oysters, ice cream, sausage, corn beef hash, and various other foods. Contamination usually is caused by the soiled fingers of food handlers.

In typical cases, the person concerned is seized with pains about three hours after eating the contaminated food. There are pains in the abdomen and limbs, severe diarrhea and vomiting, and sometimes high fever.

Collapse may follow. The symptoms usually subside quickly if the person is put at once to rest and the digestive tract cleared of its contents.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below.

1. May we write letters to very good friends on the type-writer? 2. Should a woman sign a letter "Miss Jane Ford"? 3. Is it correct to send engraved cards to thank friends who have sent flowers or personal notes to a bereaved person?

4. In a friendly letter may the date be written in the lower left hand corner? 5. Is it more formal to begin a letter with "My Dear Mr. White," than "Dear Mr. White"? What would you do if—

You were choosing an ending to a letter you have written to a newly made friend? Use— (a) Lovingly? (b) Sincerely? (c) Yours truly?

Answers 1. Yes, but always write social notes in longhand. 2. No, use "Miss Jane Ford" if necessary. 3. No, only a short note is necessary but it should be personal. 4. Yes, but it is unnecessary to include the year. 5. Yes. Best "What Would You Do" solution—(c).

What's Doing at SUN VALLEY

(By Evening Times Special Correspondent)

NO EMPLOYEES' DORMITORY PROJECTED AT SUN VALLEY

SUN VALLEY, Feb. 25 (Special)—There will not be any new dormitory for Sun Valley employees erected here. Despite local rumor, that much is certain and really it is the only certainty with regard to the whole building probability of this coming spring. Some papers have been dribbling out rumors with a dash of the factual for over a week, but actually no authoritative information has as yet been released, nor will it be until the board of the Union Pacific has met with the architects and contractors the first of this week.

Guest turnover has been appalling lately, practically a whole lodge full of different guests every day. And enthusiasm is running to a high pitch regarding the coming ski-races to be held March 13 and 14. The proposed course is over three and a half miles long, down the side of Old Baldy mountain, two thirds of the course angles through spasmodic growths of timber, yet authorities expect the time for the course to be less than four minutes.

Count Felix Schaffgotsch today said that the course was superb and added that a large number of the invited contestants had already responded in the affirmative.

A large group struggled out through four miles of very deep snow to get an idea of the proposed course. Among the party was one and a handkerchief shower presented Mrs. R. H. Schuster, who is leaving shortly. A guest was Mrs. Frank Armga.

Robert Pabst of Milwaukee, a man who makes more beer than he can drink, and incidentally that illustrious young gentleman happens to be more delightfully inclined to skiing "stripped to the waist" than any other of the visiting citizens, and considering that the hirsute development is very sparse over the region of his brethren, he is a very desirable exponent of our well known sloth.

We in company with another individual known as Gene McAllister on the rocks, received an unprecedented thrill this afternoon when we took a toboggan for the first time down the face of Puster mountain from top to bottom a distance of about a mile and a half. For about half way, the side of the mountain resembles the interior of a saucer stood on edge, and where ski-trails criss-crossed, we came straight down. Snow sprayed up on all sides for all the world like a surf-board effect, and the whole performance presented an experience very difficult to describe adequately, the only drawback being that no one would believe us when we told of our feat.

And now has come the influx of 40 more Paramount men, minor players and extras the last large contingent scheduled. Among them is Dick Durkas of Notre Dame football fame. Robert Young was feted with a very successful dinner party and dance this week, the occasion being his 28th birthday. A vast array of presents ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous, as any of the puckish Paramount pranksters present there, can assure you.

Glacier Speed May Be Caused By Earthquake

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—Possibility that a local earthquake caused the fast, mile-a-minute movement of the Black Rapids glacier near here, was being investigated by scientists today.

This possibility was expressed by Ernest Patty, University of Alaska geologist.

Patty expressed the opinion that "if the Black Rapids glacier has advanced as rapidly as has been reported by the people of that region, this record-breaking speed is due either to the impetus of a local earthquake or to the record snowfall of this winter."

The scientist believed that "successive snowfalls in the years to come could start other glaciers in the Alaskan range moving down the slopes" but doubted that there was anything to indicate that another glacier or ice age was coming in Alaska.

The Black Rapids glacier has been moving down its valley along a three-mile front with a 100-foot high wall of ice.

BRITAIN TRAINS HIGHWAY POLICE

New System Will Be Used To Curb Dangerous Driving

LONDON (U.P.)—Great Britain's road patrols are to be made the most highly skilled force of police in the world.

By a new system of training, they will become expert in handling cases of dangerous driving and at the same time create better feeling between police and well-behaved motorists. So far, the experiments in new methods are confined to the metropolitan area, but other forces will quickly follow London's lead if the expected results are obtained.

Police chiefs for some time past have been greatly perturbed by the increase in road accidents and by the growing evidence that mobile police and motorists are not co-operating as much as authorities would like. They have heard suggestions that their patrols tend to "chivy" drivers for minor offenses, and they admit that police and public did not see eye to eye.

The metropolitan police commissioner, Sir Philip Game, has been examining the problem for several months. It is realized that there can be no substantial decrease in the number of accidents until the motorist and the sensible policeman, who are in a majority, pool their efforts.

To enforce the law in such instances as exceeding the speed limit, over-running traffic signals, inadequate brakes, disregarding pedestrian crossings and driving without lights is easy. Dangerous and careless drivers are more difficult. Every case is hotly contested, and conclusive evidence is difficult to produce.

A body of highly skilled men admittedly is needed to undertake the complicated task of dealing with these cases. Officers must be highly skilled drivers themselves, recognized as such by the public and the magistrates. They must be trained in the rapid recognition of dangerous or careless behavior on the part of motorists.

Probable Setting for Duke's Wedding

Interest of the world will center on the English church in Vienna, outside and inside views of which are shown above. If Edward, duke of Windsor, decides to marry Mrs. Walls Simpson there when her divorce decree becomes final, probably in April. Friends believe the ceremony will take place there and that Rev. C. H. D. Grimes, inset, will read the marriage vows. He is chaplain of the British legation in Vienna.

ALABAMA JOINS U. S. WET RANKS

Kansas Remains Only Bone Dry State in Union After March 10

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U.P.)—On March 10, Alabama—or at least some counties in the state—will join the ranks of legally wet regions—ending a 22-year era of prohibition and leaving only one other state in the union, Kansas, legally bone dry.

For years the prohibition question has seethed in Alabama politics. Ratifying repeal of the Federal prohibition law, the state's voters in a referendum in 1935 refused, by 3,000 votes, to repeal the state's bone dry laws.

When the legislature met in Montgomery for regular or special sessions the liquor question was raised, brushed up and made one of the paramount issues. Repeal was defeated by narrow margins in repeated sessions.

After astute jockeying, the second special session of the 1935 legislature passed a bill repealing the state's laws in counties voting wet. Gov. Bibb Graves objected, but both houses promptly overrode his objection to the local option provision of the bill and it was enacted Feb. 7, contingent on the statewide referendum set for March 10.

In the last election 15 counties voted wet. The population was enough in these counties almost to offset the rural dry vote, but not quite. Now, with wets and dries both voting partisan forecasts for the referendum, it appears that perhaps a dozen counties—containing the state's larger towns—will vote wet. Others probably will remain dry.

Famous House Sold

HONOLULU (U.P.)—Known as the "most widely-traveled home in America," the von Holt-Mackintosh residence has changed hands again. The house was built nearly a century ago in Salem, Mass., dismantled, taken around the Horn to China, then shipped to Hawaii aboard a small sailing vessel.

Pickpockets Routed

WARSAW, Ind. (U.P.)—Gypsies stopped Will Bibler and attempted to pick his pocket. He struck out, knocking one gypsy woman unconscious. Unperturbed, the companions of the stunned woman placed her in an auto and drove on.

BILL DEMANDS COURTESY

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (U.P.)—California proposes to make the famous London Bobbie look after his laurels for courtesy. An act now before the state legislature requires all policemen to be polite or to attend school and learn how to be.

ROUGE INTERESTS UNIVERSITY MEN

100 Students at Denver School Require Co-Eds Have "Paint Job"

DENVER (U.P.)—Denver university's co-eds aren't sure whether they should be insured, encouraged, discouraged or unimpressed following the verdict of 100 men students of the school of commerce that the two leading factors required in their dates were "good paint jobs" and the ability to take a second drink.

The results of the poll which co-eds conducted in connection with a "charm school" course were amazing to some students. Only one-fifth of the men admitted that they would permit the girl decide what she desired to do. The men, as a whole, preferred to trade dances rather than spend the entire evening dancing with one girl. They voiced no criticism of the type of dancing indulged in by the co-eds, but only nine wanted to dance the full time with their date.

Johnny was listed as a strong attraction. The "chugging vine," social butterfly, sophisticated and angelic types were rated far down the scale, but the intellectual type was accorded high status.

The average escort was not for or against a girl smoking. Despite the strong advocacy of cosmetic perfection, the men insisted that all beauty treatments intended to increase the allure of the fairer sex be conducted away from the public eye.

HAILEY STAGES MUSICAL REVUE

HAILEY, Feb. 25 (Special)—Students of Hailey high school presented a musical revue which was something new for the city of Hailey. For the first time in Hailey, the audience saw an eight-piece stage band that appeared in tuxedos and formal, three complete dance choruses with elaborate costumes, a minstrel male chorus, any number of specialties, ultra-modern stage settings, lighting effects, all in one big show. This show, called "Just for Fun" was directed by W. C. Cherrington of the English department. The production was complete in every detail, even to uniformed usherettes and souvenir programs.

Another thing that made the show unusual was the crowds that attended. The show was a benefit to buy new satin basketball suits for both high school basketball squads, and much advertising was done to help make it a success. When the final financial check-up was made, it was found that the show had taken in enough money to pay all of the large cost of production and to pay the entire cost of the suits for the two complete squads. The new suits have already arrived, and will be used by the teams in the Wood river valley tournament this week.

NEW METHOD TO BATTLE DISEASE

Made-to-Measure Medicine Possible Since Success Of Prontosil

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—A "made to measure medicine" method of fighting disease, as revolutionary as discovery of anti-toxins, is believed possible since the success of the drug prontosil.

"Just as prontosil aids in septic sore throat, so new drugs might be built to fit all sorts of bacterial diseases just as a tailor fits clothes to a person," Dr. E. C. Czarnetzki explained. "But first we must find out just how prontosil works."

Prontosil was used to aid Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., when he suffered from a streptococcal sore throat. It is considered effective in some cases of erysipelas, scarlet fever, childbirth fever, blood poisoning and certain types of pneumonia, medical men say.

Conduct University Research Drs. Czarnetzki and D. Sargeant Pepper, research scientists at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, explained the "tailor-made drug" theory.

"We know that in some mysterious way prontosil poisons the bacteria by joining chemically with them," Dr. Czarnetzki continued. "With slight changes in the chemical formula of prontosil we can probably make in the laboratory chemical combinations, similar to prontosil which will fit the 'Achilles heel' of other forms of bacteria—those causing meningitis, for example."

When a physician talks about a "specific drug," he means a medicine which will kill the microbes causing disease without injuring the human body. Only three specifics are known: quinine, which kills the animal parasites causing malaria; arphenamine, or "806," which kills the spirochetes of syphilis; and now prontosil, which destroys streptococcal bacteria.

Hospitals Are Cooperating Dr. Pepper revealed to the United Press the results of experiments with prontosil among patients of University hospital and other cooperating Pennsylvania hospitals. The results were among the first to be made public in the United States.

"Prontosil in its present form is no cure-all for streptococcal diseases," he said, "but we have found a number of cases where it seemed to be clearly helpful. Apparently it must be used early to be most effective. And I am also convinced that it is harmless if properly used, although it sometimes produces temporary nausea."

Curiously, Dr. Pepper said, one patient will respond readily, while another with the same disease shows no improvement. He and Dr. Czarnetzki are planning experiments with rabbits to find out whether the difference is due to the various strains of streptococcal bacteria.

Prontosil is a reddish-brown liquid, something like tincture of iodine. In pill form it leaves a slightly bitter taste in the mouth.

PAYROLLS SHOW HUGE INCREASES

Rise of 9 Billion Over Low Mark of 1933 is Registered

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Workers received approximately 63 per cent of the nation's estimated total income of $60,000,000,000 last year, the department of commerce has reported. Labor income climbed from $38,500,000,000 in 1933 to $53,500,000,000 last year, an increase of approximately 38 per cent. National income increased at approximately the same rate from the 1933 low of $45,000,000,000.

Labor income is defined in the report published in the Consumers Guide as income from salaries and wages of all employees. It includes wages paid to unskilled workers and to skilled craftsmen, and salaries paid to office personnel.

Depth Reached in 1933 The survey, entitled "who gets the national income?" showed national earnings hit a peak of $79,000,000,000 in 1929 and then dropped to $45,000,000,000 at the depth of the depression in 1933. About 40 per cent of that loss has been recovered. All types of incomes—except from interest payments—suffered major slashes during the depression. All incomes—except interest payments—have shown substantial recovery in the past three years.

Interest payments climbed four points in 1936, then dropped to 13 points below the 1929 in 1935. The decline was attributed to lower interest rates generally prevailing since the boom period.

Dividend Payments Recover Dividend payments suffered heaviest from the depression. Between 1929 and 1933 the decline was 83 per cent. About 30 per cent of that loss had been recovered at the end of 1935. Recovery is believed to have speeded up in 1936.

Proprietary payments—Incomes which partners of individual proprietors and self-employed individuals withdrew from their business in 1929 to $7,300,000,000. This increased to approximately $10,000,000,000 in 1935.

Rent and royalty recipients received $3,400,000,000 in 1929 and only $1,200,000,000 in 1933. In 1936 this type of income represented 4 per cent of the national income and in 1933 3 per cent. In 1935 it had increased to about $1,750,000,000.

W. C. McBride has gone to Oakley to visit Mrs. McBride and his son, Kit. He expects to return the latter part of this month.

Despite the condition of the roads which at present is not very favorable, the company truck driven by Jack Robertson, Aker's truck, driven by Mr. Aker himself, and the mail stage driven by James Clute have kept to their regular schedules. Several times a crew of men have been sent out to shovel the canyon road open but so far there has been little delay in the mail and supplies. The winter so far has been unusual in the fact that the thermometers have reached a new low, but there has been much less than the usual snowfall.

A dance was held Saturday night at the Commercial club to raise funds for the Red Cross chapter.

KUNKEL, HANSEN, READY FOR BOUT

Del Takes Battle From Floyd On Pocatello Card Last Night

Del Kunkel and Floyd Hansen, who headline the American Legion benefit card here on Saturday night, tangled in Pocatello last night, with Kunkel scoring two straight falls, but only after being aided by a fan from outside the ropes.

Kunkel had taken the first fall, then Hansen had Kunkel in a bad way a few minutes later when a spectator jumped inside the ring, and before he could be ejected, loosed Floyd's hold enough to release Kunkel. The Salt Lake grappler then went on to score a victory in 33 minutes. He had secured the first fall in one-half minute.

The semi-final match here will throw together Fred MacKenzie of Salt Lake City and Wally Thompson of Pueblo, Colo. The opener will feature Hy Sharmar of Salt Lake City and Tex Hager of Los Angeles in a one-fall match.

Ladies will be admitted free to the match, if accompanied by a man, according to a member of the Legion building committee, sponsor of the card, but will not be allowed a reserved seat. Tickets all sell for $7.10, whether reserved or not. To allow local business men to attend, the opening bout will not start until 9 o'clock.

BAER HEADS FOR ENGLISH FIGHTS

Former Champ to Take on British Empire Ace In London Bout

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Former Heavyweight Champion Max Baer, denied a license to fight in New York state, will depart on the liner Berengaria Wednesday to fight in England.

Max will be accompanied by his wife, Manager Arnel Hoffman, his brother, Buddy, and trainer, Izzy Klein. Also on the same boat will be Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, promoter, and Syd Hill, matchmaker, of Wembley stadium in London.

The Englishman deposited $22,500 in a New York bank and assumed all expenses for five of the Baer party. Max is scheduled to meet on April 15 the winner of the bout between Empire Champion Ben Pood and Tommy Farr, March 15. If he wins he was promised a match with Walter Neusel of Germany in May with a guarantee of $37,500.

Hoffman blamed Madison Square Garden Manager Jimmy Johnston for yesterday's wild scene at the New York boxing commission meeting when Baer stormed out refusing "to be for a license." Baer already had filled out an application for a license and turned it over to Johnston, Hoffman said.

Johnston was still screaming about the commission preventing a prospective $100,000 match between Baer and young Bob Pastor who stayed 10 rounds with Joe Louis last month.

Baer undoubtedly would have been issued a license if he had not gotten into an argument about Commissioner Bill Brown's protest. Both Chairman John J. Phelan and Commissioner D. Walker were in favor of giving the former champion another chance, but Brown dissented because of the "bad aroma" which prevailed after Baer's other New York appearances.

WINNERS ENTER FERRY TOURNEY

Hailey, Paul, Glenns Ferry And Castleford Hosts To Meets

South central Idaho's annual round of class B sub-district basketball was under way today with tournaments being staged at Glenns Ferry, Hailey, Paul and Castleford. The other class B district meet was held at Dietrich last week with Shoshone boys and girls winning championships.

Winners and runners-up in tournaments at Glenns Ferry, Paul and Castleford, along with Shoshone and the winner of the Hailey meet, will vie for honors in the annual district class B tournament to be played at Glenns Ferry Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Winning girls' teams in each of the five sub-districts will enter the district tournament at Buhl, March 11, 12 and 13.

Hansen, Hollister in Opener

The south side tourney at Castleford will be played on a round-robin basis for boys, with girls competing in a single-elimination tourney. The first session will open tonight at 7 o'clock when Hansen meets Hollister. Other games during the evening send Murtaugh against Hazelton and Eden against Castleford. Girls' teams entered in the meet from Eden, Murtaugh, Hazelton and Castleford will open play Friday afternoon.

The Paul tourney will be conducted on a round-robin basis for both boys and girls with all teams seeing action in morning, afternoon and evening sessions today. Aequia, Paul, Albion, Declo and Malta have entered both boys' and girls' teams while Heyburn is represented by a boys' team only.

Bliss Draws By

The Glenns Ferry tournament opens this afternoon with King Hill playing Hammett and Glenns Ferry mixing with Hagerman. Bliss boys drew a bye for first round play. The girls from Hagerman play Bliss in first round feminine play. Both meets are to be conducted on a double-elimination basis.

The Wood river tourney at Hailey opens tonight with Hailey playing Bellevue and Gannett meeting Carey. Hailey and Bellevue are the only schools to enter girls' teams. Both divisions will be conducted by double-elimination.

ALL-STAR TRACK MEET SCHEDULED

Plans Virtually Certain for Clash Between Stars of Big 10 and Coast

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—An all-star dual track meet between the Big Ten and Pacific Coast conferences at Los Angeles, June 26, was forecast as a virtual certainty today by an unofficial poll of western conference coaches.

So favorable was the immediate reaction to the proposal that tentative plans for staging the meet already were being mapped out. If the meet is a success, it was learned, it probably will be established as an annual fixture.

Meet sites would alternate between west coast and big ten territory. The competition would be the first ever attempted between two major college conferences.

There appeared to be no hindrance to the initial meet since the big ten will have its star performers on the coast for the annual national collegiate championships, June 18-19, at Los Angeles.

Participants would be selected on their showings in the two conferences, meets scheduled shortly before the national championships. First, second and third place winners in each event and a few other exceptional performers would be on the inter-sectional teams.

Big ten coaches were informed that any instructor qualifying two or more men will have his expenses paid so as many contestants as possible will be in familiar hands.

Carte, an all-around athlete, played center on the 1935 undefeated football team, and plays forward on this year's basketball quint that has run up a string of 10 consecutive wins.

STRIKES TO SPARE

WITH FRED STONE

Some very plain and fancy bowling took place in the Aces-Studebaker match (mostly plain), which was won by the Studebakers two out of three.

Bob McCracken took high honors for the three games with 541 and his second game of 201 was good for the high single. A double and a turkey his second game.

Fargo, at lead for the Motor boys, got one double in his last game. Five errors and four splits didn't improve his pin total.

Not a double for Ace Boone or Ted Emerick; in fact, Ted got exactly two strikes in all three of his games.

Brownie got a double in both his first and second games. He had plenty of trouble, and how.

Stone didn't look so hot on his spare shots. If he hadn't been fortunate in bunting his strikes, he'd have been out of luck.

George Buhler got a double in each of his games.

Ace Miller and Lee McCracken each got one double their second game.

WHEAT RECEIVES PRICE SET-BACK

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—Forecasts for beneficial rain and snow in the dry section of the winter wheat belt brought liquidation today, forcing prices down for net losses of more than a cent a bushel.
 At the close wheat was 14 to 1 1/2 cents lower, May $1.30 1/2, new corn 1/2 to 3/4 lower, May $1.05 1/2, old corn 1/2, cent lower to 1/4 higher, May $1.04, and oats 1/2 to 1/4 lower, May 46 cents.
 Corn prices weakened in sympathy with wheat, recording net losses of major fractions. Cash houses were principal sellers despite fairly good shipping sales and continued light bookings of corn to arrive from the country.
 Oats, rye and soybeans also recorded substantial losses for the day.

OFFICIAL BEATEN AT WATCH PLANT
 ELGIN, Ill., Feb. 25 (U.P.)—An Illinois Watch Case company official tried to break through the picket line around his strike-bound plant today and was knocked down by four or five union members.
 Seven or eight other pickets joined in punching the man, who said he was an assistant plant superintendent for the watch company. He would not give his name.
 Four Elgin policemen rushed to the gate and ordered the pickets to stop punching the official who was lying on the sidewalk.
 The fight stopped with the arrival of police and the assistant superintendent suffered only minor injuries. He did not get into the plant.

THE BULB OF THE CALIFORNIA SOAP-ROOT CAN BE USED AS A CAKE OF SOAP! EARLY-DAY INDIANS USED IT IN SHAMPOOING THEIR HAIR.

THE SEX OF BULLFROGS CAN BE DETERMINED BY THEIR EARS! THE MALES' EARS ARE LARGER.

OLD-TIME MAP MAKERS ADORNED THEIR MAPS WITH SKETCHES OF ELEPHANTS AND WHALES, IN ORDER TO FILL UP LARGE, BLANK SPACES OF UNKNOWN AREAS.

The soap root, a plant of the lily family, not only furnished the Indians with soap, but food as well. When cooked, it tastes much like potatoes. The Indians also caught fish with it. Mashed soap root thrown into a pool stupefied the fish and they floated to the surface.

SPOTTED FEVER VACCINE READY

Physicians Receive Available Supply From County Health Unit

Practically all available vaccine for Rocky Mountain spotted fever which has been received at the Twin Falls county health unit office, has been distributed among private physicians throughout the county, Dr. J. W. Hawkins, unit director, said today.

The vaccine was received from the laboratory of the U. S. public health service at Hamilton, Mont., and is distributed to physicians only. Since it is dispensed without charge to the physicians, their fee should be for administration only and should be as nominal as circumstances will permit. The service in Montana advises.

Ask Information
Physicians are also requested to furnish the director of the Montana service with as complete clinical history as is possible and, if feasible, send a blood sample taken during acute illness and again during early convalescence.

Both the degree and duration of protection vary widely, information on spotted fever, spread by ticks, indicates. Evidence suggests that full or nearly full protection is conferred against the milder strains of the disease and that a degree sufficient to ameliorate the symptoms substantially and assure recovery is the usual rule against highly virulent strains. It is declared possible that a considerable percentage of persons carry some degree of immunity over into at least the second season. However, it is impossible to distinguish such persons from those whose immunity is softer, therefore vaccination each year of all exposed persons is recommended by the U. S. health service. Successive year's vaccinations increase the degree of immunity in some individuals.

As a rule, physicians said, the vaccine causes only local symptoms of redness, swelling and itching. Occasionally there may be headache, slight fever, and general malaise for 24 to 48 hours. Occasional instances of urticarial rash with intense itching may follow, but such cases have been cleared up without serious consequences.

It was indicated today that the present season is the best in which to have the vaccinations made.

Beneficial Insects

BERKELEY, Cal. (U.P.)—The University of California has something to say about "bugology." It estimates that its collection of 300,000 specimens of beneficial insects is the second largest in the world, but even at that it is only 10 per cent of the entire number of types of beneficial insects in existence.

Public Forum

Contributions from readers welcomed. Letters should deal with matters of general interest. Matter should not extend to more than 500 words, and preferably should be confined to 300. No contributions considered unless signed, but initials will be used if specifically requested. All contributions should be addressed to Editor Idaho Evening Times and submitted through the mails.

LETTING DOWN THE BARS

Editor, Evening Times:
Mr. Harold L. Yeaman's article in the Forum stated, "the results of the recent election show that a vast majority of the American people are in sympathy with the program which President Roosevelt is attempting to enact into law."

To date, Mr. Roosevelt has not submitted to the people a single definite program for them either to endorse or reject.

According to recent press reports his proposed court action came as a surprise to leaders and members of his own party, senators, congressmen, members of that branch of our government whose duty it is to "enact" legislation.

In view of these facts Mr. Yeaman's observations seem presumptuous and overdrawn, but unwittingly or otherwise he put "the finger" on the real issue. He admits that Mr. Roosevelt is "attempting to enact into law," in other words, to legislate.

Mr. Roosevelt's legal authority as President is an executive and administrative capacity. Any attempt, on his part, to change our basic laws, to enact legislation or the assumption of authority necessary to do so is unconstitutional.

Mr. Roosevelt swore to "preserve, defend and protect the constitution." The belief of a great number of people is that proper regard for "due process of law" and not "jury packing" would come within the fulfillment of that oath.

Heretofore when legislation seemed necessary and appeared contrary to our basic law (the constitution) such proposed measures have been submitted to the states "and the people."

Any letting down the bars of the constitutional procedure, to permit Mr. Roosevelt to "enact" legislation, jeopardizes those particular rights which are yet vested in the people.

The intrinsic worth of our constitution is not its age, its particular wording or subsequent legislation enacted according to it, but that according to it the states and the people (no other authority) are the court of last resort and theirs alone the right and privilege of changing it.

An adverse decision of the supreme court can be overcome by resort to that court, the people, provided they wish such legislation.

Let's move forward using that heritage handed us by our forefathers, "legal process" and constitutional procedure.
