HOUSE APPROVES BILL TO SET UP STATE GAS SALE

Measure Okayed by Large Margin as Solons Pass "Buck"

UNICAMERAL ACT LOSES

Club Menacing Heads of Oil Syndicate is Plan of Thornton

BOISE, March 4 (UP)—Obviously passing the buck to get rid of a thorn in its side, Idaho's house of representatives today passed a bill by Thornton, Gooding, to set up the state in the business of retailing gasoline.

In good humor, the house approved the bill by a large margin. As the measure went to the senate to join more than 100 house proposals in a last-day legislative jam, Speaker Troy Smith remarked, "Will the gentleman from Gooding come to the desk and kiss it goodbye, because he may never see it again."

Considers Bill

The house paused to consider the gasoline bill along with a proposal for a single-house legislature sponsored by Coker, Lincoln Republican, after Thornton and Coker had threatened a filibuster unless their pet measures were advanced to head the calendar.

Also as a joke and with no debate except for Coker's explanation, 33 representatives voted for the unicameral legislature, but the measure fell short of a two-thirds majority required to submit a constitutional amendment to the electorate.

The irrepressible Gooding representative explained his gasoline measure as a "club to be held over the heads of the major oil companies to keep prices down."

Sets State in Business

The bill would empower a board composed of the governor, commissioner of agriculture and commissioner of public works to buy and sell gasoline, oils and lubricants when the prices of these commodities are "found to be unreasonable or excessive."

Setting down to serious business of its last day, the house prepared to consider the long list of educational appropriation and building construction bills and questions of raising revenue.

The senate slowly continued to pass in a routine manner remainder of 34 economy bloc-amended appropriation measures, hampered by filibuster tactics of Blake, Clearwater, who required full reading of each of the bills, some of them including many printed pages.

MADRID EXPECTS HUGE OFFENSIVE

18,000 Insurgents Join Reinforcements for Rebel Attack

WITH LOYALIST ARMY, MADRID FRONT, March 4 (UP)—Military circles said today that a large-scale offensive against Madrid was expected momentarily with the arrival of an estimated 18,000 insurgent reinforcements.

Fighting shifted suddenly from the south of Madrid to the north as the nationalist army, stopped on the Valencia road front after a day and night of battling, launched a surprise attack from El Pardo toward the El Pardo woods.

As they did so the Loyalist forces attacked in the University City area on the western side of the city, in another attempt to dislodge the insurgents from the clinical hospital. They failed and the insurgents were able to relieve the besieged nationalists for the third time in two weeks.

Fighting in the El Pardo sector continued throughout the night. Both sides rushed reinforcements from the south front.

PHILIPPINE HEAD VISITS WALLACE

WASHINGTON, March 4 (UP)—President Manuel L. Quezon, of the Philippine Commonwealth, visited Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today to urge liberalization of proposed sugar quota legislation with regard to benefit payments to accrue from federal excise taxes on sugar.

No provision is made in the administration sugar bill, now pending in congress, for the Philippines to share in benefit payments or to receive refund of the excise tax on Philippine sugar.

President Quezon recommended that the administration bill be amended to include the Philippines in the benefit payment provisions or to refund the excise tax to the Commonwealth government. He said he favored the latter.

Salesmen Scent Townsend Cash

Word that he had 200 "Townsend dollars" brought salesmen with vacuum cleaners, radios and even a farmer with a cow to the front porch of Henry Feltz, 78, shown above at his home in Eugene, Ore., surrounded by the agents. The money was to be spent as part of a Townsend experimental trial.

Oakley, Gooding Win First Games In Hoop Tourney

Jeromé and Twin Falls Lose at Class A Meet

Oakley and Gooding high school basketball teams captured initial victories here today as the 1937 district Class A tournament swung into action at the Twin Falls gymnasium.

Oakley conquered Jeromé in the inaugural clash, 36-14, and Gooding nosed out Twin Falls, 26-24, in the second game on the morning program.

Filer battled Rupert at 2 p. m. and Buhl tangled with Burley at 3 p. m. Gooding will oppose Oakley in the opener on the night program this evening at 8 p. m., and winners of the afternoon clashes will meet in the 9 p. m. encounter.

A crowded gym greeted both morning and afternoon programs, and a near capacity throng is expected to jam the stands for tonight's affairs. Hundreds of south central athletes and "rooters" brought a gala air to the city today as basketball took over the spotlight here for three days.

Twin Falls and Gooding opened the second game of the morning without demonstrating a great deal of power and during the initial stanza missed many shots. At the end of the first quarter, however, Harold Hutton of the Senators and Wayne Turner of the Bruins had each encountered a field goal and a free throw to deadlock the count at 3-all.

Gooding Spurts

Gooding came back strong in the second quarter when Vaughn started dropping long ones in from the center of the floor and at halftime a badly battered gang of Bruins left the floor trailing, 14 to 8. Twin Falls staged a brief rally in the third quarter and just as the count ended Art Tranner looped a long shot to bring Twin Falls within one point of the north siders, trailing 18 to 10.

The final stanza was a thriller. Maurice Hartuff, Twin Falls center, put the Bruins in the lead with a field goal, but Ned Bowler scored three points for Gooding to take (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

Japan to Ship Gold Bullion to United States

TOKYO, March 4 (UP)—The government has decided to ship gold valued at 80,000,000 yen ($14,250,000) to the United States to ensure maintenance of the present yen exchange rate in view of an anticipated increase in imports. It was announced today.

The gold is to be sent in three installments, the first of which consisting of 18,500,000 yen ($3,272,500) is to leave Kobe for San Francisco aboard the Anan Maru March 9. Dates for the other installments were not announced.

ROOSEVELT MAY SPEAK ON COURT PLANS TONIGHT

President Will Talk Over Nation-Wide Radio Hook-Up

DISPUTE AT STALEMATE

Opposition Asserts Program Is Blocked Despite FDR Moves

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

WASHINGTON, March 4 (UP)—President Roosevelt will address hundreds of Democratic dinners, and, indirectly, the nation tonight, on a national radio hook-up from 8:30 p. m. to 9 (MST). Opponents and supporters of his judiciary reorganization program expected him to disclose the administration's first strategically important move in the campaign to enlarge the supreme court.

His address was not expected to deal directly with the court issue but to lay the groundwork for the impending congressional battle.

Leaders on both sides admitted privately that the dispute was virtually at a stalemate at present.

Administration strategists hoped the President would take the lead in rallying support.

Would Block Moves

Opposition leaders asserted they had the court program blocked despite any move the President might make.

Following a White House visit by Vice President John Nance Garner and Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, the administration strategy appeared to be developing along definite lines.

The Pennsylvania house Democratic delegation of 27 members voted to support the President's plan as a unit. This appeared to be the start of a drive to strengthen administration congressional battle lines.

May Discuss Administration

The President was generally expected in his victory dinner speech to discuss the accomplishments and the objectives of his administration, in preparation for a latter call upon the nation to support the court.

THREE HELD FOR NEW YORK CRIME

State Assembles Evidence Against Candy Maker In Baby Death

NEW YORK, March 4 (UP)—The state assembled evidence today which it hoped would send Howard Magnusson, 26-year-old candy maker to the electric chair as the perpetrator of a criminal attack that killed four-year-old Joan Morvan.

Magnusson confessed his crime, police said, but later repudiated. His case will be submitted to the grand jury April 5.

Held in $100,000 bail each were the child's father, George Morvan, a house painter, and the cleaning-smoking woman with whom he lived, Mrs. Norma Gatto, Morvan's sister. Accused of beating the child, they were charged with assault with intent to kill.

Joan, whose mother divorced Morvan several years ago, died Monday afternoon of peritonitis resulting from a criminal attack.

Hawaiian Discrimination Claimed in Sugar Bill

WASHINGTON, March 4 (UP)—Alexander G. Budge, president of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters association, in a statement today charged that the administration sugar bill perpetuates and increases discriminations against Hawaii, and asked that the territory be treated on a parity with the 48 states.

"The general plan of a well-rounded program for sugar is important, but no section of the United States should be treated differently from any other part of the country," he said. "An emergency existed at the time the Jones-Costigan act was enacted, and Hawaii, to further the welfare of the entire industry, accepted the discriminations that act imposed. There is no basis for permanently accepting inferior treatment such as the quota proposed in this bill."

Against O'Mahoney Bill

Budge's statement, made in reference to the bill introduced jointly by Senators J. C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., and A. B. Adams, D. Colo., after President Roosevelt's special message to congress recommending continuance of the sugar quota marketing system, said that "Hawaii is an integral part of the United States and bears its full share of all national burdens, and certainly cannot fairly be asked to submit to restrictions which are not applied to the states."

Italian Hero, Lover Wants Body Dissolved As Death Approaches

GARDONE, Italy, March 4 (UP)—Gabriele D'Annunzi, poet, war hero and great lover, wants to dissolve his body in a powerful chemical compound when he feels death approaching, a close friend said today.

In this way, he explained a reference D'Annunzi made in a letter to Achille Starace, secretary general of the Fascist party: "I am an old man and a sick man, so I am going to hasten by end. Dismaying the agony of death between bed sheets I am testing my last invention."

The "invention," the informant reported, is a chemical bath that would cause death instantly and destroy the body tissues within a few minutes.

SIT-DOWN STRIKE ENDS IN DETROIT

Laborers Return to Work In Plant of Briggs Body Company

DETROIT, March 4 (UP)—A sit-down strike at the main plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company ended today when the night shift vacated the building and allowed the day workers to enter, a spokesman for the Briggs management announced.

The sit-down ended as suddenly as it started, last night. The Briggs spokesman said the striking night shift, which was ordered to hold arms at the machines shortly before midnight, departed from the building without explanation at 7 a. m. The day shift entered the plant without trouble.

Regular Capacity

"We are operating at regular capacity," the spokesman announced.

In an official statement the Briggs management agreed to meet the union to discuss grievances submitted last night when the strike was called. The company stipulated that the plant must first be cleared of sit-down strikers and work resumed before any negotiations would begin.

Silent on Parley

The Briggs spokesman declined to reveal whether the firm had agreed to meet the union in a negotiations conference.

The strike, which threatened to throw 14,500 employees out of work and choke off the supply of bodies for the Ford Motor company, was called by the Automobile Workers Union. Union officials charged the company had violated an agreement made with its workers several weeks ago. It was the largest sit-down in the automobile industry since the 44-day General Motors strike ended Feb. 11.

REQUEST DENIED

WASHINGTON, March 4 (UP)—The interstate commerce commission today denied the Transcontinental and Western Air line permission to establish passenger and express service between Albuquerque, N. M., and San Francisco, Calif.

The commission held the proposed off-line passenger and express service would be competitive since service is available upon another air mail route.

SEVEN FACTORIES HIT BY STRIKERS IN DETROIT AREA

Four Bohn Company Plants And Three of Peninsular Closed Down

DETROIT, March 4 (UP)—New sit-down strikes halted or curtailed operations in seven automotive parts plants today a few hours after the industry's largest strike since the General Motors sit-down had been terminated by agreement.

Strikes were called in four plants of the Bohn Aluminum & Brass corporation, affecting 1,200 workers, and in three factories of the Peninsular Metal Products Corp., employing 2,000 men and women.

Conferees Continued

Earlier, as United Automobile Workers representatives continued their conferences with two major producers in efforts to obtain collective bargaining rights, the Briggs Manufacturing company ended its 10-hour sit-down strike by agreement with the union.

Approximately 14,500 workers were affected by the Briggs shutdown near midnight Wednesday. Today striking night shift workers were replaced by day employees who immediately resumed production on bodies for the Ford Motor company.

At the Highland Park plant of the Chrysler corporation, representatives of the union and the company entered the second day of their conferences over eight union demands, including wages, hours, recognition and seniority.

Wage Increase Asked

Three plants of the Bohn company and an affiliate, the Michigan Smelting & Refining company, all in Detroit, were affected by the sit-down.

The union requested an immediate conference with the general manager of the company in order that any settlement would become effective in each of the company's seven plants.

It demanded a blanket wage increase of 10 cents per hour and a minimum hourly wage of 75 cents.

HEARING DENIED FOR VAN VLACK

Tacoma Killer Has 90 Days In Which to Appeal to Supreme Court

BOISE, Ida., March 4 (UP)—Douglas Van Vlack, convicted murderer of his former wife, Mildred Hook of Tacoma, a deputy sheriff and a state traffic officer today had at least 90 additional days to carry on a fight for his life.

Idaho's supreme court late yesterday denied a petition for rehearing of his appeal by which the 32-year-old killer sought unsuccessfully to have his Twin Falls district court sentence of death by hanging changed to life imprisonment.

The high court then allowed him the three month period to perfect an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Should the highest court refuse to review the case Van Vlack would be returned to the Twin Falls court where a second death date would be fixed. He was originally to have died in April, 1936, but carrying out of the sentence was postponed by his appeal.

He was convicted of the murder of Miss Hook, whom he kidnaped on a Tacoma street in November, 1935. During his trial he admitted killing the officers, when they attempted to stop the couple near Buhl.

Bill Seeks Five Per Cent Less Than Defeated Act

BOISE, Idaho, March 4 (UP)—By previous arrangement in caucus, the Idaho house of representatives today suspended its rules and passed an appropriation bill asking nearly $3,000,000 for state higher educational institutions.

The bill asked amounts five per cent less than a school appropriation bill defeated in the house last week.

Whether the 24th legislature will adjourn tonight apparently hinged today on agreement between house and senate on appropriation bills.

All agreed, though that there will be no special session. If the legislators come back tomorrow it will be on their own time, they have been officially informed from the governor's office.

To close the 60-day session some time during the night it will be necessary for the lawmakers to dispose of three major problems, leaders pointed out. They are:

Three Problems

1. Approval by the senate of higher education appropriations passed in the house today.
2. Concurrence of the house in senate "economy bloc" amendments cutting $350,000 from 34 departmental appropriation bills.
3. Passage of some sort of a revenue measure or final decision that no new tax is necessary.

All other bills in the legislative hoppers can, if necessary, be allowed to die, no matter how important they may seem to their backers. Probably to be given attention in spite of the rush, however, are public power proposals of Governor Barzillai W. Clark.

A session-long fight in the house between supporters of the University of Idaho on one hand and an economy group reinforced by advocates of a four-year Pocatello university on the other ended with approval today of nearly $3,000,000 for operation of the state's educational institutions and a $765,600 institutional building program.

A caucus last night cleared the way for passage of the two measures after several attempts to suspend rules yesterday had failed because of a minority demand for further cuts in the appropriations. They carried five per cent cuts in regular budgets from amounts defeated in the house last week.

Objections Appeared

Objections also appeared on the floor today but came from an infrequent bloc, whittled down to less than one third of the house. Both bills passed 47 to 11.

Hope for adjournment increased in the senate when Blake, Clearwater, who had been conducting a filibuster, protesting cuts made in appropriations by the senate economy group, suddenly ceased throwing parliamentary monkey wrenches to the delegate upper house legislative machinery.

As the 34 reduced appropriation bills began coming up for passage last night, Blake consistently objected to allowing the bills to be considered read, demanding that each be read at length.

When the senate convened this morning with 12 of the money bills yet to be considered, Blake halfheartedly continued his objections for the first two bills, then without warning stopped, allowing the body to pick up speed.

Completed at Noon

The appropriations were completed shortly before noon and sent to the house for concurrence.

Special objections were raised to cuts for the department of agriculture, tax commissioner and department of public health. These reductions were considered most likely to cause trouble in the house and hold up adjournment, if any do.

Only other action in the senate's morning session was to refuse to lift from the table a house bill providing for regulation and licensing of beer dealers and distributors. Thornton, representative in the house for Gooding, served unofficial notice that unless the measure were lifted and passed he would attempt a filibuster in the house to prevent adjournment.

Transient Offers $1,000,000 Check To Pay Purchase

SAFFORD, Ariz., March 4 (UP)—Roy May, 26, a transient, made a few small purchases at Jack Foster's motor agency here yesterday and offered in payment a check for $1,000,000 drawn on a Portland, Ore., bank.

The trouble was, Foster was informed by local bank officials, the particular Portland bank had been closed for years.

May, taken into custody for investigation as to the authenticity of the check, was released by Sheriff J. C. Mulcahey $50,000 to "release him, he declined.

Expert Speakers Tell South Central Producers How to Get Best Results

Discussion and study of the latest livestock marketing methods was presented by speakers today at the district livestock meeting in progress this afternoon in the I. O. O. F. hall in Twin Falls.

Using the theme that all successful businessmen make a thorough study of their business and avail themselves of every opportunity to obtain information, marketing experts advised the livestock men present to study and understand the marketing of their products as well as the producing.

Attending were producers from south central Idaho who heard talks by such experts as Dr. W. E. Stout, extension marketing specialist of the U. S. department of agriculture; L. B. Mann, livestock section, cooperative division, of Washington, D. C.; I. H. Jacob, manager of the Livestock Producers Marketing association of Salt Lake City, and C. O. Youngstrom, extension economist of the University of Idaho.

Previous to today's meeting the directors of the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing association met to discuss plans for the annual meeting of that group, scheduled for 10:30 a. m. March 9 at community hall on the county fair grounds at Filer.

DENTIST ADMITS VIRGINIA MURDER

RICHMOND, Va., March 4 (UP)—Dr. R. G. Miller, married, middle-aged dentist, confessed to Sheriff J. Mason Smith today that he killed Ed Cleo Spruice, Auburn-haired high school honor student, and placed her body in the historic cemetery of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

Smith announced that Dr. Miller confessed that the girl died from an overdose of chloroform during an attempted abortion. The dentist, Smith said, denied that he was responsible for her condition but agreed to perform the operation as a favor and with her consent.

Dr. Miller admitted, according to Smith, that the operation was attempted in lonely Stony Point road near Charlottesville in a car which he borrowed.

Smith said that Dr. Miller told him he waited until after dark, then brought the girl's body back to the city, leaving it alongside the cemetery wall.

WORKMEN DIG TO RECOVER BODIES

POLSON, Mont., March 4 (UP)—Hundreds of workmen today continued efforts to reach the bodies of seven fellow workers, including six Indians, who were buried early yesterday in a rock slide at the Rocky Mountain Power company dam six miles south of here.

An overhanging ledge created by the fall of 1,200 cubic yards of material, in three slides had to be removed before excavation for the bodies could be pushed without danger.

Armed Guards Protect Workers on Denver's WPA Paving Project

DENVER, March 4 (UP)—Work on the federal boulevard paving project north of Denver city limits proceeded without interference today as 100 armed deputies of Adams county continued their guard over 40 WPA workers.

Sheriff Lewis Bullard said he did not expect a recurrence of the demonstration Feb. 12 when several workmen were attacked and beaten by a mob of men claiming to be members of a Denver labor union seeking to "organize" the project.

SOLONS WORK ON APPROPRIATIONS

Last Day of Session Finds Idaho House in Hard Debate

BOISE, Ida., March 4 (U.P.)—Idaho's legislature today entered what, according to the calendar, should be the last day of its 24th session with economy groups in control of both house and senate.

In the house the economy vote was in the minority but strong enough to prevent a successful two-thirds vote for suspension of rules to pass measures on which adjournment depended—such as appropriations for the state's higher educational institutions.

Control by the senate's economy bloc was absolute after it had forced slashing of $350,000 from budget proposals of $2,750,000 for a number of state departments and institutions late yesterday.

Final passage of 35 appropriation bills which were amended during the afternoon to make up the budget reductions was not without difficulty, however.

Fight Approval

With every parliamentary maneuver at their disposal, Blake, Clearwater, and Snook, Idaho, fought approval of the supply bills, and when all attempts to prevent their consideration failed began a semi-filibuster by refusing to forego reading of the measures in full.

The long-disputed bills in spite of opposition continued to pass, slowly, and with a roll call on each. Only five or six votes were recorded against them in the various roll calls.

Only break in ranks of the economy bloc was desertion of Heath, Franklin, Republican who termed the reductions "peanut" economy and hardly worth while.

When the senate convened in its evening session, it found difficulty in returning to the tenth order of business so that a motion to suspend the rules for passage of the appropriations could be put. Unanimous consent being required, the move was refused continually by Blake.

Threatens Filibuster

The senator from Clearwater objected to "two men in one night" undoing the work done by house and senate committees in the last 40 days. "He threatened to filibuster until hell freezes over to prevent these changes."

Newport, Canyon, reminded him that the two men referred to—Denman, Bonneville Democrat, and Anderson, Elmore Republican—had only recommended the changes which had been adopted in committee of the whole.

The fish and game appropriation bill, at the top of the list each time there has been an economy test was opened to discussion.

The bills finally cleared and were sent to the house where routine approval today can mean adjournment tonight. If opposition develops, a few days on the legislators' own time or a special session is inevitable.

The house relaxed from consideration of its appropriations cuts only to table three bills also dealing with appropriations. It was explained the proposals were duplicated by measures out in committee of the whole.

Those defeated provided for additional supplies for the state motor vehicle bureau, expenses of the adjutant-general and state historical society.

In the house a bill to require sale of all state owned automobiles and prohibit purchase of any new vehicles was held for amendment. It would also limit mileage payment to state employees to five cents. Objections were that the proposed mileage allowance was excessive.

"I've kept check on my car for 15 years and at six cents a mile I could make $800 a year," declared Powers, Twin Falls. "I could buy a new car and pay all expenses at three cents. At four cents a mile I could board myself in addition on 100 miles a day."

4-Cent Amendment

Amendments to be proposed would limit the amount to four cents.

A measure to regulate and license contractors was passed despite charges of Turk, Shoshone, that the measure was "a racket to keep small contractors from getting jobs with the department of public works."

A companion measure would provide for splitting up of large contract jobs and letting in units. An amendment, however, would make the bill applicable only to contracts under $5,000, apparently rendering it ineffective.

Two other senate bills sent to Governor Clark would create a game preserve in Boundary county and provide for issuance of bonds to retire outstanding warrants of irrigation districts.

In spite of yesterday being 69th and next to the last day of the legislature's session, new bills continued to make their appearance.

Among introductions were measures asking exemption of gasoline stations from the state chain store tax; proposing expansion of duties of the department of public works to include cooperation with the federal government, and modifying provisions restricting municipal public works projects.

HOUSE PREPARES FOR ADJOURNING

Rule Suspension Approved For Action on Education Measures

BOISE, Ida., Mar. 4 (U.P.)—Way was apparently open today for adjournment of Idaho's legislature tonight, so far as the house of representatives is concerned.

Following a caucus late last night an agreement was reported providing for suspension of the house rules today for passage of controversial educational appropriation and building bond bills.

Also included in the caucus discussion was the one per cent gross sales tax proposal said to be supported by Governor Barzilla Clark. It was found, however, that the measure would appear on the final reading calendar without necessity of rule suspension.

Work on Taxation

Major question of the closing legislative hours was expected to be taxation—whether necessary revenue should be raised through ad valorem or excise levies.

The educational measures to be considered today provided for a five per cent reduction in institutional appropriations from figures defeated by the house last week on insistence of a coalition of economy backers and supporters of the defeated proposal for a four year university at Pocatello.

Proponents of further decreases in the education funds—for instance, reduction to Governor Clark's recommendations which were five per cent still lower—were reported broken down in the two and a half hour long caucus in the interests of early adjournment.

Adjournment Set

The house passed in the late afternoon a concurrent resolution calling for adjournment at 7 p. m. tonight. Approval of the resolution in the senate would prevent any bills from advancing beyond second reading without suspension of the rules.

Although when the hour of 7 is reached, the clock can be stopped or covered up, and the legislature reconvenes on the following day, such a meeting would still be considered the 60th legislative day.

Should an insurgent bloc desire to force further appropriations decreases in the house, it could by mustering support of more than one-third of the membership effectively prevent consideration of late bills except at its own terms or in a special session.

the front again. Hartruff tied the score at 22-all and Bowler sank two more field goals from under the basket to give Gooding a 26 to 22 lead. With less than a minute remaining, Ellis Andrews shot from behind the center of the floor for the final Twin Falls score.

Vaught paced the Gooding attack with 12 points while Turner was high for the Bruins with nine.

Oakley Coasts to Win

After a thrilling first half, Oakley Hornets foiled their stinglers and coasted to an easy victory as they held Jerome without a single field goal during the last two quarters. Oakley started out in topnotch form to lead 10 to 3 at the quarter, but missed many shots in the second frame as Jerome came back to trail 16 to 14 at halftime. Third quarter was 25 to 12 for the Hornets.

Clark and Read Gorringer scored 10 and eight, respectively for the winners. Ellis was high for Jerome with five.

Lineups and scoring:

THEATERS

Arnold at Orpheum In Idaho Western

The picture opens tomorrow at the Orpheum theater. Also in the cast are George Bancroft, John Trent and Sidney Blackmer.

Jack Holt Plays in Roxy Northern Film

Jack Holt appropriately plays the role of a seal hunter in the Arctic wastes in Columbia's new drama, "North of Nome," showing for the last time tonight at the Roxy theater. Holt himself spent five years in Alaska as a gold prospector before entering pictures.

NAZI NEWSPAPER HITS LA GUARDIA

Official German News Organ Fires Broadcasts at New York Mayor

BERLIN, March 4 (U.P.)—The Nazi controlled press, normally expressing official opinions, today declared that Washington could not ignore Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia's remarks about Fuehrer Adolf Hitler at a luncheon yesterday in New York.

The Boersen Zeitung commented: "We must direct to the United States government the earnest question what it contemplates doing in order to maintain within the sphere of their authority the fundamental rules of international manners."

The New LaGuardia long has been known to German newspaper readers and has more than once used his official position to vent his hatred of Germany. What he now has achieved in the way of shamelessness, however, beats anything this nasty fellow has yet uttered against Germany.

Other Berlin newspapers published similar comment, the DNB News Agency adding:

Radek Comrade
"LaGuardia is a Jew. Whether it's his real name that he carries is not known. At the same time, he is mayor of New York and what use he makes of his position is known from earlier experience.

"His latest hymn of hate if the worst yet, La Guardia's comrade in the faith is Radek (Soviet publication), who wrote: 'The Soviet union does not enter the arena to forsake the tribune. She delivers war materials to the combatants and when they have bled themselves white she will gather her harvest.'"

Man Pleads Guilt In Drunk Driving; Runs Down Sheep

Sentence on charges of drunken driving will be dealt out at 10 a. m. tomorrow by Justice Guy T. Swope to Layne S. Potter, 24, Butte, Mont., who pleaded guilty to the accusation today.

Potter was lodged in county jail after assertedly driving his auto into a band of sheep and injuring the flock owner by hitting his truck. The running down of the sheep, sheriff's officer said, occurred about four miles east of Twin Falls yesterday. Potter was stopped and arrested at Buhl by Police Chief Virgil Barron.

Two of the sheep in the flock were killed instantly by the impact of the car, and half a dozen others may die, officers indicated.

Joe Woods, Twin Falls, owner of the flock, told authorities his leg was lacerated when Potter drove into his truck, forcing him backward into the cab as he attempted to climb out.

Potter said he works as a sheep shearer and miner in Montana.

Present day world armaments are said to have cost a total of 2,500,000,000 pounds sterling, or three times as much as in 1913.

APPROVAL GIVEN TO WPA PROJECT

Sidewalk, Curb and Driveway Work to Continue in Twin Falls

Continuation this coming summer of the building of cement sidewalks, curbs and driveways throughout Twin Falls, was seen today with announcement by city officials of the approval of a WPA project for this work.

Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the original project started in the city last spring and many blocks of curbs and walks were completed.

As was the case last summer, WPA labor will be used this year. The work will start as soon as it is safe for concrete work, officials say.

Today J. N. Molynaux, street superintendent, said the project this year would involve an expenditure of $30,577.25. Of this amount $19,041 will be federal money and $11,786.25 will come from sponsor's funds.

It is expected the work will require 30,000 man-hours or 300 man-months and will employ 50 WPA workers. The foreman is furnished by the city. All work will be done on public property owned by the city along public thoroughfares.

It is explained the work is important inasmuch as it is necessary to build curbing so that streets can be oiled.

To supply necessary gravel for work this summer on streets and alleys in preparation for the oiling program, application has been made for a prospecting permit to locate gravel beds in this vicinity.

TRYOUTS MONDAY FOR SENIOR PLAY

Tests for Roles in "No More Frontier" Will Continue Through Wednesday

Tryouts for the senior play, "No More Frontier," will begin Monday and continue through Wednesday. Parts to be tried out for Monday are: Gall Carlton, lead; Mordcael Bailey; Flint Bailey, lead; Jim Steele, Last Star, an Indian; Lieut. Ashworth, a chaplain; Sue McCarty, George Bailey, Flint's son.

The following characters will try out on Tuesday: Hannah Bailey, Flint's mother; George Bailey, his father; Capt. Jack Bailey, his grandfather; a trooper; Idaho Red, a saloon keeper; Mord Bally 2d, Flint's son; Shadow, Flint's foreman; Doc Cameron; "Colonel" Purdum, for irrigation; a customer; Cal Smith, owner of water rights; Jim Bailey; Flint Bailey 2d; Howard Cameron, sweetheart of Gall 2d; Jack Bailey, Mord's 14-year-old son.

Final Test Wednesday

Final tryouts will be held Wednesday but the assignments to parts will not be announced until after the eligibility list is compiled for the past six-weeks period, stated Miss Florence M. Rees, dramatic instructor.

Seniors wishing to try out for the play stilted the part they wished the early part of last week. Out of 299 seniors enrolled, 76 are to try out for cast assignments and 22 have signed up for business administration posts. As there are only 21 boys' parts and 10 girls' roles available less than half of those trying out will be chosen in the final selection. Approximately 10 will be named for work on the business staff.

Miss Rees says that for this play only a single cast system will be used, with the possibility of a duplicate cast for girls if enough talent suitable for the parts is available. A double cast system is employed in the all-school play and the junior play to give as many students as possible a chance for dramatic experience, but as the cast for the senior play is drawn only from the class members and is supposed to be as finished a product as possible, Miss Rees believes that the best possible cast for an A-1 production should be selected.

High School News

Problems confronting the girls of the high school and their mothers were discussed at a meeting of home room mothers yesterday afternoon, as they met in conference with the girls' counselor, Mrs. Rose M. North.

Mrs. Roy J. Evans, president, presided over the meeting. Room mothers attending the meeting were Mrs. A. S. Martyn, Mrs. J. E. Warner, Mrs. S. P. Richards, Mrs. G. A. Davidson, Mrs. W. P. Haney, Mrs. R. L. Reed, Mrs. L. H. Perrine and Mrs. W. B. Smith.

Mrs. North reported that "the girls are showing a fine spirit of cooperation and interest in worthwhile projects." In the course of her report, she stressed the point that mothers were free to consult her at any time, concerning problems pertinent to the girls and their activities.

The women were also informed of the fact that a list of girls in the high school interested in outside work for the purpose of earning expenses, was being compiled by Mrs. North. Anyone needing a girl to help with the dishes, stay with the children or other such activities should contact Mrs. North. It was announced.

Coach R. V. Jones' basketball squad was guest of honor at the high school yesterday during a pep assembly in preparation for the district tournament opening today.

Yells were directed by the yell king, Ed Benoit, and his assistants. Members of the Pep band were present and aided in the general air of expectancy by playing high school pep songs.

Coach Jones introduced each member of the squad with a few pertinent remarks as to their progress and experience.

Aiding the Twin Falls yell leaders were two girls from Filer, dressed in red uniforms, who led two or three yells for Twin Falls with the student reciprocating with cheers for Filer. One of the members of the Filer varsity squad also gave a short pep talk.

After a short skit presented by Ed Benoit and Norman Bates the students adjourned while the pep band played for dismissal.

Home economics club of the high school met yesterday afternoon to make plans for the Mothers' tea, which the group is to give March 15, in the high school dining room.

President of the group, Vera Beus, presided over the meeting and appointed the committees to arrange for the tea. Sponsor of the club, Miss Juanita Sutcliffe, was also present.

CAMP WILL HAVE DOUBLE SESSION

Anti-Tuberculosis Group Will Accommodate Older Girls, Younger Children

For the second year Twin Falls county Anti-Tuberculosis association will operate two camp sessions at McClusky Memorial health camp, one for older girls and the second for young children. It was decided at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Orr Chapman, president.

The organization stressed the fact that the older girls' camp can accommodate girls from 12 to 20 years old at a cost of $3 a week for the three weeks' session. Minimum enrollment is 20 and as many more may attend as possible, it was stated.

With new improvements at the camp, completed accommodations are available for 60 children for the six weeks' session. Fifty enrollments are provided by the association and 30 more are donated by outside counties or by gifts of $3 a week campships.

Funds promised in place of the assistance formerly given by WPA, which is no longer available this year, WPA is to give some aid. Other expenses are to be met by proceeds from the sale of Christmas seals.

The directors of the association voted to retain Mrs. Harriett Stevens as camp superintendent again this summer and to engage a boys' supervisor, two play supervisors, two assistant play supervisors, cook and dietitian and assistant cook.

Mrs. Doris Stradley, county superintendent of schools, announced those students who received special award plus for making the highest individual sales of seals as Junior Gerry, Castleford, $1.60; Albert Henry, Rock Creek, $1.40; and Bobby Dana, Deep Creek, $1.40.

Funds were allowed for X-ray expenses and for assistance given a county infantile paralysis case.

Officers elected were Mrs. Chapman, re-elected president; Mrs. C. O. Smithson, Buhl, vice president; Mrs. E. M. Sweeley, Twin Falls, recording secretary; Mrs. R. R. Spafford, Twin Falls, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. H. E. Deiss, Twin Falls, treasurer.

GET PLATES NOW, AUTOISTS URGED

Barnhart Advises Purchase to Avoid Rush; Autos Exceed February, 1936, Sales

With passengers cars listed as the only classification in which license sales for February exceeded those for the same month in 1936, County Assessor J. D. Barnhart, today advised motor vehicle owners to "purchase plates as soon as possible to avoid the last-minute rush."

Deadline is March 31. Sale of passenger auto licenses in February totaled 373 as compared with 366 for February of 1936. Mr. Barnhart reported this afternoon. Total cash receipts for last month were $7,528.19; for February a year ago the amount was $7,068.

Truck license sales lagged 10 behind the 1936 figure, with 37 for last month and 47 for 1936 farm trucks on which licenses were purchased in February reached 26 as compared with 31 in the same period last year. Other groups showed: commercial vehicles, three last month and five in 1936; motorcycles, three for last month and three for February of 1936; trailers, 54 and 61.

Since prospective adjournment of the legislature tonight indicates that no reduction will be granted in fees despite several efforts toward that goal, Mr. Barnhart declared motorists will save considerable inconvenience to themselves by securing plates ahead of the rush. He pointed out that chance of an extension of time by Gov. Barzilla W. Clark is practically nil, since the state association of assessors went on record opposing any lengthening of time.

ROTARY MEETS

"Mountain Dew," a one-act play was presented at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary club by Roland Hutchinson and Ed Bertie, high school students, under the direction of Miss Florence M. Rees, instructor. The program was arranged by Guy Bradley. Six Rotarians from Shoshone were visitors.

GOOD EDUCATION BOON TO PILOTS

Physical Form, Clean Living Are Big Aids in Flying, Aviator Says

Clean living, an adequate education and physical fitness are the essential qualifications that a good pilot must have, W. H. (Pete) Hill, local transport pilot, commented today as he left for Kimberly where he will speak this evening before high school students on vocational qualifications concerning aeronautics.

In his talk tonight, Hill, who has had 22 years of aviation experience, will stress the importance of the study of higher mathematics in connection with aeronautical design, engineering and navigation. He will list the qualifications of each department connected with aviation and will tell requirements for the various grades of pilot licenses. Manufacturers' requirements, as stated by the department of commerce aeronautics branch and air traffic rules and regulations will also be outlined by the local pilot.

Hill has been in Twin Falls for five months and is sales manager for the Barnard Auto company. He is a licensed airplane and engine mechanic and transport pilot, as well as a flight engineer.

His long career in aviation extends from pre-war days and includes every phase of aeronautics including barnstorming, test flying, being assistant manager and later export manager for one of the largest airplane companies in the United States. He has flown in every state in the union and in seven foreign countries. He has over 7,000 hours in the air.

At tonight's meeting he will tell how he met Charles A. Lindbergh and how he gave the now-famous pilot his first flying lessons.

Engine To Arrive

Assembly of the Lincoln P-T Trainer airplane belonging to W. H. (Wild Bill) Weber, local pilot, is expected to start next week with the arrival of the completely overhauled 125 horsepower engine from Glendale, Calif., where it was sent several weeks ago.

The engine will be assembled in the California city and will be ready for installation upon its arrival here, Weber said today.

All that remains to be done to Weber's ship, which has been rebuilt locally, is the covering with fuselage. With this completed the ship will be taken to the local field where it will be assembled and test-flown.

Rebuilding of the ship has been under the supervision of W. H. (Pete) Hill, local transport pilot and government licensed mechanic.

Anders Anderson, Jerome contractor, will serve as local inspector of the work. The two-story brick building is expected to be ready for the housing of grades ranging from first to fifth when school opens next September. Upon a site bounded by Avenues D and F and by Lincoln Avenue, the building with dimensions of 63 and 156 feet will consist of 14 classrooms, a library, principal's office, teachers' rooms, a large basement playroom, 12-foot halls, and large stairways.

All classrooms will have hardwood floors, windows will be built with steel frames, and steel will be used for laboratory partitions. The building will be steamheated. Plans were drawn by Frank Hummel, Boise architect.

Local Youths Plan to Secure Merit Badges During Coming Months

With spring "just around the corner" many local Boy Scouts are planning to study for tests which will win them merit badges for aviation. Twin Falls Scout officials said today.

Requirements for the badge, officials say, include the construction and flight of a model airplane, construction and flight of a box kite, knowledge of various airplanes, sketches of more famous pilots of the United States and what they have done, and knowledge of balloons and rigid dirigibles. Complete requirements are secured at Scout offices.

Many Scouts, officials said today, have signified their intentions of taking up aviation as a life work and are contacting local aviation leaders with this in mind.

At that time several local fliers are expected to report for flying license examinations, either for original licenses or advanced certificates.

Neel will fly here from Portland, Ore., in a government plane, one of the best equipped in this section of the United States.

Ship Test-Hopped

The Curtis-Wright "Pusher" type plane belonging to W. Grant Kilbourne of Twin Falls and which was rebuilt in the city, was pronounced ready for flight today after a test hop of the ship was made off the local field Tuesday afternoon.

Kilbourne reports the plane is one of the easiest to fly he has ever piloted. It is powered with a 45 horse power motor and carries the pilot and one passenger. It is a monoplane and one of the less expensive type ships popular among private fliers.

"In my new picture 'Swing High, Swing Low' I sing a song for the first time since I have been on the screen. To do this, I spent months taking singing lessons. And with this added strain, my throat was not in good shape. My singing coach suggested that when choosing cigarettes, I select a light smoke. And so I changed to Luckies. # F. D. R. HELP SEEN IN STEEL PEACE

Shift to Bargaining Believed Prompted by Roosevelt and Economic Factors

PITTSBURGH, March 4 (U.P.)—The Pittsburgh Press states that the behind-the-scenes activities of President Roosevelt and the changing economic picture produced the surprising action of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation signing a collective bargaining agreement with John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

In giving the "inside" story of what prompted United States Steel corporation's largest subsidiary to abandon its policy of not dealing with "outside" unions, the Press summarized:

The clamor for higher wages, the necessity for a 40-hour week, the growing threat of unionization, the conciliatory efforts of President Roosevelt and the willingness of Mr. Lewis to compromise brought about a situation in which every factor pointed to the action that U. S. Steel decided to take.

Next Step Announced
Phillip Murray, chairman of the steel unionization drive, has announced that the next step will be to obtain agreements with other U. S. Steel subsidiaries before a drive is made on independent steel companies.

President Roosevelt obviously played an important behind-the-scenes role," the Press said. "Several times since the election, Mr. Taylor (Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel) has been a White House guest or has had telephone conversations with the President. This resulted in his willingness to sit down in a hotel room with the man (Lewis) who has been regarded as the corporation's bitterest enemy."

Impression Made
"What happened in autos made a big impression on steel," the newspaper continued. "Moreover, the company unions were getting more and more troublesome. Their demands were almost identical with those of the C.I.O. and there was the ever-present threat that if rejected, they would go over bag and baggage to the Lewis forces."

"Operating heads, faced with a deluge of orders, and worried by both company union and C.I.O. demands, found the industry swinging rapidly toward unionism of some sort. The entire trend of events—both industrial and political—was in that direction."

NRA STUDY SENT TO HOUSE GROUP

Ways and Means Committee Considers Analysis of Special Board

WASHINGTON, March 4 (U.P.)—The report of the President's committee on industrial analysis, surveying the successes and shortcomings of invalidated NRA, had been referred today to the house ways and means committee.

Congressional leaders said consideration of the report, together with various proposals for legislation along the lines of an NRA substitute, probably will be deferred until President Roosevelt makes known his labor legislation objectives.

Labor experts in the house seconded the hope, expressed by Mr. Roosevelt in a press conference yesterday, that congress will take some action this session toward minimum wage and maximum hour legislation.

They pointed out, however, that no concrete action probably will be taken on various proposals already introduced in congress until the President outlines his views in a special message which is expected to be sent to congress in about a month.

Rep. Thomas R. Amlie, P., Wis., introduced a constitutional amendment which he said would "give congress full and complete power to deal with the nation's social and economic problems."

The amendment would give the federal government power to take over and operate "any industry or enterprise" if necessary to promote the general welfare.

Officials Await Beard Growth of Kidnap Suspect

FOLLY BLOCKS THE WAY

Receiving the Cardinal Newman award for 1936, Dr. Alexis Carrel tells an Illinois audience that the power of science may yet enable man to keep his civilization from crumbling into dust.

For science, says this famous scientist, has at last made it possible for man to remake both himself and his institutions. No longer need he be the slave of blind impulses he cannot understand, or of natural laws whose very existence he does not suspect. He can shape his future as he chooses.

If the time ever comes when the race does decide to live by intelligence instead of by habit, prejudice, and emotion, Dr. Carrel unquestionably is one of the seers it will heed. Right at this moment, however, it seems as if the pressing need is less for a scientifically-controlled future than for a present which can be shaped by ordinary common sense.

For the one thing that stands out about the world's present fix is that it is the result of sheer folly.

Here, for instance, we have a world that is sick almost to death as a result of the overwhelming disaster of a world war. The best remedy that occurs to it seems to be a new war on a bigger, bloodier, and more destructive scale than the last one.

Here is a world which has taken advantage of the science Dr. Carrel extols in order to increase its capacity to produce the things it needs. Having done so, the world has discovered that it doesn't know how to act in the presence of abundance; and so, within the last few years, we have seen it destroying goods already produced and cutting down on the production of goods that might be produced—while millions of people have suffered from want.

It is a world which endured much agony to get rid of certain irksome despotisms. The despotisms eliminated, the people who were relieved of them have turned right around to create new ones, making them more rigid and oppressive than the ones they replaced, and manning them with megalomaniacs who are even more irresponsible than the despots who were fired.

It is a world whose best remedy for a ruinous collapse of international trade is to raise the barriers to such trade higher than ever before; a world which sneers "impractical idealists" at those who talk about the brotherhood of man, and goes ahead with the construction of new bombing fleets; a world which lets the League of Nations die of malnutrition and then inquires plaintively why somebody doesn't do something to ensure world peace.

All you can say about such a state of affairs is that it doesn't come within a thousand miles of making sense.

Dr. Carrel is right in saying that science enables us to remake the world into a fairer and happier place. But are we ever going to rise above our own boneheadedness and start doing it?

LEGALIZED SHAKEDOWNS

The $500,000 breach of promise suit which Peggy Garcia brought against Dave Rubinoff came to a sad end. Overnight the action was discontinued, while the trial judge invited the district attorney's office to examine the whole business, to see whether the general stench which had been created was anything that the law could help abate.

Without commenting on the merits of this specific case, it can be said that this business provides an excellent argument for the laws outlawing breach of promise suits, which various states have recently adopted.

At best, a breach of promise case is a sorry mess; at worst, it is nothing more than a legalized shakedown. States that have not yet put the breach of promise suit outside the law might well make haste to do so.

OFF THE RECORD

Every year, and especially in election years, the folks back home learn of the valiant fight their representative in congress is putting up to stem the tide of waste and corruption that threatens to engulf the administration. These stirring tidings come from reprints from the Congressional Record of speeches never made, franked free through the mails.

New Rep. Sam Hobbs of Alabama proposes that the record be closed to extraneous matters, including speeches never delivered on the floor of either house.

This, of course, would save the people a couple of hundred thousand dollars, and would eliminate from the record such stimulating articles as a discussion of the French duelling code and the curative effects of radium water which actually have been printed therein.

HEH YOURSELF! OUR TONGUE IS LONGER THAN YOURS!

Dear Pot Shots:
Heh heh.
I'm from Buhl.
And I'm sticking out my tongue at you guys on that bridge deal. And I've got friends in Jerome. I'm going to have them stick out their tongues, too.
Heh heh.
—Buhloney of Buhl

BREACH-OF-PROMISE

I'm glad I'm not such a very big shot.
For I can love in peace.
With no fear of a frame or that some wild dame.
My pocketbook will fleece.

When a comely young miss I happen to kiss
It's joy to the final ounce;
While Rubinoff frets and profusely sweats
For fear the kiss will bounce.

Oh yes, my hearties, we ob-sure parties
We live the life of Riley.
For those who are famed are too often framed.
For their fun they pay too high!
—Dan McGrew II

DISCOURSE ON GALS

Pot Shots:
I'm actually getting fan mail. Fawcety! The following came from Dan'l Boon, way up in the tall trees in northern Idaho.

Say, Four Bits, why don't you contribute more often? You have no idea how much futile turning of pages you cause me. I always look at Pot Shots first to see if you're there and so many times you ain't. And besides, you're crazy. An old fashioned girl wouldn't know what to do with four bits and a modern girl wouldn't be interested in four bits and a middlin' sort of girl would already have four bits of her own.
Which, I admit, is sound logic anyway you look at it.
—Four Bits

THAT BALD-HEADED MYTH AGAIN!

Dear Pot Shots:
Don't feel so bad if you are bald-headed or not for my daughter (one of the younger set) says that she likes to see a bald-headed man. They look so intelligent! I've always heard that hair and brains couldn't be grown at the same time.
—Ben Wondering Again

OR EVEN PERHAPS BY 1960!

Pot Shots:
Well anyway, the legislature gave us permission to buy the bridge. It's a great victory, Potos, because it practically makes the bridge ours right now. Of course, there's a slight matter of something like a third of a million dollars, but that's a mere nothing. I'm sure we'll have the toll off the bridge by anyway 1971.
—Cynic

HEY—THERE ARE SOME GOOD SOLONS!

Dear Patsy Wooty:
What I was kicked off the front page?
I'm glad you brought this up. For I've been wanting to tell you.
Ever since Heck was a pup.

I would put away in a corner Where I thought no one would see.
What them fellers are doing in Boise
(Nothing yet that will help you or me).

How we toiled overtime at the polls
To get them a seat up "thar,"
And instead of them cutting our license fee,
Take the rads right out of our car.

While I'm kleting, Patsy,
I'll just give you a boost.
You would look much better, I'm sure.
A little higher up on the roost.

We at last can get a smile
Out of what you have to say.
And that's worth a lot, indeed—
Don't you think? Good day.
—Ima Wondering

IT'S A MAJOR TASK TO GET HIM SAT!

Pot Shots:
All this talk of sit-downs must be pretty boring to that 'eight-foot six-inch Illinois boy, who must hear plenty raucous remarks of "Sit down, you," from the theater seat behind.

If he worked in one of those striking factories, they'd have to run the strike a couple weeks anyway, counting the time it took to get him down and then rig up a derrick to get him up again.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British spy-master, CARLTON ROCKS, aboard the S.S. WABAGO, is KETTERING. KETTERING runs into a maze of conflicting clues.
As the investigation progresses he charts the possible motives of each of the ship's passengers: MRS. REGINALD JOCELYN, none so far as known; FORD DINE, arduous motive against Blane; ROCKSAVAGE, strong motive of financial gain; MISS POSODINI, strong motive of financial gain; MISS ROCKSAVAGE, none, apparently. Only the ship's crew and NICHOLAS POSODINI, Blane's secretary, are ruled out conclusively.

Then Rocksavage appears with his dog and offers a sound alibi for his presence in his own cabin at the time of the crime. Next, Mrs. Posodini, under pressure, admits having been in Posodini's cabin at the time of the crime, explaining the deliriously excited state of mind to counteract her husband's affair with Ford Rocksavage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S FIFTH REPORT, CONTINUED.
THE Hon. Mrs. Jocelyn had only just left when Lady Welter's maid, Mildred Short, appeared at the door of the writing room and asked if she might have a word with me. She was very nervous, but, after a little, I got her to tell me her trouble and, from a big work bag which she was carrying, she produced a pale blue knitted jumper. In the middle of the back of the jumper there was a large burn where it had been singed with a hot iron and, after some persuasion, Mildred Short made the following statement about it.

VOLUNTARY STATEMENT BY MILDRED SHORT. 9-1-37.
As previously stated, when I went to Lady Welter's cabin at about 7:10, this jumper still lacked one sleeve. When I returned to her ladyship's cabin to tidy it at 8:30, the jumper was lying on the table finished, and I knew that her ladyship had left it there for me to take below and press. Later that evening I proceeded to do so but I was called away and, most unfortunately, left the electric iron on it. This resulted in a large burn in the middle of the back which I could not possibly disguise, and I became most desperately worried in consequence.

In my fright I decided to say nothing and, if she asked me about it later on, pretend that it had got lost. With all the to do about the murder on the following day her ladyship never said anything about the jumper and I was beginning to hope that she had forgotten all about it, until she sent for me and questioned me this morning.

At first I protested that the jumper had got lost somewhere, but when her ladyship impressed upon me how important it was that its whereabouts should be discovered I broke down and told her the truth. She said I must tell you exactly what had happened and that is the truth as God is my witness.

Mildred Short.
Witnessed: Keys Kettering, Detective Officer, Florida Police, 1256 Palm Avenue.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S THIRD EXAMINATION OF MISS FERRI ROCKSAVAGE.
K. Sorry to bother you again, Miss Rocksavage. Come and sit down, won't you?
F. R.: Well?
K.: Look here, help me out will you?
F. R.: I always help people out if I can.
K.: That's a good girl. You got a sunny nature, haven't you? You're always being nice to people, whether they deserve it or not.
F. R.: Oh, I don't know about that, but it's a short life and it's no good being miserable.
K.: You've said it, and that's why I'm hoping you're not going to blow up on what I'm going to say.
F. R.: Why should I?
K.: Well, I don't know, you're a young girl. Very kind brought up and that sort of thing. Some girls like that might resent the sort of questions I'm going to ask, but you know I wouldn't do it if I didn't have to in the course of my duty. Now, I'm going to treat you just as though you weren't a young society girl at all. I'm going to talk to you as though you were a woman of the world.
F. R.: I suppose I am what you call a woman of the world. Most girls are these days.
K.: That's right. Now, I'm sure you don't want any sort of scandal attached to your name and believe me a scandal is the last thing that I want to involve you in, but there's one thing I've got to ask you. Who was the man who was in your cabin on the night that Blane met his death?
F. R.: I don't understand.

K.: Oh, yes you do, and you can take it from me that I have actual proof that a man was there.
F. R.: You're bluffing. You haven't got any evidence.
K.: Yes I have. Take a look at this little bunch of hair. That came out of your comb. It was found in the wastepaper basket the night after Blane was murdered. The fair hair's yours but the short dark curly hairs are not. Somebody used this comb to tidy their hair after you had ruffled it, before leaving your cabin. Those strands of yours were probably already in it at the time. Anyhow, you'd have cleaned it before you used it to do your hair when you dressed for dinner. Shall I tell you who those dark hairs belong to?

F. R.: Who?
K.: Reggie Jocelyn.
F. R.: Very ingenious, Mr. Van Dine, but we had a swim off the yacht earlier in the afternoon. I lent my comb to Mr. Jocelyn then, after I'd used it and, being a lazy person, I suppose I never thought to clean it afterwards. Doesn't that rather upset your clever little story?
K.: It might, Miss Rocksavage, if it weren't for the fact that a man's life hangs in the balance.
F. R.: What d'you mean by that?

K.: Just this. Reggie Jocelyn had a very strong motive for wishing Bolitho Blane out of the way. He even brought Count Posodini on board, knowing the Count to be a criminal, with a grudge against Blane.
F. R.: What! Our handsome Count turns out to be a crook!
K.: That's so, and Jocelyn brought him on this trip in the hope that he'd do Blane in. He didn't, though. Posodini's proved an alibi and that makes the presumptive evidence even stronger against your boy friend. He swears that he was in his bath at 7:45, but his wife now admits that he wasn't. What's more, he was actually seen in the passage-way still unchanged at ten past eight.
Now, what was he doing between 7:45 and 8:10? If he was with you I think you'd better say so, because, if he wasn't, it looks to me very much as though Jocelyn is going to stand his trial for murder.
F. R.: In that case you win. Reggie was with me, from the time we came below, which was really about a quarter past seven, until he left me at ten after eight. I'm afraid that would hurt Mrs. Jocelyn a lot if she knew, and father wouldn't be too pleased, either. Will you try and keep that out of it if you can?
K.: I'll do my best, Miss Rocksavage. You're just paying the penalty of being over kind to a good looking young rascal, but I'm prepared to take a little risk on being kind to you.

PAUL MALLON'S
NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-moving Events in the Nation's Capital By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator.
(Copyright, 1935, By Paul Mallon)

"PERSONAL TRIPS"
WASHINGTON, March 4—Judging from the way British and French financial and naval authorities are running over here on "purely personal trips," something big seems to be up in foreign affairs.
First came the British trade minister, Runciman, then the French financial wizard, Bonnet, now the British naval expert, sir Robert Craigie, and later President Roosevelt's only ambassadorial intimate, Bill Bullitt, from Paris.
No one is expected to believe the official excuse that these leaders of thought are wearing a path across the Atlantic for "purely personal" reasons. Furthermore, the ease with which Mr. R. pulled his court rabbit out of the hat without disclosing more than an ear of it before-hand has caused the wary here to expect anything at any time.
Despite all the rumors and suspicions now current, however, it is probable that the coming of these key men may not immediately engender another rabbit. A long period of incubation is in prospect. At least the powers-that-be offer the following plausible inside explanation of the mysterious goings-on, and it sounds very logical!

RENEWING TRUST
The day of international conference is over, for the time being, at any rate. No nation or group of nations will dare to sponsor a world economic or disarmament gathering as long as what happened at the last ones is still fresh in world memory.
There will therefore be no disarmament conference and no economic conference this year. You may slip this under your hat as absolutely certain—they say.
What is needed now is the renewal of friendliness and trust among international statesmen on a personal basis. It must be "Frank," "Bob," "Bill" and "Walter," or as near to an intimate acquaintance and knowledge of each other's personalities as unbending officials can get. There must be a knowledge of each other's viewpoints and objectives, without which no conference can be successful. There should be trade agreements, monetary understandings, etc., not on a broad scale, but "man to man" and "group by group."
This is what State Secretary Hull meant in his New York speech when he invited the world to take a cue from the friendly relations developed in this hemisphere at the recent pan American conference.

NO CASH
One thing which all personal visitors will find out, if they have not already, is that the United States is not going to finance world recovery the way it financed the war.
Loans to Europeans are out of the question, not particularly because of the Johnson act, but because the administration does not like the idea in any shape or form. This, they say, is also just as certain and unchangeable as if Mr. R. had announced it himself.
The inside crowd here believes the lending of money abroad would accomplish the same effect as pouring it down a sewer. The credit of most European nations does not justify loans, and the disarmament program of the others indicates they are just trying to hook their national honor to buy more guns.

NEXT STRIKE
Hamlet never smiles. Neither does his labor counterpart, John L. Lewis. But if Mr. Lewis could smile, he would have, when he continued to insist of late that he is against strikes, and particularly against the coming coal strike. At least, there seemed to

15 YEARS AGO
MARCH 4, 1922
WASHINGTON—President Harding today vetoed house resolution No. 77, regarding transfer of public lands in Idaho.
In his veto message sent to the house today the President stated that he had taken this action at the request of senators and representatives of Idaho.
In his message the President suggested that congress should give consideration to the adoption of the policy of definitely describing all such lands as are ordered transferred from the public domain for the benefit of private individuals or to the forest service in exchange for lands within the forest reserve.
This is President Harding's second veto.

27 YEARS AGO
MARCH 4, 1910
H. J. Youngs received this week a shipment of 25 head of choice dairy cows, Jerseys and Guernseys, from Fort Atkinson. These animals were carefully selected from the finest dairy herds in that famous dairy section, and will prove a beneficial addition to the dairy industry of the tract.
Mr. Youngs is connected with the Lincoln Produce and Refrigerating Co., which is putting in a new, modern creamery here, and it is the policy of that company to do everything possible to promote intelligent dairying on the tract.

A DRASTIC ERROR
Editor, Evening Times:
I am writing you regarding a letter recently printed in this column from A. W. Hayes, acting supervisor of Jerome and Lincoln Counties relief agency.
It seems there has certainly been some kind of error made concerning the welfare of the Shoshone family in question. Obviously, since Mr. Hayes probably never made a personal visit to this particular home, he is naturally forced to glean any information concerning them from the records on file in Lincoln county.
Perhaps the records state that this family did receive some aid from the county or charitable organizations—it's true they did—but if it says they were "amply provided for," then some one has certainly made a drastic error. For a few weeks in January and February those "well-cared for" people came as near starving as any human cares to recall.
Every word written in "Indignant Mothers" letter printed in this column a short time ago was absolutely true. Next to the own family, no one knows of their circumstances better than I. I have slept in their beds and eaten at their table and I know they never have sufficient food, clothing, or bedding (no mattress for the children).
It's true that the children were absent from school, or perhaps went unclean, but show me the mother who is half-starved and is nursing a young baby (whose birth left her in poor health) who could keep clean clothes for a family of seven when she had to wash every garment by hand and seldom had any money with which to buy soap.
Recently I had heard relatives, hearing of their plight, secure employment and traveled a few hundred miles, to remove them to a different part of the state of Idaho, where they are now preparing to live again. It was not to Nevada that they moved which proves that part of Lincoln county records is far from correct.
En route to their new home last week they stopped at our home for a brief goodbye before continuing on.
We had a good chance to see for ourselves whether or not they were well-cared for. I won't go into detail, but I will say they didn't have any money and not one of the children had any clothes.
Perhaps the Lincoln county officials did not deliberately file on their records that this particular family was well taken care of when they weren't. I don't know. But I do know that I am not going to sit idly by while this innocent victim of circumstances is branded a liar.
ONE WHO KNOWS.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, M.D., Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.
For headaches due to eye disturbances, certain preventive and relaxing measures are useful. Sometimes relief is obtained by keeping the eyes closer to the reading material or the work. In such cases, properly fitted glasses are of great benefit.
Some people get the habit of squeezing their eyelids together, blinking, and squinting. This brings tension on the muscles of the face and a pull on the muscles at the back of the head, and the result is likely to be pain in the back of the head.
Sometimes relief from headache associated with eyestrain may be had by stopping work and looking off into the distance for awhile, after which one is able again comfortably to focus the eyes on the work.
Such cases indicate that the eye may need some help and a visit should be made to a person capable of determining the physical condition of the eye and of deciding whether glasses should be prescribed.
Sometimes headache from eyestrain is a reflex headache associated with symptoms elsewhere in the body. In such cases the patient may also be nauseated, fatigued, and easily irritated. Certainly it is not wise in such cases to relieve the headache by using sedative or narcotic drugs. These drugs merely mask the symptoms without giving anything resembling permanent relief.

Another type of headache is that associated with insufficiencies of the blood, or anemia. A suitable examination of the blood will indicate whether there is a sufficient number of red blood cells or a sufficient amount of red coloring matter in the blood. If a deficiency is found, treatment will help rebuild the blood to a more nearly normal state.
Head pains of any kind are, of course, regularly associated with changes in tissues of the brain and those that surround the brain.
Infections or inflammations such as meningitis and encephalitis are regularly associated with severe headaches. Accumulation of fluid in the brain, in various disorders, may first manifest itself by pain, and later, at pressure continues, by convulsions or unconsciousness.
When the blood is deficient in number of red blood cells, or hemoglobin which carries oxygen, the tissues change in character and pain may be a symptom of such change.
In every instance it is obviously of great importance to have the necessary examinations to determine whether any of these abnormal conditions exist.

IDAHO WILL GET MORMON TEMPLE

L. D. S. Church Heads at Salt Lake City Plan Edifice for Idaho Falls

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 4 (UP)—Idaho's first L. D. S. (Mormon) church temple will be built at Idaho Falls at a cost of approximately $250,000, church leaders announced here today.

David O. McKay, second counselor to the first presidency of the church, said today that negotiations for land at Idaho Falls had been completed, and that church officers would proceed immediately to have plans drawn up.

The new building will cover slightly more than a full city block, on a site near the Idaho Falls L. D. S. hospital overlooking the Snake river.

City Pledges Aid
According to a telegram confirming the selection, sent to L. G. Ball, president of the Idaho Falls church stake, the city has pledged money necessary for purchase of the site.

"We considered several locations in Idaho," McKay said, "among them Boise, Pocatello, Rexburg, and others, but after mature consideration we finally decided on the Idaho Falls site."

The temple will be the first of its kind in Idaho. At present, Idaho church members are forced to go to the church's Logan, Utah, temple for ordination and other work, sanctioned only when performed in a temple.

Part of Program
Construction will be undertaken as a part of the church's social security program.

The Idaho temple will be the tenth such building erected by the L. D. S. church since its organization.

The church now maintains temples at Salt Lake City, St. George, Utah; Logan, Utah; Cardston, Alberta; Mesa, Arizona; Mantoloking, New Jersey; and at Kirilov, Ohio.

McKay said that these temples, with the great structure at Nauvoo, Ill., since destroyed, represent a church investment "well over" $10,000,000.

The Salt Lake City temple alone cost more than $4,000,000.

by WILL IRWIN

SUCCESS STORY OF A GLAMOUR MERCHANT

Twenty-five years ago Adolph Zukor, successful Chicago fur merchant, came to the startling conclusion that glamour was a marketable commodity. He has been a dominant figure in a dominant industry ever since. Will Irwin, noted biographer and novelist, sketches his fabulous career. Following is part five of a series of six.

CHAPTER V The Structure is Finished

Between 1912 and 1919, Adolph Zukor had risen from a small showman in Union Square, New York, with personal capital of three or four hundred thousand dollars, to leadership and control of the Paramount Famous Players-Lasky combination of motion picture producers and distributors, rated in its annual statement at $39,000,000. This sum did not represent the mere regrouping of values which existed seven years before. It meant new values; and Zukor, with his revolutionary idea of bringing the film from Hester street onto Broadway, from Poverty Hollow onto Main street, was their main creator.

The next disturbing move came from insurgents in Zukor's own company. Hiram Abrams and Ben Schulberg broke away from Paramount. They had a new idea. Instead of the producers, the distributors or the exhibitors controlling motion pictures, why not the stars themselves? Let them own their productions.

Some of the great stars had been thinking the same thing. With William A. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, as head and front of the new United Artists, the insurgents gathered up Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin—whose contracts with First National were about to expire—W. S. Hart, David Wark Griffith and Douglas Fairbanks. The two last named were pillars of Famous Players. Griffith stood without peer as a director, and, at the moment, Fairbanks stood brightest among all male stars. This time, Zukor could not even pretend that he was not hard hit. Buckling down to the job of finding and developing stars, he filled the void with Pauline Frederick, Blanche Sweet, Gloria Swanson and Tommy Meighan. Within two years, Miss Swanson became as great a money producer as Mary Pickford, and Meighan stood peer to Fairbanks in popular favor.

The "program system" prevailed by now. Rival firms were insisting that a theater or a string of theaters would take their program, and lin and Mary Pickford down, by offering them a profitable partnership; and on the other hand to combine a majority of exhibitors.

The next disturbing move came from insurgents in Zukor's own company. Hiram Abrams and Ben Schulberg broke away from Paramount. They had a new idea. Instead of the producers, the distributors or the exhibitors controlling motion pictures, why not the stars themselves? Let them own their productions.

The "program system" prevailed by now. Rival firms were insisting that a theater or a string of theaters would take their program, and every company must overhaul its plant, reform its personnel, and revise its plans to conform with the change. But that, compared with the storms which he had weathered, seemed a trifle. Of course, Adolph Zukor, like all the rest of his world, was living on the crust over a volcano. Foreseeing, though he be, he had not the foresight to see that. But who had?

In only one respect had life cheated him of what he wanted. He was fundamentally an artist and a showman. When he formed Famous Players, he expected a few months of financial struggle. Then, he told himself, he would devote himself wholly to production—which means artistic creation. But as the motion picture business rose to high tide, there came financial crisis after financial crisis, which he alone could meet.

The great depression stripped us to real values, material and spiritual, and, working sometimes in the disguise of disaster, it fulfilled this final ambition for Adolph Zukor. (To be continued)

IDAHO TO AID IN IRRIGATION STUDY

Pact Signed With Utah and Wyoming to Appropriate Money for Research

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 4 (UP)—Utah is party to a tri-state pact to finance preliminary study for a $30,000,000 plan to conserve Green river and Bear river waters for irrigation and power production. State Engineer T. H. Humphreys announced he had signed a tri-state agreement between Idaho, Utah and Wyoming.

The agreement was immediately forwarded to John D. Quinn, Wyoming state engineer, for signature. Under the agreement, each of the three states will appropriate $2,000,000 to be matched by $6,000,000 in federal funds, for study of the watershed's possibilities.

Humphreys said the proposed work would entail construction of a series of dams and reservoirs along the two rivers to conserve approximately 300,000 acre-feet of water as a supplementary supply for 250,000 acres of land—135,000 in Utah, 60,000 in Idaho, and 65,000 in Wyoming.

London's smallest elementary school is a tiny classroom near Prad street where the children whose homes are canal barges receive instruction whenever they are in the district.

Suspects at Rupert Charged with Theft

RUPERT, March 4 (Special)—Arraigned before Probate Judge H. A. Boyer here Monday, W. H. Hardy and Earl Kemp, Rupert, waived their preliminary hearings and were bound over to the district court which will convene here March 15. Bond was set at $800 each.

The two men are alleged to have burglarized the Rupert junk company here Friday night. They were arrested Saturday in Twin Falls and returned here where they are now confined in the Mindoka county jail.

This string became, by loose arrangement, an outlet for Famous Players-Lasky films. But when First National hatched its plan, and won away Mary Pickford, Sam Katz, after much hot debate with Zukor, threw his theaters into the new venture Paramount, distributing agency for Famous Players-Lasky films, had to fight tooth and nail for scattered custom in the middle west. By 1923, however, Balaban and Katz had become dissatisfied with the First Nationals. They returned to Zukor, became his main outlet. In 1925, this connection had grown so close that they formed the Public company, and combined it, as a subsidiary, with Famous Players-Lasky.

In the end, Public stretched a string of seven hundred theaters, with big houses in all the key cities, from Vienna to San Francisco.

By 1928, the combination of Famous Players-Lasky, Paramount and Public showed in its annual statement assets of $149,000,000. Bankers sat in the management; but Adolph Zukor, who did most to create it, governed it. He was one of the great men in American business now, and he lived the part.

He had only one worry. The motion picture had found a voice. Ev-

TRADES HELPED CHICAGO BRUINS, SAYS MANAGER GRIMM

CINCINNATI MOST IMPROVED TEAM

Best Defensive Infield in League Predicted for Windy City Club

By STEVE SNIDER
CHICAGO, March 4 (U.P.)—Charley Grimm, portly Missouri hog catcher who manages the Chicago Cubs in his spare time off the farm, admitted today his ball club will be a "heckuva lot better this year" and the number one team to beat in the National League.

Likely to do the beating if the Cubs begin to slip will be New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati, in the order of their importance to Grimm's battle plans.

"The trades helped us and you can bet we won't make the same mistakes we did last year," he said.

Reds Climb Fast
"All the other teams will be about the same except Cincinnati. The Reds have climbed fast in two years and nobody knows how far they'll go."

Grimm indicated this may be his last year to crack down as he threatened every other season. His squad—numbering only 29—is the smallest ever selected for spring training.

With Jimmy Collins, obtained from St. Louis, at first base, the Cubs likely will have the strongest defensive infield in the league. Billy Herman, second base, Bill Jurges, shortstop, and Stan Hack, third, all are veterans and fixtures.

"The outfield is a problem," Charley admitted. "Frank Demaree is the only one I'm sure of out there. Augie Galan will be given every chance to make a comeback and young Joe Marty may fill our other hole."

Demaree Hold Out
Demaree, however, was the most serious of four holdouts pestering the Cubs for more money. He hit 350 last season, easily leading all Cubs, and finished fourth in the final league averages.

Marty, Galan and Tex Carleton also have refused to sign.

"Miss Lon Warneke? Sure we will," Grimm replied. "Any club in baseball would miss a pitcher like that. But we needed a first baseman more and got a 15 or 20 game pitcher besides in LeRoy Parmelee."

The catching appeared set with Charles Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, in line enough to catch at least 100 games; Ken O'Dea, who relieved Hartnett in the midst of the Cubs' best drive last year, again will be his understudy.

BRUIN SLUGGERS SET FOR GOODING

Local Squad Tangles With Senators Here on Tuesday Night

Arrangements have been completed for the first inter-school boxing matches in several years for Twin Falls, according to Head Coach R. V. Jones of the local squad.

The bouts are scheduled for Tuesday night, March 9, in the Twin Falls high school gymnasium when a group of Gooding fighters invade the Bruin lair.

A shortage of the heavier weight battlers has caused the local coaches to send out a call for opposition to surrounding towns, and if any high school coach has an athlete over 140 pounds and up to 170 to go on the local card, he is asked to get in touch with one of the Bruin instructors either R. V. Jones or Ted Primeau.

In battles against Gooding last week, the Twin Falls fighters came out second-best—winning two, drawing in one, and losing four decisions. The Twin Falls coaches expect to make a better showing on the local card.

Matches lined up for the Gooding-Twin Falls clash already are as follows (Twin Falls boxers listed first): Merle Orchard, 139, vs. Arvel Shamp, 138; Myron Dossett, 133, vs. Don Brown, 122; Junior Prazelle, 135, vs. George Aseuna, 131; Fritz Warren, 118, vs. Albert Weaver, 119; Gordon Garlock, 109, vs. Junior Eddings, 110; Carrol Tubber, 130, vs. Earl Bird, 135; Clayton Toiler, 140, vs. Merrill Alexander, 135.

MOSCOW, March 4 (Special)—Final arrangements are being completed this week for the Idaho Interscholastic basketball tournament to be held at the University of Idaho March 18, 19 and 20. Coach Ted Bank, director of athletics, has announced. The teams will be guests of the university during the tourney.

Seven teams representing the six districts of the state will be represented in the tournament and Moscow high school will be the host team. Two teams from the northern district, composed of the Panhandle of Idaho, will be entered in the tournament due to a new ruling of the state high school athletic association.

Tourney's End
Tournaments will be completed this week in five districts of the state with the Panhandle tournament being held in Kellogg March 12 and 13. The tournament will be the single elimination style of play for the eight competing teams.

Trophies are being presented for the championship, runner-up, sportsmanship and the consolation winner. Gold basketballs will be awarded members of the championship team.

Nine Players Allowed
Each team will be permitted to bring nine players to the tournament with the sending of a student manager left to the individual school. The participants will be housed at the fraternities on the Idaho campus.

Games will be played in the afternoons and evenings on Thursday and Friday with all teams competing. The championship game and playoff for the consolation prize will be played Saturday evening.

The majority of the teams are expected to arrive at the university Wednesday afternoon. A coaches' meeting has been scheduled for 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

High scores in the flyer event included Hale Jones, East Alton, Ill.; Ben Heaton, Terre Haute, Ind.; and Oscar Franz, St. Louis, who tied for second place with 24 each. Although the rain delayed the tournament yesterday, all events were staged.

Warneke's Curves on Wrong Side For Mclemore, Behind the Plate

By HENRY McLEMORE
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 4 (U.P.)—I figure that I have six more days as a St. Louis Cardinal rookie.

After that time it will be "Goodby Frankie, so long Leo, be seeing ya, Ducky," as the bus, with water in the brush leagues, and food that needs ketchup.

I give myself six more days because there are nine positions on a baseball team and I have tried out for only three of them. That leaves me six more days and six more positions at which to fail. My failures to date include shortstop, left field and catcher.

Leo Shade Better
I failed at shortstop because Leo Durocher is a shade better than I am at the position. And I want to be the first one to admit his superiority. I am his equal in going to the right and left, but when it comes to charging the ball he has an edge.

My failure to gain a regular left field job was due to Joe Medwick's play. Medwick can outfield, out and outrun me, and thus, according to Manager Frankie Frisch, is enough to warrant Frisch's retention at the post.

The loss of the left field job was a severe disappointment to me, because I had invested fifty cents in a pair of sun glasses. It was yesterday I made my bid as a catcher. Manager Frisch was the one who suggested I seek a catching berth.

Perfect Target
"With your stomach," he said encouragingly, "you'll be a perfect target."

So I put on a protector, mask, and shin guards, and adopted a stance behind the plate. Lon Warneke was in the box, and he asked me for my signals.

"My what?" I asked. "Your signals," Lon answered. "How may fingers do you show for a fast ball, how many for a curve, and all that."

"Oh, I see," I answered. "I was a bit slow on the uptake because the last time I had caught my battery mate was a 12-year-old boy who didn't have anything but a roundhouse curve, and he threw it every time."

"What can you throw?" I asked Lon. "Gotta curve?" "Sure, I got a curve."

"Mr. Gehrig has led such a clean life, that it should be given the youth of America through the medium of motion pictures," Lesser said.

Teams Battle in Two Tourneys

Seven visiting basketball teams, their coaches and followers were in Twin Falls today to participate in the annual Class A district basketball meet, being staged in the high school gym. Twin Falls rounds out the eight-team bracket.

In this morning's game the Twin Falls Bruins tangled with the Gooding Senators and Jerome Tigers took on Oakley Hornets. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Piler Wildcats were scheduled to battle with the Rupert Pirates and the Burley Bobcats take on the Bull Indians at 3 o'clock.

In the Class B tournament at Glens Ferry, seven other teams were on hand for the opening fray of the meet—scheduled to start at 2:30 this afternoon. Eden tangles with Gannett in the first game and Castleford plays Hagerman in the second contest of the afternoon.

In the evening games Malta is matched against Shoshone and Albion against the local host, Glens Ferry.

Night games in the Class A tournament here will pit the winners of the morning games against each other at 8 p. m. and the winners of the afternoon games against each other at 9 p. m.

Color is added to the meet by the presence of bands from the surrounding high schools, all dressed in natty uniforms.

Season tickets are selling for $1 for students and $2.25 for adults, according to Dale Waken, ticket sales manager for the meet.

SPORT SQUIBS

It's a far cry from running before a few hundred fans in Twin Falls and vicinity to what appears ahead for Elmer Mallon, former Twin Falls Bruin star athlete, and sprinter extraordinary. After completing a conquest of Idaho sprinters here and at Boise last spring, Mallon entered the University of Southern California for the fall term.

There under the watchful eye of the famed Olympic coach, Dean Cromwell, the local lad is being groomed for a berth on the 1940 Olympic team. Of course, thousands of prospective athletes-over the country have their minds set on making the Olympic squad, and just a few of each hundred are selected. But having a coach of the caliber of Cromwell is a jump start for anyone.

Last week Mallon participated in a freshman track meet—his first of the season—and came out with 11 points. He scored in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and the broad jump.

If Elmer should develop enough to make the Olympic team, he would be southern Idaho's first entrant in the world's biggest sporting event. Incidentally, he would also get a nice trip—to Japan.

While Twin Falls is "hopped up" over the Class A tournament starting here today, fans in the Murtough section are looking forward to the visit of Olson's "Terrible Swedes" on Monday night.

Traveling teams, such as the "Swedes," are as near to perfection in the game of basketball as can be found in any sport and if they had the inclination they could probably make easy work of such a band of southern Idaho stars as they will oppose on the Murtough floor.

And we don't mean to be derogatory to the brand of basketball played in this section. It is probably as good or better than that played in most sections of the country. But—a team playing together over a period of three to eight years, and taking part in an average of 200 contests a year is bound to have something that the ordinary squad hasn't got.

Detton Victorious

LOS ANGELES, March 4 (U.P.)—Dean Detton, 205, Kimberly, Idaho, dethroned Vincent Lopez, 225, Idaho; Ben Morgan, 203, New York; three Jules Strongbow, 285, New York; Hardy Kruskamp, 215, San Diego, drew with Howard Cantonwine, 228, Iowa; King Chikwaki, 225, Oklahoma, threw Tiny Roebuck, 201, New York; Len Hall, 224, St. Louis, threw Hans Schultz, 210, Germany; King Kong Cox, 225, Philadelphia, threw Hardy Strongberg, 218, Chicago.

In ancient times, a king's glove was a guarantee of safe conduct through his realm.

Campbell, 6 feet, 8 inches, as such. He has played with the team for eight years and the probability is that he will show the fans a few tricks that they haven't seen before in the line of ball handling.

Down through the years Brooklyn has been noted for "daffy" ball players and many amusing incidents are told of some of the dizzy stunts pulled by members of the Dodgers.

A couple of sports writers have written a piece in a national magazine telling of the various incidents that have earned for members of the club the title of "daffiness boys." There are lots of unusual situations, such as the players hitting home runs twice in one season and having the batter called out for passing some of his team-mates on the base paths.

But we thought this one took the cake: It seems that a few years back the Dodgers had a pitcher called "Pea Ridge" Day who was exceedingly proud of his chest expansion. Day had been with the team a couple of years and was probably earning in the neighborhood $5,000 to $7,000 per year. Now Mr. Day was so proud of his ability to expand his chest that he used to delight in going into the locker room, putting some of the other player's belts around his chest and breasting the belts. A couple of the boys had decided that this had gone far enough, and one of them went down to a harness maker and had a special belt made.

As was bound to happen, Mr. Day one afternoon picked up the leather belt, strapped it around his chest and inhaled. The belt didn't break—but three of "Pea Ridge's" ribs did and the Dodgers were out an expensive pitcher for six weeks.

Wins on Foul

NEW YORK, March 4 (U.P.)—Jimmy Oaras, world champion pocket billiard player from Wilmington, Del., held a lead of 11 points over Ralph Greenleaf of New York today at the halfway point in their 1,500-point series.

Oaras took both of yesterday's games, winning 1125 to 84, in 14 innings with a high run of 41 in the afternoon and 125 to 87 in 10 innings with a high run of 46 in the evening. Greenleaf had high strings of 28 and 51 respectively.

Each has won three blocks with six more blocks to go. Oaras' total is 622; Greenleaf's 509.

Wins on Foul

CLEVELAND, March 4 (U.P.)—Eyrelet Marshall, La Junta, Colo., won on foul from Jim McMullen, Antioch, Ill.; Ray Stiles, Cleveland, Calif.; declined. Dutch Heffer, Sherman, Tex.; Danny Winters, Cleveland, won by foul from Fred Hoak, West Virginia; Oki Shikini, Tokyo, pinned Gorilla Parker, Philadelphia; Marty Levy, Boston, threw Bun Jennings, Oklahoma; Al Jurkovic, Cleveland, pinned Herb Emerich, Cleveland.

And we don't mean to be derogatory to the brand of basketball played in this section. It is probably as good or better than that played in most sections of the country. But—a team playing together over a period of three to eight years, and taking part in an average of 200 contests a year is bound to have something that the ordinary squad hasn't got.

POPE PLANS ON DUBOIS PROJECT

Irrigation Dreams of Late Senator Find New Hope In Washington

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD WASHINGTON (Special)—About 45 years ago Idaho's Senator Dubois proposed an irrigation project to be known as the Dubois project and to encompass about 285,000 acres in Clark, Jefferson and Butte counties.

It is now suggested that water from Yellowstone river or Madison river—or any place else it can be found—be appropriated and set aside for the project. Marlow says the land is the best than can be found in Idaho and irrigation will make the desert one of the garden spots of the state.

It cannot be gainsaid that Idaho's increasing population, coming from drouth states, must one day be supplied with homes. Most of the transients arriving in Idaho would like to own farms, but since all available land is taken up, new projects needs must be constructed by new residents. These, we presume, are growing pains of a great state.

In many communities of Idaho, there seems to be apprehension that WPA funds will be diverted from approved projects to flood relief. We are advised by the finance division of the works progress administration that such is not the case. Funds are sent to Idaho each month by WPA on the basis of Idaho work relief needs. Allocations to individual projects, which have hitherto been approved, is a matter for the decision of the state WPA administrator.

When the Idaho legislature recently enacted a statute prohibiting deficiency judgments, it was advised by the federal land bank that no more loans would be made in Idaho. The legislature promptly initiated repeal of its freshly enacted law, demonstrating quite clearly that state governments need federal aid in such problems.

The house of representatives authorized a survey by army engineers of the Snake river. Just as the bill was coming up one of the many eastern watchdogs of the treasury prepared to object. He was opposed to spending the nation's money surveying "these little dinky rivers." Idaho's Congressman White and Clark collared him and in short order convinced him that the mighty Snake is neither dinky nor little. The objection was withheld and Idaho gets another break from congress.

ACCORD NEEDED FOR SUGAR TAX

Special Levy Would Mean Agreement Necessary With Cuba

WASHINGTON, March 4 (U.P.)—Passage of a law imposing a three-quarter cent excise tax on sugar, as requested by President Roosevelt, apparently will necessitate a special agreement with Cuba to maintain the integrity of the Cuba-American reciprocal trade treaty, state department officials said today.

Officials generally concurred in the view that the imposition of an excise tax on sugar imports from Cuba would be violation of the reciprocal trade treaty, which limits the excise tax on sugar to one cent per pound. The new tax, coupled with the existing 1 cent tax, would raise the excise above the prescribed limit, it was pointed out.

President Roosevelt, questioned concerning the matter at his press conference yesterday, said he had not been aware that the measure he recommended would result in violation of the treaty.

The treaty was negotiated to run for three years but renews itself automatically unless notice of denunciation is given six months in advance. The initial three year period ends Sept. 4 of this year.

State department officials said they were not certain what course they would take if the excise tax bill is passed. Some officials believed that passage of the proposed bill would require the state department to obtain permission from the Cuban government for imposition of the tax. It was believed such permission could be obtained in view of the benefits which have accrued to the Cuban sugar industry as a result of the trade treaty and the operation of the Costigan-Jones act.

"Page Boy" Coiffure Starred By Sleek Hollywood Beauties

Inspect the Page Boy Coiffure (top)—sleek, trim, flattering and easy to rearrange at home, the smart answer to the bobbed hair problem. A small hairbrush is used (center) to keep the unwaved hair on the crown and back of the head smooth and flat. Notice that ends are brushed down and under fingers. At night, brush carefully, then tie a ribbon (bottom) around your head to keep hair in place and make that indentation above the Page Boy roll. The rubber curler is easy to put on and comfortable.

By ALICIA HART (NEA Service)

The Page Boy Coiffure, with the crown as sleek and smooth as a monk's skull cap and the ends completely hidden, is the hairdress of the moment. It's a longer bob, and the usual puffs or curls, mounting high on the head, are combed under, producing the effect of an inverted roll.

Some say the style originated in Hollywood. That motion picture stars, weary of ringleted modes and cascades of curls coming unfurled at the shake of the head, sought and found the simplicity of the Page Boy. Perhaps it came into being because fashion is fickle, ever eager for a change. Whatever or whoever started the mode, the fact remains that this new hairdo is youthful and gives the head a well-groomed, chic look.

Simple as it is, the Page Boy, like most good coiffures, needs attention between visits to the hairdresser. Ends of the hair, if not accustomed to being turned under, require encouragement and reinforcement. Also it's a neat trick to keep hair closely molded to the crown of the head.

The first step is brushing. Using a small, light-weight brush, clean and polish every strand, stimulate the scalp, removing all flecks of dry cuticle. Afterward, smooth hair against the scalp, plaiting under hairs first, then smoothing down the surface.

Now tie a ribbon about your head so hair will stay sleek while you sleep. See that the ribbon fits around the base of the crown. Tie it tightly, and not only will it keep our locks in place, but will make a nice indentation just above the turned-under puff.

Put stubborn little wisps up on curlers. It's a good idea to use rubber ones which do not hurt your head when you lie down. Simply slip a small strand of hair through the slit in the rubber curler, then, for the Page Boy, turn the curler under and roll the hair around it. Stretch the hair as you wind to give more elasticity and buoyancy to the finished curl. If you have a permanent, wet hair after you start.

In the morning, remove curlers and ribbon, then brush ringlets down and over your fingers and again smooth down top with a hair-brush.

Explore City's Library And World Is in Reach

It's all within your reach—the world's knowledge and its entertainment.

Explore the shelves of the Twin Falls library and you'll find variety of which most residents of the city aren't aware. Books on astronomy, treatises concerned with evolution, volumes devoted to business law, landscape gardening, the art of photography, card games, dissertations on the art of writing or speaking, biography, drama, poetry, history, philosophy, religion—they are available. Some aren't within arm's length of the desk, the pay shelf and the fiction shelves, the beaten path of many readers, but all are neatly labelled and clearly catalogued.

Those books marked from 100 to 100 are on philosophy and psychology and include such titles as "Race Psychology," "Man and His Universe" by Davies, "Streamline Your Mind," Mursell, "Wake Up and Live," by Dorothea Brande, "Mastering Fear," by Bradley Pittkin, "Life Begins at Forty," books on peace and war and a number of other topics.

Religious Volumes Writings on religion are included in the books in the 200 bracket. Sociological studies are numbered in the 300 section and include studies on labor, investments, all phases of economics, crime, life insurance, business law, to mention a few.

Scientific books are in the 500 group and include varied subjects as "Astronomy for the Layman," "Romanic Copper" by Jorammon, "In Search of Our Ancestors," by Boyle and botanical studies, to mention a few of the volumes here.

In the next section are books on useful arts, a group of volumes which is frequently called for, librarians say. Health, cooking, farming, radio and aviation, a set of books on automobile engineering, vegetable gardening, hat making, beauty culture, tea room management, interior decoration are all represented on the shelves here as well as other writings on similar topics.

Fine Arts Studies An excellent selection of books on fine arts is found in the 700 section and find a representative reading public here, it is indicated by those in charge of the library. Just at this time of year discussions on landscape gardening are especially popular with local amateur gardeners.

A well-selected group of books on art appreciation is on the shelves and the applied arts are also represented with books on art of photography, for example. The history of music is the subject for several volumes and there is a book on card playing.

On the 800 shelves are general studies of literature as "The Study of the Theater," "Discovery of Poetry," by Drew, books on dancing, drama, poetry, and criticism as "How to Read Books," "Effective Speech," studies on oratory, American Poetry collections, English poetry, humor and plays.

Shakespeare's writings and various Shakespearean studies rate a shelf to themselves.

Travel and history are in the 900 section and new books are constantly being added. Some of the later additions are Beverly Nichols' "No Place Like Home," "The Untold Story of Exploration," by Lowell Thomas, "Men and Gods in Mongolia," by Halund, "Around the World in New York" by Berovic.

In the group on the west are "Mesa Land" by Ickes, "Enchanted Sand," by Hall, "Gold, Diamonds and Orchids" by LaYarre is a popular book on South America.

Historical Writings Historical studies and text books are also in this section and included are a number of special writings as Mainzer's "Caesar's Mantle" or "Blacks The Great Wall Crumbles." Histories of the Indians and of the development of the west are of especial interest to readers here.

A large section of biography comes under the same number bracket as the histories and includes new and old writings of new and old personalities. Studies of Mozart, Owen D. Young, Wellington, Richellou, Robert are some of the subjects chosen at random.

Which brings you once more to the librarians' desk—with an armful of books on this and that from simplified psychology to "Father Struck It Rich."

Massacre Reports Exaggerated, Says Italian Spokesman

ROME, March 4 (U.P.)—A government spokesman said today that reports of wholesale massacre of natives at Addis Ababa after the recent bombing in which Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, viceroy, was wounded were "highly exaggerated and an obvious attempt to embarrass the Italian government."

The spokesman declined to say how many natives had been killed. "That's nobody's business but the Italian government's," he said. "Other governments do not give information when they suppress colonial uprisings. We do not intend to either."

The spokesman was discussing a report published abroad that 8,000 natives were killed after the bombing.

"That Coupon Saved me $23 ... IT SHOWED ME HOW TO HAVE A better job for less money"

WE SAW A Devoe ad in one of the magazines. We clipped the coupon and sent for the free booklet on the new Devoe 2-Coat System.

ASKED OUR DEALER for costs. He proved to us we'd have a longer-lasting, better-looking job and be money ahead with the new Devoe Paints.

PROVED WHITER by far than any other paint we have ever had on the house before. Every one who sees it congratulates us on the brilliant whiteness of the paint job we have. And at the same time we saved considerable money.

"Everything I read about this paint being whiter is absolutely true!"

THE NEW Devoe 2-Coat System cuts painting costs in half... does a better job. Here are the chemists' reasons for it:

Devoe has developed two entirely new kinds of paint which take the place of the usual three coats of the same paint. One goes next to the wood, seals its pores, or clings to old paint surface. It prevents the loss of the oils that keep paint elastic. The other forms the top-coat, stays whiter and resists sun and weather. Together, they give a finish that outlasts others 2 to 1 and saves as much as 50% in painting costs.

Get the facts about Devoe's new 2-Coat System. Come in and let us show you how you can have a fine-looking home, and at the same time save yourself considerable money.

Many Twin Falls Residents Test The New Gly-Cas

The Gly-Cas Man is Kept Busy at the Kingsbury Drug Co., Explaining the Action of This New Medicine to Scores of Local People.

Twin Falls men and women by the score are now calling to see the Gly-Cas Man at the Kingsbury Drug Co., this city, where he is meeting the public every day and

MR. C. J. CONWAY

Introducing and explaining the merit of this new remedy. Many have already learned of the surprising efficacy of this new Gly-Cas discovery and are coming to get full sized boxes of it—while others inquire as to how it acts in a solid mass specifically on the stomach, liver and kidneys.

Read what Mr. C. J. Conway, 1608 North Spring Street, Sioux Falls, S. D., said recently in lauding the action of this new remedy to the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting the local public at the Kingsbury Drug Co., this city:

"Gly-Cas was nothing less than a God-Bend to me," said Mr. Conway. "And I wish all who have rheumatism and kidney trouble might try this new remedy at once. For years rheumatism had been settling in my arms and hands, swelling and crippling me so badly I was helpless. I could not bend my finger the pain was so severe. Then too my shoulders pained me so badly I could not even raise my arms. To make my condition more miserable my kidneys kept me in constant agony, back pain, could not rest nights and was up at all hours. Of course my sleep and rest was disturbed and it seemed my entire system was gradually wearing out as I lacked the energy to get about. I had spent hundreds of dollars trying to regain my health—but in vain—until I was finally advised to try this new Gly-Cas—seemingly everyone said it was one medicine that was DIFFERENT—and I found it just that."

"By the time I had my condition was much improved it was almost unbelievable," continued Mr. Conway. "To think a single medicine, like Gly-Cas, in such a short time accomplished for me what all else had failed to do in years. That dreadful rheumatism has now been relieved, rest well at night, kidneys regulated and life is a real joy again. I only wish I had known of Gly-Cas years before and had saved myself all those miserable years. Every other similar sufferer should profit from my experience."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney

POWER HOUSE 'LIES LOW'

Last summer, just before the summer championship tournament of the American Bridge league at Asbury Park, N. J., I predicted that Matthew S. (Red) Relly, of Chicago, would make bridge history.

Tournament bridge was a new venture to him, but, like young Lochinvar, of Scott's poem, he came out of the west with all the assurance of that bold young Scot.

Refreshments were served by the assistant hostesses, Mrs. E. O. Cain and Mrs. H. A. Gibbs. Guests were Mrs. Frank Gott, Mrs. Lloyd Griffith and Miss Evelyn Cain.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting. The next session will be held at the home of Mrs. Helms.

When the tournament was over he had the scalps of several eastern stars, and one of the most important championships dangling from his belt.

There is no false modesty about "Red." Relly knows that he is good, and whether his opponent is a Jacoby or a Burnstine, a Smith or a Jones, he bids and plays as though victory were already in his grasp.

He has a right to his assurance. His bridge game is a marvel to watch. It is as full of color as an artist's paint box.

He plays not only his cards, but his opponents as well. Despite his lightning-like speed, he never touches a wrong card or makes a wrong bid, to quote an admiring opponent who had reason to know his prowess.

Today's hand is one example of how he lured an opponent to his ruin. North's club bid is one that is made a hundred times a day on similar hands. Relly was East, however, and his pass on his strong hand was out of the ordinary.

South had nothing to say, and West made the usual double for a takeout. North did not rescue, nor did Relly, and South, liking clubs as well as anything, passed. The hand was set four tricks, for a top.

Relly opened the king of clubs and East and West made three clubs, two hearts, four diamonds, and one spade.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. R. H. Diamond and Mrs. Al Murphy. Refreshments were served at small tables trimmed in the St. Patrick theme.

Mrs. Robert Helfrecht entertained members of the Hi-Lo bridge club at the Park hotel at luncheon yesterday afternoon. The luncheon table was trimmed in a St. Patrick motif. The afternoon was spent at cards at the Helfrecht home with the prize for high score going to Mrs. Alvin Casey.

Mrs. Harold Fisher was hostess yesterday afternoon to 18 members of the Kimberly Road club at her home. The group answered roll call with current events and Mrs. O. P. Strobeck gave the Federation report.

Following the meeting the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mallory Fisher, a guest, served refreshments. Mrs. George Ling gave the invitation for the April meeting.

LUNCHES AID IN STUDENT HEALTH

Malnutrition Called One of Common Conditions Noted Among Children

Hot lunches, provided undernourished children in the city and county schools by various individuals and agencies, are definitely aiding health problems in this vicinity. Dr. J. W. Hawkins, director of the Twin Falls county health unit said today.

The lunches, and other supplementary items, are tending to abolish malnutrition among grade students, one of the most common conditions found among children as the result of school nursing inspections carried on through the health unit.

Experience of the public health nurses and the physician show that the causes of malnutrition are insufficient food, unbalanced diet and over-fatigue or lack of rest. Only a few cases were found to be caused from medical conditions such as tonsillitis, convalescence from disease, and such chronic conditions as tuberculosis, Dr. Hawkins said.

"A well balanced diet must be available to check malnutrition," Hawkins said, "and the most effective ways in which this can be done are by supplementing the regular diet with milk, by giving hot lunches to those to whom they are not otherwise available, and by giving other such supplementary articles as cod liver oil. For those children who are obviously over-fatigued in their school work, places and time for rest periods have been provided in the schools."

Dr. Hawkins indicated that in Twin Falls and many county schools hot lunches, milk or other foods have been furnished.

"Citations of how the problem of malnutrition in the school children of the county has been met are not intended to be complete," he said, "but it is intended to show that the situation is being recognized and handled through the cooperation of various organizations and individuals in this county."

As examples of the aid being given to the children, Dr. Hawkins pointed out what is being done in the grade schools of Twin Falls. Here hot lunches are served in all the grade schools. These are furnished free of charge to children needing them and who cannot afford to pay for them, and also to other children who should receive them and can pay. It is estimated well over 100 hot lunches are served in the city each school day. In addition to this the Kiwanis club is giving one pint of milk each day to all undernourished children in the schools where whose families are on relief. In the junior high school the P. T. A. is furnishing about 40 pints of milk daily for the undernourished children there, and several individuals and restaurants are also furnishing hot lunches to especially needy children.

In Buhl about 300 lunches are being served daily in the schools and are sponsored by the civic organizations. The cafeteria is staffed by WPA women and no charge is made for the lunches, but the children are invited to bring to school produce which they can contribute.

Hot lunches are also available in the Filer schools. The cafeteria there is sponsored by women's clubs, staffed by two WPA workers who do the cooking and serving, assisted by school girls. The average attendance is about 125, which increased during the winter months to around 200. The standard fee for the lunches is only five cents, but those unable to pay are served free of charge.

All undernourished children at Artesian are receiving cod liver oil and one quart of milk daily, donated by the L. D. S. relief society, to supplement the regular diet.

Some undernourished children at Hansen are receiving milk daily, donated by the Community council and the Methodist church.

What's Doing at SUN VALLEY

(By Evening Times Special Correspondent)

FAMOUS VIENNESE SURGEON ON SUN VALLEY GUEST LIST

SUN VALLEY, March 4 (Special) — Heading the list of distinguished guests at the present time is Dr. B. Kauffmann of New York, famous Viennese surgeon, who is vacationing here with his wife until March 19. . . And a picturesque figure he makes, with his short but substantial build, erect carriage, and bristling mustache, Tyrolean hat and planter's jacket. . . Incidentally, Dr. Jack Prost who has been serving in the capacity of resident physician, was relieved Saturday by Dr. Moser, chief surgeon at the Union Pacific hospital in Omaha. . .

One of our very efficient switchboard operators, the personable and astonishingly attractive Mackensie Smith of Salt Lake City and London, England, is by way of interest, granddaughter of Joseph Fielding Smith who was one of the leading lights of the L. D. S. church. . .

She is usually called the Duchess for she has a regal way about her that seems inborn, as well as flashing big brown eyes and an unconquerable sense of humor. The other morning Terry Lee, who resides with a livid sunburn on the fourth floor of our hostelry, awoke, picked up his phone, and drowsily inquired the time. "Eight o'clock, March 1," warbled the Duchess. "Gee," said Terry, inclined to conversation, "how tempus does fugit. Here it is already March." And was he stunned when the busy Duchess hung up with the reply "Time Marches On."

Having been back to England again, Billy Kuehl, the tiny sprite of a water boy who has a wise word for every one who enters the grill and lounge for his swift bar service, was born and raised in Mill Hill, London, England, and worked for many years in New York and Miami, but now is living in Idaho and is loyal as all get out to that state. When Robert Pabst, sat down in the grill the other day and ordered beer, Billy brought him a bottle of Boise's pride, Bohemian beer. Bob asked him if he didn't have "any Pabst beer, to which Billy replied, "Yes, but Bohemian is better beer." "But I own the Pabst breweries," said Bob. "I don't care," Billy insisted, "Bohemian is still better beer."

Bob Wolfe, meticulous Paramount accountant and auditor, comely though he is of visage, almost always wears a long face, a characteristic that seems common to all accountants and auditors, but he gave way to a hearty guffaw today when he received a letter from a friend of his, just recently married. Somebody gave his friend a dog named Whoopee for a wedding present, and when the couple returned from their honeymoon, they settled down in a new suburb of Los Angeles. The first night there, the dog strayed off and the man ran down one side of the street and his wife down the other, both shouting "Whoopee" much to the wonderment of neighboring citizens whom the new couple hoped to impress favorably.

The earliest type of air conditioning and cooling in buses and trucks was a system employing ice.

DEMAND UP FOR SKILLED WORKER

Calls at Employment Office Ask for Professional, Business Type

Calls received for workers from those registered on the rolls of the local United States Employment service this year indicate a greater demand for skilled craftsmen and those with business and professional experience than in former years, Ray D. Butler, acting supervisor, said today.

Butler attributed this fact partly to the efforts of the private placement representative, Andrew Meeks, who spends his full time in the field contacting employers to find openings for those registered with the service, and also because of the generally improved economic conditions. Also some credit is due the general knowledge that the service is not in any sense a relief agency, but rather a registration place for skilled workers.

Calls Increase An appreciable increase in the number of calls for work assignments out of local files is also noted at this time, Butler indicated. The files contain men and women from nine counties.

With weather permitting, it is expected many projects requiring those from service rolls will start around March 15, and not later than April 1.

It is estimated that during the spring, summer and fall months 4,000 will find employment through the local office in public works and private employment. During 1936 the service placed 6,437 workers, Butler said.

See Big Year This year's total is expected to exceed that of 1936 by far, and the jobs will range from a few days' duration to steady employment. It is estimated that 60 per cent of last year's placements were for periods of at least one month or longer.

There is no cost to register with the service; neither is there any charge for placements. The service is free for both the employer and employee, and any citizen can register whether or not he is employed at the present time.

BEET CONTRACTS DISCUSSED HERE

Rupert Growers Meet Friday With Burley Session Set for Saturday

Comprehensive outline and explanation of the contract adopted this year by the directors of the Idaho Beet Growers' association will feature a meeting of growers planned for Mindoko county court house at Rupert, Friday at 2 p. m.

A similar meeting will be held Saturday at the same hour at the Burley high school auditorium, and today a meeting was in progress at Jerome.

Approximately 125 growers attended the first of the gatherings held in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon. Meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall, the beet growers heard Roy Cottrell of Ogden, Utah, and R. H. Tallman, Idaho manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company, explain the new contracts. Cottrell is the Amalgamated field representative.

For 1937, the speakers said, the extraction figure on the $3.75 level has been increased 87 per cent, as compared to the 86 per cent last year. This year the grower will receive 75 per cent of any increase in value against 50 per cent given during 1936.

The increase in extraction rate, speakers indicated, would tend to lead to better prices of the net returns hold. In addition legislation was introduced in the United States senate this week to revive the benefit payments to growers at the rate of 70 cents per 100 pounds of extractable sugar in the beets, the growers were informed. This would pay out at the rate of approximately $2.18 per ton as compensation for the growers' loss in sugar taxation.

NATURE INJURES ISLAND SHRINE

Sand Accumulation Threat to Architectural Wonder Of Early Ages

PARIS (U.P.)—Mont Saint Michel, one of the architectural wonders of the world, is threatened with losing its picturesque insular character through the accumulation of sands around it.

Technicians and engineers have not yet agreed on what the exact cause of this sand accumulation is, but it is thought that the cause of it is the mile-long dike which now connects the island with the Brittany coast and which was built 67 years ago to do away with the impractical ferry as a convenience to tourists.

The Historical Monuments commission is contemplating cutting the dike which, although it would give back to Mont Saint Michel its former island picturesque quality, would prevent tourists from driving up to the foot of the island. This, it is feared, would considerably diminish their number, for more than 4,000,000 tourists visited the Mont Saint Michel during the past year, and most of them were motorists.

Town Would Be Isolated Furthermore, it would greatly inconvenience the 200 inhabitants of the small town situated under the monastery, who would have difficulty in receiving necessary supplies, and finally, it is estimated that the cost of cutting the dike would be heavy.

Disadvantages connected with the plan are causing much disagreement between art lovers and the municipalities of the surrounding towns. They first insist on all on preserving the Mont's insular character, and the towns fear heavy financial losses through the possible reduction of tourists.

The chief engineer of public works of the Manche department is completing his report, and it is hoped that it will settle the question about the dike.

Ancient Druid Stronghold Legend has it that in 708 the Mont Saint Michel, then a Druid stronghold, was the scene of an apparition of Saint Michael. In 960, it became the seat of a great Benedictine monastery, half fortress, half church. The French revolution of 1792 saw it transformed into a prison, which it remained until 1863. Finally, in 1874, it was declared a historical monument, and large sums were spent on restoring it. The buildings include a church, the first part of which was constructed in 1020, and portions were added until the middle of the 16th century, and "La Merveille," the monastery itself with its 13th century wall 240 feet long and 108 feet high.

Peace Officers Stop

One Punch In 40 Years FARGO, N. D. (U.P.)—J. B. Bingham, justice of the peace here, has been a police officer for 40 years, yet has received only one casualty—a black eye.

Bingham came to North Dakota from Michigan in 1885, and has been in Fargo since March 17, 1922.

As a deputy sheriff, Justice Bingham was trying to persuade an insane man to retire. The man sat quietly in a chair, then suddenly whipped his fist against Bingham's eye.

Ferrets Aid Science

In Influenza Fight ST. PAUL (U.P.)—Ferrets, sly members of the carnivora animal group, today were in demand as "guinea-pigs" for the cultivation of an influenza serum.

As a result, veteran serologists pointed out, the market for the little animals has gone sky-high. The new ferret serum is being tested in New York hospitals, where it is used to build up the anti-toxins in horse blood. This later is used as the antidote for human infections.

One firm pioneering in this new field requires 500 ferrets annually.

Accident Victim Is

At Burley Hospital RUPERT, March 4 (Special)—Facing blood poisoning and possible amputation of his left arm, Horace Bennett, 18, Rupert, was in a serious condition in a Burley hospital Monday following a car wreck Saturday night in which he sustained a compound fracture of the arm.

Broken in three places, the bone punctured a blood vessel and protruded through the flesh in two places. The accident occurred just north of the Burley-Paul bridge on a curve in the road when Bennett and Lawrence Owenslager of American Falls, driving a truck, sideswiped their machines while they were apparently blinded by lights. The mishap was investigated by State Traffic Officer Clarence Phillips and Deputy Sheriff Clyde Craig, both of Rupert.

One diphtheria inoculation will ward off the disease for several years.

TRADE QUIET ON STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK—The stock market ran into profit-taking today after five days of consecutive advance. Trading was quieter. Initial prices were firm. Realizing sales brought leaders down, but support was forthcoming and the list rallied from lows. Many stocks registered advances in late trading. Some steels slipped to net losses. Motors eased. Rails sold lower after the average had been carried into new high ground since 1931. Utilities held a share of gains that ranged to more than a point. Oils were mixed. Mercantiles gained with several at new highs.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

DURING THE GREAT ICE AGE OF THE QUATERNARY PERIOD, 4,000,000 SQUARE MILES OF NORTH AMERICA WERE COVERED WITH ICE!

TOMATOES

FIRST WERE GROWN IN TROPICAL AMERICA! BUT IT WAS CENTURIES AFTER THE PLANT WAS INTRODUCED IN EUROPE THAT IT REACHED NORTH AMERICA, AND WAS CONSIDERED SAFE TO EAT!

A SKIER LEANS FORWARD GOING DOWNHILL, AND BACKWARD WHEN TAKING A RISE!

Curiously, during the Great Ice Age, when practically all of what now is known as Canada, and much of the United States, was covered by ice, northern Alaska, well within the Arctic Circle, was not overspread. This probably was due to insufficient snow-fall there to build up a glacier.

TREES AVAILABLE FOR FARM USAGE

Seedlings for Wind-Break or Similar Purposes Await Mail Orders

Farmers desiring trees for wind-break, wood-lot and similar purposes can secure these by ordering them promptly from the school of forestry, University of Idaho, the county agent's office said this afternoon.

Royal K. Pearson, extension specialist, will bring a truckload of the seedlings to Twin Falls county probably about the middle of March, it was announced. He will bring these ordered before that time, farmers were informed.

Will Supervise

Pearson will supervise putting out of the trees and will direct several wind-breaking planting demonstrations now being arranged. Two of the demonstrations have already been lined up—at the H. G. Lauterbach ranch, Hansen, and the Blaine Van Ausden place, Filer.

The tree program is being carried out under the Clark-McNary act of 1924, authorizing the government to cooperate with the university and the extension service in existing farmers to improve wood-lots, shelter-belt and wind-breaks. Purchasers can get the trees at one-half the cost of production.

Varied Species

Species available on direct order to the school of forestry include black locust, Russian olive, Siberian pea, Siberian elm, Osage orange, honey locust, golden willow, silver maple, hard maple, white ash, green ash, ponderosa pine, Scotch pine and Austrian pine. One or two-year seedlings, rooted cuttings and transplants are available.

Information on prices is available at the county agent's office.

SENATORS CHART COURT DEFENSE

Solons Against President's Reorganization Plan Map Strategy

WASHINGTON, March 4 (UPI)—Opponents of President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization program planned to make their first organized attack on the proposal when Attorney General Homer S. Cummings testifies next week before the senate judiciary committee.

Republican and Democratic leaders of the opposition coalition arranged informal conferences to chart their strategy and to coordinate questioning of Cummings and other witnesses defending the bill before the committee.

They revealed that they intended to expand small office and luncheon meetings—at which they have been discussing their attack—into larger conferences. No formal organization was planned but they will keep opposition ranks united through a loose leadership of half a dozen senators.

Robert Jackson, assistant attorney general, and Henry Ward Beer, president of the New York federal bar association, also will testify in favor of the plan.

The administration pressed its campaign to rally support for the court bill. Leaders reiterated that they expected the measure to pass both houses of congress.

Consolidation of farm support by the President's supporters continued to present one of their greatest difficulties, despite their confident predictions that agrarian sentiment would support the administration.
