EARHART PLANE CRASHES DURING TAKE-OFF

Military Inquest Called To Determine Cause of Texas School Disaster

Contractor Testifies as First Hearings Start

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 20 (UP)—The mystery of the New London school explosion was heightened today by a statement from Marvin E. Defree, the architect who designed the $300,000 building. He said the building had two small basements, both under wings which photographs showed to be still standing. He could not understand how the explosion could have been in the basements, since the walls there were still intact.

Furthermore, he said, the space between the reinforced concrete floor, which was two and a half feet above the ground, was well ventilated and gas was not likely to have accumulated there.

Defree is now an engineer for the public works administration.

By DELOS SMITH

NEW LONDON, Tex., March 20 (UP)—Four hundred and twenty-five broken bodies—one-third of the school children of this oil field community and 14 of their teachers—were prepared for their graves today while a military court of inquiry convened to determine the cause of an explosion that wrecked the world's largest rural school.

The gymnasium of the devastated school, which escaped without damage, and was established as headquarters for the military district was the scene of the inquiry. Members of the board were: Major Gaston S. Howard, 44th Infantry; Lieut. Col. Horace H. Carmichael; Col. Parker; Capt. Clayton P. Kerr, 44th Infantry; Capt. Zacharias E. Combes, judge advocate; Lieut. Edward A. Clark, 11th Q. M. Regiment, recorder.

The general order establishing the board authorized the provost marshal to "execute such attachments as may be issued by the court" and to "compel the presence of witnesses called by the court."

Soldiers Guard
Soldiers with rifles stood about the building. As the testimony began, hearses rolled by in endless procession. The multiple funerals were underway. The five ministers at New London and five at Overton each accepted calls to preach three or four sermons during the day and they had to call for aid. More than 60 pastors from a dozen towns proffered their services.

J. L. Downing, contractor who built the $300,000 schoolhouse, was the first witness.

Air Tight Basement
He said that once the basement had been practically air tight, amounting to a confined chamber, which when filled with an explosive like natural gas, would perform the same function as a rifle bullet.

He said the basement had been intended for use as a boiler room, but after it was constructed, the New London school board decided to heat the building with gas. He was not sure if the change had been approved by the architect.

The hollow tile walls had been set horizontally, he said, but when the change in the heating plant was made, sections were torn out and replaced with hollow tile laid vertically, wherein the natural gas piping was led up from the basement to the upper floors.

CONVICT FORGER TAKES OWN LIFE
L. Rich Is Found Hanging From Top Bunk of Cell In Idaho Prison

BOISE, March 20 (UP)—The body of Lafayette Rich, 48, convicted forger, was found hanging from the top bunk of his cell today when prison guards, wondering why the man had not answered breakfast call, went to investigate.

Rich had apparently hanged himself with a leather belt a few hours after a deputy sheriff had served the prisoner with notice that Rich's wife had brought divorce proceedings.

His bunk had not been slept in, and prison officials said Rich had hanged himself after lights were turned out last night.

He left a note to his wife, giving despondency over the divorce proceedings as reason for the act. "This will be better for you and the children," the note said.

County coroner's office took charge of the body.

Clark Gives Stemmer Temporary Position
BOISE, Idaho, March 20 (UP)—Joseph Stemmer today was granted temporary appointment as director of highways by Governor Barlow.

The position will hold at the governor's discretion. No explanation of the temporary appointment, other than the repeated statement that the governor "wanted a breathing spell" was made.

Natural Gas May Have Made Blast, Expert Believes

Combined With Air, Explosive As Dreaded as Coal Gas, Says U. S. Chief

By HILLIER KRIEGBAUM

WASHINGTON, March 20 (UP)—Natural gas combined with air can be as deadly and as explosive as the dreaded coal dust of mine disasters, Arno C. Fieldner, chief of the technologic branch of the bureau of mines, said today.

He advocated that as a safety measure, a "leak" gas be used in natural gas lines to warn persons when the ordinary odorless natural gas is escaping. This malodorous gas would be injected into the distributing system and leaks could be detected immediately by the foul smell.

Discussing the explosion in New London, Tex., which claimed approximately 425 lives, Fieldner said that tests with explosives at the Pittsburgh experimental station of the bureau of mines showed that the theoretical maximum force of a natural gas explosion was 124 pounds per square inch while from coal dust it was 142 pounds per square inch.

The government's explosive expert said, however, that practically all the tests showed approximately 100 pounds per square inch with both types of gas.

He pointed out that the effects from explosions of gases were markedly different from those of dynamite or nitroglycerin. Gas or dust explosions have a lifting effect, which causes roofs of buildings, in which they occur to be blown upward and walls to crumble. With dynamite or nitroglycerin, the results are sharp and shattering, with none of the general lifting.

Honeymoon Resumed After Night in Jail

HOLLYWOOD, March 20 (UP)—A honeymoon interrupted by jail was resumed today by Margaret Shelby, sister of Mary Miles Minter, and Emmett J. Flynn, film director.

Flynn, Miss Shelby, and the bride's Pekinese pup were lodged in the Glendale city jail last night after an altercation with a taxicab driver that was an aftermath of their elopement to Yuma, Ariz., Wednesday.

Police booked them on charges of being drunk in an automobile. At midnight they were released on $50 bail each.

OFFICIALS HOLD PARISIAN'S DIARY

PARIS, March 20 (UP)—Police catalogued a love diary and hundreds of love letters today in a search of the flat of Magda de Fontanges, French journalist who shot Count Charles de Chambrun, former ambassador to Rome.

They even copied affectionate autographed dedications, framed photographs on the walls. They included pictures from Premier Benito Mussolini and persons prominent in the French political, theatrical and military field, including the wide range of Mlle. de Fontanges' acquaintanceship.

The search was carried on behind locked doors, after which the flat was re-sealed.

MASTERS LASHES AT RUMOR ABOUT PRISON SCANDAL

Secretary of State Hits at Present Low Wages at Institution

BOISE, March 20 (UP)—Ira H. Masters, secretary of state, today exploded the Idaho prison "scandal" with a few choice expressions, and criticized low wages in effect at the institution.

Masters' statement was made in answer to a statement made over the radio last night by Governor Barzille Clark. The governor, giving a general address on the problems of administration, made public the nepotism case which caused a brief investigation of prison policies when he said that ex-Warden Ira Taylor's wife had been employed as matron.

Appointment Delayed
The governor said he had delayed appointment of Joseph Stemmer to position of public highway director because of this condition. Only connection observers saw between Stemmer and Mrs. Taylor's position as matron was that Mrs. Taylor had resigned wardenship of the penitentiary to take over direction of the public works commission.

"I have been advised," said the governor, "that Mrs. Taylor, under the name of Madge Taylor, has been matron out there, and according to the statutes of the state this is not permitted. I wanted to find out where I stood in that respect before committing myself to appointment of director of highways."

Masters said there had been no attempt at "chicanery" in the appointment of Mrs. Taylor as matron of the prison.

Signed List
"I signed that appointment list myself," he said, "and saw her name there when I signed it. If any of the other members of the board had taken the trouble to read the list, they could have seen the name."

Italy Captures Last Ethiopian Chieftain

Practically the last scene in organized Ethiopian resistance to Italian domination is portrayed here—the capture of Ras Desta Demtu (pointed out by arrow), son-in-law of the former Emperor Haile Selassie and leader of the band that has long conducted guerrilla raids on Roman outposts near Dessale. Demtu is surrounded by native Tigrean troops who captured him after a brief battle. Convicted quickly before a drumhead court-martial, he was executed a few hours later.

BOY, 15, SECOND SMASHUP VICTIM

John Davis, Murtaugh, Dies From Burns Received in Train Crash

RUPERT, March 20 (Special)—Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the Baptist church in Twin Falls for John Davis, 15-year-old Murtaugh boy who died at 7:35 p. m. yesterday in Rupert hospital, second victim of a train wreck at Minidoka Friday morning which also claimed the life of Lennox O. Glover, 28, Pocatello, brakeman on the Union Pacific railroad.

The services for the Davis boy will be conducted by Rev. Roy E. Barnett. Interment will be in Twin Falls cemetery under direction of the White mortuary.

The Davis youth, riding in the caboose of a 35-car cattle train which was rammed by an east-bound freight as it stood at Minidoka, was thrown from the caboose to the top of the freight engine. Lumber, thrown into the air by the impact, landed on the boy and caught fire. He was taken to the Rupert hospital immediately but failed to rally from severe burns.

ST. LOUIS EDITOR RAPS U. S. COURT

Writer Testifies at Senate Judiciary Hearing in Washington

WASHINGTON, March 20 (UP)—Irving Brant, St. Louis editor, told the senate judiciary committee today that "it is disastrous to leave the destinies of the United States" in the hands of five supreme court justices "who have usurped the policy-making functions of government."

Brant appeared after two weeks of hearings by the committee found members still divided on the merits of President Roosevelt's court plan. Brant and Judge Ferdinand Pecora of New York will complete pre-administration testimony for the time being.

Brant, chief editorial writer for the St. Louis Star-Times, characterized the court situation as "absolutism without the military power which makes absolutism work" when a majority of the high tribunal takes over policy making while "remaining totally ignorant of the tremendous political forces which enter into public policy."

"I believe," he said, "that the conservative justices of the supreme court are honest and sincere. So was Marie Antoinette when she said: 'If they don't have bread, let them eat cake.'"

Brant said he believed the proposed bill "faulty" because it provides for permanent increase in court membership up to 15.

Union Organizers Move Into Textile Industry

Lewis Committee Will Attempt to Band 1,250,000 Industry Workers

NEW YORK, March 20 (UP)—Squads of union organizers moved into the nation's textile centers today to enroll as many as possible of the industry's 1,250,000 workers under the banner of John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

Sidney Hillman, chairman of the textile workers organizing committee which will command the campaign, said more than 100 organizers are "in the field" and that 500 others would follow at the rate of 100 a week.

After a conference with other members of the T. W. O. C., Hillman announced that the drive to enlist the industry's labor in the United Textile Workers union, a C. I. O. affiliate headed by Francis J. Gorman, would be directed from New York through six regional and numerous sub-regional headquarters.

The middle west will be at Chicago and directed by Frank Rosenblum, vice president of Amalgamated. Hillman said the U. T. W.'s membership had grown to 90,000 up to last week and that additional workers were "joining by the thousands in a wave of organization."

Hillman said the campaign was started with an original fund of $500,000 pledged by Amalgamated. The drive, he said, will be pushed simultaneously throughout the 24 states into which the industry extends and will reach each of its 1,200 mill towns.

Hillman said the campaign would be "peaceful and educational."

SIT-DOWNS SEND MURPHY LETTER

"Don't Intend to Leave These Plants Until Settlement," States Note

DETROIT, March 20 (UP)—Sit-down strikers in nine factories of Chrysler corporation today prepared a letter to Gov. Frank Murphy affirming that "we don't intend to leave these plants without a satisfactory settlement."

"You can do one of two things," the letter, signed by strike chairmen representing 6,000 sit-downers, read. "You can use your influence to see that our grievances are adjusted. Or you can use the state's troops to try to force us out."

"The first way will lead to industrial peace and the elimination of the causes for strikes. The second way will lead to bloodshed, violence and more strikes."

"We are resolved to protect our rights to our jobs with our lives. The choice is finally up to you."

The letter outlined alleged grievances of the workers, including the limitation, it explained, that the workers "stand four-square behind our leaders who declined to attend your conference Wednesday."

"If they had had any part in proposing the sort of boards your conference proposed, they would have betrayed us," the letter continued. "We have had boards before. They don't work. . . . We know that the only thing that does work is collective bargaining. Our employers have refused to recognize the principles of collective bargaining, so we have resorted to the only method we have to make them abide by the law."

SIGNS
BUTLER, Pa., March 20 (UP)—Clerk of Courts Victor A. Campbell posted two signs on his outer office door. One read "Marriage Licenses"; the other, "Fight Tickets on Sale Here."

Campbell had to explain later there was no connection between the signs, that he was just helping out some boxing promoters.

No Injuries as Tire Blows Out On Big Airship

Liner Will Be Returned To Mainland for Repairs

HONOLULU, T. H., March 20 (UP)—Amelia Earhart's $90,000 plane crashed on the Luke field runway at 8:25 a. m. PST, today as she attempted to take off for Howland island on the second phase of her round-the-world flight.

Miss Earhart and her companions, Captain Harry Manning and Fred Noonan, navigators, escaped injury. The plane was damaged, but not extensively.

The craft was speeding down the runway when a tire blew out. A wheel broke off next. The machine swerved to the left, then skidded.

Miss Earhart's representative sent the following message to the flyer's husband, George Putnam, at Oakland airport:

Sends Message
"Amelia in crackup while attempting to take off."

"Tire blew out. One wheel off. 'Propeller badly damaged. 'Oil dripping on runway. 'No one hurt. 'Amelia calm collected."

The plane's momentum carried it another 1,000 feet down the runway before it came to rest lying flat on its wings, 50 feet from the bank at the end of the field.

Earhart Calm
Miss Earhart stepped from the damaged machine. "What happened?" she asked calmly.

She was followed out by Noonan and Manning. "Only our spirits were bruised," Miss Earhart said as she stepped out of the wrecked plane.

"The right tire blew out on us," she said. "Inspection later, however, showed it was the left tire."

Lieutenant Commander H. M. Mullinix, executive officer of the fleet air base at Pearl harbor, said the speeding craft apparently hit a grassy dirt spot on the runway, which caused the blowout. The crash came immediately afterward.

Plane Groundloops
The plane groundloops, turning around once and a half times. Miss Earhart said she was unable to estimate the damage.

"This will not cause abandonment of the flight," the tousled haired flier added.

"I'd say, rather, it will cause a postponement."

Army officers estimated it would require from two weeks to four months to repair the machine. Miss Earhart said she would ship it to the mainland for repairs.

Manning said it was a miracle flying sparks did not ignite dripping oil.

"I was sitting beside Miss Earhart," he added. "She was absolute." (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

BARBER ADMITS CHILD'S MURDER

New York Man Confesses to Slaying 9-Year-Old Girl After Attack

NEW YORK, March 20 (UP)—Less than two hours after the body of a 9-year-old Elmer Sporrer was found today in a sack near her home, Salvatore Ossido, middle aged barber, confessed to police that he had killed the child in the rear of his shop, attacked and strangled her.

The confession was announced by Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, one of the high police officials who sped to the scene when the body of the blond child was discovered on a porch in the Richmond section of Brooklyn.

"It was a horrible crime," Valentine said, adding that Ossido admitted fracturing the girl's skull with a hammer.

The barber, married and the father of two children, was taken to a police precinct for questioning on a similar crime in the same neighborhood a few years ago.

Detectives found bloodstains in Ossido's barber shop and his confession shortly afterward, police said.

Two other Mexicans, Juan B. Gomez, former Vera Cruz deputy and official of the Mexican popular front, and Carlos Alvarez, Mexican political leader, were appointed colonels.

Hix will be returned to the prison, and investigation of Miller's disappearance will be continued, the sheriff declared.

Hix was arrested at Price on a federal automobile theft charge.

AMELIA UNHURT IN PLANE SPILL

New $90,000 Ship Ruined In Attempted Takeoff At Honolulu

ly cool. She is the nervous pilot I ever saw.

Miss Earhart said she would return to the mainland aboard the Matson liner Malalo later today.

Only a handful of persons witnessed the crash. Among them were Miss Earhart's close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Christian R. Holmes, in whose home she stayed last night and breakfasted this morning prior to going to Luke field.

Sickening Sverve As the plane made its sickening sverve and crashed, army and navy base sirens screamed the alarm. A Luke field fire engine and rescue squad raced to the spot. Crash boats, always stand by for takeoff offshore, rushed as near as possible.

The plane was going 60 miles an hour, halfway through the required run for a takeoff, when the accident occurred.

The plane's two motors were damaged. The propellers were bent out of shape. The body was partially wrecked.

Miss Earhart's presence of mind saved the machine from catching fire. She switched off the motors "as soon as things went wrong."

Inspection showed a big hole in the bottom of the right tire. The inner tube was shredded. The right motor was held to the plane solely by a couple of bolts. The windshield, however, was intact.

General Barton K. Young, commander of the army's 18th composite wing, who witnessed the accident, said Miss Earhart was the calmest person on the field.

"I've never seen a flier so calm and composed under such circumstances," he said.

Blows By Plane Army officers attempted to drive newspaper photographers off the field but Miss Earhart intervened.

"Let them come," she requested. Miss Earhart refused immediately to leave the scene.

"I'm staying by my plane for a while," she said.

Miss Earhart's technical adviser, Paul Mantz, who flew with her from Oakland airport to Honolulu, sped to the scene in an automobile.

Blowout of the tire recalled Mantz' concern over air pressure in tires before the plane took off from Oakland airport.

In pouring rain at Oakland, attendants in slickers were making a final check and just tested the air in the tires for the take off.

Mantz inspected the tires and said "I think that's too much. Let 'em out a little."

Plane Loaded to Capacity The tires were slightly deflated and the take-off down the muddy Oakland runway was made successfully.

Miss Earhart's $90,000 Lockheed Electra plane was loaded to a total weight of approximately 14,000 pounds.

The runway at Luke field on which she crashed is as broad as a highway, constructed of cement, and is more than 2,000 feet long.

Earhart Will Try For Speed Record On World Journey OAKLAND AIRPORT, Calif., March 20 (U.P.)—Amelia Earhart will try for a speed flight around the world in an attempt to set a record, her husband, George Putnam, announced here today.

"She will start as soon as her plane is repaired," he said. Putnam, former New York publisher, now executive of a film company, went through several minutes of agony until reassured by Miss Earhart herself, via transpacific radiophone, that she had escaped injury in the crash that wrecked her round-the-world plane in Honolulu.

"Only the grace of God saved them all," Putnam said, after talking to his famous wife. "I also talked to one of the men who saw the crash. He told me that as the plane headed toward the ground he thought to himself: 'they're all gone to hell now.'"

"I am grateful it wasn't worse. Only beautiful piloting saved them."

"distinct possibility" that such an inquiry would be undertaken.

John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, was reported to be willing to agree to the Perkins proposal if Chrysler would go to Detroit and take part in peace conferences.

Has Not Replied Chrysler has not replied but it was believed he still considered it unwise to take any action, preferring to test the power of the Detroit courts to remove sit-downers from company property.

Edward F. McGrady, administration "trouble shooter" in labor disputes, scheduled to meet with Lewis during the day to discuss the situation.

"The company's attitude," Miss Perkins said, "is that there will be no negotiations until the strikers are out of the plants. I am not attempting to settle the strike myself. I am simply attempting to open the way for negotiations."

Probe May Start Possibility of a sit-down investigation was raised principally as the result of a four-hour debate in the senate yesterday over illegal aspects of the strikes, difficulties in enforcing court orders to eject sit-downers and whether the supreme court was partly responsible for current labor unrest.

The house, at the same time, heard Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R., Mich., charge that President Roosevelt took "labor orders" from Lewis.

Hoffman said that the President "is boss of congress, all right, when he's not away on vacation," but that Mr. Roosevelt "gets his labor orders from Lewis."

HELP COMES TO REBEL TROOPERS

Flight Halted by Aid From Fascist and Moorish Reinforcements

By HENRY T. GORRELL WITH LOYALIST ARMY, MADRID FRONT, March 20 (U.P.)—Moorish and Fascist reinforcements rushed down the Aragon highway today to halt the heading flight of insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco's Italian units and make another stand north of Gajaneles, loyalist army dispatches reported.

Gen. Jose Mijang's advance loyalist elements pressed toward Sigüenza, driving retreating Italians in disorder before them, to within 18 miles of the nationalist stronghold, 72 miles northeast of Madrid, government spokesmen said.

Army leaders made public the text of an alleged telegram from Premier Mussolini to General Mancini of the Italian forces fighting with the nationalists, urging them to victory.

The telegram, which loyalists said was found among staff headquarters papers captured at Brihuega, read as follows:

"Aboard the Pola, on my way to Libya, I have received your dispatches in connection with the great battle which is proceeding in the direction of Guadalajara. I am following the incidents of the battle with unshakable confidence because I am sure the impetus and daring of our legionnaires will break the enemy's resistance."

"To crush the international forces will be a great success, including the political aspect. Tell our legionnaires I am following their action hourly, and their efforts will be crowned with victory."

SOIL UNIT FIXES $15,500 BUDGET

Expenditure For Measuring, Mapping and Clerical Aid Set By Directors

Expense budget totalling $15,500 for 1937-38 had been drawn up here today for the Twin Falls County Agricultural Conservation association after a meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

The budget will cover administrative expenses and cost of measuring and mapping farms under the conservation program, according to H. G. Lauterbach, treasurer of the association. The federal government, it is understood, will stand one-third of the cost of measuring and mapping.

The $15,500 estimate will cover expenditures from March of 1937 to July 1, 1938. The funds are deducted from farmers' benefit payment checks.

FEDERAL COSTS SHOW INCREASE

U. S. Spending Million More Per Day Than Present Income

government's income during this period was barely sufficient for spending for general purposes other than relief.

Heaviest Spender The works progress administration was the heaviest spender of any government agency. Its expenditures aggregated $1,384,321,904, higher by $74,498,421 than for the same period of last year.

Interest on the public debt, total—$439,952,917, was the source of the biggest drain in the general expenditures column.

The treasury statement for March 15, did not reflect the tremendous increase in revenue as a result of first quarter income tax payments which administration fiscal officials had hoped would provide $840,000,000.

Latest telegraphic advices from the field placed the total income tax collections in the first 17 days of March at $554,948,541. This was expected to increase substantially when tabulations were completed, but officials admitted that the total probably would fall short of the anticipated amount.

Income tax collections since the beginning of the fiscal year, as of the March 15, statement, totalled $975,175,002, approximately $212,882,000 ahead of last year at the same time.

An interesting sidelight in connection with the government's income is that approximately eleven per cent of the receipts were provided by the proceeds from the sale of baby bonds.

TRAIN ACCIDENT BLOCKS TRAVEL

Track Sag on Alaskan Road Derails Three Cars Near Seward

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 20 (U.P.)—Travel on the Alaskan railroad between Anchorage and the seaport terminal, Seward, was blocked today as the result of the derailment of three cars of a six-car train which was en route from this city to Seward.

It was reported that the train, traveling only 15 miles an hour, was derailed when faulty ties sagged and dropped the tracks. There were no casualties but a boxcar, baggage car and mail coach plunged off a bridge 85 miles from Seward.

The engine was derailed but remained up right and the only damage, aside to railway equipment appeared to be to the mail, which was undamaged. It was estimated that it would require 30 hours to effect repairs.

Officials Admit There May Never Be Accurate Check of Blast Deaths

By HENRY McLEMORE NEW LONDON, Tex., March 20 (U.P.)—The radio voice told of Royal Mail's victory in the grand national, gave the winners of the exhibition baseball games, the price of crude oil, and then—without a change of feeling, said: "Will some one go to—street and sit with Mrs.—? She has been unable to locate her two children, Tommy, aged 9, and Francine, aged 11. They went to school Thursday morning and have not returned."

I went to the address, a little box house in the richest oil fields, in the world, and the woman was almost too tired to answer my knock. Since half an hour after the blast lifted the New London consolidated school on Thursday and dropped its steel and stone and pupils into one heap, she had been looking for her boy and girl.

One of five— She was one of the first to reach the scattered debris. The dust had barely settled when, along with hundreds of other mothers and fathers, she yanked at twisted girders, tore at huge slabs of concrete. From there she went to the morgue—a frame building—with a ragged sheet hung over the door—and tipped from cot to cot, afraid of what she might find.

But Tommy and Francine weren't there. She made the tragic rounds in Overton, Tyler, Henderson, Kilgore, and all the other neighboring towns to which bodies were carried in that frantic hour after the explosion. She was a member of the quiet, shuffling crowds that sightseers saw standing in front of the funeral homes, the hospitals.

"Must Be Somewhere" "They must be somewhere, my babies," she told me, "But I am so tired, and there is nowhere else to look."

She was right. There was no other place, and there was no place for others like her. She was not alone. Scattered over the old fields, in the little houses plucked in the forests of derricks, were more than one family who could hope for no trace of the children they sent off to school Thursday morning.

No Check The officials in charge of sifting the debris of the once beautiful $300,000 school reluctantly admitted to reporters that there might never be an actual check on the dead. For some of the pupils were literally blown to bits when the gas harnessed in the basement ignited and, striking up and out, shattered the building. With the blast went the school records, and 14 of the teachers. No one knows exactly who was in what class, how many children were in the building at the time of the detonation. I saw steel filing cabinets and their contents, hundreds of yards from the site of the blast. I saw bits of clothing, books, and desks, scattered over far away tennis courts and play fields. Blackboards, with lessons chalked upon them, sailed blocks from the building. Gray steel lockers, with clothing hanging from their strained doors, littered the campus.

No one knows the actual number of dead.

No one ever will.

ADEQUATE SEWER NEEDED IN CITY

Health Unit Chief Points to Necessity for Storm
System Here

That construction of a storm sewer in Twin Falls would relieve the present heavy strain placed on the sewage system and make it entirely adequate from a health standpoint was indicated today in a report prepared by Dr. J. W. Hawkins, director of the county health unit, and forwarded to the United States public health service and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"Construction of a storm sewer would relieve the strain placed on the present sewage system," Dr. Hawkins said in the report, "and would make the present system adequate for the needs of the city. The day will come when all cities the size of Twin Falls will be required by state or federal governments to have sewage treatment plants to treat waste before it enters disposal channels."

Surface Water

"If a storm sewer is constructed it will not be necessary to run this water through the treatment plant because it will carry only the surface and rain water which is not necessary to treat before it is disposed of. It would also save money in that the treatment plant would not be required to be burdened with surface drainage. Construction of a storm sewer would also remove the stench which is prevalent in some sections of the city when the present system proves inadequate to care for the proper disposal of waste," the report said.

The report went on to say that valuable projects in Twin Falls and Buhl have been carried on to improve sewage systems. The report indicated that the water the extensive WPA sewer projects in Twin Falls and vicinity and one in Buhl.

Inadequate System

"The present sewer system in Twin Falls is still inadequate during rainy seasons to carry off the water and solid sewage, not to mention the sewer gases," the report said. "At these times flooded areas back wash and sewage odors demonstrate the real need for a storm sewer. Figures and specifications for a storm sewer project under the WPA have already been applied for and, from a health standpoint, it is to be hoped that its approval will be forthcoming," the report continued.

Speaking of the smaller communities throughout the county, the report by Dr. Hawkins says:

"In the remaining smaller communities and rural areas the sewage is disposed of in cess pools, septic tanks, sewer wells and privies. During the year 1936 there were 485 standard WPA 19-proof toilets installed throughout the county. This affected a big improvement in rural sewage disposal, especially in the schools."

"Assistance in improving the standards of cess pools, tanks and leaching systems to meet the proper sanitary requirements were given by the sanitarian in designing five such systems for rural homes. Much of the work done in rural centers was the result of the studies made in the outbreak of enteritis and typhoid fever," the report concludes.

Signs That Never Fail--It MUST Be Spring

A crocus can make a mistake about the season. Boys and girls doff their coats to roller skate and play marbles at the slightest provocation. Even those new Easter parade outfits make premature appearances here and there. But when you add to these phenomena that unaccountable yawny feeling, old men drowsing in the sun, and young couples with far away looks in their eyes trying to appear casual when seated close together on the greenward--well, you can reach only one conclusion--Spring has come. If you need any other proof, look at the calendar. Today is the first day of spring.

CALL MADE FOR CCC ENROLLEES

Over 20 Needed From County
To Meet Quota By
April 6

A call for 20 or more youths between the ages of 17 and 28, unmarried, unemployed and in good physical condition, was issued today by officials of the Idaho emergency relief administration for duty in the C. C. C. The boys are to be from families receiving governmental aid, and must be residents of Twin Falls county, officials pointed out.

The eligible youths were urged to register at the local relief offices before March 31 and will enter active duty on April 6, officials pointed out. Selections are made without any discrimination on account of race, creed or color.

Enrollees receive maintenance and a basic monthly allowance of $30. Of this amount each is expected to allot a major portion, usually $25, to his dependent relatives. The remainder is paid to the enrollee at camp and is sufficient to cover the necessary incidental expenses.

Camp life consists of a balanced program of work and leisure time activities. For those who wish supplementary instruction in subjects of practical value, there is a worthwhile educational program. Recreation and sports are likewise well organized. There are opportunities for advancement to positions of leadership with corresponding increases in pay status to $36 or $40 a month. Camps are under the jurisdiction of army officers but no military training is given.

Medical Care
Free medical and hospital care are given enrollees if needed and if injured they come under the United States compensation law.

Those wishing to join or investigate the C. C. C. were urged by county officials to contact the local relief office.

At this enlistment, it is pointed out that anyone who was a member before, and has been out at least one year after receiving an honorable discharge, may re-enter.

Mrs. J. P. Hunt talked on the significance of St. Patrick's day and gave its origin. Margaret Yeamans sang two Irish songs, "River Shannon" and "When Irish Eyes are Smiling." Miss Lulu Leland played the piano accompaniment. Mrs. W. C. Gray gave two musical readings with Miss Leland playing the accompaniment.

The circles all turned in their calendars with each member paying 10 cents for each holiday. A total of $52 was received to be turned in to building fund.

Spring Officially Arrives for 1937

If the gentle reader observes this little story before 5:45 p. m. today he will have something to anticipate, and if he observes it after that hour he will have anticipated something, nevertheless.

For at that hour, in these mountain states, the season when things are born anew, when the birds sing, and when the sap starts running up the tree trunks will have arrived. In other words it will officially be spring.

With spring officially arriving at 5:45 p. m. today, Sunday will be honored by being the first full day of the new season.

The Twin Falls weatherman, however, doesn't believe in statistics. He ushered in today with a full-blown snow storm, with predictions of more local snows tonight and for Sunday, the first day of spring.

Fines totaling $2563 were collected during the month of October last under the federal Food and Drugs Act.

DEBATING TEAMS OPPOSE GOODING

Twin Falls high school debating teams and one alternate, under Coach Gerald Wallace, will journey to Gooding next Tuesday, March 23, to meet the Gooding debate squads.

Those to make the trip from here, as announced today by Mr. Wallace, are Paul Wright and Bruce Painter on the affirmative team with Ed Benoit and Roland Hutchinson upholding the negative side of the question. Alternate will be Mac Hopkin. The debate will be held at 2 p. m. in the Gooding district court rooms.

Fines totaling $2563 were collected during the month of October last under the federal Food and Drugs Act.

CHAMBER VOICES PARK OPPOSITION

Reserving of Sawtooth Area
Would Be "Disastrous,"
Officials Say.

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce today was on record as being opposed to the creation of a Sawtooth National park and had advised Sen. James P. Pope of its attitude toward the much discussed matter after a meeting of the board of directors held yesterday afternoon.

In explaining their opposition to such a move, Chamber directors pointed out that forest, game, sheep, cattle, agricultural and mining interests of the state as well as the Union Pacific railroad have all indicated they were opposed to establishment of such a park. Their opposition was voiced, along with that of various other organizations and departments, at a meeting called by the state planning board at Halley last Aug. 30 and 31.

Pope Tells Stand

In a letter to F. G. Thompson, secretary-manager of the local Chamber, Senator Pope said he favored "an investigation of the proposal in order that livestock, mining and other interests can make their objections a matter of record."

In addition to announcing their opposition to the establishment of the park, the Chamber also opposed any investigation, charging that the national park service, a unit backing the plan, would "naturally conduct an investigation that would be favorable to their plans."

Sees Disaster

Discussing the results of creation of such a park, R. S. Tofflemire, member of the board, said it would be disastrous to the livestock and agricultural industries. He pointed out that the park "would immediately turn 250,000 head of sheep off their range as well as many cattle," and said that "driving the sheep out would materially decrease the fertility of the soil."

Mr. Thompson was instructed by the directors to use every force possible to secure defeat of the plan for creation of the park.

Local Furniture Store Expanding

With the intention of doubling the floor space of the Sweet Furniture store at 251 Main avenue east, extensive remodeling operations are underway and will be completed shortly after April 1, Bert A. Sweet, proprietor, said today.

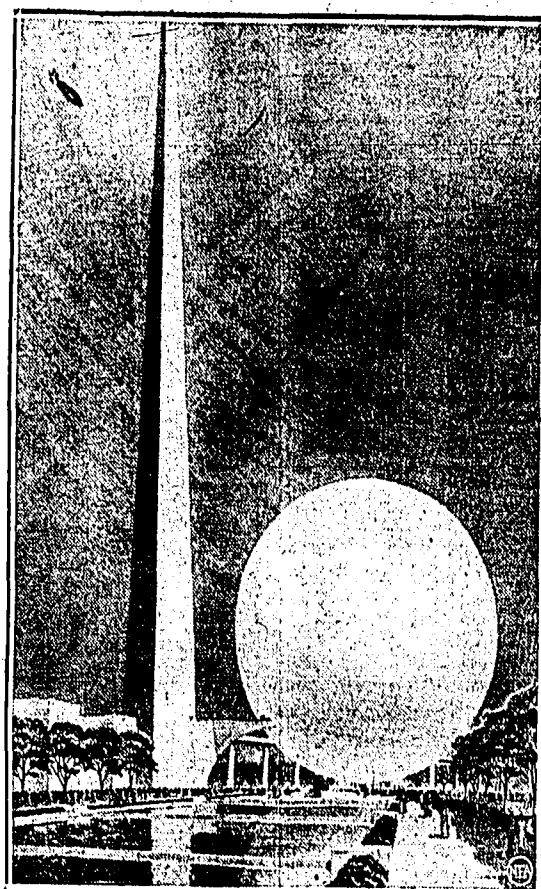

Plans call for the taking over of the adjoining building, formerly occupied by the Evening Times and later the Associated Charities, by construction of large archways in the side walls.

When completed it is anticipated the two basements will be joined, forming one large basement store, with bedroom furniture to feature the ground floor space. A new entrance will be made to the store, officials indicate.

"Lost" Comet

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese druggist who dabbles in astronomy during his spare time has been credited with relocating the dim Daniel comet, missing since its discovery 27 years ago by a Princeton University observer. The druggist-astronomer, Shinichi Shimizu, photographed the comet through a 10-centimeter telescope.

N. Y. Fair's First Wonder

Both inside and out, the "theme structures" of New York's 1939 world fair will dramatize "The World Tomorrow" according to plans for construction of the 200-foot sphere and a 700-foot triangular pylon shown in the architects' visualization. The sphere will house a vast auditorium and the theme exhibit; the pylon will be the tower from which fair broadcasts will emanate. Fountains below the sphere will make it seem to float on water, and it will be ringed by an elevated ramp, on which pageants will be presented.

TREES OFFERED AT FIFTY CENTS

Lower Prices for Residents
Wishing to Do Planting
Themselves

Green ash trees are available to householders in Twin Falls for 50 cents if prospective owners wish to do their own planting. It was announced today by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Price of the trees when planted by the city is $1.50 each. Transportation is included in both quotations, it was announced.

The trees, planted three years ago, are now in fine condition for transplanting to residential lawns, according to Junior Chamber heads and A. B. Hopkin, park superintendent who is directing planting for residents purchasing the trees. Each of the growths ranges from six to eight feet in height.

Funds from the sale of the trees will be used to purchase several thousand more seedlings to insure a future shade tree supply for the city.

Business-Farmer Meet Postponed

Good will meeting between Twin Falls businessmen and farmers of the Milner Low Lift Irrigation territory at Murtaugh has been postponed. It was announced today by Roy Painter, chairman of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee.

The meeting had been scheduled for next Wednesday. It was called off until a later date because of the train crash death of John Davis, 18, Murtaugh, and the injury of Lloyd Davis, father of John and treasurer of the irrigation district.

REACHING FOR ANOTHER RABBIT?
Unless a number of Washington correspondents are mistaken, Mr. Roosevelt is already groping about in the depths of his official hat for the long ears of another rabbit.
This rabbit, when he pulls it out, is expected to take the shape of a spectacular summons to the great nations of the earth to attend a great peace and disarmament conference. A London paper thinks the call will be issued "within 30 days."
The president has been under a good deal of pressure to "do something," ever since the current war scare came over the horizon. He has not moved so far, it is said, because no one has been able to suggest anything he could do which might be of any particular use; but the rumors that he already has his fingers about the rabbit's ears will not down.
We have a tradition in this country that no American statesman ever goes to a weighty European conference without coming back wearing a barrel in place of his pants. Woodrow Wilson's sad experience at Versailles has not yet been forgotten—and no politician is apt to forget what the American electorate did to Mr. Wilson after he came back from Versailles.
An American president who sets out to lead Europe to the way of peace faces one grave danger: he has to succeed; once he starts.
To begin with, a peace and disarmament conference which fails is worse than no conference at all. It leaves the world in a sadder fix than it was in the first place. It increases the animosities and suspicions it was designed to quell. It reduces the world's hopes, and increases that public resignation to war which is the best guarantee that war will eventually come.
On top of that, the American who summons such a conference breaks his country's tradition of aloofness. If the conference fails, America is in European politics up to its neck. By taking the lead in an effort to head off a war, it assumes a certain amount of responsibility for the war when it finally comes.

All these things can be counted on to restrain the president's hand. And yet, when they are all added up and studied, they may not be enough to prevent him from pulling out that rabbit, after all.
For Europe today is all too clearly whirling around in a dance of death. It is no mere figure of speech to say that European civilization is on the verge of committing suicide; it is sober, demonstrable fact. If there is anything on earth America can do to stop the dance and stay the suicide, America can hardly avoid doing it.
And so, in spite of tradition and precedent, we may yet see an American president drawing cards in the perilous, unpredictable European game of poker.

WORK—AND THEY DON'T WANT IT
Those on relief and the thousands of unemployed who are conscientiously endeavoring to secure work must wonder at times just what good they are deriving from the radical labor organizers who now have many of the country's industrial centers under control.
To know that thousands of these leaders' followers are sitting down in and paralyzing factories when they could be at work earning 90 cents an hour, must be discouraging to the unskilled unemployed who are having difficulty in eking out an existence, and in whom the selfish labor organizer has no particular interest.
On the one hand, for those who are most unfortunate and who would welcome even a living wage, there are no jobs to be found. On the other, those who are favored with an attractive wage scale, refuse to work because their labor chieftains want them to fight for principles! And the worst part of it is, they won't let others work in their places, badly as they might need the employment.
It's just another case of too much power being misdirected. Whether our sympathies are with capital or labor, there are extremes beyond which neither can go if we are to maintain any sort of prosperity.

RELIEVING THEIR MISERY!
Recently the United Press carried the following dispatch which serves as a significant commentary on the dictator rule which is forcing Europe daily nearer disaster:
"Rome, March 7 (UP)—The price of Italian newspapers will be increased by 10 centimes (about one-half cent) Thursday to discourage an increase in circulation. The government desires to conserve cellulose, used in paper making, for military uses."
If Duce, who used to be a newspaper man himself, probably feels that reading rots the Italian brain. The action of nitro-cellulose is much more speedy and merciful.
"Roquefort cheese being cured in Pennsylvania mines." Right now some of the miners are probably yearning for a whiff of good old fire damp.

SIT-DOWNS
In days gone by we used to cry
That sitting idly down
In crisis time was fair a crime—
Said "cowards" with a frown.
It goes to show we didn't know
The secret of succeeding
For action never seems a lever
To get what you are needing.
So join the trend and calmly bend
Yourself into a chair;
Let's sit us down and win renown
Serenely sitting there.
Let's sit for pay advances, say,
And sit for lower rents,
And sit we oughter for better water,
Just sit—and triumph, gentles!

It seems quite appropriate to me from where I sit to observe that that rapidly moving glacier in the Arctic area is approaching an Alaskan night club and hi-de-ho spot.

"SQUEAK—HERE I AM!" SAYS GOLF BALL!
Pot Shots:
Twin Falls golf caddies may have to watch their step this season, if any of the golf playing lads hereabouts buy some of the new golf balls I've been reading about.
It seems somebody has invented a ball that gives out a nice audible "squeak, squeak" every so often after being hit.
So you can see that if any caddy should get the idea to pick up the ball and stow it in his pocket—telling the golfer it was lost—said caddy better be wearing squeaky new shoes if he expects to get away with it.

IT ONLY GOES TO SHOW YOU that the gals these days have none of that good old I-love-to-do-house-work attitude of times gone past. As we write this, the Evertimes sassy editor, having failed at talking the janitor and the male members of the staff into scrubbing the linoleum top of her desk, is engaged in vigorously wielding some pumice soap and a portion of somebody's pink putties. Years of dust and dirt on the desk linoleum make it quite a job, and it's plain 'n' to be seen that such household duties as scrubbing don't go well with gals of today. In fact, we sit here with one ear cocked to get ourselves a load of some strong language that might come in handy when we get indignant ourselves sometime.

THIS BEING THE official start of spring, along somewhere this evening unless our almanacs fool us, we give you our Pot Shots staff artist's conception of an appropriate drawing depicting spring in these here parts:

DISSENSION IN THE RANKS
Pot Shots:
I've been following that Bach-celors' club vs. S. O. Worried-controversy in your column for a couple of weeks now without putting my ear into the fight. But that last outburst by the bachelors was too much.
I'm a male myself and I'm not married, either. But any group of men that sets itself up so high and mighty as to say that the girls in Twin Falls or any other southern Idaho city don't measure up to those elsewhere, well, he's screwy. As for all that stuff about the bachelors possessing the ideal qualities themselves and saving them up for use when they find their perfect girls in some other city—fooy. Pardon me, Pot Shots, while I go out and breathe some fresh air to get rid of that odor.

his cheek, the perfume of her mingled with the soft scent of the night air.
"I may," he said, "but why shouldn't we see it again and again together?"
For an instant her eyes opened and looked over his shoulder into the future. She smiled to herself in the darkness.
He had said it, she said to herself and slipped gently out of his embrace.
"Tomorrow at four at Grace's," she said aloud, and kissed the tips of his fingers gently. Then she ran out of his sight. She was breathless when she ran up the steps and let herself into the hall of the apartment house. Then, she stopped, freshened her lips, smoothed her hair. She glanced anxiously at her wrist-watch. It was 1:30 and she'd have some tall explaining to do if Daphne was at home.
Daphne was at home. Daphne, still in her cherry-colored taffeta evening frock, was lying on the lounge with her arms raised and her hands under her head, contemplating the ceiling as though some lovely line were written there.
Jennifer paused uncertainly in the doorway and stalled for an opening line.
"I thought you were never coming home," Daphne said quite unexpectedly. "Your bridge lasted late at Helen's. Oh, Jennifer, what do you think?"
Jennifer sighed with relief and said she didn't think. She knew from the stars in Daphne's eyes, from the flush that laid pink petals on her cheeks, that her role was to listen—a role for which she was grateful.
ONE silver-sanded foot swung beside the sofa. The other twisted back and forth and held Daphne's gaze. "I may be wrong but I think Larry is in love with me."
"Dope!" Jennifer retorted. "I could have told you that a long time ago. What happened?"
"Happened? Nothing, except that he spent most of the evening starting to say something, clearing his throat and hanging onto my hand. Then he dashed off to get his train and said he was going to call me when he got home. Oh, Jennifer, you don't suppose he was trying to tell me bad news, do you?"
"Do you mean he's going to call you tonight?"

The Family Doctor
By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine
Most dangerous of all eye infections are those which cause ulcers on the eyeball. The worst forms are those due to the germ which causes pneumonia, the pneumococcus, and that which causes gonorrhea, the gonococcus. There is also, of course, the danger that results from infection by the organism that causes syphilis.
When the ulcer begins, it is a small spot on the surface of the eye which tends to heal as does any other limited type of infection. Severe infections, however, do not heal spontaneously, and must have adequate treatment; otherwise ulceration may cause penetration or perforation of the eyeball, with infection of the interior and complete loss of vision.
Syphilis, as it affects the eye, must be treated as a general disease exactly as when it affects any other part of the body. It is necessary to have a Wassermann test and to carry out treatment over a long period of time to be certain that the disease has been eliminated.
In some forms of ulcer, particularly in children who have tuberculosis, the eye will be found full of little flecks or material deposited by the inflammation. This is a special type of infection of the cornea and demands special treatment.
Ulcers of the eye are much more frequent among people whose general health is poor. Sometimes the ulcer is caused by damage of the eyeball by a scratch or a clinder, less frequently by germs. In other cases the ulcer is associated with the wrong type of nutrition of the body or with an acute infectious disease.
Those who understand the conditions affecting the eye have available various types of drugs with which they may control size of the pupil, motions of the tissues, and various other factors, so as to prevent permanent scarring, resulting in blindness. Such attention is most effective when given early and not after scarring or deformity of the eye has occurred.
Frequent infections of the eye are the result of poor hygiene and nutrition. Tuberculosis, infections of the teeth, the tonsils, or the sinuses, high blood pressure, kidney disease, or diabetes may affect the eyes.
The disease of the eye will not be improved until the other conditions have been brought under control.

5,000,000 AIR PROGRAM URGED
House Group Praises G-Men In Making $6,000,000 Appropriation
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The house appropriations committee recommends a $5,000,000 air safety program to be financed under a $121,222,000 supply bill favorably reported for the state, justice, commerce and labor departments.
Under the program in which $3,000,000 was the recommended first year appropriation, the bureau of air commerce would modernize and extend radio airway stations and install new equipment designed to prevent accidents.
The supply bill provided $3,418,405 more than appropriated for the four departments for the present fiscal year and was $3,067,887 under budget estimates.
Major increases in the four departments were appropriations for the air commerce bureau, bureau of investigation in the justice department and the bureau of fisheries.
In recommending $6,000,000 for the bureau of investigation, headed by J. Edgar Hoover, the committee praised the work of the "G-men."

STOP SIGN
WASHINGTON, March 17—The most serious criticism of the way things are going lies deep within that warning statement from chairman Eccles of federal reserve. It was obscured from the public eye by the use of technical financial wordage, understood only by experts and economists. But if the public failed to detect the dire intimations underneath, policy-makers around the top here did not. They know Mr. Eccles was trying to stop certain trends, tendencies and policies within the administration and without as plainly as if he had waved a "stop" sign in front of the White House, and the country.

CHARGES
To these knowing interpreters, Mr. Eccles might just as well have mentioned names and charged straight out:
That it is time to call a halt on Messrs. Ickes and Hopkins.
That those gubernatorial friends of President Roosevelt who were over at the White House the other day, begging for bigger relief appropriations, and their congressmen are helping to drive the country toward the inflationary danger line.
That John Lewis and/or the steel companies did equally as much toward the same un-economic end when they negotiated shorter hours and wages which brought immediately increased prices.
That this hour-wage-price spiral trend must be stopped short of curtailing demand or there will be very serious economic trouble.
That he himself cannot do anything effective to control price boosting by further monetary action, as the trend is bolstered by armament, inflation and other factors.
That one thing which can be done is to balance the budget, by increased taxation if necessary.
All these unpleasant and unpopular things he hinted at with more force and clarity than outspoken critics have been able to express.

AUTHORITY
Ordinarily you might guess the next step would be governor Eccles' resignation, but that would be a very bad guess.
There is good reason for believing the chairman of federal reserve would not have made such a statement without first going all the way to the top. It may be too much to say Mr. Roosevelt personally approved everything in the statement, but he, at least, knew about it and did nothing to discourage it.
Furthermore, it appears the matter has been the subject of long and serious debate among a formidable group of new orderers, and that it substantially represents the viewpoint of treasury secretary Morgenthau, if not agriculture secretary Wallace.
Whether this presages a change in certain policies (labor, spending, etc.) is another question. The only apparent purpose of officially advertising these defects voluntarily now was to "call attention to them," that is, to start an argument with the new order. For the present, therefore, it may only mean a distinct cleavage between two factions of Roosevelt advisers, with the Ickes-Hopkins, congressional spenders and the Perkins-Lewis proponents on one side, and the Eccles-Morgenthau-Wallace warners on the other.

SERVICE
These tactics are really water on the presidential wheel anyway in connection with his most serious inside troubles right now. Worry wheel paddle number one is the Wagner housing bill, which would appropriate undecided millions for rehousing no longer called "low-cost," even facetiously. Then there is

ANALYSIS
The basic Eccles theory on the wage-hour-price spiral is that increased wages do no good unless accompanied by increased production. That is, the added purchasing power of the extra money is being offset by shorter hours, which really decrease production and increase prices to the general public.
The government has not chosen to give out any figures, but one of its foremost economists has figured privately that only $1 of a $3 to $4 price increase made in steel is represented by wage increases. He did not figure out how much was represented by increased prices of raw materials going into manufacture of steel.
This, they say, is merely a method of hiding up prices without increasing real wealth, which is production. To them, it is "a tragic illusion," "the same old story of 1920," etc.
The bumps, they say, will soon come when rising prices hit the ceiling and consumers start rebelling by not buying any more than they actually need to live.

AIM
The official explanation why Eccles chose to answer all these questions before anyone asked him is that he wanted to clear up confusion existing in financial quarters as to the purposes of his board. Many rumors were sparkling around since the recent trouble in the bond market. Two respected financial journals predicted further changes in reserve requirements just before the statement was issued. He wanted to douse these sparks, but he certainly spilled a lot more dynamite.

HULL FORESEES EUROPEAN WARS
Armament Program Certain To Lead to Catastrophe, Says Secretary
WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull believes European armament programs threaten either a military or an "almost inevitable" economic catastrophe "within a year or so" unless abandoned.
Hull's reviews were revealed with publication of testimony before the house appropriations committee on the annual state department appropriations.
Hull coupled his warning concerning what he characterized as Europe's "impossible" situation with advice to the nation against accepting pending neutrality legislation as "a sure guarantee of keeping us out of war."
The only alternative to catastrophic developments in Europe, said Hull, is the systematic reduction of trade barriers through such activity as the American reciprocal trade program.
He favored giving the administration "some discretion" in connection with embargo provisions of the legislation.

CHURCH PLANNING
ORATORIO OFFER

Impressive Choral Work Will Be Passion Week Feature
In Twin Falls

Impressive presentation of the oratorio of "The Crucifixion" at 8 p. m. March 26, will be the Christian church's contribution to Passion week in Twin Falls, Rev. Mark C. Cronenberger, pastor, said today as rehearsals for the sacred production went into the final week.

The performance will be directed by Vito Petrone, dramatic tenor who will also carry much of the solo work for the oratorio. He is a former New York City artist of operatic renown. Mrs. Mary Petrone, teacher of dramatic art in the Petrone studios at Pocatello, will give a prologue in the form of a reading, "The Light of the Cross."

A chorus of more than 40 voices and an orchestra of 15 pieces will take part. Rehearsals have been in progress on the part of the chorus and principals for over two months under the direction of Mr. Cronenberger. Charles Shiley will be concert master and will assist in the directing of numbers where Prof. Petrone's voice is used for solo parts. Mr. Petrone sings two of the solo roles and also performs in a duet with Mr. Cronenberger.

The entire work, the pastor said today, is done with male voices taking all the solo parts but is interspersed with heavy choral numbers and the women's voices are indispensable, having an important part in the acapella chorus and the hymns of the suffering of the Son of Mary.

The oratorio is a meditation on the passion of the Redeemer. The music was written by J. Stainer, an English organist and distinguished composer and professor of music at Oxford in the 1890s.

No admission will be charged for the presentation here.

The cost will be 20 or 25 cents and the time will be immediately following the service at the falls. OPERETTA EARNS

Junior High School's Offering
Wins Praises of Crowd
In Final Showing

"Windmills of Holland," junior high school operetta, charmed a large audience of parents and friends at the final performance last evening. The large cast of principal characters and choruses was directed by Miss Eunice Ewer and Harley B. Smith.

Charles Thomas as Mynheer Hertenbosch, called forth many a laugh with his comical portrayal of the wealthy Dutch land owner who is very proud of his drum playing ability. The work of Helen Bagley as Van Hertenbosch, the mother and pacifier, was highly effective.

Mickey Humphrey and Melba Homes as the two Dutch daughters carried the brunt of the musical performance as well as sustaining the love interest which was supplied by Milo Pearson as Hans and Charles Crane as Franz.

Complications in the love affairs of the two girls followed the advent of Donny Toolson as Bob Yankee, an American salesman, upon the peaceful Dutch landscape.

The leading characters were ably supported by Betty Babcock as Katrina the country belle, Billy Brooks as Little Gob, Billy Shepherd the captain's son, and the two Dutch dancers, Shirley Wilson and Lois Olson.

Before the curtain went up on the first act the junior high school orchestra under the direction of J. T. Bainbridge, played three numbers. Music during intermission was also furnished by the same organization.

High school students aided with music in the second act in the form of a string quartet. Those participating were Darlene Werner, Melba Smith, Jean McGavin and Julia Shepherd.

IDAHO FALLS FAVORED FOR CAGE TITLE AFTER OAKLEY WIN

HORNETS BEATEN IN SEMI-FINALS

Tigers Score 58-24 Win; Play Wallace for 1937 Crown At Moscow Tonight.

Tonight the Tigers will battle Wallace, the tourney darkhorse, for the championship. The Wallace team upset the host Moscow quint 19-10 in a hard-fought battle in the final game on yesterday's program. Oakley gained a 2-0 lead in the first period, and was ahead 4-2 a minute later, but that was the best the Hornets could do for the remainder of the game. From there on the Tiger squad took charge of the scoring and were ahead 13-7 at the quarter. The same pace was kept up in the second stanza and the intermission arrived with Idaho Falls ahead 26-12.

The third period was a walk-away as the Tigers counted 20 points to the Hornets six. Idaho Falls reserves played in the final period, but the Cranney men couldn't hit their stride enough that late in the game to gain on the leaders. Third period score was 46-18.

For Idaho Falls Harris collected 14 points, Filston 12 and Beale 10. Goring and Critchfield each collected six for the losers.

The lineups and summary:

Idaho Falls (39)—Beale (10) and Packard (8), forwards; Jorgensen (7), center; Deardon (3) and Harris (14), guards. Substitutions: Filston (12), Graham (2) and Albaugh (4).

Oakley (24)—Goring (6) and Critchfield (8), forwards; Clark, center; Bell and Smith (8), guards. Substitutions: Dayley (2), Ellison (2), Voyce, Bedke (2).

BRIDGES' INJURY IS NOT SERIOUS

Star Detroit Pitcher Finds Hurt Is Only Torn Muscle

LAKELAND, Fla., March 20 (U.P.)—Pitcher Tommy Bridges returns to the Detroit camp today after a hospital examination in Miami for a side injury. An aggravated swelling was only a torn muscle, and not a hernia. He will probably not be out of uniform more than 10 days. Manager Mickey Cochrane announced that Auker, Wade and Gill will pitch against Cincinnati in Tampa today. Hank Greenberg will be the only regular in the infield.

REDS PLAY TIGERS
TAMPA, Fla., March 20 (U.P.)—The Detroit Tigers play their first game of the exhibition season today against the Cincinnati Reds who yesterday evened their two-game series with the New York Yankees by slugging out a 7-3 victory.

GRIMES LEADS DODGERS
CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 20 (U.P.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers play their first game under the managerial reins of Burt Grimes today when they meet the Philadelphia Phillies. The Dodger regulars won a 4-2 decision over the Yankigans in a six-inning practice game yesterday. The Phils, who lost their only exhibition start of the year to the Boston Red Sox, also engaged in a six-inning intra-team affair at Winterhaven yesterday which the regulars took, 6-3.

FIVE NEW PLAYERS
SAN ANTONIO, March 20 (U.P.)—Manager Rogers Hornsby started the first game of the "grapefruit season" at New Braunfels with five new players in the field. Joe Vosmik and Billy Knickerbocker of the Cleveland Indians; Ethan Allen of the Chicago Cubs; Gerald Lipscomb of Atlanta and Julio Bonetti of Des Moines all exhibited under Browns colors for the first time. Bonetti was lead off man on the mound.

Buffalo Graveyard
PIERRE, S. D. (U.P.)—Discovery by Fred Jennewein of the Federal writers' project of a strange "buffalo" graveyard has scientists "buffaloed." The graveyard consists of mounds of bones buried in layers under many feet of earth on the Grand River, south of Lemmon.

Quite a Handful of Baseballs

Ernie Lombardi, big, genial catcher of the Cincinnati Reds, puts a lot of ball players to shame as he holds seven regulation baseballs in his huge paw. So many players, you know, too often can't hold even one.

Dean Promises to be 'Mad' if He Loses Hubbell Tilts This Year

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 20 (U.P.)—The annual Dizzy Dean comic opera ended today with Dizzy's name on a St. Louis Cardinal contract after a hectic "on again, off again" interlude.

All count of the number of times that Dean "quit baseball forever" last week was lost. He changed his mind for the final time after walking around the block "to cool off" on advice of his wife and ended his holdout stage at 10:18 p. m., as officially noted by a harried group of reporters.

Dizzy not only signed for half of the $50,000 he had demanded, but he promised to be a good little boy and not say any more mean things about his Cardinal bosses. This last clause irritated Dean more than trimming off his salary demand.

Walks Out on Meet
He walked out on the first two conferences before agreeing to a one year salary agreement, reliably reported to be $25,500, an increase of $500, with no bonus clauses attached.

"For crims sake," Dean called out at the first conference, "what are you asking me to do? I told you I'll pitch my arm off and I can't do any more."

"Yes, but there's something more than pitching your arm off in this organization," President Sam Bronfman replied. "You can't be the manager and not say any more mean things about his Cardinal bosses. This last clause irritated Dean more than trimming off his salary demand."

Frisch Is Manager
"Yeah, I'm the manager," shouted Frankie Frisch.

"What we want to get straight before we allow you to sign this contract is that you'll quit popping off," Bronfman said.

"If Dizzy's gotta promise to be one of those little Lord Fauntleroy's, then he don't want to sign," Dean said. "I get hot when I lose a tough game, and I'm telling you if I lose some more of those 2-1

Borrowed Five Spot Aided Braddock On Road to World's Championship

By STEVE SNIDER
(Punch-Hitting for Henry McElmore)

CHICAGO, March 20 (U.P.)—The woods are full of guys who helped Jimmy Braddock get off relief. Most of them remembered it the night Jim out-smothered Max Baer for the heavyweight championship. Most of them Braddock never heard of.

But back in 1933, when a shave and a haircut meant the chance for a down-at-the-heels light heavyweight to start his Cinderella comeback, a five dollar bill changed hands.

It was just a five, but it clipped the thick, blue stubble of Braddock's chin and a shaggy mane off his neck. He looked like another man. The Illinois Boxing commission, reversing an opinion that he was unfit to fight, decided to take a chance.

Fed to Killer
Jim was fed to a wild-eyed, killed-one Martin Levandowski, the Michigan whameroo, and upset him. Next came Corn Griffin and Art Lasky and Max Baer.

Behind his lavender tinted glasses, Joe Foley's weak brown eyes glinted a tiny sparkle.

"Ole Jim never forgot that five bucks and he never will," Foley sighed. "Ole Jim got his big chance right here in Chicago with a shave and a haircut and a pressed suit."

"That's why we're so sure Jim will fight for his title against Joe Louis out there in Comiskey park next June. 22. Not in New York or Berlin or Oshkosh."

Foley, one time sports editor, publicity agent and now sole promoter of the biggest fight since the second Tunney-Dempsey business in 1927, may or may not believe in the power of the five bucks.

Champion's Money
He doesn't have to. The day he puts tickets on sale, he can fill more than $500,000 worth of applications on file. The guarantee of $500,000 to Braddock—termed "sky-high, unbelievable and he'll never get that kind of money" when the deal first was announced—can be placed in a bank the same day.

"That's the champion's money," Foley said. "He'll never get dough like that in Berlin."

Spontaneous ticket orders were the heaviest for any bout since the record-smashing Dempsey-Tunney gate of 1927.

Part was due to the attraction Braddock vs. The Bomber. Part was due to the fact late comers in 1927 had to sit on the outer fringe of Soldier field, some three blocks more or less from the ring.

"We won't even print tickets for the spots you cannot see from in Comiskey park," Foley said. "We'll get 80,000 customers in there and every one will see the bout."

More Whoopie
Economic experts predicted for every dollar spent at the fight, at least five more would drop into the tills at hotels, night clubs and restaurants. A million-dollar fight gate, a $700,000 mutual handle at the American derby revived at Washington park June 19, and $5,000,000 more in whoopie over the week-end.

All, perhaps, for a five-dollar bill in the right spot. Whose fin was it? It was a collection. Down in the musty training gym, they fell sorry for a washed up pug named Braddock. (Copyright, 1937, United Press)

CCC ON SHOOTING SPREE
HONOLULU (U.P.)—CCC enrollees insist they established a world's record when they shot down more than 3,000 wild sheep in six hours. The sheep were overrunning lands adjacent to the national park and seriously injuring trees by nibbling them.

The State, War, Postoffice and Treasury departments of the United States are as old as the government, and had their counterparts before addition of the Constitution.

ROOKIE HANDLEY IN BUGS' INFIELD

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 20 (U.P.)—Manager Pie Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates today named Willie Hoyt, Mace Brown, Jim Weaver, Red Lucas, Bill Swift and Southpaw Ken Heintzelman to pitch three innings each in the first regular-yannigan training camp game Sunday. The regulars infield will have the $20,000 rookie, Lee Handley, at second, teaming with Gus Suhr, Arky Vaughan and Bill Brubaker.

CUB YANNIGANS WIN
AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Calif., March 20 (U.P.)—The yannigans held three straight victories over the regulars in the Chicago Cubs' training series today. The regulars, shut out 3-0 in yesterday's game. In two games have made a grand total of one unearned run. Roy Parmelee, doing his first pitching as a Cub, held the regulars to one single in the first three innings yesterday. That was a hit by Joe Marty, rookie outfielder. Tex Carleton completed the whitewashing of the regulars.

SOX START EXHIBITIONS
PASADENA, Calif., March 20 (U.P.)—The Chicago White Sox started a long series of exhibition games today. The first game was with the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league club at Ontario, its spring camp. Jim Dykes planned to split the pitching among Bill Dietrich, John Rigney and Frank Ralish, the latter two rookies. Vernon Kennedy, John Whitehead and Monty Stratton will pitch Sunday. Today's starting lineup was made up of regulars, as follows: Radcliff, lf; Walters, rf; Rosenthal, cf; Bonura, lb; Appling, ss; Hayes, 2b; Mesner, 3b; Sewell, c.

VARDON, FAMED GOLFER, IS DEAD

English Player Considered One of Best of All Time; Made "Who's Who"

LONDON, March 20 (U.P.)—Harry Vardon, 66, one of Great Britain's most famous golf players, died today.

He was killed, before the years of Bobby Jones, the greatest name in golf. He won the British open championship six times between 1895 and 1914, when at the age of 44 the World was stopped his golfing for four years. He was second in the open championship four times.

In 1900, Vardon made his first visit to the United States to win the open championship.

So great was Vardon's name that he attained a place in the British "Who's Who," a feat almost impossible for a professional athlete.

In all, Vardon was winner of 62 first class tournaments, including the German open in 1900.

He was author of "The Complete Golfer and How to Play Golf" and "My Golfing Life." In recent years he was professional at the South Herts golf club near London.

Vardon died at his home at Whetstone of complications resulting from a chill.

GHOSTS LOSE TO JEROME MOOSE

Negroes Drop 39-46 Tilt on North Side Floor; Play Here Tonight

JEROME, March 20 (Special)—For the second consecutive evening, the barnstorming Negro Ghosts of Blount City, Ia., found the going in south central Idaho a little too rough and took it on the chin 46-39 from the Jerome Moose. Thursday night the Ghosts had been defeated by the Rupert Boosters.

Tonight the Ghosts meet the high scoring Orange Transportation on the local floor and the chances are that they will find just as tough a row to hoe all the way last night. Jerome led a 22-14 advantage at the half time. Hood, the Negro's long shot artist, topped the scoring for the colored boys, while Ray Turner and Johnny Wells each collected 13 points for the Moose.

The lineups and summary:

Jerome Moose (46): Adkins (7) and Williams (8), forwards; Turner (13), center; Olds (2) and Shawver (13), guards. Substitutions: Wells (13), Marquess, Stanford and Beal.

Negro Ghosts (39): Fulton (2) and Hood (17), forwards; Dempsey (8), center; Wilkinson (12) and Pearson, guards.

Negro Ghosts to Be Pitted Against Oranges Tonight

Headlining a "three-star" program here tonight, the Negro Ghosts, barnstorming basketballers from Iowa, will tangle with the Orange Transportation quint.

In preliminaries, the Do-Nut league title of the Twin Falls high school league will be settled as the Class A leaders, the Black Angels, will tangle with the Class B champs, the Badgers, in the opener.

Phillips 66 to Battle Denver Team for Title

By HAROLD NIKKEL

DENVER, March 20 (U.P.)—Safe-way Stores of Denver and Phillips 66 Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., will play tonight for the basketball championship of the nation in the final game of the 1937 national A. A. U. tournament at the City auditorium.

The winner will bring a new national champion to the front. The towering Globe Refiners of McPherson, Kan., who won the event last year, have disbanded.

Rated Toss-Up
Phillips, the future book favorite, has lost ground as the games progressed and the battle tonight is rated as a "toss-up." The Denver grocers had the advantage of hometown partisanship.

The Safeway five, under the tutelage of Coach Everett Shelton, is the first Colorado team ever to advance beyond the quarter-finals of the national meet.

Both finalists entered the title fray under wraps, although both semi-final games were bitterly contested.

Oilers First
The Oilers were first to gain a finalist berth with a 43-to-33 victory over Santa Fe Trails of Kansas City.

Safeway coasted into the other final position to the plaudits of a wildly cheering crowd of 7,000 with a 49-to-32 win over Laemmle Stars of Hollywood.

Santa Fe Trails' 43-to-42 decision over Kansas City Life of Denver in the last 15 seconds of a hectic contest Thursday night appeared to be the deciding factor in their semifinal tilt with Phillips Oilers until late in the last half when the Bartlesville five needed only to stall for the decision.

ARMSTRONG WINS NEW YORK FIGHT

California Negro Punches Out Decisive Decision Over Aldo Spoldi

NEW YORK, March 20 (U.P.)—Henry Armstrong, the California "black spider," was touted today as the most sensational featherweight puncher seen for years in New York.

In his second eastern appearance Armstrong, recognized as featherweight champion in California and affiliated states, gave Aldo Spoldi, a full-grown lightweight from Milan, Italy, an unmerciful beating in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

Outweighed 84 pounds—135 to 126½—the ever advancing west coast Negro won every round but two.

The only thing that saved Spoldi from being knocked out—the fate of New York's feather champ Mike Bellosse last week—was some rapid back-pedaling in the ninth and tenth rounds.

Oregon and Washington State Battle for Title
PULLMAN, Wash., March 20 (U.P.)—The University of Oregon and Washington State college basketball teams will clash here tonight to decide the championship of the northern division of the Pacific coast conference.

The winning team will play Stanford university for the coast title.

'HOPPERS PERIL CANADA'S GRAIN

Great Western Wheat Area to Be Battleground for Man and Pests

OTTAWA, Ont., (AP)—Canada is preparing for a great struggle against the most dreaded scourge of agriculture—grasshoppers.

The battlefield will extend over an area of 53,000,000 acres of valuable farmlands in Canada's three Prairie Provinces—Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the defenders will be armies of scientists, government workers, and farmers armed with poison and other weapons, and the object of the battle will be to prevent the pests from destroying the west's 1937 wheat crop. The struggle will begin this spring, and nature will decide the outcome.

The Canadian government has officially warned the country of the gravity of the impending menace. Reading from a report prepared by experts in Parliament, Minister of Agriculture J. G. Gardiner declared that "egg surveys" conducted after last autumn's extensive drought indicated that the general grasshopper situation for 1937 was much more serious than for 1936. He estimated that the territory infested has increased by 9,500,000 acres to nearly 53,000,000 acres.

Organized Control Stressed

The increase, the survey revealed, occurred in all categories, and the danger was worst in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Organized control campaigns will be necessary throughout about 12,000 square miles of territory in the three provinces.

The survey indicated an increase of about 280 square miles in the so-called "very severe" zones, 6,600 square miles in the "severe" zones, 8,800 square miles in the "moderately infested" and 1,000 square miles in the "lightly infested" areas.

The government is doing everything possible to lessen the danger, but has admitted that no completely efficient method of control has yet been devised. Plague conditions in Canada depend largely on condition in the United States.

Traced to U. S.

Grasshoppers, whose eggs are now threatening Canada's wheat crops, were "American born." Originating somewhere in the central portion of the United States prairie region, they invaded the Canadian West in huge droves last year, flying at great heights, some times in swarms thick enough to darken the sky. In one case at least, a flight of the pests actually grounded an airplane.

The government, scientists and farmers are basing their main hopes that a crop failure will be averted on weather conditions and are uncertain of the outcome. They point out that no completely effective system of checking a plague has been found anywhere in the world once the pests, encouraged by favorable weather, begin hatching and devastating crops.

Work Resumed on U. I. S. B. Building

POCATELLO, March 20 (Special)

With milder weather, work has resumed on the vocational education building at the University of Idaho, southern branch. The foundations have been dug, lumber is being hauled. During bad weather rock, sand, and gravel, were hauled to the site.

The building will be in T shape, with the larger occupying the head of the T. It will measure 63 x 116 feet. The lower part, measuring 62 x 106 feet will have two stories. The lower part will be occupied by auto mechanics, body and fender, automotive electricity and painting classes. The upper story will have classrooms and shops for carpentry and trade dressmaking.

Missing Button

The missing button caused this bust of Grover Cleveland to gather dust among an old stock of tombstones for 43 years. Now the bust has been brought out to be placed in the Buffalo city hall in celebration of the centenary of Cleveland's birth. The bust originally was rejected because of the missing button.

How is your roller skating technique? News of the good time Hollywood folk had at the roller-skating party given by the movie famous Ginger Rogers and millionaire Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt (they're together in arm in arm) has spread so far that hosts looking for novel ways to entertain may put you to the test on a slick floor any time. Miss Rogers got the idea for the party when appearing in a skating sequence in a new movie.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

The flight of Orville Wright, on the 17th day of December, 1903, proved to the world that man could fly. For a brief 12 seconds a mechanically driven plane had supported itself in air. Before the day was over, a flight of 59 seconds was accomplished.

JEROME PUSHES NEW HOME UNIT

Statewide Group Expanding
As Fourth County Acts to Adopt Program

Steps toward organization of a unit of the American Citizens Protective association, a homebuilding group, in Jerome county were underway today following a pre-organization meeting held last night in the county court house at Jerome.

The meeting, which was addressed by Mayor Duncan McD. Johnston, of Twin Falls, was attended by Jerome city and county officials as well as representative citizens.

Separate Unit
At first it was planned to organize Jerome county as a part of the organization in Twin Falls county but at last night's meeting it was decided to establish a separate organization there. The Twin Falls unit was organized recently by Thomas McDougall of Pocatello, state organizer and president of the association. McDougall was in Boise today conferring with state officials relative to the securing of a federal loan to finance the homes.

At last night's meeting Mayor Johnston, a member of the advisory board of Twin Falls county, outlined the advantages to be found under the system and told what was being done in Pocatello, birthplace of the movement. He said the association had the approval of himself and many prominent Twin Falls business and professional men and women. He said Jerome would be the fourth county to organize.

It is expected that Mr. McDougall, on his return from Boise the first part of next week, will address another meeting to be called for Jerome.

Officers Speak
Also present at the meeting last night and adding to the discussion were Eugene Scott, president of the Twin Falls county unit; Al Hacker, chief of research; John Hollon, vice president; and Lulu Hacker, secretary of the local group.

An information bureau, under the direction of Mr. Hacker, is maintained at the City hall in Twin Falls to answer all questions relative to the program. Mr. Hacker is available each day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., excepting Sunday and Monday, and from 9 a. m. to 12 noon Saturday.

VIOLATORS FINED IN OVER-PARKING

Police Check-Up Finds Many
Motorists Disregarding
Two-Hour Limit

Despite publicity given in newspapers regarding enforcement of two hour parking limit on certain downtown areas, one round yesterday afternoon by local police disclosed 38 violations, officers disclosed today.

Under the law each violator is required to furnish bond of $1 which is forfeited if he fails to appear before Police Judge S. Claud Stewart.

The restricted two hour parking area, police indicate, extends two blocks on Main east and one block on Main north from the intersection of Main and Shoshone and one block each way on Shoshone street. The area is posted and the two hour limit applies from 1 a. m. to 6 p. m. Monday through Friday, and from 1 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Saturday.

Spring Styles on Spanish Frontier

The natty appearance of Spanish rebel troops is an amazing contrast to the rag-tag revolutionaries of tradition. The Moors (left) who comprise Insurgent Leader Francisco Franco's personal guard are picturesque in white turbans and robes. Those at right look more like soldiers on dress parade than victorious fighters entering captured Malaga. Their multi-colored, heavily braided blouses, shiny boots and steel helmets indicate how well the revolution is financed.

And on their report of the incident this morning was one word in the "Result of Investigation" space.
