DEMOCRAT HEADS SEEK TO RESCUE TENANT PROGRAM

Senate Agricultural Group Meets to Reconsider FDR Measure

SOIL AID IS EXTENDED

House Committee Awaits for Submission of Wallace Sugar Bill

By MACK JOHNSON WASHINGTON, April 6 (UP)—Democratic leaders in the house sought today to rescue President Roosevelt's $50,000,000 farm tenant program from the scrap heap. The farm tenancy measure was apparently killed last week by a 13 to 11 vote in the house agriculture committee after six weeks of bitter wrangling and after its endorsement by President Roosevelt. The committee, however, is scheduled to meet today in secret session to consider a motion offered by Rep. Gerald J. Boleau, Wis., which would permit the group to reconsider its previous action. Last week's vote was the first major blow to the President's program this session.

Approves Bill Meanwhile, the senate prepared to act on an administration bill which the house approved yesterday without a record vote, extending from Dec. 31, 1937 until Dec. 31, 1941, authority for the secretary of agriculture to make direct federal payments to farmers complying with the soil erosion and conservation act. The extension was necessary when it was found that states would be unable to set up their administrative machinery in time to take over the payments next year from federal grants to them as provided in the original act. The house agriculture committee approved early today a revised draft of the administration's sugar quota bill from Secretary of

AID PROMISED TO STOP SIT-DOWNS

CIO Head Says Organization Will Help to Check New Technique

(By United Press) A promise by John Brophy, committee for industrial organization official, to aid in ending sit-down strikes today high-lighted a generally brightening labor picture. Brophy promised to use the C. I. O.'s influence to stamp out sit-downs in industries where satisfactory union agreements have been obtained.

His statement came while both houses of congress were preparing to consider the situation resulting from labor's use of the sit-down technique. The senate yesterday defeated an amendment to the Guffey coal bill which would have condemned the strikes in interstate commerce industries. Reports from Lansing, Mich., indicated that a stalemate in negotiations to end the strike of 60,000 Chrysler employees might be broken within 36 hours. In Houston, Tex., the CIO prepared to seek collecting bargaining agreements with the Humble Oil Co.—its first test of strength in its attempt to unionize the oil industry. San Francisco WPA officials ordered work relief projects resumed, despite strikes for a wage increase.

CROP INSURANCE EXTENSION ASKED

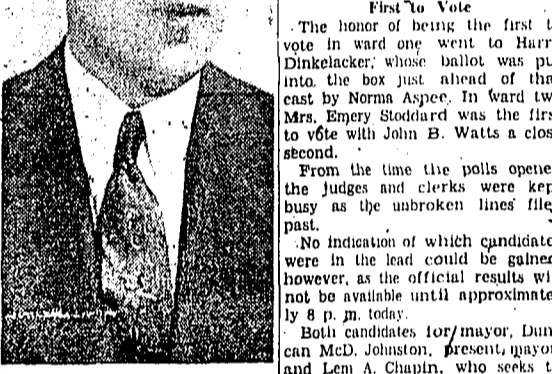

Pope Probes Possibility of Including Vegetables and Fruits in Program

WASHINGTON, April 6 (UP)—Sen. James P. Pope, D., Idaho, today requested Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to investigate the possibility of extension of crop insurance program to include perishable commodities. The program as presently constituted covers only wheat. Pope said he had received many requests from fruit and vegetable growers asking extension of the plan to include their crops. He said he believed congress would take such action next session if the agriculture department assembles sufficient data in the meantime.

Heavy Turn-Out Features Voting In City Election

Near-Record Looms Here Despite Rains and Snow

Despite intermittent snow flurries, threatening skies and a cold, biting wind hundreds of voters of Twin Falls today filed in an unbroken line past ballot boxes located in the two ward polling places, selecting a mayor and two councilmen. Indications were that notwithstanding adverse weather conditions a near record vote would be made when at 9:45 a. m., 45 minutes after the polls opened, over 100 votes had been cast in each ward. As the voting continued another check showed that at 1 p. m., 603 votes had been cast in ward one, the polling place being located in the American Electric, near the city hall, and 617 in ward two, in Lind's Super Auto company. At 1:45 today the number of votes cast went over the 700 mark in both wards, with the greatest rush expected between 5 p. m. and the closing time of 7 p. m. This showed that approximately one-fifth of the eligible voters had already cast their ballots.

Seek Mayoralty

First To Vote The honor of being the first to vote in ward one went to Harry Dinkelacker, whose ballot was put into the box just ahead of that cast by Norma Aspee. In ward two Mrs. Emery Stoddard was the first to vote with John B. Watts a close second. From the time the polls opened the judges and clerks were kept busy as the unbroken lines filed past. No indication of which candidates were in the lead could be gained, however, as the official results will not be available until approximately 8 p. m. today.

Candidates Vote Early The four candidates for two council seats also voted early. They include O. H. Coleman and Milton Powell, present council members, and Paul R. Walter and Leonard P. Avant, local businessmen running against the present office holders. Early in the morning the 320 absentee ballots were voted, this being a record number of such ballots ever to be cast in a local election. Supporters of the various candidates took early posts at a distance from each voting place handing out campaign cards to each passing person. The candidates themselves either "look it easy" or busied themselves with seeing that all registered persons have a chance to reach the polls before closing time at 7 p. m.

Counterfeit Scheme Lands Three School Youths in City Jail

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. April 6 (UP)—Counterfeiting schemes they read about in detective stories today landed three high school youths in jail pending action of federal authorities. Arrested were Harry De Boer, 15; Eugene Van Lozenbroek, 16; and Donald Folsom, 16, who admitted to officers that they cut several bills in half, pasted halves of $10 and $1 notes together and passed them as $10 notes on local merchants. "We got the idea in a detective story magazine and planned to do big things," the boys were quoted as telling officers. They admitted stealing money from their parents.

Oldest and Youngest Members of A. E. F. Give Statements on 20th Anniversary of U. S. Entry

Editor's note—Military records indicate that the oldest member of the A. E. F. was George S. Carpenter, of Groveland, Mass., and that the youngest was Frank R. Sautlere of Quincy, Mass. Enlisting at the age of 75 Carpenter had charge of a hold kitchen near the front lines. Enlisting at the age of 12, Sautlere served 10 months as an interpreter and runner with headquarters company, 10th Engineers. Today, on the 20th anniversary of America's entry into the war, the United Press obtained from Carpenter, visiting a sister in Jersey City, N. J., and Sautlere, a Quincy newspaperman, these statements: "I achieved in having managed to square under the tent to the big show 20 years ago. For it was a matter of pure luck and every kid with the breaks I got would have done the same. We all recall the heartbroken kids who were returned home when their true ages were discovered. Looking back on it now, it is an experience I wouldn't give up for anything in the world. Whether knowing a little more about it now, I'd be as willing to do it again, I'm not certain. One thing I do know, there is nothing but a calm and victory in war." By GEORGE S. CARPENTER "Oldest Doughboy" I always had a fighting disposition. Long before the World war,

Families Cheer Ford Strikers

When more than 1,000 workers in a Ford auto assembly plant in Kansas City locked themselves in for what they thought would be a sit-down strike, their stay was brightened by visits from wives and children. The strikers claimed there was discrimination against union men in layoffs. The full force of the plant returned to work yesterday morning after a temporary settlement had been reached—the total duration of the strike being two days.

World Sugar Conference May Lead to Peace Pact

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE (United Press Cable Editor) A common-place commodity, sugar, was regarded by European statesmen today as a possible key to friendship and accord among nations. A conference is in progress in London for an agreement on regulating both production and export of sugar so that its price may be controlled and the growers and handlers reasonably recompensed. The conference, seemingly unrelated to general international problems and the tension arising from the war in Spain, nevertheless has portentous aspects. United Press reports from London say it is an open secret that Ramsay MacDonald, presiding at the conference, has confided to friends the hope that the sugar negotiations may prove the opening wedge for a world economic concord to be merged finally with an arms limitation agreement in the interest of general peace.

Oddities

SIT-DOWN YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 6 (UP)—When Mrs. Anna Pfeiffer, wife of a farmer, was refused township funds for an X-ray examination, she went to the home of Township Trustee Mark Kohler, took off her shoes, sat down on a couch and announced that she was going to stay until the money was forthcoming. Dr. C. B. Blackwelder, called to examine her, was severely scratched on the face. Constable Ernest Persing took Mrs. Pfeiffer to jail.

JOLLY DENVER, Colo., April 6 (UP)—"Whatever name, buddy?" asked the late policeman of the inebriate last night charged with crashing head-on with two automobiles. "Jolly Knight, sir," replied the drunk. Knight was found guilty and fined $125 and costs.

Today police charged Nunery and two other youths with a $3.82 robbery. Nunery told police they planned the robbery to obtain money to buy the roses.

ALLIANCE LEADER PREDICTS STRIKE

WASHINGTON, April 6 (UP)—David Lasser, leader of the Workers' Alliance emerged from a conference with WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins with a prediction that Alliance-sponsored WPA strikes for increased wages would continue. He said that his group on the west coast was considering extending a strike of 16,000 relief-workers at San Francisco to Los Angeles. Lasser said he presented the relief worker union's demand for an immediate 20 per cent increase and asked Hopkins to support a bill drafted by the Alliance and introduced in congress calling for $3,000,000,000 for WPA during the coming fiscal year and $1,000,000,000 for federal contributions to state relief. Hopkins left for a conference of the demand or strike situation. Lasser said, but agreed to continue the conference at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Flier Reports Craft Down in Arizona Hills

Fate of Eight Persons On Huge Ship Unknown

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 6 (UP)—Major A. D. Smith, TWA division superintendent, reported by radio from his plane today that he had sighted wreckage of the missing Douglas airliner on a wooded slope of Mount Baldy, near McNary, Ariz.

Major Smith radioed that the plane, missing for three days since it took off from Burbank, Calif., for New York for consignment to the European airline, apparently had crashed. He was circling and maneuvering around the 11,000-foot peak trying to get low enough to determine the fate of the eight persons aboard the ship. Plan to Fly Back Major Smith notified TWA officials that he was returning to Winslow to pick up Major Victor Bertandias, who is flying the Douglas company's plane. Then they will fly back to the scene of the crash and map a course for the posse. Major Smith said he could determine no signs of life. Sheriff John Nunn at Springerville, Ariz., was notified and was expected to lead a posse of lumberjacks and mountaineers toward the wreckage. Mount Baldy is about 50 miles from the New Mexico border in rugged country interspersed with jagged mountain peaks and snow-filled valleys.

Take Hours to Find Airport officials here said that Major Smith informed them that he might be many hours before searchers would be able to reach the wreckage to determine definitely whether any of the eight persons aboard had survived. The location of the wreckage confirmed reports from persons in Alpine, Greer and near McNary that had seen the giant, two-motor ship circling dangerously low Saturday afternoon, with its motors missing fire.

APPOINTMENT OF APOSTLE TO BE L. D. S. CLIMAX

Vacancy Caused by Death of Alonzo Hinckley Will Be Filled SALT LAKE CITY, April 6 (UP)—President Heber J. Grant today announced appointment of Albert E. Bowen, Salt Lake City attorney, as a member of the L. D. S. (Mormon) church council of 12 apostles. Bowen's appointment filled a vacancy on the council—finer governing body of the church—caused by the death of Alonzo A. Hinckley. The new apostle was formerly general superintendent of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement association of the church.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 6 (UP)—Appointment of a member of the council of twelve apostles—L. D. S. (Mormon) church governing body—was expected to be the climax of final sessions of the 17th annual church general conference today. The appointment will fill a vacancy on the council caused by death of Apostle Alonzo A. Hinckley earlier this year. Speakers in yesterday afternoon's session, including President Rudger Clawson of the council of twelve, Dr. John A. Widstoe, and Presiding Bishop Sylvester G. Cannon joined earlier speakers in urging Mormons to revert to the ten commandments as basic principles of life. EXPLOSION HITS HOTEL IN TEXAS

Natural Gas Accumulation Is Given as Cause; Four Are Injured MERCEDES, Tex., April 6 (UP)—An explosion of natural gas demolished the Barbee hotel here today, injuring four persons, one critically. Claud Reynolds, of Santa Maria, Tex., in whose room the gas had accumulated, was near death from burns. Three others whose names were not learned escaped with minor injuries. The blast, much in the manner of the New London school disaster March 18, blew the roof from the building and caved in the walls of the one-story structure. All persons within the building were believed accounted for. Officers investigating the explosion theorized that an open gas jet under Reynolds bed was responsible for the gas accumulation. The gas ignited when he struck a match, Reynolds said. Mercedes is on the Rio Grande, more than 500 miles from New London.

DRIVER ACCUSED IN DEATH CRASH

Oregon Man Held for Trial Here in Mishap Taking One Life Arraigned on reckless driving charges in connection with a four-way accident that cost the life of a Twin Falls man, Officer Huntley, 28, Ontario, Ore., pleaded not guilty today before Justice Guy T. Swope. Judge Swope set Huntley's trial for 10 a. m. Thursday. He is accused of driving with improper lights and with parking his truck in faulty manner on the highway. Released From Hospital Huntley was released this morning from Twin Falls county general hospital, where he had been treated for injuries, and was taken immediately before Justice Swope. He was remanded to the county jail in lieu of $300 bond. Death victim in the accident, which occurred early Sunday, was Orville Thomas Cherry, 25, Twin Falls, who succumbed late Sunday night. Cherry was fatally injured when a car driven by Frank Lynch, Buhl, crashed into Huntley's truck after the latter had gotten it back on the highway following a skid into the borrow pit. A third machine, driven by Maurice Hagman, Buhl, later rammed into the Huntley truck and glanced off to strike the parked car of H. L. Olson, Flier, who had stopped to turn his lights on the wreck scene to aid removal of the injured.

A. F. L. AND C. I. O. CLASH AT PLANT

CLEVELAND, April 6 (UP)—American Federation of Labor members and Committee for Industrial Organization unionists clashed today before the gates of the Electric Vacuum Cleaner company. At least a dozen members of both factions were reported to have suffered lacerated hands in a general free-for-all. The fighting started over a dispute between the two labor groups arising out of reopening of the plant under an A. F. of L. contract. The plant had been closed March 23 at the request of Thomas A. Leach, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, after the United Radio and Electrical Workers, a C. I. O. affiliate, moved for collective bargaining rights. It was opened yesterday under terms of a contract giving A. F. of L. union sole right in the plant.

COURT APPROVAL OF MINIMUM WAGE LAW OPENS OLD CASES

ROOSEVELT SAYS RULING AFFECTS OTHER STATUTES

District of Columbia Measure, Dead 14 Years, Is Called Also Validated

By RICHARD L. HARKNESS
WASHINGTON, April 6 (UP)—President Roosevelt advised congress today that the supreme court validation of the Washington state minimum wage law likewise validated a similar District of Columbia statute that has been dead 14 years.

Mr. Roosevelt sent to congress a ruling of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings upholding the theory that the supreme court's action last week revitalized the old and inoperative efforts of New York, Ohio, Illinois and 13 other states to establish minimum wages for women or minors or both.

The letter dealt only with the District of Columbia law. However, it was considered in official sources as "pointing the way" to states whose minimum wage statutes have been inoperative because of the supreme court rulings prior to validation of the Washington law.

Held Unconstitutional
The District of Columbia act was held unconstitutional by the supreme court in 1923.

The president said following the Washington state decision, however, that he stood unchanged in his position that the question of minimum wages needed a federal and not a state-by-state solution.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter said:

"I have suggested to the commissioners of the District of Columbia that they delay, at least until the first of May, the appointment of the minimum wage board, for which the act makes provision.

Sees Wage Board
"Should no action be taken by the congress in regard to this matter, I assume that the commissioners of the District of Columbia will appoint a minimum wage board and that such other steps as may be necessary to administer the act will be taken, including the preparation of estimates for a suitable appropriation."

The last minimum wage law held unconstitutional was New York's measure. It was outlawed by a 5 to 4 vote last spring. Justice Owen J. Roberts shifted his stand between the New York and the Washington state cases.

Other states which have had minimum wage laws are: Oregon, Arizona, Arkansas, Ohio, Connecticut, Illinois, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, California, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

HONORS PAID TO MURDERED MAN

Funeral Held at Burley to Pay Tribute to Omer P. Simpson, Barber

BURLEY, April 6 (Special)—Funeral services for Omer P. Simpson, aged barber who was found mysteriously murdered here a week ago, were held at the Methodist Episcopal church Friday afternoon with Rev. Leroy Walker officiating.

The prayer, sermon and obituary were given by Mr. Walker. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. Mack Crough, Mrs. Lawrence Dunn, Arthur Dunn, and Harris Hillhouse, singing "Sweet Bye and Bye" and "Nearer My God to Thee."

Following the services the body was sent by the Payne mortuary to Formosa, Kan., former home of the murdered man.

Police are still working on the case, although no new developments have been reported. Hope still lies with the possibility of fingerprints of the murderer being found on the blood-soaked knife, which has been sent back to Washington, D. C., for examination by experts.

Funeral bearers were W. R. Taylor, Charles Thomson, Charles Bridges, Bert Cask, Scotty Henderson, and Ernest Stephens. Flower girls were Mrs. Fred King, Mrs. Berg, Mrs. Charles Bridges and Mrs. Afton Baggett.

HANDY

Maybe Corp. J. F. Houston isn't so good with a rod and reel but when it comes to using his hands that is a different story.

It leaked out today that the army officer went fishing Sunday at Dierks's lake, and turning on one lake, started his journey on foot toward another.

En route he "spotted" a four and one-half pound native trout in a small stream containing about six inches of water. The corporal's two hands did the rest and he and his wife had trout for dinner.

Hearing on a house sub-committee on the bill, which provides powers to fix wages, control prices to growers, regulate production and forbids child labor, have been completed.

Amendment Seen
It was believed by some that the revised bill will be amended to assure Hawaii and Puerto Rico equality with continental sugar growers. Jones said that he expected his committee would approve other sections in the farm tenancy bill providing for $75,000,000 annually for loans to farmers for rehabilitation purposes and a $70,000,000 year program for federal purchase of sub-marginal lands.

The killed portion would have provided $50,000,000 annually for federal loans on a long term basis to assist tenant farmers in purchasing their property.

APOSTLE NAMING HIGHLIGHTS MEET

Vacancy Caused by Death of Alonzo Hinckley Must Be Filled

written by Bernard McFadden, health-advocate publisher.

"This editorial, expounding the beauties of perfect physical well-being, is so close to our own church teachings as to necessity of preserving the body as the temple of the soul that the two are almost identical," Clawson said.

Speaking on general subjects, Cannon noted that the Utah state engineers office has investigated some 50 possible sites for small dams within the state.

Irrigation Important
"Because irrigation is so important to our people and to our state-making possible maintenance of our population," said Cannon, "I urge church ward and stake leaders to cooperate in every way possible with governmental authorities to have these dams built."

He urged adoption of more manual training in the state educational system, in order to "make it possible for our young people to earn their way through life."

Leopard Richards, head of the church Southern States Mission, told of his work in his field, and extolled value of the book of Mormon as a historical and religious document.

REVIVAL OF TIDE PROJECT SOUGHT

Possibility of Some of Relief Funds for Passamaquoddy Seen in Congress

WASHINGTON, April 6 (UP)—A move to revive the Passamaquoddy tidal power project, PWA enterprise for which congress refused funds last year, was started in congress today.

Possibility of funds for the project, being earmarked out of the expected $1,500,000,000 work relief appropriation for the next fiscal year was seen by some congressmen.

The move to revive Passamaquoddy construction accompanied renewal of the fight over the Florida ship canal. Rep. Ralph Brewster, R. Me., said he believed "both are feasible."

"It is interesting to see that the revival of the ship canal comes coincidentally with the President emphasizing the need of shifting his relief policy," said Brewster. He asserted that "each project would give work relief with little heavy goods expenditures."

Continuation of construction of the canal for one year would require more than $35,000,000, it is estimated, for Passamaquoddy, $12,000,000.

The house rivers and harbors committee, planned to start hearings on the canal next week.

Social Security Expenditures Highest on Record at Local Offices

Total disbursements in Twin Falls county during the month of March through the department of public assistance, formerly the ICRA, amounted to $15,558.51, a report released Monday by H. H. Burkhardt, county supervisor.

Of this amount, $13,057 was for social security and $2,501.51 for direct relief. During March the total number of cases totaled 927, comprising 1,588 individuals, the records show.

Of the $13,570 spent during the month for social security, the largest amount spent in the county since the organization first started, the federal government contributed $5,739; the state government, $4,362.34 and the county, $2,955.66.

In the three divisions into which social security payments are divided, the records show, $7,907 went for old-age payments, representing 408 cases comprising 620 persons.

Aid to the blind totaled $413 for the month, representing 19 cases comprising 47 persons. Dependent child relief totaled $4,737 for the month and represented disbursements to 176 cases comprising 694 persons.

BIG COUNTRIES BELIEVED AFRAID TO START WAR

NATIONS SPEND $7,000,000,000 IN PREPARATION

5,000,000 Men Reported to Be Armed in Countries of Europe

By WEBB MILLER
(Copyright 1937, United Press)
LONDON, April 6 (U.P.)—After a month spent in visiting the feverishly rearming capitals on the continent, I am convinced that the nations of Europe are literally afraid to go to war.

Large and small they are spending $7,000,000,000 (B) this year in the race to re-arm. But they are afraid to fight. They don't dare to risk it—yet.

Fear of war is the cause of the armaments race. I saw nations building up their armies, their navies, their air forces—fear driving them on, in the gravest arms race in history.

Ever-Present Threat
The threat of war is ever present. It is in the air. And the defensive forces are piling higher and higher. Some day they must fall—but the threat of immediate war seems slight. No one will start it.

I found that Europe has 5,000,000 men actually under arms seven days a week—a tremendous fighting force. There are 36,000,000 more who have had military training. In addition, Europe has millions of children who soon will reach military service age.

Yet I returned to London after my flight to the military capitals convinced that the outbreak of a major war in Europe is further away now than it has been in several years past.

War Risky Gamble
I reached that conclusion after visiting France, Germany, Italy, Soviet Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and of course England where I live. In both the political and military domains confusion and doubts are so serious that to start a war anywhere is a risky gamble at present.

Another vital factor is perhaps the more important fact of Great Britain's immense rearmament, which is certain to exercise a retarding influence upon the next great war. She wants no war.

The development of speed has shaken military technique to its foundations. The possibilities of transporting entire armies with guns and munitions at 30 to 40 miles an hour, and great air offensives at 200 to 300 miles an hour have upset all previous military conceptions.

Communications Controlled
The efficiency of such new weapons as airplanes, tanks and gases and the defense against them is largely an unknown factor. The impossibility of preventing air invasions on a large scale has introduced a totally new factor upon which the world war and the later Ethiopian and Spanish conflict have thrown no appreciable light.

The drastic policy of secrecy possible under dictatorships is carried to an extent never before known. Dictators control communications and the press so rigidly that they might even conceal the fact that their countries are engaged in a war.

Other factors of wartime uncertainty include:

The extent and effect of air bombing on troop transport. In Spain, I often witnessed entire columns melt into the ground like Partridge and remain hours when government bombers were flying in their vicinity, thus paralyzing a troop movement.

Whether mass conscript armies can sufficiently master the increasingly complex machinery of modern armies is the chief question. I saw that difficulty in Ethiopia where the Italians suffered from a shortage of chauffeurs and the lack of skill of motor truck drivers, chiefly due to the small number of automobile drivers in Italy.

Tactical Problems
Peasants in most European countries lack acquaintance with machinery to an extent scarcely credible in the United States.

Tactical problems at the start of the world war were delightfully simple compared with the unexplored regions now. Both the Ethiopian and Spanish wars have provided examples of how calculations of experts go awry under the impact of the modern "three-dimensional" war.

Many experts are inclined to diminish the importance of gas in modern warfare. They say the picture of cities decimated by gas attacks is overdrawn, that the most terrible killing gases are all lighter than air and hence ineffective on the ground, that "mustard gas" is only disabling and results in few deaths.

Nevertheless the peculiar horror of the effects of gas has such a hold on the minds of people that its use is certain to strike panic which is among the principal objectives of present-day warfare.

Clues in Grisly Mystery of Model's Slaying

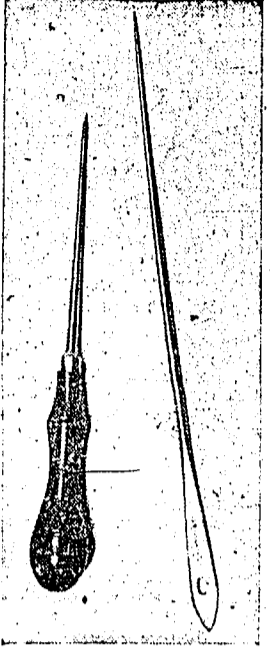

Carelessly tossed on the top of the bathroom hamper, Veronica Gedeon's fur coat, dress and pocketbook help New York police decipher the story of her murder. They indicate that she undressed in the bathroom, unaware that the killer who had murdered her mother and a roomer lurked near.

Found beside Veronica Gedeon's nude body was the torn slip which she wore from bathroom to bed and believed to have been torn off by the killer.

Silence of "Tonchi" (top), Gedeon pet, during the murders indicated, an intimate was the killer. All listed in Veronica's address book (below) were questioned.

Upholsterers' needles, found in the shop of Joseph Gedeon, husband and father of two victims, resemble the weapon that killed Frank Byrnes.

Trump card in the alibi of Joseph Gedeon to account for his actions at the time his wife and daughter were being strangled is the skeeball score in a cafe near the death flat. "J. Gedeon 310" it reads, evidence that he had spent many hours there at play on the fatal night. He won $1 for high score.

HAZELTON
The Cama club met at the home of Mrs. Orvil Olsen Friday afternoon when the hostess gave a Raggedy Ann party for the 12 members. High score fell to Mrs. R. R. Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Riegan and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Barlow entertained 30 guests at a buffet supper at the Barlow home Thursday evening. A color scheme of green and yellow was used at the seven tables and yellow spring flowers were used about the rooms. High score at bridge fell to Mrs. Roy Gale and William Detweiler.

The Junior Prom of the Hazelton high school was held at the high school gymnasium Friday evening with a good attendance and many invited guests. The large room was converted into a grape arbor with large clusters of grapes hanging from a trellised ceiling and the walls were covered with white paper painted to resemble stone on which ivy grew. A large full moon shone from a distant corner. Punch was served by the students.

Incidentally, if you don't think it tickled us Pot Shots fans to see the insurrection among your own staff members, you're badly mistaken. Potshots. How'd you like the taste of being on the spot yourself? It is to laugh.

ANECDOTE FROM BUIHL

Dear Pot Shots:

Company D marched down the street and halted at the command of their captain.

It was twilight and the tall figures of these young men stood out like a silhouette against the skyline, as I moved closer I could see the look of pride and bravery on their young faces.

One lad, I especially noticed, his dark hand thrown back and determination beaming over his handsome face, determination to conquer whatever may be before him.

Silence prevailed for a moment, and then the sound of wheels burst through the atmosphere. Two little girls rode merrily down the street on their roller skates; the young soldier's countenance dropped, first anger then anguish showed on his face; that look of pride and bravery had disappeared entirely, he was just a child in his home town after all for a little girl was calling "Bobby! Oh Bobby! Mother wants you to come home right after drill."

TRAILER ADVENTURE

BY NARD JONES

CHAPTER I

FLAT on her stomach, Martha Britain opened the newspaper to the help-wanted advertisements and began turning a magenta nail slowly down the first column. Betty Haynes, as blond as Martha was dark, and as attractive, regarded her cynically from the comfort of the davenport.

"You're certainly an optimist if you think we're going to pop right out and get a job when we don't know a soul in San Diego," she told Martha. "Besides, you'll catch cold lying on the floor. All we'd need to make our trip complete would be you in bed with influenza."

"This is the best way in the world to read a newspaper," Martha said imperturbably. "I found it out at the age of seven when I started to read the funnies."

"I can't see anything very funny about a help-wanted column."

Martha leaned over on one elbow to look at her companion. "Want to weaken and wire home that we spent too much money on our vacation?"

"I do not!" Betty sat straighter and her wide blue eyes snapped with determination. "We talked about a trip to California for so long that they practically shipped us off to stop hearing about it. Imagine what they'd say if they found-out we were stranded. And I'd never hear the last of it from the family."

"Neither would I," said Martha, returning her attention to the newspaper. "So the only thing to do is find a job and work at it long enough for the fare-back home."

"You're certainly an opportunist if you think we're going to pop right out and get a job when we don't know a soul in San Diego," Betty said to Martha. "Besides, you'll catch cold lying on the floor."

"LISTEN to this," Martha went on. "Wanted—Two attractive, dependable young women to take Airspeed Trailer and small coupe up the coast for advertising purposes. Must stop in trailer camps and towns along the way to allow inspection of the Airspeed Trailer and explain its advantages. Apply in person to Arnold Sloss, 451 Atlas Building."

Betty swung around and set both feet on the floor. "Martha! What a break that would be! It would give us a chance to see the west of California, and the Northwest as well." She stopped uncertainly. "Do you suppose there really could be a job like that?"

"Get your hat," said Martha. "We're going to find out."

Arnold Sloss' office had no ante-room, and when the two girls reached the fourth floor of the Atlas Building they found a line of more than a dozen women lined up before the door of No. 451.

"We're a couple of tardy birds," whispered Betty, "and we'll never get the worm."

"Keep your chin up," Martha told her. "If we can only get in there I've a hunch we'll rate. The ones we've seen go in have been 'singles.' And he wants two girls. We can tell him that we've known each other for years and know we can get along. That ought to be important to him."

"I only hope," Betty said prayerfully, "that we do get inside. That dizzy-looking platinum number in front of the door now is the type that could sell a male ice cream in Alaska."

But if the platinum blond had impressed Mr. Sloss he wasn't, apparently, going to let her know about it today. For the line did move on—and eventually Martha and Betty found themselves seated before a big mahogany desk. Arnold Sloss was fat and round and slightly red, but he owned a friendly smile.

"WELL," he began a little wearily, like a man who has gone over his story many times, "I'm interested financially in a company manufacturing the Airspeed Trailer. No doubt you girls are familiar with the popularity of the automobile trailer. We think we have the best trailer on the market and we want a couple of young girls to take one up the coast as an advertising stunt. It sounds easy, but it'll be real work for whoever gets the job. The pay is $35 a week and expenses for the car."

"That would be satisfactory," said Martha quickly. "And Miss Haynes and I would like the job. You see," she added, "we've known each other a long time and we know we can get along together."

Sloss nodded. "That's a good point, all right. I rather like the appearance of you two. There've been some lookers in here this morning that would attract attention for the trailer—but they've been kind of flashy." He gazed at Martha and Betty in turn. "Yes, you two ought to sell trailers or I'm a Chinaman. One blond, the other brunet." Sloss reached for a small pad of paper. "I'm going to send you down to see Mr. Carrington. He's Airspeed's advertising manager, and he'll give you an advance of salary and expenses and an itinerary. And naturally there'll be a little driving test."

As he ushered Martha and Betty out the door he announced to the waiting line, "The position is taken. I'm sorry—and I thank you for coming."

Betty whispered to Martha, "Let's take the stairs. I don't feel like going down in the elevator with all those disappointed gals. And I wish you'd pinch me on the way down."

They went immediately to see Mr. Carrington, the advertising manager. Using the address which Sloss had given them, they found him in the back room of a small shed on the outskirts of the city, near Balboa Park. In the shed stood one of the Airspeed Trailers—a veritable land yacht. It had cushioned seats which made up into berths for sleeping. There was a cabinet which included a wash basin, and a shower compartment with a small water tank above. At the back end was a tiny stove and sink, with shelves for cooking utensils and dishes.

Carrington's first move was to invite Martha to take the driver's seat in his own car which he attached to the trailer.

Carrington then explained the trailer's features to them, and gave them a package of printed folders. Oddly, he looked very much like Arnold Sloss. But he was extremely cordial, and seemed delighted at Sloss' selection. "You ought to start out tomorrow," he told them. "We want to be in plenty of time for the tourist season. I'll have a new light coupe here ready for you. And I suggest you get some touring outfits, if you haven't them already. You know, leather jackets and boots—maybe some shorts. Our idea is to make trailer traveling as smart as yachting—to sell the idea of buying and using a trailer."

In the street car on the way back to town Martha said, "I'm still suspicious. Where's the Airspeed factory? It seems to me that Sloss and Carrington are moving pretty fast."

Betty groaned. "When you die and go to heaven you'll pull Saint Peter's whiskers to see if they're false! They've probably made only one trailer, and won't make more until they get some orders. That Carrington talks a salesman's language—and all salesmen are a little crazy, but perfectly harmless and nice. You're seeing things in the dark. It looks like a swell job to me—and it looks like adventure ahead for little Martha and Betty."

"I'm game to go through with it," Martha replied. "But I'm wondering what kind of adventure it'll be."

In another half hour they embarked from the "help-yourself" elevator and walked down the hallway to their apartment. A slender young man was vainly attempting to unlock their door.

"I'm afraid there's a mistake," Martha said.

The young man straightened suddenly, looked at them and then at the number on the door. "I'm frightfully sorry," he stammered, removing his hat. "Apparently I got off at the wrong floor. My name is Gerry Neal and I've just moved into the apartment on the next floor up. Please forgive me."

"It's quite all right," Martha said. "But when she and Betty were inside their apartment she added, 'I wonder if it is?'"

Betty looked at her. "Mart, what's wrong with you, anyhow? Three hours ago we didn't know how to pay the rent. Now we've a job and a whole new addition to our vacation. On top of that we have a look at the handsomest stranger we could find outside of Hollywood—and you're kicking?"

"All right," Martha laughed. "Forget it." Then: "Did he say his name was Neal?"

REVIEWAL

WASHINGTON, April 8 — They said 1929 would never return, but here it is. Industrial production has hit 119 for March, a figure which happens to be the exact average of the boom year, seven years ago. The figure is not official yet, and will not be for 30 days, but it is based on an informed private estimate which has proved uncannily accurate in the past, and it can be guaranteed as the closest possible unofficial guess.

This does not mean that everything is back to the level of the hooded year, but merely that the volume of factory goods is being turned out at that peak rate.

Employment is 4½ points below 1929, wages off 10½ points; department store sales off 15; prices off 9; freight loadings of 23 and building off 52.

Only freight loadings and building are, therefore, still far deficient. Use of trucks has, of course, destroyed much of the significance of a freight loading comparison with the more or less good-bad old days; while no one expects building to be resumed on a mad 1929 over-expansion scale any time soon.

Note—In March, 1929, production was also exactly 119. It reached a high of 125 in June and ended the year at 103, the collapse starting in July.

GROWTH

Strangest part of the March factory output is it was accomplished amid a wave of sit-down, stand-up and lean-sideways labor gymnastics. Strikes have upset the basket industry continuously since the start of the year, yet they have not stopped the general rising tide.

Auto figures indicate, in fact, the more cars have been turned out in the first quarter this year than last year, when there were no strikes. Ford and Chrysler produced heavily when General Motors was out; Ford and General Motors hummed when Chrysler was out. At any rate, that was the situation up to the end of March.

Meanwhile, most of the other industries have been climbing slowly and gradually. Progress was reported throughout March in electrical power, steel, coal. As everyone knows, steel, the basic industry, is running at more than 90 per cent capacity, and is practically at the peak of 1929. Steel's old boom peak was 102 per cent capacity, but capacity has increased more than 10 per cent since then. The threat of a strike helped coal, but electric power distribution indicated a wide general expansion by factory consumers.

BALANCE

The five-point payroll jump in February is said by the government to represent a general increase in total payrolls and is not due to wage increases in the two large industries. The bureau of labor statistics says payroll expansion was noted in 77 industries out of 90 surveyed in February.

Reemployment was likewise generally distributed throughout the factory world.

If this is true, it means a wider distribution of purchasing power to sustain the recovery. The people generally will have more money to absorb the increased production of the factories. The price level does not appear to have advanced yet to a point where it might cause a diminishing demand for products. The figures mean the factories are turning out a 1929 volume of goods for prices roughly 10 per cent lower, employing 5 per cent fewer men for manufacturing this same volume of goods and paying them 10 per cent less in the weekly pay check.

All this indicates economic strength behind the figures, as far as they go. Of course, they do not take in married persons, white collar workers, who comprise the bulk of consumers in the country, or the farmer income, but the farmer, at least, has prospects of a much higher income this year.

Story in Times Brings Inquiries About Old Paper

Persons from a variety of points in the United States have written to Mrs. Rose M. North, high school girls' counselor, in regard to Mrs. North's copy of The Ulster Gazette, printed in 1800 at Kingston, N. Y., upon the death of George Washington.

The inquiries were received as a result of a feature story published in the Evening Times.

According to letters received by Mrs. North, the article from the Evening Times appeared in the Boston Herald, a Brooklyn, N. Y. paper, the New York Daily Mirror, the Daily Chronicle of The Dulles, Ore., an Ashland, Ky., and a Venice, Calif. paper.

All writers stated that they possessed a like publication of the same date, and were inquiring into the commercial value, if any, of the issue.

The Parade of Progress

Progress is the very essence of the American ideal. We strive continually to advance and grow, and the accomplishments of this common ambition have marked us as an aggressive and enterprising nation.

But often in this parade of progress things are discarded and thrown by the wayside that give us momentary pause. As we reminisce it brings back fond memories of the things that were, but are no more.

Such is the sentiment when one reads of the fate that awaits Guyer lodge on Warm Springs creek in the vicinity of Ketchum. This old hotel, well known to Idahoans for years, is being transported piecemeal to the main street of Ketchum where it will be reconstructed to furnish a 25-room inn to accommodate visitors to the now famous Sun Valley.

For more than 50 years the Guyer basin has been a favored spot with Idaho people. The hot springs and basin were located in 1880 by Captain Henry Guyer, one of the first arrivals to the tent and shanty gold camp of Ketchum.

Almost forgotten accounts of those early days glow with descriptions of "the fine large building with ample tub and plunge baths—well furnished and provided with parlors, bar, billiard rooms and other watering-place accommodations to make guests feel at home and enjoy themselves."

Current newspaper accounts recall that almost every Idaho citizen who visited the Sawtooths carries with him sparkling memories of gala days in this old Guyer inn. It was built 23 years ago and for 17 years was in active operation. Then changing conditions began casting their shadows. The hotel was closed and the water from Guyer springs was piped to Ketchum to supply heat for a unit of tourist cabins and to fill an open air swimming pool. Now the shadow extends again, and what was once a famous part of early Idaho passes into oblivion.

Once it boasted of such prominent names on its guest roster as Jay Gould, the ceasar of railroading and mining, and Andrew Mellon, then the young Pittsburgh banker. Now the parade of progress has gone by and the Guyer inn of old is no more.

Indifference the Worst Foe

There seems to be a tendency to poke fun at Signor Mussolini and at the Italian people generally because Italian troops in Spain did not meet the test of battle very well in the recent engagements around Guadalajara.

The story is that the Italian soldiers evinced a great lack of enthusiasm for the fight, and headed for the rear in large numbers as soon as the going got tough. But just why this should be considered a reproach to Italy is a little hard to understand.

Indeed, to an observer at this distance, it looks as if the Italians were the only foreigners in Spain who have been behaving with any particular sense. And if the good sense displayed by these Italian troopers could only spread all across Europe, the danger of a new world war would be very much less than it is.

For these soldiers from Italy found themselves transported out of their homeland and plopped down in the middle of a war which was no concern of theirs at all. They didn't know any of the people who were doing the fighting, and it is only fair to assume that they didn't care a great deal what the fighting was all about. But they did know that they hadn't started the fight and that it didn't matter much to them who won.

They were not the first soldiers, in the long history of war, to find themselves in that position. But they did something about it that soldiers are not, by tradition, supposed to do. Instead of following the old line about "theirs not to reason why," they very sensibly decided that, under the circumstances, there was little profit in getting killed like heroes at the barricades.

The net result of all this is that they and their brethren back home are a lot more likely to go on living for a while than would be the case if they had fufund themselves into grim, battalion-of-death heroes.

And at little meditation on this point might bring you to a discovery of the fact that the ordinary man's greatest protection against the pitfalls laid in his path by scheming men is this heaven-sent quality of indifference.

You can see that working out at home. The average American is supremely and blessedly indifferent to what goes on in Europe. He is the despair of the internationalists, the idealists, and the sleek gentlemen who have axes to grind; they just can't get him to care very much about the parlous state of affairs overseas.

And because they can't, they can't get him involved in those things. His indifference is his protection. As long as it is taken for granted that Americans aren't interested in European politics, European rivalries, and European alliances, American boys will not be called on to die on any European battlefields.

The man who "just can't be bothered" often turns out to be the man who actually is not bothered.

15 YEARS AGO

APRIL 6, 1922

Gay Pares in its palmest day could not show a better line of the latest and niftiest in the way of fashions than that on display at the Idaho theater last night presented under the auspices of the Twenties Century club. The show will be repeated again tonight.

There was a large crowd present and all enjoyed the display which illustrated the richness and variety of high class fashionable goods in the stores of Twin Falls.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds will be used by the club to apply on the loan fund for the student at Gooding college and to give to the Camp Fire girls.

27 YEARS AGO

APRIL 6, 1910

On Monday evening, April 18, instead of on Friday evening, the seventh, as first announced, the Girls' Glee club of the high school will give a concert for the benefit of the athletic association of the high school. The concert will be given in the auditorium of the Blackfoot school, and admission of 25 and 35c will be charged.

The fact that this is the first musical entertainment to be given by the high school this year and that it is to be for the benefit of the athletic association, should insure a full house. A musical and dramatic program is being arranged and this will be published in full next week.

C. A. Overfield returned the first of the week from the rim rock, where he and associates are conducting a rooming house. Their hotel has been moved from its former location to a new site upon the canyon bank.

P. L. Ball and W. H. Eldridge left Wednesday for Boise to consult the architect about the plans for the new high school building.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bass returned home Wednesday after spending the Easter week-end visiting in Twin Falls and Halley.

Alfred Nelson, patrolman for the Idaho Power Co., in the Jarbidge Mountain City area, is expected home the end of this week. Mr. Nelson has been confined to the Twin Falls hospital as the result of frozen feet which he received while patrolling the power line west of here. He is recovering rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. McKay have returned from Burley where they spent Easter holiday with Mrs. McKay's father.

Word has been received of an accident at one of the Snyder mines in Halley in which Elmo Hunter sustained a serious back injury. It was rumored that one of the vertebra of his back was broken. Mr. Hunter was a Jarbidge resident until about 10 days ago when he went to Halley to secure employment.

Jarbidge residents were shocked last week to hear of the death of Mrs. Albert Westerbeck at Boise. Mrs. Westerbeck and family went to Boise in February for a visit with her parents. She was taken ill shortly after her arrival there but seemed to be slowly recovering when she suffered a relapse that caused her death. She is survived by her husband and three small children, Peggy, age 5, Skippy, age 3, and the 1-month-old baby, besides her parents. Mr. Westerbeck was called to Boise last Saturday and was with his wife at the time of her death.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ross returned to Jarbidge last week after spending the past winter in California and Arizona.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Around, above, and behind the nose are the sinuses. When sinuses become infected—and such infections are much more common than you might think—the victim has frequent colds, constant coughs, and a good many other general disturbances of the body.

Infectious germs get into the sinuses through openings in the nose, and infect membranes which line the wall of the sinuses. When the opening of the sinuses into the nose becomes blocked, pain and headache result, and the absorption of infectious material causes fever.

Whereas an ordinary cold will clear up in from three to five days, infection within the sinuses will persist for weeks, sometimes for months.

The doctor diagnoses sinus infection by cleaning the nose of its secretions, then shrinking the membranes of the nose by applying eugenol or epinephrine.

He may then look through the openings of the sinuses to see whether infectious material is coming out. If he sees this material coming from the sinuses, or if he sees signs of inflammation, such as swelling and redness and if there is pain and fever, he is likely to believe that the sinuses are infected.

He may, however, confirm his diagnosis by taking an X-ray picture of the sinuses, and also by transillumination. In the process of transillumination, the patient is taken into a dark room, and a light is placed inside his mouth or under his eyes. If the sinuses are clear, the light will be seen to pass into them and through them. If, however, there is inflammation or infection in the sinuses, they will appear dark and obstructed.

In exceedingly doubtful cases, when the physician believes there may be growths, such as polyps or tumors in the sinuses, it is also possible to inject an opaque substance into the sinuses and then to make an X-ray picture.

These advances in diagnosis have shown us how much more frequent inflammations and infections of the sinuses actually are than was formerly thought to be the case.

UNLUCKY BREAKS KEPT BUGS FROM TOP LAST YEAR

Good Seven-Man Pitching Staff Expected to Aid This Season

(By NEA Service)
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., April 6.—Mr. Harold "Pie" Traynor, manager of the Pittsburgh baseball club, was weighted down with two suitcases when he arrived here with his Buccaners crew for annual spring campers.

One suitcase contained his toothbrush and an extra pair of socks that needed mending.

In the other was an assortment of good luck charms ranging from a reliable rabbit feet to a streamlined shoehorn purchased at the stroke of midnight from a one-eyed Hindu.

Four unlucky breaks last season prompted Mr. Traynor to go out and purchase his collection of good luck charms for this year's diamond wars.

Pitcher Walter Hoyt was operated on for appendicitis and was out of the lineup from May until August. Arky Vaughan suffered a hitting slump early in the season although he wound up with a .335 average. Al Todd, catcher, was on the sick list for six weeks with an injury. Art O'Byon, a whizwind pitcher in 1935, failed to reach expected form with the club was hopelessly behind.

"Those things held us back last year," says Traynor. "But nothing can stop us this year if those good luck pieces start clicking."

The Pirates' seven-man pitching staff may cause skepticism here and there. But Traynor isn't worried.

"Seven hurlers are enough if they're good," he says. "And ours are plenty good."

The men to whom Traynor refers are the aforementioned Mr. Blanton and Mr. Hoyt plus Mace Brown, Bill Swift, Man Mountain Weaver, Red Lucas and Ed Brandt, the latter secured for the club by exchange for Ralph Birkhofer and Harry Lavagetto. Brandt, the only regular who twirls from the port side, is an old hand at fooling batters and the Pirates are counting on him to win at least 15 games. Five rookies will be farmed for further experience.

Rest of Team Okay
Everything is rosy in the infield and outfield. Around the bases will be the familiar faces of Bill Brubaker, the Hermosa Beach, Calif., third baseman who was good enough to handle Manager Traynor's pet position exclusively last season, Gus Suhb, the previously mentioned Mr. Vaughan and Fred Young.

All are 300 or better hitters. Brubaker and Suhb drove in around 200 runs between 'em last year. James Browne and Lee Handley are in camp displaying their wares. Browne, a second baseman, hit .352 for Minneapolis last season, and third baseman Handley had .303 working for both Cincinnati and Toronto.

Conditions in the garden are much the same. Back at their old posts are the Warner boys—Paul was a holdout, Dan Hafey, Forrest Jensen and Fred Schulte. Paul Warner led the National league in hitting last season and the others also are boys who add gray hairs to the heads of opposing pitchers.

LILLARD PITCHES AGAINST BEAVERS

Former Home Run Hitter to Take Mound Against Portland Team

By United Press
Gene Lillard, who once led the Pacific coast league in home run hitting, is slated to make his debut as a pitcher in the same circuit today when the San Francisco Seals open a seven-game series with the champion Portland Beavers.

Lillard's home-run hitting, exhibited while playing third base for Los Angeles, won him promotion to the Chicago Cubs. He couldn't quite make the grade as a major league infielder and the Cubs turned him back to the coast league with a request he be tried as a pitcher.

The job of converting the slugger into a moundsman fell to Lefty O'Doul, Seals manager, who plans to give Lillard a chance to use his ball under the arc lights tonight.

The Seals and Portland are among the four teams tied for first as the infant season enters its first full week of play. Seattle, sharing the top berth with three other clubs, meets Oakland, the Missions battle San Diego, and Los Angeles, another first divisioner, battles at Sacramento. All these games will be afternoon contests.

Montanez Scores Close Win Over Champion Ambers

Bat Aid Needed

Arky Vaughan, leading hitter of the National league in 1935, slumped last year, but his batting is expected to be one of the leading features of the 1937 pennant drive of the Pirates.

PHILLIES SCORE WIN OVER REDS

Rookie Tauby Looks Like Certainty to Start in Centerfield

WINTERHAVEN, Fla., April 6 (AP)—Jimmy Wilson's reorganized Phillies break training camp tomorrow after a game with the Rochester Red Wings of the International league. The Philadelphia Nationals scored their third straight victory yesterday, 6 to 3, over the Cincinnati Reds. Fred Tapp, who has reached first base 14 out of the last 19 times at bat, hit two singles and looks like starting 1937 Philly centerfielder.

SOX DOWN CUBS

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated their home town rivals, the Chicago Cubs, 15-0 yesterday to win the fourth of six exhibition games. The Sox collected 11 runs in the seventh and eighth innings to break a 9-3 lead.

INDIANS DEFEAT NEW YORK CLUB

CLEVELAND, April 6 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians led the New York Giants 4-3 as they met here today for the eighth of their 18 spring exhibition games. The score was tied 3-3 in the eighth yesterday when "Bad News" Hale came to bat with the bases loaded. He smacked a triple. Julius Solters led the Indian attack with a home run and two singles in three times at bat. George Davis set the Giants' pace with a homer and three one-baggers.

YANKS WIN AGAIN

DALLAS, Tex., April 6 (AP)—The New York Yankees were out for their fifth straight victory since breaking through the Dallas Stars of the Texas league today. The Yanks submerged the Galveston Buccaneers, 13-2, yesterday under a 17-hit attack which brought their 29-day total of batters to 35 and runs to 37. Five home runs were added to the Yanks' total yesterday.

NO DEAL

SARASOTA, Fla., April 6 (AP)—Manager Burtleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn Dodgers after a long conference with Joe Cronin announced today that he had given up hope of obtaining Mo Berg from the Red Sox. He had planned to use Berg as a second catcher and utility coach. The Dodgers and Sox play their last exhibition of the year here today.

HERKIMER FLASH FINISHES STRONG

Puerto Rican Wins 1st Half Of Fight, But Tires in Last Rounds

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—It was a close fight and the galleries thought Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers had won, but referee and judges unanimously agreed that Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rican, had earned the 10-round decision.

The Herkimer Hurricane's title was not on the line because both fighters were over the 135-pound limit last night, but there was little doubt that Lou would still be wearing the crown had the battle gone the 15-round championship distance. Montanez weighed 138½; Ambers 137.

Montanez's powerful body attack piled him up a huge margin in the first half of the fight, but Ambers' strong finish had the Puerto Rican groggy at the final bell. He won the sixth, seventh, eighth and tenth rounds easily and appeared as fresh as at the start, while Montanez was both leg and arm weary.

Victory for Pedro was supposed to mean a title bout this summer, but Madison Square Garden Promoter Jimmy Johnston indicated that the flashy islander would have to meet the winner of the May 7 Ambers-Tony Canzoneri championship match in another "over-the-weight" 12-round battle before he would get a title shot.

The 17,000 fans paid $54,257 to see the fight.

TWOGOOD NAMES IDAHO BALL CLUB

Men of Burley, Buhl, Oakley, Rupert and Jerome Make University Team

MOSCOW, April 6 (Special)—The final cut in the varsity baseball squad at the University of Idaho has been made by Forrest Twogood, diamond boss. The men named on the squad will remain in Moscow during the holidays and will take the trip to Whitman in Walla Walla for a three-day series to open the Idaho season.

A week later the Missionaries will come to Moscow to play a four-game 14 and 15.

Conference Season
The conference season will open April 24 when Idaho enters the Washington State on the home field. The Vandals start on a road trip April 28 which will take them to the diamonds of the University of Oregon, Oregon State college, and the University of Washington, returning home May 5 and completing their travels in Pullman May 10.

The remaining seven games will be played on the Idaho field with the season closing May 27 with the Washington Huskies.

The squad selected by Coach Twogood is as follows: Bill Krappe, Wallace, and Les Mackey, Nines, first baseman; Wayne Hill, Moscow, and Wayne West, Buhl, second basemen; Harold Atkins, Buhl, and Jack Frye, Welter, short stops; Steve Summers, Moscow, and Harry Wisher, Welter, third sackers.

CANZONERI WINS COME-BACK FIGHT

Former Lightweight King Tunes Up for Battle With Lou Ambers

NEWARK, N. J., April 6 (AP)—Former Lightweight Champion Tony Canzoneri in his first lineup match for a title bout, with Lou Ambers on May 7, scored an impressive victory over George Levy, Trenton, N. J., Italian, last night.

Kunkel Meets Kusek in Legion Wrestling Bout

J. Edward Warner, wrestling promoter for the American Legion building committee, today had announced his most sensational drawing card of the season for the Saturday night matches.

The headliner will bring back "Hershel" champion Del Kunkel, idol of intermountain fans, and Klem Kusek, who here three weeks ago, tangles with Phil "Hands" Olsen, 200-pound Canadian woodsman. As in the final bout, this match is a one-hour time-limit affair.

Opening match on the card will pit Clarence Call, 167, Idaho Falls, against Hap Bartlett, 172, Cedar City, Utah, in a one-fall match. It will be the first time that Call, a favorite with the local fans, has ever appeared against a mat artist near his own weight.

As usual, women will be admitted free accompanied by men. Tickets are on sale at the Brunswick, Dell's and the Sport Shop.

HAGEN'S WIFE WARNS GIRLS AGAINST MARRYING GOLFERS

DEAL, N. J., April 6 (AP)—Mrs. Walter Hagen, America's golf widow, today signalled the opening of the spring golf season today by advising all women against marrying golfers.

She has just won a divorce from her famous husband on grounds of desertion, but Hagen's overwhelming interest in golf, she told the United Press, was the real reason for their separation.

To other golf widows Mrs. Hagen sent this message: "My heart goes out to you, for I realize as do few others, the pathos and tragedy of your lives. Unless a woman is a golf addict herself she should never marry a confirmed golfer. It can only end on the rocks."

While her ex-husband toured the African fairways with Joe Kirkwood, Mrs. Hagen sat in her country home here and discussed her married life with Walter, "whose obsession for golf made me a mere incident in his life."

Golf Expert Describes First Round Of Professional Golfer McElmore

By HENRY McLEMORE

PINEHURST, N. C., April 6 (AP)—Two days ago, in one of the most brilliant monographs ever to flow from my pen and when I said "I'm a golfer," I meant "I'm a golfer."

I renounced professional baseball and adopted golf as my career.

Yesterday I played in my first important tournament—the North and South championship at Pinehurst. Knowing that it would be bad taste to describe my own round, I arranged to have a friend, Walter Hagen, the dean of American golf writers, play with me and report my progress.

Mr. Fowler has reported golf for 37 years, and in that span has witnessed 62 national championships, seven Ryder cup matches, numerous Ryder cup engagements, and known intimately such masters as Harry Vardon, Ted Ray, James Braid, J. H. Taylor, Alex. Herd, George Duncan, Alva Mitchell, Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen—in fact all the golfing greats.

As we walked from the 18th green after stinking long, curling downhill—and "fourth"—putts, Mr. Fowler paid me a compliment I always will cherish.

"I have seen 'triflin' all," he said, "but you're in a class by yourself."

His report of my round follows: "Somebody once said, 'Until you've had delirium tremens you haven't seen nothing.' I say, 'Until you've seen McElmore play golf, you ain't seen delirium tremens.'"

LAUNDRY DOWNS STUDEBAKER FIVE

Topples Automen From Perch As Leaders of League; Deiss Tops Scores

National Laundry rose up to trim Studebaker in the Commercial bowling league last night and pull the auto men out of first place. The laundry crew took a 2-1 verdict.

Log Tavern ran wild to capture three in a row from Twin Falls Lumber in the City league.

Two City league performers captured the spotlight for high performances of the night. Joe Deiss, with 574 and 214 high game, took all honors with Bradford right behind him by way of a 568 series. Art Boone, Commercial league, had 214 for high single in that circuit and Louie Pugliano turned in the best series with 536.

STRIKES TO SPARE

FRED STONE

Cap Sprouts really had himself some bowling team—three bowlers, himself and his sheepherder. Who was the sheepherder? Ah, that's the secret.

Anyway, the Laundry bunch put Dell's back on top of the heap by seven percentage points by defeating Studebaker.

Louie Pugliano was tops for the Commercial league with 536 for high three games. Three doubles in Louie's first and second games; he played up a nice split in his third game to fill every frame that heat.

Art Woods got two doubles and two singles his first game, but not a single spare. Art also filled every frame his third session.

One double for Al Pugliano, manufactured in his last game. One open frame his second game; not so good his first.

Bradford doubled out to end both his first and third games. His double that first game gave him high single score for his crew.

Oh, you've guessed it—Sprouts was the goat for both teams, but believe it or not, he got a double all by his noisily self his third game.

Bob McCracken was high for the Motor boys in two doubles for Bob his last game, just pushed his total over the top.

"Art" Boone took high single for the Commercial boys with 214. A double and a turkey that game; six splits and three errors his next couple of games really hurt his total.

Two doubles for Fargo his first game were certainly ruined by seven splits and a couple of errors. That's hard luck.

Ted Erickson went out his second game with four strikes in a row. But eight errors and three splits did plenty to his bunch of strikes.

Brown also had plenty of errors, and the most of his came on single pins. One double his last game helped a little.

For the second time in succession, the City league boys walked off with all the honors. Joe Deiss, with high single game of 216 and high three of 574, was tops for both leagues.

Joe got five strikes in a row his second game for the high single; a double in both his first and third games boosted his total. Joe incidentally set a new individual City league total, beating Archie Anderson by one point.

No doubles for Coleman or Gerrish; one each for Mike Routh and Jim Thompson.

For the losers Bradford was tops, with games of 191, 185 and 182—568. Good enough for any league. Brad had a turkey his first and second games, a double in his last.

STOCKS DECLINE IN DAY'S TRADE

NEW YORK, April 6 (U.P.)—Stocks, bonds, and commodities declined today. Losses in stocks ranged to 4 points in the main list. Selling was heaviest in so-called commodity stocks—steels, coppers, oils, and rubbers. Trading picked up moderately.
Weakness in steel shares was disappointing. American Metal Market, daily steel newspaper, found a strong note of conservatism developing in the steel trade "because it is felt that business in general has been at too high a pace for continuance when there are several unsolved problems."
U. S. Steel sold at 115½, off 3½; Bethlehem 94, off 3; and Republic 42½, off 1½. They came back slightly from lows.
Anacosta Copper touched 59½, off 2½; Kennecott 58½, off 2½, and Howe Sound 80, off 3½. Moderate recoveries took place.
Goodyear Tire sold down to 42½, off 1½; U. S. Rubber 65½, off 1½; and its preferred 103, off 1½; Barnsdall 31½, off 1½; Ohio Oil 21½, off 1½; and Standard of New Jersey 71½, off 1½.
North American made a new low. Railroad shares were down fractions to more than a point in Southern Pacific and New York Central. Chrysler dipped more than a point and General Motors a point. Westinghouse Electric lost 2 points and General Motors a point.
Toward the close short covering lifted some leading stocks from lows, but a majority closed below yesterday's final levels.
Dow Jones preliminary closing averages showed: Industrial 183.00, off 1.19; railroad 60.08, off 0.48; utility 31.61, off 0.14.
Transactions approximated 1,250,000 shares compared with 980,000 yesterday. Curb transactions approximated 453,000 shares compared with 300,000 yesterday.

Southern Idaho Motor Boaters Arrange River Trip for April 18th

Eight-Mile Journey Appears Brief, But Will Offer Real Obstacles

A pioneering trip by boat up one of the most perilous stretches of the Snake river which will test both men and outboard motors will be made Sunday, April 18, it was announced here today by Lud A. Drexler, president of the Southern Idaho Boating Club.

Under the leadership of Drexler, a party of about ten including eight Scoutmasters and assistant Scoutmasters from the Snake river area council, will make the trip from Blue Lakes bridge, west of Twin Falls, to within a mile of Hansen bridge which spans the rocky Snake river canyon east of this city.

The local Scouters making the trip will be under the direction of Lawrence Lundin, Scoutmaster of troop 65 of Twin Falls with Chauncey Abbott, Scoutmaster of troop 71 of Twin Falls, serving as assistant.

Difficult Barrier At one point, Devil's corral, the water may be so swift that the boaters may be unable to make that short stretch. If this is impossible they will return, take the boats overland to a point above Twin Falls and continue from there.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney

By WM. E. MCKENNEY Secretary, American Bridge League Grand slams rarely are bid in tournament play. A great many tournament players argue that, although a grand slam can be made, bidding and making a small slam is good enough to produce a better than average score.

Hence, even when they consider the chance of making a grand slam or better, they refuse to risk a good score for what might be a bottom if the contract should fail.

Today's Contract Problem East is playing the contract at four spades, doubled. He can make game by careful trump management. How should he play the hand, after the opening lead, which he reads as a singleton?

losers going on the ace of Clubs. A heart lead would be up to the tenace in declarer's hand, while a club lead also would provide the thirteenth trick immediately.

With the lead of a trump, however, South faced a different problem, which she solved by leading eight rounds of diamonds. West, who held all the important cards, was forced to find seven discards, and this was an impossible task, without giving the declarer her contract.

UTAHANS START TEST OF PENSION

$5,000 "Property Bonds" to Be Spent by 10 People In Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 6 (UP)—Ten aged residents of Utah today launched the first large-scale experiment of the Townsend plan in the nation when they started spending their share of $5,000 in "property bonds," which will be taxed at the rate of two per cent each time they are used.

The bonds, in one dollar denominations, were issued under the direction of Ison Lamb, president of the Utah National Prosperity Plan, Inc., who said that he was convinced that under normal conditions the transaction tax would amount to the face value of the bonds in a 30-day period.

Lamb started the first test of the Townsend old age revolving pension plan in Cheban, Washington, when 200 one-dollar bills were given an elderly couple with the stipulation that it be spent within a month. The plan failed, however, when souvenir hunters took the money out of circulation.

"BROTHER'S KEEPER"

Editor, Evening Times: Every now and then we have an outstanding personality that must be eulogized. Some times they get their flowers while they live, the majority of them, after they are dead, such a person has been brought to your attention this week in the death of a early beloved pioneer, Henry Harris.

It so happened that this man was a Negro. He was a man whose character and integrity was above reproach. A man who was brought to this country, when a young man by one other than Governor Sparks of Nevada as a trusted servant and body guard for his wife and family.

One who was elevated from this position to foreman and manager of the Sparks ranches. A trusted man and an honored one. He is one who numbered among his friends such men as Senator Borah and others of such note. Black or white his friends are countless.

I am sure all those friends within the confines of the four states he has served so well, would suffer themselves before they would have hurt the feelings of this dear man. At least that is their common expression. Yet why do they not raise a voice in protest when in the beautiful eulogies written for him, they must resort to the cheap use of words that are so offensive to him and his people?

The Negro race is proud of its progress, we in Twin Falls are proud of the standard we have set for you to measure us by. Since we are in the minority we feel very keenly these humiliating thrusts at our people. We would appreciate the burial of these insulting words with Uncle Tom and his cabin.

Every now and then some one must enlighten the public on certain things that seem to have escaped the notice of the majority of the people. Often it is politics, some times war, maybe it is religion or shall we or shan't we have temperance? But one problem that is sadly neglected is that of brotherhood.

We hear it preached from our pulpits and occasionally some honest teachers will stand up for it in spite of the conviction of the rest, yet when it is time to be applied, it turns out to be "Lily White Brotherhood."

No one is very popular who stands up for the right but until the time comes when the word "Love" and "Brother" is used instead of the common insults hurled at our people, you can make no progress. You cannot rise above the man whom you are trying to hold down, and the humiliation suffered by those in the minority only reflects the smallness of the ones who hurl the insults. Think it over, if you would be a "Blk" man like our deceased friend, Henry Harris, learn the use and true meaning of the word "Brother."

FLYNN REPORTED HURT IN MADRID

MADRID, April 6 (UP)—Dr. Herminio E. Erben of New York said today that Errol Flynn, movie star, was wounded slightly near the left eye by a nationalist-machine gun bullet in the University City area Saturday night.

Erben said he and Flynn were walking behind the loyalist lines when there was a burst of machine gun fire.

"Flynn fell," said Erben. "I carried him to a first aid station. I do not think the wound will affect his eye, though it was close. Flynn left for Valencia yesterday morning."

Ann Sothern says: "I like Luckies—they're smooth on my throat"

"I like Luckies because . . . well, just because I like them, that's all! They're an old standby of mine. They taste grand and they're as smooth as can be on my throat. I suppose Luckies get along so well with my throat because they're what you call a light smoke. I like them—and I'm glad to put it in black and white."

STARRING WITH GENE RAYMOND IN FORTHCOMING RKO RADIO PICTURE: "THERE GOES MY GIRL"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Sothern verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.
