Head of Schools Withdraws Here To Aid 'Harmony'

W. B. Smith Will Leave Post At Finish of Current Session

Withdrawing after a decade's tenure as superintendent of Twin Falls public schools, W. B. Smith today had removed himself as head of the system after the current school year.

Mr. Smith submitted his withdrawal before the board of trustees last night "in the interests of harmony."

Coming midway in a busy meeting, his announcement left the board momentarily silent at the sudden action by the veteran superintendent.

Plans Indefinite Mr. Smith, who came here 10 years ago from Clarkston, Wash., said today his plans are indefinite after finish of the school year.

The retiring superintendent was a captain in the United States army and was graduated from Washington State college. He did graduate study at Stanford and the University of Washington.

Previous to Mr. Smith's announcement to the board, the trustees and E. V. Larson, attorney for the district, engaged in a spirited discussion of Atty. Gen. J. W. Taylor's opinion holding that state law passed in 1935 forbids an employee of a school district from engaging in vending of goods for school use at a profit or commission to himself.

The opinion was given in answer to a query of the board as a result of the fact that Mr. Smith has been handling sale of textbooks as an independent operator, at request of a former board.

"Strained" Opinion "The opinion is far-fetched and strained," Larson asserted. "It fails to answer your query as to whether or not the board has incurred any responsibility under the law."

"I don't believe there was any violation of law involved because the statute clearly aims at profit of commission. In the handling of this matter, our superintendent should not be persecuted but rather should be lauded by the board."

"Wouldn't protect be a better word to use?" asked Mrs. McCoy. "It certainly would," Larson replied. "He should be protected for carrying out the wishes of the board."

The trustees discussed methods for taking care of the school book problem in the light of the attorney general's opinion. Mr. Smith outlined the deposit system used in Pocatello.

The group unanimously approved a resolution by Mrs. McCoy calling for appointment of a committee to investigate the possibility of securing a downtown agency to handle the textbooks, and also to report on methods now in current use by other boards. Mrs. McCoy and Mr. Tenckinck were appointed by Chairman Ward. They will report to the adjourned meeting Monday.

Urges More Changes Approximately $2,000 in books is now on hand, Mr. Smith advised the board during the discussion. He also said that basic changes in the texts (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

FDR WILL PUSH COURT PROGRAM, REPORT STATES

Switch in Voting of Justice Roberts Termed Deciding Factor in Wagner Act

NO COMPROMISE IS SEEN

Five to Four Decision Leaves Government No Surety, President Believes

WASHINGTON, April 13 (UP)—President Roosevelt called upon administration forces today to redouble their drive for enactment of his judiciary reorganization program. Opposition leaders accepted his challenge to a bitter-end fight.

By JOE ALEX MORRIS WASHINGTON, April 13 (UP)—President Roosevelt was represented by informed sources today as being still determined to push through his federal judiciary program despite supreme court action validating the Wagner national labor relations act.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported as feeling that the high tribunal's five decisions had changed what the President once called a judicial "No-man's land" to "Robert's land."

The switch of the vote of Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts was the deciding factor in court action upholding the national labor relations law.

One-Man Balance The one-man balance of the four 5 to 4 decisions yesterday, left Mr. Roosevelt with no thought of a compromise on his judiciary program and certainly no idea of withdrawing it from congressional consideration.

The President was said to be examining possible minimum wage legislation and child labor proposals in the light of supreme court action on the Wagner law.

He was represented as feeling that the five to four decisions yesterday left the government without sufficient certainty as to constitutionality of social-economic legislation.

A switch of one supreme court justice from yesterday's decisions, it was pointed out, might change the government's powers on industry in interstate commerce.

Act Over-Rules Attention also was directed to the fact that the five Wagner act decisions yesterday over-ruled three circuit court opinions by the ballot of one supreme court justice.

White House reaction to the Wagner decisions as they affect the President's judiciary plan came while friends and foes of the proposals in congress both claimed that the opinions had strengthened their ranks.

Congressional advocates of compromise increased their efforts to work out an agreement which would restore harmony in party ranks which have been split by the court controversy.

BUS ACCIDENT IN SOUTH HURTS 22

BRUNSWICK, Ga., April 13 (UP)—The driver and 21 passengers of a Pan-American bus en route from Miami to New York were injured today when it plunged off the highway into Woodbine creek, 25 miles south of here.

A check of passengers at the hospital here showed one woman passenger was missing and it was believed she may have drowned.

The bus was submerged but fast rescue work on the part of those less seriously injured saved the lives of most of the passengers. The missing woman's name was said to be Stuart. Her address was not known.

Woman Casts Doubt on 'Angel' Qualities of Father Divine

NEW YORK, April 13 (UP)—Mrs. Barbara Jones, middle-aged housewife, cast $2,315 worth of doubt today upon the "angel-making" qualities of Father Divine, Harlem's Negro "God."

Straying from the "flock," Mrs. Jones, white and slightly buxom widow, filed suit to recover the money which she said she gave the bald-headed Negro as a fee for making her one of his principal "angels."

She charged that she was lured into the "flock" in September, 1923, on a promise that she would be "blessed."

Democrat Gathering Hears F. D. R. Praise

Ralph Davis Lauds President At Bourbon Assemblage Here

Four-hundred persons, crowding the Radioland ballroom here last night to commemorate the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, third President of the United States and founder of the Democratic party, heard Ralph J. Davis of Boise, president of the Idaho Young Democratic organization and principal speaker, compare President Roosevelt with the founder of the party of which he is a member.

The banquet was that of the Twin Falls county Jefferson club and the foremost annual gathering of Democrats in Idaho.

Speakers, aside from Davis, included such notables as Gov. Barzilla W. Clark and Mrs. Will Simons of Boise, Democratic national committee-woman from Idaho. R. S. Toffenire, Twin Falls publisher, was toastmaster.

"President Jefferson," Davis said, "became one of the greatest Presidents because of the inspiring audience and benefits he gave to the common man. He fought his battle with the reactionaries before the people and won. He fought his battles in congress and won. He then had to fight the greatest battle with a reactionary Federal judiciary and, here too, he won."

Endorsed By People "President Roosevelt has been to the people. His victory was overwhelming. He placed his program before congress and the victory was overwhelming. He is now compelled to take issue with a judiciary, the personnel of which is openly opposed to his program of a new economy, an economy which will give opportunity and security to the young men and women of America."

"I am hoping that he wins that battle and I think I can say that (continued on Page 5, Column 3)

Chief Executive Still Determined On Court Program

Minimum Wage Measure Examined by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, April 13 (UP)—Supreme court validation of the Wagner labor act pointed congress today toward consideration of NRA-type legislation designed to compensate industry for the advantages gained by organized labor.

Informed sources indicated President Roosevelt is determined to push his supreme court enlargement measure to passage—with no thought of compromise—but at the same time taking steps to help business solve its economic problems through federation.

Mr. Roosevelt was said to be examining possible minimum wage legislation and child labor proposals in the light of the five decisions upholding labor's right to bargain collectively. In his 1936 campaign, the President committed himself to piece-meal reestablishment of the general principles of NRA. It was known his aides now are sifting a variety of proposals designed to help business to help itself through federal legislation.

Immediate Effects Immediate effects of the supreme court decisions gave promise of a truce in capital-labor strife, a possible move to legislate enforcement of labor contracts, and a spur to labor's unionization drive.

The house labor committee, deferring a move to postpone consideration until effects of the Wagner decision are more apparent, voted 11 to 4 to report favorably the senate-approved resolution condemning sit-down strikes and employer violations of the Wagner act.

Labor simultaneously, moved on a broad front to expand organizing activities under protection of the federal government.

The national labor relations board prepared to obtain reversal of lower court opinions holding the Wagner act unconstitutional but conceded, through its chairman that yesterday's decisions did not extend broad authority to all industry.

No Balance Seen Chairman J. Warren Madden specified that the board does not consider itself empowered to compel collective bargaining in the so-called service trades such as the hotel and restaurant business, laundries and tailoring establishments.

Observers of new deal policy predicted that the Wagner legislation devoted wholly to defining and enforcing a so-called Magna Charta for labor would have to be balanced by compensating advantage for industry. They cited the national industrial recovery act which combined with the provisions of the Wagner act the advantages of maximum hours and minimum wages for labor but conceded, also, to industry relations of the anti-trust laws.

LABOR ACT MAY BRING NEW ERA Peace on Strike Front Seen Following Supreme Court Ruling

By United Press Supreme court validation of the Wagner labor relations act appeared today to presage a new era of industrial peace. Labor observers believed it might lessen the threat of a strike in the plants of the Ford Motor company.

While leaders of the United Automobile Workers union in Detroit accelerated their organizing drive in the Ford factories, Chairman J. Warren Madden of the national labor relations board expressed the opinion in Washington that the company would be subject to the labor law under the court's interpretation of the act.

The threat of a strike had centered about union recognition which becomes mandatory under the act. "The labor situation in both the United States and Canada was improving."

At Oshawa, Ontario, where the UAW staged a picketing strike, government intervention appeared likely and union leaders accepted the offer of Norman Rogers, minister of labor, to serve as a mediator.

At Hershey, Pa., the United Chocolate workers—an affiliate of the committee for industrial organization—agreed to settle an 11-day-old strike which had been marked by violence. Wages and hours of workers remained unchanged; the union agreed not to coerce non-union workers; the company agreed not to interfere with union activities.

Oddities ALLIGATORS TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 13 (UP)—The fish-eating proclivities of the alligator were at issue today in the Florida house of representatives. In answer to a movement to protect the alligator because it is a conservator of game fish, Rep. Carl Gray asserted to "gator eats more fish than ten men can catch."

To prove his assertion Gray announced he would have three gators caught and dissected on the capitol lawn.

PHYSICS ST. PAUL, Minn., April 13 (UP)—St. Thomas college students of Prof. John Madigan require no keen perception to learn of their success or lack of it in examinations. Best written papers are impregnated with sweet-smelling perfumes, "Paris Night" and "Eau de Cologne." Passable and condition papers reek of hydron sulphide, reminiscent of over-rice eggs. Failing papers returned to students attract attention with fumes of butyric acid, same as given off by rancid butter. The professor teaches physics.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR SOUTH IDAHO SPEECH FESTIVAL

HEAD OF SCHOOL WITHDRAWS HERE

W. B. Smith, Superintendent For 10 Years, Resigns Local Post

Have not been frequent enough to keep abreast of trends and urged that necessary shifts be made in future.

Tentative suggested budget offered by the superintendent called for total expenditures of $181,300 and estimated revenue of $165,125.89. His suggestions envisioned methods for cutting the mill tax from 15 mills as at present to 13.9 mills next year.

"The Twin Falls school district," Mr. Smith said, "is now on the verge of momentous things. Your bonds are practically paid off, you look to an extensive building program, and you have a great opportunity. To capitalize on that opportunity, you must have harmony.

Removing "disharmony"

"There has been some disharmony in relation to the superintendent's office, and I am removing that discordant factor by leaving for the best interests of the community."

He cited the advances made by the school system even during depression times, and stressed the city's need for concerted action on the proposed school building program.

"Those buildings," he declared, "should be built now. I urged the board to do this."

Chairman George J. Ward, after a moment's silence, said that "I would like to see you stay until this building program is completed."

Praises Smith

"A man as valuable as you have been, both in aiding the financial side of the school system and in its educational progress, is worth a great deal to the community."

"Personal prejudices should not stand in the way."

"If we are going ahead with a building program at all, I'd like very much to see you remain until it is finished. This is a very important time to lose your services. They mean too much to the school district and to the taxpayers."

The superintendent informed the board that he will remain until the end of the school year and "will assist to the best of my ability in the school program."

No actual contract had been arranged by the board, although a general resolution several months ago had retained Mr. Smith at a three-year scale ranging from $4,200 to $6,500. State law calls for a definite contract with a specific figure annually.

"If eliminating one man will eliminate the division on the board and in the community in connection with this office," the superintendent said, "then removing him is the easiest way out. That man is removing himself."

Regular Functions

S. H. Graves interposed with the assertion that "my idea would be to have you go along with your regular functions so long as you are superintendent—including the nominating and hiring of teachers, and the other duties of your office."

L. J. Tenenck approved the suggestion, and Mrs. Ralph B. Smith agreed, "yes, until the end of the school year."

"I am sure," Mrs. Sturgeon McCoy said, "that he would perform those functions with the greatest judgment."

"I doubt if the end of the school year would be long enough," Ernest F. Stettler said, "in view of our building plans. I approve entirely Mr. Ward's remarks."

Inasmuch as no definite contract had been arranged for next year, the board took no action on Mr. Smith's withdrawal.

OFFICERS PROBE BEATING OF MAN

Buhl Laborer, 60, Seriously Injured as Result of Asserted Brawl

BUHL, April 13 (Special)—John Mason, 60, Buhl laborer, is at the Twin Falls hospital in a critical condition with what is feared to be a brain infection received Saturday night or early Sunday in a drunken brawl. City and county officers are cooperating in an investigation of Mason's possible assailants.

Mason had been employed on improvements at the Banbury plume which were completed Saturday and is reported to have become intoxicated with a group of others after being paid for his work. Sometime during the night he was apparently seriously beaten and was unconscious when discovered by the roadside by a neighbor near his home on Locust street at about 6:30 a. m. Sunday.

He was taken to his home and given treatment but had not regained consciousness early this afternoon. He was moved to the Twin Falls hospital late last night.

When Mason was found by Sheriff E. F. Prater and Art Parker, deputy, last night.

No arrests had been made today. Condition of Mason was reported as unchanged this afternoon at the Twin Falls county general hospital here.

Sheriff E. F. Prater said that officers were continuing the investigation, but indicated that a possible solution might be the chance that Mason was struck by a passing car and hurled to the bottom of the rocky ditch ledge in which he was found.

It was through the creative work of Mr. Hopkin that construction on the rock garden, as yet not wholly completed, got underway.

The body may be viewed by friends at the White mortuary from 1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Wednesday. The casket will not be opened during church services.

Frank Knight Has Possible Internal Injuries From Crash Near Filer

Relatives of Frank L. Knight, 35, Twin Falls, feared today that he may have suffered internal injuries when his car rammed into a truck a mile north of Filer last night.

Following this statement Knight collapsed and was taken to his home on Fourth avenue west where a physician was summoned. It was feared, at the time, that he might be suffering internal injuries.

Driver of the truck involved in the accident was John J. Ingalls of Filer. His machine was overturned by the impact but was only slightly damaged. Knight's car was said to have been demolished.

Guy Nelson of Twin Falls, passenger in the Knight machine and brother-in-law of the man, was slightly cut and bruised.

JUNIOR CHAMBER BOARD MEN QUIT

C. H. Detweiler and R. S. Tofflemire, both past presidents and board members of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce and also serving on the board of directors of the senior chamber, today resigned as members of the junior organization.

The action came following adoption of a ruling at a noon meeting today that any junior chamber members could not serve as members of the senior board or be officials of the senior organization in the future.

The junior chamber also went on record at today's meeting as wishing to operate entirely separately from the senior organization. Voy Hudson was appointed to succeed F. G. Thompson who had been serving as secretary of both the junior and senior chambers.

Following the acceptance of the resignations of the two members, E. W. McRoberts, president, said appointments to fill the vacancies would be made within a few days.

A committee composed of Ronald Graves, chairman, and Lloyd Young and Earl Baughman was appointed to continue the investigation relative to the purchase of a tract of 20 acres adjoining Harmon park for development of a recreational center.

Mr. Graves was named to represent the junior chamber at the proposed Twin Falls Recreational association.

CITY PARK HEAD IS PAID TRIBUTE

NYA Leader Says Mr. Hopkin Was "Inspiration" to Local Youth

Harold A. Salisbury, area supervisor for the National Youth administration, today added condolences of himself, his organization and its youthful workers to those already expressed at the death of A. B. Hopkin, city park superintendent.

Many young men came in contact with Mr. Hopkin as they worked on NYA projects in city parks. Today, Mr. Salisbury said:

"He who inspires youth to higher ideals, nobler thoughts and a happier life, has lived greatly. Such a person was Arthur B. Hopkin, and it is only fitting that we speak a word of appreciation for his work, not only in developing the parks of our city, but also planting seeds of good citizenship in the lives of some 12 young men working under his supervision.

"We know of many instances where Mr. Hopkin spent considerable time in helping straighten out some difficulty for his boys, but he was always glad to do this because of his genuine interest in youth.

"His place will be hard to fill, but the lasting beauty of our parks and his influence in the lives of these boys who have worked with him are monuments of greatest worth which will last indefinitely."

KEATON SERVICES

Body of Arthur Keaton, veteran railroad conductor who died Saturday at Wells, Nev., was taken today to Pocatello where funeral services and burial will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m.

Shipment was directed by the Twin Falls mortuary.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clara Keaton; a daughter, Mrs. Vaughn Evans, Pocatello, and a son, Clark Keaton, Pullman, Wash.

Compromise in Court Program Seen Following Wagner Act Validation

JUDICIARY OKED ON LABOR'S ACT OPENS ARGUMENT

Authorities Believe Rules of New Move Will Follow Railway Statute

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Validation of the Wagner labor relations act pointed the way today toward early compromise of President Roosevelt's court reorganization program, a truce in labor-capital strife, and comprehensive new legislation—a move to hasten enforcement of labor contracts was foreseen.

The supreme court's five decisions upholding the New Deal guarantees of collective bargaining raised immediately the question of legislating some compensating advantage to industry. Some authorities believed that it might follow the pattern of the railroad labor act. The act forbids "snag strikes" such as the current sit-down epidemic. It leaves labor free to walk out after mediation, voluntary arbitration and Presidential investigation have failed to compose differences.

Unanswered Question
Whether the court's broad Wagner decisions opened an avenue for federal action in sit-down strikes was an unanswered question in the capital as statesmen digested the opinions today. Congress is in the process of public condemnation of sit-downs and Mr. Roosevelt is represented as believing they are illegal.

The movement for compromise in Mr. Roosevelt's court reorganization plan gained unquestioned impetus from yesterday's opinions. Some senators discussed revision of the President's bill to reduce the number of new justices from six to considerably fewer, possibly to two.

Meeting Called
Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, meanwhile, called for April 19 a conference of representatives of labor and industry to discuss stabilization of industrial relations in light of the court's decisions. The national association of manufacturers expressed the hope that "harmonious working arrangements can be speedily worked out."

In an hour or so yesterday the court turned down long-prevailing opinions on the scope of federal authority over industry. As of today, the operator, of a plant which buys or sells outside its home state is more likely than not to be subject to directions from Washington with respect to certain employment policies hitherto beyond the power of the federal government. And it is the consensus of the capital that the regulatory movement will be pushed on all fronts as far as the outside limits of authority now conceded by the supreme court.

Perfect Record
In its Wagner decision the court maintained its record of upholding all New Deal cases which have come to decisions in the session which began last October. These include the arms embargo, tax on silver profits, ban against prison made goods, outlawing of gold bullion contracts, national firearms act, railway labor act, and therazier-Lemke farm mortgage act. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings scoffed at suggestions that the judicial opinions justified withdrawal of the court reorganization plan. Mr. Roosevelt may speak for himself at his 4 p. m. press conference today.

GREEN MAY CALL SPECIAL MEETING

Report Says A. F. L. Head Has Set Date for Conference As Monday

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Sources close to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today he plans to summon an emergency meeting of the federation executive council next Monday to consider advisability of expelling all unions affiliated with the committee for industrial organization.

Green has not yet announced the date of the meetings, but it was reported reliably that he has invited council members and possibly presidents of the metal and building trades departments to confer here April 19.

Informed quarters predicted that the council would summon an extraordinary convention of the federation after discussing the proposed expulsion. Some sources said they believed the convention would be held within 30 days after the council meeting. At present 10 C. I. O. unions are under suspension as a result of the council's vote last August.

The federation has a standing committee waiting to meet John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, or any of his representatives to discuss peace. However, no hint of a reconciliation has been given and two factions have launched rival unionization drives throughout the nation.

To insure healthy flowers and shrubs, use Peat Moss, Dingle and Smith Seed Co.—Adv.

Beginning Wednesday the Idaho theater presents as its regular mid-week return hit "These Three" with Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon, and Joel McCrea. The program is completed with vaudeville acts and news showing for the last times today at the Idaho theater is "Let's Make a Million" with Edward Everett Horton and Charlotte Wynters.

All Missionaries Are Told to Leave Ethiopia, Letter to U. S. States

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 13 (AP)—James Rohrbaugh, former missionary to Ethiopia, and United States correspondent there, said today he had received letters from Ethiopia saying all foreign missionaries were ordered to leave the country.

"If reports of expulsion of missionaries are true, it's the beginning of the end," Rohrbaugh said. He said missionaries are unjustly suspected as spies when the truth is that they are bending over backward to please officials in Ethiopia.

Rohrbaugh said he will remain in America a year, living in Philadelphia.

CITY TO VACATE PART OF STREET

Action Started Officially to Abandon Road and Alley In Old Ball Park

The city council today had instructed George Paulson, city attorney, to draw up the necessary ordinance which will permit the city officially to vacate an alley and street which cross the old ball park, following action taken at last night's council meeting.

Pettiford to vacate the alley and street was presented by W. R. Cannon and C. P. Cosgriff, described as legal owners of the property. The section was officially described as the alley in block 122, between Fifth street south and Sixth street south; and Third avenue south between Fifth street south and Sixth street south.

Unused Since 1906
The alley and street, the council was told, have never been used since 1906 but during all that time have never officially been declared vacant. A motion for the drawing of an ordinance to this effect was made by Mayor Johnston and the council voted unanimously for it.

Luke M. Francis, resident of Rock creek and also a labor leader, urged the council to take action to keep commercial avenue open for traffic at a point where it is being crossed by new stockyards construction.

Will Investigate
The council took the matter under advisement and instructed the city attorney to ascertain whether or not the street had ever been designated as such.

Francis contended the road had been used ever since the establishment of Twin Falls and that the persons living in that vicinity had a right to use it because of the many years it has been open to them. He said it blocked the road leading into Rock Creek canyon and called attention to the fact many residents find it necessary to make detours when the road is blocked.

PILL SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

A convincing tribute is paid to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aninsen of Seattle.

"I suffered with constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night. Since I got your ALL-BRAN, it works fine. I was so deathly-sick of taking pills. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally, and is pleasant to eat."

Inside the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass that gently sponges out the intestines. It also supplies vitamin B to help tone the intestines, and iron for the blood.

You'll enjoy eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. As a cereal with milk or fruits, or in appetizing recipes. Two tablespoonfuls every day are usually enough—three times daily if needed. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Twin Falls Should Go After Water Supply, Clark Says

Citizens of Twin Falls are "missing a great chance" when they fail to take advantage of nature's offerings to them in the development of an adequate and "good" water supply and also a municipal power plant, Gov. Barzilla W. Clark told an Evening Times reporter in an exclusive interview last night.

"Opportunity is to be found here in much more abundance than we had at Idaho Falls," the governor said, "and the people of this city and vicinity are missing a great chance when they do not take advantage of what nature has given them."

Adequate Supply
"By opportunity, I mean the start of an adequate and good water supply, one which would not taste of chlorine, and also the establishment of a municipal power plant."

"Deep underground the water supply in this vicinity of the country is abundant. It resembles a mighty river, there is so much of it," the governor said.

Governor Clark then told of the feasibility of sinking a deep well for the water supply. He explained that the water would rise to within 150 feet of the ground and numerous "taps" could be made to insure an adequate supply.

Over this well, he explained, could be constructed the power plant, the well to be sunk in some feasible place.

"The plant, at first, should be built to give twice the capacity required of it. At first the people could light their own streets and from there on could start to broaden out."

"The power would also fill the city mains with the abundant, natural supply of clear water which would be cold the year around and which would not taste of chlorine, as it does in Twin Falls some seasons of the year," the governor pointed out.

Urges Own Pumping
"You cannot pay someone else to pump your good water for you. This was tried in Pocatello when they sank wells for a fresh supply at Ross park, and the cost was so high they had to go up in the hills where they would get a gravity flow."

"The Twin Falls water situation would be cleared up by this simple method which has been tried and proven and it would be successful if they had their own power to pump."

Returns to Boise
The governor, here to attend the Jefferson Day banquet, at which he spoke, left this morning to return to Boise. He was accompanied by Juneau H. Shinn, former Twin Falls newspaper man and now his personal secretary.

At the present time the water supply of Twin Falls is derived through canals from the Snake river. It is filtered at the city plant which, examination has shown, cannot begin properly to treat the water during the summer rush months. This authorities of the subject have said, says the chlorine taste is exceptionally strong at times. The reason, they state, is because the chlorine cannot be given adequate time to mix before the water is called for use.

Agent for Gooding Receives Checks

GOODING, April 13 (Special)—A total of $20,742.87 in 309 checks has been received from the federal government under the soil conservation program and will be distributed immediately, states C. L. Mink, county agent. This payment is on the 1936 contracts and amounts to less than half the total amount that will be received.

Mink expects another group of checks later. Some of the farmers will have to wait for their pay. He states that only farmers who are notified should call at this office for checks.

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES

WEST-HOLLIDAY-MOENGEN CO., INC. Mills Tower, 220 Bush Street, San Francisco, Calif.

The Wool Growers Also Wonder

The last issue of the Idaho Wool Growers Bulletin has joined in asking Senator Pope the question: "Just what representative group is behind the move to establish a national park in the Sawtooth mountains?"

"The state grange and local granges in and near the areas that have been talked of for parks, emphatically stated their opposition against them last August," the bulletin says.

"The citizens of Ketchum, in one united body, have gone on record as opposed to a park in the Sawtooth mountains, and also the Union Pacific officials, who have developed the recreational area known as Sun Valley, have expressed their disapproval of placing this section into a park."

"Also chambers of commerce in and near proposed park areas have opposed these, as well as the Water Users association. And, last but not least, the general sentiment of individual farmers, ranchers and stockmen groups shows they are against any parks being set up."

"Senator Borah fully realizes the wishes of the people of Idaho and has expressed his opposition. Representative Clark has an open mind and Idaho citizens should write him expressing their disapproval. Rep. Compton I. White is opposed to this park measure. Senator Pope continues to carry the battle that there are interests demanding it. We have never been able to find out what representative group is behind this move."

To clarify any misunderstanding that may develop, Union Pacific railroad officials have reiterated their statement that they are not in favor of such a park being established.

If those opposing the park bring sufficient pressure to bear they may learn something by the process of elimination, even though the senator may not care to divulge the names of those who are behind the agitation.

Tip for Uncle Sam

In the current issue of a magazine, an able economist makes a few sage observations.

He maintains that the coming boom already is on the way. To those, who don't care to be taken for a ride by it, he offers this advice:

"Buy tangible, useful, needed things. And lend as little money as you can, unless money-lending is your business."

This seems a bit of common sense that can be heeded profitably not only by John Public, but also by Uncle Sam. In the latter's case, however, the last sentence is probably needless, as brutal experience has taught him to ignore the outstretched palms of overseas neighbors.

He could, though, confine his purchases to "tangible, useful, needed things." This phrase, for instance, might apply to armaments, but only to such as are needed to defend his domain. Beyond that point, they may still be tangible, but since America intends to enter no more foreign wars, they are hardly useful and necessary.

Killing Is No Fair!

Now comes Senator Borah with a defense of the sit-down strikes on the grounds that the government has failed to provide "legal methods for settlements of disputes."

In voting against a proposed amendment to the Guffey coal bill attacking the sit-down strike as illegal, the senator said:

"I am not disposed myself to condemn illegal practices of labor in its fight with capital, also employing illegal methods, so long as these illegal methods do not involve the taking of human life."

Both labor and capital must come in under the law and abide by the law, according to the senator. And that will be when the states or the government provide legal methods for the settlement of these disputes.

Maybe we can no longer condemn illegal practices, senator, but we're awfully glad you still think that taking of human life should be regarded as being against the rules.

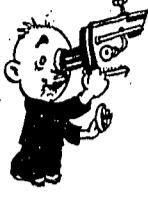

"Engineers produce machine that remembers everything." If used for household purposes and sent to the grocery, a cog slip could result in a dozen milk.

Explaining the CIO to the office blond proved useless, as she got it all backward. At least she said "OIC."

POT SHOTS

WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

SIMPLY GORGEOUS, EH BILL?

The Royal Order of Pot Shots heroes can't afford to omit Bill McRoberts. No sir, it can't afford to. As the movie men say, this is colossal, stupendous, super-gigantic.

Somer of Bill's pals had a birthday party for him. And the piece de resistance was the nice little present given him by the ladies who were in attendance. The gift was an embroidered girdle. On the front was embroidered "Willy?" On the back, "Or won't he?"

I haven't heard whether he's making practical use of the gift or not.

—The House Dick

THEY FLUNKED THAT ONE!

Pot Shooter: I saw so many Democrats of high, low and intermediate degree roaming around Twin Falls Monday night that I still think the Republicans up at Boise missed a big chance in not raiding the state government and taking it over.

They must not have any Mussolinis among the G. O. P. or they wouldn't have passed up such an opportunity while the defenders were away.

—The Bourbon Badman

THEY COULD HAVE SAVED A PRETTY PENNY!

Bonny Sire: The brae bonny shipyard workers back in Scotland he got peevish at wages or some at and hne walked out. They had na heard of the American strike method, which saves shoe leather.

—Angus MacBoondoggie

MIGHT BE A LOT OF "DIVOTS," TOO!

Ahem, Kind Sir: Positively the most startling piece of information that has come to my ears in a decade is the fact that a barber has gone and won the world's championship speed championship for shaving a man. He did it in 18 seconds.

What I want to know is whether that included time-out for replacing all divots.

WHOOPI! MURTAUGH TAKES A CRACK AT TEXAS!

Pot Shots: To a Gal from Texas (who's why you'd admit it, I wouldn't know): If you will go back through your Pot-Shots columns, you will find that I had reference to the song "Beautiful Texas" instead of "The Eyes of Texas." I don't seem to recall that number so I can't say whether the melody is as terrible as "Beautiful Texas."

However, we of Idaho, (especially Murtaugh) are certainly thankful that "The Eyes of Texas" can't see this far or they'd all quit "Beautiful Texas" for "Prosperous Idaho." Am-I-right or Am-I-wrong? —I. Wanda No

A MERE MIDGET! Incidentally, the weight should have been 135 pounds, — and please, Lord, let the linotype man get it right this time!

Stranded in San Diego on vacation, MARTHA BRITAIN and BETTY SPEDDON, who were riding in the Alpeared Trailer Company to travel up the coast, demonstrating the new de luxe trailer. Their suspicions are aroused somewhat when ARNOLD SLOAN of the trailer company fails to see them for either boat or reference.

They return to their apartment to pack. At the door they are surprised to find a young man trying to enter. Apologetically, he tells them he stepped off at the wrong door and that he is GERRY NEAL.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

MARTHA'S first thought was to get the revolver in the car and turn Neal over to the Monterey police. Quickly she turned, but before she could reach the door of the coupe he had caught her wrist.

"What are you going to do?" Martha faced him angrily. "I'm going to see that you're put behind bars!"

"But what for?"

"You've something to do with Betty's disappearance. You and Speddon are in it together." She tried vainly to release herself. "And if you don't let go of my wrist I'm going to scream."

Neal smiled. "Don't make me have to cover your mouth."

Martha faced him, her brain racing, trying to hit upon some way to outwit him. There was not a soul in sight, and the nearest dwelling was more than a block away. "Please," she pleaded. "let go, and tell me how to find Betty. She sent a wire saying she'd meet me at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. Will she?"

"I know Jack Speddon," Neal said. "And if she's with him she'll meet you there."

"Then you do admit that it's some sort of a trick between the two of you?"

The other shrugged. "I'd hardly say a trick. I'm rather inclined to agree with that detective, Sloan."

"Yes. Didn't he say there was a possibility that Betty just decided to go on with Speddon?"

Martha's jaw dropped. "Then you were near the trailer when Sloan was there?"

"I was in the trailer." Her blood chilled at his reply. Was Neal a madman, too? "No, you couldn't have been."

"I was, though," Neal insisted. "Would you like to have me show you how it was possible?" He released her wrist. "I wouldn't go for your gun, if I were you, until you've made quite sure I'm not a friend."

HE opened the door of the trailer and switched on the light, then pointed at the ceiling. To Martha's astonishment a wide rectangular hatch was folded down, revealing a sizeable space between the ceiling and the actual top of the trailer.

She looked at Neal. "But how could you have been up there?" "It's really quite roomy. And those ventilators on the outside of the trailer go into that upper compartment, not into the trailer."

"But—but what's it for?" "I wondered that myself," Neal said. "You see, I know something of car design. When I came back here to shave I spotted something screwy, so I investigated."

Martha dropped wearily to the settee, rubbed a moist hand over her forehead. "I wish we'd never taken this job. It's all—"

She stopped, looked helplessly at Neal. "I can't understand any of it."

He offered her a cigaret. "The best thing to do for the time being is calm down and don't try to figure it."

"But I can't trust you. Why were you hiding? Why didn't you meet Speddon as you'd promised? Then all this wouldn't have happened."

Neal sat down beside her, looked squarely into her eyes. "See here, Martha Britain. You've got to trust me. You've got to believe that things might have been worse if I hadn't pulled my little stunt."

"What do you mean?" "That's all I can tell you now," Neal said. "But do you know why Betty didn't come back?"

Neal shook his head. "I'm not certain. If you don't accept Sloan's theory."

"I don't," Martha said quickly. "Betty Haynes wouldn't do a thing like that." She stopped a moment. "Do you—do you really think of Speddon?"

"We've known each other for a considerable time."

MARTHA'S head was whirling with questions, but she saw that Neal would not give what answers he knew. How far should she trust him, she wondered. There was the possibility that he was working with Speddon, was even now attempting to throw her off the track. But what did Speddon want with Betty? The Haynes family was not wealthy, so she could not be held for any appreciable kidnap ransom. The only other alternative filled Martha's heart with a cold fright.

"Will you go to San Francisco with me to meet Betty?" she asked suddenly. "Of course."

Martha's heart leaped. If she could keep him with her, pretend to fall in with him, there might still be a chance to get him into the hands of the police. Perhaps in the crowded Palace Hotel, when she found Betty's wire had been a hoax, she could have Gerry Neal arrested.

"I'm going to get some rest," she said. "Then we'll start early in the morning."

"You won't run away from me?"

"No."

Neal smiled. "I really wouldn't. I can help you. And you must believe me when I tell you that this whole thing may be bigger than you imagine. A girl can't buck it alone. And whether you realize it or not, you're in it up to your neck." He started for the door. "I'll be at the Del Monte. If you want to come by for me there at 8 o'clock we can breakfast together."

"The Del Monte? I—I thought you were broke."

Gerry Neal grinned. "I wired for funds," he said. "See you in the morning." Then with a pleasant "good night" he left the trailer.

Tired and befogged, Martha wondered dully if he'd really been there. Perhaps she'd blundered again, and he would rush on to San Francisco to warn Speddon that she was on the trail. Who was Gerry Neal? How could he stay at the Del Monte when he had sneaked away from his lady in San Diego and gone hitchhiking on the highway?

It was too much for Martha to solve that night. With a shudder she closed the ceiling compartment in which Neal had hidden. Once closed it was almost impossible to detect without the aid of measurements. She recalled with chagrin how she had slept in the trailer at Santa Barbara—and with Gerry Neal all the while in that compartment above! She remembered his slow, engaging grin, and his deep friendly eyes. Why did she want so to trust him when everything about his actions was against him? Was it because she needed help so badly, or because she...

Martha slept, with the question unanswered. (To Be Continued)

PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS. An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-moving Events in the Nation's Capital. By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator. (Copyright, 1935, By Paul Mallon)

INFLUENCE

WASHINGTON—It was not President Roosevelt who blocked the congressional move to outlaw coal sit-downs. Nor was it entirely Floor Leader Robinson, although he has received the credit. The job was done by a man on the telephone with the voice of a Hamlet in rage. No senator needed to be introduced. There was only one voice like that in the United States.

Mr. John L. Lewis has his influence. He has not only introduced to America the technique of winning minority seats against the law and court order, by force, but he has become a major economic influence. He has raised the price of basic commodities as much as the armament boom in Europe. He has shortened hours, increased wages, and consequently prices, in steel, coal and probably eventually in autos. He has done it at a time when the government professes to be frightened by price inflation and is working to prevent another boom and collapse.

To anyone who can do these things, senators are not so tough.

FORD The current flag-waving about a big Ford strike may not be justified. The inside on that situation bears a distinct topographical difference from General Motors and Chrysler.

It seems that all of Mr. Ford's plants sit back far from public highways and public property. They are surrounded by high barbed fences a considerable distance from the street. The feeding of sit-downers in his plants, therefore, would be a difficult proposition.

If some of Ford's men sit down, his ample guard force will just surround the building and prevent outside trespassers from coming on his property. If trespassers attack the guards in trying to get food to the strikers, you will have civil warfare or something so closely related to it that Mr. Lewis might find himself sitting down voluntarily and permanently, perhaps in a room with steel wallpaper.

ARGUMENT Lewis got busy on the phone when he heard about the Byrnes amendment to his Guffey-Vinson coal bill, proposing to legalize sit-downs in the mines. Those around the Democratic telephone booths that day say he must have talked to 30 senators. Some say he changed only half a dozen votes or so, but he strengthened many.

There cannot be a sit-down in coal. The men could not live in underground darkness without food or comforts. Guards at the mouth of the mine could easily isolate the strikers. Consequently, he never intended to have a sit-down in coal.

The proposal, therefore, was just a gratuitous insult to the auto workers who had won their strike and effected a settlement. There was just enough truth in what he said about coal sit-downs to convince some wavering senators who might otherwise have been unswayed by his voice.

WORDS Other unseen compliments to the talents of Mr. Lewis have developed here lately. The story may be challenged, but there is no good reason to doubt that the President and vice president have exchanged some warm unreported word on the subject of Mr. Lewis. This said, unquestionably, that Mr. Garner challenged the truth of reports being received by the President concerning sit-downs. The vice president implied Mr. Roosevelt was being misled as to the seriousness of the situation and the probable consequences of letting sit-downs encourage the flouting of laws which are enforced against citizens outside the C. I. O.

The conversation got down to the desk-pounding stage when Mr. Garner said something like this: "You have got to get those men out of those factories."

The grand march is scheduled to start at 9 p. m. led by Ed Benoit, junior class president, followed immediately by Dick Harbert, senior class president, and Bruce Painter, student body president, accompanied by their partners.

GUILD ASKS FOR LYNCH'S RETURN

Seattle P-I Told to Reinstated Discharged Photographer After Court Decision

SEATTLE, Wash., April 13 (UP)—Supported by the supreme court decision upholding constitutionality of the Wagner labor act, the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild planned today to demand immediate reinstatement of Frank Lynch, Guild member, to the staff of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Lynch, a photographer, and Everhardt Armstrong, drama critic, were discharged last year and the Guild charged their dismissal resulted from union activities. Their discharge precipitated a strike which forced the publication, the only morning paper in Seattle, to suspend publication for several weeks.

The strike ended after the national labor relations board ordered William Randolph Hearst, publisher, to reinstate both men. Hearst subsequently filed an appeal with the U. S. circuit court of appeals in San Francisco. The suit still was pending when the supreme court decision was announced. In the meanwhile, however, Armstrong died.

The Seattle Guild unit declared in a statement issued last night that Hearst will be "guilty of bad faith and law violation," if attempts were made to delay reinstatement of Lynch.

A paper was presented by Mrs. Price on the famous gardens of the world and a general discussion on the subject followed. Miss Lucille Long, vice president, conducted the session.

Following the meeting refreshments were served.

ST. LOUIS CARDS OVERRATED, WRITER SAYS

DEAN, WARNEKE TERMED WHOLE PITCHING STAFF

Mickey Owen, Highly Touted
New Catcher, Is Unproven
As Big Leaguer

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 13.—It strikes me that the St. Louis Cardinals have a lot of problems for a club made favorite by the bettors and generally picked to win the National league pennant.

Maybe the boys figure that Pepper Martin's Gas House band will blow, strum, sing, and strut its way down in front. Between Dizzy Dean and Lon Warneke, but after those two are listed the biggies in the red blazers are no better off in the box than any other major league club.

Can't Throw
Mickey Owen can throw like blazes, but he hasn't a stroke at bat, and may lack the catching intelligence required of a major leaguer.

Stuart Martin still hasn't his full strength following his severe attack of appendicitis, and the old war-horse, Frank Frisch, may have to start at second base. Shortstop is in the hands of the capable Leo Durocher.

Don Gutteridge, up from Columbus, perhaps is the fastest man in baseball, but Branch Rickey admits he is a streaky ball player, and he may not enjoy enough good streaks to make a go of it at third base.

Gutteridge drove in 99 runs in hitting 298 for Columbus, which is a record that barely would get him by with a hard-hitting National league entry.

Poor Hitting
Crawford and Terry Moore, the light-footed centerfielder, revealed such a tendency to hit at bad inside pitches this spring that Branch Rickey ordered them to the batting cage.

Jim Winford is a dependable right-hander, but Bill McGee has yet to prove himself. Rickey blanked on Ray Harrell, back from Rochester, but he has been retarded by a late February appendectomy, which may throw St. Johnson, on whom the Reds gave up, into the front line.

Bob Welland, giant southpaw bagged 23 games for Rochester, but got nowhere in previous major league whiffs with the White Sox, Red Sox, Indians, and Browns. Jesse Haines is still around, but seldom will be used.

Five Outfielders
The Cardinals will carry five outfielders for the time being—Joe Medwick, Terry Moore, Pepper Martin, Don Padgett, and Stanley Bordagaray, the former Dodger who refused to reform.

Everybody seems to have great faith in Padgett, a collegian who obtained experience in Columbus last season. He hasn't hit this spring, but is a left-handed swatter who drives the ball a long way when he gets hold of it.

Card Aces?

Don Padgett... liked by Cardinal bosses.

William McGee... will get every chance.

Bob Welland... veteran of many trials.

Don Gutteridge... is a streaky ballplayer.

TIN CAN ORCHESTRA
SAN JOSE, Cal. (AP)—Music in America is ever reaching higher levels. The latest girls orchestra at State College uses exclusively instruments, mallets, flower pots, tin cans, bottles and glasses. Yet the programs include many classical numbers.

Replacing the cable connections between the distributor and the spark plugs may assure easier starting.

Crowning New Bridge 'King'

Highest honor in the American bridge world went to B. J. Becker of Philadelphia, in winning the individual masters' contract bridge championship at the national tournament conducted in New York by the American Bridge league. As the ace of players, Becker is shown, right, being congratulated by William E. McKeeney, secretary of the American Bridge league and bridge authority for this newspaper. They hold the impressive trophy that Becker has won.

Assurance of Lincoln Field Given to Soft Ball Sponsors

Use of Lincoln field for softball play, with a season ending on Aug. 1, was assured for the 1937 season today.

Permission to use the field was granted to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, softball sponsors, by the board of school trustees at its meeting last night. The board stipulated that the sod at the field must be put in good condition for the football season.

Start Earlier
Earlier start of the season will compensate for the close of the league play Aug. 1, the Junior Chamber committee assured the board when informed that game's could be gotten underway before the school year is completed.

Hiring of Lott for Doubles Coach
Will Aid U. S. Davis Cup Chances

By HENRY McEMORE
(Copyright 1937, United Press)
NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—The United States Davis cup team lost its chance to challenge England for the trophy last year when, from the depths of his inexperience, young Gene Mako elected to make the easiest sort of shot—the hardest sort of way.

Partnering Don Budge in the doubles against Australia in the North American zone final, Mako, with his side at match point, was offered a soft lob set-up at the net. Both his opponents Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist, were hopelessly out of position. All Mako had to do to end the match was to tap the ball over the net—anywhere. But he was too anxious to end the battle, and end it in a spectacular manner. So, rising up on his toes he put everything he had into a backhand smash—and netted. Inspired by this the Australians came on to win the doubles and the decisive point of the tie.

Lott Engaged
To see that inexperience doesn't rob this year's team of a match the United States Lawn Tennis association has engaged George Lott, Jr., to coach the team. Lott is such a smart thing to do that many of the critics who know the governing body of tennis in this country could scarce believe the news. The finest doubles player this country has ever produced, Lott will send out a cup team which knows all the answers. The youngsters may not be able to bring off all the shots, but you may be sure that they will take the court knowing what to do.

In winning at Wimbledon, Forest Hills, Longwood, and on nearly all the other ranking turf of the world, Lott became immune to pressure. The ninth point that Mako, muffed would have been just another shot to Lott. I remember watching him play with Lester Stiefen in a match in the Queens club tournament at Longwood. Stiefen had been badly off his game throughout the match and so when the opponents came to match point Lott halted the game and shoed Lester off the court.

Plays Alone
"You can't hit your hat today," Lott said good naturedly, "so you will please go over there and lean against the fence until I bring the score to twelve." Lester complied and Lott, playing solo against two, stayed

STRIKES TO SPARE

WITH FRED STONE

We Aces weren't so hot. George Buhler was O. K.; he topped us with his last game of 201 was good for high single. George got a turkey to start that last game of his.

I got myself one double. Lee McCracken got two and Vern Jennings, our anchor man, got himself a turkey. I ask you, how can bowlers like that be next to the bottom of the league? Oh, you say we miss too many spares? Well, maybe that is the reason.

For the victorious team and for both teams as well, Ted Emerick was the shining light with 564 for total. Not an open frame for his first game; one double his second, and two his third. Nice finish, Ted.

Art Boone didn't go so bad; one double his opener, another his middle game, also his third, gave him a 534 total.

Bob McCracken also got two doubles; one to end his first game; the other to start his third. Bob also got some other kind of marks his third game.

Gall Fargo and Ralph Brown were there also. Oh, yes, they took their turn at bowling.

Electric Motor stayed in the running by taking two out of three from Brookfield.

Art Mingo led the way for his bunch with 479 for three games. A double his first game. Four strikes toward his second gave him an even 200 for high single for City league.

Lee Sterling got a turkey his first game.

Dan Pafl, Clark and Clifford Emerick each and every one got a double.

What a team... bo!

Harper, with 482 for the Brookfield boys, was tops for City league. One double his first game; two his last.

The anchor man, Strain, collected a turkey his last game.

Hancock got one double his first. Dix also doubled in his initial game, and again his second. In fact, all the boys were hitting that head pin quite frequently.

NEGRO BATTLERS CONSPICUOUS IN AMATEUR EVENTS

64 Boxers Still in Quarter-
Finals of Annual National,
Meet at Boston

By ERNEST BARCELLA

BOSTON, April 13 (AP)—After 11 hours of continuous fighting spread over 126 bouts in two rings, 100 title aspirants in the 35th annual National A. A. U. boxing championships was sifted down to 64 quarter-finalists today.

When the trials finally were over, two things stood out:

1—Knockouts appear to be the motif of the 1937 simon pure slugger.

41 Knockouts
Forty-one (a fraction less than one-third) of the bouts ended in knockouts, either of the technical or full-contact variety. Fistic dynamite exploded all over huge Boston Garden, more than halving the most blood-thirsty of the 3,705 cash customers who paid a net of $3,808 to see the trials.

2—Negro battlers were conspicuous by their brilliant performances and their abundance. Half of the eight quarter-finalists among the 175-pounders and three of the eight heavyweight quarter-finalists were Negroes.

Detroit Successful
Most successful team was that from Detroit. All seven delegates reached the quarter finals after participating in and winning 11 preliminary battles.

State honors went to Pennsylvania, which placed eight men in the quarter-final bracket. Massachusetts and Michigan were next with seven each. Ohio had five, Indiana and New York four each, New Jersey, Hawaii, California and Nebraska, three each; Maryland, Missouri, Virginia and Oregon two each and New Mexico, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Utah, Oklahoma, the District of Columbia, Iowa, Kansas and North Carolina one each.

Rangers Need One Victory for Title

DETROIT, April 13 (AP)—The New York Rangers, challenging the Detroit Red Wings' right to retain the Stanley cup, were in the driver's seat today and needed only a victory tonight to take hockey's highest honor away from Detroit.

The cup series now stands two victories for the Rangers against one for the Wings. Should Detroit win tonight's battle, the fifth and final game will be played here Thursday.

CUBS LOSE GAME TO BROWNS, 8-7

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs led the St. Louis Browns by only one game today as they met in the sixth of their exhibition series. The Cubs' margin was reduced to a 3-2 game basis when the Browns won yesterday's 10-inning struggle, 8-7.

PIRATES WIN

TULSA, Okla., April 13 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates evened the series with the Chicago White Sox at three games each by winning yesterday's encounter, 9-6. They meet again today.

CARDS PLAY ASHEVILLE

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 13 (AP)—The Piedmont league Asheville club engaged the St. Louis Cardinals here today. The Cards stopped Birmingham of the Southern league, 6-2, yesterday.

SENATORS PLAY BEES

GASTONIA, N. C., April 13 (AP)—The Washington Senators made their last exhibition road stop here today to play the Boston Bees. Washington defeated the Atlanta Southern leaguers yesterday, 5-3.

Holstein Champs

MADISON, Wis., April 13.—The Holstein-Friesian association of America has selected Frances Bernason of Boise, Ada county, as the Idaho state champion 4-H Holstein club champion 4-H Holstein club boy for 1936.

By winning state honors, Frances Bernason and Mild Ilymas now become candidates for national champions as the Holstein-Friesian association of America will choose a national champion 4-H Holstein club girl and boy from the list of state champions for 1936.

FAMED MISSOURI SETTER IS DEAD

Jim, Dog With Psychic Mind,
Baffled Experts With Mental Powers

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP)—Jim, Sam Van Arsdale's English setter, is dead, but the mystery of his uncanny psychic powers remains unsolved.

The dog died while on a fishing trip with Van Arsdale near Warsaw, Mo.

For 7 of his 12 years, Jim astounded those who came in contact with him by his apparent ability to read print and even the mind of his master. No one could explain his powers, although many tried. Not even Van Arsdale.

Helps are some of the things Jim could do: He could walk up to a group of men and single out the one wearing a gray hat or a suit of a certain color. From a group of parked automobiles he could select any one his master told him to choose. He could pick out a license number from a group of cars, select tags of various states or of any color designated.

On being shown a slip of paper on which a name had been written, he could find the writer, placing a paw on the person, in his manner of identifying all things.

Only two conditions were necessary for Jim to perform. Van Arsdale had to be near, and he had to be standing and facing the object Jim was to select. These requirements often led to the charge that the dog had been trained to respond to signals, or that he merely selected the object at which his master was looking.

DELAY EXPECTED IN NEW TAX LAW

Chairman Doughton of Ways, Means Committee Sees No Immediate Action

WASHINGTON, April 13 (UP)—Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the house ways and means committee said today congressional action on proposals to revise the corporate surplus tax law will "undoubtedly" be delayed until next session.

Doughton said that after conferences with the treasury he does not expect new taxes to be requested by the administration this session unless the budget situation changes markedly.

He denied that a letter he had written to a congressional colleague last week expressing hope that "in the near future" inequities in the corporate surplus tax might be removed, indicated hope for action this session.

"We must first find out definitely how this tax is working before we can decide on whether it has adverse effects on debt ridden corporations and companies with small surpluses," Doughton said.

"It is unlikely there will be any major tax adjustments until next January," he added.

Although he indicated belief that various "nuisance" levies could be equitably revised, especially those on gasoline and tobacco, Doughton clearly showed that he was prepared to sponsor legislation extending all nuisance levies for a year or more at their present rates.

"We need all the revenue we can get," he said.

WATSON PLEASSED BY COURT'S RULE

Man Discharged by AP Says He Is "Gratified" By Judicial Verdict

NEW YORK, April 13 (UP)—Morris Watson, whose discharge by the Associated Press on Oct. 18, 1935 led to the Wagner act decision said he was "very happy" when informed of the vote in his favor.

In a statement later, Watson said: "I am gratified of course. Backed as I was by the Newspaper Guild and the Guild members of the AP, I was always sure that the fundamental human right, the right of workers to join themselves together for economic betterment, would be upheld."

"The decision coming as it does on top of a unanimous decision in our favor from the circuit court of appeals not only vindicates me personally of the aspersions cast upon my abilities when I was discharged but it indicates the often used argument of the employers that workers can not be faithful and loyal to their work while banding together for mutual aid and protection."

School Board Orders Definite Estimates to Speed Building Plans

MOVES TO FIND SPECIFIC FIGURE FOR BOND VOTE

Salary Increases Voted for Teachers; Committee To Fix Boosts

Decision by the board of trustees to go ahead with preparation of definite estimates on the funds needed for school buildings had placed a comprehensive program of remodeling for the Twin Falls public school system on the last lap toward a bond issue today.

The board voted last night to instruct its architect, Burton E. Morse and associates, to proceed with estimates on buildings and equipment along lines suggested by Dr. Thomas R. Cole, University of Washington educational consultant. It also decided to have the architects include estimates on a complete new building with equipment for Bickel school.

Immediate Action
Motion for immediate action on the estimates preparatory to calling a bond election was made by L. J. Tencknick. The figure quoted by Morse, Lash and McQuaker, previously named as architects for the building program, will be submitted to the board at an adjourned meeting next Monday night. Thereafter the trustees will take action to call the bond election and submit the proposed figure to voters.

Inclusion of the provision that estimates on a new school at Bickel be included revealed the only difference of opinion between the board and Dr. Cole. The Washington educator had suggested the present building be retained in conjunction with one wing of a new unit. Board members, however, declared last night that the firetrap features of the old structure were so serious as to make a new building imperative.

Argue Over Consultant
Steps toward securing immediate estimates on the bond issue figure came after a clash of opinion over whether or not to hire E. A. Narrimore, Seattle school architect, as consultant on the building program. Narrimore, mentioned by Dr. Cole at request of the board, had been tentatively suggested as adviser to the local architects.

His fees, according to a telegram read at the session last night, would be $25 per day and expenses from the time of leaving Seattle until he returned there.

Chairman George J. Ward opposed calling in any additional experts.

"I think we have gone far enough in that direction," he said. "There is no need for hiring any more outside men."

Ernest F. Stettler pointed out that the local architects could secure any consultants they felt necessary.

Both Mrs. Ralph B. Smith and Mrs. Sturgeon McCoy voiced opinions that spending of an additional $250 for a specialist in school architecture would prove a wise investment in assuring taxpayers the best recommendations for the building program.

"But it might run into considerably more expense than that," Mr. Ward said. He cited experience of the Salmon River Canal company in its surveys, which exceeded original estimates several times.

"I'm not interested in another consultant after going over the building program with Mr. Morse a little more extensively," said S. H. Graves. Mr. Tencknick agreed, and Graves then offered a motion that the board "do not employ Mr. Narrimore." The resolution carried 4 to 2, both women voting no.

Pay Increase Voted
Salary increases for teachers in the school system were voted by the board as part of last night's busy session.

The pay boost, it was decided, on acceptance of a motion by S. H. Graves, will not exceed an aggregate maximum of $10,000 for the system next year. Also under the motion, a committee of two board members is to confer with Supt. W. B. Smith and the five principals in drawing up a schedule of individual increases.

Mr. Graves and Mr. Stettler were named on the committee by Chairman Ward.

The committee salary recommendations will be reported to the board at the adjourned meeting next Monday night.

Eye 12-Month Plan
Move to place teachers under a 12-month pay schedule, with a penalty plan by which a certain amount would be forfeited if the instructor resigned after a certain time during the summer months, will also be taken up Monday coincidentally with the vote on increased salaries. The penalty proposal, discussed informally last night, would be designed to protect the system from resignations coming to near the start of the school year as to cause difficulty in securing replacements.

Mrs. Nora Fritchard was approved as new principal at Washington school. She will take office at the start of the next school year, replacing Mrs. Myrtle Nelson Beach, who has resigned. Mrs. Fritchard has taught for years at Washington school, and was formerly principal there.

Above Normal Fire Season Is Expected

PAYETTE, Idaho, April 13 (UP)—W. D. Price, Payette forest supervisor, said today fire menace was increased because of early melting snow. He said light snows which had fallen in the forest areas had quickly disappeared and an early runoff had taken place. "We anticipate a worse than normal fire season," he said.

Gov. Clark Hopes He'll Know More People in Future

Could 'Get Around Better' Then, He Says; Finds Office Confining

If Gov. Barzilla W. Clark "know more people" in Idaho he "might be able to get around better," he told an Evening Times reporter during his visit in Twin Falls to attend and speak at the Jefferson banquet here last night.

"You know," the governor said, "if I only knew more people I would be able to get around better."

"And perhaps you might even be elected governor," a friend suggested.

Knows Few Here
"What I mean," the governor continued, "is that I know few people over the state as a whole. I know everybody down in Idaho Falls for instance, but not in this Twin Falls section."

However, I hope to in time. Between handshakes with numerous admirers and people who "just wanted to meet the governor of Idaho," Clark was able to drop the hint to the Times reporter that the office of governor "is too confining."

"I can't get out enough to suit me," he said. "But then maybe I will be able to after this first year." And then, as if the reporter didn't know, he added: "I haven't been in there a year yet, you know."

Happier in Lizzie
And his wife, the governor said, has suggested that they were "happier" when they were riding in their "Lizzie," a car which the governor drove in Idaho Falls and which became almost as well known as Clark himself.

"We were riding between Nampa and Boise last Sunday," the governor said, "when we came upon a carload of youngsters, riding in an old tin lizzie Ford."

"My wife turned to me and said 'That used to be us a few years ago. I guess we were happier then.'"

PER CAPITA ROAD EXPENSE IS HIGH

Idaho Spends Most of All 10 Western States in Highway Building

Idaho, April 13 (UP)—The state of Idaho spent more per capita for its highways than any other of the ten western states during 1935-36, said Joe Stemmer, director of highways, this week.

The department spent $13.72 for each resident of the state, or $3.68 more per capita than the $10.04 average for other western states. However, expenditure of highway bureau funds was $1,089 per mile in Idaho compared with other averages of $1,469, said Stemmer. Hard-surfaced routes received 32.8 per cent. Graded roads were allotted 6.8 per cent, and unimproved routes were given 19.6 per cent.

HIS WIFE WAS ILL. HE WAS RUSHING TO HER WHEN BANG! A BLOW-OUT!

Read REX BEACH'S thrilling True Story of the man who is living on "Borrowed Time"

"Hurry! Your wife is ill!" Constable Stilling, of Philadelphia, leaped into his car. There was no time to spare. "Faster! Faster!" Then without warning—BANG! A blow-out! The car leaped out of control like a wildcat, swerved to the left—just missed crashing head-long into a telephone pole. But Lady Luck smiled that night—and the extent of Constable Stilling's injury was a wrenched shoulder. Some miracle had saved him. As he, himself, says: "I feel now that I am living on 'borrowed time.'"

What Causes Blow-outs
It seems to me that, as far as safer tires are concerned, the greatest single contribution has been from Goodrich engineers. They have developed a real blow-out protection called the Golden Ply. It is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. You can be sure that Constable Stilling doesn't take any chances with his tires these days. He's ready for any emergency and so are his Goodrich Silvertown Tires. It pays to play safe.
