Major Amen Boggs, held in Santa Cruz, Calif., on murder charges after he shot his estranged wife in a bedroom she was occupying with her young son. Boggs says he saw the other bed had been occupied and assumed the occupant was another man.

Holds Meeting

It was decided at a meeting called today by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins (above) that labor leaders would leave the Wagner labor relations act alone—for the present at least—and both labor and capital would adhere strictly to the "law of the land."

Loyalist Aide

Errol Flynn, star movie actor, admitted in an interview today that he, with the help of other Hollywood actors, had collected $1,500,000 in the screen town to aid the loyalist cause in Spain. He was recently reported injured by a bullet in Valencia, but the report later proved erroneous.

Benefits Set for Canadian Strikers

OSHAWA, Ont., April 21 (UP)—First committee for industrial organization benefits for 3,700 striking workers of General Motors of Canada were expected today as representatives of management and labor prepared for another conference to end the walk-out.

PROGRESS MARKS WORK OF SUGAR MEET IN LONDON

Definite Quotas Set For 13 Countries, But Only 8 Have Accepted

DAVIS IS ON COMMITTEE

Russia, Peru, Czechoslovakia Refuse Allotments Fixed By Envoys

LONDON, April 21 (UP)—Progress made Tuesday has increased the possibility that the 23 nations represented at the international sugar conference will reach an agreement in the next 10 days, the United Press was informed today.

A small negotiations committee including Norman Davis, American representative, proposed definite annual quotas, worked out for 13 exporting countries. Eight nations accepted while 5 demanded larger shares.

Quota Under Demand The total world export proposed in the quotas was 3,300,000 metric tons, almost 700,000 tons less than the exporting countries had been expected to demand.

Czechoslovakia, Java, Mozambique, Peru and Russia refused the allotments proposed and discussion with them were resumed.

Special Arrangement A special arrangement under the proposed agreement would permit the United States to continue the free duty quota of Philippine sugars, but if by subsequent agreement between the United States and Philippines there should be a diminution of quota during the next 5 years there would be a corresponding allocation to other countries.

SCHOOL CITY DOWN IN BOISE ENDED

Students Express Regret of Strike Called Yesterday As Protest

BOISE, Idaho, April 21 (UP)—A threatened sit-down strike of more than 2000 high school students collapsed today to the strains of "Blue Moon," the efforts of high school staff of dramatists, and colored floodlights.

The students came to the building with the announced intention of sitting all over the place, but when they got into the auditorium, the urge seemed to die.

A scheduled assembly program went on the stage; the orchestra played, and a tableaux was presented.

Go to Class Then the students got up and went to class.

School authorities said a night's sleep had probably dulled the desire of students to go out on strike.

GIRL TO TESTIFY AGAINST CULTIST

Delight Jewett, 17, Prepares To Give Federal Grand Jury Her Story

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (UP)—Delight Jewett, 17, prepared to tell a federal grand jury today her story of allegedly being hood-winked into coming here with John Hunt, cultist, to become the "Virgin Mary" of his "New Bethlehem" establishment.

Hunt, follower of New York's Negro Father Divine, is charged with transporting the girl here from Denver for immoral purposes in violation of the Mann act. He allegedly told her she would bear a "new redeemer."

"I realize now that I was duped into believing that all the strange fascination of religious atmosphere and conversation was a revelation of supernatural power," the girl said.

Food List Shows It's Mighty Job Feeding Soldiers

It's a man-sized job feeding 1,200 hungry soldiers and officers.

And providing food for one breakfast and a dinner for the 1,200 wasn't a task to be accomplished with a market basket over one arm. Twin Falls dealers realized today in checking over their invoices showing purchases ordered here by commanding officers.

Here's the list purchased for the overnight stay of the 38th Infantrymen, the 200 members of the Fort Lewis artillery company, and the scores of officers: More than half a ton of meat—1,100 pounds—from Independent Meat company.

Seven hundred pounds of bread from Royal Bakery. Five hundred pounds of potatoes, 60 pounds of bananas, 10 boxes of apples, five cases of oranges, 25 pounds of cabbage, seven dozen bunches each of radishes, carrots, turnips, onions and heads of lettuce, all from Pacific Fruit and Produce company.

Fifty-two pounds of butter, 550 pounds of ice, 100 half-pints of milk, all from Jerome Co-operative Creamery.

Two hundred and eighty-six dozen eggs from Idaho Egg Producers.

One hundred and eighty-half-pints of milk from Young's dairy.

And all this was in addition to the caravan's own four-day supply of canned goods, dried fruits and similar packaged supplies.

Incidentally, it took 11 field kitchens to prepare the food.

MAN CONTINUES "INSPIRED" FAST

Southern Mountaineer Waits For Message 'From Above' To Order Halt

STOOPING OAK, Tenn., April 21 (UP)—Jackson Whitlow entered the 43rd day of a fast "inspired by God" today, hopeful of soon receiving a message "from above" that he might resume eating.

"I won't eat until the Lord commands me to end my fast just as He commanded me to begin it," the 42-year-old mountaineer said.

Whitlow "prayed in the mountains" yesterday, and said he felt stronger.

"My faith gives me strength," he said. He believed that God was preparing him "for some great mission." Earlier this year, he said, God ordered him to give all his possessions to the poor. So, he gave the Red Cross $33 and distributed the rest of his goods among the needy of the mountain country.

Whitlow's weight has dropped from 136 to 106 since he began his fast.

RELEASE DENIED WOMAN ACCUSER

Plea For Acquittal of Gable Extortionist Is Turned Down By Judge

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (UP)—Federal Judge George Cosgrave today denied a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal in the case of Mrs. Violet Wells Norton, charged with attempting to obtain money from screen star Clark Gable by representing that he was the father of her child.

The jurist held that a showing of intent was sufficient to hold Mrs. Norton for trial even though actual fraud did not exist.

Defense attorneys contended in the plea that the middle-aged Canadian woman received no money from Gable and could not be guilty of fraud.

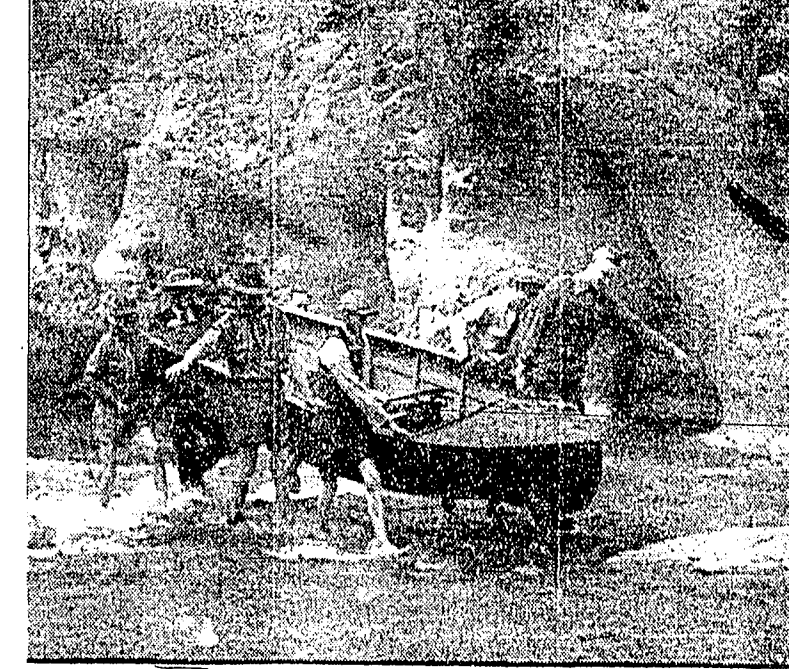

First witness of the day was Ted MacGe, editor of a film magazine, who was called to testify that he had received a letter from Mrs. Norton offering to sell him the story of her life with the man she believed to be Gable in Essex, England.

Famed Old Actor Dies In New York

NEW YORK, April 21 (UP)—Gus Hill, 79, famous old-time actor and producer, who claimed to have discovered such stars as Heber and Fields, Charles Chaplin and Sophie Tucker, died last night.

For the last few months Hill had been somewhat feeble but until his 78th birthday his health was perfect and he brought down the house at a Lauscha club entertainment, a year ago by performing the club-wagon act that won him top billing generations ago.

As Motor Boaters Pioneered on Snake River

The difficulty with which the band of "modern day pioneers" Sunday conquered the Snake river over Pillar and Shoshone falls is shown in this picture of a portage of one of the five boats over Pillar falls. During these portages, two members of the party were submerged as they stepped in deep holes hidden by the swirling waters. The weight of the boats, added to the difficulty of the pioneer trail, made it necessary for seven men to portage the boat pictured.

Pictured above is the first load of boats ever to be taken up the Idaho Power company lift at Shoshone falls. A few moments before this picture was taken a dislodged boulder tumbled down this slope toward the persons pictured who had just placed two of the boats on the lift and had climbed aboard. Just as disaster seemed certain, the boulder suddenly glanced to the right, missing the party by only a few feet.

W. Forbes Morgan, Former Democrat Treasurer, Dies

COLUMBUS, O., April 21 (UP)—W. Forbes Morgan, president of the Distilled Spirits Institute and former treasurer of the Democratic committee, died early today of a heart attack. He had collapsed yesterday night at a hearing of the Ohio house of representatives judiciary committee.

Morgan had come here as directing head of the institute, self-regulating body of the liquor industry, to protest a proposed change in the Ohio state liquor control law.

Morgan returned from the Democratic national committee March 15 to take the liquor industry post which reportedly carried a salary of between $50,000 and $100,000 per year. The position was comparable to that of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis to baseball and Will H. Hays to the motion picture industry. His major problem was to educate the public to the proper use of liquor.

He was born in New York City Sept. 22, 1879, and attended Harrow school and Oxford in England. He was a nephew of the banker J. P. Morgan and a relative by marriage of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During the pre-convention campaign of 1932 Morgan had been one of President Roosevelt's most ardent supporters. As treasurer of the national committee he directed the finances of the 1936 campaign. One of his last duties was the arrangement of the victory dinners early this year to finance the party's deficit.

Representative Plans Battle To Make Regular Size Larger

WASHINGTON, April 21 (UP)—The house labor committee today unanimously reported favorably a bill making the civilian conservation corps permanent with a strength of 300,000 enrollees as recommended by President Roosevelt.

The measure was reported favorably over objections of a group of house members who hoped to increase the number of enrollees to 350,000.

Rep. Jed Johnson, D., Okla., leader of the fight for increased enrollment, said he would continue the fight when the measure comes up on the floor.

Chairman William P. Connery of the house labor committee said "we simply followed the President's wishes in the matter." He said the committee took no vote on increasing CCC enrollment.

ACTION DELAYED ON SUGGESTIONS TO WAGNER BILL

Labor Leaders Agree to Let Relations Act Alone For The Present

WASHINGTON, April 21 (UP)—Organized labor leaders and industrial spokesmen who attended a collective bargaining conference called by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins virtually agreed to delay suggestions for immediate amendment of the Wagner labor relations act. It was learned today.

Almost all of the 30 conferees at the meeting, the United Press was informed, were willing to "hold off" on recommending changes in the law at this session of congress. No official statement, however, was taken and no recommendations were made.

Miss Perkins called the session as the first of a series of similar meetings to discuss collective bargaining, guaranteed to labor under the validated Wagner act, and methods of averting industrial strikes.

Miss Perkins said that the conferees, despite differences in certain viewpoints, were "unanimous that the Wagner act is the law of the land and we expect to live up to it."

She said the topics reviewed included:

- 1. Advisability of written and verbal collective bargaining agreements. 2. Desirability of agreement limiting stoppages of work during the life of a contract by negotiatory machinery. 3. The responsibility of both sides to a contract.

A series of "model contracts" for different industries may be set up at the conclusion of the series of conferences, it was indicated.

Rift Appears In Negro Cult

NEW YORK, April 21 (UP)—The first serious schism in the amazing cult which holds that Father Divine is God appeared today when Faithful Mary, who the Negro evangelist calls his "so-called wife," admitted they had broken over property to which she holds the deeds.

Faithful Mary, a middle-aged mulatto, who often has said that she led a wanton life until she met Father Divine, is technically the owner of much of the vast "properties of the sect."

She admitted the disagreement from a hotel she owns in High Falls, N. Y. It came, she said, soon after a disturbance Monday night at one of the "heavens" in which Harry Green, a white contractor of Weehawken, N. J., was stabbed and beaten when a process-server friend of his tried to serve Father Divine.

Although in countless confessions she has sworn that she considered the evangelist as God and that he had cured her of "whiskey and loose-living" Faithful Mary sneered at this belief today.

"Bewitched" Slayer Is Denied New Writ

ANACONDA, Mont., April 21 (UP)—District Judge R. E. McHugh early today denied a writ of habeas corpus for Ilja Martynovich, Butte, who shot and killed his cousin, Policeman Nick Aleksich, because the latter had "be itched" him.

William B. Freeborn, counsel for the defendant, was granted 15 days in which to file exceptions in the case.

Had the writ been granted, Martynovich would have been returned to the state mental hospital in Warm Springs.

Children Killed When Movie Film Explodes

TALLINN, Estonia, April 21 (UP)—Five school children were killed, and 60 injured today when a movie film exploded and set fire to the elementary school in the village of Killingsnoeme, near Paerit.

It was feared 10 of the children in the hospital would die. Most of the deaths and injuries occurred when the children stormed the single flaming exit.

Mr. Woods, who came to Twin Falls county 24 years ago, was a native of Nebraska. He was born in Shelton, Neb., April 19, 1869.

Opposition Seen In Move to Expel CIO Organization

WASHINGTON, April 21 (UP)—Delay by the American Federation of Labor executive council in calling a special convention to expel unions affiliated with the committee for industrial organization today started reports of opposition to the move.

The federation high command, after all-day sessions Monday and yesterday, failed to act on a proposal to call federation unions into special session within a month.

William Green, federation president, said that the council would continue its sessions tomorrow. Green and John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, met face to face yesterday for the first time since last fall at an industrial-labor conference called by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. They did not shake hands but posed for photographers.

REXBURG, Idaho, April 21 (UP)—Dan Cook, 48, died here early yesterday from what police believed to be an accidental gunshot wound.

The man was found unconscious from a bullet wound in the head after he had announced his intention to go squirrel hunting. Police believe that Cook, virtually paralyzed, stumbled over his gun and was accidentally shot.

NEW SUSPECT HOPE VALLEY, R. I., April 21 (UP)—A G-man will come here from Boston this afternoon to question a man held by state police in connection with the kidnap-murder of Charles Mattson at Tacoma, Wash.

How Times Do Change!

The British battle cruiser Hood is a fine figure of a warship—40,000 tons of applied science, fast and tough and hard-hitting, capable at one blast of blowing half a dozen ordinary warships clear out of the water. But as far as the trouble in Spain is concerned, the Hood is just a bit of window dressing.

This was made clear when the British cabinet, after going through all the motions traditional to Britons when their sea-going rights are endangered, quietly backed down once again and allowed that British merchantmen had best keep out of the war-torn port of Bilbao after all.

The incident is worth looking at, as one more bit of proof that England, instead of ruling the waves, is waiving the rules these days.

Spanish rebel warships have been blockading Bilbao. Under the international non-intervention agreement—signed by Britain and other powers—shipments of arms and ammunitions are prohibited, but shipments of foodstuffs are permissible. And five British merchant ships loaded with food have been waiting to get into Bilbao.

General Franco, rebel commander-in-chief, announced point-blank that if any of these ships made for the port of Bilbao they would be sunk. And it was then that Britain summoned the mighty Hood up from Gibraltar and talked loudly of enforcing British rights on the seas.

It is important to realize just what these rights were. Under the non-intervention agreement, British merchantmen have a perfect right to enter Bilbao with foodstuffs. Furthermore, the British government has not yet granted the Spanish insurgents the rights of belligerents. Under international law, she would be entitled to treat as pirates any insurgent warships interfering with lawful British commerce.

Now if your memory goes back to the spacious days before the war, you can see that this was a situation made to order for the growling of the British lion. In those days a rebel leader would think twice or three times before laying hands on a British ship. Retribution would be swift, sure, and deadly. And when the Hood came steaming up from Gibraltar under forced draft, it looked as if the old days had returned.

But they haven't. For the cabinet admitted, finally, in the house of commons, that it will not force the issue. If British ships try to enter Bilbao they will do so at their own risk. The Hood is just there for looks. The rebel blockade is being accepted at its face value.

The British lion has become a cautious old beast in late years. The day when "lesser breeds without the law" ran to cover at his first growl has gone. Such men as Hitler and Mussolini have made an epoch-making discovery, impossible to imagine in the old days. The lion can be bluff.

Comeback Tactics

In his 73-year-old aunt, whom he once banished from Spain, ex-King Alfonso apparently has a sturdy protagonist.

At least she has demanded that he be restored to the Spanish throne. The king has given nearly $10,000,000 to aid the insurgent cause, she points out, and should be returned to his throne "as a reward for what he has done."

If the insurgents finally win, Alfonso may recover his crown. But if he does, it is doubtful if he will find the fruits of his victory to be sweet. A monarch who has helped one side of another to continue a war that drenches his country in blood certainly is not one who merits, or will get, the undivided loyalty and affection of his subjects.

An unselfish leader, one who loved the land of his fathers, would have tried without stint to end the dreadful conflict.

Royalty's Code

The recent British episode gave Americans an interesting sidelight on the moral code of royalty. A king had to abandon his throne, apparently, if he wanted to marry a commoner, but he could keep it, and no questions asked, if his love life were conducted without benefit of clergy.

Now comes the Rumanian hubbub, in which King Carol has banished his brother, Nicholas, from the country as a plain citizen ostensibly because Nicholas wanted his wife recognized as a princess. At the time Nicholas announced his intention to marry the divorced wife of a diplomatic official, he was reproached by Carol for "sully the glory of the Rumanian crown by misalliance."

With their old moral standards, Americans will find it difficult to understand how a marriage can sully a throne's glory, and Carol's undercover romance with Madame Lupescu fail to dull its sheen.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARTHA BRITTAIN and BETTY HAYNES begin a trip up the west coast to demonstrate the new Alspeed trailer. They pick up GEORGE NEAL and his wife, Betty, at a hotel in San Francisco. Neal tells them he is to meet a friend, JACK SPEDDON, at the Long Beach speed car race. Neal and Betty disappear from the trailer and Speddon abducts Betty.

After repeated efforts to find Betty, Martha again meets Neal and agrees to return to San Francisco with him to search for Betty. Meanwhile, Martha has fallen in love with Neal, despite the fact she does not know whether she can trust him. In San Francisco, Martha finds that neither Betty nor Speddon are registered at a hotel designated for the meeting. Instead, Martha gets a letter, presumably from Betty, explaining that everything is all right.

But Martha is more and more disturbed. She wants to call police but Neal prevents this move. Neal tells Martha he loves her. That night Martha slips away from the hotel and parks her trailer at a local auto park. Neal goes to the next day, but if Martha didn't love him, she would have turned him over to the police. And Martha replies, "and that's what I'm going to do."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV

"NO," Neal told her quietly. "You're not going to report to the police. You're going to take my advice."

"What makes you so certain of that?"

"Because," Neal said, "you're in love with me. Why don't you stop pretending, Martha, as I have?"

The color rose furiously in Martha's cheeks. "Don't be absurd!"

Gerry Neal shrugged. "All right. Then you're not in love with me."

"But suppose we get started?"

Still, flushing angrily, Martha piled the breakfast dishes into the little galley sink, and took down her leather jacket from its hook.

Wordless, she got out of the trailer and Neal hopped to the ground after her. Shoving the portable steps inside the vehicle, Martha locked the door of the trailer and hurried to the coupe. A grim Gerry Neal was already at the wheel.

"Hop in," he invited casually. Her lips compressed in a tight, thin line, Martha got inside. Then quickly her hand shot toward the pocket in the door of the car. Neal smiled as Martha withdrew her hand—empty.

"I have the gun," he said coolly.

MILE after mile they drove in silence. . . through the busy streets of Oakland and Berkeley, on through Vallejo, then always bearing north along the coast toward Eureka. The country grew wilder, with broad rolling hills and scattered oaks. Then wilder and more ominous yet as they passed the giant redwoods, serene in their strength and their years, making even the coupe and trailer look like the puny toys of a child.

Once Neal said, "Whenever you get hungry, I'll be glad to stop."

Martha did not answer. She had resolved to give Neal no quarter, no encouragement, now that he had dared to assume she was in love with him. She was angry, too, at his high-handedness, at his cocksure certainty. And as the car raced northward, the Alspeed Trailer swaying easily behind, she resolved to carry out what she had planned days before.

She would suggest they stop for lunch, and over the table she would pretend to resign herself to his program. In every way she would attempt to put him off his guard—and then, at the first opportunity, she would turn him over to the police and make a full report about Speddon and the disappearance of Betty Haynes. She hoped fervently that the chance would come that evening, at Eureka.

It was well after 1 o'clock when Martha, keeping a sullen note in her voice, suggested that they stop for something to eat.

"Right!" Neal answered non-committally. "I'll drive in at the next likely-looking place."

It turned out to be a lonely hamburger shack on the edge of the road. There was one slatternly woman attending, but both Neal and Martha were hungry—and the food did belie the woman's appearance. As Martha ate, she searched the little room for signs of a telephone, hoping that the woman's husband would enter—showing sufficient height and breadth to cope with Neal. But no man appeared.

"Look here," Neal said at last, "you can't act like this indefinitely, Martha. Why not be human again?"

Martha looked into her coffee cup absently. Then she made a little gesture of casual defeat. "I suppose we may as well be congenial traveling companions—since you insist that we do travel together."

"That's the way to talk!" He held out his cigarette to her, then a light from his pocket torch. "Whatever you think of me, I'm insisting upon accompanying you because—well, because I don't want anything to happen to you."

"THANK you," Martha said quietly. "Shall we go on now?"

Carefully she was taking care not to overdo the role of a woman ready to forgive. She could tell by Neal's lighter manner, by the soft glow in his eyes, that he believed she had, woman-like, changed within the day. He was surer now than ever before that what he had said in the trailer was true. And this, she told herself triumphantly, would put him even more completely off his guard.

That afternoon as they proceeded on their way, Martha talked more freely—taking it slowly at first, pretending that she was unconsciously warming under his charm. But something cold and hard within her breast kept her to her purpose. "It's my turn now," she told herself grimly, and all the while played into Neal's conversation.

Once he stretched his arms at the wheel, turned his head as if his neck were growing stiff, and Martha leaped at the chance she had been waiting for, leading up to gradually.

"You must be tired," she told him solicitously. "Let me drive a while."

The coupe and trailer slowed down. "Be ready to have you take over. Beating this pavement with all the curves of the Redwood Highway has been tiresome, all right." But he did not get out of the car to give her the wheel. Instead, he slid beneath her, literally lifted her in strong arms to the wheel. "There you are. . . I might even snore a while. I was up pretty early this morning to get over to Oakland. I was afraid I might miss you."

Martha pressed the coupe on, driving at more than her accustomed speed because she was afraid that Neal might want to take the wheel again. But he seemed genuinely tired. They had not gone many miles before he had dropped off to sleep with his head thrown back against the cushions. Taking advantage of this, Martha stepped on the accelerator even harder, anxious to reach Eureka before he awakened.

Soon she began to see road signs indicating the distance to the northern California lumber town—22 miles, 17 miles, 11 miles. With every nerve of her body taut, Martha rushed the coupe onward, fearing every moment that Neal would awaken and notice the speedometer reading.

Eight miles. Three miles. And then, at the edge of the town, Martha slowed down, let the engine of the coupe purr softly as she swerved into a big modern service station. Quick y she stopped the outfit, leaped out and ran to the burly attendant inside the glass enclosure.

"The man in that car must be arrested," she whispered quickly. "And be careful—he's got a gun and he's dangerous!"

PAUL MALLON'S
NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-moving Events in the Nation's Capital By an Expert Interpreter and Commentator. (Copyright, 1935, By Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON, April 21 — The government is moving along daily with a dull spring air of assurance, but underneath there has rarely been such lack of order. Nearly everything seems to be involved in confusion. Price policy, budget, sit-downs, taxes, government finances, government reorganization, new NRA, new supreme court, hours and wages, armaments, and nearly everything you can mention.

Some of these conditions may clear up shortly; others may become more serious. But, for the present, there is little clarity of thought about action or detailed purposes in connection with anything.

For instance, there is no legislative program and has been none since congress started in January. Old hands cannot remember when a legislative program was lacking after three and a half months of congressional debate.

The reason is obvious. Congress cannot formulate a program when it does not know what legislation it is to be marked "must." President Roosevelt has been blocked and delayed for one reason or another in working out his objectives.

What he does in the next 30 days may tell the tale for the next three years.

TAXES
A very definite semi-official assurance is abroad in certain financial quarters that there will not be a tax bill.

The explanation for all this talk about one, they say, is treasury financing strategy. Experienced bond market men have noticed that, whenever the treasury is confronted with a financial problem, as at present, a flurry of unofficial tax increase stories appear. After the financing is complete, the talk sometimes dies down.

This evidence, however, is not conclusive. There may or may not be a tax bill. You will know definitely in mid-May.

REORGANIZATION
The President's government reorganization plan is being severely cutted around backstage. The joint congressional committee which is supposed to be formulating the legislation is so mixed up it has not held a meeting for the last two weeks.

In the end, the President probably will get his six new secretaries. Committee men seem to feel that, if Mr. Roosevelt says he needs these new jobs, they cannot go behind his request. They are nowhere near an enthusiastic about creating the two new government departments (welfare for Ickes and public works for Hopkins) as their published words would indicate. They may grant it and they may not.

They are already determined not to give the President control over the budgets of several independent commissions.

Sentiment appears crystallizing against placing the interstate commerce commission and the federal communications commission under departmental control. It's better than a 50-50 bet that their present independent status will be maintained.

Present state of the legislation, however, is decidedly muddled. The outcome really depends upon whom you talk to.

DROPPED
The new ordainers have practically given up on disarmament. No public word has been spoken on the subject, but the various things which have been tried out in the inside are said to have been filed away.

NULLIFICATION
There will be no sit-down legislation, unless the current spread of small strikes breaks into big ones. The President himself gave an indication of this by amplifying his silence on the subject at his last two press conferences.

When first asked whether he had any comment on sit-downs, his reply was "What sit-downs?" The second time, in response to the same inquiry, he merely chuckled.

HUMAN ANGLE
Few authorities can recall a time when a President of the United States was beset with so many confusing problems in peace times. Even in the early days of the New Deal, there were only one or two subjects hanging fire at a time, and the only problem was to work them out. Now there are dozens of problems pressing for solution and few acceptable solutions being suggested—that is, solutions acceptable from a presidential standpoint.

Some elders have believed the President shows as much sign of being nettled as he ever has, although this, of course, does not mean he's worrying much more than usual. He has a faculty for taking things as they come.

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO

APRIL 21, 1922
The dates for the 1922 Twin Falls county fair were set at a meeting of the board of directors held at the offices of the secretary, J. M. Markel, in Filer last evening and on Sept. 12 to 15, inclusive. The board was unanimously of the opinion that a four-day fair was necessary for the proper handling of the judging and proper display of the livestock exhibits.

The board organized by electing the following officers: President, J. H. Barker, Buhl; first vice president, Elmer Requa, Kimberly; second vice president, E. O. Walter, Filer; treasurer, C. C. Davis, Filer. J. M. Markel, who has served as secretary since April, 1918, was retained as secretary to serve until Oct. 1.

27 YEARS AGO

APRIL 21, 1910
Tonight the Hon. J. J. Browne, president of the Pacific Coast League of Conservation of National Resources, and vice president of the Washington State college, will give an address before the members of the Commercial club. Mr. Browne is a good talker and understands the subject of conservation of national resources thoroughly.

The citizens will have band concerts this summer by the Twin Falls band under the direction of C. D. Tyler, who has brought the band up to a remarkable degree of proficiency. The music furnished is by far beyond the usual quality of band music and the boys are to be congratulated on their activity in the way of giving the city a first class band. As soon as possible the city council will have a band stand erected in the city park and it is the intention of the band to give at least one concert a week.

While attempting to cross the track early Tuesday morning in an automobile, W. B. Burson, employed as sales agent for C. E. Lind, had a lucky escape from death. A freight train switching struck the car and damaged it. Burson received not a scratch.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Arguments still rage as to why we have tonsils. Some investigators believe they take care of infectious germs that come into the throat. Tonsils respond to infection by swelling, with consequent pain, soreness and difficulty in swallowing.

If the infection spreads through the body, there is fever, weakness, rapid pulse and occasional chills. Then the glands at the side of the throat swell and become painful. The germs which affect the tonsils may get into the blood and be carried to joints, heart or kidney, affecting these tissues as well.

The germ responsible for tonsillitis is usually the streptococci germ, which has many forms and which harms the human being a great deal. In one form it may be responsible for heart disease, in another for erysipelas, and in still another for the infection associated with childbirth.

Inflammation of tonsils and throat therefore must always be studied to make certain that it is due to the streptococcus and not to the organism of diphtheria, which is of a different character and requires a different type of treatment. In tonsillitis, the throat is purplish-red and swollen. In diphtheria, a grayish-white membrane forms. Occasionally, however, a streptococcus also may produce a membrane which is difficult to distinguish from that of diphtheria.

In cases of doubt, the doctor will always remove a part of the membrane with a swab and examine the germs under the microscope, to determine their character. He may also send some of the material to the laboratory of the health department, in which they will be grown on a suitable medium, from which it will be possible to determine whether they are diphtheria germs or streptococci.

In very severe cases of acute tonsillitis, the tonsils may be greatly swollen and may actually become so large that opening of the mouth will bring them together in the midline. Since this interferes with breathing, the patient may cough and his voice may sound thick and muffled.

In these cases, the tonsils will be covered with infectious material and sometimes the little crypts, follicles or holes in the tonsils will be filled with infectious material.

A BLOCK AWAY

Editor, Evening Times:
Monday's You May Not Know by Naomi R. Martin—the first business structure to be erected in Twin Falls was located diagonally across the street from McComb's market on East Main street. It was occupied by the Twin Falls Land and Investment company—is wholly erroneous. The building referred to was located one block farther east or where the Firestone Co. building now stands. The Twin Falls Investment Company was the correct name, the two words "Land and" were not in the title.

PRESIDENT LEADS DRIVE TO BALANCE U. S. BUDGET

FARM TENANCY, EDUCATION BILLS TO BE REDUCED

Crop Insurance, Flood Control And Other Items That May Be Affected

By LYLE C. WILSON
 WASHINGTON, April 21 (UP)—President Roosevelt led congress in a move to kill or curtail approximately $1,000,000,000 of "forgotten man" and flood control legislation today in the first big New Deal economy drive to balance the budget.

There was informal discussion among some legislators of an automatic cut of 10 per cent in all appropriations at this session of congress. That could be achieved by joint resolution making mandatory retroactive reductions.

Mr. Roosevelt prefers to exercise his own discretion in curtailing expenditures after congress has voted the money.

Plans May Be Dropped
 Pending legislation which probably must be modified, postponed or dropped altogether if the President's economy plan is effected, includes:

1. Farm tenancy, $135,000,000.
2. Education, $100,000,000.
3. Low cost housing, $30,000,000.
4. Crop insurance, $100,000,000.
5. Flood control, approximately $550,000,000.

Reduced treasury income, increased expenditures, a weakened bond market and fears of general monetary inflation moved the President yesterday to propose economy in a revised budget message submitted to congress.

Start Borrowing Program
 Almost coincidentally the treasury began a borrowing program of $50,000,000 a week which will drive the national debt beyond $35,000,000,000 within a month.

The President and congressional leaders are agreed, now, that the nation must economize or pay higher taxes—and probably both. The message practically assured a new tax bill at the next session of congress.

"Only by this process can monetary inflation be prevented," Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board said in a surprise warning published last March 16.

Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson heard the President's message and said:

Can't Continue
 "You can't continue spending without the danger of ruinous inflation. We either have to economize or levy new taxes. There are few tax targets left. You either have to put on a sales tax or carry the income tax to the lowest bracket."

If Robinson's judgment is correct, taxpayers are in for higher rates because when Democrats proposed to Mr. Roosevelt before his first inauguration that the federal government impose a sales tax, he replied:

"I am horrified."

The difficulty Mr. Roosevelt is experiencing in keeping expenditures down, recalled earlier moves toward budget balancing when, at various times, the President said:

Unforeseen Disasters
 January, 1934: "We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery (1936) and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt."

January, 1934: "The country will henceforth have the assurance that with the single exception of this item (work relief), every current expenditure of whatever nature will be fully covered by our estimates in current receipts."

January, 1936: "We approach a balance of the national budget."

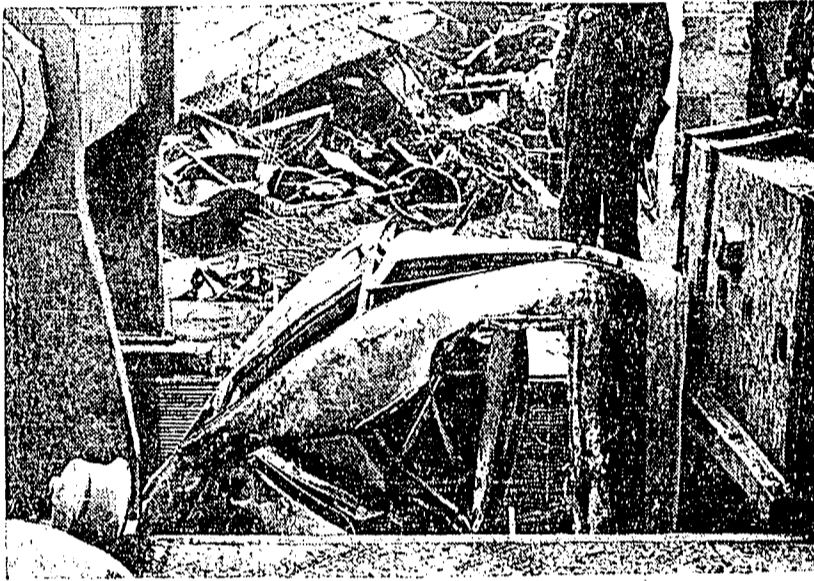

Unforeseen disaster expenditures, the successfully lobbying of so-called special or pressure groups and a tendency in congress to vote appropriations beyond the sums provided in administration budgets have contributed to the difficulty of making the budget balance come true.

There is possibility of open senate rebellion against Mr. Roosevelt's $1,500,000,000 work relief bill, although the odds would favor the President in any such contest.

When 'Big Benny' Is Through Tinkering, Your Old Car Is in No Shape to Take a Ride in

Once motorist's joy, now headed to car crusher. "Big Benny" clamps down on his ration of iron.

After a few bites, the car looks like it has been in an awful wreck.

Today's Picture Story

Wonder what they do with that old wreck of a car you traded in for the sleek new streamlined model? Then come along to the Junkyard in Buffalo, N. Y., where the most powerful car crusher in the country has just been put into operation. Talk about folks having their daily ration of iron! "Big Benny" eats 30 old automobile bodies an hour. The upholstery, glass, wood and heavy metal parts are removed. A huge magnetic crane lowers the shell into "Big Benny's" maw. The sides of the pit come together, crush the once sleek auto body. A powerful ram completes the job of compressing the metal into a block about the size of an orange crate, and the late car is ready for the trip to the smelting furnaces. Unless the metal is squeezed into a compact mass, about 99 per cent is lost in melting it down.

When he's done, the car is just a block of scrap metal.

Build-Up of Fishing Resources Planned by State Game Warden

BOISE, Idaho, April 21 (UP)—W. R. McIntyre, new state game warden, today said he was chiefly interested in building up Idaho's fishing resources. The warden said "fishing is the really big sport. We are going to put on an intensive campaign of fish propagation." He urged sportsmen to stop taking fish heavy with roe.

WORK STARTS ON CURBING PROJECT

Walnut Street Scene of First Operations With Third Street Next

Actual construction on the curb and gutter project using WPA labor under city supervision and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce was underway today, starting at the corner of Fourth avenue east and Walnut street. It was announced this afternoon by Ronald Graves, chairman of the sponsoring organization's curb and sidewalk committee.

This is the second season during which the project has been in operation. Last year numerous persons took advantage of the project in securing curbing, sidewalks and runways by paying only for the cost of materials, as is the procedure this year.

Third Street Next
 At the completion of Walnut street on both sides it is expected work will then start on Third street north if money for materials is furnished by property owners along the street. Complete information regarding the project can be obtained from Mr. Graves at the Chamber of Commerce offices where also Graves and Son real estate offices are located.

Funds for construction should also be turned in to Mr. Graves.

Here Are Costs
 Examples of cost elted today by Mr. Graves show a 50 foot inside lot cost is listed, with curb only, at $17.50 and with a driveway, $29.05. Fifty foot corner lot, curb only, $27.30 and with driveway, $39.75; 125 foot corner lot, curb only, $48.30 and with driveway, $60.75; 125 foot corner lot with corner included and curb only, $57.40 and with driveway added, $69.85. These prices are for designated streets only. Corner lots on avenues are slightly higher because of wider parking.

Any freer set-up can be priced upon application to Mr. Graves. In the work the city also furnishes the equipment needed.

The first electric lighted train in America was put into service on the Pennsylvania lines in 1887.

Hoover Hits at Kansas FBI Men

WASHINGTON, April 21 (UP)—J. Edgar Hoover, federal bureau of investigation chief, said today that charges that his G-men shoot recklessly are "unwarranted and untrue."

Hoover said he had communicated with FBI agents in Kansas City and that they had ascertained that "no responsible officers" had made charges against the G-men.

"In the past 20 months the FBI has apprehended more than 2,000 fugitives without a single person being killed or wounded," Hoover said. "Therefore it is untrue to say that our agents have needlessly endangered the lives of private citizens."

How to Make a Complexion Stay Beautiful

• You may be born with a smooth, beautiful complexion, but it's often another matter to keep it.

• The beauty experts agree on one thing—soap and hot water are the basis for beautiful skin. The creams, the lotions, the ahs, but above all start with a clean skin.

• And that requires hot water—lots of it, ready when you want it. An automatic electric water heater costs only $89.50 at Idaho Power. $5 down, balance in convenient terms.

CLOSE GAMES FEATURE OPENING DAY TILTS

Senators Trim Yankees, Giants Defeat Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 21 (U.P.)—With the promised land way off in October, the major league clubs settled down today to win ball games in the 194-game grind.

Evidence that baseball is in for a big box-office year was furnished by yesterday's six openers, which drew a total of 181,076 persons. Last year's eight opening day crowds totaled 204,543. This year's average was 30,179 compared with 25,668 last year.

The Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox rushed to the lead in the American league, supplanting yesterday's "early" leader, the Philadelphia Athletics. The Cardinals, champion Giants, and Pirates won their openers to join the Phillies, a double-winner Monday, as National league pacemakers.

Big Features

The big features of the opening day were:

- 1) Cy Blanton's five-hit game which gave the Pirates a 5-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.
- 2) Dizzy Dean's masterful pitching with men on base which enabled the Cardinals to win a 10-inning duel from Cincinnati, 2-0.
- 3) Gerald Walker's "grand slam"—home, triple, double and single—which helped Detroit's 4-3 triumph over Cleveland.
- 4) Al Simmons' homer and two singles which gave Washington a 3-2 triumph over the world champion Yankees.
- 5) Hal Schumacher's five-hit performance which outdistanced Van Mungo and gave the Giants a 4-3 victory over Brooklyn.

Red Sox Win

The Boston Red Sox, laying down a barrage of 18 hits, shelled the Athletics for the only top-sided victory, 11 to 5. Wesley Ferrell was the Red Sox victorious pitcher.

For the third successive year defeat clamped its clammy hands on Lefty Gomez, Yankee southpaw. The Senators beat him, 1-0. The year before the Red Sox beat him 1-0. Monte Weaver, the old mathematics professor from the University of Virginia, played school master to the Yanks, who couldn't add up hits to runs. They made 10 hits in the third inning they made four straight hits, but made only one run.

Detroit beat Cleveland, 4-3 when Goose Goslin beat Bud News. Hale's throw to the plate in the fourth inning for the winning tally. Eldon Auker outthrew Mel Harder, who retired for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Pitching Features

Blanton's pitching and doubles by Paul Waner, Sutch and Brubaker, and a triple by Vaughan sent the Pirates away with a 5-0 win over the Cubs.

The Cards beat the Reds in the tenth, 2-0, on doubles by Medwick and Mize. The Reds collected 13 hits off Dean, including four doubles but couldn't score.

Mancuso's double, Whitehead's hunt-single, and Schumacher's outfield fly gave the Giants the winning run over the Dodgers in the ninth, 4-3. Schumacher held the Dodgers helpless except in the second inning when they made three runs. Mungo fanned nine Giants but gave up 10 hits. A rabid Brooklyn fan hit Dick Bartell with a tomato on his first time at bat.

Teaches Yanks

Monte Weaver, the ex-mathematics professor, taught the world champion New York Yankees a few lessons in baseball yesterday afternoon as the Washington Senators won a 3-2 battle in the opening game of the big league season for the New Yorkers.

Still Winning

The loud-mouthed Dizzy Dean may do a lot of talking on his off-days, but when he is on the mound he also does a lot of pitching. Yesterday, with perfect support behind him, he won a ten-inning pitchers' battle from Cincinnati, 2-0.

SPORT SQUIBS

George Kirksey, the United Press special baseball writer, picked the Washington Senators to upset the Cubs and win the American league pennant this year. He gave as one of his main reasons for the prediction the belief that Al Simmons would have a great year in the Solons' outfield.

Of course, one game at this time of the year doesn't win a flag, but after looking at the results of yesterday's game between the Senators and the New York Yankees it appears that maybe Mr. Kirksey knows something that 99 per cent of the other sports writers don't. Simmons led the batting attack as the Harris team conquered the world's champions before 50,000 fans at New York.

The plight of Al Simmons since Connie Mack broke up his great team of a few seasons back has always been a mystery. One of the leading hitters for eight consecutive years with the Athletics, Simmons has always been a puzzle to sports writers, fans and managers alike since his change from the scenery at the Quaker City.

At Chicago he was with the old teammate Jimmy Dykes, but was on the bench half the time following to hit. Detroit figured he was still good, and on the advice of his pal Mickey Cochrane, dug up $75,000 for the ex-Milwaukee sandler to strengthen the then world champion Tigers' outfield. But Simmons was everything but a sensation with the Detroiters and during the winter he was let go to Washington for about a tenth of what Detroit paid for him.

Now he is picked as one of the deciding factors in the drive of the Nationals for the pennant, and, to all appearances in yesterday's game, is out to make good.

Short shots: Leroy Mahaffey, member of last year's Philadelphia Athletics' mound corps, will pitch for a textile league team in South Carolina this year for $75 per week. Sam Rice, the old Washington and Cleveland outfielder, has a chicken farm in Maryland and his hens produce about 11,000 eggs weekly. The University of Chicago had no spring football practice this year for the first time since the school was founded. Not enough players could find time.

Bucky Crouse, catcher for the Buffalo (International league) team, just became a grandfather. Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has bet Bill Terry, New York Giants' pilot, that he will be back at first base for the Giants by July 1. The bet consists of a suit, box of cigars, a hat and a bottle of rum.

Davis Cup Squad Drops Bobby Riggs

HUNT GIVEN CALL FOR U. S. GROUP

19-Year-old Californian Must Wait Another Year for Try at Team

By JACK GUENTHER
LOS ANGELES, April 21 (U.P.)—Nineteen-year-old Bobby Riggs, who rose from the school courts to a national tennis championship in four years must wait at least another season to represent the United States in Davis cup competition, it appeared today.

The sleek-haired youngster who is American Clay court champion and who is ranked fourth in United States Lawn Tennis association singles selections, was dropped from the cup squad last night, apparently in favor of Joe Hunt, tow-headed Los Angeles boy who with Riggs holds the clay court doubles crown.

Jerry T. Jones, secretary of the Southern California Tennis association, received a wire from Walter L. Pate, chairman of the U. S. L. T. A. which read: "Riggs has been dropped from the Davis cup squad. Only four men can be named to the squad and on early season play Hunt seems to have the call."

On the basis of his showing in 1936, Riggs had been considered the strongest choice to fill out the second singles assignment on the team. He holds victories over every player in the running, except Donald Budge of Oakland, who is conceded first singles position.

In the past few months, however, he has been barnstorming through the south and was blasted from tournaments at Atlanta, Ga., and Houston, Tex., without even reaching the finals. Hunt, on the other hand, recorded a strong showing, fighting five sets before he was eliminated by Bitsy Grant at Atlanta.

GAGLIARDI GETS TOP IN PIN MEET

123-Pound Kegler Rolls 740 Score for Top Spot in ABO Tourney

NEW YORK, April 21 (U.P.)—Top position in the individual event of the American bowling congress was held today by Gene Gagliardi, five foot, 123 pound kegler from Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Gagliardi passed all the heavier opponents last night by rolling a 740 for leadership of the current tourney. He came within 25 pins of the all-time high of 774 held by Larry Shotwell of Covington, Ky.

Gagliardi's rolling was the only bright spot in a dull evening. The next highest singles was 677 turned in by Fred Erhardt of Albany, N. Y. The best team total was made by Albemarle Recreation Reds of Brooklyn—2,885—but that was way under the score necessary to place in the money.

PADRES TIGHTEN LEAD ON COAST

Score Win Over Sacramento; Portland Loss in Home Town Debut

(By United Press)
The San Diego Padres strengthened their lead in the Pacific Coast league yesterday by defeating the Sacramento Solons, the San Francisco Missions trounced the Oakland Oaks and the Los Angeles Angels defeated last year's pennant winners, the Portland Beavers, as the league teams warmed up during the second week of series play.

Rain defeated both the San Francisco Seals and the Seattle Indians at Seattle yesterday but both teams hung on grimly, hoping for a break and a game today.

The Portland team, with the 1936 pennant lapped up on the wall, failed to produce for its home town when its hurlers wilted under an attack from Los Angeles stick swingers. The Angels took the top of a 4-3 score.

A night game saw the tail enders of last season, the San Francisco Missions, gain percentage by scoring six runs and at the same time holding Oakland down to two runs under the arc light.

In San Diego the home-town boys opened their series by holding the Sacramento Solons to one run and piling up 5 runs for themselves in what was considered a surprise upset. The Padres virtually sewed up the game in the first inning by scoring four runs and then coasted through the rest of the game.

"High-Jinks" for Bowlers Slated Thursday Night

Annual high-jinks for Twin Falls' male bowlers will be held at the Park hotel starting at 7:15 p. m. Thursday, when all pinmen in both leagues gather for the yearly bowling banquet.

Women performers on the one feminine team in the circuit will have their own banquet later, according to Fred Stone, active sponsor of the bowling leagues.

Election of officers is scheduled as the chief business matter at the dinner meeting Tuesday night. Roy Cubit, toastmaster for several years, is expected to preside over the fun-making portions of the program. Between 70 and 80 will probably attend.

Track Performers Prepare For Sub-District Tourneys

Trackmen of nearly every southern Idaho school were busy ironing out the final kinks today in preparation for the week-end track and field meets that start on Saturday and continue for the next month.

Sub-district meets this Friday will draw nearly every one of the same aspiring young men into action as meets will be held at Burley for the east end athletes and at Twin Falls for the west end.

The following day, Saturday, the schools of the north side will gather at Gooding for their annual sub-district competition.

Good weather the last few days has done considerable to speed the athletes on the way toward a peak in their performances and it is predicted that some exceptional marks will be recorded in the three meets.

Washington Is a Cinch to Capture American Pennant, Says McLemore

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, April 21 (U.P.)—Boy, you better get on those Washington Senators of mine while the gettings good, because it looks like a breeze for 'em from here on in.

I don't see how they can miss. With only 162 more games to go it's a cinch. They knocked off the Yankees yesterday and would be leading the league today if they hadn't made a gesture toward old man Mack's age and semi-pros in the opener, and dropped a courtesy one to the Athletics.

If the Yanks are world champions—and they had a mall-order pennant saying they were, floating from the centerfield mast—then the Washingtons have a right to sue them for taking glory under false pretenses.

Senior Lefty Gomez, who pitched for the Yankees, has ridden some rough bronchos in his day out there in Roedo, California, but he never had a rougher ride than the Senators took him for at the stadium. That fireball of his had signs on it, and his curves and dippy-does were about as puzzling as a swinging door.

And who do you think led the attack on Senior Gomez's alleged deliveries? None other than Aloysius Szymanski, a gentleman who, immediately on learning that his parents had christened him that, hastened to the courts of the land and had it changed to Al Simmons. Clark Griffith, Washington manager bought Simmons from the Detroiters for $15,000, and he's the biggest bargain since Alaska. Al, his foot still in the bucket, punched out a home run and two singles in five times up.

Watching Simmons get his three-for-five, brought back the memory of a hot September day in Chicago, two years ago. Al was getting the second highest salary in baseball from the White Sox then, and still wore a dazzling purchase price. But he was a miserable gent. His batting average was down in the 250 neighborhood, and along with everybody else, he knew he was the biggest flop of the 1935 season.

He could talk of nothing but his batting slump. "It's a nightmare," he said. "I've had advice from every player on the team. I've consulted every catcher in the league. They all offered different suggestions, and as a result I'm jumping around that plate like a jackrabbit. I've even watched movies of myself batting in 1927, when I hit .392 for the Athletics. But nothing seems to help. I'm telling you that unless I hit .325 next year I'm going to quit baseball."

The Sox sold him to Detroit—for $75,000—and Al, in 143 games batted .327. For some reason—the report is that club dissension was behind it all—the Tigers let him go to Washington for a song—and not a very elegant song, at that. And now he's happy. In addition to his hitting, he's fielding just as brilliantly as he did when he was with the Athletics and was the best outfielder in either league. He still does that silly jig while waiting for a ball to drop into his arms. Twice yesterday he came tearing in to handle balls that seemed sure hits.

Simmons had able support from his mates yesterday, especially "thin man" Shanty Hogan. Down to a stream-lined 230, Hogan seems ready for a great year. He made a bare-handed catch of a foul off the netting yesterday that was a beauty. And he handled Monte Weaver perfectly. After all, you can't catch five years for McGraw without learning something.

I'm telling you, boys, those men from Washington are a cinch. (Copyright 1937, United Press)

MAN ONCE FRIGHTENED BY OIL ADS

CHANGES TO OIL-PLATING

In spite of everything, it paid him to take ads seriously, you see, else he might never have tried Oil-Plating. First of all he was impressed by the explanation of Oil-Plating.

Simple enough, if you'll think what happens as Johnny's dirty little hands touch the wallpaper. Anything greasy or oily on his hands becomes quite a permanent part of the paper. You'll say permanent!

In much the same way—forgetting technicalities—Conoco Germ Processed oil forms a lasting attachment for every working part of your engine. A genuine, enduring Oil-Plating is brought about by the Germ Process—patented.

Thus the Germ Process not only multiplies the strength of the usual flowing type of oil-film, but creates Oil-Plating besides. And once Oil-Plating goes on, Conoco Germ Processed oil does not let it come off in minutes, hours, days . . . or miles.

Thus Oil-Plating kills the old fear of starting "dry." Likewise Oil-Plating refuses to let go in all the fury of 5,000 revolutions per minute. That's why your "good old car" of the latest model will stay more like new, with its engine Oil-Plated. And your whole summer's driving will take less Conoco Germ Processed Oil. 1938 PLANS CALL FOR REDUCTION IN RELIEF ROLLS

500,000 WILL BE TAKEN OFF WPA TO CUT EXPENSE

Suggested Billion and Half Appropriation Will Be Cause of Releases

By REED S. DUNHAM
WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—The New Deal today planned a WPA program for the 1938 fiscal year employing nearly half a million fewer relief workers than were on the work-relief rolls during this fiscal year ending June 30.

On the basis of $1,500,000,000 for work relief during the year beginning July 1, proposed by President Roosevelt in his new budget message, the works progress administration can provide employment for about 1,800,000 persons, at present wage rates, if no great amount is not diverted for other relief purposes. More than 2,100,000 are now on WPA rolls.

Flood Interferes

An average of 1,800,000 on the rolls July 1 is approximately the employment figure which WPA officials expect to reach through return to private employment by that date. Administrator Harry L. Hopkins has planned to cut to 1,000,000 by July 1, if industry picked up sufficiently, but flood relief interferes.

David Lasser, president of the Workers' Alliance, said that Mr. Roosevelt's message "looks as though it was written by the United States chamber of commerce or Senator Vandenberg. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich."

Sends Letter

He sent an open letter to congress asking the body to "face this increasingly difficult situation realistically."

Lasser announced that his relief workers union would stage a nationwide demonstration with work stoppages in some places to protest WPA reductions on May 2.

While some aspects of the federal works program other than WPA may be included under the recommended $1,500,000,000, the bulk of farm relief has been moved from the relief-recovery fund classification to the agriculture department appropriation bill now before the house.

QUARTER REPORT LISTS UNIT WORK

Interesting Facts Disclosed In Summary of Health Activities Here

During the first three months of 1937 a total of 258 immunizations was made against smallpox and 229 against diphtheria in Twin Falls county by the county health unit, it was revealed today with completion of a statistical summary of unit activities by Dr. J. W. Hawkins, director.

The voluminous report as completed contains detailed data on over 300 items and is probably the most comprehensive report ever made regarding health activities in Twin Falls county.

Among the interesting facts found in the report is that during the three months Dr. Hawkins and public health nurses working out of the unit made 1,547 field visits on cases and contacts in the work of communicable disease control. Consultations with private physicians numbered 258.

Tuberculosis Drive

Under tuberculosis control the nursing visits on new and old cases numbered 118. New cases hospitalized totaled one and tuberculin skin tests were given to 114 during the three months.

Under maternity service 17 new cases were admitted to medical service before childbirth and 50 to nursing service. Nursing visits to expectant mothers totaled 195. Cases cared for after birth of the child through nursing service totaled 20 while nursing visits to mothers after childbirth totaled 273, the report shows.

Try school hygiene inspections by nurses or physicians during the first three months of the year totaled 7455 and examinations by physicians, 235. Physical inspections were completed in 426 cases and nursing visits, totaling those to home and the school, stood at 3,411. Special classroom health courses conducted totaled 34 and attendance was 1,015.

Adult Hygiene

In the adult hygiene group a total number of 176 food handlers, cosmeticians and others requiring health cards were examined.

In morbidity service admissions to medical and nursing service totaled 95 while nursing visits totaled 371. Twenty-one were admitted to the hospital, 31 to dental service, 40 for refractions of eyes and operations and 24 to tonsil and adenoid operations.

MADRID RECEIVES WORST BOMBING

Rebels Continue Fire on Spanish Capital For 10th Day

MADRID, April 21 (AP)—Madrid was subjected today to the worst punishment of the war in a concentrated artillery bombardment which left the streets strewn with dead.

It was the tenth consecutive day of bombardment. One attack began at daybreak and continued for several hours at two and three minute intervals. The second bombardment started about noon. The rebels used lighter artillery this time, apparently anti-aircraft guns.

Little shells, coming in three's whizzed by with a high-pitched whistle, bursting with explosions like many powerful fire-crackers exploding together. They landed in all parts of the city.

Protestants ran in all directions, diving for doorways, cellars and other cover. A few were panic-stricken and just stood staring fearfully at the skies.

Three were killed and about seven wounded around the Banco de Espana in the early morning bombardment. Additional casualties occurred in the same vicinity in the afternoon.

One shell hit a peasant's cart, killing the driver and three mules. The bodies remained in the streets.

The Calle Alcala, where it joins the Gran Via in the center of the city, was splattered with blood. Street cleaners were busy clearing away the debris as a matter of routine.

Landon Abandons Silence To Hit at Kansas Censorship

TOPEKA, Kan., April 21 (AP)—Alfred M. Landon came out of political retirement today to protest against a censorship of Kansas movies.

"We must not sleep while a government board takes away the very foundations of our freedom," he said.

He called upon Gov. Walter Huxman, his successor, to "correct the foolish act of the Kansas censor board" and restore the speech of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., to the current edition of the March of Time news reel.

Deletion of Sen. Wheeler's speech, which opposed President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan, has raised a political furor in Kansas.

First Comment

It was the first public comment on politics by the defeated Republican presidential candidate in two months.

The censorship was ordered by Miss Mae Clausen, chairman of the Kansas board of review. Miss Clausen, who lives much of the time in Kansas City, Mo., is a Democrat. The other two members of her board are Republicans. They concurred in her decision although her rulings, as chairman, are final anyhow.

Landon said he was shocked "by the reactionary position of this board, two of whose members I appointed." The two women he appointed were the Republicans. Gov. Huxman appointed Miss Clausen.

Huxman said today he had not had time to study Landon's statement yet, and might reply to it later.

Huxman Responsible

Landon said: "Regardless of what Mr. Huxman says, or what he denies, he is responsible not only for the state's great traditions and the actions of those he appoints.

"The maintenance of true democracy demands that people never forget the truth. For the first time in the history of our state, an official board dared tell the people of Kansas what they might say and what they might not hear on a public issue of great interest."

"Make no mistake, you cannot lose freedom of expression without stifling freedom of thought and freedom of worship."

Sen. Wheeler's speech, which was denied to Kansas, was: "... You can say that the privilege of appointing postmasters will not be accorded me. You can say what you please, but I say to you and Mr. Farley, to everybody else, that I will vote against this proposition (to change the supreme court, because it is morally wrong, it is morally unsound, it is a dangerous proceeding."

LAST HONOR PAID CAMAS PIONEER

FAIRFIELD, April 21 (Special)—W. T. Harness, 79, real estate agent and resident of Camas prairie since 1885, was paid final tribute at a service held Friday at a Boise funeral home. Interment was in Boise.

Born Oct. 23, 1857, in Buchanan county, Mo., one of 14 children, Mr. Harness died suddenly on Thursday evening following a stroke of paralysis. Since full he lived at the Old Folks home in Boise.

Unmarried, he survived only by one brother, David H. Harness, whom he had followed to the prairie over 50 years ago. His career was closely connected with the development of the territory.

LASTING SUPPLY OF TIMBER SEEN

Lumber Standing at Present in U. S. Would Last For 150 Years

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Without reforestation the vast stands of pine timber in the western United States would supply lumber for 150 years, but with conservation methods used at the time of cutting they will last forever.

That, in substance, is what the Western Pine association attempts to prove in a 24-page booklet designed to show what pine areas are being logged in a way that will provide a stable yield in the future.

The association, which draws its members from pine loggers working the territory from the Rocky mountains west to the Pacific, and from Canada to Mexico, has taken photographs showing cut-over lands to prove the point.

The forest management of the association has set up rules of practice including: Selective logging; relentless war on fire and insects; maintenance of clear right of ways along railroad tracks; slash burning only under proper weather conditions and preferably after the first snow; roadside conservation of beauty and seed trees, protection of young trees during logging; no logging on ridge crests as a measure of erosion control and preservation of seed trees in all forests.

Pictures in the booklet show that while second growth timber is growing to maturity a third crop is being seeded. It is also shown by annual rings that selective logging results in faster growth than is possible in primeval forests.

Clyde S. Martin, forest engineer for the association, pointed out that trees and forests of trees have a life expectancy just as do all living things. He declared that by cutting only mature trees and saving the younger ones, and by that method only, can forests be preserved for future generations.

Errol Flynn Tells of $1,500,000 Raised in Hollywood to Aid Loyals

HOLLYWOOD, April 21 (AP)—An interview with Errol Flynn in Barcelona, Spain, in which the film actor and soldier of fortune purportedly told of helping to raise a $1,500,000 fund in Hollywood to aid the loyalist forces, came under the scrutiny of the Knights of Columbus today.

Thomas B. Flanagan, secretary of the Los Angeles council of the organization, said he was sending a report on Flynn to John J. Rosborough, state deputy of the order at Oakland, Calif., and to the national headquarters of the Knights of Columbus "anti-radical" campaign at New Haven, Conn.

JOB TESTS GIVEN STEEL LABORERS

Old Method of Pointing Out "You and You" Isn't in Vogue Any Longer

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—When the steel mills hired men in the old days, the employment manager walked to the gate where applicants were assembled, gave them a hurried, professional "once-over" and then pointed out the ones he wanted.

"You, you and you," he shouted. The new employ reported to the timekeeper and went to work. Times have changed.

A. B. Holmes, employment superintendent of the National Tube Works, has interviewed more than 8,000 job-seekers in the past seven years.

"The company knows all about every man hired now," he said. "The employment office records the applicant's birth, age, weight, height, color of eyes and hair, his parents' names, social status, education and past experience."

"Physical examinations play an important part. The job-seeker must undergo a physical examination by the company doctor to determine his fitness for steel mill work."

FUNDS ASKED TO STUDY POTATOES Federal Government Ponders Method to Dehydrate Idaho Spuds

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD WASHINGTON (Special)—During the past 25 years the federal government has spent thousands of dollars teaching potato farmers how to increase crop production, improve existing varieties and combat crop diseases. Meeting with huge success, the government now wonders what to do with potatoes now that they are produced. Outside of a small potato flour factory in Idaho and the use of potatoes as stock feed, there is little industrial consumption. The manufacture of commercial alcohol for fuel is proposed, but will probably be impractical because of the abundance of oil and gasoline. The bureau of chemist, and soils is working on a process to dehydrate potatoes to be kept for future use as food or stock feed. They propose to utilize the juice pressed from potatoes commercially to pay for the process of dehydration. Need $75,000 About $50,000 to $75,000 is needed for the erection of an experimental or pilot plant to perfect the process worked out in agricultural laboratories. If nothing else, it will mean a tremendous saving in freight rates for the shippers of potatoes and potato products. On the house side of capitol hill Idahoans are spending their time on reclamation appropriations now days. Congressman White is seeking an amendment to the interior department appropriation bill providing for the retention of the unused portion of the $160,000 allocation for surveys in the Boise valley. Unless authorization for retention of the money is provided, the Boise valley survey will end June 30. Seeks Million Congressman Clark is seeking an extra million dollars for development of the upper Snake and Congressman White, chairman of the house irrigation committee, is backing him. After Idaho has fought, bled and died in the house, the same argument will be waged in the senate. From all sections of the Pacific northwest come letters saying President Roosevelt's proposal to perpetuate the CCC "must" be enacted. So far, no opposition has developed in congress. Forest roads and similar projects already recommended in the state of Idaho could keep a large contingent of CCC camps busy for 50 years.

FRENCH TOURISTS FIND COSTS LOW Special Cards Issued to All Persons in Attendance At Exposition

PARIS (U.P.)—An official summary of reductions, favorable exchange rates and special prices just issued reveal that tourists will find living in France this summer as low as in previous years. To encourage visitors to the exposition, a special season ticket called a "carte de legitimisation" has been issued by French tourist authorities. This card can be bought in most tourist agencies, but does not go into effect until April 15. The validity of a card for visitors coming from the United States and other non-European countries is 90 days, all cards automatically expiring on Nov. 15. Card Not Expensive The benefits to be obtained from the card are: 1. The card costs slightly less than a dollar and entitles the purchaser to buy entry tickets to the Exposition at half price. 2. With the card a reduction of 50 per cent will be granted on all rail travel within France, the only requirement being that the visitor must spend at least five days in Paris. 3. The rail reduction is applicable to rail tickets to and from landing points such as Cherbourg and Havre. 4. Restaurants within the Exposition will grant a reduction of 10 per cent to the holder of the card. 5. Air lines operated by Air-France will grant a 15 per cent reduction to all air travelers. 6. Principal theaters of Paris have announced a reduction of 10 per cent to holders of the card. 7. French museums will allow a reduction, ranging from 25 to 30 per cent. Pensions Allow Discount Many cinemas, pensions, hotels and motor car services also have announced a reduction for travelers presenting their tickets. It is also expected that special tourist rates will be arranged by most agencies in France to visitors who wish to visit various districts. Already the government is taking determined steps to see that the reductions are applied and even has instituted a special service to see that no prices are raised for tourist traffic. Paris hotels will be patrolled regularly, not only by a tripled detective force to nab any international crooks who might be attracted by crowds, but also by inspectors to see that hotel prices are kept at the agreed minimum. Many transatlantic lines have announced bookings for weeks in advance and several fast boats are booked more than a month ahead. It is expected that American tourists will see a post-depression record. Soap is made from locusts in North Africa.

STATE PLANS TO IMPROVE ROADS New Method Will Start First On 15 Miles Near Shoshone, Report Says

A 15-mile project near Shoshone will be the first of a statewide program of treating secondary and arterial highways with a new process of dust-killing road-binder called "Raylig." It was revealed here today in a communication received from Boise. The program of road treatment was adopted by J. H. Stemmer, director of state highways, and requisition for the new material for the Shoshone job will be made by J. M. Johnston, highway engineer for district two. Engineers in other districts of the state will set up similar projects in the next two weeks, information reveals. "Applying the road binder is like putting paint on a barn," Stemmer said. "We can provide a road for five or six years and on which there will be elimination of dust, washboards and costly maintenance while we are waiting around to lay roads costing around $3,500 to $4,000 a mile."

Soil-Building Features of Federal Program Help, Says Idaho Head MOSCOW (Special)—"Many of the soil-building practices in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program fit nicely into the general farming operations of farmers in Idaho," H. L. Stafford, in charge of the AAA program for this state, says. "Some farmers seem to think the AAA program is something separate from their regular farming operations, but most practices can be performed as a part of the general farm work," Mr. Stafford says. "Farmers should act in touch with their county agents or local committees to get details on just which practices may be performed in order to earn payments under the program. For instance, farmers may earn payments for planting legumes and grasses adapted to this state, including alfalfa, nine different varieties of clovers, and eleven kinds of grasses. There are also other practices for which farmers can earn payments, such as planting and maintaining trees on cropland, control of perennial noxious weeds, controlled fallow, restoring cropland to native grass, etc. The full list of practices for this state is given in WR Leaflet 102 'Agricultural Conservation in Idaho,' a copy of which may be obtained from your county agent.
