HINDENBURG SHIP PROBE GETS U.S. EXPERT'S ADVICE

Commander Ohas. Rosendahl Says Craft "Was Lighter Than Usual"

APPROACH WAS NORMAL

American States He Has No Knowledge of Cause of Hydrogen Fire

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
LAKEHURST, N. J., May 10 (UP)—Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, America's foremost airship expert, told a federal board of inquiry today that the dirigible Hindenburg was "a little lighter or more buoyant" than usual when she nosed through thunderstorms just before she was destroyed by fire Thursday.

"The approach was normal in every way," Rosendahl said, "but the ship on previous occasions had been heavier when landing."

Rosendahl was a stern, alert figure at the hearing in a barren storage room of the air station hangar—the very room in which, in an improvised morgue, the bodies of many of the Hindenburg's crew and passengers had been placed.

He faced a three-man board headed by South Trimble, Jr., a technical board of experts, German observers and federal officials.

Trash Pick-Up Starting Tomorrow in Campaign

City Re-Zoned in Chamber Drive to Secure Clean-Up

With the city re-zoned into three districts, picking up of trash and rubbish will start Tuesday morning in the Twin Falls clean-up campaign. It was announced here this afternoon by Ed M. Tinker, general chairman of the Chamber of Commerce drive.

Removal of the trash set out by householders who are cooperating in the campaign will be made by trucks of I. G. Prescott, holder of the city garbage contract. The rubbish is to be ready in containers, the clean-up chairman said.

Here is schedule: The schedule for the trash removal: Zone one, Thursday—The entire east and north sections of Twin Falls, between Main avenue, Addison avenue and Blue Lakes boulevard.

Zone two, Wednesday and Thursday—Penn Kimberly road north to Heyburn; north Locust street west through Blue Lakes addition and Golden Hills across Washington street north.

Zone three, Friday and Saturday—South and west portions of Twin Falls, including the addition in that area.

The present trucks will take the rubbish to the dump operated by his concern unless the chamber makes last-minute plans for a special dump at which a huge bonfire may be held at conclusion of the campaign, chamber officials said this afternoon.

Original plan for zoning the city had called for seven districts but this was changed to the three finally decided on.

SPEAKERS SELECTED FOR MASS SAFETY MEETING HERE

TUESDAY SESSION MARKS START OF DRIVE IN COUNTY

Talkers, Motion Picture Will Emphasize Theme From Many Angles

Plans were completed this afternoon and speakers announced for a public mass meeting Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce meeting rooms signifying the start of a county-wide drive for safety on the highways, among pedestrians, and in the home.

The drive, sponsored by the Twin Falls county health unit under the direction of Dr. J. W. Hawkins, director, will continue for at least a month and much of the safety facts will be relayed to the homes through students of various schools throughout the county.

Speakers at Tuesday night's meeting will feature safety from various angles including the state, the highway, the school and the city. J. Matt Johnston, district highway engineer, Shoshone, will discuss the relation of road construction and other engineering aspects in relation to safety on the highways. Earl Williams, state traffic officer, will present the law enforcement side and will stress the testing of drivers for licenses as well as the safety lane operations which will progress in Twin Falls.

Margaret Egbert, instructor at the Twin Falls junior high school, will speak relative to safety education in the schools and will explain the general safety course which is being offered at the local junior high school.

A representative of the local police department will give a brief account of the local safety problems and also an analysis of the records of accidents recorded in the city. Other features on the program will be a talking motion picture from Washington, D. C., dealing with safety problems and another talking slide film through courtesy of the Twin Falls Coca Cola company.

To date, Dr. Hawkins said this afternoon, between 4,000 and 5,000 pieces of safety literature have been distributed in local schools, the students being instructed to take the literature home to their parents or guardians. Before the program is completed it is estimated the pieces of literature will number 15,000 and will be made available to each school in the county.

Collects Statistics Dr. J. D. Dunham, director of the state department of public health, has authorized the local unit to make a collection of statistics both for Idaho and other states which will be made available to the general public, clubs and organizations for use in safety programs.

The material, it was announced, will soon be available at the local office on a loan basis and will provide such organizations with complete data on a well rounded safety program for presentation at any time.

SEN. NYE SEEKS ESPIONAGE PROBE

North Dakotan Says Large Ring Operates Out of New York Hotel

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—A broad congressional investigation of alleged foreign espionage activities in the United States was proposed today by Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D.

Nye said correspondence which he recently discovered prompted him to prepare an investigation resolution he plans to introduce today or tomorrow. The resolution will demand an end to the "abuse of diplomatic passports," he asserted.

The correspondence, Nye said, revealed an espionage ring operating from a fashionable New York hotel with agents in Cuba, Mexico and France and Spain.

He asserted that the documents indicated that the group may be working with the Spanish nationalists and that they named several Spaniards who formerly held high positions with the Spanish embassy here.

In one letter, he said, an armed blockade of Mexican waters was proposed in violation of the Monroe doctrine.

Woman's Courage Lauded in Disaster of Hindenburg Ship

POINT PLEASANT, N. J., May 10 (AP)—Mrs. Mathilde Doehner, called by her physician, the "bravest woman I ever knew," told today how she threw her children from the burning Hindenburg in a desperate effort to save their lives.

Her oldest daughter, Gene, 14, died of her injuries. Her husband, Herman, is among the missing. Both her sons—Walter, 10, and Werner, 8—are badly burned. She is seriously injured.

"I was in the front cabin," she said. "I was standing with my children looking out the windows watching the landing. We were all thrilled by the sight. My husband was watching from another part of the ship. There was a flash. The Hindenburg seemed to shudder. I knew the ship was falling and that it was burning fast. I screamed for my husband.

And then I knew the only hope for my children was to throw them to the ground. I pushed Irene toward the open window. I tried to pick her up. She was too heavy.

"So I picked up my son Werner and threw him. I knew it was the only way of escape. Then I did the same with Walter, my other son. Then I helped Irene out. I looked around again for my husband. I did not see him. I jumped myself."

Mrs. Doehner told her story to Dr. Harry Ivory. She is suffering from burns of the face, hands, arms, legs and back. "I've never seen such courage," said Dr. Ivory. "To know her is to decide how she can do what she did. She is brave and she is decisive and intelligent. She knew what she had to do and she did it."

Helium Gas for Hindenburg Would Have Cost $35,315

AMARILLO, Texas, May 10 (AP)—At a cost of approximately $35,315 the dirigible Hindenburg could have been filled with non-inflammable helium gas, officials at the United States government's helium plant here estimated today.

The United States, which has a monopoly on helium production, purchased 50,000 acres of land in the Amarillo gas field, and established the helium plant here in 1929.

The plant has a production capacity of 24,000,000 cubic feet of helium annually and C. W. Seibel, supervising engineer, said that with slight changes in design and enlargement, the plant's capacity could be stepped up considerably.

Production of the gas has been at less than half of capacity since the dirigible navy dirigibles Akron and Macon were lost. The output recently has been turned into storage or doled out for experiments in the treatment of "bends" or Caisson's disease, which afflicts deep-sea divers; as a cooling agent for electrical machinery and as a gas for radio tubes and electrical signs.

Seibel said enough helium was now stored on the government's Clifford preserve to serve the world for a century.

Besides its advantage of being non-inflammable helium is economical because ships using it require only one and one-half times their capacity in replenishment each year, while hydrogen must be replaced five to ten times a year.

Scientists have calculated that 1,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas will lift 76 pounds, while the same quantity of helium will lift only 65 pounds, but point to the safety factor as offsetting the lower quotient of efficiency.

The government also owns two reserves in Utah, where the natural gas contains helium, but those reserves never have been developed.

POT SHOTS WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

AFRAID to Love by MARION WHITE © 1937 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Traffic Hazard Grows We have had something like 20 years now to get used to the auto as a means of mass transportation.

The National Safety council finds that in the first three months of this year some 3,500 people were killed by autos.

First and foremost, perhaps, is the fact that we have tried to fit the auto into our traditional system of democratic individualism.

Alied with this is the problem of liquor. We ought to be able to see by now that alcohol and gasoline makes a mixture as dangerous and unstable as nitroglycerin.

Then there is the matter of speed. We insist on having cars that will go much faster than nine out of ten people can drive them safely.

To top it all, we have hardly any more officers patrolling our roads than we had in the day when there was not half the amount of traffic.

An Off-Color Prank One of the hardest things to understand is the kind of mind which is responsible for acts of vandalism like the one recently committed on Plymouth Rock.

The Better Way Labor troubles in the last six months have involved upward of 600,000 American workers, caused the loss of nearly 11,500,000 man-days of work.

It may get so one can say of an ambassador, "I know him when he was in long pants."

WELL, BILL? Pot Shots: No, no! No bachelor is gonna get away with this without Potley getting in on it.

She Gives the Bicycle A Breathing Spell Mr. Pot Shots: With activity picking up again at Sun Valley, you ought to consider some of the doings of one Mrs. Butler.

Our Fifty Cents says the board of advisers, composed of Edna Bowser, Honorable mention, it seems is awarded to Baron Munchausen.

And with wedding bells already ringing out for Edward and Willie, we decided they won't get out of the house for more publicity.

MOBE DEMAND FOR IDAHO SUICIDE DE LUXE Mr. Shooter: I agree most wholeheartedly, 100 percent.

HELO, PHILIP. He greeted him flatly. He looked up scowling, and did not smile.

SWearing Off (Editor's Note: By a guy who doesn't seem to mean what he says).

WE SAW THE NEWS-BEEL-AND WE AGREE! Dear Mr. Photo: I notice our grade school in this country should look awfully nice.

FAMOUS LAST LINES "No, dear, you can't see the ball on the fairway!" "THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW."

IT WAS about midnight when Sybil returned to her own home. She had left her uncle in a particularly jovial frame of mind.

There was Uncle John, for one thing. Despite the fact that Uncle John was still an economic neophyte, and his principles must be opposed.

It put her car in the driveway. She went to the window and watched him put the car in the garage.

HELO, PHILIP. He greeted him flatly. He looked up scowling, and did not smile.

"Philip," Sybil pursued tactfully, "I'll make a bargain with you." He looked at her suspiciously.

"I'll settle with Sam Bowser. I'll give him something on account and security for the rest. And if you'll do something for me, I'll give you $50 a week extra and the expense."

"What for?" He offered her a cigar, took one himself. "To do a little detective work."

HALF an hour later, Sybil said cautiously: "Uncle John was upset about it. Philip's good humor faded."

"I'll settle with Sam Bowser. I'll give him something on account and security for the rest. And if you'll do something for me, I'll give you $50 a week extra and the expense."

News Behind The News by Paul Mallon An Exclusive and Authoritative Reviewing Times Daily Column into the Background of Events in the Nation.

CONGRESSIONAL EMOTION WASHINGTON, May 10.—In connection with this new self-assertive attitude within congress, it is an interesting fact that the President and congressmen have never got along very well together personally.

Two emotions dominate congressional thought, one is fear, the other gratitude. The congressmen have had cause to fear the President politically, but they have not had much cause for personal gratitude.

Contrary to the popular opinion, not much patronage has been doled out to the average member of the house.

On top of this, several congressmen have come back from their district after making speeches at the President's court program, complaining that there was a noticeable lack of public interest in the plan.

PROFIT The strange preachings of Agriculture Secretary Wallace lately stirred considerable commotion among the thinkers of the new order.

There is not much new in the Wallace philosophy. He merely says that "the sum of the less courageous new order is to be a new order."

It sounds highly fascist in some particulars, such as the control of production, price and labor. He thinks it is trying to promote thinking along the lines of a new order.

What Mr. Wallace has pure to do is to let the people know what he is up to. He has a long way to go before he can be the champion of the people.

SOLONS STAY AT TOP IN PACIFIC Boise Team Takes Track, Field Meet

Sacramento Club Has Record of 12 Victories in Last 14 Encounters

By United Press A record of 12 victories in their last 14 games placed the once-famous Sacramento Solons comfortably on top of the Pacific Coast league today with the hot opposition they had for two weeks beginning to fade.

San Diego and Seattle, teams that a week ago were in the thick of the pennant chase, were showing signs of cracking up. The San Francisco Seals remained the most formidable contender in the present play.

The Solons eliminated a successful week yesterday by spitting a double bill with Oakland to take the series, five games to two. Home runs beat Sacramento in the first game, won by the Oaks, 7-4. All the runs in the game came from the second game, Newcom was the winner and Pappas the loser.

Portland improves Portland continues its improved play on its home turf by taking a double header from Seattle and capturing the series, 4-2. Home runs by Pappas, five, and Pappas, five, and Pappas, five, in the opener, with Bill Poedel the winning moundman.

San Diego won a close game on a home run by Johnnie McQueen, who hit back to the winning run, 4-2, on home runs by Rosenberg and Barath.

Where's George?

"Think of the work involved in getting that 1925 401 horse! And I not only had to read the names—I had to trace the blood lines. I had to follow the red conquests through dams and sires, foals and colts, geldings, stallions, mares, brood mares, fillies, whinnies, foelocks, and winners. I had to climb up and down every family tree that still have the swinging gait of a three-toed sloth.

Son of Man O' War Sets Fast Pace in Kentucky Race Win

By HENRY McLEMORE LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10 (UP)—Unless something drastic happens to him between now and next Saturday, Man O' War's newly hit little brown colt, War Admiral, will be a double-dipped champion to follow his smashing victory in the Kentucky derby with a triumph in the Preakness at Baltimore.

Rated off his work in the Blue Grass classic here two days ago, there isn't a three-year-old in the country who can give him much more than a brisk exercise.

True, Jerry Loucheim's handsome Pompoon finished but a length behind the Admiral in the derby, and was running strongly at the end. But that doesn't mean much, because only during the mile, and on a quarter journey—and then for only an eighth of a mile—did War Admiral really about the works and run for all he had. That was when Pompoon, out to prove that he wasn't just a sprinter, challenged near the by of stretch.

In what seemed to be no more than one bound War Admiral, let loose at last by Chatterley Kurtzinger, picked up two and a half lengths and was running away from his only rival.

Despite the ease with which he won, War Admiral ran the second fastest derby in the long history of the race. He negotiated the distance in 2:08 1-8 and the only better time is the record 2:01 4-8 made by Twenty Grand in 1931. It is interesting to note that Chatterley Kurtzinger, who negotiated the distance in 2:08 1-8 and the only better time is the record 2:01 4-8 made by Twenty Grand in 1931. Venus travels an orbit that lies inside that of the earth. Therefore, when she is nearest us, she is directly in line with the sun, and we can see only her dark side. Mars travels an orbit that lies outside our own, and we look away from the sun to see it at its nearest approach, and we see its full lighted face.

Cheering Mobs Greet King and Queen After Surprise Appearance

THROUGH BREAKS THROUGH POLICE LINES AT ABBEY

Full Ceremony Is Rehearsed As Coronation Day Comes Nearer

By WEBB MILLER
(Copyright 1937, United Press)

LONDON, May 10 (Special)—King George and Queen Elizabeth paid a surprise visit to Westminster Abbey today for the full dress rehearsal of Wednesday's coronation, and were almost mobbed by a cheering throng outside the building.

Police were caught unaware because their majesties gave them no notice of their intentions. The crowds, which broke through the inadequate cordons, swarming around the royal automobile for several minutes before they were pushed back.

After giving a private luncheon at Buckingham palace, attended by Queen Mary, the duke and duchess of Gloucester, the duke and duchess of Kent, the king and queen motored to the abbey.

King Wears Derby

The king wore a derby hat today. They joined in the rehearsal of the procession from the annex to the altar, which so far has proved a difficult part of their majesties' duties because of the inability of the peers to avoid stumbling on their robes when they walk backwards.

The full ceremony was rehearsed but the king and queen participated only in part of it. The duke of Norfolk and Lady Rachel Howard acted the roles of their majesties during the tedious procedure of anointing, crowning and the anointing of the peers.

The crowds were congregated outside all during the morning, shivering in the chill rain. About noon the drama ceased but it was still cold and overcast.

Coronation week opened today with showers and a bus strike and a determination of millions of people to celebrate at home, some what might, the biggest set event of the British calendar.

53 Nations Represented

Representatives of an empire that covers one-fourth of the world, envoys from 53 world nations, tourists from nearly as many and the visitors from the British provinces joined in London in making their own colors to an occasion which makes plain as nothing else does that kings may come and go, but the kingdom goes on forever.

Celebrations will reach their climax Wednesday when King George VI is crowned at Westminster abbey, along with his consort, Queen Elizabeth.

Today there was little to be seen of the day's normal bustling attention to business. Princes and princesses, Indian potentates, women who rode about the streets in gorgeous limousines with their windows down so that they might not be disgraced by having ordinary people see them; soldiers from dominions, colonies, protectorates; African chiefs, some in flowing saffron colored robes, one in European dress but with a big feather in his hat; the tourists and visitors from ordinary Londoners filled the streets which were decorated for miles with flags, streamers and lanterns.

Official Program

The official program of the celebration that will continue for weeks opens tonight with a state banquet at Buckingham palace for 400 guests of the king and queen, James W. Gerard and Gen. John J. Pershing, of the American delegation, may wear, respectively, their own knee pants and General Grant uniform.

Cafes, public houses, theaters, movies and the streets provided the color for most of the visitors.

There were few, despite the dismal weather and the dislocation of traffic caused by the bus strike, who stopped to complain that the king was dressed by recollection that King George is being crowned only because "King Edward VIII, the one time prince charming, left his throne and his people for love of a foreign born woman."

King George is the 40th sovereign of England—counting the two Cromwells—and behind those were 10 Saxon kings.

This Wednesday was to have been the coronation day of Edward VIII. His brother George just stepped in at the moment Edward, as duke of Windsor, stepped out.

THEATERS

Hilarious Comedy "Midsummer Night's Dream" at Orpheum

Following the sensational success in Twin Falls and cities throughout the world, where hundreds of thousands of delighted spectators paid from $1 to $10 for a ticket, Max Reinhardt's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" has now for the first time, been made available for continuous performance at popular prices, and will open a limited engagement at the local Orpheum theater on Wednesday.

If road show patrons will recall, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" has the most imposing cast of stars ever assembled in a single feature attraction. Heading the cast of hundreds of players are Joe E. Brown, Olivia de Havilland, Dick Powell, Anita Louise, James Cagney, Jean Starr, Victor Jory, Verree Teasdale, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh, Alexander, Ian Hunter, Mickey Rooney, Hobart Cavanaugh and Grant Mitchell.

The scenes in the forest are heralded as being the most elaborate ever filmed, and the ballets are said to have surpassed even the hopes of the producers. The Mendelssohn music is played by the largest symphony orchestra ever assembled for a motion picture. All in all, this modern adaptation of William Shakespeare's immortal comedy, is one of the most spectacular of all motion picture spectacles.

COURT PROGRAM FILIBUSTER SEEN

Sen. Wheeler Says Opponents Have Enough Votes to Block Plan

WASHINGTON, May 10 (Special)—An "all summer" filibuster against even a two-judge compromise on President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization plan was threatened today by forces against the program.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., said opponents had enough votes to defeat Mr. Roosevelt's request for six additional Justices and that they now are concentrating on blocking any increase.

Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., another staunch opponent of the court bill, predicted that the senate judiciary committee would be unable to reach a compromise and would attempt the measure unfavorably to defeat Mr. Roosevelt's request.

Committee Chairman Henry F. Ashurst, D. Ariz., still forecast a possible passage of the proposal. He said he had "metaphorically closed my eyes" to all suggestions of compromise on less than six additional Justices.

The committee met again today in another of its executive sessions. A ballot on reporting the court bill is not scheduled until May 18.

Play Presented by Seniors at Hansen

Sawtooth Improvement List Announced by Senator Pope

Extensive improvement in the forests of central Idaho, much of which will take place this year, was revealed today when he today with receipt of an exclusive communication from Sen. James P. Pope of Idaho.

The area was the chief topic of discussion between the senator, chief of the forest service, F. A. Sillcox, and Regional Forester E. W. Rutledge of Ogden, Utah, during recent conferences in Washington, it was because of the willingness of the forest service to complete such a program that Senator Pope withdrew his resolution to investigate the feasibility of creating a Sawtooth national park, the communication states.

Detailed Account

Following is a detailed account of the work which is contemplated in the forest area of central Idaho:

- 1.—The completion of the highway between Grand Jean station and Stanley basin. This involves 12 or 15 miles of construction to cost $300,000.
- 2.—Completion of the same road between Clark's and Stanley basins. This will be completed in 1937, and about $170,000 will be used in filling and straightening the highway, above Ketchikan.
- 3.—Side roads will be constructed leading from the Stanley-Ketchikan road to Alturas, Red Fish and Peck lakes.
- 4.—A CCC camp will be established at or near Red Fish lake to build camp grounds and provide them with water and sanitation facilities at the various scenic spots throughout the valley.
- 5.—Will Build Trails
- 6.—Several trails, similar to elk trails, will be constructed wherever they seem advisable.
- 7.—The stub driveway, which now goes up Wood river near the main highway to Stanley basin, will be moved away from the main road since it now detracts from the natural beauty of the drive.
