GOOD PRICE FOR LAMBS FORECAST

County Agent Declares Next Pool Should Encounter Favorable Market

Next lamb pool "should hit a good market," County Agent Harvey B. Hale predicted today to members of the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing association.

The pool is set for May 25, with shipping at Bull in the morning and Twin Falls in the afternoon.

"California lambs are fairly well cleaned up and the Texas yearling should be fairly well gone by that time," Mr. Hale said. "The range lambs are into this year and there will not be any big movement of them until after the middle of June. Indications are that we will receive a good price for our lambs until after the middle or the latter part of June."

All growers with lambs, fat ewes or wethers to go in the May 25 shipment were urged to notify Mr. Hale's office at T. W. Richmond, phone 318-33, Bull.

The pool following next week's is set for June 10.

No lambs smaller than 80 pounds will be accepted for the May 25 shipment, the county agent announced. In the June shipment the pool will accept lambs down to 75 pounds.

Prizes Awarded in Jarbidge Contest

JARBIDGE, May 19 (Special)—Billy Kuphalid was awarded first prize in an essay contest on the subject "Fish and Game on the Humboldt National Forest" during school commencement exercises. He received a cash award donated by the Fish and Game Club and presented by T. Carl Haycock, local forest ranger, sponsors of the contest.

Second and third prizes were split between Milo Price and Lester Aker as judges could not determine which was the better of their two essays. They found it noteworthy that young Price came from Jugoslavina last fall and his essay showed remarkable progress in learning the ways of the American people and the value and uses of the natural resources of America.

C. of C. Hunts Yoho Valley to Oblige Britons

Somebody over in England wants pictures of the Yoho valley and Twin Falls—and the local Chamber of Commerce wants to know where to find the Yoho valley so it can ship the photos.

Secretary F. G. Thompson, after questioning the citizenry hereabouts during most of yesterday, was about ready to give up on Yoho today.

"The request for photos came from Doris Leigh, Ltd. British concern which supplies pictures for newspapers, magazines, encyclopedias and other publications. The letter, incidentally was addressed simply: 'The Secretary, the Twin Chamber of Commerce, Idaho, U. S. A.' But Uncle Sam's postal service sent it straight to Twin Falls without delay."

"We require good and clear photographs of Yoho valley and Twin Falls to be used as illustrations for a series of articles dealing with the U. S. A. Some of the photographs would probably also be reproduced in a new World Encyclopedia which will shortly be published."

SLIDE DAMAGES SAWTOOTH CABIN

Snowslide in Warm springs canyon has damaged the cabin owned by T. F. Warner, Twin Falls, and has put a new blockade six feet deep across the roadway, according to word received here today.

The slide, roaring down the west side of the mountain above the cabin 12 miles out of Ketchum, crushed in part of the roof and damaged the south half of the cabin living room.

Although the road is blocked at the point of the slide, it was reported today that a detour is possible and the route is open as far as the cabins extend in the Warm springs canyon.

Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Haviland, formerly of Twin Falls, have already gone to the area to spend the summer, friends said today.

Mine Men Shift Course of River

With more than 13 tons of tungsten already shipped out so far this month from the Ima mine at May, Idaho, activities at the mine today include such matters as changing the course of a river.

That was the word brought back from May by Ben R. Tillery, Twin Falls, fiscal agent for the concern.

The Patterson river course is being shifted to get more ground for tailings, he said. Giant "bulldozers" are doing that phase of the work.

The mine is working 40 men and is operating day and night.

One Word After Another

They tell a story around newspaper offices of a very young and enthusiastic reporter who once dashed back to the city room after covering a spectacular fire.

He crouched over his typewriter, tense, prepared to turn himself loose with everything he had, almost overcome by the excitement which he was about to transmit to his expectant readers.

Feverishly he rapped out a couple of words on the typewriter. He scowled at them, shook his head, and crossed them out. He tapped out two or three words on a fresh start, scowled again, and made a third start. He was fairly quivering with the excitement of this grand and dazzling story he had to write, and he was on the point of exploding because he could not seem to turn it into a narrative worthy of the occasion.

There sat watching him a pot-bellied old-timer, who had been writing big stories ever since the battleship Maine blew up in Havana harbor; and this old-timer presently came over to the eager cub and touched him on the shoulder.

"Just put down one little word after another," he advised.

This anecdote is called to mind, somehow, by memories of the recent broadcast of the British coronation. The British radio announcers who handled that most spectacular of all radio stories were men who had learned the lesson of that newspaper old-timer.

They knew how to tell a big story in the simple, direct way of putting down one little word after another; they knew, in other words, that if the narrator will just get out of the way a big story will tell itself.

And that, unfortunately, is a lesson that our American announcers seem utterly unable to learn.

Shove the average American announcer into a big spectacle, whether it be a presidential inauguration, a baseball game or an air meet, and he immediately gives a life-sized imitation of a man who has swallowed a huckle bumble bee.

He chokes up with excitement, he gets a shaky tremor in his throat, he assures his listeners every 20 seconds that this is undoubtedly the A-1 spectacle of all time. His feet touch the ground only in those sacred moments when he has to remind the audience that it is listening to this broadcast through the courtesy of the Squeegie-Weggie Liver Pill Corporation.

It is a shame we could not have sent a dozen or so of our home-grown announcers over to London, to see how a broadcast of that kind ought to be handled. For the British announcers had that priceless quality of restraint, coupled with a dash of adult dignity. They seem to have discovered that the thing being described interests the listener far more than the personality of the man who is describing it.

"Just put down one little word after another." It's simple—but how few narrators ever learn that most important-of all lessons.

Oh-h! The Bad Bogey Men!

Information given him by influential business men was the basis of his charges that a "billionaire" favored a Fascist dictatorship in America, William E. Dodd, ambassador to Germany, explained in reply to the demand made in the United States senate that he be recalled for questioning.

Will that explanation suffice, or should the ambassador be given an opportunity to divulge the names of these "influential businessmen" and their "billionaire" friend?

"The 'billionaire'—poor fellow—must have had pretty tough going in America to arrive at such a conclusion. Until he can get the United States swung over to Fascist rule, it might be well for him to go to Italy where he could at least make a comfortable living.

Meantime those "influential business men" might try their influence on the great liberal, Mussolini.

Congratulations to Ambassador Dodd for his momentous discovery—or was it?

Reason to Be Proud

"We are a bit proud of the manner in which Pocatello business men and investors took up the $10,000 building bond issue of the Idaho Southern university for the erection of a greatly needed new dormitory on the campus—and we feel that our pride is fully justified," says the Pocatello Tribune. "At a meeting of the chamber of commerce at which the matter was presented, more than half the bonds were subscribed and within 48 hours thereafter the whole issue was placed."

"That's the spirit! And the business men of Pocatello have reason to be proud.

A mid-western woman lecturer revealed she saw both good and bad in a tour of Russia, proving that Soviets are human, after all.

But you can't make the 593 housewives believe that.

In fact, I'll personally challenge you to do something to prove this. I'll bet you can't.

RICH MAN FIRST. THEN WEED FOR LOVE!

Dear Pot Shot:

Your topic for this week is most fitting to my humble way of thinking, as this is the time when women are all competing for the riches. Our magazines depict such charming brides—almost tempt to some men are all competing for the riches. Our magazines depict such charming brides—almost tempt to some men are all competing for the riches.

Personally, I would rather marry for love, because if a couple can enter marriage with a give and take idea, the money will come later. It's the character of the man that counts, and burn the toast for some unsuspecting man.

There's just one reply to your question.

Women—the women who amount to anything—marry for love and not money. I did that seven years ago. Passed up no other man who had anything that I'd never had.

And I'm still today about my husband. I was then a young girl who was married the money. I thought it would be an old story by now—and when I was a young girl who was married the money. I thought it would be an old story by now—and when I was a young girl who was married the money.

have had a daughter like Joan. That's why I'd like to do something for her. It's no reflection on you, you know."

"I understand, sir," Bob replied quietly, and his voice was husky with emotion.

"There's one thing more. I'd like Joan to have your hilltop. I know you have your heart set on a fine place upon your hilltop. You can have that, too. But this is very dear to me, and I don't want to give it up. It's a sort of shrine. I guess you might say, to Nancy. I don't want it to go to Sybil or Phil. They don't care for it now, but I don't know. Sybil would scrap it for junk. But Joan will understand. I'd like her to keep it for me, if you don't mind. It's Abraham is alive, it is to be his home. After that, well, let her take it out to some young couple who would appreciate it for the money, but more for the happiness they might find here."

"Joan would do that," Bob assured him. He was a little overjoyed. He had a little overjoyed. He had a little overjoyed. He had a little overjoyed.

CHAPTER XV

ON Tuesday evening, Bob had dinner with Mr. Hendry in Green Hill.

After dinner, they went into the living room, and there in front of the fire, they talked.

"I suppose I might ask you what you'd like for a wedding present," Mr. Hendry suggested eventually.

Bob looked perplexed. "That's nice of you, J. H.," he said, "but I don't think I can think of anything. Perhaps if you asked Joan—"

Hendry puffed on his cigar quietly for a moment, before saying: "I did something for you today, though I'd rather she didn't know it. Might as well tell you, however. I changed my will."

Bob looked at him in amazement. "What's that, sir?"

"I made a new will. Left a third to Joan."

BOB searched for words appropriate to answer this surprising announcement.

"That's a pretty big thing to do. It seems too much, somehow. You know how I'm fixed. You've done enough for me so that I can always take care of her. Ample, I think."

Hendry nodded.

"I know you can, Bob," he agreed. "But it gives me a certain pleasure to do this."

"It's fine of you, of course."

"The older man looked into the fire, and he said: "When he spoke, there was a tender sadness in his words."

"I had a girl once," he told Bob. "And every time I look at your Joan, I see my Nancy in her. Thirty years ago I brought her to this house. She didn't live very long after that. There were many things I might have given her, but we had very little money in those days. Sybil and Philip are now doing well. They've made a lot of money since I'm gone. But if Nancy had lived, we might have done better."

Hendry looked another cigar from the box on the table and bit off the end. He said: "It is inevitable before starting to light it."

"Yes, sir, Bob, Charley's a great fellow. We prospected together, first in the Shoshone, and then in 40 years ago, I dare say. Yes, sir, we were kids at the time, myself. I've been a prospector ever since. I've been a prospector ever since. I've been a prospector ever since."

"He did? Bob looked up in interest, a light taken back at the cover of a new edition of Norton's character. "In what way?"

"It was something south of Placerville, I think. I've been a prospector ever since. I've been a prospector ever since. I've been a prospector ever since."

Hendry looked another cigar from the box on the table and bit off the end. He said: "It is inevitable before starting to light it."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

by

PAUL MALLON

An Exclusive and Authoritative Evening Times Daily Glimpse into the Background of Events in the Nation's Capital . . . by America's foremost Interpreter Giving You Both Sides.

"Let the Chips Fall Where They May."

(Copyright, 1937, Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON, May 19—All is not well at the top of the new order. Mr. Hoover, his cabinet, or at least one ear of it, out of his bag by the peculiar manner in which he chose to receive his congressional colleagues.

Ordinarily, he calls them all in for round table conferences, plus the advice of one openly and one otherwise. He then issues his orders. It is like a staff meeting.

This time he called them all in, but not together. First he received his foremost congressional adviser, Mr. Garner—alone. Then he summoned the Senate leader, Robinson—alone. Next came the two house leaders, Bankhead and Rayburn—alone. Then came the members of the legislative program, and three slightly varying interpretations.

(As a matter of fact, he did not discuss all of the same subjects in each of his three conferences.)

The explanation being passed around President Roosevelt, so badly in his last staff meeting, but did not risk another indignation rally. Messrs. Garner and Robinson are supposed to have spoken so freely against the budget and relief program here that he decided to handle them individually this time.

Even if it means no more than that it is significant of the deep personal objections to some of the President's current policies by men around him who have the welfare of his administration at heart.

CONDENSATION

It is not getting a line on how the court debate may run from the fact that a certain Republican senator has concluded preparation for a filibuster which will extend his initial effort to five days.

If every senator followed this course, the debate would last from three to fifteen months. (Presidential advisers are counting on two months.)

It is therefore premature to talk or think of filibuster. If ordinary debate is certain to string out from two to three months, the opposition will not even try to consider extra-dilatory tactics for a long time yet.

JIGGERING

Latest authentic word on wages and hours legislation is that it is nowhere near ready for the Senate to consider. This comes from a Presidential authority and not from his unofficial attorneys-general who are supposed to be submitting to the President.

It is now said the legislation probably will be presented in three or four bills rather than bundled into one package. The bills may be so-called "mini-trials" covering hours, child labor, interstate commerce, and prices. No one knows when.

It is estimated on his $1,800,000,000 for relief. He will get it after a struggle.

The President wants the farm loan bill to be more pro-contracting senators. Under terrific pressure from the White House and postmaster general Parley, they have been rasping and barking.

COMPLICATIONS

At the same time there is evidence that the President is not as hard-billed—at the moment—as the popular word—about the supreme court packing bill as he is being represented.

The best way to describe it is that court packing is still "ought" legislation, while the remainder of the program is "must" legislation. The terms "must" and "ought" are supposed to have been used by the President himself.

But the real reason why Mr. Robinson announced there would be no compromise on the court "just yet" was that he wanted to scratch out the "just yet" because it might sound bad in his:

An intricate technical situation has arisen in the more pro-contracting senators. Under terrific pressure from the White House and postmaster general Parley, they have been rasping and barking.

"Obey," "Support" Missing in Ceremony for Duke's Marriage

By RICHARD D. McMEILAN

MONTPELIER, France, May 19 (AP)—Mrs. Wallis Warfield will not have to promise to obey the duke of Windsor when they marry June 3, it was understood today by the duke who will not have to promise to support her.

Plans were complete today for the annual meeting of the Twin Falls community chest which will be held at the high school Wednesday, June 23 at 8 p. m. For the purpose of electing officers and directors for the next fiscal year which ends at that time.

At a meeting held last night at the city hall the directors emphasized the fact that all contributors to the chest are members and as such are entitled to vote and should arrange to be present at the June meeting.

Plan Contacts

Arrangements are also being completed to contact all organizations with view to their representatives having from three to five representatives present at the meeting.

It was indicated that directors will probably not receive a printed special publicity need to secure the largest attendance possible at the meeting.

Participating in the chest will include the Boy Scouts, Anti-Tuberculosis Association, Children's Home Finding society, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, Parent-Teachers association council and the Salvation Army.

PRESIDENT MAPS NEW LEGISLATIVE CONTROL PLAN

MINIMUM WAGE, MAXIMUM HOUR PROGRAM LOOMS

Development and Control of National Resources Will Be Included

By C. L. SULZBERGER
WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt today planned a new legislative program embracing control and development of national resources, establishment of minimum wages and maximum hours...

New Deal "brain trusters" worked to complete drafts of the three major bills which the administration will ask congress to enact this session. They admitted that the scope of their program had been enlarged by prospects that some of the "objectives" of Mr. Roosevelt's judiciary plan will be achieved rapidly.

Some advisers intimated that the chief executive is more anxious to obtain realignment of constitutional opinion on the supreme court than enactment of his reorganization bill. Referring to the impending retirement of conservative Justice Willis Van Devanter, they said "seventy-five per cent of the job is over."

Most important points in the New Deal program as it shaped up today were:

1. A new measure calling for regional planning, including provision for development and supervision of industry and reorganization of the national food control, navigation, soil erosion, reforestation, power and drought and dust storm prevention. It may be sent to congress in a presidential message this week.
2. A wage and hour bill replacing the labor features of the national industrial recovery act which was

Astrologer Sees Child For Duke and Duchess

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Ann Maritzter, astrologer of the Daily Mirror, looked into the future today and forecast of the duke and Duchess's approaching marriage to Mrs. Wallis Warfield: "There is a probability of a child being born who will become famous. The child from its arrival will absorb the whole life of the Duchess."

Miss Maritzter asserts that she, first of anyone, predicted 16 months ago that the duke and Mrs. Warfield would marry. Basing her forecast on the planetary aspects for June 2, the wedding day, she says: "The marriage will not progress along the idealistic lines imagined by the duke and his consort."

outlined by the supreme court. This will govern working conditions in interstate industries, establishing minimum wages and maximum hours and forbidding the shipment of goods into interstate markets that have not been manufactured in accordance with these provisions. The measure is expected to be submitted to congress this month.

3. Reorganization of the federal governmental structure upon an "efficiency basis." It includes creation of two new cabinet posts, realignment of federal agencies and abolition of the controller general's office.

In addition, the chief executive said he felt it would be a "good thing" if the administration is able to further its agricultural objectives at this session of congress.

FLINT, Mich., (AP)—A marriage license issued five years ago was used the other day by Mrs. Pauline Kowlesky, 42 and Alexander B. Danilewicz, 31. Appointment of Liberal Justice Would Shift Balance of Power

HUGHES, ROBERTS HOLD BALANCE IN PRESENT SET-UP

Importance of Social Security Case Result Reduced by Van Devanter Quitting

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Appointment of a "liberal" justice to the supreme court will place the balance of power over the past seven years.

It was just seven years ago this spring that Chief Justice Charles Hughes and Justice Owen J. Roberts were appointed to the high bench. Since then they have been the balance which often controlled the outcome of decisions by the court.

Van Devanter's impending retirement will materially reduce the importance of the impending social security act test cases. Should unemployment insurance be upheld or Roberts gave them the power to dictate the decision in cases which divided the court five to four.

The conservative members have been Justices Van Devanter, James C. McReynolds, Pierce Butler and George Sutherland.

There have been but three consistent members of the so-called liberal group. They are Justices Louis D. Brandeis, Harlan F. Stone and Benjamin N. Cardozo. The court in a five to four vote these three had to be joined by both Hughes and Roberts to carry the court.

Four Members
With a liberal member in Van Devanter's place, the "liberal" bloc will consist of four members, a number that has hitherto comprised the "conservative" bloc. They then, will need only the vote of either Hughes or Roberts to carry the court.

NRA was invalidated by a unanimous vote of the tribunal, but the question was so whittled down to a matter of interstate commerce, that little indication was given as to how the court might stand on a newly drafted act.

In the AAA case the vote was five to three against the law. A change of one vote would have made the result five to four against the law unless the combined reasoning of the majority in conference could have swung Hughes or Roberts to the liberal side. This would have made the vote five to four in favor of the law.

One Vote Change
A change of one vote, however, would have completely altered the outcome of the municipal bankruptcy test case, invalidated by a vote of five to four, making the liberal five to four in favor of the law.

This is also true of the first railroad pension act, killed by a five to four vote. Had the New York unemployment insurance law test case, decided without opinion by a four to four vote—Justice Stone was ill—the result would have been to uphold the law by a five to three vote.

The Guffey act case, designed as a second test of NRA principles, the court would have gone into a consideration of the grade practice provisions of the law, something much sought by the administration. Hughes and the three liberals favored doing this but they mustered only four votes while five members opposed doing so.

Three Little Girls—Three Little Rabbits

The three little Fultz triplets of Kimberly, Josephine, Joyce and Jelene (left to right) frolic on the lawn at their home as they apparently enjoy the distinction of being the only triplets in Twin Falls county—and also enjoy the triplet rabbits which were presented to them. These little girls, now two and one-half year old, are looking forward to their third birthday next Nov. 24. (Exposing Times Photo).

Kimberly Triplets Learning Intricacies of How to Talk

Heading toward their third birthday which falls on Nov. 24 of this year, the Fultz triplets of Kimberly, Josephine, Joyce and Jelene, are learning the intricacies of talking and are doing right well.

Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fultz, the three little girls were born at the Twin Falls county general hospital on Nov. 24, 1934, with Dr. Joseph N. Davis as attending physician.

Different Tastes
The three, Della Josephine, Marjorie Joyce and Doris Selene, aren't "anything alike" in their habits, their mother told an Evening Times reporter.

Josephine likes dolls, white Joyce and Jelene like little autos, airplanes and other toys which are more common to boys," Mrs. Fultz said.

And if you think there isn't a "little bit of jealousy" among the three, the mother points out, just try and give one of them something without giving the same thing to each of the other two.

"They fight over nearly everything," Mrs. Fultz said, "and if one of them has something the other two want it, or something just like it."

Many Visitors
As Twin Falls county's only triplets, the trio are enjoying the life of celebrities inasmuch as numerous persons come to see them.

Their latest presents are three white "triplet" rabbits. At first the little girls were not so sure about the bunnies but now they have great fun romping with them about the yard.

A marked resemblance is noted in the features of the three girls. But Jelene has brown eyes while Josephine and Joyce have blue eyes. Josephine also has a shade darker hair than her sisters.

Mrs. Fultz, who also has one other daughter older than the triplets, said that she was happy to be the mother of the four girls but that "they sure keep me going. They are into everything and always want something. But then that's all part of being a mother."

In July, 1935, a Rhonsperber sailplane soared for a world's record distance mark of 313 miles. The "Sperber" has been credited with attaining 240 miles an hour in a dive.

"I COMPARED THEM ALL... THEN PICKED CHRYSLER ROYAL!"

—1937 CHARLES H. BRINGMAN CLEVELAND

"WHEN I HEARD Chrysler was invading the low-priced field, I was intensely interested in what kind of car this Chrysler would be. I not only looked it over carefully... but compared it with the other cars in its field."

"I found nothing that approached the Chrysler Royal in sheer dollar-for-dollar value. And since I have owned it, it has exceeded my highest expectations... riding comfort... and performance."

"With a wealth of engine power available, all modern safety devices, and outstanding smartness of styling, the car affords a pride of ownership which surpasses all other cars at anywhere near its size and price."

ALL AMERICA IS TALKING ABOUT THIS AMAZING CAR!

"I AM MORE pleased with the Chrysler Royal than any other car I have owned. Its styling is so distinctively different. And really—no other car, even those priced considerably higher, compares with it for roominess. The safety of its all-steel body gives me a genuine feeling of security."

"I THINK THAT the Chrysler Royal is the best looking car on the road... and it certainly is a wonder to drive. I use my Royal in business, and in all kinds of driving. I easily show 18 miles per gallon of gasoline. I never saw a better riding car."

CHRYSLER INVADERS THE LOW-PRICED FIELD!

The new Chrysler Royal costs very little more than the lowest priced cars. Easy to buy on conventional terms with the official Commercial Credit Company plan.

FRIENDS OF DUKE TO SEE WEDDING

20 Loyal English People Will Attend Marriage On June 3

By H. L. PERCY
LONDON, May 19 (AP)—A small group of loyal friends of the duke of Windsor will go to Monts, France, June 3, to attend his wedding to Mrs. Wallis Warfield. It was announced today.

There will be about 20 guests from England, all personal friends of the duke, said Lieut. Dudley Forwood, his permanent equerry who came here with papers connected with the wedding.

"They will go as friends, not in an official capacity."

King Edward
There was further doubt that King George VI had deferred to the government in agreeing that no member of the royal family should go to Monts and, by attendance at the ceremony, give royal or official countenance to the wedding which government and church so fiercely opposed before the abdication.

What talk there is in London centers because the day selected—the birthday of the late King George V, Windsor's father, who himself sternly reproved the duke for his association with Mrs. Warfield.

The discussion was this, and opinion seemed equally divided: Whether by selecting his father's birthday for his wedding the duke had offended good taste or made a gesture of friendship to his father's memory.

Opinion Divided
The announcement of his wedding date yesterday got no more newspaper space than did the story that his brother-sister George VI would drive in state to the old "city" today to lunch with the lord mayor.

ATHLETICS

Come From Behind to Defeat Tigers, 8 to 7

NEW YORK, May 19 (UP)—The Philadelphia Athletics have ceased to be a joke. The team that lost 100 games last season and finished in the cellar, hangs on to the American lead with grim seriousness.

Twice in the past two days the Athletics were licked going into the ninth. On Monday they came from behind to score two runs and win the world champion Yankees, 3-2. Yesterday, they staged another eighth inning uprising to win a Detroit tie and an 8-7 victory from Detroit. It was the fourth straight victory for the A's over the Tigers.

Dean Is Hero

One of 75-year-old Connie Mack's ruckies yelled at Manager Mickey Cochrane from the dugout when he beckoned to him to wish you were back catching for Philadelphia.

The Tigers are floundering badly, playing only a 50 percent game. Detroit led 7-5 when the A's came to bat in the eighth. Eidon Auker walked. Marty Feters, left fielder, walked with a pitcher's ball and was fanned. Bob Johnson, But Alfred Lovell (Chubby) Dean hit a home run over the right field fence.

Speed Chandler, former University of Georgia football star, kept the Yankees at the A's heels in a game separating them—by blanking the Chicago White Sox, 4-0. Lou Gehrig hit his second homer of the season. Ted Lyons pitched seven innings for the White Sox, allowing seven hits and being charged with the defeat.

Washed Climbs

Washington climbed from the cellar to sixth place by noosing out the St. Louis Browns, 7-6.

ALL BABA WINS ON LEGION CARD

Turkish Wrestler Throws Oleen in Finals of Battle Royal

All Baba today held the "championship" of the American Legion in the "Battle Royal" match. He won the match last night. All won in the finals over Phil "Hands" Olsen, the Pacific lumberjack, in two straight falls.

Wally Thompson Fight

Wally Thompson, managing the troupe in the absence of Ed Kunkel, who is exhibiting his work in Chicago, hit the floor first and was followed by Al Boyd, Jack Lake City's battling cup. Three two returned for the first match after the battle to stage one of the best bouts of the year, which ended in a draw.

Wally Thompson Fight

Third man to be counted out was Pat MacKenzie, a 115 lb. professional athlete from the University of Utah. He was followed by Leon (the Lion) Papino. When they returned for their semi-final bout MacKenzie spent 16 minutes with a leg-lock of sorts on the Greek. Only to lose the match in 30 seconds.

Mostly Falls

Olsen spent the major portion of his first five minutes with the "Terrible Turk" committing various and sundry fouls, the last being a form of eye gouging that resulted in his losing the first fall in five minutes, 12 seconds.

Buhl Athletic Field Nearing Completion

Buhl, May 19 (Special)—The Buhl high school athletic field, now nearing completion. More than 5,000 yards of dirt have been hauled to the field in front of the Buhl high school. A stone retaining wall was first built on the lower side of the field, then rocks and dirt were hauled in from the hill which was taken from the drag which was set up for clearing the setting pit in the city park.

YESTERDAY'S HERO

Lovell (Chubby) Dean hit a home run over the right field fence to give the Athletics an 8-7 victory over the Tigers and retain their American league lead.

Budge, Mako Scolded for Coming Late to Davis Cup Team Practice

NEW YORK, May 19 (UP)—Competent witnesses told me that when Donald Budge and Gene Mako arrived at Forest Hills for Davis cup practice a few days late they were thoroughly upbraided for their tardiness by Walter S. Pate, non-playing captain of America's international side.

The same witnesses also told me that the Messrs Budge and Mako meekly took the scolding from their tennis "pater" and, with reddened ears and faces, apologized for coming nine days to cross the country by automobile.

Mako's Opinion

I am sorry the Californians did this. I wish they had told Mr. Pate, with his first cross-country, and his own boss and I, in my opinion, and seldom it is wrong, in my opinion—a strict amateur in his own boss and I, under age, accountable only to his parents. In theory, he plays the role of an open internationalist and it is his prerogative to play the game when and as he pleases.

By Making Thousands

By playing, and playing well, with the Messrs Budge and Mako, he has made thousands of dollars this year.

If, by chance, they win the Davis cup from England, the top-siders will automatically be come befuddled gold mines.

Would Have Thought Twice

Just don't Mr. Pate would have thought twice before fitting them off the team because they are the team, and without them the match with Australia is complete at his own loss and face that Al Woods wouldn't.

Sportsmen Launch Membership Drive

With a membership of 1,000 as a goal, groups of Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association members have completed all necessary details for a membership drive to professional Twin Falls Thursday morning.

The city has been zoned for the purpose and representatives of the members of the association will "cover" their districts in an effort to enroll the largest number in the history of the organization.

YESTERDAY'S HERO

Lovell (Chubby) Dean hit a home run over the right field fence to give the Athletics an 8-7 victory over the Tigers and retain their American league lead.

PORT SQUIBS

Short shots: Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, ate more than a quart of ice cream daily.

Mrs. Charley Root, wife of the Chicago Cubs' hurler is an expert mechanic.

Frankie Frisch said Duck Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, would hit 400 if he would stop hitting at bad times. Manager Finch made this statement at the start of the season, and Medwick evidently took it to heart, for he now smacking the old apple at a 473 clip.

The American Legion building committee has banked approximately $400 from its wrestling cards this winter, which just goes to show the amount of money the local promoters must spend to finance some of the mat programs staged here.

Two of the best athletes living in Twin Falls county will be married within the next two weeks, and they don't live six miles apart.

Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, reads the financial pages of a newspaper first.

The St. Louis Cardinals now have the official club song—"The March of the Cardinals." It was composed by George M. Cohan, noted American stage figure.

Al Williams, long, skinny Texas pitcher for the pace-setting Philadelphia Athletics, developed control throwing rocks at Jack rabbits.

Al Bunch, highly touted lightweight boxing champion of Australia, is going to make a tour of the United States.

Plan Would Allow Twin Falls Residents to Fish in Nevada

Haycock, accompanied by Pat Murphy, chief of Nevada forest (formerly Kitty's Hot Hole) met with directors of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association last night at city hall.

CAGERS PRACTICE ON IDAHO COURT

Fifteen Report For Spring Sessions at Vandal Institution

MOSCOW, May 19 (Special)—Spring basketball at the University of Idaho is under way under direction of Forrest Tidgock, head coach, and Alfred Padgog, assistant coach.

Meets With Favor

Local sportsmen met with favor this evening at the meeting which was explained to him that they were powerless to act in the matter because in Idaho all fish and game laws are made through a central state agency. In Nevada, it was pointed out, the matter is handled in each county through the county commissioners.

It was urged that the forest ranger interest the Elko county commissioners in the matter of the game farm at Boise with the view of working out some "agreement" along this line. He was assured the backing of the local sportsmen if the state looked favorably on the move.

Would Set Precedent

"It realizes that such an agreement would more or less set a precedent," Haycock said, "but it would do much toward aiding both parties concerned."

PUPILS OBSERVE GOOD WILL DAY

Junior Red Cross Groups of Elementary Schools Have Joint Program

As the final meeting of the year the Junior Red Cross organizations of the three grade schools held a joint gathering yesterday morning at the high school auditorium to celebrate the International Good Will day which is observed throughout the world each year on May 31.

Throughout the program the efforts were devoted to a theme of world friendship and peace. The high school membership is drawn from the fourth and fifth grades in the Washington, Bickel and Lincoln schools, with representatives as readers and chorists.

Joint Program

During the meeting each school presented a portion of the program with the exception of the Junior Red Cross playing a prominent part. Charles Murray North, as president of the Washington group, presided over the gathering; Fern Salmon, Lincoln school, gave the annual report for the organization there, and was followed on the program by the Haves who gave the Bickel report.

Each school presented a playlet. The first offering came from the Lincoln school, "The Flag and Peace," presented by a group of second graders was the result of their own efforts and those of the instructor, Miss Margaret McClinton, the playlet being an original composition. Students participating in the play were: Laverna Muckey, Donald Rudolph, Dorothy M. Gray, John Drjps, Lulu Spencer, Bobby Shumway, Roy Cubit, Marilyn White, Calista Bell, Dee Roth, Debra Jenkinson, Donald Wight, Beverly Richardson and Johnny Ford. Wallace Ashby and Willard Winger, each representing a different country and carrying the flag of that country. There were also twenty-five singers in the group.

Bickel Playlet

"Soldiers of Peace" was the title of the playlet presented by Bickel pupils under the direction of the principal, Mrs. Ethel Gray. Those who were representing a different country were: Verla Bell as "Peace" were: Jack Kelly, Bobby Jones, Victor Floyd, Dale Lincion, Jack Mesick, Kathleen King, Bob Ostlund, and Everett Ward.

Washington pupils presented a short drama, "Friendship around the World" under the supervision of the principal, Mrs. Myrtle Beach. Pupils in the offering were: Clark Robertson, Peggy Porter, Betty Brown, and three-fold men of Health, Richard Victor, Emma Holmes, and Jackie Olsson.

Assembly Singing

At the conclusion of the playlets assembly singing was conducted by Cecilia Beckwith and featured songs of a peace theme. During the assembly, singing Lincolns from the fourth and fifth grades directed by Ralph Wood and accompanied by Marilyn Brooks sang as a special number, "Oh Happy World."

The general program throughout the school year under the direction of Mrs. Rose M. North, chairman of Junior Red Cross activities, centered around three-fold men of Health, Service to Others, and World Friendship.

In the report made by Mrs. North all three objectives were fulfilled yesterday with the conclusion of the meetings on world peace. Other projects carried out this year were: a $200 contribution to the flood relief fund, 150 Christmas boxes to the leper colony, Cullon, in the Philippine Islands, and a donation of 250 new cards for sailors in the navy. Local activities included charity work such as the filling of Christmas baskets for needy families and three-fold gifts of food to the county farm.

Of special interest to visitors were the objects made by the high school industrial arts departments including overlaid card tables showing elaborate designs in different woods, cedar chests, table and floor lamps, end tables, nut bowls, coffee tables as well as drawings, tracings and blue prints.

The Junior high school students have arranged a display of magazine racks, foot stools, end tables, book ends, book racks, lamps, corner shelves and a number of small articles all of which are made with hand tools with the exception of the scroll saw. The exhibit includes a section of project drawings, exercises and lettering.

Articles of clothing made in Junior and senior high school home making departments are on display as well as other projects of the department. Work of the art students is shown and booklets, compositions, pictures, and model settings made to illustrate class work during the year are displayed by the English department.

Apparatus used by the science classes and experiments studied during the year are included in the display. Classes in social studies are represented by posters and the foreign language departments by booklets and model settings for translations made by the students.

Work of the mathematics department is shown and samples of writing by penmanship students are included. The physical education department has on display first aid kits and the Smith-Hughes agricultural students have exhibited their work.

Business Forms Seen

Checks and business forms correctly filled out make up the display for the junior business classes.

Of interest is the display of a large number of building scale models of planes and gliders by the model airplane club. Those which have been made to fly have been suspended from a wire between the two balconies.

Junior high school exhibits are on the junior high side of the gymnasium and the high school displays are arranged on the opposite side of the room.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

THERE ARE ABOUT 400,000 CHRISTIAN HYMNS IN EXISTENCE.

SOME BEES REST BY "MOORING" THEMSELVES WITH THEIR CLENCHED MANDIBLES TO A STEM.

CORMORANTS DIVE UNDER WATER AND ACTUALLY FLY AFTER FISH.

The cormorant dives while swimming on the water surface. On submerging, the bird immediately uses its wings as its propelling force. They drive it along with amazing speed, and seem to work equally well in water and air.
