

SENATE PROBE OF UNEMPLOYMENT EASES RELIEF BILL

INVESTIGATION OF 'STRETCHING-OUT' POLICY PLANNED

Work Conditions in Factories Bear Directly on FDR Hour, Wage Bill

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, June 11 (UP)—Senate orders for an investigation of unemployment and relief tended today to ease pressure for amendment of the administration's $1,600,000,000 relief appropriation bill, which the New Deal's wage and hours bill.

The investigation resolution specified that the committee may inquire into unemployment caused by labor saving devices "mechanical and otherwise."

That language appeared to authorize the committee to examine working conditions in any factory anywhere in the United States to determine whether so-called "stretch-out" practices or over-long hours are closing jobs to the jobless. Such information would bear directly on President Roosevelt's plan to establish a federal board to fix maximum hours and minimum wages for industry or affecting inter-state commerce.

Congress Disavors
Clock room gossip indicated that congress did not like the Roosevelt wage and hours plan as drafted by New Deal experts.

There was an active minority movement to postpone action until next session. The proposed investigation of unemployment and relief may be advanced as a reason for delay, so that congress may act with the benefit of information to be obtained in that inquiry.

The $1,600,000,000 relief appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1 reached the senate appropriations committee today with endorsement of a sub-committee which has examined it.

Sub-Committee Declines
The sub-committee refused by a 5-to-3 vote to reduce the sum to $1,000,000,000. But it adopted, 7 to 3, the Byrnes amendment requiring sponsors of non-federal projects financed with relief funds to put up a minimum of 40 per cent of the cost. The average of non-federal funds now contributed to work relief projects is approximately 13 per cent.

Indications were, however, that administration strength in the full committee was sufficient to throw out the Byrnes amendment. Of the 23 members, at least four will not be present at today's meeting.

The sub-committee also amended the bill to extend the public works administration for two years and to make $300,000,000 in the WPA revolving fund available for loans and grants.

Can You Pick Out Bride of 14?

AVIATION FUTURE SEEN AS BRIGHT

Next Ten Years Will Witness Wonders, Boise Planning Leader Predicts

A prediction that the next 10 years aviation will see wonders which are not dreamed of today, and a plea that the people of the country be ready for these improvements inasmuch as they develop airports which will meet with continuing demands, were made here this afternoon by Walter R. York of Boise, chairman of the program of the northwest aviation planning council which will attract the nation's aviation leaders to that city June 17, 18 and 19.

See 'Feeder' Lines
"Feeder" lines for the great air transport systems will be a reality in a very few years, York said, and one of the main features of the conference will be to work out a cooperative plan between the city, county, state and nation in the development of these lines as well as adequate airports. Such development, he pointed out, benefits them all and for that reason all should share in the cost.

York was in Twin Falls attending sessions of the Idaho Bankers' association. He was a featured speaker at sessions yesterday morning held in the Elk Lodge rooms.

The Boise program, he said, will be divided into three parts. The first day will be devoted to national defense, the second to banking and operations and the third to government in aviation.

Noted Speakers
Among distinguished speakers scheduled to appear on the program will be Maj. Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of the army air corps; Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, representing the navy department; and considered the greatest authority on lighter-than-air craft in the United States: Dr. Raymond J. Staub of Portland, chairman of the Oregon state board of aeronautics; Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport association of Chicago; Alvin Adams, president of Western Air Express; Charles N. Monteth, vice president

May Wed Actor

With "Nice weather we're having," blond socialite Ruth Hollingsworth neatly sidestepped reports that she would wed Dick Foran, star of western movies. Mrs. Hollingsworth shown here working on a Los Angeles jobless aid project, divorced W. H. Hollingsworth three years ago. Foran, an elite Princeton student, reportedly faced dishonorance in 1934 when his father, a New York capitalist, disapproved the actor's budding romance with Alice Faye.

2 BANK ROBBERS SENT TO DEATHS

Young Pair Electrocutted in Oklahoma Penitentiary For Sheriff Slaying

MCLESTER, Okla. June 11 (UP)—Two young bank robbers were electrocuted today at the state penitentiary. Each spent two minutes in the electric chair and was charged, for one minute, with 2,350 volts.

Leon Miller, 21, died first, leaving a 15-year-old widow, Phyllis. In the women's ward of the same prison, Charlie Sands, 22, Klawa Indian, was brought to the death chamber in three minutes. He was survived by his sweetheart, Ruby Herring, 17, who also was in the prison.

The women were accomplices in the murder of Sheriff J. E. Wilson of Grady county, which the men committed after robbing the State bank at Elgin on May 31, 1935.

Storm "Scares" Motor Car into Runaway Jaunt

JEROME, June 11 (Special)—Lightning and thunder storms were apparently just too much for a car parked in the lot of the Potter Motor company here Wednesday night.

The auto, placed in the lot early in the morning, remained there all day, but when the storm raged in the night, the machine inexplicably left the lot, went a block down a sloping street, turned a corner, and then came to a stop after striking another car and denting a fender.

Dutch Diplomat Regrets Burning of Hindenburg
BOISE, Idaho, June 11 (UP)—Heinrick Maurits Van Walt Van Praag, of the Netherlands diplomatic service, Thursday told airport attendants here of his regrets concerning destruction by fire of the dirigible Hindenburg. Van Praag, traveling in Siberia when the accident occurred, had a east-bound ticket, good on the ship's next trip. It was replaced with passage on the Normandie.

ONE PRICE—A SQUARE DEAL

Twin Falls, Idaho

Quite a number of the people that read the TIMES have said: "Pratt, why don't you put your ad in the paper Friday night about some of your Saturday specials," as we have been putting the ad in the Saturday Morning News. Well, I'm almost afraid to try and get a bigger crowd for our Saturday trade, as we already have more than 5000 customers in care of. But come on in anyway folks. The old saying is "There's always room for one more and the more the merrier." We used to live in a 12' x 16' board shanty on the plains of Oklahoma and we always had room for one more. What we couldn't house in the shanty we let sleep in the cellar. Those were the good old days of free heated and good hearty people and Glad Pratt has had such a wide experience it seems like he must be about a hundred years old. He has climbed mountains, went swimming in the ocean, hung over, laid out a done carpenter work, acted as an undertaker, picked cotton, milked cows, rode a mule, hunted, and a long list of other things. What we couldn't house in the shanty we let sleep in the cellar. Those were the good old days of free heated and good hearty people and Glad Pratt has had such a wide experience it seems like he must be about a hundred years old. He has climbed mountains, went swimming in the ocean, hung over, laid out a done carpenter work, acted as an undertaker, picked cotton, milked cows, rode a mule, hunted, and a long list of other things. He's almost afraid to try and get a bigger crowd for our Saturday trade, as we already have more than 5000 customers in care of. But come on in anyway folks. The old saying is "There's always room for one more and the more the merrier." We used to live in a 12' x 16' board shanty on the plains of Oklahoma and we always had room for one more. Unpardonable Sin

A New York Times dispatch, telling of the arrival in England of some 3,800 children from war-racked Bilbao, contains some fearfully tragic paragraphs. As, for instance, this one:
'It was not the children's physical condition, however, that caused most concern. . . . The saddest by-product of the Spanish civil war is their overwrought mental condition, brought about by the terror of the air raids. The war has left many of them abnormally nervous, perhaps for the rest of their lives. They have spent hour after hour huddled in "refugees" with their frightened mothers while Rebel airplanes droned overhead, dropping bombs. . . . Scores have seen brothers, sisters or little friends killed or maimed near their homes.'

War With Dividends

A middle-western newspaper the other day received an interesting letter from a war veteran, apropos the annual Memorial Day festivities; and the concluding paragraph of this letter is well worth quoting.
'If this country must go to war,' said the veteran, 'I think I am speaking the thoughts of the war-wounded veterans when I say that it should declare war on disease, on poverty and on arid land. Let it be a war that will have for its object the clothing of the one-third of the nation that are ily clad; the housing of the one-third that are ily housed; the employment at a living wage of the one-third that are poorly paid. Then, if that war be won, it will indeed be a glorious victory.'

Electioneering Hazard

Paul V. McNutt, U. S. high commissioner to the Philippine Commonwealth, is an able man. Like most able men, he is ambitious. It is commonly reported that he would like to run for the presidency of the United States, come 1940.
If that is correct, Commissioner McNutt has made an unfortunate beginning on his new job. For the cables tell how he is insisting that at public functions in Manila, he, High Commissioner McNutt, must be toasted immediately after the President of the United States and before the president of the Philippine Commonwealth, Manuel Quezon.
Just why he should insist on his pre-eminence at a time when the American government is formally getting out of the islands is not clear. Nor is it clear how such tactics will help to persuade the American democracy that Mr. McNutt is proper presidential timber.

Missed the Boat?

Ramsay MacDonald, one-time Labor premier of England, and more recently lord president of the council in the Baldwin cabinet, retired from public life almost unnoticed the other day, submitting his resignation along with Mr. Baldwin.
As MacDonald's public career closes, it is hard to avoid the feeling that this man missed the boat, somewhere along the way. His advent to the prime ministership was greeted with high hopes; here was a Labor party man, a pacifist, a man who had intimately known poverty and hardship, at the helm of the British empire. Would not great things result from it?

Well—the great things somehow did not result. "Ramsay Mac" was sobered by responsibility—too much sobered, perhaps. His service to the empire was distinguished and useful; yet it lacked that indefinable little bit more—which, somehow, we felt we had a right to expect from him—that makes the difference between distinguished service and true greatness.

In this day of radio transcriptions, it is perfectly proper for the speaker to start out with "I want to go on record."

The drubbing they got from their neighbors in the World War is sticking with the Russians. They are taking the Poles on one at a time now.

"Balance of power" is finally explained by the recent headline which reported Europe selling arms on a "big scale."

Scientists have proved garlic vapor kills germs, which will be all right until they start using it to sterilize swimming pools.

THE days passed quickly, becoming more clock-like with every passing hour. Pats had little office with a master hand. She wrote letters, answered the telephone, handled loved-liked femininity, responded to admirers and she learned to wait with feverish anticipation for the rare times when Don sent her his, when she found him tumbled at his hair, exultant with creative prowess.
One evening, remaining late to finish her work, Pats went to the corner of her eye. Pats had every office with a master hand. She wrote letters, answered the telephone, handled loved-liked femininity, responded to admirers and she learned to wait with feverish anticipation for the rare times when Don sent her his, when she found him tumbled at his hair, exultant with creative prowess.

"New Haven, Rosie—" Don's tone was faintly exasperated. "I knew you wouldn't fall me," she interrupted. "You're my own kind of wife and of course you'll help me." Her voice fairly dripped with ingratiating sweetness. "Honestly I'd like to, Rosie. You know I've always helped you in the past, but I have no drag with Baker."

UNDING FAME

A great tribute to the late Senator Huey P. Long was paid at the Louisiana State University commencement exercises a few days ago. A nationally known orator likened Long's educational efforts to those of Thomas Jefferson at the University of Virginia, and said: "It is fitting therefore, that adequate recognition be given by the state and by the nation to the part played by one of our outstanding leaders in the development of this institution. Some of his accomplishments are of such a nature that they will remain for centuries as a monument to the unselfish zeal in the cause of education of our late distinguished United States Senator Long."

As I have already pointed out, people with chronic rheumatism often say that the stiffness and discomfort are worse in the morning or after they have been sitting still for a length of time and that the stiffness becomes less as they move. This is the type of case, properly called chronic rheumatism, and exercise of the muscles may be helpful. Such patients should be given a permanent scarring and locking in the joints, and permanent crippling.

YANKEES BEAT BACK WHITE SOX CHALLENGE

New York Gets Sole Possession of First

Bump Hadley Scatters Chicago Hits to Score Win; Cubs Down Brooklyn Dodgers

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, June 11 (UP)—The New York Yankees led the American league again today after beating back an inspired challenge from the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox stormed up from seventh place to tie the Yankees, but when the big test came the world champions clubbed back their challengers with an old-time Yankee assault, and landed in St. Louis today with a one-game lead over Cleveland and Chicago.

New York made seven hits, but even one of them proved to be a dud. Chicago made nine hits, two more than the Yanks, and scored seven less runs. The White Sox had 14 men left on base, the Yanks only three.

Third Victory

The Yanks got a triumph over their third victor in eight games played in the west. Every run was scored after two were out. Irving Shipley pitched for the Sox and won a game since he beat Detroit last night. On May 25, the same day he accidentally hit Mickey Cochrane while pitching for the White Sox in the first two innings by the White Sox. In the next seven innings he allowed three hits and two runs and a ninth inning rally. Detroit made a ninth inning rally to score two runs and beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, in the Sox's last game.

The Sox's last game was a 7-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, in the Sox's last game. The Sox's last game was a 7-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, in the Sox's last game.

Snead, Shute Lead in Open Golf Tourney

PROS SHOOT 69'S IN FIRST ROUND

Dark Horses Worry Bettors With Par-Shattering Performances

OAKLAND HILLS GOLF CLUB, BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 11 (UP)—It was two golfers against the field today as the enemies of par started the second round of the national open championship—two red-hot golfers. One was Sammy Snead, the knock-em-a-mile hill-billy from the hills of West Virginia, and the other, a slender, young man from Boston, named Bert McDowell. The Boston junior, 195, was fired rounds of 69 at their 105 rivals yesterday and today were community leaders. No two more contrasting players than Snead and Shute ever led the open after the first day. Sammy is a slugger, who swings from his heels; Benny has the touch of a surgeon. Snead bludgeons his opponent, be it man or par, with booming woods and irons. Shute kills with the slow poison of his accuracy.

Odds Tumble

Odds on the lumbering West Virginian, who was quoted at 10 to 1 before the meet began, tumbled to 5 to 1 following his blistering three home greens by his first name. Odds on the younger, more contrasting golfer, who was quoted at 15 to 1 to 5 to 1.

Closest behind the two leaders were two campaign-hardened professionals—Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Frank Walsh of Chicago—and three amateurs—Johnny Goodman of Omaha, winner of the 1923 U.S. Amateur, and two amateurs, the laughing Brooklyn lightweight who won the public links in 1925, and Fred Morrison.

Set on Selves

Holt and Strafaci were assured a gallery composed of betting commissions. They will be tempted to dynamite the fairway or sprinkle bulb plague germs in the rough in an effort to stop the brilliant shooting of the boys. Both Strafaci and Holt were so cocky before the tournament that they looked up the commissioners and asked for odds on the chance of their winning. Strafaci gave Strafaci 200 to 1 and a syndicate of five moved by Frank played the odds.

7-11—Lucky Number in Dice, But Unlucky on Golf Course, Says Mac

By HENRY McEMORE

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 11 (UP)—Seven-eleven—right on the first hole. On the 7-11 table, when the fat little dice are bouncing, those are magic numbers and they may mean for baby, much for mama.

But on the golf course—my, oh, my, they are as fatal as the sting of the buck-toothed adder, the sheriff's foot on the sawlows trap.

If you don't believe me ask A. Watrous or a young man named Bert McDowell from Louisiana's Bayou country. They're the two that seven-eleven, the brothers natural, have shattered their hopes in the national open golf championship.

It was Fawcett.

Watrous, the professional at the Oakland Hills club where the open today moved into the second round, was a red-hot favorite this time yesterday. And rightly so, because for seven years he had played the course, and knew its every blade of grass, called every grasshopper between the first tee and the clubhouse by his first name. But he wasn't any favorite today, because he had a 7 yesterday and you know what caused it all? Mister seven—big mister seven—and right on the first hole.

Al, one of the sweetest fellows who ever swung a brassie, just couldn't explain that three-over par monopoly at the first hole.

"Damn!" he moaned in the little room, "I've played that cuss for 4743 times and would have sworn that I could get a par even if blindfolded. You know that trap I caught and was buried in? Never been in it before in my life. What's more, until today I never was in that trap on the tenth hole or that cross bunker on the right side of the eleventh."

Couldn't Stop Laughing

As much as they admire him, as heavily as they had backed him, Al's members and pupils couldn't stop laughing at his misfortune.

"They all came up to me after that first round," Watrous said, "and gave me a hell of a time. They said, 'You've been telling them, when they got into such places that no man, woman or child could get out of, that you were counting on your mentality to count up to four, could possibly hit a shot far enough off line to get into that sort of trouble. But there I stood—in the National Open championship—right up to my eyeballs in that sort of spot. It's a screwy game, pal, a screwy game.'"

Heir Announced In Baer Family

Max Hopes It's a Boy, and That He'll Be a Boxer

LONDON, June 11 (UP)—The Maximilian Adelbert Baers are expecting an addition to their family "within the next few months," and if it is a boy, Maxie hopes he'll be a boxer.

"Oh boy—if it's a boy—than won't I cable Jack Dempsey; he's only got two girls, y'know; Baer said, 'yeah, I hope he'll be a fighter like—' He stopped suddenly and grinned, but did not add "like his daddy."

Mrs. Baer, the former Mary Ellen Sullivan of Ithaca, N. Y., attempted to persuade Maxie to give up the prize ring after the whacking Joe Louis gave him.

South Dakota To Have Network of Reservoirs

Network of Reservoirs BROOKING, S. D.—Irrigation reservoirs, lakes, stockwater dams and flood control dikes will number more than 1,000 in South Dakota when present dams proposed or under construction are added to those completed, according to a state planning board survey.

The dam projects are distributed mainly over the state and range in size from two-acre stockwater ponds in West river counties to a 1,810-acre reservoir at Lake Richmond in Brown county.

Bankers' Wives Feted At Breakfast Event

Concluding entertainment for the visiting wives of delegates to the state bankers' convention in session here yesterday and today was the smartly-appointed breakfast arranged this morning at the Orange Lantern at Kingsbury.

During the breakfast hour a special musical program was arranged and included three piano selections, "Ettermezzo," McDowell; "Intermezzo," Brahms, and a selection from Schumann played by Miss Helen Slack.

Arrangements for the breakfast were under the direction of Mrs. Gilbert White, Mrs. Frank Daley, both of Jerome, and Mrs. Leroy Schmitt, Mrs. W. Wendell Painter and Mrs. F. W. Slack were in charge of the decorations.

Entertainments arranged for both the delegates and their wives was the beautifully-appointed banquet arranged last evening at Radcliff and followed by dancing. Transforming the pavilion were attractive dancing and potted shrubs, and tables were trimmed with red roses and lighted by yellow tapers.

The speakers at the breakfast were Mrs. E. J. W. Slack, Miss Helen Slack, Mrs. M. J. Driscoll, "Four Ducks in a Pond," "Still is the Night" and "Sweet Songs of Long Ago," playing her own accompaniment.

The remainder of the morning was spent at cards and at the conclusion of the affair prizes and door prizes were awarded to the guests.

Committee in Charge
Arrangements for the breakfast were under the direction of Mrs. Gilbert White, Mrs. Frank Daley, both of Jerome, and Mrs. Leroy Schmitt, Mrs. W. Wendell Painter and Mrs. F. W. Slack were in charge of the decorations.

During the social hour refreshments were served. Guests were Mrs. Olive Thomas, Mrs. Barbara La Marr, Mrs. Mabel Normand, Mrs. Rena Adoree, Mrs. Lillian Tashman, Mrs. Thelma Todd.

The death of lovely Jean Harlow at the pinnacle of her popularity was a tragic reminder to moving picture goers of a growing list of screen celebrities whose careers and lives ended before they were 40 years old.

Members of the Thursday Night bridge club were entertained last evening by Mrs. Henry Kay at her home. For the affair the rooms were trimmed with yellow roses and beautified with ferns and other featured summer spots.

At cards prizes went to Mrs. Jack Holland and Miss Norma Stayer and Mrs. Howard Stayer, leaving a traveling award. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A guest was Mrs. Wayne Bachman.

Members of the Catholic Women's league of St. Edward's parish were entertained by Mrs. Mary George Beck and Miss Iza Driskill staged a picnic at the home of Mrs. Carl Weaver. Picnic trip was provided by bouquets of pines.

Members of the Friendly Circle club meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nellie Casey planned to send a basket of fruit to the Children's home during the brief business session. New year books were distributed by Mrs. Elyse Murphy.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially and refreshments were served by Mrs. W. H. Casey, Mrs. Bonnie Pickett and Mrs. A. B. Smith. Guests were Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Henderson.

PHILIPPINES GAIN IN SUGAR TREATY

World Agreement Appears to Aid Islands in Growing Of Cane

By REUEL S. MOORE
LONDON, June 11 (AP)—The new world sugar agreement, which devoted more space to details of the Philippine position than to that of any other country with the exception of the United States, drew several fine points which may have an important effect in future sugar trade between the Philippines and the United States.

The document referred to shipments of Philippine sugar to the American market as supplies in stead of exports, both in the statement of the United States position and in definitions.

As it is framed the United States may fill any increased sugar consumption with shipments from the Philippines if it desires, without going to a foreign market.

Quota Likely to Be Cut
On the other hand, should the Philippine quota for shipment to the United States be reduced, the United States is required to fill the amount of the reduction from the foreign market, while the Philippines obtain a quota in the foreign market equivalent to the quota reduction in the United States. This circumstance leaves little motive for sugar interests in the United States or abroad to seek a reduction in the Philippine quota in the American market.

The highly important point for the Philippines involved in the waiver by signatories of their most favored nation privileges is so far as Philippine sugar is concerned, in anticipation of special trade relations between the Philippines and the United States after independence, was included in the final draft after being rewritten several times and omitted from various tentative drafts.

This point was considered important for the Philippines despite the fact the sugar agreement is for five years and the date of independence under present law is nine years away, because of the possibility that complete independence of the Philippines may be attained.

Independence Not Mentioned
However, no mention of independence was made in the document. This was a technicality which the drafters were insistent upon. As a result, the paragraph was refrained to carry the waiver in event of any future tariff changes affect Philippine-American sugar trade, which was interpreted as having the same meaning.

This particular paragraph was rewritten once more on the eve of the signing of the agreement. The final draft read as follows:

"(c) The Government of the Commonwealth of the Philippines will not claim any quota for export to the free market because of any change which may take place during the period of the present Agreement in the tariff conditions under which Philippine sugar is admitted into the United States, and in return the contracting governments agree not to claim, in virtue of any most-favored-nation rights granted to them by the government of the United States, the benefit of any advantages with respect to sugar which may be accorded or agreed upon with the Philippines by the government of the United States during the period of the present agreement."

Mother and Daughter Event Held by Group

JEROME, June 11 (Special)—The Jerome Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church gave a Mother and Daughter banquet Tuesday evening in the church reception room. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Shaw, of Gooding, who gave an appropriate talk. A trio consisting of Marguerite Freeman, Margaret Lee and Margaret Pyle sang two songs, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," and "When I Grow too Old to Dream."

A humorous reading was given by Margaret Schroeder, entitled, "Katharine's Homecoming." Josie Handy sang two vocals, "Sweetheart," from "Mastino," and "Lio-Lio." Miss Sarah Freeman was the accompanist.

The reception room was beautifully decorated in spring flowers with baskets of peonies and painted daisies filling the room.

Each guest was given a corsage of spring flowers.

ROVING SOLDIER TRIES COLLEGE

Fortune Hunter Leaves Life Of Vagabond to Get Education

KENT, O. (AP)—Howard Ercanbrack, soldier of fortune, has come to rest in the studious confines of Kent State university, but not until after many years of burl.

When he was only 15, Ercanbrack left his father's Texas farm and journeyed to Los Angeles, where he enlisted in the navy. Naval officers soon discovered he was under age and released him from duty with the Asiatic fleet.

Ercanbrack walked across the street from the recruiting station where he had first signed up and joined the army. He was stationed at Fort McDowell for a year before his age again was discovered.

Goes to China
The year 1925 found Ercanbrack in Chungking, a cooling station on the outskirts of northern China, after a stowaway passage on a Swedish tramp steamer. Rumors of big pay for American troops there, led him to enlist in the 81st division of the Chinese army. His first guard duty was a post at a public execution.

"Nausica in no mild term followed my first sight of a beheading," Ercanbrack recalls. Mass executions soon became an everyday sight. He tells of seeing 68 men lined up, instructed to kneel. They were then kicked by a soldier stationed behind them and as each fell forward, the executioner's blade severed their heads.

This youthful rover's first aim had been to pilot an army plane for the Chinese. The winged "boiler factories" quickly changed his mind at first sight.

Caught in Wire
Ercanbrack remained at the guard post for a few months. Then, in a sharp skirmish, he was caught in barbed wire entanglements and a bullet temporarily ended his activity.

Upon his return to the United States, Ercanbrack entered Kent State university.

"I was just driving through from Erie and had never heard of Kent before," he was immediately impressed and decided to enter. Here I am," he said.

Ercanbrack sometimes wishes he were with some of his friends dodging Spanish bullets in the current conflict. It's an exciting life, professional soldiering—with one hitch, he said—governmental paymasters rarely live from one pay day to the next.

BLOOD PRESSURE FOUND AFFECTED BY TWO GLANDS

ST. LOUIS (UP)—High blood pressure is due to a lack of balance between the sympathetic system governing the circulation of the blood and the energy-producing gland, the thyroid gland, according to Dr. George W. Crile, one of the founders of the Cleveland Clinic.

Dr. Crile told the American College of Physicians meeting here that a close relation between the two glands has been established by his research.

He said the relation exists because the glands, in speeding up activity, increase the energy through a substance poured into the blood stream, create a demand for an increased supply of amino acids, and increase the viscosity of the blood stream. Relief from high blood pressure, consequently, may be obtained by reducing the activity of either the glands or the sympathetic system, depending upon which is the offending gland.

Dr. Crile reported that in 84 operations, high blood pressure had been relieved by first reducing activity of the sympathetic system. However, he said further observation of the patients led him to believe that the final judgment on the value of the operations could be made.

PLOW SEEKS TO GUARD MOISTURE

Five-Row Lister Devised to Aid in Keeping Water From Running Away

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—A new type of farm plow, designed to damp up moisture and preserve it against summer drought in the north-west, has been devised. The machine is known as a five-row damming lister.

Development of equipment to meet the requirements of the parched plains centers largely about the plow and tractor of C. T. Peacock of Arriba, Colo., an alert, progressive wheat farmer whose outstanding success in farming the semi-arid region has brought him widespread recognition.

He explained that during the last seven or eight years he has used equipment of his own design and construction and has been successful in producing wheat (winter wheat) crops in the drier years when the farming operations of other farmers in the same area, using ordinary farming practices, resulted in total failure.

The method of summer fallow, as controlled summer-fallow, in that it is summer-fallow with several definite, well-planned objects in mind.

"Finally," he said, "plays an important part. The proper method of tillage, the control and uniform distribution of moisture, control of wind erosion, and the eradication of moisture-stealing weeds are all highly important."

"Finally," he said, "plays an important part. The proper method of tillage, the control and uniform distribution of moisture, control of wind erosion, and the eradication of moisture-stealing weeds are all highly important."

Peacock began working his fallow fields just at early spring, throwing up dams to retain early spring moisture, reworking his fields only when necessary to destroy weed and volunteer growth.

Narrow Trenches Plowed The new damming lister is equipped with a series of five shovels, or chisels, which open up narrow trenches from 6 to 10 or 12 inches deep spaced 20 inches apart.

These trenches place the sub-soil in ideal condition to take in the moisture rapidly prevent runoff. The moisture is absorbed in the deeper subsoil.

Each of the five damming attachments is mounted on the lister and secured at the rear of the lister and is made up of three blades, the middle blade being a revolving spider. These blades follow the trenches made by the shovels, heaping up the soil to form a mound or dam as the lister moves forward.

When the dam reaches the height determined by previous setting, the float trips tripping the spider, which revolves to put the next pair of blades to work on a mound of dirt as the lister moves forward.

In this manner, a dam is placed across the furrow to pocket the moisture from the rains, preventing runoff at the surface.

BOSTON (UP)—The American Institute of Architects at its 50th convention will be asked to consider a national code of practice for architects and to hold in the construction industry and have impeded the housing program.

Millions of dollars in construction are being held up in many communities, because of high building costs according to the Institute's housing committee.

"Bond issues are being voted down all over the country because of the revolt of taxpayers against the cost of construction as well as against taxes in general," the committee said in a statement.

The committee believed high costs resulted from the accumulation of practices which might be investigated in order that a large number of the cost of construction as well as against taxes in general," the committee said in a statement.

Three remedies have been suggested for the committee:

1. Increase the income of the American people to a point where they can pay the rents resulting from the present cost of building.

2. Reduce the cost of holding to the point where the ability to pay would meet the large number people to secure satisfactory living accommodations.

Partly because of the war, the committee rejected the third remedy on grounds it would "merely subsidize the present evil which should be eliminated" and would "prevent the development by industry of new methods."

Canada Lowers Wheat Acreage

Farmers in Provinces Will Plant 500,000 Acres Less This Year

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—Canadian farmers will plant nearly 600,000 acres less wheat this year than in 1936, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, government statistical agency, estimates.

The bureau, basing its estimate on reports received from correspondents all over the country, places the 1937 wheat acreage at 24,367,800 acres, compared with 24,772,000 in 1936. This year's figure is 1,278,300 acres lower than the peak year of 1932, when 26,640,100 acres were planted.

Of this year's total acreage of 24,367,800 acres will be in the provinces of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba. Last year 26,640,100 acres were devoted to wheat in the prairie.

The bureau also forecast reduction in acreage to be planted with oats, flaxseed and mixed grains. Potatoes, barley and rye acreages will be higher.

Crashing Nazi Shells Redden Spain's War Flame

Today's Picture Story

When the Nazi armada poured more than 300 shells into Almeria in retribution for the Deutschland attack, the tranquil streets of the seaport town, above, were littered with ruins. With only slight warning, the 48,000 inhabitants, many of them refugees from other war sectors, fled to the hills back of the city. Twenty persons were killed, 150 wounded. Not a house escaped the bombardment.

Meanwhile, at Southampton, England, this Spanish ship, the Habana, pulled in to the dock literally overflowing with 4000 Spanish children refugees from Bilbao, where Basque armies were besieged by rebels. The children, crowding decks to the rails to see their place of refuge, were disembarked, given medical examinations, placed in a camp outside Southampton for the duration of the war.

The long-feared "incident" involving a foreign power openly in Spain's civil war, broke startlingly in the western Mediterranean, as shown on the above map. Spanish government planes bombed the Nazi battleship Deutschland at Iztua, killing 23. Germany then sent five battleships to shell the seaport, Almeria.

VACATION CAMP DETAILS MAPPED

Women of Eight Counties in This Area Will Attend At Easley

Women of eight south central Idaho counties will troop to Easley hot springs Aug. 10 to 12 for the first vacation camp under university extension division auspices in this area since 1927, according to plans formulated here today by Miss Marion Hepworth, state home demonstration leader.

The vacation camp, one of six being held in the state this summer, will be located at the Baptist camp site, Miss Hepworth announced. Last year's five camps drew an attendance of more than 5,000, although none was held in the southern sector.

Open to All Women

Results of the enrollment for the Aug. 10-12 season will come from women enrolled in home project work under Miss Margaret Hill, district home demonstration leader. But women not in the projects are also eligible to attend, and scores of residents of Twin Falls and other urban centers are expected to join the rural women.

Men may also attend, Miss Hepworth announced. "Most of the men," she said, "go fishing during the day or gather fire wood to bring home, and then attend the night sessions on the camp program."

Vacation camp programs, she said, will be educational, recreational and inspirational. Educational topics will include attractive home interiors, planting of home grounds, influence of music in the home, wild flowers of Idaho and some phases of consumer education from the standpoint of dealer, producer and housewife.

University Speakers

Speakers from the University of Idaho and from outside the state are to be featured on the program. The camp at Easley will be open to women from Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka, Blaine, Jerome and Lincoln counties—all in this district—and Gooding and Camas counties.

HAGERMAN

Mrs. Ella Menchaca has moved to Burley to make her home. Elmer Hill has received word of the death on Monday of his son, who was drowned in a river near Ashton.

Billy Terry, LaGrande, Ore., is visiting at the H. Jensen home. Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Parnsworth and family, Tulsa, Okla., are visiting relatives in Hagerman, Gooding and Wendell.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. McCreynolds left Sunday for a two week vacation which they will spend at Rock-A-Way, Ore. During their absence Mr. and Mrs. Nick High will be in charge of their drug store here.

Mrs. Maude Stokes and daughter, Mrs. James Loris of Sidney, Neb., and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolfe of Fairfield, returned recently to Lewiston, where they visited at the home of Mrs. Stokes daughter, Mrs. Oils Jones.

Community Chest Planning Meeting

Election of Officers Feature Of June 28 Session Here

Plans were being made this afternoon for the annual meeting of the Twin Falls Community Chest which will be held at the high school building Wednesday, June 23, at 8 p. m.

The principal feature of the meeting will be selection of officers to serve for a period of one year. Present contributors point out that every chest contributor is eligible to vote for his choice and it is urged to be present at the meeting. Annual reports of participating units will also be presented.

The chest campaign for funds will get underway in the fall. It is placed in an adjoining district but scheduled to attend the slawtooth session.

Women expecting to attend the vacation camp should apply in advance to Miss Hill at the county agent's office, Miss Hepworth said. The last previous event of the kind in this territory, in 1927, was held at Owyer hot springs.

BOGGS TO FACE DEATH SENTENCE

Man Who Murdered Wife By Mistake Will Get Sanity Test First

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., June 11 (UP)—Major Allen D. Boggs faced a sentence of death today for murdering his wife, whom he thought was entertaining a man in her bedroom. It was his step-son, Danny, 12, who fled from the room when the red-tarred army officer approached.

Boggs will be given a sanity trial, started Monday. If he is sane he must die in California's lethal gas chamber. A jury of 11 men and a woman found him guilty of first degree murder last night and failed to recommend mercy.

In his defense, Boggs testified that he was not invited to the Harris home. He became jealous and suspicious, he said, and forced his wife into the house. He found his wife asleep in one of twin beds. The other was rumpled, having been abandoned hastily. Danny had run into the bathroom, leaving the bed unoccupied.

Boggs said there was a struggle over his gun and it was discharged accidentally, wounding Mrs. Boggs. He said he did not remember firing two more shots at his wife.

DECLO

The Declo primary association presented the opera "The Maid and the Golden Slipper," Tuesday at the stake tabernacle in Burley.

Burdell Curtis was operated on Saturday at the Cottage hospital for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hogg are the parents of a girl born Wednesday at the Cottage hospital. Mrs. Hogg was formerly Miss Della Parke.

Mr. and Mrs. Hali Schmidt, and Mrs. Solomon Hansen have left for Moscow to attend the graduation exercises. Janis Hanson, son of Mrs. Hanson, was one of the graduates, and will return to Declo for the summer.

A wedding reception was held at the L. D. S. church Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brower, whose marriage took place at the L. D. S. Temple at Salt Lake City last week. Mrs. Brower was formerly Miss Eva Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Noyes. She graduated from the Declo high school, in the class of 1935. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brower of Heyburn. One hundred guests were present. The young couple will make their home at Heyburn where the groom is employed.

PEACE STRESSED AT L. D. S. MEET

All-Day Session of Group Hears Quotations From National Figures

At an all-day meeting on "work and business" Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. O. Larson on Ninth avenue east, Mrs. L. A. Hansen and Mrs. N. W. Arrington spoke on peace topics as part of the Relief Society program for June, and Mrs. Virginia Kirkman had charge of a lesson on "bookbinding."

Mrs. Arrington read quotations from Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted New York minister, who gave five points on peace. She urged every mother to talk of peace ideas in the home and to her children as part of the training they should have in behalf of peace and against war.

Mrs. Hansen read from a paper by Florence Brewer Boeckel, education director for the National Council for Prevention of War, on the subject, "Children and the World Today." It said there is no reason for prejudice among nations, but due to such influences as international trade, transportation improvements, social and educational relationships every nation will become our backyard neighbors.
