MARTIAL LAW DECLARED IN JOHNSTOWN

Spanish Insurgents Capture Basque Capital

Bilbao Falls as Rebels Enter Big City from Two Directions

Celebrations Planned After One of Most Important Victories of Campaign

By HARRISON LAROCHE
BIARRITZ, France, June 19 (UP)—The Spanish insurgents, after months of ferocious siege in one of history's most cruel civil wars, finally entered the Basque capital of Bilbao today.

The troops invaded the city from two directions. The first columns descended the mountains from the region, northeast of Bilbao, and the second along the Nervion river from Daldanaco, the southeast.

Both columns converged on the old quarter of the city along the right bank of the Nervion. The entry was proclaimed throughout the land by nationalist radio stations.

Duration announced that all Basque forts at Begona and other heights around the old quarter had been silenced. Five bridges were reported to have been mined, including the main Isabelle bridge between the old and new quarters.

The broadcast said the new quarter was filled with street barricades and that thus far no nationalists had entered the new quarter.

From where Packard stood, only a mile from the city, the place appeared deserted, he said, but hundreds of tanks and armored cars were lined up at all strategic points in anticipation of bloody street fighting.

It was announced that the nationalists had completed the occupation of San Bernabe hill, giving them possession of all the heights on the right side of the Nervion river.

The commandant of the nationalist troops at Begona, said that preparations were under way for joyous celebrations in Behobia and Irún, including military reviews and the ringing of church bells.

GUNMEN SOUGHT FOR SHOOTINGS

Desperados Kill Deputy in Nebraska; Hurt Constable Writes Down Notes

OMAHA, June 16 (UP)—A grizzly constable who lay wounded in a prairie for 24 hours near the body of his slain companion, asked authorities today in their search for two gunmen because he was able to scrawl a few notes in his notebook.

The constable, William Watson, Albion, Neb., was in a critical condition at Omaha hospital. Sheriff Lawrence I. Shroyer of Boone county was killed in a battle with the gunmen.

Shroyer and Watson encountered the desperadoes near Lorenzo, Neb., apparently near the town of Watson. The desperadoes dragged Shroyer across the prairie to his car and got his notebook.

First he wrote down the license number of the slayers' car—Colorado 7-4077.

They then killed: "Two men shot sheriff and me. They shot me first. I fired three shots after down, Gladys William."

"About now... Am still alive, unable to move."

"Lawrence never knew what hit him. They took out my gun when they left. I believe I hit one of them in the arm."

Father's Day Comes Sunday As Children Join in Tribute

By NEA Service
Father can claim his first dues, Sunday, practically assured that the day first set aside for him 27 years ago is here in stay.

Public indifference has been wretched, the adora resistance of a nation's borders down, 390 miles, once it showed, has caught on and Father's day now joins the parade of U. S. holidays, it appears for all time.

Spokane, Wash., a quiet-voiced little woman is proud of that. She is Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, honorary president of the international Father's day association, Inc. Her thought Mrs. Dodd had her happy thought, first back in 1910, fathers wasn't even officially recognized by the masses, to say nothing of an association in his behalf.

First observance of Father's Day in America, Mrs. Dodd conceived the idea as a tribute to her own father, William Jackson Smart, veteran of the U. S. A. It has since spread to other cities, groups of six, eight, and so, when his task was done and Mrs. Dodd looked back on the day which she had chosen to honor him privately.

From that inspiration the idea grew. At first it was a local celebration, but it soon became a national one. The subject of Father, however, the day in question, their other day followed. That was through the years of 1911-12. The U. S. M. O. A. in several chapters, headed the plan. Mrs. Dodd was gratified. Came plans for launching the day on a nationwide basis. A law was actually passed.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa. for instance, Father's day club was organized, choosing the date as the proper symbol. This was because "the date which always springs up bright and fresh again when it is stepped on."

Other clubs set the tone as a symbol, red red if the father were still living and white, if dead. So the movement grew.

This year the observance is dedicated to a child that fathers of the country. A cold that father will be getting may of Spokane or the day, home of the founder, Mrs. Dodd will participate in the program.

In 20 years later, the attitude of a daughter to her G. A. A. father who reared his motherless family alone and his own, and for one day, at least, father comes into his own.

Governor Orders Troops to Steel Strike Vicinity

Bethlehem Head Refuses To Close Down Factory

PORT BUILDING CONSIDERED AT PLANNING MEET

Air Traffic of Future Should Be Included in Program, Say Experts

Johnstown, Pa., June 19 (UP)—Martial law was declared today in this industrial city of 70,000 people after President Eugene G. Grace of Bethlehem Steel corporation refused a request by Gov. George H. Earle to close the corporation's Cambria plant, scene of a strike, called by the steel workers organizing committee.

Seven hundred state policemen and highway patrolmen were ordered to close operations at the plant, estimated at approximately 70 per cent despite the week-old strike. The governor acted on the plea of Sheriff Michael Boyle that local authorities would be unable to cope with the situation, made more serious by an invasion of 40,000 coal miners who are expected to join steel workers in protesting the company's refusal to sign a union contract.

JAMES BARRIE IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Famed Author Dies at Age of 77; Wrote "The Little Minister," Others

LONDON, June 19 (UP)—Sir James Matthew Barrie, creator of Peter Pan and other characters who won the hearts of the world died of bronchial pneumonia in a nursing home today at the age of 77.

The famous author and dramatist, who "saw life through the eyes of a child," lived almost as a recluse in his declining years. Although he retired from the public scene, his memory was still green in the minds of the generation which laughed and cried over Peter Pan, "The Little Minister," "What Every Woman Knows," "Dear Brutus," and other tender, understanding portrayals.

Members of the family, those at the bedside in Barrie's dying moments were Peter and Susan, his two daughters, whom Barrie adopted after Peter Pan, as a child inspired him to write "Peter Pan."

MIDGET AUTOS TO RACE TOMORROW

Entries From Nampa, Twin Falls, Rupert and Idaho Falls to Compete

The question of whether the Twin Falls county fair will see horse racing in the midget auto races this fall will be settled definitively tomorrow as the midget auto races will be held for the first time for another series of contests that is expected to attract a large crowd. The first race is scheduled to start at 2:30.

Headlining the card tomorrow will be drivers from Idaho Falls, Rupert, Nampa and Twin Falls.

Expected to give the local artists their stiffest competition is "Speed" Buchanan, Idaho Falls entrant, who holds the state record for the midget cars with a half-mile in 26 seconds. Entrants from Twin Falls will be Ray Schwartz, leading money winner of the year, Claude Jones, Johnny Snow, Russ Wells and Kenneth Self. From Rupert will come Mike and Al Williams, who will be Herschel Beall. Beall came here at the last contest, but failed to make a good showing due to car trouble.

The races are sponsored by the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the racing of the local midget automobile association.

Probably that the midget racing is becoming increasingly popular is attested by the fact that plans are now in progress for the opening of a track at Salt Lake City. If such a track were opened, it is probable that local drivers would compete in the races.

Under the condition of the fairgrounds race track is reported as "considerably better" than at any other race track in the state, according to William Reed, Junior Chamber midget auto committee man.

Famed Trainer Picks Louis to Score Win Over Jim Braddock

By HENRY McLEMORE
CHICAGO, June 19 (UP)—The big fellow with the bald head took a long pull on his beer, lit the end of a two-bit cigar, and said:

"If a pair of fists were all there was to boxing—hell, this Louis would beat Braddock out in three heats. A couple of fists and that's the end of it. Braddock is a fighter under his belt for two years, is much faster."

Monahan will be on Louis, however. He thinks he is in much better shape and is too rugged to be hurt by Braddock's cuffs has ever produced. For forty years he has been showing champions out into the back of the pit, and what he doesn't know about the many art can be engraved on the head of a pin in case you don't know the Lord's prayer.

He's a fair hand in the ring, Portland, Ore., yesterday. He worked as a sparring partner with both Dempsey and Tunney before their first fight in Philadelphia, and he has never pulled out a bit since James Joyce would win.

Tunney hurt me a lot more than Jack," he explains. "He didn't hit as hard, but every punch he landed was in a good place. I got pulled out from the right hands that Gene whacked under my heart."

Walter takes Louis as the finest workman with two fists that he ever laid eyes on. Says he hits harder, hits faster, and bucks more deftly than any man since Jim Figg.

"But damn it," Walter will tell you, "there's more to fighting than throwing fists and that's all Louis can do. Upstairs—in the noggin—his a blank."

"He can't think. As long as everything runs along smoothly, follow the pattern laid down by his corner, he is as great a fighter as ever pulled out a bit. But let something happen to upset the pattern—a punch too close, today he'll pull out a bit. But let something happen to upset the pattern—a punch too close, today he'll pull out a bit. But let something happen to upset the pattern—a punch too close, today he'll pull out a bit."

Walter also finds Jack's four-work a bit on the weak side. "The colored boy is very shrewd. Powerless alone. Why, I don't know. He has a great pair of legs, is young, and strong as a tiger. But he moves around that fast as if he was anybody you ever saw. Willard—and I know, because I trained him—was fast, even faster, Braddock, at the age of 32 and without a fight under his belt for two years, is much faster."

Monahan will be on Louis, however. He thinks he is in much better shape and is too rugged to be hurt by Braddock's cuffs has ever produced. For forty years he has been showing champions out into the back of the pit, and what he doesn't know about the many art can be engraved on the head of a pin in case you don't know the Lord's prayer.

Talk of Scandals Absent as Day of Title Battle Nears

Champion Braddock and Challenger Louis Rest for Day; Work Out Tomorrow

By HENRY McLEMORE
CHICAGO, June 19 (UP)—With the world's heavyweight championship fight only a few days away, the experts are frankly baffled. They are borrowing the words of the late, great Tex Rickard, muttering, "I never seed nothing like it." And the chances are they never did.

Here we are on what might be called the very eve of the meeting between Joe Louis and Jim Braddock and there hasn't been a single scandal. Nobody has called anybody any names. There have been no slip-up rumors. There have been no tales of kidnaping, shootings, rescues in the lake, secret training tactics, poisoning, gangster influence or what is some called, "a factious vein, of course, 'the fix'."

In other words this is, to all outward appearances, going to be an up-to-the-light between Louis and Braddock for the world's heavyweight championship.

No one seems to find the situation in the least disturbing except the experts, 500 strong and gathered to Chicago's Hippodrome.

One report has it that Conslary party, where the fight will be held, has been sold out for days. The official estimate a week ago placed the attendance at 80,000, but today the figure was still 80,000. Yet another report has it that there are plenty of choice seats available.

Both warriors best a few facts, however, have been attended. Both warriors rested today, but the fight will be held for the coming encounter. The champion—Braddock—played what he calls golf, but which one of his sporting partners calls "disting." Louis was even more relaxed with the fight only three days off. He spent most of his waking hours, which constitute about 100 per cent of the day, playing the mouth organ. They will both work out tomorrow.

Both have dedicated Monday to thinking. On Tuesday the champion and the challenger will weigh in at high noon and fight, if all goes according to schedule, that evening. The only sure thing about this fight is that it will set some sort of all-time record for betting. There doesn't seem to be a Braddock dim in sight, even at 24 to 1.

EXPERTS COMPILE MORE DATA ON EVASION OF TAXES

INSURANCE FIRMS SCANNED BY U.S. TREASURY HEADS

At Least Five American to Be Named at Tuesday's Committee Meeting

By EDWARD W. LEWIS
WASHINGTON, June 10 (U.P.)—Treasury experts today compiled data on organization of foreign insurance companies by American citizens which the secretary of the Treasury Roswell Magill termed the second of eight "devices" used to avoid taxes.

Study Means
Congressional tax experts studied means of legislating against the treasury-termed "device" of foreign corporate set-ups by American individuals for the purpose of reducing income tax payments. They placed the "device" as the first in their eight-point list.

Seven Already Listed
The names of seven persons were drawn into that study of the investigation yesterday by treasury officials. They were: Charles Laughlin, movie star; Philip de Tombe, Paraguayan consul in New York City; J. S. Bache, New York banker; Wallace Groves, New York chain store operator and financier; Percy K. Hudson, a former member of the New York stock exchange; Jacob Henck, retired U. S. army officer and inventor of the "dry shaver" razor; and George Westinghouse, millionaire of New Brunswick and the Zakamie Islands.

Russell Bros. Circus Comes To Twin Falls on June 28th

Twin Falls and south central Idaho will see a circus that is entirely new to this territory. Although popular in the east, middle west and south, when the Russell Bros. circus gives two performances here Monday, June 28.

Agents for the show had completed arrangements today for its appearance at grounds located on Blue Lakes boulevard south of Kimberly road.

The present tour is the first in the west for the Russell Bros. circus, which is termed a fast-moving, snappy troupe boasting big-time acts. Enthusiastic newspaper reviews from cities where the circus has already appeared this season attest to its high quality and its constant reputation for presenting a performance of unusual merit at prices that are amazingly low.

Russell Bros. will bring a notable array of circus talent. The roster includes such arena champions as the internationally renowned Fire Fearless Flyers; the celebrated Rebers troupe of French Equilibrists; Walter Jensen's remarkable trained seal-lion exhibition; Miss Aerialista, hailed as foremost of all feminine aerial gymnasts; the Six Zealanders; Frank B. Miller's nationally famed dancing horses; Irene Ledgett's performing elephants; and scores of other animal and human acts. There are, of course, clowns galore, and as is always the case with circuses of major proportions, there is a complete menagerie for which no additional charge is made.

Two performances will be given at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. The doors opening one hour earlier.

Rattles Without Rattles? Perhaps It's New Variety

FAIRFIELD, June 10 (Special)—You're seeing snakes these days and find one that doesn't rattle, leave a rock on it first and investigate afterward.

For it may be a rattler without any rattles.

That's what three fishermen of this area are telling friends after a recent trip to Magio dam. And bulletins from the University of Idaho say that's what to back them up, because the bulletins find evidence pointing to interbreeding between rattlesnakes and bull snakes.

Looked Like Rattler
The fishermen, according to the story, spotted a large, coiled snake on the road. Its description was exactly that of a rattlesnake—except that it had no rattles. Then they found a bona fide rattler in the sagebrush, tossed the two reptiles together, and found no signs of enmity between them.

The non-rattler variety was uglier than the rattler in striking back at his human enemies. If development of a poisonous breed minus rattles is actually taking place—and you can bet either way you wish—the new type would be far more dangerous since no rattles would warn prospective victims. Local residents say there is plenty of room for believing this may be the case, since the only three kinds of reptiles native to the Camas section are the rattler, bull snake and common water snake.

No Proof Yet
No actual scientific proof, however, is yet on hand.

The number of snakes observed in the Camas prairie area this year, incidentally, is unusually high. Scores are seen along roads and hundreds more are seen in the sagebrush. One thick-bodied reptile with blunt tail, killed near Fairfield, attracted considerable discussion.

SEARCHERS QUIT HUNT FOR BODIES

Officials in Charge of Crew Looking for WAE Victims Abandon Work

ALPINE, Utah, June 10 (U.P.)—The search for the bodies of seven victims of an air crash last December on snow-covered Lake Hartsy Peak has been abandoned until the great snowdrifts melt.

Western Air Express officials said today that it would be impossible to continue the search until they could dig through the drifts that are now 20 to 30 feet deep.

They had hoped to find the bodies in the fuselage of their plane which was wedged in the face of a 1,000-foot cliff. They found only a woman's hat and a bag that belonged to the plane's stewardess.

"There is no telling where the bodies are," said Allan Barrie, vice president of the air line who is directing the search.

He said that government inspectors and air line officials would meet Monday to decide the future conduct of the search.

Eight men, Friday, uncovered almost the entire left wing of the plane and cleared the cabin of snow but no bodies were found. The bottom of the cabin was missing although the sides were intact. Searchers were of the opinion that the victims were buried in the snowdrift at the base of the peak.

The shovel crew gave up the search

Celebrities Gather for Funeral Of Famed Hollywood Gag Creator

HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (U.P.)—Screen and radio celebrities who knew him as "the funniest man in Hollywood" gathered today at funeral services for Al Bosberg, droll "gag man" for Jack Benny and the Marx brothers.

Bosberg, who died of a heart attack yesterday at 45 years of age, said he tried to train a termite to keep his pencils sharp.

At a theater the night before he died he quipped to friends: "I got so excited over a detective story that I came here to get some sleep."

Hired Help
One story Al liked to tell was that his father wanted him to be a jeweler and got him a job in a small shop.

"I was lonesome," he said, "and the boss said I could hire a helper early in the day due to the hazardous conditions. Warmer weather brought slides down the canyon on all sides of the workers. All the men agreed that it was too hazardous to continue digging in the area."

GRANGE TO MEET
Mountain Rock Grange will meet Tuesday evening in the basement of the Golden Rule church. Roll call is to be answered by members with something about their native states. For the program a motion picture will be shown by Miss Belleville.

I hired 200 guys and we all got fired." Gazing at the autos whizzing across Hollywood boulevard at Vine street, he mused: "A pedestrian got across there safely last week. Right away the drivers demanded a re-match."

Bosberg quarreled with an actor to whom he had loaned money and a wardrobe. The actor threatened to kick him.

"With my shoes?" demanded Bosberg.

Sold Jokes for $5
Back in Buffalo, N. Y., where he was born, the writer sold gags to vaudeville actors.

"For $5 each," he said. "They didn't have that money-under-false-pretenses law then."

BOISE, Idaho, June 10 (U.P.)—Governor Barzilla Clark added another "first" to his list of achievements while in office—the rodeo on a ferris wheel for the first time in his 37 years. He said he would never do it again. When he came down, he gave youngsters $4 in dimes for rides on a merry-go-round.

Doubts on Advertising Legality Are Cleared
BOISE, Idaho, June 10 (U.P.)—Attorney-General J. W. Taylor's doubts as to constitutionality of the state fruit and vegetable advertising acts today were said to have been dissolved by explanation. Guy Graham, commissioner of agriculture, said he had cleared objections to the act, and that the committee would proceed to spend $125,000 per year on a publicity campaign.

It has been estimated that there are approximately 6,502,280 farmsteads in the United States.

Wages of Butte Miners Slashed

BUTTE, Mont., June 10 (U.P.)—Eleven thousand employees of the Anaconda Copper Mining company in Butte, Great Falls and Anaconda will have their wages reduced from $6 to $5.75 a day effective tomorrow, it was announced today.
