AUTO SEEN HERE NOT KIDNAP CAR

Youths Who Bought Gas Here Early Tuesday En Route To Emmett to Visit

County, city and state police this afternoon were still keeping a "sharp lookout" for a car answering the description of the one supposedly owned by "Eddie the Sailor" suspected of the brutal slaying of three Ingewood, Calif. girls, although a car sighted by local police early yesterday morning proved to be the wrong machine.
The car was seen by Night Officers H. W. Zimmerman and Lee McCracken shortly after 10 p. m. Tuesday. It was observed as the three youths riding in it stopped to purchase gas here and also inquired the way to Boise. Later they stopped under a street lamp to study a map they had secured from a local service station.

Two hours later a description of the car wanted was received by local officers and it was found the car they had spotted answered that description "exactly."
A widespread search for the three in the car ended when it was discovered three youths were stopped at Emmett by the Gem county sheriff, B. G. Riggs, who found they were from California and had driven to Emmett to visit their grandmother.
No arrests were made and the boys were allowed to continue their trip.
Police now have a description of the mysterious "Eddie" who is wanted for slaying the three girls. A watch for him should be made this way.

Ingelwood Fears Slayer Of Girls, Lurks in City

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 30 (UP)—Police today guarded 14-year-old Olive Everett, sister of one of three little girls ravished and slain, after a man appeared at her home Sunday and tried to force her to Centuria park.
By ALAN McELWAIN
INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 30 (UP)—This Los Angeles suburb was roused to a frenzy today for fear that a fiend who ravished and strangled three little girls was still lurking nearby.
The greatest man-hunt since the kidnaping of Marlon Brando 10 years ago exploded here through southern California, and here, near the scene of the atrocity, police went from house-to-house looking for suspects.
Dozens had been taken for questioning. They included men who were known as animal offenders; men named "Eddie," men who had been sailors and men who owned interest in land.
Fall to Match
They were dismissed when their fingerprints failed to match those on the bodies of Madeline Everett, 7; her sister, Melba, 9; and Jeanette Stephens, 8.
The three girls were taken from a playground Saturday by a man known as "Eddie," and taken into the Baldwin hills to be abused and murdered.

CLARK MAY GET SOLE HANDLING IN MURDER CASE

Van Vliet Had to Advertise For Pardon From Board, Rules State

BOISE, Idaho, June 30 (UP)—Parole board rules indicated today that should a majority of the board so desire, question of the execution of Douglas Van Vliet July 27 can be given entirely into the hands of Governor Barzilla Clark.
The governor has expressed the opinion that it would "do no good" to hang Van Vliet.
Section five constitutional provisions of parole board rules, reads as follows:
"No fine or forfeiture may be required, and no commutation or pardon granted unless notice of the time and place of hearing shall have been given, and the hearing shall be open to the public and the press."
Clark has not advertised as yet for a hearing on the matter. Therefore, should a majority of the parole board wish, his case need not be considered.
It would then be incumbent upon Governor Clark to either grant a reprieve until next parole board meeting on October 4, or "mark the sentence of death to be carried out," reads the law.
The parole board meets here July 7.
It was pointed out that in cases where the death penalty is involved, the parole board usually values consideration according to rules of the board.
Comments indicated that in the case of Van Vliet, doubt existed as to whether the board would waive rules, or abide by them.

And the Controversy Goes Merrily Ahead!

Editor, Idaho Evening Times: Because I have been interested in Idaho's early history, I have also tried to look up from the source I had on hand to find out for my own satisfaction whether a massacre really occurred at the Massacre rocks or not. I have found in Byron Detenbach's "Idaho—the Place and Its People, a History of the Gem State from Prehistoric to Present Days"—page 408, that "the story of the Owyhee massacre in 1860, the greatest tragedy of its kind in our history," checks with Mr. Johnston's account of the massacre at Almo creek.

Attacked by Indians. On page 249: "Early in August 1860, a train of emigrants on the Oregon trail, under the leadership of a man named O'Connell, consisting of 44 persons, went into camp about 20 miles below Salmon falls on Snake river. While thus encamped they were attacked by a superior body of Snake Indians, whose first move was to cup the emigrants over the river—the escaping survivors scattered along the banks of the river, and some of them finally reaching the Umatilla agency, from which point the affair was reported to W. L. Walla. The relief party found the main body of emigrants on the Owyhee river, in deplorable circumstances. They had lived as long as they could in the rocky defile below American Falls, known, because of the incident which occurred there, as Massacre rocks.

Continuing from page 408: "The last attack which resulted in the most utter annihilation of a whole train of emigrants was that which took place in the rocky defile below American Falls, known, because of the incident which occurred there, as Massacre rocks.

"In 1875, a sister of Samuel Cottrell, then residing at American Falls, found a bottle embedded in the sandy bank of Snake river at the mouth of Fall creek, which contained a note reading as follows: "We are surrounded by Indians. Send help at once or we will all be murdered."

NIGHT CABLES TO HAVANA REDUCED

Reduction in minimum cost of night letters between United States and Havana, Cuba, was announced today by the Western Union to become effective Aug. 1. Minimum number of words charged for will be dropped from 25 to 15 and as a result the minimum cost of a cable letter to Havana from points west of the Mississippi river will be 60 cents instead of $1. Words in excess of 25 will be two and three cents respectively.

"This is the third substantial reduction on cable night letter rates to Havana that the Western Union has made since March 1, 1936," T. J. Foster, local manager said.

Dale Burkhalter Swims Out to Rescue Man But Lifeguard Boat Finally Arrives

By PAUL LEIGHTON (Evening Times Special Correspondent) PHILADELPHIA, June 30 (AP)—Route to Washington With the Jim-bree Troop)—About 1:30 last night the train was jolted very heavily as the engine hooked onto our car. He had bought his ticket and was waiting for us to show up, saying, or rather thinking, that we would have to get back the best way we could as long as he couldn't find us.

Back in Philadelphia, and at supper, the waiter thought that Dick Lawrence was about 12 years old because of the way he acted.

And poor Bob Zeller, we had to leave him in a New York hospital with the mumps. We guess that he will be well soon and will be able to attend the Jam-bree a little later. At least we hope so. We tried to sneak him through but didn't; ask it—although we did part of the way.

Bob Borne lost his pocketbook with $9 in it and Warren Barry did the same but I found it for him. Some luck, I'll say.

Dr. Davis, Amby Frederick and Walt Williams went to New York yesterday on a life Scout business. Ray Foster says that it suddenly rained tomorrow because his pet corn is hurting him. Maybe so—but we hope not.

And now for Washington.

Disguised Policemen

There is nothing startling in a picture of a motorcycle officer standing beside a motorist's car writing out a traffic violation ticket. But put that policeman in a straw hat, a turtle-neck sweater, and a pair of overalls, and you have a situation loaded with dynamite.

Atlanta is trying out the plan of having traffic policemen discard uniforms for civilian clothing the better to apprehend wayward motorists. So far, it is reported, the plan is a success.

Anything that stems traffic violations and reduces the chance for accidents has some big points in its favor

But this plan, unfortunately, runs counter to the American idea for fair play, "even breaks," and hatred of any form of spying. It is a national habit to crack down on snoopers and meddlers, even unto lurking guardians of the law. For this reason alone, it will be interesting to see how long Atlanta's experiment will last.

Senator Pope of Idaho has introduced a bill setting up a division of aviation education in the federal office of education

Incidentally the bill authorizes annual appropriations of $25,000. All of which demonstrates that there is no limit to the ways in which you can spend the taxpayer's money.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON
By Rodney Dutocher
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 30

The evidence is purely circumstantial, but you can build up a pretty good case to support the conclusion that O. Green is behind the independent steel companies' fight.

TESTS BY STRENGTH

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor has invited a test to determine how much interest in one program are in-process in these days when John Lewis is arrogating most of the abuse, praise and other publicity.

Big Steel Escapes

"Big Steel" signed a collective bargaining agreement with the C. I. O. last at the insistence of Lewis and his chairman, Myron Taylor. So "Big Steel" isn't having any strike and is producing—and profiting—full blast.

INDEPENDENTS HIT

Taylor, in his position, obviously appreciated the large difference between having the U. S. Steel plants shut in this big production year and having the independent plants tied up. There are various types of steel corporations that they run up against a strike of the kind waged by Mr. Lewis.

SNAKES FOR TIBBITS

And perhaps you didn't know that the department of justice captures criminals and the criminal's nature rattlesnakes and other or later the meat of those rattlesnakes shows up on certain tables.

TONNAGE

There were many considerations, but one in Taylor's mind was the fact that independent companies have been taking contracts from U. S. Steel in recent years.

PUBLISHERS HIT EDITORIAL GUILD

Group at Meeting Opposed to Closed Shop For Employes

CHICAGO, June 30 (UP)—American newspaper publishers are on record today as unilaterally opposed to the closed shop or any other form of closed shop for those who prepare and edit news and pictures for newspapers.

A resolution to that effect was adopted unanimously last night at a convention of newspaper publishers from all parts of the United States. The publishers declared their determination not to enter into any agreement with editorial employes upon a closed shop basis.

"We demand confidence in the fairness of its news presentation if it selects all its employes from only one political party, one religious denomination, or any one group devoted to a single cause," the resolution said.

After referring to the attitude assumed by the American Newspaper Guild at its St. Louis convention on issues such as the war in Spain, and the court bill, the resolution said that the publishers united in "unswerving objection to the closed shop for news and editorial department workers—not because we regard it as a labor issue involving questions of wages, hours and working conditions, but because we are unwilling to turn over the news columns to any group already committed as an organization on highly controversial public questions."

It was announced that there were 565 delegates present, representing 11 newspaper organizations. A permanent committee was organized, to be known as the newspaper com-

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

BEAVERS HAVE BEEN KNOWN TO BUILD DAMS CONTAINING THREE HUNDRED TONS OF EARTH, STICKS AND STONES.

SOMETIMES ONLY ONE EYE OF A TELESCOPE GOLDFISH BECOMES TELESCOPIC, WHILE THE OTHER REMAINS NORMAL.

HENS DO NOT LAY THEIR EGGS! THEY DROP THEM FROM A STANDING POSITION.

The peculiarity in the eyes of telescope goldfish does not appear in very young fish, and may not be noticed for several years, but it usually develops at about six months of age. The monstrosity is characterized by an elongation of the eyeballs, in the direction of the optic axis.

PROPER CARE OF WATER IS URGED

Most Surface Flow in This Section "Contaminated," Health Head Says

Numerous requests received by the county health unit for advice and suggestions concerning treatment and storage of drinking water, this afternoon prompted Dr. E. L. McMartin to summarize a few practical suggestions which can easily be carried out.

"Because most of the surface water in this territory is grossly contaminated," Dr. McMartin said, "and has a high organic content it is advisable to filter through sand and gravel before storage.

Clean Sand
 "The sand in the filter should be as fine and clean as possible and, at each filling, the sand should be removed from the filter and thoroughly cleaned and then dried in the sun. This is necessary in order that the efficiency of the filter may be maintained at the highest possible point.

"Following filtration, which strains out particles of dirt, moss and other foreign material, as well as many bacteria which cling to these particles, the water should be treated with some form of chlorine to kill the remaining bacteria," Dr. McMartin said.

He pointed out that there are several different methods of chlorinating water supplies, including automatic chlorinators, numerous trade preparations both in the liquid and powder form, and commonly known chlorinated lime.

"If there is any doubt as to the method or quality used in any particular instance, aid can be secured at the health unit or through the county sanitary inspector who heads county health units," Dr. McMartin said.

Discussing the use of charcoal and other adsorbents, the head of the county health unit termed it "a popular misconception."

"A popular misconception regarding the use of charcoal in filtering exists," Dr. McMartin said. "With the exception of removing odor, taste and color from the water, the charcoal or carbon has no actual use in the filtering process."

"During the fair play in instances where the water is drawn from some private land," Dr. McMartin said, "even though each individual may treat his own water, it is only fair to play to make sure that the water coming through his land is not unduly contaminated."
