Officials Plan Two 12-Hour Shifts During Holidays; Union Changes Heads

CANTON, O., July 3 (AP)—Spokesmen for Republic Steel corporation said today that with movement of additional men into plants here and in nearby Massillon, Pa., they will work all the employees it could use "just now."

Officials plan two 12-hour shifts during holidays; Union changes heads. The new shift schedule will be in effect during the two-day week-end holiday, operating two 12-hour shifts as at present.

They said they planned to keep working on full shift throughout the two-day week-end holiday, operating two 12-hour shifts as at present. The new shift schedule will be in effect during the two-day week-end holiday, operating two 12-hour shifts as at present.

Meanwhile, the committee for industrial organization shifted committee in America's "Little Ruhr" as the steel strike went into its sixth week with the union attempting to stem the "back-to-work" movement.

John Owens, state commander in the Mahoning valley, announced that John Mayo of Youngstown would replace John Stevenson as director of union activities in the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company mills here.

At the same time he said James Adams of Pittsburgh would supersede Robert Burke as union organizer among Republic Steel corporation's employees here.

Owens explained that Harry Wisnes and John Graefler had taken over the duties of Gus Hall, held at Warren, Pa., in connection with charges that he was head of a ring of terrorists that attempted to damage property of Republic Steel Corp. Owens declined to say whether he took for the charges, but said he took complete responsibility for them and had not acted as the suggestion of any other I.O. official.

With Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube claiming they were approaching no more work stoppages throughout the Mahoning valley, Owens announced three union mass meetings for Sunday in an attempt to rally I.O. forces to continue the strike.

He will address a meeting at Canton at 8 p. m. Clinton E. Golden, regional director of the steel workers' organizing committee at Pittsburgh, will speak at a rally here at 8 p. m. and Harry Murray, chairman of the steel workers' organizing committee, will address an afternoon meeting at Johnstown, Pa., where the strike continues against Bethlehem Steel corporation's Cambria plant.

CALM SIGNALS REPORTED HEARD

Earhart's Voice Spurs Effort of Planes, Ships in Pacific Hunt

A two-man rubber raft was also aboard the plane, together with flares and a bright orange kite which could be sent aloft to attract attention of rescuers.

Fulton said the plane itself could stay aloft "for a long time." Position of the lost plane was not definitely fixed but was believed to be perhaps about 100 miles north of Howland island.

McMenemy and Pierson, the Los Angeles amateur radio men, were certain they had heard Miss Earhart's voice.

The last word from the plane while it was in flight was picked up at 1:55 p. m. MST Friday by the Itasca, stationed at Howland island. The Itasca heard only the plane's signals.

A powerful amateur station at Los Angeles reported it heard what was believed a radioed position of the Earhart plane.

"It was a 179 and what sounded like a 179," said Walter McMenemy, who with Karl Pierson had been listening at the station all night to signals signed by Miss Earhart's call letters.

McMenemy and Pierson said if the signals meant latitude and longitude, the position would be somewhere 300 or 400 miles of Howland island.

Report SOS

The British warship Achilles reported at 12:28 a. m. MST, that it intercepted a radioed SOS call from Miss Earhart. Neither of these calls, however, gave an estimated location of the plane.

The coast guard at Honolulu reported it received a strong signal at 12:45 a. m. MST, which might have been from Miss Earhart's ship. Wacker signals were picked up at 12:30 p. m. Army operators at Ford Shafter, Honolulu, said they heard similar signals.

"Some radomen at Honolulu, however, doubted that the signals were authentic. They said it was possible the signals heard by the Achilles were a portion of a message from the cutter Itasca about the plane. They also speculated whether other purporting SOS calls had not been harmonics from a Honolulu broadcasting station.

Signals Thought Authentic

Lieutenant W. K. Johnson of San Francisco coast guard headquarters said he was convinced the signals were from Miss Earhart.

"They were picked up along a far-flung front, even in Sydney," he said.

A United States navy plane commanded by Lieutenant W. W. Harvey left Honolulu at 10:33 MST last night for Howland to aid in the search. Howland is 1,800 miles southwest of Honolulu. Lieutenant Harvey had seven men aboard with him.

Eleven other navy planes, all of the powerful VP type, were expected to follow if necessary.

The U. S. S. Swan was ordered to proceed to Howland from a point between that island and Honolulu. Navy authorities at Honolulu said the U. S. S. Colorado would leave Pearl Harbor later today for Howland, arriving within two and a half to three days.

The last word from the plane while it was in flight was picked up at 1:55 p. m. MST, Friday by the cutter Itasca, stationed at Howland island. The Itasca heard only the plane's signals.

PHYSICIAN WARNS AGAINST SUNBURN

Several Cases Reported Here Cause Health Head to Urge Caution

Several cases of severe sunburn in Twin Falls brought to the attention of Dr. H. McCarty, director of the Twin Falls health unit, this afternoon prompted him to warn individuals of the serious effects which might result from a too severe sun exposure.

"There are certain individuals who are especially sensitive to the sun's rays and will not develop a sunburned appearance, but have a series of sunburns to tend with," Dr. McCarty said.

Urges Protection "These persons should protect themselves from the direct rays of the sun and should not attempt to become suntanned during the summer. In certain cases severe sunburns have caused sufficient damage to incapacitate an individual for some time and often leave serious after effects. In very occasional cases sunburn has been known to lead to death. It should be understood that severe burn by sunlight is not unlike a burn received by other means and should be cared for as such," Dr. McCarty said.

Sun bathing, the unit head points out, is simple and with common sense is of great benefit to the health of those who take advantage of it. There are, however, proper methods of obtaining the best results in sun bathing.

Gradual Exposure "Gradual exposure is essential," Dr. McCarty said. "One should gradually increase the time and area exposed each day until a fairly good coat of tan has been developed. It is better to have a few sunburns than to have one severe sunburn by all means and should get in touch with your family physician at the earliest possible moment," Dr. McCarty urged.

PUTNAM THINKS FLIERS LANDED

Husband of Amelia Bollevos Aviator Has Put Plane Down Off Course

OAKLAND, Calif., July 3 (AP) - George Palmer Putnam, husband of Amelia Earhart, who, with her navigator, Frederick Noonan, are holed overboard on a flight from Menlo Park to Howland island, today he believed the fliers had succeeded in landing on one of the many small islands which dot the South sea.

"I have just talked by telephone with Paul Menzies, Miss Earhart's technical advisor, who is in Los Angeles," Putnam said.

"Both he and I agreed from the nature of the signals which have been received from Miss Earhart that she succeeded in making a landing, probably off her original course."

"We have checked wind, gasoline consumption and other data and believe also that Miss Earhart had ample fuel to carry her until 4 p. m.," he said, yesterday and possibly until 6 p. m.

"With this reserve supply of fuel it is extremely probable that she was experiencing difficulty and would have left her course to find a spot suitable for an emergency landing."

BRITAIN STARTS REINFORCING MEDITERRANEAN FLEET

QUINTS SET EXAMPLE FOR SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

3 CRACK BATTLESHIP CRAFTS ORDERED TO DANGER SPOT

Berlin Alleges Loyalists Are Using Gas Bombs; Anti-Intervention Slips

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.
LONDON, July 3 (AP)—Great Britain began reinforcing her Mediterranean fleet today as she moved for preservation of neutrality in the Spanish civil war.

Three crack battleships, all reconstructed to withstand the fire of the latest airplane bombs, their anti-aircraft batteries doubled, received orders to join the fleet in what is now the world's most dangerous sea.

The Royal Oak, on a parade-cruise of seaside resorts—part of the admiralty's policy of showing the fleet to the people—received orders to cancel its schedule and proceed at once for the Mediterranean. It sailed from Liverpool.

To Mediterranean
The Malaya left the home fleet to go to the Mediterranean.

The Warspite received orders to leave as soon as tests were finished on its new gun, and anti-aircraft guns, and was due to join the Mediterranean fleet within two weeks.

It is expected that the Malaya and Warspite, their reconstruction just completed at a cost of $15,000,000, are the best protected warships in the world.

News from all capitals was grave. Paris reported a Spanish loyalist charge, transmitted by the Agency Espagne that Italy was speeding war planes to nationalist Spain.

Algeria Gas Bombs
Berlin, through its official DNB agency, alleged that Basque loyalists on the Bilbao-Santander train were using gas shells.

Valencia, denying this, charged that the allegation was the foundation for the "use of poison gas by the foreigners who have invaded our land and are using the methods which we wish to hand Spain over to them."

Rome reported that Italian were astonished by the sudden reversing of British-French policy and were preparing to meet what they felt would be the bravest crisis since the World war.

There were indications here that there was real ground for the Italian standpoint. British and French considered granting the nationalists permitted rights, which would have allowed them—with any aid they could get—to blow the roads of Spain with the same method of international law.

Attitude Changed
On Thursday this attitude changed drastically. Britain and France agreed to reject all Italian-German demands and to continue the policy of an entire non-intervention plan if necessary.

Authoritative British quarters made it plain that collapse of the non-intervention policy might hurt the Spanish nationalists, whom Germany and Italy now openly favor. The British position is because France would be in a most favorable position to supply the nationalists with arms directly through the Catalans, who are any supplies for the nationalists would have to go by sea or air.

A high sub-committee of the non-intervention committee is to meet Monday or Tuesday. No hope was foreseen that a complete deadlock would be avoided. Hence it was expected that a full plenary meeting of the non-intervention committee, with 27 European nations represented, would see the action of neutrality later in the week.

SPORTSMEN SEE PRESTIGE HURT

Ex-Game Farm Head Says State Officials' Stories Are 'Poor Taste'

JEROME, July 3 (Special)—Statements made by Dr. F. E. Elliot, state veterinarian, and State Game Warden William R. Marshall today were attributed by game farm men, as having done more to damage sportsmen-farmer relations than has anything in recent years.

Marshall's statement came as the aftermath of a meeting which started when Dr. Elliot announced that tuberculosis was running rampant at the game farm. Later he gave the farm a "clean bill of health" when examinations showed eight out of 500 pheasants showed reactions to the test.

Marshall charged today that "Dr. Elliot made his first statement before any examining party, and that the Jerome farm had been made and without taking any birds from there for testing purposes."

"Coming at a time when sportsmen are beginning to realize need for cooperation with farmers," Marshall said, "and even outside sportsmen are being urged to come into this state, the remarks were in very poor taste."

He pointed out that two officials as stated by the two officials "sole cause is farmer to want" and that the state veterinarian, Dr. Wallington, president of the Jerome and Game Club, announced he was still working for an order from the state to close the game farm for impartial tests at the Jerome farm, widow refuge at Brigham City, Utah.

Fourth of July! Have you been wondering about a safe and sane way to spend it? Perhaps the Dionne quintuplets have something here! Of course the Glorious Fourth isn't celebrated in Canada, but as a suggestion for any summer holiday, this peaceful scene in comfortable "hammock" is hard to beat. The little girl at left who has "a little curl right in the middle of her forehead" is Crede. Next is Yvonne, with her domestic-looking hair. Marie's attention centers on her gangly doll, while Emilie, at right, demonstrates the proper "nothing to do till tomorrow" attitude for July holidays.

MICKEY ROONEY FISHES IN CANAL

for amusement while you're here?" I queried.

"Oh," Mickey said, "I guess I'll take in a day and a half a little and of course see a couple of shows."

"Sort of like a postman on his day off, I suppose?"

"Well, if that's the way you look at it," he said.

With a wave of his hand, Mickey discounted theories that working under the bright lights of Hollywood was really hard work.

Not So Tough
"After you have been at it as long as I have," he said, "it isn't like the couch, which was perfectly all right with me although I would have liked to have been there, too, what with all the heat, it doesn't seem much to me. It's just a matter of you sort of get used to it, you see."

"It's the new actors and actresses who are bothered by the heat under the lights."

Mickey is in his second year of college at the University of California, Los Angeles, although he doesn't finish his time to do a normal deal of his school work on the campus.

State Board of Education
The state board of education arranged things for an actor who is still going to school," he said. "They have an instructor with us while we're on the lot and our schooling goes just the same as though we weren't working at all."

Marriage Some Day
And some day, although he didn't indicate just when, Mickey will take Miss Hansen, one of Hollywood.

"We've been going together ever since I can remember and we'll probably get married, like a great girl."

One of the greatest shows which Hollywood has seen in a long time, the young player pointed out, was the Jeanette MacDonald-Cleve Raymond wedding which took place here a short time ago. The couple, which met in Hawaii on a honeymoon, Mickey was a guest at the wedding.

Crowds Recognize Him
Last night Mickey came down town and because he looks in real life the same as he does in pictures, was almost mobbed by auto-graph seekers as he stood in front of the Orpheum theater.

Later, at the home of A. C. Victor, one ambitious youth, not having anything more adequate, is said to have produced his star in which Mickey promptly autographed.

Mickey will be in Twin Falls a week, maybe two, he said. But while here he is going to enjoy himself.

Most recent pictures showing Mickey in Twin Falls include "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and "A Family Affair" with Lionel Barrymore.

His last picture with the Orpheum is in the immediate future. It is "Have Ship."

Asked what picture he liked best of all in which he has appeared, Mick said that was impossible to say.

Like's 'em All
"There's something about all of them that I like," he said. "But one thing is certain—he won't forget 'A Midsummer Night's

Bride, Car and Money Gone in Mail Courtship

"Correspondence" Wife of 2 Weeks Disappears, Says Local Resident

"Correspondence courtship" that ended in marriage was climaxed here today when Bert Waetzig asked cooperation of the Evening Times in attempting to locate his bride of two weeks who yesterday morning, according to Waetzig, vanished from a local cabin camp with approximately $1,000 in cash and the family car.

He and the missing woman, Waetzig said, were married in Great Falls, Mont., two weeks ago after a correspondence courtship carried on for several months.

"After my work on the Fort Peck dam was concluded," he told an Evening Times reporter, "I met this woman in Great Falls. I had never seen her before but although I had been writing to her since I read an ad in a paper which said she was the missing bride of a Great Falls girl."

"I contacted her and we started writing. When we met we decided we'd get married because we figured she could be a mother to my two children, a boy 11 and a girl 10, and I could be a father to her daughter."

"We came to Twin Falls where I figured on buying a few acres and settling down to farming."

"Yesterday morning I went downtown to talk to the car man regarding my newly bought car. I figured the purchase had been made and the car had been taken here and there by my daughter and she took my car. My two children were in the trunk of the car."

Also $1,000 in cash and "the auto" was missing in each trunk I had in the car," Waetzig said.

Waetzig reported the matter immediately to the police but they were unable to find the car because it was legal and because of the woman could not be charged with theft.

"The car was described as being a 1934 Chevrolet four door dark gray with a Montana license number 21-29. It was painted a forest green."

Waetzig had been married twice previously. His first wife disappeared in the woods of the state and his second wife died after seven years of what the man describes as "a happy marriage."

Because the money which disappeared with his wife was "practically all I had" the man and the two children are being aided by Michael J. "Little Mike" Hays, state and radio impresario who is appearing over KTF in Twin Falls.

Planning Road Chief Asks Road Completion
Boise, Idaho, July 3 (AP)—Wall Simpson, chairman of the state planning board, today advocated completion of Idaho's north-south highway by the end of the year. He said the state owed the highway to both sections.

The $100 million project is generally considered to be numerically supported in Twin Falls being a movie center although some of Russia's 9,000 people are objectless.

INDEX OF FARM PRICES SLUMPS

Average Still 127 Per Cent Of Pre-War Level, Says U. S. Statistician

BOISE, July 3 (Special)—Prices received by Idaho farmers for their products on June 15 averaged slightly lower than on May 15, according to Richard C. Ross, U. S. agricultural statistician.

The slight decline continued the downward trend which started in March, following the high point of recent years which was reached in February. The index of farm prices is now 127 per cent of the pre-war average, as compared with 129 per cent on May 15 this year and with 115 per cent on June 15 a year ago.

The "all crop" index declined one per cent during the past month to 122 per cent. Prices of nearly all commodities in this group have declined slightly since May 15.

Livestock prices also averaged lower than on May 15, the index having declined two per cent to 134 per cent. Dairy products prices remained about steady during the period, meat animal and poultry prices declined slightly, and wool prices fell off sharply.

CRASH VICTIM'S BODY RECOVERED

Snow Gives Up Remains of One Passenger of Dec. 15 Airmail Fall

ALPINE, Utah, July 3 (AP)—The deep snow on Lake Hardy peak today gave up the body of one victim of the crash of a Western Air Express liner there last December.

The air line announced at Los Angeles that the body was that of Mrs. John Wolf, one of seven victims. Mrs. Wolf's husband, a former ticket seller for the airline, was also on the plane.

Frank Eastman, director of the search for the bodies, started to the camp established high up the mountainside today after receiving a report that the body was found.

Avianchets that threatened members of the searching party, halted the mountain-top hunt several times. The airline announced that Mrs. Wolf's body was dug from the snow, 1,200 feet below the ridge on which the plane crashed while en route from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles carrying a crew of three and four passengers.

The body lay clear of the smashed fuselage.

It was found only a few days after airline officials had abandoned the hunt until later in the summer, believing that bodies and remaining wreckage of the plane was hopelessly buried under tons of snow and rocks.

GOSSETT REFUSES LIQUOR POSITION

Lieutenant Governor Turns Down $4,000 Per Year State Post

BOISE, Idaho, July 3 (AP)—Governor Barzilla Clark today said he didn't know whom he would ask to take over the post of chairman of the state's liquor control commission.

Lieutenant Governor Charles Gossett, Nampa, asked yesterday to accept the position, refused.

Gossett gave no express reason for turning down the $4,000 a year job, other than to say that he did not feel he should "abandon the trust the people of Idaho had placed in him as lieutenant-governor."

He has been prominently mentioned as probable Democratic candidate for governor in 1938.

Governor Clark said he was thinking about whom to ask next.
