Russian Aviators Set Plane Down On Coast After 6,625 Mile Trip

Gasoline Leak Causes San Jacinto Landing

Big Red Ship Uninjured After Landing in Pasture, 20 Miles from March Field

SAN JACINTO, Calif., July 14 (UP)—Three daring Russian aviators, who flew across the wastes of Siberia, the north pole and then coasted down the west coast of North America, were forced down in a cow pasture near here today but they held the world's non-stop flight record.

A leak in a gasoline line finally decided them to come down in the cow pasture after they were aloft almost 62 hours and had covered approximately 6,625 miles.

The previous record, established in 1933 by the French fliers, Paul Godes and Maurice Rossi, was 5,877 miles.

The men who drove the Soviet plane to the new mark were Michael Gromov, pilot, Andrei Tumashov, co-pilot, and Sergei Danilin, navigator.

Sought San Diego Gromov said he had hoped to take his red, single-engine monoplane to San Diego but rather than risk a crackup, he decided to land in the cow pasture when the leak was discovered.

The three fliers appeared in good condition when they stepped from the plane after a bumpy landing in the field three miles west of here, unaware that March field, army airport, was less than 20 miles away.

As soon as the Russian monoplane landed an army plane guided to a landing a short distance from the Russian ship.

An unidentified Russian resident of San Jacinto attempted to converse with the trio but had difficulty speaking and the fliers were obliged to stop.

Heavy Fog The fliers said they were fighting their way through heavy fog when they discovered the gasoline leak.

The fliers reported they were in the vicinity of San Francisco shortly after midnight, but that they encountered a complete blank white fog so far as radio communication was concerned.

The coast and inland valleys of California were covered with heavy fog, they said.

Heavy fog they said they would attempt to repair the gasoline leak and then fly the Soviet ship to March field where it would be placed in a hangar until Russian officials decided what they wished to do with the ship.

New Record Major Victor Blinnikov of March field introduced himself to the Russians and had his pilot and mechanic take up guard over the ship.

The Russians then informed them that they had flown 6,625 miles, a new world's distance record.

Within 30 minutes of the Soviet plane's landing, the fliers and planes circled over San Jacinto and sought landing fields. The Russians then were taken to the camp of the army planes and ferried to the army airport.

Ship Guarded The trio would not leave their monoplane until they saw several soldiers take up guard over the ship.

Local Man Gets Backing Offers In Search for Old Indian Cache

Deepening of Indian hieroglyphics that defied scientific experts brought Morris Barrie, Twin Falls man, offers of backing today from Washington, D. C. Chicago and the intermountain country.

As a result, Barrie announced this afternoon that he will head an expedition to the Birch creek area in Clark county, 40 miles north of Idaho Falls, to seek Indian relics buried there more than 500 years ago.

Barrie, who is a full-blooded Navajo, had received offers of backing today from the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, from Frank Schaffer, prominent Chicago contractor and one of the principal donors to the American Museum of Natural History at Chicago; Paul J. Slender, Idaho Falls photographer who found the hieroglyphics on Birch creek, and from several others in Idaho and Utah.

Barrie deciphered Indian pictographs found by Slender on cliffs along Birch creek. The hieroglyphics told where the vanished roamen cached supplies for members of the tribe that might follow, the Twin Falls man said. He holds the secret of that cache, since no one else was able to decipher the pictograph symbols, Barrie did it through training he received from his aged grandfather, now 124 years old in the Navajo country of Arizona.

A. Wetmore, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian, informed Barrie in a letter that if he is sure of his deductions and feels certain he can locate the cached articles, the Smithsonian would be glad to have him and his forces with an expert—none of whom could solve the hieroglyphics. Wetmore asked proof in the way of some of the principal donors to the Smithsonian, the Chicagoan, is coming to Idaho for a month's fishing trip and will consult with Barrie at that time relative to backing an expedition to uncover the cache.

The group, consisting of half a dozen members, probably will go to the Birch creek area early in August.

JUNIOR CHAMBER WILL BUY FIELD

Dream Near Reality Here as Organization Arranges Recreation Site

A dream was turning into a reality today when the Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced this afternoon that the organization would purchase 20 acres of land adjoining Harmon park on the east for development of a recreation center for the city of Twin Falls.

Action to make the purchase, Hudson said, was taken yesterday at a regular meeting of the group held at the Park hotel. At that time it was stated the purchase would be made "probably before the end of the week."

The 20 acres, long sought to make Harmon park a gathering place for a majority of Twin Falls residents, is owned by Donald A. Callahan of Wallace. It was said he would be in Twin Falls before the end of the week and the deal would be closed at that time.

Purchase will probably be in cash, Hudson said. The junior group now has approximately $1,000 for this purpose. The balance needed would be secured in the form of a loan so that Mr. Callahan could be paid in cash. The loan would be paid back in regular installments over a period of 10 years, according to present plans.

A broad improvement for the area, when purchased, is planned. It will be the site of the city's diamond, equipped for night play, and will probably also be the scene of "handing in" games. The area will be maintained and grass will be planted to assure picnic space.

SPECIAL SESSION LOOMS IN IDAHO

Legislature May Be Called to Consider Need For Aid in Relief

HOPE, Idaho, July 14 (UP)—State Senator I. B. Wilson, Gem county, said today a special session of the Idaho officials and state senators and representatives would be held here Monday to discuss calling a special legislative session.

Conference will be held in the governor's office, he said. Reason for the session, he said, was that what he termed the "critical" condition of relief funds.

He said several counties had nearly exhausted their three and one-half per cent levies, and would have to depend entirely on the state for relief.

Veteran Portland Merchant Succumbs

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14 (UP)—Julius L. Meyer, long prominent Portland merchant, and governor of Oregon from 1926 to 1928, died today. Death was due to heart disease.

Long Political Career Ends

Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, D. Ark., died this morning in his Washington apartment. He was the U. S. senate majority leader and one of the President's strongest backers in the fight for the judiciary reorganization bill.

Majority Leader of U. S. Senate Dies in Capital

65-Year-Old Arkansas Solon Found at 8:15 This Morning

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson died alone in his apartment today a few hundred yards from the legislative chamber where his political career was coming to angry climax in the fight to enact President Roosevelt's plan to reorganize the judiciary. Robinson was 65. His body was discovered pajama-clad and he was pronounced dead at 8:15 a. m. (MST) by Dr. Warren Fletcher.

President Roosevelt will attend funeral services for Robinson in the senate chamber and Vice President John N. Garner will attend the burial services to be held in Little Rock, Ark., according to tentative plans announced by the White House.

Robinson leaves the senate after 24 years' service and the 27th or 28th honor. He was the choice of his colleagues for the supreme court vacancy created by retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter and it generally was realized in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt intended to reward Van Devanter for his work in that way.

Not on Senate Floor—The senator was not on the senate floor yesterday although he appeared briefly at the capitol for check room reports of the battle in which he was leading the Deal forces. Court debate had been underway just seven days when the senator died.

His death will abruptly if temporarily interrupt senate debate of the court proposal. He leaves the senate and his party torn by the bitterest debate since "a little group of wildcat men" scuttled Woodrow Wilson's Kansas measure.

Robinson's sudden removal from the scene has diminished chances of passing the court bill through a reluctant congress.

Barley Candidate Sen. Don W. Barclay, D. Ky., and assistant leader of the senate, candidate of those Democrats who insist that Mr. Roosevelt shall be authorized to expand the court. Sen. Pat Harrison, D. Ky., and Sen. James P. Byrnes, D. S. C., are contenders for the senate leadership. Barclay, court reorganizer and of late, they have been in far from complete agreement with Mr. Roosevelt on pending labor and judiciary problems.

The showdown will come in party caucus where the 16 senate Democrats will ballot to determine whether they shall be led during the remainder of the second Roosevelt cabinet by Barclay. The senate will be divided into two camps, one committed to unqualified acceptance of White House policies or by a man of attitude, a kindly politician, who has been friendly to the president.

None of them would plausibly fit the pattern of the leader who is gone. Big, broad and hot blooded, Barclay was a steady weather skipper. His fits flew on occasion, not only in debate but in violent outbursts in the senate chamber. He was the only Chevy Chase club member in which the senator supported his interests. He was a member of the automobile club. (Continued on Page 8, Column 2)

Japanese Forces Retreat in China

Report Says Nippon Troops Fear They May Be Superiority of Numbers

PEIPING, July 14 (UP)—Japanese forces which invaded Peiping were withdrawing today, Chinese military headquarters announced at 10 p. m.

The Japanese began a slow retreat from the Lukouchiao, Tawamiao, Tachingtuan and Wullien fronts late last night, the communique said. "This retreat is continuing."

Strategy Zone The area mentioned covers the strategic zone southeast of Peiping which dominates the important Peiping-Hankow railway area along which crack divisions of the central government in Nanking are reported to be proceeding towards this ancient capital.

Chinese believed the Japanese were falling back on their base at Fengtai and that the retreat was caused by the threat of superior Chinese forces from the south.

The other threat was in the vicinity of the Peiping-Hankow railway area between more than 20,000 Japanese in the Peingai area and units of the Chinese 20th division, which is based on Peiping, reinforced by 30 miles northwest of Peiping.

FIGHTING RESUMED TIENTSIN, China, July 14 (UP)—Fighting started at 9:00 p. m. at the Lofa railway bridge on the Tientsin-Peiping line, approximately 30 miles northwest of Peiping.

Chinese believed the attack meant the Japanese were occupying the British concession, and that the other threat was in the vicinity of their advanced base at Fengtai, just southeast of Peiping.

Salt Lake Woman Judge Threatened

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 14 (UP)—Judge Iva Heck Hodge, Salt Lake City woman municipal judge, has received two anonymous death threats during the past week.

Threats were made by a man known for his stiff traffic violation sentences, came by telephone. The caller was a woman, it was learned.

The anonymous caller mentioned a $175 fine assessed by the judge and suit filed in district court here by J. O. Stewart.

Stewart is father of Charles Stewart, 13, who reportedly was injured about the legs and body Sunday when Reynolds' boat collided with a dock on Payette lake. The Stewart girl was playing on the dock.

JACKSON SHIELDS MRS. ROOSEVELT

Assistant Attorney Says FDR Wife Is "Conscientious Taxpayer"

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson described Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a "conscientious taxpayer" today and proposed that the congressional tax avoidance committee stop the question of whether she used tax law loopholes to save money.

In a letter to the committee, Jackson replied to charges by Rep. Hamilton Fish, R. N. Y., criticizing Mrs. Roosevelt's method of turning over to charity proceeds from a series of radio broadcasts. Jackson said that she was advised by the treasury in 1934 that the methods used were proper. Jackson at that time was general counsel of the internal revenue bureau.

"Mrs. Roosevelt, who did all that a conscientious taxpayer could do, should therefore be exempt from this controversy and let Mrs. Fish have to continue it, let him direct his criticism at us then," Jackson wrote.

Self Firm Will Expand Sale of Trailer Hitches Looking to an expansion of plant facilities and the possible building up of a sizable payroll in the plant, arrangements will be made soon by G. H. Self, owner of Self Manufacturing Products company, for the establishment of agencies to sell a new improved trailer hitch, he announced today.

Trailer Hitches manufactured by the local concern conform with laws of various states which state that a hitch must be attached to the frame of the car. Various manufacturers of trailer houses have endorsed the Self hitch as the best on the market. The new hitch is being marketed by the Self Manufacturing Products company, for the establishment of agencies to sell the hitch at the time they put in an agency for the sale of their houses.

To date this year approximately 500 hitches have been manufactured and sold, Mr. Self said, and if the business continues at this rate, he expects to establish sales agencies throughout the country, first in California, he believes that the output will be at least 500 a month, which would necessitate the employment of between 40 and 50 men.

To aid in the advertisement of these hitches and trailer houses, Self will publish a Twin Falls, a miniature trailer although has been cut from the wood. On this trailer house replicates the advantages of the Self hitch and Twin Falls as the place of its manufacturing are extolled. These novel contrivances are to be marketed on posters along the highway to California, looking forward to the establishment of agencies in the Los Angeles in the near future, according to Mr. Self.

RUSSIANS LAND PLANE ON COAST

Set Ship Down After 6,620 Mile Journey Over North Pole

Gregory Gokhan, Russian consul general to San Francisco, flew to March field in chopper plane.

Col. Carlisle Wash, commanding officer of the 3rd Cavalry, accompanied Gokhan with a volley of nine rounds.

Gokhan flew to San Diego from San Francisco during the night when fears were expressed that the fliers might have been forced down.

As soon as word was received that the plane landed in a pasture near San Jacinto, the consul left in his chopper plane for March field.

The safe landing of the three fliers at approximately 6:30 a. m. (PST) ended hours of anxiety over their safety because no word was heard of them since they were in the air after 12:15 a. m. (PST).

At that time they reported they believed they were about 30 miles north of San Francisco.

LOAN TEST SEEN AS "BAROMETER"

Land Bank Case, Involving Full Settlement Clause, Watched Here

First south central Idaho test case of Federal land bank provisions for the acceptance of full and complete settlement by creditors to whom farmers assign funds loaned by the land bank is being watched here as a barometer of other similar actions.

The action, brought against R. D. Neyman and Margaret Neyman, by Mrs. B. H. McClain, Boise, trustee for the estate of the bankrupt Union Securities corporation, is being watched here.

The Neymans were unaware of the land bank procedure of a chattel mortgage.

Claims Fraud Collection of the residua "would permit consummation of a deliberate fraud against the government of the United States," Earl Walker, of Witham and Walker, representing the Bull defendants, said today.

Land bank rules specifically hold that proceeds of the federal loan must be accepted in full and complete settlement, Walker said.

Irma E. High, former president and general manager of the Boise firm and now serving a prison term for the same crime, was also present.

Walker declared, High informed the Neymans, according to the attorney, that they must still pay the $500,000 debt.

Already Upheld In his answer to the action, which he filed Saturday in district court, the defendant said that this contention has already been upheld in a similar case at Boise, Blunt vs. Whitehead, decided by Judge C. P. Kodan.

The answer claims High accepted the loan proceeds on behalf of the corporation in full settlement of a first mortgage given as security for the promissory note. It charges that he then seeks to collect the remainder contrary to land bank rules and the agreement he signed for complete settlement.

Principle involved probably will affect many farm recipients of land bank loans, the attorney said.

The highest temperature ever recorded in the United States was 134 degrees—in Death Valley, California.

ARMY, STREET DEPARTMENT AND REPORTER REVIVE DOG

The United States army, the Twin Falls street department and the Evening Times this morning hoped to revive an errand of mercy, saved a life.

It was only a stray dog which had been run over near the Freight company station on the highway to Piler, but Corp. J. F. Houston, Street Superintendent—James Adams and G. A. Keller, of the Evening Times figured that a life was a life, even if it was only a dog's life.

Street straggler The man straggling the dog, according to several children who witnessed the mishap, failed to stop. He was driving a pickup truck.

The injured animal was carried to a nearby vet and the city street department, which must care for such accidents on the streets of the city, was called.

In the press car the dead was made to the injured dog. He was still alive when the help arrived and cold water was poured over his head and rubbed on his feet, panted a little and then looking at his three benefactors, wagged his tail.

He was saying "thanks" in the only way he knew how. Cat killed A few minutes later the same three men dashed to 355 Elm street where a cat was reported to have been run over. Nothing could be done there, however, as the cat was dead.

And so this afternoon a group of children is happy again because a dog lived, but some youngsters aren't so happy. His cat is gone.

OFFICIALS CLOSE BUHL SWIM POOL

Structure Will Be Filled For Sake of Park Beauty but Bathing Is Barred

Buhl's swimming pool, closed yesterday following a special meeting of the park board after the news informed by Twin Falls county health unit officials the water was "unsafe," was being posted this afternoon and swimming the balance of the year will not be permitted.

Mayor Gan Thompson told the Evening Times in a telephone conversation.

"We will not drain the pool," the mayor said, "because it would mar the beauty of the park and leave nothing but mud hole. It will be kept filled but swimming will not be allowed, at least for the rest of the season."

"Next year, perhaps, it will be possible to cement the pool and to treat the water before it enters the pool. However, at the present time we have not the funds to do this," Mayor Thompson said.

A test of the water made by the health unit, disclosed it was "contaminated with bacteria commonly found in the body wastes of man and other animals." As such it was declared "unsafe" by Dr. H. L. McMartin, director, although the unit head took no action pointing toward the closing of the pool.

Active in seeing that the pool was closed was State Senator R. A. DeNeal, also a park board member.

"It is unfortunate that it has to be closed," DeNeal said, "but it was the only thing to do. We have a chance on starting some sort of an epidemic."

SECRETARY SITES CHAMBER CRISIS

Business Men of Twin Falls Told C. of C. Is Facing Cross-Roads

(Continued From Page One) View the lack of interest and support locally as compared to that given Chambers of Commerce in other cities of the state in the inter-mountain country, the chamber secretary said.

"Some of our members are not content with the status quo, but are always on the alert to secure advantageous developments."

"Our lack of interest is all the more discouraging when we consider that Twin Falls has greater potentialities than any other community in the inter-mountain west."

"In the final analysis the future development of Twin Falls really largely with its business and professional men. Unless there is sufficient interest manifested at Thursday night's meeting to indicate that an active Chamber of Commerce must be maintained, and that the support will be forthcoming to maintain the status of the chamber which the chamber will be forced to disband."

It is unfair to ask those few who have contributed so liberally of their time and efforts to bear the load indefinitely.

CROP INCREASES SEEN FOR IDAHO

Potatoes, Beans, Wheat and Sugar Beets Show Gains, Forecast Says

BOISE, July 14 (Special)—Forecast of Idaho crop productions, based on July 1 condition, indicate larger crops of wheat, corn, potatoes, beans, sugar beets, alfalfa and prunes than were produced last year, but smaller crops of rye, hay, peaches, pears and grapes, according to Richard C. Ross, U. S. agricultural statistician.

Preliminary estimates of acreage for harvest point to increased acreages of winter wheat, spring wheat, corn, potatoes, beans and alfalfa, but to decreased acreages of rye and hay, and to acreages of barley and sugar beets about the same as harvested last year.

Condition Good

Condition of most grain and field crops, except beans was about on above average on July 1. Condition of hay crops, beans and all fruit crops—except apples was better than last year.

Wheat crop is now indicated to be about a fifth larger than last year, but about seven per cent below the 1929-32 average. The winter wheat crop promises to be larger than average, and the spring wheat crop about a sixth smaller than average.

Production of feed grains (other than wheat) is expected to be about two percent smaller than last year. The late cool, wet spring was unfavorable for early growth of hay and production is now indicated to be about eight percent smaller than last year, though just slightly smaller than average.

Potatoes Average

Though there were some reports of seed rotting and spotted stems, condition of the potato crop was about average on July 1. Condition of the bean crop was below average, due to the effect of late planting and to some extent to anticipation of damage from white flies, which were numerous in the important Twin Falls section. Bean acreage is about the same as last year, but yields are likely to be better than average. The dry field and seed pea crop is being grown on an acreage about a fifth smaller than last year, but the crop was in excellent condition on July 1. Apple condition was above average, but tree numbers have been reduced and production is expected to be about three percent below average. Production of both cherries and prunes were indicated to be somewhat larger than last year, though continued rains in northern Idaho had reduced the crop there and prune growers feared that continuing heavy dropping would cause a material reduction in the prune crop.

Whisky exports from the United States during the first three months of this year were almost 23 times the amount exported in the corresponding period of last year.

Freckles Champ

Just try counting your own freckles and you'll have an idea of the job the judges were up against when they tackled the 400 district champions in Atlantic City's annual contest. On Helen Milbourn (above), 8-year-old Brooklyn girl, they found 1,285—count 'em—and awarded her the freckles championship.

CANNING ASSISTS RURAL INCOMES

Farm Housewives "Put Up" $10,500 in Foodstuffs During Year

Fruits, vegetables and meats worth more than $10,500 were canned or preserved by rural housewives of 105 farm families under rural rehabilitation program of the resettlement administrator during the last year. It was announced here today by Mrs. Virginia Patch, county home adviser.

Working in partnership with their husbands' incomes greater farm security, homemakers have assisted in carrying out a program to provide approximately 76 per cent of the family food needs directly from the farm.

DRY BEAN CROP GAIN PREDICTED

Yield For 1937 Forecast at 1,464,000 Bags in Idaho, Says Statistician

BOISE, July 14 (Special)—The 1937 crop of Idaho dry beans (including both edible and non-edible) is forecast at 1,464,000 bags, according to Richard C. Ross, agricultural statistician.

This is larger than the 1936 crop of 1,248,000 bags, but about five percent smaller than the average crop of the five years 1928-32. Preliminary estimates place the acreage for harvest at 122,000 acres, an area 17 percent larger than the 1936 harvested acreage.

The crop was reported in fair condition on July 1, though much of the acreage was planted late. Growers in the important Twin Falls section fear damage from a heavy infestation of white fly, but it is significant that a high proportion of the acreage is planted to varieties which are relatively resistant to this insect.

Acreage by varieties is not estimated, but reports of growers and seedsmen indicate that about two-thirds of the State's acreage is planted to Great Northern, about one-fifth to Small Whites, a twelfth to Small Reds, a twentieth to other edible varieties, and about a twelfth to seed varieties.

The United States production estimated at 13,163,000 bags, is 2,041,000 bags larger than the 1936 crop and 98,000 bags above the 5-year (1928-32) average. The factors contributing to the prospective increase are the 14.9 percent increase over last year in acreage and an increase of 22 pounds per acre in the indicated yield. The greatest increase in prospective production is in Michigan and California.

Cleveland May Get Gas Under Lake Erie

CLEVELAND (AP)—Impetus was given to the city council's announced plan of establishing a pipeline to the city from the bottom of Lake Erie.

Fisher, the city of Detroit's consulting gas engineer, who was brought here to make a survey of possible gas supplies, told council utilities committee he had made a geological study of Ohio's possible gas sources and advised the city to start test drilling in Lake Erie immediately.

Nudism Debated

HONOLULU (AP)—Although Hawaii may have gone partly nude in its early days, Rep. Y. Char is determined that it shall not do so completely in the future. He has introduced a bill prohibiting nudism. A similar bill introduced two years ago was laughed to death after the legislators had made a survey of the modern swimming suit.

22 of Idaho's 44 Counties Pay in Full Tax Levies

BOISE, Idaho, July 14 (AP)—Twenty-two of Idaho's 44 counties have paid their 1936 ad valorem taxes in full, Harry Parsons, state auditor, reported this week.

He said it was a "good sign" of improved conditions throughout the state. A year ago, only 12 counties had paid in full. Total assessments against state counties were $12,118,110. Amount yet outstanding was $208,647.

Since 1865 lighthouse tenders, sturdy boats used for rough work, have been named after flowers, trees and plants. The "Orchid" and "Ivy" are typical names.

The Gentleman in the Third Row

Shall We Let George Do It?

It is regrettable that a city like Twin Falls, with all its advantages and opportunities, should have difficulty in properly maintaining an active Chamber of Commerce. For after all it is the chamber that is counted upon to make the most of all these opportunities.

On the surface it would seem that the local chamber has been very active during recent months, and that much is actually being accomplished. In reality, however, a small handful of men has been doing all this work and bearing the brunt of the expense, while the majority looks on listlessly and shares in the hard-earned accomplishments of these few workers.

Obviously this condition cannot go on indefinitely. These half dozen members, despite their efforts to keep the Chamber of Commerce alive, cannot afford to devote so much of their time in the future to chamber activities. Neither can they be expected to bear the major portion of the expense of these activities, from which the people in general benefit. It is unfair to expect them to carry the load any longer, and it is to the discredit of the city that there have been no more volunteers for such work.

This situation has brought the whole question to a head, and Thursday night at a meeting at the Park Hotel the business and professional men of Twin Falls, and all others interested, will be asked to make a definite decision as to whether they wish to maintain the Chamber of Commerce or let it go by the boards for lack of support.

That's a cold way of putting it, but we might just as well have the truth. Meetings have been called in the past, appeals made and what not, and the results have always been the same.

As a result the board of directors has decided to put its cards on the table. Does Twin Falls want a Chamber of Commerce or not? That's the question and unless there's a definite indication that it does at Thursday night's meeting it is not unlikely that the chamber will be disbanded Aug. 1st.

Do you want to see Twin Falls make the most of its opportunities? If so, it's important that you be present at this meeting.

Good Neighbor Creed Needed

There has been many a march on Washington, from the British invasion in the War of 1812 down to the "bonus army" of 1932; but there never was one with quite that heart-in-the-throat quality that goes with the descent of the Boy Scouts of America.

Twenty-five thousand of these lads have taken possession of the city. They are not there to seek any favors or exert any pressure; they are simply a bunch of healthy, wholly admirable American boys out to have a good time, to see their country's capital and, just incidentally, to show what a fine set of boys this country can produce. And it does one good to see them down there.

There is something about a Scout Jamoree of this kind that makes a thoughtful adult feel just a little bit ashamed of himself. These youngsters are still free from those traits of jealousy, suspicion, and ill-will which somehow seem to beset all grownups who go to Washington.

In the Scout troops there are all sorts of boys; boys from city slums and boys from small towns, boys whose fathers are wealthy and boys whose fathers are distressingly poor. Twenty years from now these boys will be more or less what their fathers are now—and the free, wholesome comradeship that now holds them together will be gone forever.

Instead, they will share the divisions that curse our grownup world. The poor ones, as likely as not, will be denouncing the rich ones as economic royalists, and the rich ones will be accusing the poor ones of trying to overturn American institutions.

Most of them will be demanding that Washington do something for them—at the expense, if necessary, of all the others—and wanting to know what the country is coming to if the demand is refused.

All of which is simply to say that the easy, unritualized fellowship of boyhood vanishes as boys become men. Life is still pretty much a devil-take-the-hindmost scramble, and it makes a man forget that he has a community of interest with all his fellow citizens. It is mortally easy to get the feeling that men of a different economic or social class are going to get the better of you, if you don't get the better of them first.

And there is something about the spectacle of these Boy Scouts at Washington that makes one understand that our way of living—or, more accurately, our way of looking at life—with its divisions and its unsleeping suspicions, is badly warped.

Our country happens to need this feeling of solidarity of common striving for a common goal, about as badly as any country could; yet it has to go to the Boy Scouts to find it.

QUICK, WATSON, TOSS ME AN UMBRELLA!

Pot Shots:
When I was in New York, I went one rainy day to inspect the famous Empire State building. When I got up to the top and looked down, it seemed a mile to the ground. In fact, the height made me dizzy and I toppled over the railing.

A quick-witted lady threw her umbrella to me as I went over. I used this for a parachute for the first 100 feet of the fall.

By that time, the guard at the top of the tower telephoned down to the 80th floor, where a stenographer threw another umbrella as the first one collapsed.

The guard meanwhile had telephoned to the 50th, 20th and 15th floors, and horror-stricken men threw out umbrellas to me at each place. Just in time, because my previous "parachute" collapsed just as the next umbrella came flying out at me.

I landed with only a few bruises and contusions.

One spectator on the sidewalk faded, and was in much more serious condition than I.

THE BIG DEPARTURE THAT DIDN'T OCCUR!

Honorable Pot Shots:
How do you like this? About 11 o'clock Monday morning a man whose name I don't remember, while called me up and asked me to help his wife. So I, nice and innocent like, goes over and then she tells me she's going to pack and leave with an aunt for about a year.

Well, about two other men, the lady I was working for and myself worked from 12 to 8 packing dishes, packing boxes, packing bedding, hanging around trunks, taking down pictures, etc.

The lady planned to take the 8 o'clock bus. Everything was packed except the trunk and work and in the meantime hubby comes home. Then after everything is packed they send me across the street to the store to get some butter.

When I came back the lady of said house told me we'd better start unpacking, that the quarrel was all over. About then she and I packed and packed me over with a feather. So I, nice and innocent like, led to come back and unpack the next day.

HI, WOODFORD!

Are ya laughing, Pot?
It seems some of the boys discovered that the "W" tucked in front of "Frenchy" Frank's name actually stands for "Woodford."

And it seems that folks who come into the postoffice for general delivery mail, and who happen to have the same first name, pronounce it "Woodford."

So the postal lads are gleefully hailing Frenchy as Woodford.

Not a bad name at that for the coach of a feminine softball team, eh?

—The Hoopster

AND NO NONE DIVER?

Dear Sir:
I received your nice card out for a friend's run near Boise last week. We were breezing along at 88 miles an hour when a gust of wind from three wrecked cars on the highway half a mile ahead.

I reached out on the left, unfastened the motor hood and held it up over my head. My friend did the same with the right side of the hood.

That gave us the general effect of airplane wings. The motor, got up to 110 miles an hour, and we took off very nicely into the air.

We came down on the other side of the wrecked cars, and continued bitterly on our way.

TOO, TOO DIVINE, CHARLEY!

Honorable Shots:
You, with your nose for the peculiar little things of life, being the most interested at the birthday present received by Charley Sider.

CHAPTER VI

STUART BLAKE escorted Carolee back to her home, after she had begged mid-afternoon lunch from the cook in Superstition Lodge. The danger over, both could laugh at their mountain adventure and enjoy the comradeship that the experience wrought.

Carolee would like to call on her at her home on the high mesa. That would never do, she knew, and he ought to realize it. He would forestall her family's hostility by telling her she was invited to a meeting in an hour at the trying place.

When Stuart returned a second time to Superstition Lodge the hour was near midnight, and there was a hubbub of conversation on the front porch. One blonde told him that the woman he would have father was there, obviously excited. But Nina greeted Stuart.

"Dismount, buckaroo, and listen to the old scout's law," he called. "Somebody's been shooting at dad."

"Whoa, what's matter? Who's shooting?"
Mr. Blake, Sr. was serious about it, and agitated.
"Somebody shot at me this noon, and he's got me in the neck."

"Three or four times, I might have been killed. I could hear the bullets, plopping right near me."

Stuart was incredulous for a moment.
"Are you serious, dad? Are you sure?"
"You're hardly I'm sure! I was just telling the folks here about it."

"The folks" included Nina Blake and half a dozen other Lodge guests and employees who happened to be within hearing; even the old Indian women, who were clearing up the debris of molding pottery in the shade nearby, stopped to listen open-mouthed.

"That's about all there is to the story," Mr. Blake re-combated it.

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As gleaned from Files of "The Times"

15 YEARS AGO

JULY 14, 1922

Preliminary steps toward the organization of the new athletic field and game association were taken late Wednesday afternoon at the meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and a committee consisting of Ernest White and E. R. Dooley of this city, G. M. O'Leary, Albert Patis, A. E. Thiel, discoverer; George W. Fox, Pottel, and Herbert Beamer, H. E. Taylor, was appointed to draft and propose plans at an meeting to be held in Twin Falls Oct. 31 and Nov. 1.

Ernest White is temporary chairman and G. M. O'Leary secretary. A large gathering is expected for the athletic organization.

27 YEARS AGO

July 14, 1910
On Wednesday Sheriff Dyer and his deputies were very busy serving notices from the prosecuting attorney, George W. Fox, to the joints within the county to close up and cease selling the near-beer. It was the result of recent legislation of the local option law to the selling of near-beer as brought by recent court decisions and County Attorney O'Leary states that he will enforce the law to the letter.

Since the asbestos have gone out there has been a great deal of trouble in the city this week. A large gathering is expected for the athletic organization.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

The driver of any motor vehicle involved in an accident resulting in injury or death to any person or any property damage shall immediately stop the vehicle at the scene of the accident, stop the engine and render any aid possible to any person who appears to be injured. It is the duty of the driver to remain at the scene until he has been released by a law enforcement officer.

AS a matter of solemn fact, the old folk rank impressive. Nina's admiration was at least partly genuine. Stuart could have been a movie hero, with luck and talent. He was masculine enough. Usually he was gay and frankish, full of banter himself, but not this morning.

"Somebody shot at dad," he announced, as if that were sufficient. Come to think of it, it was, Nina told herself.

"Then the matron is not in distress today," she thought. "I'd let her yearn a bit anyway. Where will you go, then?"

He smiled, then, for the first time this morning.

"I don't know exactly. For one thing I'll do a little target practice. Dad traced out the route he took yesterday. He was about four miles from here. I'll go there, and learn what I can."

"Don't be a fool, Stuart. If somebody shot at dad, somebody might shoot at you. And the aim might be better today. Why don't you take a guide?"

"I don't think they're going to shoot at me. I'm not going to get into any shooting. I'm just going to look for a guide."

"You look grand!" she conceded. "You only had a wagon train to rescue. Or a Poochontos to woo!"

He glanced at the Indian hand-workers near the porch, already weaving and mixing clay. Not one was under 40 years of age. Not one was under 180 pounds. The women, tolerated there because they were picturesque.

"Sorry, sis, but you can't make a square man of me. So long as I may lay out tonight (he was already picking up the speech of the western cowboy), so don't look for me for a day or two."

"And another thing," he flung back as he rode off, "if there's any shooting done this trip, I'm going to do some of it. Tell that to dad."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 14—The administration's chief handicap in the court fight has been a lack of interest in the senate and a superfluity of polyanthias in the top ranks, not omitting the President.

Some of the general news have begun to flow light and the fury of their sudden onslaught on behalf of the Hatch compromise which would place a limit on the number of appointments of supreme court justices by January, temporarily set the opposition back on its heels.

It remains to be seen whether New Deal strategists are again suffering from over-optimism.

The actual objective of present tactics is to show that no one anyone admitting this is a closure, requiring a two-third vote on the Senate, would place a limit on the number of appointments of supreme court justices by January, temporarily set the opposition back on its heels.

There is a rather general feeling now that the proposed filibuster will not last long, although this may prove to be wishful thinking.

GEOLOGISTS WAIT FOR WORLD MEET

Lindgren to Open Session

In accordance with the established custom the congress will be opened by the chairman of the preceding congress—the American geologist, Waldemar Lindgren.

The following papers will be discussed during the session:

"The Oil Problem and Estimations of the World Oil Reserves," by H. C. G. Moore, professor of geology and paleontology at the University of Kansas, has prepared a report on the Permian rock strata of Kansas. Dr. Moore (France) will make a report on the coal and lignite reserves in France. Professor of the Tokyo Institute of Geology, Kobayashi, will report on mountain forming processes in Japan during the Mesozoic era. Professor of geology and mineralogy Backlund (Sweden) is preparing a paper on the stratigraphic subdivisions of the pre-Cambrian epoch.

World Oil Reports Ready

Of the reports by Soviet scientists probably the most interesting will be the papers of Academician, Gubkin. The World Oil Reserves of Professor Prigorovskiy and Stepanov on the coal beds in the Soviet Union, Academician Berendts on the geology of the Permian (Russia) and Academician Schmidt on the role of geology in the conquest of the Arctic and Antarctic.

Opposition strategy has been fully disclosed in announcements of elaborate tactics for filibuster. To what extent these boasts have themselves the means to frustrate Roosevelt and others into a sense of defeat is not yet clear.

It may be that the threats have been a bluff. But even if so, sometimes it is made by giving away plans to the enemy, and it may be that opposition leaders claimed a partial victory by the period just after the 26th they will return to Moscow. The work of the congress will be concluded July 29.

Specialists say flea beetles do heavy damage to tobacco during this period. Just after the plants have been set-out in the field.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

There are various tests for finding out whether there is albumin in the urine. The simplest test is chemical. It is done by adding a few drops of concentrated nitric acid, and if albumin is present, a white ring forms where the fluid is in contact with the acid. This simple test is not to be performed by the average person with the idea that he can tell anything about it.

In cold weather when there may be cloudiness of the urine, that cloudiness is usually due to the fact that the urine is in contact with a solution in warm water. In such cases warm the urine in a test tube and it will clear up. This clear appearance will not prevent itself if the cloudiness is due to albumin.

When there is inflammation of the kidney with damage to the structure, albumin also appears in the urine.

Any inflammation of the kidney is called nephritis. It is a disease, however, many different types of nephritis. It may be present in an acute form due to the action of some poison which has been introduced into the body, or it may be due to bacterial infection or due to the bacteria to the tissues that may be brought about by fever.

It may be due to a gradual breakdown of the tissues as a result of old age and inability of the tissues to repair themselves.

Albuminuria is just a signpost indicating that something is wrong. It is the earliest detected of all the symptoms that may occur.

Into a healthy body, it is used by the tissues for repair and for tissue growth. Digested food contains proteins which are taken up by the body and carried to various portions of the body. A healthy kidney will not allow food albumin to pass out into the blood.

On the other hand, there are some proteins which represent broken-down tissues and waste from the body. A healthy kidney will immediately eliminate this kind of albumin. Healthy urine is practically always free from albumin.

When albumin is found, therefore, the patient, and the doctor should cooperate in obtaining the scientific study necessary to determine exactly what is wrong and then to develop the right treatment leading to a cure.

GOLD THOUGHT IN OLD MONASTERY

ANCIENT English Residence Is Scene of World Spirits, Owner Claims

LONDON (U.P.)—Mediums from all parts of Great Britain are visiting White House, Eastwacker, the remains of an old monastery, and now a country club, where they say messages from spirits have directed them to look for gold hidden in the 12-acre grounds.

P. Bartlett, the present tenant, who is normally a social, feels there is something unusual about the house.

For hundreds of years the place has been surrounded by mystery. Stories are told of gruesome murders which occurred in the reign of Charles I. A secret treasure was supposed to be hidden in the church and said to conceal a fortune in gold.

The White House is haunted by the restless spirits of the monks and nuns, successive owners and tenants for a hundred years have all agreed upon the description of the spirits—one an old woman, the other a man with a dagger.

"I am not a spiritualist, and am usually skeptical," Bartlett said, "but in my opinion with former occupants I have noticed strange things here. My wife has seen the spirits with sufficient clarity to come from a cupboard, and friends have seen the ghost of the old lady. Servants will not sleep in the house."

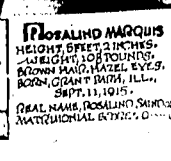

"When mediums started bringing messages about gold I began to search for it. I have had several mediums to come down from London to help to fathom the mystery. I am also to have a dinner at the place."

MANUSH'S HIGHER ... Giants Rally in Last Inning to Beat Phils

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Manager Burchfield Grimes grabbed the brass ring of the major league merry-go-round last winter when he picked up Heinie Manush as a free agent and signed him to play in the Brooklyn Dodger outfield.

The veteran American leaguer, who clouted the ball at a 331 clip in 14 seasons with Detroit, St. Louis and Boston, had a bad string of injuries last year, and just couldn't seem to get going. He hit only 291 which just wasn't enough to hold him on Tom Yawkey's all-star aggregation.

Couldn't See Manush ... An American league manager wouldn't look at Manush, convinced that his active playing days were few. It didn't cost Grimes a dime to sign Manush and several of the junior league managers must be kicking themselves today because old Heinie again is smacking the ball around.

There is nothing like a home run with the score tied in the ninth to sign Manush and several of the junior league managers must be kicking themselves today because old Heinie again is smacking the ball around.

Each pitcher had given up but five hits when the ninth inning came around with the score tied 1-1. Basset drove a long fly to Manush, who made a sensational catch, then Heinie came through and smacked his game-winning home run.

In the only other National League game the New York Giants staged a six run rally in the ninth to tie the score, then rallied in the 10th to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-10.

St. Louis at Pittsburgh was rained out and Cincinnati-Chicago were not scheduled.

In the only scheduled American League game at Cleveland Indians knocked out the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

COX AND FAMILY GUESTS AT CLUB

Former Presidential Nominee Back Again at Rocky Mountain Ranch

BY WILMA KEEL
IDAHO ROCKY MOUNTAIN CLUB, Stanley, July 14 (Special)—Former governor of Ohio and one-time presidential candidate, James M. Cox of Dayton, O., has arrived at the club accompanied by his daughter, Miss Barbara Cox, to spend the summer. Mrs. Cox and another daughter, Miss Anne Cox, are expected to join them here in the near future. This is the third year at the club for the Cox family, so it is a happy reunion for everyone.

Mrs. D. J. Mahoney of Miami Beach, Fla., with her two children, Darny and Michael, and Miss Mildred Ghetti, of New York City, sister of Mrs. Mahoney, arrived to spend a month at the club. They made the trip by motor, via Arizona and Colorado. This is also the third year here for the Ghetti family, and the children, and they seemed overjoyed to be back.

Recreational Forest A party of national-forest service men arrived early Sunday morning, secured horses, and left on an all-day trip to Warm Springs meadow, in connection with plans concerning recreational resources of the forest. The group included C. J. Olsen, of Ogden, assistant regional forester; C. A. Olsen, Ogden, in charge of fish and game for the forest; and Merle Drake, Challis district manager; Arthur Guack, Clayton district manager, and Mr. Jones, Pocatello.

They were accompanied by Winston Paul and Gladys Gillespie, owner and manager of the forest, respectively. O. A. Olsen and C. J. Olsen returned to spend the night at the club. G. B. Maine, forest supervisor of the Boise national forest, P. S. Moore, supervisor of the Sawtooth national forest, and Lawrence H. Smith, Boise biologist, joined the group for luncheon at the club.

Governor's Visit Governor and Mrs. Bardella Clark stopped here Sunday for a brief visit with their daughter, Miss Barbara Clark.

Down in the corral the other day Dick Coleman nonchalantly mounted a three-year-old colt that was supposedly broken. Before he knew what had happened, he was on the ground, with his face badly skinned and his right arm broken. Stopping in true cowboy fashion, gritted his remaining teeth, remounted the unruly animal, and rode him until the horse was gladly willing to concede the point to Dick and call it a day.

PERSONAL ROLL VALUATIONS SET

Detailed Figures Announced By Auditor Showing Gain of $33,930

Detailed figures for the 1937 personal tax roll, showing the increase of $33,930 announced yesterday by the Evening Times for assessed valuation in the Twin Falls county personal roll, were issued today by the office of the county auditor.

The $53,930 gain in valuation brought the total increase for all rolls except utilities and subsequent to $372,740, more than a third of a million dollars.

The personal roll: Merchandise $598,785, an increase of $47,000 over 1936. Furniture and fixtures $132,765, a decrease of $1,000. Horses $117,415, a decrease of $3,000. Machinery $105,530, an increase of $23,500.

Equipment in state lands $48,295, a gain of $1,400. Sheep $16,995, a gain of $5,200. Mules $12,685, a loss of $300. Hogs $8,935, an increase of $300. Improvements on equities in state lands $6,550, a loss of $220. Bees $2,870, a loss of $1,000. Household goods $2,225, a loss of $1,000. Poultry $1,525, an increase of $400. Miscellaneous $78,270, a loss of $14,000. Total gain, $53,930.

The increase in valuations, it was pointed out, mean that no tax increase will be needed since more revenue can be raised at the present levy.

County and state tax levy will be set by the county commissioners the third Monday in September, independent districts, including cities, villages, highway districts and school districts, submit their total budgets and levies prior to that time, and the commissioners officially set these levies from the figures turned in.

DEATH SUMMONS JOE T. ROBINSON

Arkansas Senator Dies in Washington; Was Strong Backer of FDR

Unpleasant Memory Robinson left the club after that incident and it remained an unpleasant memory through the years. But he found comfort in the admiration and respect of his colleagues, best exemplified last month when the senate spoke almost as a single voice to demand that the Democratic leader be named to the newly created vacancy on the supreme court.

Awful was Robinson's ambition—to sit on the high bench among the justices and review the law. His background was of the law but overlaid with politics. It was as a politician and lawyer that he undertook in 1933 to maneuver through a continuously surprised and "sometimes almost" number of the series of legislation which is described now as the first New Deal.

His success was extraordinary. The senator's death now is a tremendous reverse to Mr. Roosevelt's dash, easy-to-make out of the White House, learned to look the President's bill in his committee room and to defy any power but the senate membership itself to bring it to the floor.

Changes Odds That alone was sufficient to change the odds on court reorganization. Robinson's death makes them longer and against the New Deal. It was Robinson who conceived and effected senate democratic tactics to curtail debate of men who oppose the President's reorganization.

Reorganization opponents were bitter and there was ironical reference as talk progressed to the leader and whom many were deserting. But the true irony lies today in the fact that Robinson himself had been elected senator because he gave all senators a new lease on life. The senate will adjourn today in respect to Robinson's memory. And with adoption of the measure "that the senate do now adjourn," the light drama rules will soon be enacted and the state will be wiped clean of previous speeches. The battle will begin again—from scratch.

Served Under Wilson Through the years Robinson advanced for the back benches to the fore. His first senate service under Woodrow Wilson quickly into legislative experiment and international uproar comparable to the scene from which he passed today. Wilson was met somewhat of a "New Dealer," although the phrase had not then been coined.

The phrase was coined by the Republican party was wounded and weakened then, as now. Another Roosevelt had driven into the G. O. P. a wedge with mighty speed. The Democrats were on top again after long, lean years.

And in those crowded years Robinson had his first experience with filibuster such as he changed last week he raised no against another Democratic president. Much was made of the leader's history-making appearance last Tuesday when he opened debate for the Judiciary reorganization bill.

Goals Back 20 Years But when the books are written and all incidents of Robinson's career can be set down, there are men who will go back 20 years to another occasion when the spotlight shined in glare over Robinson and senate anger flared. It was in

CRICKETS

Are Mormon crickets, scourges which have brought grief and financial loss to several other Idaho and intermountain areas, on the way to Twin Falls?

That's what Allen Parrott, Twin Falls youth, was asking today. Allen, son of Arthur A. Parrott at 241 Pine street, needs a number of crickets in the family residence. He showed them to a farmer who said they were Mormon crickets in youthful stages. The insects found in the youth and brought into the Evening Times office yesterday by the large as the giant type that has denuded several sectors in the west this year, but several observers believed this was because the crickets found here are not yet mature.

Allen said there are more of the insects in the basement, but declared he hasn't seen any appreciable number out of doors as yet.

Famed Bridge to Be Demolished in Yellowstone Park

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., July 14 (UP)—Workmen next week will begin demolishing Fishing Bridge world-famous and the scene of many trout catches, the superintendent's office announced today.

The office said the demand for more speed and safety on the narrow, curving bridge obsolete and dangerous.

In its place a modern concrete bridge is being built and will be completed about Aug. 13 at a cost of $131,000.

Legion Election Here Tomorrow

Officers of the Twin Falls Post No. 7, American Legion, Will be elected at a meeting in Legion hall at 8 p. m. Thursday, Commander H. A. Smith announced this afternoon.

Waivers from Kimberly post will be in attendance and inspection will be made by Gene Day and Dean Shipley, Kimberly commander.

The short session of 1917 when a world battle and a nation moved toward war.

Woodrow Wilson proposed that America's merchant shipping arm fight against attack. Twelve senators led by the elder La Follette filibustered that measure through the closing days of February and into March. Shortly after midnight on March 4, with fewer than 12 hours remaining of that short session of congress Robinson rose and addressed the chamber under the name of the newly created vacancy on the supreme court.

Robinson's ambition—to sit on the high bench among the justices and review the law. His background was of the law but overlaid with politics. It was as a politician and lawyer that he undertook in 1933 to maneuver through a continuously surprised and "sometimes almost" number of the series of legislation which is described now as the first New Deal.

ANDERSON CHAIN POOLS IN BUYING

Idaho Organization Joins Allied Stores to Aid in Purchasing Power

BOISE, Idaho, July 14 (UP)—A joint agreement between C. O. Anderson chain and the Allied stores of New York was in effect here today to facilitate additional purchasing power.

Managers of the two chains joined forces today to facilitate additional purchasing power. The merger will not affect the management of either chain. It merely sets up a cooperative method of buying merchandise for retail purposes.

Allied Stores operate 38 large department stores throughout the United States. C. O. Anderson company operates 20 stores, 16 of them in Idaho. Contracts between officers of the two concerns were signed late Tuesday night.

At noon the congress ended, the filibuster still going on. That bill died. The congress met in special session on April 2, and on April 6 the nation went to war.

There was only one real enemy for Robinson in the chamber and that died in September, 1935, when bullet ended the life of Huey Pierce Long.

Long Planned Campaign "I'll be over Joe, we have a date," Long used to say at "his landing" during the spectacular days when the Louisiana was in the senate. Long meant that he was coming across the border into Arkansas in 1936 and put up a candidate who would defeat Robinson for the senate.

There were indications in Robinson's last days of rising opposition to Mr. Roosevelt. The senator did not approve of New Deal spending. A few weeks ago he sponsored a motion to compel communities or others interested to put up 25 per cent of any sum to be allocated to construction from WPA funds. That was directly contrary to White House policy and was defeated.

"Yes, I wanted that 25 per cent motion to pass," Robinson said. "You know the voters are going to begin asking question pretty soon now. They are going to look at the debt and look at their taxes and they are going to ask their representatives in congress 'What were you doing when all that debt was piled up?'"

GROWTH RAPID FOR COUNTY HEALTH UNIT, REPORT SHOWS

YEAR'S ADVANCE EARNS 7TH RANK IN ENTIRE WEST

Functions of Institution Are Listed in Summary Issued By Director

Within the period of one year the Twin Falls county health unit, under two directors, has grown from a small scale start until today at the end of the fiscal year it is ranked seventh among all county health units in the western states, it was revealed here this afternoon with completion of a comprehensive report of work accomplished by the unit during the first year of its life, which ended June 30.

The report was completed under the supervision of the present director, Dr. H. L. McFarlin, former director of the unit was Dr. J. W. Hawkins, now state director of the department of public health, and previous to that the unit was in charge of Dr. L. C. Kroeber.

In the report acknowledgment is made for cooperation by the county commissioners, the county medical and dental societies, and other local organizations and individuals interested in the welfare of the public.

The program established "the report reads, "is of an educational and preventive nature rather than curative. All medical problems are referred to the family physician or to the hospital and laboratory for material and infant care.

"The laboratory was established to carry on bacteriological work of communicable nature, serology and water and milk analysis. The facilities of this laboratory have been used extensively in the control of typhoid, diphtheria, and other communicable diseases and in the study of special problems that have arisen.

Staff Classes "Weekly classes for the entire staff at which time topics of interest are discussed by everyone," the report continues.

An example of the work accomplished by the unit during the year is immunizations and tests made. The tests and vaccinations include 1,412 vaccinations against smallpox; 1,492 immunizations against diphtheria; 103 against typhoid; 51 Schick tests; 51 Dick tests; and 1,116 tuberculin tests.

The report, as compiled by Dr. McFarlin, goes into detail concerning the work of the unit being accomplished in a detailed statistical report. Both the narrative report and the statistical report will be sent to Boise to the state health department.

New Quarters "The unit is now located in new quarters across from the American Legion hall in the recently reconstructed county office building. Formerly it was located in the basement of the old county office at the county general hospital.

Like to one of the most outstanding accomplishments of the unit during the last year of its life is the establishment of the infant and child hygiene conference held weekly at the county health department. These conferences started the work of a group of public health workers in the state division of public health, the local health unit, the county medical society and interested individuals in the community.

Other work featured in the report includes the use of the health unit of Twin Falls as well as all schools throughout the county, the crippled children program, adult hygiene, sanitation, water, milk, sewage and others.

LOSS UNKNOWN IN FIRE AT GARAGE

BULLH, July 14 (Special)—Amount of the loss had not been determined today following the destruction by fire of the Bluff Hotel garage.

Cause of the blaze was unknown. It was discovered at 8 a. m. by a passerby who called the Bluff Hotel fire department. However, the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save either building.

Merle Gott was service station operator and Bluff Hotel was garage owner.

Flying Merely Bored Girl, 9, At Controls

WILMINGTON, Del., July 14.—A 9-year-old Barbara Jane Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Burns, went up with her parents in a ship piloted by Hagar Horner.

Horner took the girl in his lap and let her handle the controls for five miles, probably thinking he was giving her the thrill of her life.

But Barbara yawned, stretched, and promptly fell sound asleep in the cockpit.

Under President Lazarus Cordana's health program 11,925,577 Whippoorwill—two-thirds of the country's population—have been vaccinated against smallpox in the last three years.

Camp's Youngsters, Thin and Pale Now, Soon Grow Healthy

They'll Gain 10 Pounds and Acquire That Healthful Sun-Tan Before Long

They may be thin and pale now, those 70-odd children at McCloskey Memorial health camp at Bullh, but at the end of the six-week session they will be on the average of 10 pounds heavier and healthfully tanned from plenty of nourishing food and well-regulated life.

As the children forget their first attacks of homesickness their development will show a steady gain, staff members have learned from past sessions of the camp their program is simplified to avoid overtaxing the nervous children and to allow them the greatest opportunity possible to enjoy the camp.

Quiet pursuits and rest are emphasized although short periods of each morning and afternoon are devoted to some of the camp's numerous outdoor games which are entered into with zest by children and teachers as well. Construction classes occupy an important place on the day's schedule with the boys being taught the use of tools and to assist in the maintenance of the camp by doing simple repairs.

In addition both boys and girls are responsible for making their beds and keeping the dormitories ship-shape. Some of the smallest children's beds are lumpy, perhaps, and the covers are inclined to drag the floor on the morning when there is no assistance offered by staff members in this part of the day's routine.

Wash Clothing "The children also are responsible for washing their own clothing except the bulkier outer garments which are done in the camp laundry. Face washing and tooth brushing is, of course, done by each child for himself although a number had to be taught how and why during the first few days of the session.

The day's schedule for the boys and girls, though similar, is entirely separate until evening when their play is allowed. Plans are now underway to replace this period with camp fire sessions since the children are unable to sleep when there is a subsequent failure to gain weight.

During the day the older girls and boys are given health talks and first-aid classes by Miss M. E. Elva, resident nurse. Other occupations of the day include the making of camp books giving an outline of the session, singing and dancing.

Five Meals Daily "Five meals—breakfast, lunch and dinner with two nourishing menus" breaking the mornings and afternoon are given the children and these found in simple food is also given hot food in the form of soups used in the menus and a quantity of milk is given to the children.

"Citizens' Eye Twin Falls But Give No Opinions

They Take Notice of Food But Otherwise They're Not Much Concerned

All day long two "letters" of Twin Falls sit in their "cell" and gaze out into the traffic of human lines at the main downtown Main avenue south.

What they think of that traffic, or Twin Falls and its inhabitants in general, will never be known because they both refuse to talk. They make noises with their mouths but understand words emerge.

Sitting there, all shut in, they amuse themselves by playing tag once in a while. The tower of the two is more playful and does a lot of running around and "bothering" the larger one. But the larger one takes no notice.

Assuming a dignified pose the larger of the two gazes out into space, probably "longing" for home, wherever that might be. They do sit up and take notice, however, when the feed bell rings, anything like being tickled, even when they're literally "in jail."

But otherwise their lives are none or less the same thing day in and day out.

They don't care what's showing in the windows of the theaters or that the Harmon park pool is to be drained and cleaned. They do even read the newspapers and the news of the world means nothing to them.

They are two monkeys who reside in an outside cage of the Haysa H. Grande hatchery.
