All reference to the supreme court was blotted out of the judiciary bill.

It provides immediate opportunity for federal intervention in lower courts when constitutional rights of citizens are challenged. If a district court holds an act unconstitutional, the compromise measure permits the justice department to appeal directly to the supreme court, skipping the circuit courts of appeal.

Under the new legislation, injunctions against acts of congress must be passed on by three-judge courts and at least one of the judges must be from the circuit bench.

The final new provision permits the senior judge of any circuit to assign judges within that circuit to specific hearings of cases.

Mr. Roosevelt welcomes these changes but believes they do not go far enough. He is expected to raise the supreme court issue next session, perhaps after some "friendly chat" preliminaries during the recess of congress.

TEACHERS MEET SET FOR SEPT. 6

Gathering of Instructors Will Be Inaugural Event in New Term

for the coming school year officials and teachers endeavored to spare the extra-curricular activities throughout the year rather than having them all crowded into the last few weeks of the spring term. Because of this arrangement, gymnastics as the senior play have been advanced to the first rather than being left in the second semester program as has heretofore been the custom.

School Calendar
Events of the next year listed by weeks have been outlined as follows (the date is on Monday with the event scheduled to take place sometime that week):

Sept. 20 and 27, football; Oct. 4, football; Oct. 11, examinations; Oct. 18, football; Oct. 25, all school play.

Nov. 1 and 8, football; Nov. 15, inter-class debate and a football game; Nov. 22, examinations and football; Dec. 6, senior play; Dec. 13, variety debut try-outs; Dec. 20 and 27, Christmas vacation.

Jan. 1, opening of school after vacation; Jan. 17, examinations; Jan. 31, high school opening; Feb. 13, junior play; Feb. 27, examinations; Mar. 6, district basketball tournament; Mar. 13, state basketball tournament; Mar. 27, junior high school opening.

Apr. 3, district declaration contest; Apr. 10, examinations; Apr. 17, junior play; Apr. 24, district basketball contest; Apr. 24, district music festival; May 1, state music festival; May 15, school exhibit; May 24, examinations.

Mr. Hechtner pointed out that all major outside activities, such as plays, have been scheduled just two weeks after an examination so that the activities will not interfere with a student's scholastic record. He will have four weeks in which to prepare for the next exam.

NEW YORK RAIN DROPS BUILDING

Four Other Persons Killed in Metropolitan District By Drowning, Lightning

Follicleman Is Hero
McBreen died a hero, attempting to save two children. Police had a ladder to the roof pool and he had climbed into the building. A moment after he disappeared the structure fell.

So terrific was the rain and thunderstorm that the building's fall was not audible above the din of the elements.

All the bodies were crushed. Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and Police Commissioner Lewis K. Valentine reached the scene at dawn. The mayor promised an investigation to determine the cause of the collapse.

Tom Hurley, husband of one of the victims, escaped because he had gone to the movies. He said that three weeks ago the building was similarly flooded by waters pouring down the slope from Henry street.

The bodies, as quickly as they were found were carried to a filthy shack on Jersey street plastered with posters which read:

"See the circus." Visiting Relatives Three of the victims—Mrs. Budnick, Mrs. Hurley and Beatrice Mallick—were sisters. Mrs. Budnick and her children were visiting the Hurleys when the house crashed.

Three persons escaped from the wreckage alive. They were Louis Peterson, 41; James Mitchell, 72, and Mrs. Marie Coral, 28, whose husband was killed. They were taken to a hospital suffering from severe injuries.

More than 300 firemen and policemen reached the debris. As they worked pathetic evidence of poverty—battered bathtubs, old worn mattresses, cans of food and now splintered furniture—came into view.

When the structure fell it broke clean from an adjacent dwelling which fronts on Jersey street, leaving four patches of wall covered with solid green and pink wall paper.

The crashing building tipped the wall away from the structure on the other side, a warehouse, leaving the rooms exposed.

Lewis Embarks Labor's Non-Partisan League on Test Program

CITY ELECTIONS TO BE SCENE OF NEW SKIRMISHES

Candidates Expected to Be Endorsed in Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago

By C. L. SULZBERGER
Copyright, 1937, United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UP)—John L. Lewis today embarked his political affiliate, Labor's Non-Partisan league, on a test program of preliminary skirmishes in the municipal elections of industrial cities.

Close associates of the league chairman, who also heads the committee for industrial organization, said this constituted an initial tactic in what might develop into a third party movement built upon labor and farm support.

Major Cities Named
They said that definite plans had been made for the league to inject its influence — through endorsing majority candidates — into the politics of several major cities including New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Philadelphia.

It was learned that William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, recently conferred with Lewis and discussed possibility of league support in the 1939 Chicago mayoralty contest in which, C. L. O. sources reported, Thompson plans to attempt a come-back.

Chicago Election Distant
Lewis is telling friends however that the Chicago election is still too far off and the league has not decided whether it will support Thompson.

The New York, Detroit and Pittsburgh municipal contests come this fall. The Philadelphia election is in 1939.

In New York and Detroit the league has announced support of two candidates. It is backing Fiorello H. La Guardia for reelection in New York through a political affiliate, the American Labor party. In Detroit, it supports, largely through the United Automobile Workers union, Patrick H. O'Brien.

SHIPS COLLIDE IN ATLANTIC'S FOG

Duchess of Atholl Picks Up Crew of Freighter After Accident

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (UP)—The passenger liner Duchess of Atholl, after colliding with the Danish freighter Maine, picked up 173 miles southeast of Boston, removed the Maine's crew and abandoned the Maine in a sinking condition, she reported by radio today.

The collision occurred last night. The fog persisted and at dawn the Duchess was stranded by the abandoned freighter, awaiting arrival of a tug. The Duchess' master feared that wreckage, adrift in the sea lanes, might drift into the path of another vessel.

Her radio warned all vessels that the Maine constituted a menace to navigation and gave the precise position. Her messages were intercepted by Mackay radio here.

Alabama Fiend Cuts Off Legs of Animals; Police Enter Search

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 12 (UP)—Animal lovers handed today in a hunt for the man who cuts off the legs of cats and dogs "to see them suffer."

Fearful lest the unidentified man's sadistic traits might cause him to attack children, police entered the hunt and warned all residents of suburban Fairfield, where the man's mutilation of animals had occurred, to keep their pets indoors.

The hunt was led by Mrs. Charles Wietan, secretary of the Humane society. She broadcast an appeal for residents to be on the lookout for the "fiend of Fairfield."

The torturer's second victim died in the humane society hospital yesterday. It was a month-old kitten whose left paw had been sawed off.

The circumstances of its mutilation colored almost exactly with that of a Fox-Terrier puppy found Thursday with his hind legs sawed off.

Circus Day Comes Again Friday for Twin Falls

Here you see Gene Allen, lovely member of the Cole Brothers' circus, astride Trilby, one of the No. 1 elephants in the big herd which accompanies the show to Twin Falls for a Friday afternoon performance. Clyde Beatty and Ken Maynard are the two featured attractions in the Cole troupe.

Society of Circus Greeters Will Be Out in Force Friday

The informal society of circus greeters will be out in force Friday morning. While most of Twin Falls is still sleeping—or is beginning to worry about arising—the giant Cole Brothers' circus will pull onto the sidings at the depot and will start the mighty job of unloading.

The big show will be offered at the circus grounds near Kimberly road and Locust street at 2 p. m. only. There will be no night performance, but a colorful circus parade will wind through downtown streets at 11 a. m., first such parade here in many years.

6 A. M. or Thereabouts
Vanguard of the circus trains, the "flying squadron," is scheduled to reach here about 6 a. m., unless it is delayed, the management said. It is due to leave Idaho Falls at 10 o'clock tonight. Other trains will depart at intervals of two hours.

As fast as the trains arrive tomorrow morning they will be packed on convenient sidings where the work of unloading will go forward. Some 200 odd baggage wagons, cages, dens, all-glassed trucks and other vehicles will be transferred to the show grounds as quickly as possible.

Twenty-two tents covering 12 acres of ground are used to house the transient city. The largest tent is the "big top" and is among the largest reaches of canvas ever used by a circus. It is almost two city blocks in length. The menagerie tent is of great size, being 80 feet longer than any similar tent used by a circus. It is supported chiefly by nine center poles, larger than the usual ones used on the large sea sailing vessels.

In the street parade will be seen hundreds of horses, 30 elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert. In the picture show line of march will be more than three cars elaborately carved and painted.

3-Months Old Strike Is Ended in Maryland
CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 12 (UP)—The committee for industrial organization strike at the N. and G. Taylor Tube mill, subsidiary of Republic Steel corporation, ended early today when an agreement was signed by J. Philip Hanahan, attorney for the strikers, and Mayor Thomas W. Koon of Cumberland.

The pact, settling a strike called nearly three months ago to force the company to enter into a signed agreement with the union, was believed to call for a return to work of the some 200 employees who had refused to join 200 others in a back-to-work movement.

McDONALD IN HALEY
HAILEY, Aug. 12 (Special)—James McDonald III, son of the late Judge and Haley Highland Oil man, has arrived in Haley for a business stay of five or six weeks. He is visiting at the home of Mrs. Nora P.

FINAL VICTIM OF CRASH IS FOUND

Body of Co-Pilot Bogen Last To Be Discovered in WAE Disaster

ALPINE, Utah, Aug. 12 (UP)—An eight months search for the victims and cargo of a Western Air Express plane that crashed into Lake Harte peak before Christmas last winter, ended an end today after recovery of the body of Co-Pilot William L. Bogen.

His body, last of the seven of those who died, was found last night in the snows at the base of the granite cliff. The other six had been removed at intervals since the wreckage was first located in June.

The area remained closed to the public on orders of the postoffice department. A few pieces of mail were still missing.

The search for bodies ended, Frank Eastman, district operations manager of the airlines, announced that the formal investigation of the crash by the U. S. bureau of aeronautics, would begin, probably this week-end.

That completed, Eastman said, forest rangers would be asked to blast away the top of Lake Harte peak and bury the plane's wreckage to discourage souvenir hunters from making the mountain climb.

The long search cost an estimated $50,000 and the plane was another $70,000 loss. Eastman said that 200 planes had used 100,000 gallons of gasoline in the search, and 5,000 men including CCC workers, forestry men and national guardsmen had been employed.

"Peking Man" Skull 750,000 Years Old is Found in China

By KENNETH SURFACE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 (UP)—Dr. Ralph Chien, of the University of California, and the Carnegie institute, announced today that the skull of a "Peking Man," believed to be 750,000 years old, had been discovered in a limestone cave near Peking.

The skull was the first complete one of its kind ever discovered. Dr. Chien said, "and is a priceless treasure of inestimable value to the scientific world."

He described the skull as being almost completely intact and containing six teeth. If further study bears out present conclusions it will furnish science with its oldest relic of a race of semi-humans, long since wiped off the earth, he said.

The skull was found July 6 by Dr. Franz Weidenreich, director of the new university of geology in Peking. Scientists working with this laboratory have been concentrating their work in the Peking area for years and found several partial skulls previously.

"Early and incomplete studies of the new discovery of the skull have shown that there has been little change in the facial characteristics of the Mongolian race in the thousands of centuries which have passed since the 'Peking man' lived," the doctor said.

"Previous discoveries permitted us to reconstruct part of the head, the lower jaw and skull. We know what he ate and how he lived. Now, with the upper jaw in our hands, we have a complete picture of this ancient man."

"We know, thanks to this last finding, that 'Peking Man' looked surprisingly like the present day Mongol. He had the typical high cheek bones and many of the other characteristics that feature the modern race."

"Since Peking man lived at least 750,000 to 750,000 years ago, it is evident that the Mongolian features are no recent addition to the world."

The doctor said the skull was discovered, entirely imbedded in limestone in a natural cave outside Peking the day before fighting broke out between Japan and China.

"If it had not been found then there is a question whether it would have been located for months, if at all," he said.

"The skull was taken to Peking where it will be studied and the results of scientific research will be published later in both the Chinese and English languages."

FRENCH LIBRARY IN NEW ORLEANS REMAINS GALIC
NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Phung, Frenchman, owner of the French library in New Orleans, said that the library, which has been in the city since 1922, never has learned to speak English.

"E-e-n-g-l-i-s-h," she laughingly questions anyone addressing her in that tongue. "Mais, non! Je ne parle pas l'anglais. No several E-e-n-g-l-i-s-h. Only French."

Then, to one who can understand her, she explains she is afraid English would spoil her French and hurt her business.

For fourteen years she has transacted business mostly with Americans, and without one word of English at her command waits on every customer who comes to her little shop.

Regular tourists know of Mme. de Bruyne's book store, and her order books contain entries from Maine to Hawaii.

Mme. de Bruyne was born and educated in Paris. In 1922 she came to New Orleans to visit a married daughter, and never returned to her native France. Within 30 days after her arrival she opened the store.

"She imports all her books and has the best selection of her native country. In addition she can furnish the customer the works of Moliere, Voltaire, Lamartine, and other famous French authors."

POLICE SEEK TO CLEAR YOUTH, 15

Body of Uncle Exhumed and Reveals Poison, State Toxicologist Says

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Aug. 12 (UP)—Authorities and scientists who hope to clear 15-year-old Harold Best of the charge that he killed his younger sister, awaited today a coroner's inquest into the death of their uncle whose exhumed body showed traces of poison.

The uncle, Orla Shaw, died little more than two weeks after Mildred Best, 11, was killed by a rifle bullet as she slept at his home.

Harold, sleeping in another room when her body was found, twice has confessed he killed her and repudiated each confession.

Exhumation of Shaw's body was ordered on petition of Carl N. Hill, attorney for Harold; after criminologists said "the detector" and "truth serum" tests showed the youth lied in both confessions and possibly "was shielding someone."

Dr. Frank L. Konzel, state toxicologist, reported last night that he found "acute or sub-acute" arsenic poisoning in the body of Shaw. The uncle's death originally had been attributed to a nervous breakdown and accompanying disorders.

The present system providing for all payments to be made within 30 days.

The "Next Election"

Despite other evidence to the contrary, the "next election" campaign is on. And it is gathering momentum so fast that from now until 1940, the electorate is going to have to be the best read, the best informed and the keenest in the nation's history if the vote follows the real issues.

This is assuming, of course, that campaigns generally will follow the course indicated in Pennsylvania and New York City. Political quarrels which already have attained robust proportions in those places provide cues for what may be coming in other localities.

Just what the issues will be is as much a problem to the politicians as to the voters. Maybe they will all develop as nicely as the issue in Pennsylvania, which was handed to Mayor S. Davis Wilson on a silver platter when a state policeman was arrested for tapping phone wires leading to the home of the mayor's secretary.

In reprisal for this attempt to "ruin him politically," and to meet the "challenge" from the New Deal governor, George H. Earle, Mayor Wilson announced that he would reverse a previous decision and run for governor. So, although the election is about 15 months off, Mayor Wilson immediately opened his campaign in the coal area. That's how simple that was.

In New York City, the mayoralty race is more confusing. Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, elected in 1933 by a Democrat-Republican coalition, is running again, this time under the banners of the American Labor Party, Socialists, Communists, and orphaned Democrats and Republicans.

On the other side are Judge J. T. Mahoney and Senator Royal Copeland, fighting for Democratic Tammany Hall's support. But Senator Copeland has announced that he will enter the Republican primary. And adding to the confusion, Al Smith, a "London" Democrat, re-enters the scene as master-wielder of the strings by which Tammany is trying to control its wayward members.

Rather than believe that invasion of a private telephone line—no matter whose—qualifies as a legitimate basis for a campaign, people would rather have an out and out fairy story with a happier ending. And rather than wade through a slough of synthetic issues and personal grudges, they would much prefer to return to voting simply for the best man.

Nevertheless, when the elections roll around, politicians will expect people to knuckle down unquestioningly again and pull the right levers or mark the X in the proper places.

The campaign is on. The politicians know it and are making the most of it. And if the people expect to do better than second best in the results they will have to get organized too—starting now.

Informal Diplomacy

They laughed when Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain sat down to write a personal letter to Premier Benito Mussolini. And then they gasped—for the prime minister struck just the note that brought the lost chord out of the old European bandbox. And in perfect harmony, Il Duce answered.

Thus Great Britain and Italy reached out to join hands, with a full-fledged accord in sight and the immediate benefit of a resumption of journalistic relations, broken at coronation time.

It was all so unprecedented, so non-diplomatic, experts said, for two powerful figures of two powerful nations to be writing directly to each other about their troubles. Maybe the novelty appealed to Mussolini. Maybe the elimination of the diplomatic bluffing brigade had something to do with it.

But the idea worked, and it proved the efficacy of sitting down with an adversary and hashing out differences man to man. And it sounds like an idea that ought to be tried more often.

Equal Duty in Traffic

A WPA project to study traffic accidents in four Massachusetts cities during the five years ending with 1936 found that of the 356 pedestrian deaths in that time, the pedestrian was at fault in 286 cases. In other words, 78 per cent of these people were victims of their own mistakes.

While this does not by any means lessen driver responsibility, it does indicate that the walker should obey traffic signals, cross streets by walking directly from one curb to the other, and otherwise observe the rules of safety and courtesy.

Figures such as those obtained by the WPA provide the basis for additions to city traffic codes. And when this is done, the aggrieved pedestrian who is stumping for his "day in court" may get it—on a basis of equal responsibility with the motorist.

ALL ABOUT JOE AND THE "GENTLE" HORSE!

Dear Pot Shots: This being dudes on a ranch here some compensations. We know the next time anything happens we will be the wiser. Joe and I decided to go horse-back riding. Now we will saddle our own horses. So, what does Joe do to go into the corral and select what he thinks is a nice gentle horse. Grabbing a bridle, he goes to chasing the old thing, and after a while he corners him in the lower part of the ground.

Joe's horse, he says, as he comes nearer and nearer to him. They told us to throw a rope over the horse's neck on coming up in Stanley. We understand he was having stage-fright. Well, Joe throws over a part of the rope and the horse jumps. He has put the bit upside down in the horse's mouth. He, he, he! Joe is a horse expert and I am coming running over.

Between the two of us we get everything on the horse's head. When it comes to the horse, we have a little trouble. We disagreed on which was the front and which was the hind. He wandered what to do with the blanket that was laying on top of the saddle.

We figured it was to keep the horse warm if it became too cold. Joe does all the pulling and pulling of the straps, and then prepares to mount. I give him some help by grabbing his foot and pushing him into the top of the horse.

The next thing I hear a yell, and Joe is sitting on the ground on the other side of the horse. We must have gone over the top. We next use the fence and Joe is on the horse.

I walk away and when next I look at Joe, he seems sort of different. He is holding and he seems to be laughing all around. All of a sudden the saddle comes loose and Joe is on the ground again. Well I will be seeing you.

CHAPTER I

KATHLEEN O'SHAN, had tossed back to face a sudden summer breeze, ran up the flight of rough stone steps to her studio, and butted smack into the janitor, who was sweeping.

"Oh Pat, I'm sorry!" she exclaimed. "Did—did I hurt you?"

"Ye didn't damage a thing, Miss Kathy, but me smoke." A smile wreathed the little man's ruddy, dried-apple face. He retrieved his stubby pipe from the grass beside the walk. "A washin' won't be hurtin' it now, I'm thinkin'. Got a stack of books to write today? Ye seem in a great hurry." His shrewd squinting eyes noted her strained frown.

"Yes, I've got to write a lot whether I have them or not. That rent's almost due again you know, but it's awfully hard to think about love this kind of weather. She pulled off her beret and let the wind whip her black curls as though it might bring her an idea.

"Sure now, Miss Kathy, it's the good saints this weather. We'll be havin' ye under their care. Don't ye be worryin' yer pretty head none." He grasped the broom and attacked the steps as though he were disposing of all earthly cares.

But after the door closed behind the girl, he stood in deep thought for a moment, his thick finger tapping down the tobacco in his pipe. Then he shook his head and went back to work. Kathleen's window where he could see her already bending over her desk.

"It's too young she is to be fightin' against the world all alone. Thin little rhymes she writes don't pay any more than enough to keep body and soul together. I wish—"

HIS thoughts were interrupted by a high-pitched voice above his head, as a young woman, with an amazing shock of fuzzy platinum blond hair, leaned from a window.

"Patrick, I want you to come up and move my couch. I just can't abide it where it is. It's nerves are all a-jangle looking at that north wall. Hurry!"

"Sure, and I'll be tearin' me shirt now, Miss, to get three answers to the girl's call, but I ain't as spry as I used ter be. Where ye think ye'd be wantin' that couch?"

"Sure, and I'll be tearin' me shirt now, Miss, to get three answers to the girl's call, but I ain't as spry as I used ter be. Where ye think ye'd be wantin' that couch?"

"The Duchess went in for surrealistic painting on an extensive scale. Fantastic canvases lined the walls and leaned at all angles against odd pieces of furniture.

"It's a big man in me neck," he said. The way Pat had described the studio to Kathleen once. "And the same goes for that girl and her rummery friends. Watch yer step."

She pulled off her beret and let the wind whip her black curls. Her blue eyes with their long curling lashes gave her an appealing look.

Now, Miss Kathy, around her. She said for the larks of ye."

"Oh I'm much too busy during the day to have time to get very well acquainted with the people who have studied in the house."

"Pat, Kathleen told him. "Be sides, they all go home at night, so I never have a chance to be acquainted with them. Some times I think it would be nice to have someone to talk to. I wouldn't be so lonesome and, well, it's kind of scary flying alone in the building. It's so old it creaks. Often I imagine I can hear footsteps upstairs, when I know it's empty."

But after that conversation, Pat had moved a cot into the basement storage room for himself, instead of staying at his brother's rooming house, where all his old cronies were wont to gather.

"The owner thinks 'aint safe to be leavin' the place so unoccupied at night," he explained to Kathleen. "So if ye hear any tromping around from now on, it's me."

BEHIND THE SCENES in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Every ballot box cast in the election construed as a measure of Roosevelt's popularity or unpopularity is being scrutinized with utmost care. At first glance it might seem that Senator Harry F. Byrd, persistent critic of the New Deal and heretofore undisputed political boss of Virginia, had just won a surprising defeat in the nomination for governor of Gov. James H. Price by a 5 to 1 Democratic nomination in Virginia means election).

BYRD'S FIRST DEFEAT Price entered the contest as an avowed anti-Byrd machine candidate and Byrd scoured the state for a man strong enough to oppose him. But no publicist could find a Byrd, and his record, as did most other Virginia candidates. There is no question that Byrd failed to see Price with and that Price is a somewhat more liberal, definitely more pro-Roosevelt man than Byrd.

But the picture is more complicated than that. Byrd has been found a man, although he tried out several, whose candidacy he could get off the ground. Many voters who ordinarily would vote for Byrd's machine voted for Price because his opponent, State Senator Vivian Page of Norfolk, obviously could win or become the first no Byrd-endorsed candidate. Voters who always want to be with the winner piled up on the Price bandwagon.

But Byrd is now expected to approach Price and urge an alliance which will leave the senator a political dictator.

Meanwhile, however, it can be reported that Harry Byrd and his machine have been beaten for the first time.

REED STILL BEST BET Solicitor General Stanley Reed is still the best bet as the next presidential appointee to the supreme court. Reed comes from Kentucky.

If Roosevelt may decide to play politics with the appointment and if he does he will not appoint Reed. If he decides he wants to make a bona fide of the senate nominees he will pick Reed.

Many of the city's correspondents in the White House inner circle of advisers, is by no means an impossibility. This correspondent's source in the city has about the best chance next to Reed.

MANY CLAIMS URGED All sorts of claims, many of them preposterous, are being urged on Roosevelt—some by men who may or may not know how bitterly Roosevelt hates them. One correspondent in Georgia writes that all Senator Walter F. George's friends are advocating Judge Gordon W. Chambliss, a city editor and a resident of Augusta, as the best man to succeed Justice Van Devanter. Judge Chambliss is said to be well pleased with the offer.

Thus far the chief reason behind the movement for Judge Chambliss is said to be the fact that if he doesn't get the nomination, he will run for the senate against George, an anti-New Dealer, next year. Chambliss won't be appointed. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

HISTORY of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO

August 12, 1922 Jack Reid, 16, and his brother, Francis, 15, were in this city Thursday when they were taken to the infirmary. They were taken to the infirmary Saturday, drifted up in Stanley and then across country, catching the train at Boise.

They got the autograph of Gov. Ben C. Clark at Salem and of Gov. D. W. Davis here while he was making his tour.

They went from here to Salt Lake City, where they stayed at the Yellowstone Inn and then back by way of Spokane.

27 YEARS AGO AUG. 12, 1915 J. D. Miller fell from a hay baler on which he was working last Tuesday afternoon and suffered some very painful injuries. He was carried to his home in the Newton addition, where Dr. Wilson dressed his wounds. Mr. Miller's head was badly hurt, his right arm fractured and his shoulder blade broken.

About 250 tons from Blackfoot will be in Twin Falls Sunday in clear for their team. The special excursion will arrive sometime Thursday morning, leaving Blackfoot for Twin Falls Saturday evening.

The work of constructing the new sewage improvement district No. 4, embracing territory in the south portion of the townsite, was begun yesterday morning. The work is in charge of Work, Messrs. H. O. Miller, C. B. Channel, and R. W. Jones are planning to make quick work of the job and avoid any cold weather.

NAIROS ROOSEVELT PHASED ALABAMAHO, N. J. — A former U. S. Navy gunner's mate, 31-year-old Conrad Bransberg, taught president Roosevelt the meaning of the word "phased" while he was in the army.

He among the best sleep agents in the country, Bransberg said.

Bransberg was the chief ornaments of ancient German tribes.

L. D. S. REUNION PLANS ARRANGED

The principal speakers will be Harold I. Velt of Los Angeles, who will give an illustrated lecture each evening on American Archaeology; J. L. Verhel, Portland, Ore.; and J. W. Bailey of Salt Lake City.

Classes will be conducted from 10 to 12 a. m. for both adults and children. The remainder of the afternoon will be devoted to volleyball, baseball, swimming and other sports. The evening meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to all sessions.

CHANNEL URGED OTTAWA, Ont. (U.P.) — A $10,000 dredging campaign, designed to prevent permanent blockage of the shipping channel between Montreal and Quebec, is recommended by a Canadian committee of engineers which has concluded a three-year survey of the Lawrence river valley.

On the other hand, there has not been a similar uniformity of reaction to the pollen of the tree.

In the perennial type of hay fever, the person is sensitive to pollen of other varieties than those of the pollen. The most important allergens are those which are absorbed and it is frequently found that if a person is sensitive to one of these pollen, he will be sensitive to all in the group. For instance, if a person is sensitive to ragweed, he may be sensitive to all of the ragweed group, such as the ragweed, the sunflower, the daisy, the dandelion, the clover, the alfalfa, the timothy, the orchard grass, the bluegrass, the fescue, the ryegrass, the brome, the oat, the corn, and the wheat.

On the other hand, there has not been a similar uniformity of reaction to the pollen of the tree.

YANKS POLISH OFF RED SOX IN TWO TILTS

Lead Increased to 11 1-2 Games; Cubs Defeat Pirates, 5-1

Bob Feller Wins Third Clash of Year from St. Louis Browns; Athletics Lose

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—Boston's Red Sox, who fought their way up from fourth to second place by winning 12 out of 13 games, pulled themselves out of the wreckage of a double defeat today.

But the horrible part of it is that they have to crawl back into Fenway park today for another twin brush against the Yankees.

The Yanks just polished off the White Sox in four straight, Boston was all excited about the Red Sox chances and 36,127 persons jammed Fenway park for the "crammed" battle.

The Yanks routed their last challengers, 8-5, in 14 innings and 10-4 in seven innings. It was the Yankees' 10th straight victory and improved their lead to 11 1/2 games.

Uphill Battles

It isn't so much the defeat, but it's the way the Yanks do it. They break their rivals' heart in the bargain. At the start of each game they go in with a bang.

The Yanks blasted away with a homer, Joe DiMaggio hit his 33rd with a man on in the first inning of the opener and then Lou Gehrig cracked his 20th with two men on.

The Red Sox had to fight uphill in both games. They tied the first game, 4-4, in the ninth but the tension was too much for them.

They cracked wide open in the 14th and the Yanks poured over four runs.

In the second game the Yanks got away to a four-run lead and the Red Sox fought valiantly to tie the score, 4-4. But the Yanks slammed over six runs in the sixth.

Near-Free-For-All

The Yanks always put on a big show. They almost precipitated a free-for-all in the twinning of the first game. Jack Powell got caught in a rundown between second and third and charged into Pinky Higgins.

The players squared away but the umpires quickly quelled the uprising. Miffel Houder crashed into Catcher Moss Berg in the first game, and Berg had to retire.

Catcher Moss Berg was tossed out of the first game for protesting decisions on balls and strikes by Umpire Kolls, and First Baseman Jimmy Foss had to go behind the bat.

Feller Wins

In the other American league games Cleveland won a double-header from the St. Louis Browns, 5-2 and 4-0, and the Athletics beat the Athletics, 5-4. Bob Feller beat the Browns to seven hits, three of them scratches, to score his third victory of the season.

Original "Batting Casey" Leaves Objects of Art

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 12 (U.P.)—The household furnishings of O. Robinson, a local farmer, were auctioned off by the city of Syracuse, N. Y., after the original of De Wolfe Hopper's "Casey at the Bat" went for a "senior" when they were auctioned to settle his estate.

The liveliest bidding was for a nine-piece dining-room suite in Jacobson style. The suite was sold for $75 when the auctioneer refused to recognize any jump bids of less than $25. New, 5-1/2 x 11 glass bowls and similar articles sold for anywhere from a dime to $1.50. Oil paintings went for $1.50 to $4.

Casey, in his younger days a football player, was superintendent of the S.P.O.A. here at the time of his death.

By HENRY McLEMORE

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—One more broken bone and one more laceration and the Chicago Cubs will break the mark for injuries established by the old Baltimore Orioles, the writer learned today in an exclusive interview with the registered nurse who keeps the log book on the Chicago team.

MUSEUM PARTY WILL VISIT IN FIJI

21st Expedition Will Attempt To Throw Light on Jungle Territory

HONOLULU, U.S.—Bishop Museum has announced the sailing in the near future of the 21st expedition to throw further light on the jungles and jungle life of the Pacific islands. This one year will be directed especially to the Fiji Islands.

Since the museum was founded in 1892, one of the principal objectives has been to organize scientific expeditions to unravel the gradual development of the islands and life of the Pacific.

In this instance, for example, the expedition, which will be headed by Dr. H. V. Johnston, will endeavor to establish how in the great unexplored mountain ranges of the island of Viti Levu the forest of low-lying Hawaiian islands were propagated by flowers and trees from the Fiji Islands.

In 20 expeditions, men from the museum have risked their lives for science as far south as Papua on South latitude 27 degrees and as far west as Fiji on the 180th Meridian.

The result has been that Bishop Museum is gradually building up a Pacific collection that is without parallel in the world today. The museum is being aided greatly by the fact that foreign governments are permitting establishment of research expeditions to their islands.

"Van-Tage Was What I Needed"

Suffered Years with Gassy Indigestion and Rheumatic Pain; Now Relieved.

Some of the Best-Known People of This Section are endorsing Van-Tage, the "Amazing New Food." Van-Tage is being introduced in Twin Falls. Just a few days ago Mr. C. G. Merrill, of 100 15th St., Denver, Colo., made the following statement:

"I had been suffering with gassy indigestion for many years. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I had to avoid greasy or starchy foods, as these things caused me to have awful attacks of heartburn. I tried all kinds of food, and I even went on a seventeen-day fast without any noticeable benefit. I started suffering from a bad rheumatic condition caused by indigestion in my system. I heard about Van-Tage and started taking it, and now I am able to eat what I choose. The gassy indigestion and heartburn after my meals have been relieved. And the cleansing action of Van-Tage has given me wonderful relief from my rheumatic pain. I am feeling better every day, thanks to Van-Tage."

VAN-TAGE contains 21 Great Herbs as used in a dozen old and splendid ingredients, which help cleanse bowels bring forth gas from stomach and invigorate kidneys. It is different from other laxatives in that it is pleasant to take. Van-Tage is reasonable in price, so don't hesitate. Get it TODAY at the Schramm-Johnson Drug Store, 109 N. Main St.

PIONEER DAYS ARE RECALLED BY TWINS, 81

MANKATO, Minn. (UP)—Mankato claims the oldest twins in the north-west—Mrs. Clara Hodapp and John Krost. (They'll be 82 next Christmas.)

The twins were born in 1855 at St. Anthony, now Minneapolis, the first children of Mrs. and Mrs. John Peter Krost. The family moved to Mankato in 1887, the year of the Inkpadut massacre, when Mankato was a struggling pioneer settlement.

Heretofore, Donald and Mary Blair claimed to be "about the oldest twins in the northwest."

Krost says "they're just a couple of youngsters compared to us."

Astronomer Has to be Expert Mechanic, Reporter Reveals

By HILLIER KREIGHBAUM WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UP)—

A good astronomer has to be an expert mechanic too, I learned today as I watched naval observatory experts take photographs of Pinder's comet through their mammoth 40-inch telescope.

Setting the lens of machinery in order for a single picture of the tiny comet, now swinging away from the earth, is comparable to setting up a three-ring circus tent for one lonely peanut vendor.

There is a clock-like arrangement which keeps the lens focused on the object to be photographed, this counteracts the movement of the earth. Then the dome of the observatory moves around so that a narrow space opens on the sky just above the telescope. Finally the telescope itself, which weighs a ton, has to be adjusted for two photographs.

Just before they made their photographs, astronomers let me have a peep at the much-discussed celestial unknown. I saw a pin head of light with a halo that looked like midday.

Then U. S. Lyons, assistant astronomer, told me that this comet has little of the luminous train which is commonly associated with all comets. It has very little tail streaming behind it in its path. It has, in a Broadway phrase, "laid an egg."

Lyons said that in previous observations he has seen what appears to be three small streamers falling flowing from Pinder's comet. Other observers have not noted the three tails, he said.

The 40-inch mirror of the naval observatory is used mostly for photographic purposes and almost no laymen have seen the comet through this telescope which brings it many millions of miles closer than when seen through the naked eye.

Many things are topsy-turvy in the observation dome. For instance, you don't look at the comet but at a mirror which reflects the picture on the reflecting mirror just a few inches from the observer's nose.

To keep the telescope fixed on the comet, the astronomers had to operate a slow motion gadget which made the stars appear as if they were sliding on the photograph.

Lyons estimated that the comet was moving at 150 miles a second compared to the earth's speed of 18 and a half miles a second.

Woman Collects Bells From Remote Places

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—"Oh, father, I hear the sound of church bells! Oh, say what can they be?" "It's but a woman's hobby, daughter; a sight that's strange to see."

That's what they're reciting out Lamdowne way, for Mrs. Charles S. Musser has one of the strangest hobbies of all—the collection of rare bells. She gets them from church steeples, temple spires, cloistered monasteries, cow herds, school houses and everywhere else where the ringing of bells is used to declare a message.

In every corner of her house are bells. They come from the pharaohs of Thebes, from the heart of the African jungle, and from the decks of storm-washed ships at sea.

One bell came from a Buddhist temple dating back more than 500 years to the Ming dynasty. Another is from the battlements of Min, while a third is an altar bell from the Virgin Islands.

Fuehrer Sh-shs Romantic Talk

That gesture of Chancellor Miller's isn't a salute. To cameramen at the Beyrouth festival, eager to record this meeting with Frau Winifred Wagner (advancing with hand extended), he is saying something like: "Now, boys, none of that! Pictures are verboten." Thus he tries to shut recurrent rumors of a romantic connection with the great composer's relative.

Eye-Witness Gives Account of Staten Island Collapse Tragedy

(Editor's note: Following is an eye-witness account of the disastrous tenement collapse in Staten Island.)

By MRS. MARY BRIGGS
Written for United Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—I was sitting at a window of my second-story room at No. 9 Jersey street when the tenement building on Jersey street collapsed with a 'scrumching' noise such as an egg makes when it is crushed.

About an hour before the crash I heard the sound of screaming. Water was at least four feet deep in the room. There were several women and some children. Francis Carsten (one of the dead) was with them.

I heard his mother say: "Francis you go call the police." Francis took a board and made a bridge to the next building. He climbed across from the porch of his house through the window of the next and I guess he hunted up a 'phone and called the police.

The cops came and threw a ladder from the Jersey street building across to the tenement. One of them went across the ladder and I could see him holding the women and children together and starting them out.

The big, heavy woman (Mrs. Mary Peterson, who was killed) started to crawl out on the ladder. She had her daughter (six-year-old Louise Peterson, also one of the dead) in her arms.

House Falls
Before she got all the way on it, the house seemed to fold in from the top and sides. There was a 'scrumch' a lot of screams and howls, and a fountain of water shot up from the hole. There were flashes of brilliant light when the electric wires were torn loose. Then there was silence.

I saw one man in the water up to his neck. I don't see how anybody escaped.

Strychnine

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—Gertrude Fisher, 14 months old, swallowed some strychnine tablets that fell from a medicine chest.

Dr. John R. Llewellyn owns a dog that once was poisoned with strychnine.

The doctor had watched a veterinarian, J. C. Fife, save his dog with an intravenous method. He inquired as to the details of the remedy.

When ordinary methods failed to stop Gertrude's convulsions, Dr. Llewellyn applied the veterinarian's method.

Gertrude, like the dog, lived.

HAGERMAN OPENS CANNING FACTORY

Production Will Be Given to Needy Families Within L. D. S. Church

HAGERMAN, Aug. 12 (Special)—A canning factory has started operations under the auspices of the local LDS Church today, Harry Watson in charge.

The factory is located in the building at the rear of the hotel. All canned goods will be used for church relief purposes, according to Bishop Pugmire.

Last year more than 8,000 cans of fruits and vegetables were prepared, half of which were sent to other localities for needy members of the church.

A new electric boiler is being installed, which will bring the factory to 100 per cent capacity. Custom canning will be on a 45 per cent basis, or at a six cent per can rate.

Captain Gets Surprise As 2 Naked Stowaways Race Across Ship Deck

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 12 (U.P.)—Capt. J. V. Smith of the freighter, Robert, today handed over to the government a couple of stowaways and said he was the most surprised person in the world when they ran across his deck, both stark naked. One was a woman.

"We were 18 days out of Rotterdam when cargo in one of the hatches caught fire," Captain Smith said. "We started fighting the fire and I heard the male yell and I turned out. There was this woman, running, and right behind her the man."

The woman was Mrs. Esther Worman, 27, of London, the man Abram S. Kipper, 37, of Poland.

Mrs. Worman said she was trying to get to New York to locate her prize fighter husband.

"When I slipped aboard at Rotterdam this fellow Kipper already was in there hiding," she said. "He had come aboard at Antwerp. We had some canned goods to eat. It was so awful hot in the hold that we decided to dress as scantily as possible. Anyway, it was so dark you couldn't see a thing."

The couple will be deported. The fire, incidentally, caused little damage.
