As Searchers Hunted Ruins for Victims

This jumbled pile of bricks, splintered walls and twisted pipes formed the tragic monument for at least 10 persons who died as their home, a six-family dwelling on Staten Island, crashed to the earth during a terrific thunderstorm. Its foundations undermined by rushing flood waters, the building fell with almost no warning, ripping the wall from an adjacent building, leaving its rooms exposed as shown here. Policemen and firemen who assisted in the frantic rescue work are shown searching through the debris.

Debris and twisted metal, nearly buried by the crumbled mass of brick, planks and plaster, Mrs. Marie Coral was barely alive when frantic rescuers dragged her from the ruins. Mrs. Coral's husband, Louis, 38, was one of the 10 whose lives were snuffed out as the structure crumbled.

AUTHORS BATTLE IN BOOK OFFICE

Hemingway Offers $1,000 For Return "Bout" With Max Eastman

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—Ernest Hemingway offered a purse of $1,000 today for a return bout—a fight to a finish—with author Max Eastman.

All holds and, apparently, brass knuckles would be allowed. Hemingway's only condition was that Eastman meet him in a locked room "with all legal and mutual rights waived, and let the best man unlock the door."

This proposed bout between the heavyweights. Hemingway would weigh in at about 200 pounds—would follow a clash between them Thursday in the offices of Charles Scribner's sons, publishers. Hemingway says he slapped Eastman's face with a book then; Eastman says he retaliated by throwing Hemingway over a desk and smacking him on the head in a corner.

Both authors agree to the face-slapping episode, but Hemingway denied that he was thrown anywhere, or was stood on his head any place by anyone.

"Personal Matter"

The Scribner staff observed that an altercation had occurred, but said it was a "personal matter between the two gentlemen in question."

EIGHT OUTSIDERS KILLED IN CHINA

Among the victims was E. H. Hamilton, 66, noted American missionary, reportedly struck through the heart by a piece of shrapnel. Hamilton's wife and 14-year old daughter were also killed. Hamilton was a noted missionary in Shanghai.

Hamilton, editor of the China Review, missionary publication, was driving down Avenue Edward VII, reportedly struck through the heart by a piece of shrapnel.

Added Area Thunders Down at Farm As Earth Collapse Movement Gains

By HAROLD J. WOOD

Brink of a gaping canyon on Harley Robertson's farm near Buhl moved 20 feet nearer his house and barns at dawn today.

A 50-foot section of farmland on the east side of Salmon Falls river canyon thundered downward to a depth of 20 or 30 feet. A new wall—the third—was partially formed today as the "sinking farm" plummeted again in resumption of the movement that has drawn worldwide attention.

Fields Crack More

Dust arose in a yellow storm as the latest section went down with a terrific crash. The rumbling continued for several minutes as chunks of rock and earth, torn loose from the interior of the upper strata by the impact, rolled down to the bottom of the chasm beneath Robertson's farm.

Surrounding fields on the doomed farm cracked anew under the shock of the latest disturbance. No immediate movement of huge dimensions was anticipated, however, as the settling process apparently is going on slowly at bottom.

Where two days ago the earth in the water-affected area had shown a tendency to start sinking—about six inches to two or three feet—the ground had dropped away to a distance of 20 or 30 feet.

Next to the deep canyon formed in the last two weeks a solid wall seemed to be forming, separating that abyss from the section that sank today. This wall had no appearance of sinking like the rest of the field below it.

Animals Afraid

The historic "hole in the ground" is now little less than one-third of a mile from Robertson's house and barns. Today, however, he still wasn't worried over fears that the canyon might suddenly open wide in one gigantic movement, collapse, and shake down his establishment.

"It's not going to happen that fast," he said.

Farm animals, their natural instincts of fear stirred by the weird phenomenon, grazed close to the house today, afraid of the rumbling which accompanies the cracking and downward slip of the land.

The attraction of what was once rich farm land, now nearly out of sight, has lured crowds to the farm, and guards turn back hundreds of would-be "seers" daily, according to Robertson.

"It's not because we don't want people to see the canyon," Mr. Robertson told an Evening Times reporter this morning. "But it really is a dangerous place. To give you an example, the guard went out to the edge of the canyon yesterday morning and saw some tracks that visitors had left, right at the edge of the drop-off. In the afternoon he went back, and the tracks were gone. There had been a cave-in that had taken all the ground 10 feet back of where the tracks were. You can see where the people would have been if they had been standing there when the slide occurred."

How dangerous the entire area is may be gleaned from the fact that Mr. Robertson has been unable to drive his cows or horses anywhere near the sinking zone. They sense the danger and refuse to come within rods of the area, while the humans walk right up to the edge.

Yesterday Pathe newscam cameramen were on the spot taking pictures of the scene. They were fortunate enough to be there when a huge landslide occurred down the side of the canyon, but it was doubtful if they were able to get their camera trained on the phenomenon before it was over.

Robertson reacted to the phenomenon from some people in Boise who had visited the scene and who reported losing a fountain pen. "The pen is a keepsake," the letter said, "and will give you $5.00 if you find and return it to us."

"Those people are sure very optimistic," Mrs. Robertson said. "If they told that fountain pen out there several days ago the chances are it is under tons and tons of rock and dirt by now. Besides, we've got more to do than just look for keepsakes."

Appeals to Public

Emil Bordenwick, manager for Griffin ranches which owns the farm on which the phenomenon is taking place, today appealed for cooperation of the public in obtaining information.

CASUALTIES FOR BATTLE GROW TO MANY THOUSAND

Parts of Big City Still in Flames From Incendiary Shell Shots

By H. R. KINGS

(Copyright, 1937, United Press)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (AP)—Chinese and Japanese airplanes, artillery, naval rifles, machine guns, and mortars rained death on Shanghai today. Casualties mounted into the thousands.

At least a dozen Americans were among the dead and injured which included scores of other Occidentals.

Americans known to have perished were E. Hamilton, 66, noted missionary, Dr. Robert Reichenauer, Boston, Mass., H. S. Leichter, an insurance agent, and an automobile dealer of Shanghai, and two Americans in his automobile. The latter three were victims of a bomb which fell on Tibet road.

Hemingway's body was identified solely through papers found on his body. His companions' bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Parts of Shanghai still were in flames from incendiary shells fired by both sides in the great battle which started Sunday night. Chinese and Japanese troops were engaged in a bitter struggle for the city.

Crosson Takes Off On Search for Lost Airplane in Arctic

Famed Alaskan Flier Seeks Soviet Ship Believed Down in Polar Region

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 14 (AP)—A rescue plane piloted by Joe Crosson, famed "mercy flier" of the far North, took off today to search for six Russians a day overdue on a trans-Polar flight from Moscow.

The searching plane carried five men. It roared away to the north after the Anchorage radio station of the U. S. signal corps intercepted the first message from the plane at 28 hours.

Because one of the Russian ships' four motors stopped running when the plane was in the polar area and its gasoline supply was sufficient for not more than 40 hours in the air, it was feared the blind monoplane was down on the Arctic ice.

BELIEVED FORCED DOWN

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 14 (AP)—Mechanics at Swan Island airport estimated today that the Russian airplane attempting a hop over the pole would have been forced down from lack of fuel between 11 and 12 o'clock last night, according to reports.

Reports from Moscow were that the plane cleared the airport there with 10 tons or 20,000 pounds of gasoline. The plane is equipped with 1,000 horsepower motors.

Gas Consumption

Calculations for such motors is one half pound per horsepower per hour at open throttle, or 333 gallons per hour. The plane, in gallons, carried approximately 3,333 gallons when it took off.

The mechanics said pilots take off at full throttle, immediately throttling down to half when they are in full flying speed and altitude, when that condition prevails the motors will burn 166 gallons of gasoline an hour. The throttle may be reduced to 125 gallons per hour as the plane is relieved of the gasoline weight.

Throttle Reduced

After 15 or 20 hours in the air the throttle is reduced to one-third full speed, cutting consumption to approximately 55 gallons an hour. When the throttle is reduced to one-third full speed, the fuel consumption is reduced to one-third of the full speed consumption.

Donnes Expected To Be Together at Sunday's Showing

GALENDIA, Cal., Aug. 14 (AP)—The Donnes quintuplets probably will be together again tomorrow when Gertrude, older than the others, in recovering from a sore throat, will undergo a tonsillectomy.

Only four of the famous five appeared on the veranda of the major hotel yesterday after about 400 tourists gathered despite a blizzard and begged Dr. Allen (Doc) Dade to let them see the children who had been in seclusion almost a week.

Dr. Dade finally permitted Yvonne, Annelle, Emilie and Marie to appear, but he prohibited the hysterical transportation of any person for the purpose of interfering with the children's recovery. He said he was reported today to be "quite better."

CONGRESS NEARS END OF SESSION

Administration Leaders See Little Chance for Wage, Hour Legislation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Congress smashed its way toward an Aug. 21 adjournment today with the administration's wage and hour bill apparently shelved until next session.

Senate and house administration leaders admitted privately that there was little chance of getting the measure out of the house rules committee over the opposition of a coalition of five southern Democrats and four Republicans.

The other three bills remaining on the administration's "doomed" list advanced swiftly toward enactment. Developments:

The house prepared to pass the Wagner-Stearns housing bill, reported drastically revised yesterday by the house banking and currency committee, was scheduled for action Thursday. It already has been passed by the senate.

Both houses planned to speed the sugar marketing measure to conference for adjustment of differences between senate and house versions. It was indicated that conferees would attempt to meet within 48 hours to the measure.

House leaders scheduled the $130,000,000 third deficiency appropriation bill for consideration Tuesday.

SPEAKER ADMITS WAGE BILL DEAD

Bankhead Desires Congress To Adjourn By Next Saturday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Speaker of the House William C. Bankhead admitted today that the wage and hour bill is virtually killed.

Bankhead said he was hopeful of adjournment by next Saturday and added that he thought it would be impossible to break the rules committee deadlock on the labor measure.

Bankhead served notice that the house was ready to start night session Monday. He predicted that the tax and income bill would be passed by the house Monday, the third deficiency bill Tuesday and the housing measure Thursday so that, after the adjournment of the conferees could be out of Washington by next Saturday night.

PICKET TRANSPORT BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The senate today passed and sent to the house a bill to prohibit the interstate transportation of any person for the purpose of interfering with the children's recovery. He said he was reported today to be "quite better."

"To the chords of the Bridal Chorus by Wagner, the bride and groom, who gave the bride away, marched down the aisle to the altar where they were met by the bridegroom and best man. During the ceremony "Salute D'Amour" was played softly on the organ.

White Satin

"The bride was beautiful in a white satin gown fashioned with a long train and fastened with many small buttons down the back. Her fingernails were of white and she wore a coronet of pearl orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

"The bride's going-away costume was of black alpaca with an Elton jacket. She wore black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

"Mrs. Wehausen is a graduate of Ames high school and attended a Des Moines business college. She is a member of Kappa Delta Phi sorority and has been employed at an office in the Iowa highway commission for several years.

"Dr. Wehausen received his doctor's degree in genetics from Iowa State college in 1920. He was awarded the Rockefeller foundation scholarship under which he studied at Princeton university for six months and at the University of California during the past year. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Zeta and Sigma Xi honorary fraternities and Tau Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity.

Matron of Honor

"Matron of honor was Mrs. Edwin Swanson, sister of the bride. She was attired in turquoise blue chiffon and wore a wreath of yellow roses in her hair, and carried a hand bouquet of yellow pernet roses.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Henry Siemens, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Gehring, Des Moines, wore coral colored chiffon gowns and wreaths of Joanna Hill roses in their hair. They also carried hand bouquets of roses. Marily Larson, flower girl, wore yellow chiffon and carried a basket of rose petals. Henry Siemens, III ring bearer, wore a white palm beach suit.

"Best man was Myrus Knutson and unders were Paul Harvey and Boyd Shank, all of Ames.

"Following the ceremony the bride party left the church as Miss Nosback played Mendelssohn's wedding march. A reception for 70 relatives and friends was held at the Siemens home.

"The couple will take a honeymoon trip through the Black Hills, Yellowstone national park, and will visit in Twin Falls before going to Bozeman, Mont., where Dr. Wehausen will be associate professor in agronomy at Montana State college."

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

The massive curved horns of the Rocky mountain sheep gave it the more common name of bighorn sheep. Each year, until the animal is past the prime of life these horns show a well-defined growth ring. A number of skulls have been picked up which, together with the attached horns, weigh more than 40 pounds.
