KELLOGG-BRIAND PEACE ARTICLES BRAND JAPANESE

Nine Powers Bound to Honor Territorial Rights of Defenders in East

GENEVA, Oct. 1 (AP)—China submitted to a League of Nations advisory committee today a resolution citing Japan as an aggressor under the nine-power treaty, the Kellogg-Briand peace pact and article X of the league covenant.

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, chief defense delegate, submitted the resolution.

It did not invoke any of the documents mentioned, but he did ask league members to reaffirm the principles of the covenant, and to provide a plain hint that China had clearly in mind the recourses she might take.

Doubles?

Same smiles, same blond curls, same pert notes and same devastating glances. Will Shirley Temple be the Miss America of 1947? Well, anyway, as you may see by comparing these two pictures, Shirley, above at 8 years, is a mighty fair duplicate of Betty Cooper, below at 17, the Miss America of 1937.

SALISBURY QUILTS AS NYA OFFICIAL

Field Representative Plans For Private Business In Near Future

Harold A. Salisbury this afternoon announced his resignation as field representative of the National Youth Administration to take effect immediately and also plans to enter private business in Twin Falls.

Salisbury had been field representative for the past 14 months, maintaining headquarters here. He will be succeeded by W. Tolson of Nampa, former field representative at that point, with the change here, announced this afternoon. Salisbury to accept a similar position at Idaho Falls and Rexburg, but today he announced he had declined in favor of private business.

Prior to his connection with the NYA, Salisbury was an instructor at the local high school.

Opening of Salisbury's new business, which will feature a complete line of school supplies, magazines, and other items, is set as soon as repairs are completed on quarters which will be occupied by the new firm at 125 Broadway street south.

It is expected the improvements will be completed between Oct. 5 and 10.

GOLD POLICY IS TERMED BARRIER

British Expert Advocates Reduction in Price of Precious Metal

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Sterilization of gold by the United States is regarded by the expansion of international trade, R. M. Brand, managing director of Lazard Brothers and Company, London, said today, advocating a world-wide reduction in the price of the precious metal.

Discussing the economic problem of gold in the current issue of International Conciliation, publication of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, Brand said such a reduction is the only method of bringing about more even distribution of the world's gold supply and, at the same time, curbing further production of the metal.

"What it is that gold is now in over-supply for the world as a whole, or that its distribution is unsatisfactory," he pointed out, "the greatest gold-holding country in the world, the United States, clearly considers the production of the metal, and you is faced with the prospect of taking a good deal more."

Great Britain is in a somewhat similar position, he said, and neither of these countries may refuse to buy further gold without the future of their respective plunging world currencies in chaos.

Eye-Witness Gives Account Of Chinese Army's Retreat

(Editor's Note: The following eye-witness dispatch from Jack Belden, American newspaperman with the Chinese army on the Fujian-Hankow railway, is the first description of the Chinese retreat from Paoing following the capture of that city by the Japanese on Sept. 24 to reach the United States.)

By JACK BELDEN
(Copyright, 1937, United Press)

"WITH THE CHINESE ARMY SOUTH OF PAOING, SEPT. 25, BY COURIER TO SEANGHAI, Oct. 1 (AP)—I am retreating with the Chinese army along the Beijing-Hankow railway toward the Yellow River after one of the most disastrous defeats the Chinese have suffered in their history.

I am sitting in the midst of scores of Chinese soldiers with whom I have been fleeing for 48 hours under an all but continuous rain of Japanese shells and aerial bombs.

The whole countryside is filled with hundreds of miserable, wet, hungry refugees who find it impossible to escape the fury of the Japanese death avalanche preceded by bombing planes which shower destruction with bombs and machine gun bullets.

British Port Endeavour I

PAOING, Chinese military headquarters in the north, fell yesterday and the one thought in the mind of the British is to reach the new Chinese defense lines, before death overtakes us.

The vessel is being spared in this retreat. There is a dead horse 10 feet from me as I write. Near it lies the mangled body of a Chinese soldier.

I have slept three hours in the past 48 and eaten only once. It is raining and I can't help but think of home and the smell of wet grass and leaves in the front yard of my mother's home in Summit, N. J. Here there is only the slight of suffering humanity, the smell of gore and flesh.

We hope it continues to rain because then the Japanese planes will not come. Occasionally a shot is heard, but no notice is taken of it. We only care about the planes. There are so many of us here that they could not miss.

A freight train crowded with soldiers stopped at Shuichichang on its way to the fighting at Paoing. The Chinese had suffered a terrible defeat there only a few hours before, but we didn't know it then. As the train left, I jumped aboard.

Someone lit a flashlight and discovered that I was a foreigner. The soldiers crowded around, asking questions.

"Oh, he speaks our humble country," they chattered me. "Where are you going?"

"I am going to the front."

"Aren't you afraid?"

"Of course I'm afraid."

With that answer all the soldiers in the car became my friends.

Arriving at Tsungshangow, I left the train and started walking long home, went out to meet her this morning. In the base off the south coast of England, eager to get home, Endeavour contacted Jostling lines formed at docks to get out and meet her. The cliffs along the Tale of Wight were crowded. Flares flew all along the coast.

Finally an officer saw me and took me to regimental headquarters. The officers apologized for not receiving me in better fashion. The officers were bewildered, a retreat had been ordered; they did not know why.

I lay down beside the soldiers to sleep but soon was awakened by a terrific explosion. It was an aerial bomb. There was no more sleeping that night.

Hundreds of non-combatants—men, women and children—were fleeing with the soldiers before the Japanese tide.

GRANT REBUKES MORMON HEADS

L.D.S. Leader Plays 'Apathy' In Back of Security Plan of Church

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—Heber J. Grant, L. D. S. church president, accorded "apathy" of Mormon leaders in backing the church security plan in a speech before the closing session of the women's relief society here last yesterday.

"We are not going to live up to our reputation," Grant speaking on the eve of the church general conference, charged that "there is some apathy and hesitancy on the part of some church leaders in backing the program."

"The church had attacked 'lastness' of the modern world and emphasized the aim of the security program in taking people off cash relief, and putting them to useful work."

"There is too much disposition on the part of people nowadays to look forward to when they are 65 and no relief. I have done just as much for 65 years as you do for 65."

"Good common sense will tell anyone that in smoking tobacco, they burn up money, injure their physical and mental capacities and destroy finer feelings of the heart, including kindness and courtesy," he said.

MARIONETTE CLUB ORGANIZES AT TWIN FALLS JUNIOR HIGH

Organization of a marionette club in the junior high school with Miss Marjorie Wurster as sponsor was instituted at a meeting last evening attended by approximately 15 students.

Frank C. Main, Don Spangay and George Smith, who supervised recreation at the city parks during the summer, were present and explained the construction, action, and art of operating the marionettes.

Demonstrations Types
Main, supervisor of adult education and instructor during the construction and operation of marionette shows for the summer recreational program, demonstrated the types of puppets.

While a puppet is any articular figure operated either on the hand or by string or rod, he said, a marionette is a completely jointed body controlled and operated by string. The other type of a puppet is a gino and is operated on the hand.

Heads for the marionettes to be used in the Junior high school club will be constructed with a clay base used as a model. The shape and expression will be worked in the clay then covered with butcher's tape which is to be pulled and removed and fastened together again. The features are then painted on as desired.

Work on the modelling of heads and the shaping of bodies will be started at the next regular meeting of the group scheduled for next Thursday afternoon.

If enough students are interested two marionette clubs will be organized, one to meet at 3:15 and the other at 4 p. m. Miss Wurster said.

First Expedition
First production to be produced by the group has tentatively been set as "Jack and the Beanstalk." The play in three acts was selected, said Miss Wurster, "for the action it affords."

Mr. Main, in talking of the marionette work, stressed the fact that it should not be used purely as a means for dramatic production to get money but rather as an educational project and a visual aid in teaching social studies.

One of the three recreational men plan to attend as many as possible of the meetings of the marionette clubs to assist the children in familiarizing themselves with the art.

Rockefeller Center is the largest building project ever undertaken by private capital.

Minute and Half Fire Drill Time

Fire drill at the junior high school, on second trial yesterday, was completed in one minute and 30 seconds.

The first alarm response took the students three minutes and 30 seconds. The extra time during the first trial was due to confusion arising from conflict of senior high school people. Junior high school was assembled in the high school auditorium at the first ringing of the gong.

Contests to Open In Yankees' Stadium

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—National league champions for the 15th time, the New York Giants relaxed today to steel themselves for the toughest assignment in baseball—a world series battle with the mighty New York Yankees.

The subway series will open at Yankee stadium Wednesday. That gives the Giants three days to play out their National league string and two days of rest. Everyone says the Giants haven't a chance, but that's what they were saying about them in the National league race back in August when the Chicago Cubs were seven games out in front.

When they clinched the pennant for the second straight year yesterday in Philadelphia, the Giants commander drove that starting line-up when they trailed by 7 games. They played at a 722 per cent clip, winning 39 and losing 15.

The "old master" himself, King Carl Hubbell, pitched one of his masterly games to clinch the pennant. He'd been booming Melton to pitch the opener against the Yankees, but Hubbell's 8-1/2 performance against Philadelphia yesterday clinched that assignment for him again. He blanked the Phils until the ninth and won 2-1 with the pressure off, the Giants, with a patched-up team, dropped the second game, 6-2.

The Cubs won their 5th straight game by defeating Cincinnati, 4-1. Larry French won his 16th game. It was the Red's fifth straight win which clinched the club position for them.

Cardinals lose
In the other National league games Pittsburgh defeated the Cardinals, 4-3, and the Boston Bees defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2 and 3-2. It was the 14th straight defeat for the Dodgers. Lou Pette won his 19th game in the nightcap.

San Diego Club Takes 3rd Straight From Beavers; Move Today
SAN DIEGO, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Portland and San Diego baseball clubs were en route to Portland today to continue the Pacific coast playoff series. The San Diego club will play the first game of the championship.

Sparked by Thompson, the Padres made it three straight yesterday when they beat the crowd of 10,000 fans saw the San Diego outfielder lay a homer over the right field wall with two on base. The second homer came from behind Portland's one run. The Padres had scored one run before Thompson's homer.

The Beavers scored their lone run in the second with two out. Sedore stretched a two-bagger to three runs. Pette's jugled the ball. Tresh brought him home with a sharp single to left field.

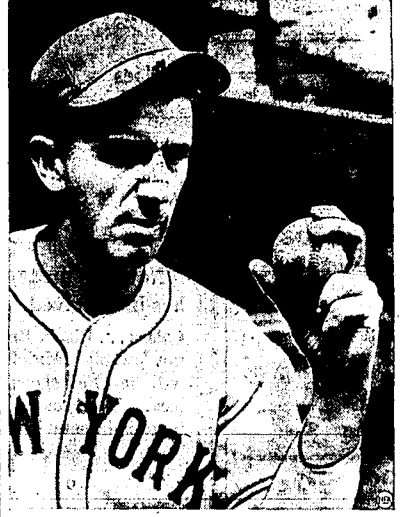

Columbus Takes Second Straight
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 1 (U.P.)—The Newark Bears will call on Vito Zamulis to hit the first-moving Columbus Red Birds in the third game of the little world series tonight—a four out of seven game series.

The Bears, who won the international league pennant and who captured the Governor's cup playoff series with eight straight victories, were two days out from Red Birds. They lost their second game of the series, 6-4, in an 11-inning battle last night.

The first game will pitch Morton Cooper tonight, a hurler who won nine of his last 10 starts. Zamulis, once New York's Yankee, hit his last 11 starts.

The remaining games will be played in Columbus, beginning tomorrow.

Pitches Giant Clincher

Carl Hubbell appeared to have the starting assignment in the world's series clinched today, following his 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday. Previously young Citi Melton had been boosted for the opening tilt against the New York Yankees.

Budge Wins on Three Fronts of Net Meet

Red-Head Takes With Helen Wins Moody to Advance in Mixed Doubles

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Don Budge, master amateur tennis player of the world, advanced victoriously unchanged in the Pacific Coast championships today, while his foremost opponent, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, ran into unexpected difficulty.

Budge on his way to a men's singles final match with von Cramm, opened his day's task yesterday by defeating C. M. Jones of England, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

Budge finished up the day's play in the third round of men's doubles. He paired with Helen Sabin, Hollywood, to win 6-1, 6-0 over K. A. Montette and Ben Gerwick, Berkeley.

Von Cramm met a challenge from Dick Bennett, Berkeley, former University of California player and one-time national intercollegiate doubles champion.

Bennett pressed von Cramm to the limit in a hard-fought win, the first set hands from the German. Von Cramm picked up his game in the second set, however, and applied pressure on his service and court game to win 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Subin, fourthseeded in men's singles, was eliminated by Glenn Smith, Berkeley, Smith, seeded No. 15, won 6-1, 2-6, 6-4.

Anita Lizana, Chile, over Joni Ingram, England.
Today's play matched Glenn Buhl, Berkeley, Smith, seeded No. 15, won 6-1, 2-6, 6-4.

Junior Hi Champ Wins Net Match
Glenn Buhl, Berkeley's champion Junior high school tennis player, successfully defended his crown against the runnerup, Oliver Binner, as he won 6-5 in a hard fought match staged yesterday on the Harmon park court during the noon hour.

Buhl, Caldwell Battle Tonight
Caldwell, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—This year's big ten high school grid battle will open in earnest here tonight when Buhl and Caldwell meet in the first conference game for both squads.

The first game of the season, Caldwell defeated Payette, 20 to 0. Last year's fight between Buhl and Caldwell resulted in defeat for Buhl, 6-0 in the last 6 weeks of the game. A pass was completed for the score.
Caldwell has averaged 100 yards per game in 1937.

YANKS' CATCHING BEST IN SERIES

Dickey's Big Bat Will Give American Leaguers Edge Behind Plate

(Editor's note: Following is the first of a series of articles comparing the World series rivals.)

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Bill Dickey's big bat gives the New York Yankees the first world series vote in analyzing the rival catching staffs for the "subway" series opening at Yankee stadium Wednesday.

Dickey is one of the Yanks' Big Berthas, with a batting average of .27 and runs-batted-in mark of 135.

The Giants have better balance behind the bat this year than a year ago. Gus Mancuso and Harry Danning will divide the catching. Danning caught all but one lining in last year's series. Danning's amazing improvement is one of the main reasons why the Giants have moved up the pennant.

Danning is a right-hand hitter, with an average of .268 and 51 runs driven in. He's a hustler and a steady receiver. His work after Mancuso broke his finger in mid-season saved the Giants from disaster. Danning will catch the Giants' right-handers and Mancuso will work when the Giants' two lefties, Carl Hubbell and Cliff Melton, are on the mound.

Mancuso has a batting average of .280 with 38 runs batted in. He's slow on foot but a cagey catcher and a getting the maximum out of a pitcher. He outcaught Dickey in the 1936 series, although the Yanks' receiver was given the nod in the advance game.

Mancuso has a batting average of .280 with 38 runs batted in. He's slow on foot but a cagey catcher and a getting the maximum out of a pitcher. He outcaught Dickey in the 1936 series, although the Yanks' receiver was given the nod in the advance game.

Dickey was the big flop in the Yanks' batting order last year, hitting only 120. Mancuso said he had 111 number and made him get after a lot of bad pitches. Hubbell suggested Dickey both times he faced him, while Plattsman's blanked him in the last game in which his teammates chided out 17 hits.

If we were the least bit smart, after our high "picking" about last week in the opening football games, we'd stop and rest on our laurels. But, nope, not us. We don't know any better—we've got to do it again.

California to down Oregon, 13-12 (we hope).
Idaho to beat U.S.C., 13-0.
Washington to stop U.S.C., 13-0.

The Mysterious John Montague, the former Laverne Moore of New York, has been in the news a lot of a mystery—and more of a marvel.

His latest feat was to tour the North American continent, play course at Fort Washington, N. Y., and score a 65-110 under par on a lay-out he had never seen before.

Montague is cleared of his charge of participating in a robbery, he stands in the way to pick up hundreds of thousands of dollars the first year—if he chooses to tour the world. He has already been offered a university, more, professional golf and other contracts. Now he has to do to prove that he was not present on such and such a night to commit a robbery—which may turn out to be quite a task.

There is one thing that he has already proven—the fact that the Fast Bumpen stories that have been circulated about him are not altogether fabricated. For reliable sports writers and other nationally known persons, he has displayed his golf wares and has not been found wanting.

Recently one of the top flight professional golfers played rounds with this friend of Hollywood stars and proclaimed him the greatest golfer alive today.

PRESS CONTROL SEEN IN CANADA

Alberta Solon Introduces Act to Curb Activities of Newspapers

EMONTON, Alta., Oct. 1 (U.S.)—A drastic control bill which would make it compulsory for newspaper publishers to reveal sources of their information and to publish all government statements on government policies and activities was before a special legislature committee today.

Solon Low, provincial treasurer, introduced the bill. It is designed to curb news or editorial comment attacking the provincial social credit government. Such legislation long has been threatened by Prime Minister William L. Bennett.

Suspension of publication is provided for in the "accurate news and information act" for contravention of the law. Fine provisions range from $50 to $1,000.

Every publisher must, on demand of the government, give the names of its editorial and editorial writers and disclose the source of any news which the government cares to question. Failure to comply with the requests will result in "indemnity" suspension. Should the government care to write its own correction or interpretation of the news, publishers would be forced to carry them on the page selected by the government. Newspapers will not be able to edit these statements but must print them as received from government officials. They would be "privileged" and would not be subject to the libel and slander act.

Publicists from all parts of the province arranged to meet with the special committee today to protest. Social credit forces control 86 of the legislature's 63 seats and passage of the bill seemed assured.

Once the bill is passed and put into the provincial courts, the publisher, however, may refer the matter to the supreme court of Canada.

Accident Victims Still in Hospital

Three of Four Buhl Women Suffering Painful Hurts; Fourth Satisfactory

Buhl, Oct. 1 (Special) Four victims of the three-way auto smash-up near Buhl Sunday were still in the Twin Falls general hospital today, three suffering from painful injuries and a fourth getting along "satisfactorily."

Meets Will Start on Oct. 11 At Billings; Salt Lake City Oct. 28

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (UP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes announced today that F. R. Carpenter, director of grazing, will open hearings in 10 western states Oct. 11 on proposed new rules for 1938 grazing licenses.

The meetings were called to "seek the advice of local stockmen in developing the conservation policy of the division of grazing," Ickes said. Meetings will be held Oct. 11 at Billings, Wyo.; Oct. 16 at Billings, Mont.; Oct. 18, Burns, Ore.; Oct. 23, Reno, Nev.; Oct. 25, Salt Lake City, Utah; Oct. 28, Grand Junction, Colo.; Nov. 1, Albuquerque, N. M.; and Nov. 4, Phoenix, Ariz.

Regional advisory boards for grazing, state land boards, deans of state agricultural colleges and representatives of the grazing industry have been invited to attend the discussions.

Part of Carpenter's Washington staff, including G. M. Kerr, chief of operations, A. D. Molohan, chief of range surveys and Archie D. Ryan, deputy director, will accompany him. Local officials of the Indian office, the national forest and soil conservation services, farm security administration, the farm credit administration, and the biological survey also will attend, Ickes said.

Sun Valley Using New Dust Remedy

SEATTLE, Oct. 1 (Special)—Wind-blown dust, public enemy No. 1 to resort owners, is not allowed at Sun Valley lodge, famed winter playground of southern Idaho. Unwilling to use dust palliatives that "track" or soil cars or clothing, B. J. Frazer, chief engineer of the Union Pacific Railroad, ordered several carloads of the new lignin road binder manufactured from wood pulp.

The new material called raylix, was sprinkled freely, like water, on paths, roadways and parking areas about the lodge to eliminate dust throughout the summer and fall.

Waterfront Employes Get Renewed Contracts

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1 (UP)—Pacific coast waterfront employes today formally renewed contracts with eight maritime and dock unions, thereby virtually assuring peace in capital-labor relations on western ports.

Agreements and contracts formulated last February, at the end of the second paralyzing coast-wide maritime strike in three years, were renewed until Sept. 30, 1938.

The agreements abolish "quick" strikes and set up arbitration machinery to prevent such disastrous labor walkouts as those of 1934 and 1936-37 which tied up Pacific coast harbors.

INSURANCE FIRM LOSES IN CLAIM

Jury Gives Verdict in Favor Of Kimberly Man After Damage Trial

Verdict against damage claims by the Millers' National Insurance company against D. Kerby, Kimberly, had been returned in district court today by a six-man jury. Judge J. W. Porter instructed the jury to return a decree in favor of Kerby after finding that evidence was not sufficient to warrant a verdict for the insurance firm, which sought $428 for damages to a car it had insured. Testimony at the trial yesterday showed that William Rice, driver of the car involved in a collision with the machine insured by the company, was co-owner of his car and was not an agent for Kerby. The claimants had asserted Rice was agent for Kerby (the wreck last Dec. 4 damaging the auto being brought to F. C. Wilson, Kimberly-Rayborn and Rayborn were at-
