Urgent Concern Is for "Lowest Paid Laborers"

IMMEDIATE ACTION STRESSED IN NEW CONGRESS GATHERING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (UP)—President Roosevelt today pointed the Nov. 15 special session of congress to the legislative battle front where Democratic majorities rebuffed him during the last session just closed.

Mr. Roosevelt laid down for congress an immediate five-point domestic program weighted with crop control and legislation for minimum wages and maximum hours.

His Plan
The immediate reaction of congressional leaders to the program outlined for them by the President in a fireside chat last night was not enthusiastic.

Mr. Roosevelt touched only briefly on foreign affairs but he warned that we cannot avoid war by ignoring it.

Mr. Roosevelt reaffirmed the United States' active international co-operation in behalf of peace.

After recalling that the constitutional debate became clouded over the question of approving the document in the absence of a bill of rights, the President said:

"The people then talked about freedom of religion and the press just as they are rightly doing today."

BOISE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Rivalry over the site of the new hospital at the state's $200,000 tuberculosis sanitarium grew to political-convention proportions here today as much as charges were hurled back and forth between cities and individuals.

Civic groups drew up battle-lines and poured out a barrage of letters and telegrams to state officials, both defending and praising the decision. Legislators and doctors, business men and interested citizens, entered the fight.

Completed: The wings used by Thompson will measure 10 feet from tip to tip and will be hinged on the small of his back so that when they open in the air they will stay open. Canvas material stretched between his legs serve him to "glide through the air with the greatest ease."

RED CROSS LIST SHOWS SERVICE

Past Year Was Busy Time For Idaho's Chapters, Baird Says

BOISE, Oct. 13 (Special)—Continuing the mandate of the Congressional Charter, Red Cross chapters throughout Idaho have just finished a year of intensive activity and service to their several communities. Clyde Baird, state field representative, reported today. The field representative's report which was issued at the time of the state convention in Boise showed increased activities in most of the chapter programs.

According to Baird, Idaho chapters assisted 1,524 families during the year. Another 516 service and ex-service men were aided. Red Cross representatives assisted 301 ex-service men with claims work before the Veterans administration. Public health nursing services were promoted by five chapters and 1,005 visits were made by nurses on behalf of patients. In examining school children, Red Cross nurses in Idaho found 1,193 with one or more physical defects. Home hygiene instruction was conducted by 18 chapters with 47 individuals completing the 24 hour home hygiene course and receiving Red Cross certificates.

In the field of safety education chapters were very active, according to Baird. First aid programs were sponsored by 37 chapters with 3,083 persons completing the first aid course. Life saving and water safety programs were held by 25 chapters with 388 earning life saving certificates. Swim campaigns were made available to their communities by 19 chapters with over 5,000 adults and children receiving instruction in swimming. During the past year, the number of Red Cross highway first aid stations in Idaho has been increased to 28 and many highway and community accidental victims have received first aid from station attendants. Highway first aid stations are marked on the 1937 Idaho highway map distributed by the state department of public works, Baird said. The accident prevention program has been continued with many thousand homes inspected for hazards by Idaho's school children. This program of home inspection will again be conducted the last week of this month.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON By Rodney Outcher... (Breking Times Washington Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—No single person suffices to explain why Roosevelt and the state department have suddenly and completely reversed the previous national policy...

Reviving a "Dead" Issue

President Roosevelt's Chicago speech compels Americans to take another look at a question which was supposedly settled once and for all in the League of Nations election in 1920.

In 1920 the country turned that idea down flat, and imagined that its ghost was laid forever. But the ghost proved restless. It stalked abroad from time to time during the twenties, leaving its imprint on the Dawes plan, the Young plan, the German moratorium and the series of World court fights.

The last few years have been grimly educational. We have seen the collapse, one after another, of the treaties and unwritten laws by which national security is buttressed.

Through all of this we have tried to mind our own business; for we want very earnestly to be allowed to work out our domestic problems, to find our way out of the recurring cycle of boom and depression, to establish prosperity and justice in our land so that they cannot be shaken.

We are forced to ask ourselves, now, whether this peaceful and stable world will take shape of itself, in the condition things are in now, or whether we will have to do something to help it along.

The question answers itself. The world is getting less stable and less peaceful every day. Pious expressions of disapproval don't mend matters any more than they kept Italy from overwhelming Ethiopia, kept Italy, Russia, and Germany from interfering in the Spanish civil war or kept Japan out of China.

The alternative, of course, is to take definite and positive action, in collaboration with other nations, to insure peace and stability. It involves taking risks and making enemies. It means concerning ourselves more directly and vitally than ever before with the quarrels and intrigues of the old world.

We must decide which of the two risks we are to take; and we may well find that when the world is catching fire, we can be safe only by helping to put the fire out.

Outreaching the Boss... The clerk and the stenographer usually do a good deal more reading than the boss does, if a survey conducted by the Progressive Education association is correct.

CHAPTER XXIV

CILLY looked around her living room curiously. It was exactly as she had left it that morning, yet there was some subtle difference. Then she saw it. The copy of "The Last Puritan" on her end table.

She recalled the pleasant way Sergeant Dolan had ended the interview that morning. The book was in exactly the same place she had left it, but it had been turned right side up.

She stood there for a moment after he had left her, her brows knit. Suddenly her eyes gleamed with a bright eagerness; she went swiftly into the bedroom and began rummaging through her lower bureau drawers.

She smiled, nevertheless. The sergeant hadn't gained anything through his pleasant little ruse. There was nothing here for him to discover now. She congratulated herself on having burned Jim's postcard and the newspaper clipping that had been hidden.

"Hello, Priscilla!" he beamed brightly. "Thought it was such a rotten day that you'd appreciate company."

"I found a nice little place down on Shore Road where we can have dinner together," she offered him, "I'm assuming that the idea would delight any girl. How does that suit you?"

"I'm very well, I'm sorry to say," Cilly replied without warmth. She would have appreciated any company, but not Harry Hutchins. She led the way into the living room and placed him a chair with scant cordiality.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

REMEMBER

"I suppose you're trying to tell me that you're going to be a secret trouble in her life," Cilly flared, with biting sarcasm. She was white with anger, not so much because of Hutchins' persistent questioning, but rather because he had come so close to the truth.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

"I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically. "I'm very sorry, Priscilla," he offered apologetically.

THE VIOLENT CONTRAST

The violent contrast between the new policy and previous policy is indicated by the fact that an administration-backed embargo on arms to Spain, a duly recognized nation invaded by Italy and Germany, flashed through the house last January by a vote of 408 to 8 and through the senate by 80 to 0.

Behind recent developments are these facts, though not necessarily in the order of their importance. 1—Roosevelt and Secretary Hull are emotionally on the side of the "democratic" peace-seeking nations.

2—The state department, which has long been somewhat restrained by healthy regard for the popular desire to avoid steps which might lead toward war.

3—Roosevelt's instincts although peaceful—impel him to step out on the world stage in a star role, although his instincts have been somewhat restrained by healthy regard for the popular desire to avoid steps which might lead toward war.

RUSSIA'S PURGE OF ENEMIES BELIEVED NEAR END

817 ARE BELIEVED EXECUTED DURING TERRORISTS' ROUT

Concluding of Campaign Seen Before 20th Anniversary Of Revolution

By NORMAN D. DEUEL
MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—Russia's merciless purge of enemies of the Stalinist regime may be ended by Nov. 7, 20th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, it was understood today.

A United Press survey listed a total of 817 persons known to have been executed in the purge. Probably the total is larger, but it was not believed to be materially so.

End of the campaign would mean that the country is free of men suspected of deviating from the strict Communist party line. The campaign for the first election under the new constitution could proceed without thought of "traitors." The election is to be held December 12.

8 Trials Left

On the calendar as publicly announced, there remained but eight political trials, involving 62 defendants. It was believed there would be few, if any, new cases.

The United Press survey of known executions breaks down, as to charges, as follows:

- National significance, counter-revolution, terrorism, espionage—52.
- This includes the figures of international repulse.
- Railroad wrecking and Japanese espionage in the far east—414.
- General sabotage—4.
- Destroying or infecting grain—135.
- General agricultural sabotage—68.
- Industrial wrecking—28.
- Railroad wrecking—9.
- Organizer worker's children—23.
- Separatist movements to restore Canton—21.
- Sabotage in army plants—35.
- Sabotage in power plants—10.
- Arson—13.

Election Campaign

Newspapers announced today details of the election campaign under the new "democratic" constitution. There is no platform. Candidates will be nominated by trade unions, cooperatives, cultural and other organizations.

There is only one party, the Communist party. Hence the campaign will be devoted to instructing voters as to their powers, organizing electoral districts and preparing polling places.

CASTLEFORD

Methodist Ladies' Aid society met Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. W. Kivron with Mrs. Shorthouse assisting her. Devotions were led by Mrs. J. H. Schalk. Mrs. J. J. Helde, chairman, presented Mrs. Leroy Walker, who gave a talk on the state school for the deaf and blind at Gooding. Mrs. Harry Wilson, health nurse, will be speaker at the next meeting on October 21.

Jack Barstow and family have moved into their new home. Charles Shorthouse has purchased their property and is also moving into his new home.

The Senior Epworth League of the Methodist church held a joint meeting Sunday with the Tull league at the Tull church. After the meeting period the groups held a social hour. Bob Kivron received a broken nose in football practice.

Hires Ex-Wife to Keep House

A mother's devotion to her children brought Mrs. Blanche Boies, stocky, 31-year-old brunette, inset above, back to her divorced husband, Weaver, Pa., farm as housekeeper. She "hired out" for $5 a week and the use of a mechanical washing machine to be with their six children, shown above, ranging in age from 3 to 14.

COMPLEX HINDERS FAYE IN MOVIES

Hollywood Star Retarded By Inferiority, But Goes on Way to Stardom

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Unusual as it may seem, Alice Faye, blond screen actress, has an inferiority complex. Alice didn't want to go into movie work in the first place. When she did get in, she didn't want to stay. After she was convinced she should stay here, she didn't think she would ever get anywhere.

"I know that I have an inferiority complex, but I can't do anything about it," Alice says. "Whenever anything nice happens, it always comes as a surprise."

Stardom at Arrival

"I probably started when I first came here. I knew that the studio didn't voluntarily ask for me. It was at Judy Fawcett's request that I was given a small part in the film version of George S. Kaufman's 'It Was an Accident' that they were into the lead after I got here. My singing pictures were not what one might call startling successes."

A series of leads in minor pictures followed, and Alice felt that she had been shunted aside—that she wasn't wanted and didn't belong here.

When 20th Century studio and Fox were merged, Producer Darryl Zanuck decided Alice was starring material.

"I didn't believe it, but I was happy someone was taking an interest in me. But I still longed to return to New York."

Roles Increased

Little by little, her roles grew in size and dramatic content until the studio decided she was ready for the leading role of "In Old Chicago."

"I was so nervous I became ill. It was an accident that they were laid up when the picture started in production."

"Then a strange thing happened to me. As soon as I started work, it all seemed so easy. And I practically glided through some of the hardest scenes. I worried so much ahead of time that the real thing was not so difficult after all."

Since appearing in her first big dramatic role, Miss Faye has decided to remain in Hollywood; she would not say if her decision to remain announced her in accepting the marriage proposal of Tony Martin, with whom she recently eloped to Yuma, Ariz.

ZERO HOURS IN TRAFFIC SET

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (AP)—State statisticians show that the most dangerous age for traffic victims is between 20 and 30. The most perilous hours are between 7 and 8 in the morning, with very little change after 3 p. m.

See U. S. First. Traveler Tells South Idahoans

MURTAUGH, Oct. 13 (Special)—A Murtaugh visitor this week, Gerald Christensen, New York City, advised residents here to see their own country first although his itinerary has included the jungles of Africa, Alaska and many other remote parts of the earth.

Mr. Christensen, who was born in Shelby, Ida., was here over the week-end with his wife and children visiting Mr. and Mrs. Byron Pickett in company with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Christensen and baby, Pavo, his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pickett and Mrs. Leonard Christensen's parents.

Mr. Christensen, an expert associated with the American Museum of Natural History at 26th St. New York City, obtained his position in 1923 three days after he had hitchhiked to the east for that purpose.

He has recently returned from a two-months expedition for the museum to obtain mammal and bird specimens and other small mammals. Last year he collected many rare specimens in Africa including the Bohian Congo jungle and the Sudan.

During his visit here he likened the area to parts of Africa and Alaska.

CAST IN 'SHREW' WORKING BUSILY

Full Rehearsals Underway in Modernized Version of Shakespeare Comedy

"Taming of the Shrew," in the new modernized version, which will be presented at the Twin Falls high school all-school play during the week of Oct. 25 in two performances, is now in full rehearsal, the director, Mrs. Florence M. Rees, said today.

She said that the play as it will be presented here is a new version, a Shakespeare as thousands have long wanted to see him.

"Petruchio, who will be played by Bert Sweet and Asher Wilson, carries the idea that he rather likes his Kate the way she is. The role of Kate will be interpreted by Jeanne Robinson and Virginia Kerlin.

"Throughout the entire three acts, the story is swift farce and the result is a whirlwind of action, which combines swift and outrageous horseplay and rich gusto to achieve an effect hilariously funny to even the smallest child."

Union Pacific Adds 200 More Beet Cars

POCAHONTO, Ida., Oct. 13 (AP)—An unusually large harvest of sugar beets in Idaho has caused the Union Pacific railroad to prepare 1,000 beet cars, 200 more than last year, to haul the crop to sugar factories.

Much of the increase is caused, railroad officials report, by larger average near Nampa, which is producing full strength this year. Previously, this acreage has not produced many beets.

Most of the Nampa beets will be hauled to Twin Falls for processing. It was reported.

BUFFALO BILL THE 2ND

Practice debates between senior and junior high schools will get under way soon, said Mr. Sprague.

Upon the completion of practice rounds regular inter-class debate will start in the junior high school with elimination rounds pointing toward the final debate in assembly, to determine the champion school debaters from among the best Red and best White teams.

Nevada Mining Engineer Claims Firm Not Denied Water Filing

CARSON CITY, Nev., Oct. 13 (AP)—State Engineer Alfred M. Smith said today that the Salmon River Canal company—Idaho, Nev.—has not been denied the right to file applications with him regarding rights on the Salmon Falls creek, stream originating in Elko county, Nev., and flowing into a reservoir at Rogerson, Ida.

Smith said he had no knowledge of an "interstate squabble" over water rights on the river. Records of his office, Smith said, showed no applications submitted or filed by the Salmon River Canal company to appropriate waters of the river in Nevada for use in Idaho.

Would Have to Accept

If such an application were offered, he said, it would be his duty to accept and file it later determining what action to take.

State engineer's records—revealed that adjudication proceedings on the Salmon river and its tributaries in Elko county were commenced March 5, 1915, with final judgment and decree on March 3, 1923, in the Elko district. Smith said.

The records also show, Smith added, entering a decree in the U. S. district court for Idaho on March 23, 1916, in the case of Twin Falls vs. the Salmon River Land and Water company and Salmon River Water company vs. the Vineyard Land and Stock company, involving rights to use of the waters of the Salmon river and its tributaries in Nevada.

Case Filed Before

It appears that this case has been before U. S. Judge C. C. Cavanaugh of Boise, a number of times since the decree was entered. The court appointed a water commissioner to enforce terms of the decree each season until last year.

The state engineer of Nevada was asked to review the operations of the Utah Construction company as successor in interests of the Vineyard Land and Livestock company, but having no jurisdiction under the federal decree, he said he made no attempt at distribution of the stream's waters.

MID-WEST GRID SUPREMACY ON DOWNGRADE

East, West Win Intersectional Tilts This Year

Southwest Also Slips Down in Standings of Annual Regional Contests

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP).—The southwest and mid-west, generally conceded for years to be the strongest football divisions, appear on the downgrade.

In intersectional play thus far they have the worst records. In the unbeaten and untied ranks, they trail the east and south.

Mid-western teams have participated in 10 intersectional games and won only three. The southwest has won three and lost six.

The midwest has four perfect record teams—Detroit, Nebraska, Northwestern and Wisconsin. The southwest has two—Baylor and Texas A. and M. The east has 11—Army, Yale, Pittsburgh, Fordham, Navy, Harvard, Holy Cross, Catholic U., Syracuse, Dartmouth and Cornell. The south has five—Alabama, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State and Vanderbilt. The Pacific coast has two—California and Santa Clara.

SPORTS QUIBBS
(By H. J. W.)

An open letter to Coach "Doc" Cranny and his Oakley High school Horrels:

Dear Horrels: No doubt you fellows are in the front of athletics, but can you think of any good reason why you should go around putting the sling on these Big Ten football clubs? Can't you understand that you're a Class A club, and consequently are just supposed to be cannon fodder for the "larger" schools? Of course, it's all right to knock out the big clubs on the basketball court, because you've been doing this for some time. But on the football field, you're supposed to be a team that played one of the best, teams in the state on even terms.

This coming Saturday you drop back into your own classification in the state and are the better teams in that set. Are you going to go right on winning—or will you be going to upset, the dogs there, and win?

If there is someone in Oakley who could tell me the answer, we would appreciate a letter before Friday. Why???

Well, can't you see—you're causing us to lose sleep tonight. We picked you to lose to Rupert, Burley and Idaho. And you did it. And these were the only misses we had in the high school football circles this fall. And we're ready to get in some week-end with a vengeance—which is something we think we could do, if you Horrels would play the rest of your schedule on the Pacific coast. But no, you've got to go and try the district football title—just because you have the basketball world around you. Aren't you over satisfied?—H. J. W.

P. S.—Come to think of it, the best way I could get a clean slate for the week-end would be to let Oakley to have an opportunity—W.

Prize Boy, the former all-around athlete from Utah, is attending school at Washington State College this year, and we are told, is already preparing for the basketball season.

Prize, one of the speediest players in Idaho his last two seasons in high school, is expected to make the freshman team at the Cougar school in Pullman, after former Big Ten athlete is already a star on the varsity court again.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (UP).—The lance hand of Max Rosenbloom, the old time master of New York and Hollywood, has defeated Bob Nestell with blood streaming from wounds above both eyes at the end of a 10-round bout last night. Max won by a unanimous decision.

The one-time light heavyweight champion won all but one or two rounds. He gave away 13 years, and 10 pounds in fighting the bulky young California heavyweight, who was named as a possible opponent for Joe Louis before being a decision to Bob Pastor of New York four months ago.

The ladies went to town in Twin Falls bowling ranks last night as the Buhler's Grill quintet, paced by Mrs. Lillian Stone's record-topping performance, downed Electric Motor three straight games in the City League.

Barnard Auto trimmed Schits 2-1 in the Commercial league.

Mrs. Stone rolled a total of 544 to beat Craig Coleman's 539 for City league high this season. Aided by her 200 score and a total of 180 for Mrs. Lillian Buhler, the Grill outfit of feminine stars cracked the former single's record of 490 by turning in 485. Mrs. Stone had high single for the club with 201 her third game.

Lee McCracken with 546 nosed out Joe Ford's 540 for high total in the Commercial loop, but Ford's 210 was the best single game of the night.

Strikes to Spare

By FRED STONE

Buhler's ladies really went to work with will taking all three games from the Electric Motor boys.

Mrs. Stone led both teams with a new city league high of 544 in Craig Coleman held the old record of 539. Mrs. Stone had a second game score of 200 over her 200 best thing in the city. Two errors and three spillops spoiled her opener; a double to start her second, and she ended it with four strikes in a row. Two doubles for her last game.

Mrs. Buhler had a nice 400 series and a neat 180 second game with one double in it.

Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Kircher also got into both their first and second games.

Mrs. Vasquez had plenty of trouble—eight spillops.

Evita Brannan led the Electric boys with 490 for tops. His second game of 184 was also high for the club. He got four in a row to start his second game. He also started his third with a double.

One double for Tom Gilchrist his second game. A couple of them for Manager Cliff Emerick.

Leo Steeling was just their lead-off man.

Buhler's 855 were second game in the new city league. The winner was by our point over his team mate, John Ford. Lee 541; John 540.

Again we fertilizers fell down, losing the odd game to the Barnard Auto team. Roy Oubit was high for the hours with 224 total. His second game of 193 was high single for us. Roy got himself a double that game.

Mr. Minner picked up two difficult spillops his first game. He got a turkey to start his finale.

Trank collected two doubles.

If my own eyes weren't had been strikes, what a score I'd have had!

Lee McCracken led the winners by our point over his team mate, John Ford. Lee 541; John 540.

Leo got a double in each of his games. John got two doubles his first, another his second and four strikes in a row his third game for the club. The best single of the night.

Fargo and I were twins almost. We both had a nice 233 total—a double and a turkey his first game, not so good his second and he duplicated his opener in the third.

Wait Hager, at anchor for the Barnard boys, didn't look so hot.

Idaho Game Changed

MORGAN, Calif., Oct. 13 (UP).—Marty's college football game with the University of Idaho on Friday, Oct. 22, instead of the following day, as originally scheduled.

The change was made to avoid conflict with other college schedules, it was announced.

Alumni like to boast about the Old School having players three-deep for each position, but this three-deep drive by University of Southern California is a bit out of line. However, it did nail Jim Miller, Ohio State, after a six-yard gain, as the Trojan took the Buckeyes 13-11 at Los Angeles.

Pitt Picked to Win Over Fordham Team

UCLA Seen Winner of Battle With OSC In West

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, Niles Service

Fordham has most of last year's stars, two new linemen of worth, and what is supposed to be a superior backfield, yet I suspect that the Ram will ram its head into something without getting anywhere at all, but that kind of business can't go on when Rose Bowl rompers like Golden State, Pacific States, and Colorado charge behind forwards on the order of Daddio, Mattai, Delich, and Delize.

Yale has Pick to pass, but no opportunity like Kelley to make multiply catches, so it appears to be Army's turn at New Haven. A good line makes the Cadets' running attack quite formidable.

Harvard seems to have come on sufficiently far to repel Navy in Baltimore.

Time for Kern to Pay

Notre Dame should get even with Bill Kern for all the blue scouting he did against the Irish for Pitt, when the Irish's Carnegie Tech outfit is likely to make the margin narrow in Pitt stadium.

Columbia is smart, but Penn's line

Purple Middle Weak

Northwestern is a slight favorite over Purdue at Evanston, but I look for Bollmaker backs to locate leaks in the center of the Purple line and at least get a draw.

Can't see how Michigan can escape taking another one on the whiskers as an angry Minnesota machine moves into Ann Arbor. Tri-Trib can be depended upon to do a good job, but Wisconsin should get over Iowa at Madison to continue its upward climb. The gridiron strategists to shade Indiana at Bloomington.

Howard Harding Jones has the required material at Southern California and is expected to lead Oregon in Los Angeles. Oregon State may make it close, but U. C. L. A. should still be among the leaders when it takes the gridiron at Washington State below par, which is a poor position to be in when playing Washington, which travels to Pullman.

CHARACTER BUILDING TAKES BUMPS IN 1937 GRID TILTS

By HENRY McEMORE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP).—Character-building certainly has been taking a kicking around in the first three weeks of the current football season.

Here it is still in the limbo of a character-building team have been beaten or held. With the world series finally out of the way I was glancing over the gridiron results for the first time this year and was amazed to find that these teams had either been beaten or held over.

Notre Dame, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio State, Michigan, Michigan State, Indiana, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Tennessee, Duke, Tulane, Columbia, Manhattan, Auburn, Duquesne, Purdue, Southern California, Washington, Mississippi State, T. C. U., Miami, Ford, U. C. L. A., St. Mary's, St. M. U., N. Y. U., North Carolina, and Oklahoma.

Character-building teams have been beaten or held, with the exception of the first three weeks of the current football season.

This, to me, makes very provocative reading, because, as everyone knows, it is on the football field that the character of a nation is most aptly tested. The teams of the schools in the above list have led in this field development for years. It is therefore not surprising to learn that the Minnesota squad, with character enough to fill each position with three young leaders, already has been beaten.

And that Ohio State, where tackles are taught to salute the flag and help elderly ladies cross the streets, was held before they are instructed in body checking and the proper way to maintain opposing end, has been held before the season is well under way.

What is the reason for the defeat of these teams which for so long have led in the selling

TONY REQUESTED TO RE-JOIN YANKS

Lazzari, World Series Star, Reconsiders Decision To Retire

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (UP).—Tony Lazzari, New York Yankee second baseman and hero of the world series, was en route to his home in San Francisco today, reconsidering his decision to retire.

Lazzari left yesterday with his wife and son, and Myril Knorr, Yankee outfielder, after discussing plans for 1938 with Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager.

Barrow, it was understood, asked Lazzari to stay with the Yankees. Lazzari reportedly is being considered as a successor to Ben Kucuk as manager of the Boston Bees. He also has been mentioned for a job in Cleveland. Should either of these jobs materialize, Yankee owner Col. Jacob Ruppert probably would release him.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

JAMES LICK, FOUNDER OF LICK OBSERVATORY, LIES BURIED BENEATH THE PIER OF THE GREAT TELESCOPE, ATOP MOUNT HAMILTON, CALIFORNIA.

AIR IS A POOR CONDUCTOR OF ELECTRICITY! A COLUMN OF IT, ONE INCH LONG, OFFERS AS MUCH RESISTANCE TO THE PASSAGE OF AN ELECTRICAL CURRENT AS A COPPER CABLE OF THE SAME CROSS SECTION THIRTY THOUSAND MILLION MILLION MILES LONG!

IN LOWER MEXICO, AN EXCELLENT GRADE OF WINE IS MADE FROM A SPECIES OF PALM TREES.

James Lick did not live to see the completion of the observatory he founded. The work was completed in 1888, but Mr. Lick died in 1818. After the base of the telescope was finished, his remains were placed in a vault within it. It is a fitting monument to the founder's memory.

EVER-NORMAL GRANARY PLANNED IN FARM LEGISLATION

CROP SURPLUSES WOULD BE KEPT FOR LEAN YEARS

Adjustment of Production for Foreign and Domestic Demands Asked

By FRED BAILEY
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (U.S.)—The administration advanced the ever-normal granary principle of controlled production and stored surpluses today as the basis for new farm legislation.

The ever-normal granary, endorsed in principle by President Roosevelt in his radio address last night and which he is expected to ask the special session of congress to enact immediately provides for:

1. Storage of surpluses in years of plenty for use in lean years.
2. Adjustment of production to expected domestic and foreign demand.
3. Stabilization of prices through a constant and even supply of farm products reaching market.

Federal Control
 The program provides for federal control of production through establishment of "quotas" for every farm producing one of the principal crops—corn, wheat, tobacco, rice, and cotton and oats.

Benefit payments from the federal treasury would be made to farmers who produced within their quotas and observed land use practices prescribed by the secretary of agriculture. Penalties would be assessed against those who failed to comply.

In normal years the penalties would take the form of reduced benefit payments. A heavy sales tax would be levied on products marketed in excess of quotas in any year in which the secretary of agriculture declared that an excessive surplus was threatened.

Opposition to the plan from such farm leaders in congress as chairman Milton D. Smith, D. R. C., of the senate agriculture committee and chairman Marvin Jones, D. Tex., of the house agriculture committee, appeared probable.

Wallace Supports
 Principal support was expected from Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, long one of its staunch proponents, and farm organization leaders headed by Edward A. O'Neal of the American farm bureau federation.

Congressional opposition to the plan, it was believed, will center around federal "punitive" provisions of the program.

Revival of the processing tax, outlawed by the supreme court in the Wheat decision, was proposed by Wallace. He mentioned it in connection with financing of a "permanent" subsidy for cotton.

Any program enacted by congress probably would be too late to affect the 1938 wheat crop, agriculture officials said. Wheat is harvested from which the bulk of the crop is produced, is nearly completed. This year's crop was estimated at 200,000,000 bushels, an increase of 20,000,000 bushels over last year.
