HOSPITAL EXPANSION HOPES AWAIT REPLY FROM TAYLOR

STATE LAW SEEN AS OBSTACLE TO COUNTY'S NEEDS

Attorney General Asked For Ruling in Twin Falls Program

Hopes for expansion of space and facilities at the Twin Falls county general hospital changed this afternoon on an opinion from Atty.-Gen. J. W. Taylor at Boise.

The attorney general's interpretation of the laws relative to the matter of county hospital funds emerged as the only chance for action. It developed last night at a meeting of the hospital advisory board and other citizens interested in reviving last year's movement for added quarters. The move for added quarters is being carried on through C. H. Hempelman, Twin Falls rancher and chairman of the advisory group, presided.

State law provides that the county commissioners cannot enlarge the hospital unless it is inadequate for the present lack of other county dependents. County Attorney Ed Babcock informed the meeting through a written opinion prepared for the commissioners a year ago. Mr. Babcock said this afternoon. Copies of it were supplied last night at request of the hospital advisory board.

Bond election would be necessary because an addition such as is proposed would be a bonded debt. It could be allowed by the board from regular tax funds. Mr. Babcock's opinion said further.

Since the hospital is large enough to handle the indigent sick, the statute today apparently blocked the tentative expansion move. Advisory board members indicated, in a survey of present facilities arise in care of indigents and private patients.

Additional hospital facilities are "needed," informal polling of opinion revealed at last night's session. The board members estimated the hospital needs 100 more beds. Accommodations now are provided for only about 60 in the hospital building.

Need for more space at the hospital has been recognized by the county commissioners for a fall term. The commissioners have made provisions for some expansion, but found that the statute prevents such action because the hospital would be fully large enough for all indigent cases if no private pay patients were allowed.

Mr. Taylor's opinion represented an obstacle in the expansion move which has been attempted here recently. It was noted that the state law would be fully large enough for all indigent cases if no private pay patients were allowed.

(From Page 1) posal for neutralization of the Shogunai area. The report that such a proposal had been made was not confirmed by the Chinese. Meanwhile, fighting raged in the western sector of the city where the Japanese were attempting to press forward in an effort to encircle Shanghai.

Rain Hampers Advance Heavy rain hampered their advance and aided the Chinese in consolidating their positions. The rain grounded the huge Japanese "flying fortresses," introduced into the war for the first time when they bombed Chinese lines steadily throughout the morning.

Twenty-five of these planes had dumped tons of bombs on Chinese positions along Hungjiao road as well as the Pootung area.

The strategy climaxed, but one Japanese battery (if the Jessfield road area which kept up such a constant fire it sounded like the battle of Shanghai) can be considered lost to the Chinese.

Chinese military authorities expected the stiff fighting along the creek at four points but claimed that every foray had been repulsed.

Military observers pointed out that if the Japanese advance much further they will trap Chinese big guns in the Whangpoo area from the foreign area, and at Nantao, southwest of the French concession.

Police Report 75 Gas Caps "Found"

Persons who lost gasoline tank or radiator caps during the Halloween season were asked this afternoon to call at the local police station where, officers said, the caps will more than likely be found.

This morning the manager of the General Petroleum service station at Five Points west gave the officers a list of caps "hidden" on his property. There were approximately 75 gas tank and radiator caps of every description.

The governor said that he realized, however, that Stemmer had to look out for himself where a job was concerned, and admitted the possibility that the highway director was contacting departments in other states which may have made him offers.

Stemmer is now working without pay since March, when the investigation of his department gained full stride, and the state auditor refused to advise from the attorney general to honor Stemmer's pay vouchers.

Officials in the highway department indignantly denied rumors that Stemmer had resigned. Mr. Stemmer will be back at his desk about Nov. 15, a farewell report.

Given "Farewell Party" The rumors, said by a high state official as "coming from an authoritative source," Stemmer had presented his resignation to Governor Clark the day before he left on his motor trip, and the governor had then given him permission to leave the state.

It was also said that a "farewell banquet," sponsor of which was not known, had been given to Stemmer the night before his departure.

All of this was vehemently denied. Stemmer has frequently said that he did not know "just what to do" whether to stay in office until the end of his term, or to resign, or to accept a forthcoming highway audit, were finished, or resign and get a "paying job."

IRISH-PANTHER TILT TOPS GRILL GAME

Other Teams With Good Records Face Tough Assignments

California Can Virtually Clinch Pacific Coast Crown With Win Over Huskies

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—The gridiron spotlight swings this Saturday to South Bend where the steadily climbing Irish of Notre Dame encounter Pittsburgh's mighty Panthers in the No. 1 game of the day.

Although beaten by Carnegie Tech and tied by Illinois, the Irish finally have begun to click and should offer the Panthers rugged opposition in the 12th game of this series.

Elsewhere the early November battling should be up to the high standard set at the important conference games featuring the program.

The handful of perfect record elevens all have tough assignments. California, the giant of the Pacific coast, meets Washington, defending champion, Baylor, unbeaten in the southwest, play in the perfect 10-0 record. Oregon, unbeaten, meets Utah U. and Montana encounters Gonzaga in feature games in the Rocky mountain sector. Unbeaten Santa Clara has a greater San Jose State. Unbeaten Alabama tangles with Tulane in the feature game of the Southwest conference. The undefeated perfect record eleven, Lafayette has a strong foe in Rutgers.

Standout Battles
The unbeaten but tied brigade also figures in some of the day's standout battles. Fordham, tied only by Pittsburgh and already carrying eyes on the Rose Bowl, faces Purdue. Yale and Dartmouth, who sold each other's records last Saturday by battling to a 9-9 tie, respectively face Brown and Princeton. Villanova faces Marquette; Holy Cross meets Colgate; Temple, tied five times, plays Michigan State. Duke meets Wake Forest and Nebraska, tied by Oklahoma, faces Kansas, holder of the big six conference lead.

The program includes:
EAST—Fordham-Purdue tops the program. Fordham has hopes of finishing the campaign without defeat. It meets B. Mary's next and finishes up with N. Y. U.
PITTSBURGH

MID-WEST—Notre Dame-Pittsburgh tops the list. Pittsburgh, on better record, figures to be favored. The tie with Michigan State, tied with Minnesota for the lead, meeting rugged Indiana. In the big six, Nebraska and Kansas are tight for the lead with Nebraska favored to win and go on to retain the title won a year ago.

SOUTH—Five games scheduled in the southwest conference, which Alabama leads with three victories and no defeats—Alabama-Tulane; Auburn-Tennessee; Florida-Georgia; L. S. U.-Mississippi State and Sewanee-Vanderbilt.

In the southern conference, where Duke and V. M. I. are tied for the lead, five conference games feature the program—Duke-Wake Forest; V. M. I.-Maryland; Richmond-V. P. I.; Citadel-North Carolina; and North Carolina-Carolina-Davidson.

Baylor Plays Texas
SOUTHWEST—Baylor, leading the conference with three victories and no defeats, can virtually clinch the championship by subduing Texas. Kansas, defending champion, meets runner-up Rice and S. M. U. plays Texas Aggies.

PACIFIC COAST—California can practically clinch the Pacific coast title if it whips defending champion Washington. Second in place Stanford meets Southern California and Washington State plays Oregon. Outside games are: Santa Clara-Santa Jose State and Oregon State-Willamette and B. Mary-San Francisco on Sunday.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN—Colorado U., leading the conference with four victories, faces Utah U. tied for second place with Western State, Denver and Colorado college. Other conference games are: Denver-Utah State and Wyoming. Outside games are: Montana, unbeaten Montana risks its perfect record against Gonzaga.

Injury to Bottari Worries Bear Coach
BENKLEY, Calif., Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Coach Hub Allison of Pacific Coast Conference's unbeaten Pacific Coast conference leader will know Wednesday whether his ace back, Vic Bottari, of Vallejo, will be able to play against Washington Saturday. Bottari aggravated an old leg injury against U. C. L. A. last Saturday. While it had been reported Bottari was out of the Washington game, doctors held hope for his getting into action.

DUCK RULES INCREASE FLIGHTS

30-Day Season, Ban on Some, Give Birds Break

(By NEA Service)

Ducks are coming back with a bang. Reports from the northern division of the United States, where hunting already is under way, indicate that there are more feathered folk for hunters to blaze away at than there have been for years. This makes the U. S. department of agricultural and biological survey mighty happy. The increase vindicates its methods of conservation which have been in effect for two years and which were considered drastic by many hunters when introduced.

The 30-day open season for each of the three sections of the country, the duck stamp tax which has been used for development of breeding grounds and other propagating methods, the limiting of repeating shots to three shells, and the season certain species of waterfowl, already show appreciable results in the southern flight.

Again this year there are three zones—the northern, intermediate, and southern. In the first zone, the season opens on October 15 and lasts until November 7. In the intermediate zone, the season is from November 1 to 30, and in the southern zone, from December 21 to December 28. South central Idaho is in the intermediate zone, the season opening here yesterday.

The biggest difficulty a hunter has nowadays, after he has obtained his duck stamp and complied with all other rules and regulations, is to define banned fowl.

One good thing to remember is that wood ducks, canvasbacks, and headheads (in case you haven't guessed it) all have red heads. So anytime you spot a duck with a brick top, swing your gun the other way.

This is only true in the male of the species, and few are the Nimrod's who can tell a canvasback and a mallard hen, the latter legal to shoot, until they are close enough to see the whites of their eyes.

Adding to the confusion, local names for banned ducks may throw the hunter off guard.

For instance, the buffhead is known as the butterball, butter duck, dipper, and dipper duck; the canvasback is variously known as the can, canvas, and whiteback; the redhead is called the fighter and redneck, while the ruddy duck is known as the stiff-tail, butterball, booby, and greaser.

Placed First by Eight
The baseball writers' committee of that which made the choice gave Gehring 18 out of a possible 80 points. Di Maggio received 74, Greiner 48 and Gehrig 42. Points were awarded on the basis of 10 for first place, ten for second, and so on through tenth place. Gehring received six firsts and two seconds.

Di Maggio received two firsts and six seconds. They were the only players to place above third on any club. Greiner drew four thirds and Gehrig one.

This Tiger to Win
Gehring is the third Tiger to receive this award which determines disposition of a plaque donated by the Detroit News. Greiner was in 1935 and Player-Manager Mickey Cochrane in 1934.

Gehring won because of his brilliant field and his batting which brought him the league championship. He was the oldest player to capture this honor in the 34 years of the American league's existence. He did not drive in as many runs as Greiner, Gehrig or Di Maggio, nor did he equal them in total bases or scoring runs.

Goodman reached the final yesterday with an easy 9-0 victory over Ed Appold, former Detroit player who now is a resident of Michigan City. Appold was Philadelphia champion in 1935.

Schumacher guided the Heat by defeating a fellow Tiger, Bruce McNitt, 10-9, in the 15th semi-final.

This year's gate will total $450,000—tickets are $4.00 each—of which the schools will split $400,100. The difference—$49,900—goes to the government for tax.

Gehring Named "Most Valuable" In Junior Circuit

Brilliant Second Baseman of Tigers Edges Joe DiMaggio in Battle for Honor

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Charley Gehring, Detroit Tigers' second baseman, known to his craft as a "ball player's player," was named today as the most valuable player in the American league. This annual award was made by the Baseball Writers' association of America.

Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees' outfielder, was a close second. Hank Greenberg, first baseman of the Detroit Tigers and a former winner, was third. Lou Gehrig, "iron man" first baseman of the Yankees, winner of the award last year, was fourth.

These Eyes Must Last for LIFE!

Give those young eyes a "break"—now, while it's time. Remember—he has only one pair of eyes, and they must last for his lifetime.

With proper lighting guard them against eyestrain. I.E.S. lamps, scientifically designed to give light where it is needed, will protect young eyes from the strain of study and reading. They reduce glare by softening the light for close-seeing tasks, and protect sensitive eyes. See the new models at your electrical dealer's, today. You'll find beautiful new designs for every lighting purpose.

CANNED CHERRIES MUST HAVE NO MORE THAN ONE PIT TO EVERY 20 OUNCES TO QUALIFY IN THE UNITED STATES AS STANDARD QUALITY.

Until the past Oct. 10, a 20-ounce can of cherries could have two seeds and still be regarded as of standard quality, but the new law sets the limit at one pit per 20 ounces. Cherries containing a higher ratio must be labeled "partially pitted," thus warning the consumers.

IT REALLY HAPPENED IN FOOTBALL!

UNIQUE In the annals of modern football is Roy Rogers famed 15-yard run in the WRONG DIRECTION. With 70,000 fans packing the stadium for the Rose Bowl game of 1930, California opened a first quarter attack that was checked by Georgia Tech on the southerner's 25-yard line. Tech fumbled and Rogers, the former center and captain-elect, scooped up the ball and started to run. Suddenly he about-faced and headed for his own goal. The roar of the crowd drowned the yells of his teammates as he dashed on to the 10-yard line where he was tackled by a team player from left half. Loose men from behind the goal line took two points on a safety that provided the margin of victory in that 27-7 win.
