Japanese Letter Offers Official Apology to U. S.

"Officers Dealt With According to Law," Government Note Says

TOKYO, Dec. 24 (U.P.)—The Japanese government, with the approval of Emperor Hirohito, issued its official reply today to the United States protest against the sinking of the gunboat Panay, declaring that "rigid orders" had been issued to respect foreign life and property in China.

The note reiterated Japan's expression of regret, promised indemnity and said the offending officers had been dealt with "according to law." The note was delivered at the foreign office by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew by Koki Hirota, foreign minister.

Orders were issued by the army, navy and foreign offices to Japanese in China not only to pay increased attention to avoiding infringement of foreign interests but to maintain closer contact with American authorities, the note said.

It asserted that in addition to the recall of Admiral Tojo Mitsumasa, chief of aerial operations in Japan, "staff members of the fleet, the commander of the flying squadron and all others responsible have been duly dealt with according to law."

It also stated that the Japanese government was endeavoring to prevent absolutely all possibility of a recurrence of incidents of a similar character.

The note specifically pledged the Japanese government to a policy of safeguarding the rights and interests of the United States and other powers in all possible ways.

By punishing the officers responsible for the Panay incident, the note said, "the Japanese government thus is endeavoring to prevent absolutely all possibility of a recurrence of incidents of a similar character."

Santa Claus Comes Tonight

Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Carrying candles in two Christmas fashions, the Dionne quintuplets are off to bed, to dream of reindeer and Santa's sleigh and all the marvelous gifts the holy old Saint will leave on his visit to the nursery tonight. As they tuck up on the stairs Annette, highest, is about to offer Yvonne advice on how to hold a candlestick. Cecile holds her high and Emilie makes sure she'll get no more on her pajamas, even though the candles are lighted. Marie thinks it a great task. Then Annette has a little idea. She'll just sit right down and wait until Santa comes. But she's finally persuaded to go on up to bed.

Sister Ship of Panay To Enter War's Zone

U. S. to Reopen Embassy at Nanking; Boat Will Protect American Interests

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
SHANGHAI, Dec. 24 (U.P.)—The United States gunboat Ohu will leave Monday with two American consular attaches for the war zone in which her sister ship the Panay was attacked by Japanese navy airplanes and Japanese troops, it was announced today.

Under orders of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States fleet, the Ohu will steam up the Yangtze to Nanking, to protect American interests.

Aboard her will be Consul John M. Allison and Vice Consul James Espey, under orders to reopen the embassy which was evacuated last before Japanese entered the city.

The mission was to be a Japanese complaint that Japanese soldiers at Wuhu, up the river from Nanking, entered an American mission school December 15—the day after the attack on the Panay and not only cracked the mission safe and looted it but pulled down and tore down the river an American flag flying on a small mission boat. Japanese officers at Wuhu also expressed respect to mission authorities.

The Ohu came to Shanghai with survivors of the Panay. At the time of the attack on the Panay, it was reported that the British ship Capetown which arrived at the mouth of the Yangtze near Shanghai with American and other foreign refugees, had had a most dangerous voyage due to floating and moored mines.

A Japanese navy spokesman announced today that the British ship Capetown which arrived at the mouth of the Yangtze near Shanghai with American and other foreign refugees, had had a most dangerous voyage due to floating and moored mines.

He added that the Japanese advised foreign shipping to abandon the Yangtze because it was full of mines and to proceed southward.

It is through the mine strewn Yangtze that the ship was pelleted with Japanese military officers, then deliberately sought out, attacked and sunk by Japanese bombing planes.

The report was the formal statement required by law of every naval commander who loses a ship.

MRS. ROOSEVELT VISITS DAUGHTER

Bad Flying Weather Forces Plane Down at Portland; Met By Son-in-Law

SEATTLE, Dec. 24 (U.P.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived here early today to spend Christmas with her daughter, son-in-law and two grandchildren after a flying trip from Washington that was delayed a few hours when bad weather forced her to enchain at Portland, Ore.

The first lady's train reached the depot at 6:46 a. m. but she did not get out until 7:25. She was met by John Hottelger, her son-in-law and publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, who was driving his own small coupe.

Wears Straw Hat
Mrs. Roosevelt's daughter, Anna Roosevelt Hottelger, was at her Lawtonwood home recovering from a minor operation. Her two children by a previous marriage, Eleanor (Lizette) and Curtis (Buz), also were there.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she did not know how long she was going to stay but it was presumed she would fly back to Washington, early next week. She wore a brown straw hat, contrasting with the season. The weather was cold and there was a strong wind blowing.

Carries Boxes
She carried a bouquet of roses but no Christmas presents, explaining they had been sent by mail. The family will decorate their Christmas tree tonight and she will preside over the dinner, Hottelger said.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she had scheduled no public appearances during her brief stay and intended to remain within the Bouttign home most of the time. Her trip was a surprise. She left Washington Wednesday night.

PRISONERS RELEASED
BERLIN, Dec. 24 (U.P.)—More than 3,000 political prisoners have been released so far from concentration camps and from preliminary arrest in Germany under the Christmas amnesty, it was learned today.

1,000 Kids Happy At Gifts of Toys

One thousand needy youngsters in Twin Falls were happy this afternoon, happy because Santa Claus remembered them.

The youngsters, members of approximately 200 families, this afternoon, were completed by a P. M. of one pound of candy, a sack of nuts and an orange—all distributed for Santa Claus through the Junior Chamber of Commerce kids' Christmas party.

Five Trucks Aid
Deliveries, starting at 2 p. m. this afternoon, were completed by a P. M. of five donated trucks, manned by Boy Scouts and chamber members, visited every section of the city. Trucks were donated for the deliveries by the Twin Falls Coca Cola Bottling company, the Utah Chief Coal company, Young's dairy, Lewiston Brothers, Inc. and the Consolidated Wagon and Machine company. In each case the firm donating the truck also furnished a driver.

A last-minute shortage of toys for the baskets brought immediate response from Twin Falls residents and businessmen who donated more than 600 additional items, many of them new, within a few hours.

The kids' club answered an immense number of inquiries for toys and eagerly-used toys to their luncheon Thursday afternoon.

Times Will Take Holiday For Christmas

In order to allow editorial, advertising and mechanical staff members, as well as a reserve of distributors, to observe a merry Christmas at home, the Idaho Evening Times will not publish a Christmas edition Saturday, Dec. 25.

The holiday suspension of publication for one day follows the traditional custom of the Evening Times in observance of Christmas day.

Business Halts For Christmas

Reign in Idaho

Yule Spirit Rules as Needy Receive Baskets

Gleaming Yule lights in thousands of homes throughout Twin Falls and south central Idaho this afternoon signalled the halt of routine labors and the ascendancy of the Christmas spirit.

Most of the work-day labors of business and farming will halt tomorrow as south Idaho observes the birthday of the Savior.

In Twin Falls, stores, offices, the court house, city hall, banks and the post office will be closed Saturday. In other south central counties, business and official establishments will be similarly shut down over two-day span.

Only special delivery parcels will be distributed by postal workers.

Needy Given Aid
Attuned to the Christmas tradition of giving, many benevolent organizations both here and in all other cities and towns of the area were distributing Christmas baskets and toys to the underprivileged.

Approval by the interstate commerce commission of the application made by railroads of the United States for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates would mean an $100,000,000 annual increase in the cost of Idaho citizens.

W. C. Thornton, state representative from Gooding county, said this afternoon.

Thornton, in a recent interview with the Evening Times, urged the people of Idaho to fight the proposed increase before it is too late.

Urges Fight Now
"The time to stop this plan is now," he said, "not after the application has been approved."

This afternoon Mr. Thornton gave an Evening Times reporter a schedule which he recently completed and which shows how much the increase, if granted, will cost Idaho citizens.

In the schedule Thornton lists each community affected, showing the 1938 cart shipping, the cost at 1937 rates and the cost at 1938 rates.

1937 White Christmas is Seen for Most of State

Snows Predicted for North, Southeast Sections

TWIN FALLS WILL GET LITTLE SNOW

BOISE, Dec. 24 (U.P.)—The U. S. weather bureau today forecast a generally white Christmas for the state of Idaho, and said that heavy snowfall would strike the north and southeast sections of Idaho tonight and Christmas morning.

In other sections of the state, light snow already has been reported with the indication that the fall would continue throughout Dec. 25.

A northwesterly breeze, reported at Coeur d'Alene, would apparently move inland, working south through Washington and Idaho, bringing snow to the state.

The storm would bring rain to the Pacific coast, the bureau said, but would turn to snow when it began moving over the higher mountain ranges.

Snow at Boise
Boise and vicinity was powdered with a light snow which began with a whipping wind of blizzard proportions and then lightened to sleet, modic fall.

Streets were made slippery, and several minor traffic accidents were reported to police.

The state bureau of highways advised caution on all U. S. routes, but reported that although 14 inches of snow had fallen at Targhee pass on the Yellowstone park highway, the road was clear.

INSPECTORS MEET ON SPUD DYING

Group Sees Supervisor Give Methods of Diversion Program

Immediate start on inspections for the potato diversion program for livestock feed took form today as about a dozen inspectors gathered for a "demonstration inspection" at the Carl Maxwell ranch three and one-half miles east on Kimberly road.

C. C. Magara, supervisor of inspection for the Twin Falls district, was in charge of the demonstration. He showed the methods to be used in dyeing the diversion spuds.

Start Monday
Start of general inspection is expected Monday, according to County Agent Harvey E. Hale. Inspection applications are now being received at Hale's office, and the inspections will be made in the order that requests are received.

Inspection application blanks were mailed directly to the growers along with their diversion authorizations from the Potato office of the Idaho potato control committee.

Dye is Harmless
Spuds to be diverted to livestock feed will be marked with purple non-poisonous dye. The dye is the same type of non-harmful marking used to designate meals in packing houses and butcher shops, officials said.

Growers will receive 25 cents per hundredweight for potatoes, No. 2 grade, or better, which are authorized for diversion to stock feeding. The producers are required to assist inspectors in the dyeing process.

Customs, Postal and Navy Heads Join to Smash Espionage Ring

LETTERS TAKEN FROM JAPANESE LINER TATSUTA

Missives Reportedly Contain Spy Notes Telling of Yard Operations

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. (UP)—United States customs and postal authorities joined forces with the navy today in a coastwise drive to smash possible espionage activities following seizure of three mysterious letters from the liner Tatsuta Maru just before she sailed yesterday for the far east.

The letters were reportedly spy notes supposedly bearing on operations and activities of the American navy yard in Puget Sound. Authorities, however, refused to comment, saying the letters could not be used for at least two months, in accordance with federal condemnation requirements.

Customs agents and postal operatives, it was disclosed, were working ashore while the navy continued its operations. The letters, said investigators, were registered as every American boat in search for possible secret alien ownership. Naval authorities hinted their possible spying was directed against fishing boats operated out of California ports by aliens, especially Japanese.

Acting on information from an unidentified source, customs agents boarded the Tatsuta, searched a mass of letters and confiscated three that bore Japanese instead of American stamps in violation of postal regulations. The letters reportedly originated in Seattle and bore Far Eastern addresses which authorities refused to divulge.

Navy Requested Seizure It was rumored the letters were made at the request of the navy intelligence.

Intelligence hinted that both customs agents and postal inspectors have redoubled their vigilance in recent weeks in efforts to intercept letters of suspicious nature addressed to the Far East.

The seized letters were turned over to postal authorities.

To Honolulu, Rear Admiral Murray, commander of the 14th naval district, implied the naval maneuvers on San Diego and San Pedro this week.

Admiral Murray was the first official to comment on the maneuvers and expressed the opinion that they were "routine training."

A naval source asserted unofficially that there were 1,800 fishing boats operated out of California ports that were owned by aliens, and that from 400 to 600 of them were operated by Japanese.

The Matsuyama, a 23,000-ton fishing steamer, was seized at San Pedro on the suspicion that an alien Japanese crewed it. A customs agent said that the Matsuyama had a Japanese crew and that one particular boat was to be taken as soon as it reached port.

FOUR-H PROJECTS AT HIGH VALUES

Pig and Sheep Work Shows Increase; 92 Clubs Were Formed in Year

BURLEY, Dec. 24 (Special)—The 1937 4-H club year closed in November with the completion of 637 of the 837 projects for which club members had enrolled during the winter and spring.

A statistical analysis of the year's work shows that 92 clubs were organized under the direction of 103 local leaders in Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka and Twin Falls counties. Forty-five of these local leaders came from the ranks of former club members.

Swells Total

A large increase in pig and sheep projects swelled the total valuation of completed projects in these six counties to $1,728,977 on which club members realized a profit of $5,244.98 for their season's work.

As in former years the clothing project was most popular with girls. 346 girls making 1,610 articles of clothing for a profit of $621.97 on a valuation of $1,574.85. Second in popularity and numbers was baking, 85 girls having made 6,489 articles valued at $477.64.

Dairy in Lead

In boys' work the dairy project continued to be the most popular, but their lead over other projects was decreased by larger enrollments in pig and sheep clubs. Forty-nine club members completed their work, listing 61 animals valued at $1,689.96 and showing a profit of $713.55. With a valuation of $4,298.91 and a profit of $1,462.05, the pig project led all others in value this year. Forty-three members listed 263 pigs in their clubs. Of the larger projects, however, beef club work was the most profitable, 25 club members netting $1,052.77 on 39 animals valued at $2,579.02. In sheep clubs there was a profit of $234.48 on 61 animals valued at $1,193.69, records being completed by 33 members.

Co-Ed's Beauty Sinit Takes 2 Hours Daily

CANYON, Tex. (UP)—A co-ed at Coudine Hall, who attends West Texas State Teachers college here, said the 130 girls in her dormitory average two hours daily before the looking glass.

The miss, who prefers anonymity for obvious reasons, said the schedule runs about like this: 30 minutes before the first morning class; 10 minutes before lunch; five minutes after lunch; 30 minutes before bedtime—with the remainder of the two hours consumed by later priming or getting ready for "dates."

Cold, Blustery Night, Hungry Man And Beefsteak Pie—That's a Trio

(NEA Service)
Cold nights make them hungry. Beefsteak pie makes men agreeable. Chuck beef, which has been boned, makes the food costs stay in their lowly place. Put all these three thoughts together and you have excellent food for thought and dinner.

This recipe comes from the chef in charge of all food for several well-known medium priced restaurants throughout the country. He reports that men want beef despite its high cost. So he had to think up good beef dishes which use the less expensive cuts. He reports, and I have no reason to doubt him, that this recipe turned out to be the most successful with men diners.

Beefsteak Pie Family Style

(4 to 6 servings)
One pound beef (chuck beef after boning), 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, one pinch of pepper, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1/2 cup chopped onions with cup tomato puree, 2 pieces of celery, pinch of thyme, piece of a bay leaf, one sprig of parsley, 2 cups cooked carrots (cut in cubes), 1/4 cup flour, tea biscuit dough.

Cut beef in one inch cubes. Mix beef thoroughly with paprika, salt and pepper. Heat shortening in a frying pan, add meat and chopped onions and braise until thoroughly browned and the fat is clear. Drain off the fat and keep it for making the gravy.

Add the tomato puree and enough water to cover the meat. Make a bouquet of the celery, thyme, bay leaf and parsley and add. Simmer until the meat is done, adding water when necessary. Remove bouquet. Strain off the stock and keep enough to make the gravy.

Make a paste of the fat and the flour. Add the hot stock and cook until smooth. Add more salt and pepper if necessary.

Cover the bottom of a baking pan with the cooked meat. Distribute the carrots and potatoes evenly over the meat and cover with gravy. Roll out enough tea biscuit dough to fit the top of the pan, cover and bake in a hot oven until the crust is done.

Biscuit Dough

Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 4 tablespoons shortening, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients, cut in shortening and add the liquid. Roll out on a floured board to fit the pie.

Ex-Nebraskan Held For Check Passing

BOISE, Ida., Dec. 24 (UP)—Police today checked the record of William Mohr, 32, said by them to be an ex-Nebraska convict, after he was arrested and charged with passing more than 200 bad checks.

Mohr is alleged to have passed the checks in Boise during the past two weeks, while he posed as a penitentiary guard, a farmer, a clerk, and assumed various other character roles.

Beefsteak Pie Family Style keeps the spirits up and the food costs down. Chuck steak boned and a wide variety of garden vegetables all covered up nicely with tea biscuit crust result in grand eating.

Idaho Onion Grower Will Have Christmas Breakfast With FDR

WILDER, Ida., Dec. 24 (UP)—When Franklin D. Roosevelt told Hubert Peckham that he didn't think onions grew that big, it started something, and as a result, Peckham and his wife will have Christmas breakfast in the White House at Washington.

On his western trip through Idaho, Mr. Roosevelt was taken to Peckham's onion farm. There Peckham showed the President a 10-pound onion and made him a present of it, "to give the President strength for his duties."

Mr. Roosevelt expressed his amazement at the size of the Bermuda orange, and that started a round of crop stories by Mr. Peckham.

But there wasn't much time; the President's train was waiting, and the chief executive invited the Peckhams to breakfast Christmas, where the crop yarns will be finished.

The Peckhams left for Washington a week ago by train to keep the appointment.

IDEALS OF PAST REGARDED DEAD

BY DR. KELLER
ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—Idealism and diplomacy are not enough to solve the problems of the world today, Dr. Adolf Keller, noted Swiss teacher, archeological explorer and writer, believes. He recommends in addition a creative power "that can be given only by God."

Dr. Keller said he was convinced "we are facing the end of an old world, ideals which we cherished, ideals for which we fought."

Three powers, he continued, offer solutions of the problems and promise a new national and international order. He mentioned Bolshevism, Fascism and "that constructive political idealism which found an exponent in the League of Nations."

Admitting the advance in "civilization, technique and education" of the Bolshevik doctrine, Dr. Keller criticized the Marxist ideology as a negation of those values for which Christianity stands.

A Thought for Christmas. You would almost think that the ordinary adult would get used to Christmas, after all these years; would get a little case-hardened, so to speak, so that the day would lose a little bit of its special, magical appeal.

But somehow that never happens. Christmas is forever new; even the most dour and crabbed of people, like old Scrooge, are apt to find themselves mystically made over by its influence, if only for a day or two.

For Christmas is, among other things, a kind of spiritual rebirth which restores the freshness and expectancy of childhood. It is not for nothing that its common symbol is a jovial Santa Claus, bearing a pack of gifts for children.

Which, in its turn, is a reminder that a spiritual rebirth like the one which Christmas brings is entirely and fundamentally necessary to us. That coating of cynicism which worldly experience puts on all of us, that readiness to expect the worst, to return evil for evil, to suspect motives and to count the cost of all generous actions—is not that something which we must discard, somehow, before we can shape the world in the way it must be shaped?

We cannot enter the Kingdom of Heaven with this cynicism; and Christmas is an excellent time to remember, also, that the Kingdom of Heaven is after all within ourselves. We must find the Kingdom there or nowhere. Until we do find it the world will continue to be the sorry and imperfect place it now is.

Christmas is a good time to start looking for it. For, on top of everything else, Christmas is a reminder that the Kingdom is really there, if we take the trouble to get at it. Man is perfectible, after all; his dreams are not vain, his ideals are not unattainable. If we can but remember that today, our Christmas will do for us what it was meant to do.

Refuge for Indians. There is a measure of real justice in the recent government order marking off 5,000,000 acres of western land as a "last frontier" where the Indian may go on to his own without the slightest interference from white men.

The lands involved are to be barred to paved roads, and motor traffic is to be prohibited. The man who wants to go in will have to go on foot or on horseback. This is no more than fair. A culture like that of the Indians cannot exist if it rubs elbows constantly with a motorized, mechanized civilization like ours.

Soviet Pole Pioneers. Those four Russian scientists who were plunked down on an ice floe at the North Pole last May and told to stay there until they were called for have done a great deal of traveling just by sitting still. The latest messages from their floating base show that they have drifted 745 miles, and are now off the northeast coast of Greenland, nearly eight degrees of latitude from the pole.

If they have done nothing else, they have at least reversed one of the traditions of polar exploration. The old-timers went to the pole, or as close to it as they could get, by slow and painful stages; the Russians went there in a hurry, but have taken longer getting back than any other group on record.

And while they will undoubtedly bring back much scientific data on ocean currents, water temperatures, and so on, it is probably that one thing by which the public will remember them—that they flew to the pole and then drifted away on an ice cake.

Rememberers say the nation's toll of lost youth rises every year, not even including the women who won't marry. The safety "spy" system has been abandoned. N. J., evidently on the theory that most people will recognize the password anyway.

Considering making all its temperamental producers so that their talent for it is not to waste.

NO MORE SHOPPING DAYS Until Christmas! AND WHAT DID BARBILLY SAY ABOUT IT?

Suddenly Linda broke through the icy sheath of horror that had been closing in about her since she began to understand, and cried out "Barry! Barry! Barry!"

AS the wheels of Jefferson's teagwagon sounded on the polished floor of the hall outside, he kissed her swiftly, and whispered, "Tomorrow — after lunch." Then drawing her arm through his, he led her, with his knees shaking in mock terror, in ludicrous pantomime of a wedding procession toward his grandmother's favorite chair.

WHAT DO I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS? Knowledge that no child may be without a single toy. Knowledge that no child may be without a spark of joy.

WELL, WE GOT OUR STUFF MAILED, ANYWAY! I haven't felt so young in 10 years as I did when we were lined up in the post office.

IT DOES MAKE A TIDY POWER BILL! If all the Christmas trees, with all the Christmas lights, were lined up end to end, 'twould mark the heart of Idaho Power company.

AM, THAT CLASSIC LETTER, SLIGHTLY REVISED! Dear Poole: Here it is, Christmas, and you've neglected the most important duty of all good journalists. You haven't re-publicated that famous letter about Santa Claus, first printed those many years ago in the New York Herald-Tribune.

Dear Virginia: You ask if there is really a Santa Claus. Ah, Virginia, has someone been putting bologna into your pearls while you sleep? Has someone been telling you there is no Santa? Tell me, Virginia, and I'll make you believe in him.

Dear Virginia: You're a Santa Claus. It's hard for us to say because we're all so busy.

CHAPTER VI. FOR what seemed an eternity to Linda, old Miranda and her grandson faced each other in silence, the old lady's hands very tight on the handle of her cane.

After a pause in which she seemed to think this over, old Miranda nodded and asked, "You're trying it alone then?"

When Linda laughed a little unsteadily, Barry patted her shoulder and said, "That's a good girl! Now wipe your nose before the Duchess comes back."

CHRISTMAS TREE TO BE 200 FEET

Biggest in World Sought For Treasure Island at Frisco Show

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's well-known forest giant redwood trees are being called upon to produce the largest Christmas tree this year the world has ever seen.

The tree is to be erected on Treasure Island, the man-made island that has been built up in San Francisco bay as the site of the 1939 Golden Gate and International exposition.

A committee has been designated to seek a tree that will measure not less than 200 feet in height and arrange for its transportation and erection on the island in time for the Yuletide festivities.

The task will involve some complicated transportation and engineering feats.

In the first place, it is necessary that the tree be cut down and eased to the ground in such a way as not to damage its branches and foliage.

Introductory systems of wire cables will aid woodmen in this part of the task.

The tree will then be cut in two 100-foot sections and loaded on special freight cars, also in a manner as not to destroy or damage the branches.

Upon arrival at San Francisco, the two sections will have to be lifted by giant cranes from the cars, and deposited with appropriate care on barges which will carry them across the bay to the island.

Once re-erected on the island, electrical experts will arrange the decorations and lighting effects so that the tree can be seen by all incoming and outgoing steamers, by the populations of the bay cities and by all motorists crossing the bay's two new bridges.

FARMER CLEARED ON 'VET' CHARGES

Claude Dickey Acquitted of Practicing Without Having State License

Claude Dickey, Murlough rancher, was cleared today of charges that he practiced veterinary medicine without a license.

Six probate court jurymen acquitted him yesterday afternoon after a misdemeanor trial before Judge Guy L. Kinney. The defense counsel, Lionel Campbell, of the firm of Chapman and Chapman and Campbell, contended that Dickey was performing a neighborly act and that the state had not proved its claims concerning the fluid injected into horses owned by three farmers in Piler district.

The horse vaccinations were for brain fever, and the owners testified that Dickey accepted two dollars for his aid in each case.

Dickey's counsel called no testimony on his behalf.

Chief complaining witness was Earle B. Williams, north side traffic officer formerly stationed in this county.

Members of the jury were C. E. Sallee, Claudi F. Wiley, E. V. Philmore, Lawrence Murphy, L. D. White and Wayne Milner.

APPEAL TO THOSE BEHIND THE STEERING WHEEL

Editor, Evening Times: Within another week, 1937 will pass into history. Very soon after the new year begins, we should be able to get statistics upon what the closing year has done to reduce the tragedy on the highways throughout the nation. What will the percentage of increase in 1937 be over 1936? We hope it will be less than the eight per cent which 18 out of 49 states reported at the end of the first ten months. How much less will the 1937 total be than the 1936 total of 37,800 deaths?

Idaho got off to a bad start during the first five months of this year with a 122 per cent increase over the same period last year, but in the six months previous to Dec. 1, this was cut down to no increase. In December, 1936, there were 18 automobile deaths, which made the year's total 182. December, 1937, got off to a bad start with a number of traffic fatalities in Twin Falls and Canyon counties. So far we are still under the mark of last December, but there is a week to go and that week, the week between Christmas and New Year's, is one that drivers should observe with greatest caution. The roads are icy, and fog curtains distance which makes speeding doubly dangerous.

We are appealing to all drivers to help us "hold the line" and have Idaho emerge with flying colors, showing the nation that "Death took a Holiday" in Idaho when the Christmas-New Year's week as it did over the three-day vacation on the Fourth of July. We appeal to the drivers to help us keep the Idaho traffic fatalities down for the coming week.

We wish to take this opportunity of expressing our thanks to the press of the state for the splendid cooperation they gave in helping us carry the safety message to the operators of automobiles. We want, also, to commend the drivers who helped in reducing the accidents, for we know without this whole-hearted support of those actually behind the steering wheels, this reduction of fatalities could not have been accomplished.

'True Confession' Orpheum Feature

Custody runs wild in Paramount's Christmas offering for the Orpheum theater, "True Confession," which stars Carole Lombard, Fred MacMurray and John Barrymore. Directed by Wesley Ruggles, it is the tale of a girl who's rather le than eat, and her straight-laced, truth-telling, only-policy husband. When the biggest little liar in the world is married to a guy who thinks that truth is the most important thing in the world, you can expect fireworks.

According to preview reports, John Barrymore, in a supporting role, will never be seen again in anything but a light comedy role... as he almost steals the show.

JACOBS RISES AS OUTSTANDING FIGHT FIGURE

Henry Armstrong Termed Best Fighter of Year

Max Schmeling Gets Biggest Run-Around of 1937 Boxing Season

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (U.P.)—The year 1937 saw the Madison Square Garden corporation, which practically controlled professional boxing since it was founded by Tex Rickard, drop completely out of it.

When the courts upheld Jim Braddock in his deliberate run-out on Max Schmeling, making it possible for Michael Strauss Jacobs to present the Joe Louis-Braddock production in Chicago, the Garden people capitulated.

Jacobs became the most powerful figure in the boxing world when he took over the best busting privilege at the Garden and its bowl in Queens.

This gives the Broadway ticket broker a virtual monopoly in Manhattan, for he also has the two New York ball parks, and his lease on the old Hippodrome theater enables him to conduct a weekly program regardless of what is booked at the Garden.

Schmeling Gets Run-Around
Max Schmeling will maintain for the remainder of his days that 1937 was the year of the big run-around. After training at Speculator for a phantom fight with Braddock, and being left waiting at the scales, Schmeling returned to Germany and agreed to box Tommy Farr, the British Empire champion, in London. His intention was to claim the title after getting over the Welshman.

But Jacobs' money and opportunity to compete for the title were not to be. So Farr became the opponent of Louis in the Alabama-Berkley's first title defense attack.

It was this match that definitely returned the cloak of invincibility from Louis for while Farr was badly hurt, Schmeling was not hurt at all. He was credited with the biggest upset of the year when he stayed in there and pitched for the full 15 rounds.

While there was plenty of heavy weight activity, despite the side-tracking of Schmeling, a once-again feather, Henry Armstrong, was to boxing in 1937, what the Yankees were to baseball, the Pittsburgh Panthers to football, and Don Egan to tennis. Egan, Egan, Egan, with the legs of a bantam, the arms and torso of a weller, and the tactics of Charley Hartnett, was the world's champion.

Also Jacobs did something never before done in boxing. He introduced world champions at night on one night—Marcel Thiri, who was recognized as middleweight ruler of the world, and Les Anderson, and Egan to Egan, Freddie Apollon of San Francisco out and stopped Thiri, and Jeff Hays, a string bean, a bantamweight, lifted Egan's hand.

Admiral Marches On
Jimmy Adamick, Michigan farm boy, after an ordinary blow-out to make progress as a white horse, Maxie Rosenblum outboxed him, but was stumped for the first time in a second edition.
John Henry Lewis lost a decision for the first time in two years when Eddie Gustafson nailed him right under the gun, hurt, and dropped him two or three times in Detroit. The young Phoenix Negro more than made the score in St. Louis however. He bounced the Basque around and knocked him out. He checked the venerable Johnny Rubez comeback.

Labor Leaders Ask Meeting With Company Head to Discuss Situation

By DON FRYOR
DETROIT, Dec. 23 (UP)—Henry Ford prepared for his second major fight with an agency of the federal government today as union leaders, backed by a sharply worded national labor relations board ruling, requested a conference with Ford.

Company officials to promote "industrial peace."

Ford, confronted by a labor board decision that his company was guilty of "unfair labor practices," directed his attorneys to ask the federal courts to overrule the decision, which the company lawyer denounced as "wrong and unjust."

The manufacturer, long a critic of labor unions and of federal regulation of business, was accused by the board of having instituted a "retaliatory campaign" against the United Automobile Workers union, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

At a conference Monday, Ford, international president of the union, immediately requested a conference "at your convenience" with Henry Ford, some director of the Ford company, to promote "industrial peace and proper labor relations" between the manufacturer and his workers.

"You need not fear a conference of this sort," Martin declared. "We do not believe in force or violence as an ordinarily sound method of settling a dispute."

Ford, however, chose to fight, as he did in the days of the NRA when General Hugh Johnson threatened to "take down" his plants.

"You need not fear a conference of this sort," Martin declared. "We do not believe in force or violence as an ordinarily sound method of settling a dispute."

Louis J. Colombo, attorney who defended the Ford company during the hearings, said he would appeal the decision to the United States circuit court of appeals.

"The three members of the board who were unanimous in the ruling expected an appeal, and board attorneys in Washington said that they were prepared to take the case to the U. S. supreme court."

The board appeared confident that any attack could be repelled under the supreme court decision upholding the validity of the Wagner act in the Prusback-Traylor case, in which that manufacturer was found to be engaged in interstate commerce.

Orders to Ford
Ford was ordered to cease discriminating against union members in the auto industry or any other labor organization; to halt furthering of the Ford Brotherhood of America, which was found to be a company union; to refrain from organizing vigilante groups; the purpose of coercing employees to relate with such groups; and to discharge for union activity.

"We will take legal steps to have the decision overruled," Bennett announced at his office in Ford's River Rouge plant in Dearborn, Mich.

"When that will occur, I cannot say, but Ford contended that it will move in on the decision."

Union officials felt that the decision gave great impetus to their efforts to organize the 100,000 Ford employees in Dearborn and the thousands of others in assembly plants throughout the country.

Turkey and Trimmings For County Farm Folk

Roast turkey and all the trimmings.

That is the Christmas menu planned for the 50 residents of the county farm at 3 p. m. Saturday, according to announcement this afternoon by W. G. Shipman, superintendent, and George M. Warner, chief.

And the dinner will be served among scenes reminiscent of "better days" for the inmates. Four decorated Christmas trees have been erected at the home. One is in the women's ward, one in the men's ward, another in the front of the main building and still another in the tuberculosis ward.

Model Village
Aside from these decorations a model village, situated in a small square at the front of the main building, causes no little comment. Included in the village is a log, scale model of the home, a church, a Dutch windmill, a barn and a house. At night, small lights burn within the buildings, each resident will receive several presents, aside from those which are taken to the home by townpeople for distribution to the inmates, the oldest of whom is "Uncle Joe" Cannon, nearing 100.

Stationery and candy will go to the ladies and cigars, tobacco and cigarettes (for those who smoke) well as dress socks will go to the men. These gifts are from the county.

But the dinner is what is interesting the residents. Shipman and Warner revealed. Following is the complete menu:

The Last for Dinner
Roast turkey with dressing. Cranberries and sauce. Mashed potatoes and gravy. Candied sweet potatoes. Fruit salad.
Coffee or milk.
Dessert: Oranges, apples, candies and nuts.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CHATS AT BOISE

Wife of President Talks to Governor and Mate During Short Stop

BOISE, Ida., Dec. 24 (UP)—Shivering in an icy wind which cut through the airport hangar here last night, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, chatted for a few minutes with Gov. and Mrs. Barilla Clark as her plane, overdue because of storm, paused at Boise on route to Seattle.

Mrs. Roosevelt, on her way to spend Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. John Bestinger of Seattle, and her two grandchildren, Bessie and Gladis, was greeted with a telegram from the Bestingers.

"Priority tried to think of your coming," it read.

While here, Mrs. Roosevelt advised her daughter that to expect from the President in the way of a Christmas gift, and deftly turned aside a question concerning third-term possibilities for her husband.

"Maybe you had better ask the President about that," she laughed.

BURLEW CHOICE RASPS SENATORS

Selection of Successor to Walters Irks Some of Western Seniors

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD
WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (Special)—The appointment of E. K. Burlew to succeed the late T. A. Walters as first assistant secretary of the interior has aroused some hard feelings among western senators. Mr. Burlew is said to be a Pennsylvania Republican. Western senators contend that he neither understands nor would sympathize with the problems of the west. We are told there will be a battle in the senate against his confirmation.

Texas is distributing free grapefruit in the capital now to publicize the product. Incidentally, eastern newspapers are still carrying pictures of the Idaho potato distribution in the rotogravure sections.

A widespread campaign by peace organizations to enact the Ludlow amendment to the constitution is netting some results. The amendment would prohibit the U. S. government from declaring war in case of invasion of the United States. War officers are visiting army camps all pointing out their objections to this procedure, namely: That the amendment does not provide for a declaration of war in case South America, Mexico, Panama or Canada are invaded. Thus, the amendment, they say, would scrap the Monroe Doctrine. Indications are that the amendment will have tough sledding in the house of representatives on that account.

Sophomores were second in the contest. Mrs. Emma McClintock is adviser for this class.

Dark Pages of the Year's History

By WILLIS THORNTON (NEA Service)

The book of 1937 is closing. But there are certain entries, darkly and secretly written in the first place, which remain the mysteries of 1937.

That, for example, is the complete story of the fate of little Charles Matson? Who stole him away, and how did he meet death? The pages of 1937 obscure the answers.

Savagely battered, nude and frozen, the boy's body was found on January 11 in a snow-covered brush field near Everett, Wash., thus ushering in the year with a horrid crime.

Two weeks before, the boy had been carried away bodily by a rough-looking stranger who smashed his way into a glass-enclosed sun-porch of the home of the boy's father, W. W. Mattson of Tacoma. A crudely-printed note demanding $28,000 in ransom was left on the door amid the debris of the smashed door.

Despite a widespread search by G-men and police, despite the arrest and questioning of literally

Victims of the "red circle" murders near Queens, N. Y.

Mystery Clouds Fate of Fliers

Two of the greatest mysteries of the year had no connection with crime. Vanished literally into thin air during 1937 were two great fliers, Amelia Earhart and Sigismund Levanevsky.

Miss Earhart and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan, vanished near Howland island in the Pacific on August 13 in the course of a round-the-world flight. A frantic naval search failed to reveal a clew. Levanevsky and five companions, hopping over the North Pole on a Moscow-California flight, disappeared north of Alaska, and were not heard from again.

Thousands of suspects, despite the all-too-clear evidence of his ultimate fate, the story of what interceded between his kidnapping and his death remains an unresolvable page in the story of 1937.

Where is Ross Today?

Even more completely shrouded in mystery is the strange kidnapping of Charles S. Ross, who was stopped by two armed men while driving along a Chicago suburban road with a former secretary, Ross, 72, had recently sold an interest in a greeting-card concern, and was discussing details incident to the sale with the former employer. The armed men, after robbing the woman, drove off with Ross.

Despite a frantic search, and despite the fact that Mrs. Ross raised and paid over $50,000 in ransom, Ross was never heard of again. Lacking the slightest shadow of a mole, police were forced to conclude that the armed men merely intended robbery, and suddenly decided on kidnapping when Ross came clear that their victim was a man of some wealth.

But where is Ross today? Is he alive or dead? The closing pages of 1937 are again blurred and unresolvable.

Find Ransom Note

The year closes in the same utter silence regarding the fate of Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, 38. On the morning of June 6, she drove her husband from their Long Island home to catch the train to New York. He never saw her again.

According to the housekeeper, a Mrs. Anna Kuzpanov, Mrs. Parsons returned home, and shortly afterward left the house with a strange couple to show them a house that was for sale. When Parsons returned home that night and found that his wife had been absent all day, he called police. They found in the back seat of the Parsons car, parked in the driveway, a note demanding $20,000 ransom.

But once again the curtain closed down, and whether Mrs. Parsons is dead or alive, and where, the record of 1937 will not disclose.

The "Red Circle" Murders

No less smudged and unresolvable is the page that tells the story of the "Red Circle" murders. With a small red circle drawn on the forehead of each with the girls' own lipstick, the bodies of Lewis Wells and Charles S. Ross was kidnaped near Chicago, and even a $50,000 ransom did not solve the mystery of his disappearance.

Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, who left her Long Island country home with a strange couple and never returned.

SAWTOOTH SNOW DEPTHS ADVANCE

Ketchum Had Nine Inches on Monday and Oselna 40, Moore Reports

Nine inches of snow covered Ketchum and nearby areas Monday, according to the latest report submitted by P. S. Moore, Halley, supervisor of the Sawtooth national forest.

Higher up in the rugged mountains, Galeña summit had 40 inches; Old Baldy No. 1 had eight inches; Old Baldy No. 2, 18 inches, and Old Baldy No. 3, 22 inches. Graham's ranch showed 10 inches.

Cumulative snow figures show a tremendous increase over last year. On Dec. 21, 1936, the Halley area had received only 1.05 inches of snow and the Soldier creek only 3 inches. The present total, however, is still below average, which is 22.94 inches from Oct. 1 until the period covered in Moore's report.

2,000,000 MEN LOSE POSITIONS

Figures Issued by American Federation of Labor Show Jobs Decrease

By C. L. SULZBERGER (Copyright, 1937, United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—The works progress administration has submitted a report to Administrator Harry L. Hopkins showing that 2,000,000 men lost their jobs last September, it was learned today. The report estimated that between 1,000,000 and 3,000,000 men and women would become unemployed before Feb. 1.

Only three high officials of WPA have received the study prepared under the direction of Leon Henderson, former NRA economist. The first draft was given Hopkins Nov. 25, after his southern fishing trip. The initial survey has been read and kept up to date. The WPA staff now has completed statistics showing the effects of industrial recovery by states and industries.

Total Seers

The report shows:

1. That between 3,000,000 and 4-1/2 million men will have been added to unemployment rolls by Feb. 1 on the basis of the American Federation of Labor's jobless estimate.

2. That WPA officials said they consider reliable, this would make an unemployment total between 11,000,000 and 12,000,000 persons by the end of next month. The A. F. of L. estimated 8,000,000 were out of work Sept. 1.

3. That the following basic industries have been affected most by the recession: Steel, textiles, shoes, railroads, automobiles, and mining.

The survey predicts a collapse in construction and building materials industries.

Eastern States Hit

4. That the states which probably have suffered most are Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Illinois, the Carolinas and the New England states.

Only a small fraction of those thrown out of work in the present business recession have gone on federal-aid rolls thus far, government statistics showed.

When the most recent WPA figures for the week ending Dec. 11 reveals that only slightly more than 100,000 persons have been added to relief rolls, bringing the total to 1,571,686.

If their calculations are correct then WPA will go into the second half of the present fiscal year far below the 1,225,000 maximum set by Hopkins as the top limit that WPA could maintain within its present appropriation of $1,500,000,000.

Attorneys Study Wire Tapping Ban

Believe Decision of Supreme Court Applies Only to Inter-State Cases

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—Attorneys studied today a decision by the United States circuit court of appeals indicating that the supreme court's ban on wire tapping under the federal communications act applied only in cases in interstate commerce.

The decision was rendered in the case of June Reed, whose attorney sought an order admitting her to bail pending appeal from her recent conviction of violating the Mann Act. Miss Reed had been sentenced to four years in jail. Her lawyer, Henry A. Utherhart, pointed out that part of the testimony at her trial consisted of evidence gathered by wire tapping.

"In view of the supreme court's decision of Monday, this court raises an issue," Utherhart declared. "If it were intrastate wire tapping, it would not be barred," said Judge Thomas W. Swan.

It was then that Cromwell's education began, as he put it. He was not only the crash of his personal fortune, but the discharge of hundreds of lifetime employees of bankrupt enterprises.

STILL A Reformer In 1935 he married Doris Duke, who already had some $10,000,000, inherited another 10 or 20 million from the Duke family. His wealth was based on privileges without the "plutocracy," and an emphasis on the public ownership of public utilities, unemployment insurance, modification of the government for greater democracy, and prohibition of tax-exempt securities.

His Project a "Bust" In 1926 he launched his most grandiose project, the development in Florida of an "American Riviera" called Ft. Lauderdale. He bought 6,000 acres of land, his American-British improvement corporation planned to build a city of 100,000 people. But the section of Florida land went bust, and so did the American-British improvement corporation.

IDAHO FARMERS' INCOME SHOWS GAIN OF $10,000,000

STATE LIVESTOCK SALES BRING IN BIGGEST PORTION

Prices Increase and Big Crops Both Aid in Build-Up Of Receipts

BOISE, Dec. 24 (Special)—Idaho farmers received nearly $10,000,000 more in cash income during 1937 than in 1936, Richard O. Ross, federal agricultural statistician, estimated today.

The exact increase was $9,719,000 over last year. Over $119,000,000 cash income to Idaho's growers from sale of farm products and from government payments is estimated at $110,700,000 in 1937 as compared with $99,000,000 in 1936, the agricultural statistician said.

These estimates, Ross pointed out, are based upon marketings during the calendar year and not upon the crop year. Cash income from 1937 marketings of crops is estimated at $92,475,000. Livestock marketings were worth about $54,425,000; government payments to farmers amounted to $3,850,000.

Early Prices High The increased income in 1937, as compared with 1936, was largely due to relatively high prices during the early part of the year; part of the increase resulted from increased production.

The 1937 production of most crops was materially greater than the year before, due both to increased acreage of many commodities and to high yields per acre. The potato crop of 29,530,000 bushels was the largest on record, with the second greatest acreage the state has grown, and the highest yield since 1930.

The yield per acre of oats was the highest on record, though produced on a reduced acreage. The wheat crop was the biggest since 1930. The bean crop was the biggest since 1931. The dry pea acreage was the lowest since 1929, but the yield was the highest on record. The hay crop was smaller than last year.

The alfalfa seed crop was about double the 1936 crop, but was still smaller than average, due principally to disappointing yields per acre. The crop of clover seed was smaller than average, but was 15 per cent larger than the 1936 crop. Celery and early lettuce crops were smaller than last year, but production of certain late lettuce and green peas exceeded 1936 crops.

Real "Heavyweight" Champ

They grow 'em mighty husky in the Kentucky mountains, but topping all records is "Hulu" 6-months-old Lambert Ballard Alsip, above. He weighs 46 pounds—more than most 3-year-olds—and gains three pounds a month without benefit of muzzling bottles or cod liver oil. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Estlin Alsip, are both 18, and live in an unpainted two-room cabin in Whitley county, Ky. Wallowing in rolls of fat, Lambert wears a dour expression. Maybe he's brooding over future reducing diets.

2nd Immunization Slated at Jerome

JEROME, Dec. 24 (Special)—With the immunization and vaccination program in the schools of Eden, Hilldale, Trinity and Russell Lane well under way, Dr. S. Hopper, health unit physician who has given the previous immunizations, will administer a second "shot" of toxoid to those children who have had previous immunization against disease sometime soon after the holidays, according to Jerome county public health nurse Harriet Russell. On Monday this program was carried on at the Hazelton and Greenwood grade schools. The high school students were also given this protection care along with a large group of pre-school children from these same communities. The immunizations were for both diphtheria and smallpox. It has been announced through the Jerome county health nurse here that records on previous school inspections will be completed during the last week of December, with written notices of these inspections being sent through the mails to parents.
