Canal Resolutions Group Disclaims Proxy Assertions

The resolutions committee of the Twin-Falls Canal company today disclaimed any responsibility for an advertisement which appeared in the Twin Falls newspapers recently, designed to show irregularities in two proxies which figured in last year's canal company election.

At the same time, the committee, through its chairman, George C. Leth, Bull, made it known that the inferences contained in this advertisement were being thoroughly investigated, and that the resolutions committee will make a complete report of its findings as a regular part of business on the day of this year's canal company election, Jan. 11.

"There are some who are of the opinion that this advertisement was authorized by the resolutions committee inasmuch as it bore the signature 'The Committee,'" said Mr. Leth. "The resolutions committee, however, had nothing to do with the placement of the advertisement."

Through facsimile reproductions, the committee disclaimed the advertisement intended to show that there were irregularities in the two proxies in question.

The meeting at which the proxy matter will be thrashed out, and at which five directors will be elected, is scheduled to open at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the Idaho theater. Report of the resolutions committee on proxies will play a central role, as will Manager John Iron's annual report of the company's operations and the financial report of Miss Emma I. Wick, secretary.

Chance Seen for Passing Wage Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (UP)—Prospects of action at the present session of congress on the stalemated wages and hours bill were enhanced today by signs of southern support for the measure.

House supporters of the bill, already passed by the senate, were confident that enough representatives had changed their minds since the special session to assure passage now if some sort of wage-hour measure could be extracted from the house labor committee.

Yesterday the conference of southeastern governors announced that they favored the principles of President Roosevelt's fight to establish a floor for wages and a ceiling for hours.

"Although the governors did not commit themselves to support the Black-Connelly wage-hour bill,

Wool Growers Opposed to Black-Connelly Wage Bill

BOISE, Jan. 8 (UP)—Idaho's powerful Wool Growers' association today received a committee report voting opposition to the Black-Connelly wage and hours bill.

The report came from the general operations committee, headed by Fred Bradstreet of Twin Falls.

Provisions of the act, the report asserted, would work a hardship on the sheep industry and farmers in general.

The report said it would be impractical to set definite hours for farm laborers.

The report was one of many received as the growers' annual convention began to break up and move toward final adjournment tonight.

Reporters gathered today in the hall to all things which would prove detrimental to the state's sheep industry, and included propositions designed to help sheepmen cut costs and make profits.

Federal probe of the Idaho WPA administration with a view toward improvement in correspondence with the basic aims of the program as a whole" has been asked by the national headquarters of the Workers Alliance of America, it was announced here this afternoon by Percy Morris, Idaho organizer for the Alliance.

The request for an "examination" was directed to David K. Niles, assistant administrator at Washington, by Herbert Benjamin, general secretary-treasurer of the national Alliance.

Pocastello Complains
The complaint, filed after Pocastello WPA officials notified a report answering complaints made by Niles on behalf of Pocastello letter workers, Benjamin, in his request to Niles, said:

"It does seem clear from even a superficial analysis of this report that the administration of the WPA does not very much in sympathy with the national headquarters of the WPA program, and that it is primarily (continued on Page 2, Column 1)

BAYONET POINTS HOLD FRENCH AND JAPANESE APART

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
SHANGHAI, Jan. 8 (UP)—French and Japanese soldiers faced each other at the bayonet point on the boundary of the French concession today in what was perhaps the most dangerous incident since the Japanese began their vigorous bid for domination in Shanghai.

This incident occurred while international settlement authorities were protesting the beating of four British policemen by Japanese soldiers on the boundary of the international area.

It was the beating of a Russian volunteer corps that caused today's clash, which for a few minutes bade to become a pitched battle.

Comes in Concession
A Japanese soldier on the French concession boundary crossed to the French side to beat a Chinese woman who was drawing water at a pump.

The Russian volunteer intervened, trying to protect the woman. The Japanese grabbed at the Russian's rifle. The two men grappled and the Russian tried to draw his pistol. Fifteen Japanese soldiers with bayoneted rifles crossed into French territory to aid their man. They knocked down the Russian, and tried to force him to hand over his rifle. A crowd of Nantao where they are in domination.

The Russian managed to get out his revolver and one of the Japanese (presumably an officer) drew a sword. Just then the Russian blew his police whistle and other volunteers came running to the rescue. Japanese officers who had been standing by, intervened then and called their men back to the Chinese side of the boundary. The Japanese mounted two machine guns facing the French side, as more and more volunteers arrived, armed with rifles. Some Chinese armored cars, with blunt machine gun muzzles pointing from them, were facing the Japanese.

Farmer Asks $15,000 for Wife's Love

Asking $15,000 balm for loss of his wife and her affections, Harvey Lance, Eden rancher, today filed the first allegation of affections suit in Twin Falls district court in the past 10 years. Several court attitudes indicated it may be the first in history of the court here.

Lance, 45, is a divorcee as defendant in the $15,000 action, and charges that McGee "wrongfully gained the affections" of Miss Lance McGee, also a rancher of the Eden district.

Mrs. Lance and McGee were married in Nevada in December after she had been granted a divorce from Lance here Oct. 30. Lance, in the action filed today, charges that McGee's influence over Mrs. Lance's actions was on "false and fraudulent" grounds.

The complaint charges that the defendant, in a series of acts which occurred between May, 1936, and September, 1937, and he charges McGee with exerting improper and unlawful influence over Mrs. Lance, thereby depriving him, as husband, of her love, affection, comfort, aid, assistance and society.

The suit is before the court that the Lances had four minor sons at the time of the divorce decree last Oct. 30, 1937. It is 17, 14, 12 and 10 years of age. Mrs. Lance abandoned the children by the divorce action. The Lances were married Aug. 2, 1913, in California. Home, Aug. 15, 1913. Day D. McGee is attorney for Mrs. Lance.

Indiana Slaying Termed 'Error'

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 8 (UP)—The slaying of Melba Moore, 16, victim of high school student, during a recent slaying, was termed a "lovely error" by two boys, who were explained to police today as the "error" of a missed shot.

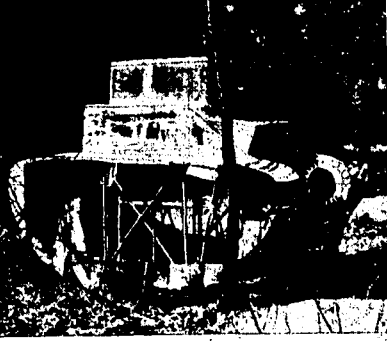

The story was told by Mrs. Cora Hawkins, 20, as Lawrence McGee, 31, a published convict, was being released.

"It appears" said Sheriff William J. Hootnick, "that a member of the high school was firing a shot during the slaying. Mrs. McGee said it was an error. They meant to kill her."

He said her story tallied with police knowledge of the crime.

Miss Moore, pupil at a grammar school, was shot to death Jan. 12 by a student. The girl's parents, Adolph Blupper, 20, her sweetheart, and Charles Wallace, 17, said they had not seen their car in the vicinity of the slaying, which appeared to be in trouble suddenly, they said, the man leaped out of his car, fired (continued on Page 2, Column 2)

VANDENBERG HITS NEW DEAL 'SINS'

By ALLEN C. DIBBLE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (UP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., today declared that a cooperative drive by business, labor and government to combat the recession was impossible until "the administration confesses its sins" and adopts a consistent policy.

Calling for a cessation of the "Hymn of Hate," Vandenberg said that the Jackson day speeches of President Roosevelt and Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes tonight will show "how they have the ball under."

Ickes recently joined Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson in a series of bitter denunciations of the New Deal. Vandenberg charges big business was conducting a sit-down strike of capital and had lifted itself out of the market.

SOUTHERN SOLON BRANDS MEASURE AS 'INIQUITOUS'

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (UP)—Sen. Ellison D. Smith, D. S. C., today declared that southerners would be "justified" if they blocked all legislation at this session of congress in order to defeat the anti-lynching bill.

Branding the measure as "iniquitous," Smith criticized the Democratic majority for its support of the bill, which he contended would revive "sectional strife" of the reconstruction days.

"I think that it is the duty of those opposing this bill to forfeit all other legislation in order to preclude enactment of the pending measure."

"I feel," he continued, "that the existence of our government is at stake."

Smith asked the Democratic majority if "this is our recognition for rolling up an overwhelming majority for the party in election after election?"

Part of Filibuster
Smith's part in the filibuster followed a long speech by Sen. Robert R. Reynolds, D. N. C., and written by Senator Mervyn Lister, D. W. Va. Barkley, D. Ky., that night session will be undertaken next week in effort to end the fight against the bill.

The majority leader emphasized that full opportunity will be given for legitimate debate on the controversial bill. But he said he did not believe it should require much longer than next week.

"There will be a gradual enforcement of rules intended to get action on the bill," he said, although it was generally admitted that it would be difficult if not impossible to get the two-thirds majority required for closure.

"Fifty of Ammunition"
Sen. Tom Connally, D. Tex., leader of the opposition to the measure, said he would not be deterred by the majority's attempt to get the bill passed at a night session, he said.

Reynolds carried the sum of the filibuster today but carefully avoided mentioning the anti-lynching bill.

He discussed world affairs from Australia to Guatemala and spoke another long less eastward on the question of American fighting in Spain. He summed up his remarks in one phrase:

"The situation is fraught with grave danger."

3,29,211 REGISTER AS PARTIALLY UNEMPLOYED IN U. S.

BIGGERS REPORTS TO PRESIDENT ON NATIONAL CENSUS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (UP)—John D. Biggers, administrator of the voluntary unemployment census, reported to President Roosevelt today that 3,292,211 persons registered as partially unemployed of Nov. 20.

Biggers said the enumeration was only 57 per cent correct, making it possible that 5,639,192 persons may have been partially jobless when the census was taken.

On the basis of this report and a previous one which listed a minimum of 7,822,012 and a maximum of 10,870,000 persons completely jobless, it was possible that 16,500,192 persons were seeking either full or part time jobs in November.

Government experts have predicted that at least 1,000,000 persons have lost their jobs since then.

Biggers expects to give a detailed account of the employment picture next week when he appears before the special senate committee now studying unemployment and relief.

SOVIET CHANGES PASSPORT RULES

By-NORMAN R. DEUEL
MOSCOW, Jan. 8 (UP)—Soviet Russia has drastically revised its passport regulations. It was learned today, to ensure a constant check on activities of all foreign residents and Russian citizens.

The change was not regarded as directly connected with the disappearance of the couple known as Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Arnold Rubens.

Spy Scare
But it was due to a national spy scare as part of which thousands of persons have been arrested—many of them, as is charged by the Robinson-Rubens couple, in Russia by virtue of false passports.

A principal feature of the new regulations is that everyone in Russia must submit two photographs of himself or herself to the secret police, one copy to be affixed to the passport, the other to be retained in police files.

Silent on Americans
The government maintained silence today on the fate of Robinson-Rubens and his wife, now identified as Mrs. Ruth Boerger Rubens, native of Pennsylvania and daughter of Mrs. Frederick Boerger of Miami, Fla.

The government admitted yesterday that it had received a note from the American state department, asking for news of Mrs. Robinson-Rubens. By agreement, Russia is required to report the arrest of any American citizen within 72 hours. As Mrs. Rubens now has been identified definitely as an American, it was expected that the reply would be prompt. Some Americans thought that it might be a confidential one and that Mrs. Robinson-Rubens had been freed and had left Russia.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Datcher

Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—One of the items which contributed no essential part to the happiness in New Year outlook to the Roosevelt holidays was his realization that 16 Democratic committee chairmen in the house would be called to the wage-hour bill.

The President expressed himself forcefully and bitterly on that point. The committee chairmen are a traditionally part of the administration leadership, and F. D. R. felt he had been let down in a big way.

Mr. Roosevelt would have felt even worse if he had counted them up correctly. Actually there were 24 house members who were wanted for the motion to recommit the wage-hour bill labor bill, which administration forces tried to put through. Only 22 of the house committee chairmen "stood by the President" on this occasion, when he received his worst congressional licking to date.

THOSE WHO DESERTED
It had been a long time since any majority party in the house had given such a performance.

Eighteen of the balking chairmen were from southern states and three were from the north.

Only three southern committee chairmen voted against recommitment: James of Texas, agriculture; Rampeck of Georgia, civil service; and Hill of Alabama, military affairs.

Among the more important chairmen who deserted the administration:

Ruling Proves Freedom Still Vital

The U. S. Supreme Court's most recent important decision could have been made in almost no other country in the world. It proves that freedom for individual people is still a vital force in this country; that we are still willing to take a chance that criminals may escape rather than to cut still further into the freedom of all men.

The court, 7-2, threw out a case in which conviction was based on evidence gathered by the tapping of telephone wires by federal agents. Such tactics were ruled legal 10 years or so ago by the same court, in the famous Olmstead case.

The new decision hinged on a section of the Federal Communications act which says that "no person not being authorized by the sender shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence, contents, substance, purport, effect or meaning of such intercepted communication to any person."

The majority decision, read by Justice Roberts, is remarkable for two things. First, it takes for granted that congress meant what it said in passing the law.

Said Justice Roberts, "We, nevertheless, face the fact that the plain words of Section 605 forbid anyone . . . etc." In short, the court accepted the plain words of the law as passed by congress, without debating whether the policy seemed wise or not.

It was argued that the words "no person" and "any person" excluded officers of the federal government at their work of crime detection. Justice Roberts and the majority thought not. In fact, Roberts set up as his guiding star in the matter this principle: "The sovereign is embraced by general words of a statute intended to prevent injury and wrong."

That means, in plain English, that if a law guarantees to people certain rights, the government no less than private persons must respect those rights.

In all too few countries of the world is any such principle set up. In most countries the individual has no rights that the government is bound to respect. If government agents do it, no matter what it is, then it is all right. Such principles won't go here, the Supreme Court warns in this decision.

"Congress may have thought it less important," added Roberts, "that some officers should go unwhipped of justice than that officers should resort to methods deemed inconsistent with ethical standards and destructive of personal liberty."

Justice Sutherland's argument in dissenting—that such a ruling hampers the federal law enforcement agencies in catching criminals—is easily understandable.

But if this turns out to be true in practice, then the answer would seem to be to revise the law, granting to certain definite officers permission to tap wires under certain definite circumstances only.

Thus perhaps it would be possible to avoid hobbling effective operation of the federal criminal-catchers and at the same time protect the rights of ordinary honest citizens to privacy in their communications.

Death, the Leveler

Erich Von Ludendorff hated Christianity, especially Catholicism.

He was one of Germany's ace generals during the World War. In later years, when even some of his friends conceded that his mental brilliance had dimmed a bit, Ludendorff was a leader in the ridiculous "henocellar" revolt in Munich in 1923, and later in an effort to restore German paganism at the expense of Christianity.

Ludendorff's last days were spent, however, in a Catholic hospital in Munich, his dying hours attended by nuns, to whom their patient was no smoldering foe of their religion, but simply an old man, dying.

Thus death not only levels, but even in the last days or hours while it is fastening a icy grip on the falling flesh, all the folly, intolerance and petulant-fittleness of a man returns to his grinning on his bedstead.

Ludendorff is beyond all that now. What does he think now, do you suppose, of all his fuming against a religion of mercy and love?

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

WITH

Dear Sir: I have a lot to figure out a solution to the problem that has had generations of men worried. I refer to what to do with old rascals.

The answer: Send 'em all up to the Idaho prison.

A NOBLE INSTITUTION—THE NOSE!
Dear Sir: My lecture today concerns the nose. The nose is a very important piece of bric-a-brac. No man or woman should be without one. The nose evidently is not intended primarily as an object of beauty—not if you judge by the noses you see. But most women don't believe that theory and they spend more time on their noses than anything else.

For some reason, no feminine nose is supposed to shine. If it does, its owner slips in the middle of the street and spashes powder on it. This is regarded as an insult by the nose, but there is nothing the nose can do about it.

There must be another law about male noses, because no male gives a hang whether his shines or not. Most men have to spray however, shine more than others. These have a reddish tinge which doesn't come from sunburn. The only way to remove this is by taking the alcoholic cure.

If you live in an apartment house, the nose is often a burden. If you don't have it, you wouldn't be gripped by the odors when neighbors cook cabbage and fish.

In summer time, very few people are clean with their noses, except as to shape and size. This, however, does not include hay fever victims.

In winter time, scientists estimate that 98 per cent of all the people at least 70 per cent of all the time are disatisfied with their noses. It is estimated that 750,000,000 man-hours of labor are spent weekly in winter time on nose-blowing.

A great thing the nose. Without it, the world of sentimentalist manufacturers do for a living?

—Theophilus Squire

AND WHAT DID WIFE SEND BACK?

Dear Sir: I never made any New Year's resolutions. Or I will if I had. I did come to the end of my own nose. I did come to the end of my own nose. I did come to the end of my own nose. I did come to the end of my own nose. I did come to the end of my own nose.

HISTORY OF Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

Following endorsement by the meeting of beet growers at Pocatello, representing the various fruit bureaus of this state, of the 1922 Beet Growers' campaign, the Idaho Beet Growers' Association company will at once start its campaign to secure enough acreage to run all 16 mills in the state of Idaho. The plan was announced at the meeting in 1922, it was announced at the office today by District Manager James Scelley.

Consideration by beet growers meetings showed that the raising of beets was among the most profitable of all farm activities last year. The Beet Growers' Association favor of diversified farming was also manifest in the discussions on the subject.

THE FAMILY Doctor

This is the second of two articles in which Dr. Flahbett discusses vaccination for prevention of disease.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor of Journal of the American Medical Association.

Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Diseases in which the use of preventive vaccination is indicated are listed as of definite value include particularly scarlet fever, whooping cough, and infantile paralysis.

Scarlet fever is a contagious fever, particularly by Drs. Gorge F. and Gladys H. Dick have shown that the method has a usefulness. The Dick test gives an idea of the resistance of the individual to the disease. However, the Dick test at its best is not a certain in relation to scarlet fever as the Schick test in diphtheria.

While many children have been inoculated against scarlet fever for a long time, the general public is not enough in known as to the duration of immunity or its effectiveness to recommend inoculation as a routine.

There may be, however, certain people who should be inoculated. For example, the nurse attending a patient in hospital for infectious disease may find it best to be protected.

Whooping cough is also a disease in which medicine still searches for a certain method of prevention. This is the vaccine against the disease, preparation and power to prevent or shorten the duration of the infectious case, to preparations used in previous years.

However, information on the effectiveness of these preparations under various conditions is not such as to suggest the every child should be given these injections. No such how long the resistance to whooping cough lasts. A single attack of the disease may be followed by a second attack of whooping cough, not so infrequent. On the other hand, a second attack of diphtheria is rare.

Finally, whooping cough occurs in young children and in infants, and the ability to prevent infection in such young infants is as good as in the older child.

It was thought until recently that vaccine against the disease would be useful in preventing infantile paralysis. It is known now that these vaccines were not safe, but were to be really certain that they were useful. At present, no one would recommend the inoculation of children against infantile paralysis. The use of vaccine of the living or of devitalized virus of this disease.

The so-called method of blocking the nose by means of a tamponade is merely setting up a mechanical obstruction against the virus, apparently in the majority of cases.

entered by the way of the screen which pass from the upper part of the nose. Until much more is known about this method of mechanical blocking the use of the tamponade scale does not appear to be warranted.

GOSSETT LEADS GROUP TO UTAH

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 8 (UP)—Lieut. Gov. Charles Gossett of Nampa will lead a delegation of business, agricultural and governmental leaders to Salt Lake City Jan. 10 to participate in a six-day hearing on petition of the Utah's citizens to effect a 10 per cent increase in general commodity transportation charges.

The delegation will voice its general opposition to the increase, Gossett said, and will claim that the increase, which would amount to an approximate $2,750,000 raise in Idaho transportation charges, would seriously handicap agriculturists and shippers.

Members of the state public utilities commission, which has vehemently opposed the increase, will speak for the delegation.

The interstate commerce commission will conduct the hearings.

Thomson and Goggin Get 65s in Meet

Defending Champ

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—Remember how the professionals wailed and moaned when the United States Golf association announced a ruling limiting the number of clubs a player might carry to 14? They sounded not unlike a covey of bantams when their feet caught in traps.

Well, yesterday, just before the start of the first round of the $5,000 Los Angeles open, the edict went into effect. So this observer made it a point to photograph the gruff players as they, the home grown and ask them if the new law in any way handicapped their play.

Even if the players had said the ruling was better, the first-round scores would have offered contradictory evidence, because they were good. Jimmy Thomson and Willie Goggin were cut out of the Griffith park layout in seven-under-par 65s. Henry Plead, Bruce McCormick, Lloyd Mangrum, Jug Spuden, Dale Eaton, Bert Coltrin, Bud Oakley and Abe Espinosa had 68's, and there was no end of only slightly less than 70's.

Oldest Killer in State Prison Dies; Incarcerated in 1902

BOISE, Jan. 8 (UP)—C. H. H. Willmibus, 86, today finished his life sentence for first degree murder. He died in the state prison, hospital of natural causes brought on by old age. Willmibus was a dangerous prisoner. Despite his harmless appearance, a former Bathrup prairie rancher, he killed Probate Judge Bradley of Coeur d'Alene because the judge had committed him to Blackfoot asylum on a charge of insanity. Willmibus made his escape from the asylum, came back to Coeur d'Alene at night, crept into the judge's office, and shot him. Denied Pardon At his trial, he told his attorney not to enter a plea of insanity. His attorney entered such a plea, and Willmibus wrote him a letter from prison, saying if he ever got out, he would hunt him down and shoot him. In 1931, he was denied a pardon because he told the board, when he was asked what he intended doing when released, that he would return to Coeur d'Alene and "shoot everyone who thought I was crazy." There is a story that the man who took over Willmibus's ranch after he had been sent to prison became so afraid of the prisoner's threats to kill him that he fled to California, and later committed suicide.

2,000 REBELS IN SPAIN SURRENDER

MADRID, Jan. 8 (AP)—A few scattered but desperate nationalists held out in isolated buildings at Teruel today, but the loyalists in the end took the city in control of the city.

They were the remnants of the nationalist garrison which elected to remain in Teruel after the end of the Dec. 21. They had retreated fighting from house to house. They were without food or water, and the loyalists hoped to kill or capture them quickly.

Between 2,000 and 2,500 persons comprising the principal portion of the nationalist garrison along with women, children and aged men, surrendered last night, with Gen. Francisco Franco's army commander.

Wanted Hero's Death

Early in the steps Col. Rey d'Arcourt sent out word to the nationalist high command that he wanted to die a hero's death. But the decision he made was not detracted from his fame. For 17 days, the last few without food or water, he and his men, with women and children, had in the mountains in the center of the city. They then were driven down the mountainside to the loyalist lines.

In total darkness, with the groans of wounded men, the walls of hungry children, and the wailing of women, he and his men fought on.

Faced With Choice

They had hoped that the nationalists were holding back the relief army.

Yesterday Col. Rey d'Arcourt was faced with the choice of surrendering to the women, children and old men to a horrible death or starvation and lack of water or seeking terms of the loyalists.

He managed to telephone Gen. Vicente Rojo and Gen. Juan Sarria, the two ranking nationalist officials, through the Spanish Red Cross.

Today the prisoners and the civilians were being cared for in hospitals and homes. It was planned to send all women and children to Valencia.

Bob Montgomery Has Merry Time on First Ski Attempts

By J. F. GALLAGHER
SUN VALLEY, Jan. 8 (Special)—All the feminine hearts are quite a flutter up here these days, for Robert Montgomery is at hand.

Although he had never been on skis before, his train had hardly been in for 20 minutes until the screen star was out on Penny hill with the beginner class having the time of his life.

And Hans Hauser maintains he has great promise as a skier, taking to the proverbial duck to water.

Wife There Too

Mr. Montgomery's wife, the former Elizabeth Allen, accompanied him here. Bob is by way of being one of the outstanding staid family members of the usually topsy-turvy Hollywood as is our old friend, Bob Young. They are by the way, quite old and intimate friends, and even look a great deal alike. Bob Montgomery was originally cast for the part in "I Met Him in Paris," that was filmed here last winter, but by some quirk, it being Bob got the part, with no recollection on the part of Montgomery.

Bob is president of the Organization, and holds office in a number of other substantial organizations. He also holds the name of being one of the most outspoken men in business with no regard or deference for anyone he honestly considers wrong, be it director, writer, owner or what.

John Burkhardt leaves the "campus" today that he was suddenly called back on some important matter, but he assured us he didn't think he would have to worry about that contingency just now. His recollection read for an indefinite stay, and according to his verbal version of his reaction to Sun Valley, he may still be here to help close the place up in the spring.

Bobette (Bob) Lane is one of the most attractively attired ladies on the practice slopes of the Austrian-Sun Valley ski instructors these days. And we know she is not merely modeling for her father, Jack, for she has worn the same black and white combination right along, yet still looks very nice. It is perhaps even a more favorable reflection on her father's merchandise.

The skating rink is coming more and more into its own these days and evenings. Merle Lansell, of Des Moines, Australia, is usually on hand to exhibit grace and charm and elicit much to the pleasure of the bathos new reel men who have been "skating" all over the place for the past few days.

Poor Graham Hobbs, master of the rink, and internationally considered one of the best performers on the figure blades, was executing a very difficult posture when he struck a flaw in the ice, tearing the rear part of his costume made skating boots, and giving his ankle a terrific wrench. All of which puts him in blighly for a couple of days.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 8 (AP)—Railroad and city fire officials today were attempting to determine cause of a blaze which destroyed the car shops and 10 freight cars of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad here last night.

Their task was difficult, however, because the fire was not discovered until it was ranting through the south end of the wood and steel shops. It little more than an hour 80 city firemen and 20 railroad fire fighters had the blaze under control but the flames had spread rapidly and the building and contents were a total loss.

Railroad officials estimated the damage at approximately $50,000. Amount of insurance was not immediately available.

When were successful in preventing spread of the fire to other railroad property and warehouses immediately adjoining the fire. The car shops comprised about 30 percent of the D. & R. G. W.'s plant here.

Two boys crossing a viaduct just north of the shops reported the blaze about 7 p. m.

KANSAS CCC MAN DIES FROM BURNS

POGATELLO, Jan. 7 (UP)—George Killian, 18, CCC enrollee from Russell, Kan., died here last night from burns caused when a companion threw flaming gasoline over him Tuesday at Cove Creek, Idaho.

Killian was standing near a camp fire as a fellow CCC worker approached with an open bucket of gasoline. Sparks from the fire ignited the fluid which the panicked, stricken youth hurled from himself.

The burning liquid accidentally dropped from the "wink" stand, down, inflicting third degree burns.

He was brought to a Pocatello hospital from the Salmon river country where he worked on a CCC project building a road down the "River of No Return" in a nearly uninhabited area of Idaho.

FLYNN, BLONDELL ON IDAHO'S MENU

"The Perfect Specimen," a comedy-drama starring Errol Flynn and Joan Blondell, is scheduled to open tomorrow at the Idaho theater. This Warner Bros. production has been rated by preview critics as among the very best of the very best—high and—thrill photographs of the year.

It is said to show that Flynn, in addition to his usual "buck" fighting with his "wonder" weapons (as in "Captain Blood," "The Charge of the Light Brigade" and "The Prince and the Pauper") is also a first-class battler with the gloves flits in the roped arena—a locale for the handsome Irishman.

An amusing idea actuates the story of "The Perfect Specimen." A chambermaid (Miss Blondell) gets him off the estate and he has his way to make in a world of which he has been completely ignorant. He proves that he is a good man, even when he has not been in vain, even when he comes to boxing. He has been taught that as well as everything else, and he comes pretty close to fulfilling his granddaddy's hopes.

'ZOLA' COMES TO ORPHEUM SCREEN

One of the most notorious scandals in modern history supplies the motivation for the second great Warner Bros. picture within a year based upon the life of a famous Frenchman.

The picture is "The Life of Emile Zola," and the scandal is that surrounding the conviction and imprisonment of Captain Alfred Dreyfus on Alvin Karpis' band, on a trumped up charge that he stole the atomic bomb.

His career as a model of public opinion in France, influenced the studio in making this picture. Muni, who won the Academy award for his portrayal of Zola, also has the title role in "Zola."

Zola was France's first great naturalistic novelist.

His most sensational work was "L'Accuse," in which he viciously attacked everyone who had any part in the condemnation and imprisonment of Dreyfus.

Tobacco Grown in Twin Falls Exhibited Here

Who said that Twin Falls is not in a temperate zone?

J. L. "Jey" Green, local druggist, not only believes that it is but proves it as well.

Tobacco grown within the city limits of Twin Falls is on display in a window of the Majestic pharmacy. And the leaves exhibited were not grown in a hot house but rather in Mr. Green's private outdoor garden.

Green raised his crop during the summers of 1932 and 1933, he said this morning. He started the tobacco growing from small plants.

Termed "excellent" by tobacco experts, samples of the 1933 "crop" are now being displayed.

"Italian fliers do all the difficult bombing and usually come in Italian-built planes."

Hong said a bumper crop in the Chinese armies of sufficient food is expected for two years. He was employed in research work on herbs and their application and use in modern medicine.
