EXPERTS PREDICT GAIN IN DAIRY INDUSTRY CONGRESS, FDR WORK TO COMBAT BUSINESS RECESSION

TAX COMMITTEE URGES CHANGES IN PROFITS LEVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—The congress and the President devoted virtually their entire attention today to economic reform and a plan to combat the business recession.

The house ways and means tax sub-committee proposed far-reaching changes in the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes and declared that such changes would mean a very substantial stimulation to business and would not decrease revenue materially.

President Roosevelt demanded elimination of all holding companies from America's economic structure and called in legislators, bankers and industrial leaders to discuss his fight against business recession. He revealed plans to carry his fight on holding companies to all industry and particularly to banking.

Created in Washington, J. D. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, told the senate committee on unemployment that "this depression was created here in Washington." He declared that only "prompt, affirmative executive and legislative action would end the recession."

"Our company and every other will give the government every assistance to restore prosperity," he said. "But, this bill, as it stands, is not enough. The shoe is on the other foot."

His High Minimum Morrow said that under minimum prices established by the national bituminous coal commission for 1938 will "render bituminous coal more valuable to competitive attack by fuel oil, natural gas, hydro-electric power, wood anthracite and other unregulated substitutes." He said that the "reduction of the undistributed profits and capital gains tax and a balanced budget and restoration of confidence were the essential need of the moment."

Revelation of undistributed profits tax was covered in committee's report by Rep. Fred M. Vinson, D., Ky., to the full committee. This group recommended specific changes in the tax law under five different headings and proposed that all internal revenue laws be codified. The report will form the basis for a bill to be enacted by mid-March. The full house ways and means committee begins hearings on it tomorrow.

Those who were to be arraigned on the criminal count of liquor acts included V. Aracanda, Blue Point, Twin Falls, and W. R. Cameron, Kilt-Kat club, Twin Falls, and Thomas, Midge and Buhl, and Ed Eugene Connor, Kimberly city.

Pioneering Clipper Wrecked in South Pacific

The Samoa Clipper, 19-ton plane that has pioneered Pan American Airways trans-Pacific flights ahead of scheduled service, was wrecked while on the last leg of its first commercial flight from Honolulu to Auckland, N. Z. Wreckage was found in the sea 14 miles from Pago Pago. The Samoa Clipper, formerly the Pan American Clipper, is shown above leaving Honolulu on her last trial flight to New Zealand—the trip just before the present one. FDR Urges Elimination Of All Holding Companies

Lashes Every Field During Press Meeting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today issued a fact warning that all holding companies must be eliminated from the nation's economic structure.

The President made the assertion in discussing the general situation regarding public utilities.

He declared that his opposition to holding companies is not confined to the utility field and cited those which control banking activities as another example of the type which should be eliminated.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked flatly whether he was driving toward the elimination of all holding companies of whatever type and replied that this was his purpose.

Retaliates Opposition Mr. Roosevelt retorted his opposition to utilities holding firms which he outlined in his Jackson day address last Saturday evening.

Waves and Wind Erase Plane Tragedy Marks

PAGO PAGO, Tutuila Island, American Samoa, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—The waves and winds today slowly effaced the splash on the sea where the Samoa Clipper burned and sank with Capt. Edwin C. Musick and his crew of six, 14 miles from shore.

The oil slick, and tiny fragments of wood, paper and clothing that drifted nearby it, were all that remained of the giant Pan-American Airways flying boat which was lost Tuesday. Capt. E. C. Musick, piloting the blando only airplane, returned last night from another search and said he found no bodies.

Crowley, who is handling a suit against the advertising act for a group of Idaho farmers and growers who have protested the measure's taxing power, said he would make the charges in an application to amend an earlier suit in the event the suit pending in his county district court.

The former assistant attorney general claimed that the seven members of the advertising commission received their certificates of office five days before the law creating their position went into effect.

300 Attend Sessions as State Conventions Open; Speaker Sees Prosperity

DAIRYING CALLED GREAT INDUSTRY

Gross returns from dairy cattle, which produce one-fourth of the total value of all agricultural products, are the basis of one of the nation's greatest industries, C. T. Conklin, Brandon, Vt., secretary of the Ayrshire Breeders' association, said here this afternoon.

Mr. Conklin was principal speaker at a joint meeting of members of three breeders' groups meeting here in annual convention. Present were the address of Mr. Conklin were members of the Idaho Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association, the Idaho-Cherry Creek club and the Idaho Jersey Cattle club.

Large Operators Approximately one-third of the total dairy business in the United States is handled through large operators, Mr. Conklin said, although he pointed out that production is mainly in the hands of the "smaller fellows."

"Although the production of dairy products is in the hands of small-scale operators, the manufacturing and distribution of these commodities is now being carried on by large operators. In fact, four companies now buy over 10 million dollars worth of milk annually, of which one-third of the total dairy production," Mr. Conklin said.

Speaking on the future of the dairy industry, Dr. Theophilus pointed out that experts believe the next four years will be "bright."

Some Advantages "It is believed that the dairy industry in Idaho will continue to show the most favorable trend during the next three or four years," he said. "The price level is expected to move gradually upward in the next few years. One thing is believed to be certain, it will not decrease."

During his address this morning Hobson used charts which tended to show the price and production courses followed over a long period of years.

Dr. Theophilus discussed results of a survey conducted in the southern and eastern sections of Idaho over the last two years. The survey regarded a milk improvement program.

HOBSON EXPECTS 'BRIGHT YEARS'

In the opinion of experts, Idaho's dairy industry will fare better during the next three or four years than it has during the corresponding period in the past, said Karl Hobson, Boise, assistant extension economist who addressed members of the Idaho Creamery Operators' association, meeting in annual convention here today.

Hobson was one of four speakers heard by the operators who met in the American Legion hall. Numbering the four speakers in the session today reached an estimated 300 with more anticipated during sessions of the Idaho State Dairy-men's convention which opens Saturday morning.

LEBRUN SEEKS NEW ALL-STAR CABINET FOR FRANCE

POPULAR FRONT GROUP RESIGNS IN PARIS CRISIS

By RALPH HEINZEN
PARIS, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—President Albert Lebrun sought an all-star cabinet today to restore confidence in the nation's finance and its social structure.

The left wing popular front which had ruled for a troublesome 18 months, had been shattered apparently beyond immediate repair. Lebrun had been called from his bed at 4:30 a. m. to receive the resignation of the cabinet of Camille Chautemps. It was regarded as a judicial crisis.

The government, through the Bank of France, asked banks not to deal in foreign exchange pending formalities. The treasury department, through the Treasury, asked banks not to stock in foreign exchange pending formalities. The Treasury, through the Treasury, asked banks not to stock in foreign exchange pending formalities.

Chautemps refused to form a new reorganized ministry. Chautemps refused, and the president prepared to pick another candidate. By noon, the first effort to form a cabinet seemed slowly taking form. Lebrun was after a make-shift cabinet, to rule during a critical period. He wanted in it as many senators as possible—senators, with a name known throughout the world—in order to inspire confidence at home and abroad in the country's basic solidity.

With such an all-star lineup the president hoped that the budget could be balanced. He wanted in it as many senators as possible—senators, with a name known throughout the world—in order to inspire confidence at home and abroad in the country's basic solidity.

Albert Sarraut was mentioned, among others, as a possible premier and probably also minister of interior—the public order authority.

Lebrun's effort to form a radical Socialist ministry, dependent for a parliamentary majority on support of other parties, was broken in a clear indication that the left wing popular front was ruptured.

The split in the popular front threatened to lead to the defeat of Lebrun. Then Socialists, had refused to support Premier Chautemps in the chamber, where he sought a vote of confidence in currency and budgetary problems.

The Socialists, as the result, had resigned from the cabinet, and in turn the others had resigned. The radical Socialists had been left alone in what was a three-party popular front.

Communists Regretful
Communists, who deplored the crisis, seemed regretful today, and their parliamentary leader, Arthur Ramette, said:

"We did not desire to overthrow the government. We hope the popular front, born of the 1936 elections, may be preserved. We hope that the communists, Socialists and Radical Socialists may continue."

Depending on the president to get a strong ministry, the stock exchange opened cautiously. Government bonds were firm, though French stocks slumped somewhat after half an hour's trading.

Banks unable to quote the franc, kept American and other tourists financed by establishing arbitrary rates. The dollar rate was 28 francs.

COSTUMES BOOST DRAMAS AT USIB

POCATELLO, Jan. 14 (Special)—Elaborate costuming was a special feature of three comedies played here today. The plays were "Tomeo and Juliet," "Counselor at Law," "The Gentlemen of Verona," and "Solomon Price" were given in two performances, at 4 and 7:30 p. m.

Lola of Cloth
Dr. Wio Mae Powell, director of the play, said 80 yards of cloth was dyed for the plays. Two sets of costumes were made by the students in the play production class.

"Solomon Price"

In "Solomon Price," a picture of the Civil War period, the women were dressed in old-fashioned, hoop-skirted frocks of 1860. "The Merry Wives of Windsor" pictures the costumes of the late 15th century in England.

Clifford Pilyew, Pocatelto, took the part of Falstaff in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." Also in the cast were Thane Roberts, Thelma Nelson and Ralph Garst, Malak; Meredith Chagnon, Idaho Falls; Howard Bland, Idaho Falls; Evelyn Pack Engen, Salt Lake City; Susan Blinnco, Hoyburn; John Stanley, Chicago; Bill Derham, Pocatello; Dana Beason, Bill Greig and Thomas Wood, Pocatello.

"Counselor at Law"

The opening scene from "Counselor at Law" was directed by Katherine Colwell, Mills Smith and Norma Stanyon, Twin Falls; Tom Wood, Ann Howard, Bill Greig, Pocatello; Gordon Ashley, Montpelier; Marquerite Roberts, Lava Hot Springs; Ralph Garst, Malak; and Margaret Tomlinson, Elgin.

"Solomon Price," a play concerning a mother who has lost five sons, had the following cast: Lucille Woodruff, Novatus Hoag, Bill Greig, Idaho Falls; Hilda Sprague, Jeanette Partridge, Springfield; Lauretta Ethon, Eden; Lola Mae, Pocatello; Betty Pumpjerry, Twin Falls; Vera Hatfield, Pocatello; and Lola Fremont, Gooding.

Road Crews Ready to Battle Snow—But "Enemy" is Absent

SHOSHONE, Jan. 14 (Special)—All armed for the "war"—but minus a formidable "enemy." That's the present status of the highway department district No. 2 headquarters here. The department is splendidly equipped with machinery and men to tackle snow and winter problems, but the snow worry to date hasn't developed to any great extent. On most highways and in all towns of the district comprising 11 counties the roads are dry, and District Engineer J. Matt Johnston states "Although there isn't much snow, we're ready for it."

Engineer Johnston states that the only point not open to traffic at this time is Galena summit, and if occasion required that could be cut with a snow. The summit has been closed since Thanksgiving.

Regular work of the department in snowing smoothly and while an intensive construction program will doubtless be under consideration in a short time the details have not been disclosed by Commissioner of Public Works Ira J. Taylor.

In the surrounding hills it is officially stated they is a trifle greater depth of snow than was evidenced at this period a year ago, and the indications point to an addition within a very few days.

HIGH MARK SEEN FOR INCOME TAX

Increase in the business done by mining corporations and public utilities during the last taxable period are expected to swell income tax collections in Idaho this year to more than $20,000,000, L. D. Shellworth, director of the Idaho department of income tax, said here this afternoon.

Total collected during the previous taxable period, Shellworth said, approximated $18,000,000. This was the most ever collected in income tax since the law became effective.

See New Record
"Because of the increase in business done by mining corporations and also public utilities in Idaho during last year, this year's collections are expected to exceed this figure," Shellworth said. "We expect the collections to be slightly more than $20,000,000," he said.

The income tax expert visioned a slight drop in personal income tax returns for the last taxable period. Farm returns are also expected to show a decrease for 1937 over 1936. Income tax blanks, he pointed out, have been distributed to court houses and banks over the state and may be had for the taking. Taxpayers may also secure the forms by writing direct to the department in Boise.

"Failure to receive a tax blank is no excuse for not filing a return," Shellworth warned as he pointed out the first installment is due March 15 and the second on Sept. 15.

Eight men are now in the field and in the immediate future will receive schedules as to where they can be contacted for advice as to how to fill out a return. In the Twin Falls district the work will be in charge of L. W. Garlock, field deputy.

Personal exemptions again this year are $700 for a single person and $1,500 for a married person or head of a family. Also, all persons having a gross income of $5,000 or more, regardless of exemptions, must file all corporations, without exception, must also file a return, Shellworth pointed out.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—Eleven motion picture theaters in Salt Lake City, Ogden and Logan today received orders from the Utah State Trade commission to discontinue the holding of "bank nights" and "ten-wins" nights.

The cease and desist orders maintained that the "summes of chance" were interfering with commerce.

MENTAL TELEPATHY? HERE IS WHAT STUDENT TEST SHOWS

By JEAN SPRAGUE
Extra-sensory perception may sound like a large order for a youngster from 12 to 14 years old, but tests conducted yesterday in Junior high school classes indicated that they have it.

Telepathy, hunches, intuition, mind reading are other names used by less scientific folk, even as you or I, to describe the uncanny ability of one child to reproduce symbols seen by his instructor at the back of the room for a brief second and to do it right 20 times out of 50 with a choice of five symbols.

Used Test Cards
The results come from a reproduction of a deck of 55 cards copied after those used at the parapsychology laboratory at Duke university by Dr. J. B. Rhine and his associates for the purpose of testing the until recently unrecognized powers of the mind which he termed extra-sensory perception, or ESP.

The face of a single card bears a simple symbol, a square, a cross, a star, three wavy lines or a circle. Rather like a suit in a deck of playing cards, there are five of each symbol and of course the order in which they come is unpredictable.

Two instructors made the tests with their students. One instructor tested 104 students, in a single use of the deck of cards, his tabulations show that 21 students were able to pick out the correct symbol five or more times out of 50. The cards as he concentrated on the symbols.

16 Had 'Eight Right'
Surprisingly, the next group in point of size is that of 16 students who gave correct notations for eight of the cards. Fourteen were right on six or three, 10 on four and seven. At the extremes of the scale are the two individuals who had 13 and one correct symbols respectively.

Laboratory directions call for four repetitions of the test a condition which was impossible to carry out in the classroom but in one group where the instructor was used three times three students were able to name 12 of the symbols. Only one could see 21 and the lowest number of correct answers was seven.

Results that might prove of considerable interest to Dr. Rhine were obtained when the deck was used twice with the same class. Ranking in the highest bracket was the student who named 20 of the symbols and another whose score was 19. Seven students were right on eight and another seven on 12. Lowest was the child who made a score of four.

Half ESP?
Of these results were over half seem to show "ESP" and were rated "encouraging," 10 are "good" and two are "very good," which is the most the scientists will say of anyone. It naturally is not to be expected. But Mrs. Vera O'Leary, principal, doesn't get any rating at all. She came in during one of the tests and the instructor made a heroic attempt to "concentrate" to her while it was going on.

It took good plain English.

Buhl Women's Club
Given Talk on Wills
BUHL, Jan. 14 (Special)—Paul Boyd, local lawyer, discussed wills at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club held Monday at the Royal cafe.

He explained the correct procedure of drawing wills, outlined state laws on inheritance in both separate and community property in the absence of wills and gave examples of odd or humorous wills declared legal in court.

Roll call was answered by odd laws. It was declared that the next meeting will be a pot-luck dinner on Feb. 14 at the home of Mrs. M. M. Fetter. Committee reports on the children's Christmas party and the student loan fund were presented.

If you are DEAFENED
Why Wait
Perhaps you have hesitated to do something about your hearing because you didn't believe you really could be helped; or because you thought any "hearing aid" would make you conspicuous or because you felt you "couldn't afford" one.

Today thousands have found that none of these reasons stand in the way of hearing happiness. The new, individually-fitted, SONOTONE Audicle brings hearing of almost unbelievable clarity and naturalness—even in extremely severe cases. Men wear a SONOTONE less noticeably than glasses and women wear it completely hidden. As to price, there are very few who cannot afford a SONOTONE. (Convenient budget plans, too.)

Won't you come in (or we'll call at your home, if you say so) and learn for yourself that this dependable, inconspicuous means for better hearing really isn't "too good to be true." A consultation and scientific fitting costs nothing and involves no obligation whatsoever. Offices open Thursday and Saturday only.

POT SHOTS WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row Yesterday's Casino trade has been with the shy girl and the place out of the house into a world that was used.

Richest Girl in the World BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc. The man told her the bus left in 10 minutes. The ticket read, Asheville, North Carolina. That seemed a long distance for the price.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON BY Rodney Dabbs Evening Times Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A distinguished jurist from the industrial midwest, it seems probable, will be appointed to succeed Justice Sutherland on the supreme court.

Need Some Work from Congress The retirement of Associate Justice Sutherland would seem to end the Supreme Court reorganization controversy once and for all. Partisan considerations regarding the merits or demerits of the conservative and liberal views of the court factions should not prevent the nation from heaving a sigh of thankfulness.

But to the mass of American people, the fact that the court fight is over is really more important than the outcome—if it can be said that there has been an outcome. Presumably President Roosevelt now will be content to let the court enlargement plan go by the boards, and that will be a major relief to those who feared that he might bring the matter before congress again at the current session.

Congress wasted almost all its regular session last year in arguing and bickering over the court plan. Virtually every piece of major legislation was stalemated or side-tracked because members of the House and Senate were so intent on the court fight that they couldn't take time to act on constructive legislation. The thread of the court plan controversy ran through every cloak-room conversation, every committee hearing, every floor debate. Members couldn't even formulate opinions regarding such unrelated matters as farm legislation, government reorganization, or appropriations without wondering how their stand would affect the fight over the federal judiciary.

The nation will be glad to know that the court proposal, as an issue, no longer will hang around congressmen's necks like 'The Old Man of the Sea,' preventing them from serious consideration of more immediately pressing matters. The country needs new tax legislation and farm legislation. It needs a congress which will buckle down to the job of formulating a government labor policy which will ease this constant employer-employee bickering and this internecine labor warfare. It needs an intelligent approach to such matters as monopoly and anti-trust legislation, the armament and defense situation, and foreign affairs.

With the Supreme Court fight over of the way, it is hoped the nation will get some of the things it needs.

Heroism in Scotland The Scotch, it appears, are not only thrifty, but brave. Over in Aberdeen the other day the Kilt society, in a momentous session, barred the Scottish national dress to women because women's legs from the knee to the ankle are not so porportioned to as permit them to wear kilts "with due dignity."

Up From the Ashes It is interesting to learn that dirigible service across the Atlantic soon will be in full swing again. The American Zepplin Transport Co. announces that lighter-than-air ships, using American-produced helium, will re-establish passenger service from Germany to the United States in May. The important thing here is not whether lighter-than-air or heavier-than-air ocean flight is more efficient, but the fact that aerial pioneers have the courage to rise up from a staggering disaster such as the Hindenburg crash and start all over again.

Japanese official contends China overestimates her strength. From the progress of the Japanese drive, compared with advance predictions, there apparently has been some underestimating, too. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce estimates that 1938 taxes may total $13,500,000,000. What doesn't the government want the other four-fifths of our national income?

BEANS A LA POT SHOTS Purchase Idaho beans. If you buy Michigan beans, the Idaho Bean Mumbo-Jumbo Society will lynch you. Roll those beans until you get tired of them.

ADD A TOUCH OF PAPRIKA. Pour in one bottle of vinegar. Add cup of flour and mix well. Roll some more. (The beans, not the dough.) Add Worcesterhire sauce, half cup. Drain water from beans.

HONOR Since a good share of the daydreams from hither and yon in Idaho seems to be on the pot shots around these parts, let's pot shot around these parts. Pot Shots feel constrained to do this special honor. So, to make it something like a pot shot holiday, we offer the daydreams a picture of a horse.

AND SHE SHOULDN'T OFFER A TARGET, ANYHOW! Pot Shots: The children doesn't seem very logical to me. Dad always says, "This hurts me worse than it does you." If that's true, why spunk? There's no reason dad should be punished because noney has shot off his B-D gun just when the lady next door was bending over on the front porch.

SAFETY AND BEANS IN ONE GULP! Pot: Since the Governor is getting his signals mixed, by proclaiming both Beans week and Safety week to start next Monday, I think we could combine the two very effectively.

LICK 'EM WHEN THEY NEED IT, SAYS THIS GENT! Pot Shots: You brought up a vital question in the current contest about whether parents ought to lick their kids. We're sticking to a little bit of licking for the moment, but it clears the air and leaves no doubt as to who's boss. And there can be only one answer to this question: If you always go to have any harmony.

DRAMATIC WHINING DEPT. To all and Whining—Although heat waves in beans week is a many a year of the country as the bean growers can maneuver it. It will NOT be open season in Pot Shots for certain of those spunk about beans. We've closed them in the wastebasket already, so we thought we'd better remind you.

FAMOUS LAST LINE ... Daydreams convention—are they drinking milk? THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

THE next place this new Katie Blyn visited was a department store. She bought a pair of shell-rimmed glasses, a bright orange lipstick, and a toothbrush. In counting her roll of bills she found her capital to be exactly $286.48. Often she had spent that much in a single afternoon. Now it must last until she became Constance Corby again.

HE said she most certainly could. "And at no additional cost, Miss," she added; perhaps because she thought she could not afford it, or because of the way she had smiled at him. Now Connie, or Katie, as she must think of herself, made her way to the Transcontinental Bar Terminal. In the rest room she put her things, including the jewelry, into the new bag with its proud "K. B." in bright gilt letters. Before the roll of long mirrors she carefully applied the orange lipstick, fitted the spectacles behind her ears. She was more than pleased with the result.

SHE did not know where she was going, but she certainly was on her way! "I'd like a ticket for the first bus that pulls out of here," she told the grumpy looking man at the ticket window. "You must be in a hurry," he said; not crossly, but with a knowing camaraderie. He stamped a ticket, slid it under the window. "That'll be $11.90.

PEOPLE were boarding it now. Connie glanced wildly around. She saw the young man who had rescued her glasses, but he would not be any help. Then she saw the woman waddling toward her, laden with bundles. "I'll hold a seat," she panted, sweeping past, leaving Connie to follow, madly, after her out of breath. One slip, since she had to carry her grip with one hand. But the bus was almost full. But the woman managed a place at the back; she pressed the two children into the seat next to hers. Connie struggled through, plunked down on the seat, and, with a gasp, struggled back up the aisle again, slipped gratefully into the nearest vacant seat. "You didn't lose your baby, did you someone asked. She glanced up, startled, to meet the same amused gaze of the same young man. "I wasn't my baby," she said, with dignity. He sat down beside her. "That's too bad," he said. "Too bad!"

It occurred as though it belonged to her. But maybe you were kidding it. Connie flushed angrily, then she saw that his dark eyes were aimed at her. Everybody do, either kidnap or have one of my own, it won't be so violent," she said. "Though it was a very nice baby, at that!" Connie was eager for this new adventure. And she was thinking too of this friendly young man, who, while the woman had been friendly. She never had liked people much before. They always had treated her as though she were not quite real. They stared at her, as though she were a sort of freak, just because she had been born to inherit so much money; some with curiosity, others with awe. Connie had become hysterical and had tried to tear a piece from her dress for a souvenir. Another time—Connie would never forget—a man had shaken his fist at her. But now, as the bus left the traffic of the city behind, skimming over the wide, smooth road that stretched ahead of miles and miles, she—Katie Blyn—was one of them, these people enclosed in this little isolated world. The bus slept against its motor's great wheels, and Connie and she smiled at Connie, and one of the children waved a stick of candy, offering a bite. Next to her the young man buried his face in his newspaper; across the aisle an old man slept.

The Family Doctor By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. Humans can live without food for many weeks in the laboratory, and days. They can live without oxygen for a few minutes. The length of time they can go without water depends on the nature of the water, but the outside limit seems to be about four days for the average man. An Italian political prisoner, named Vito, once survived a long ride by combining a hunger strike with a thirst strike, according to Dr. Walter H. Cannon, died on the 15th day of his strike. During this period he lay absolutely quiet in moist cool air in surroundings. Had he been in the desert, he might have been long ago.

Water is an absolutely essential substance for health and life. Water leaves the body with every breath and in the sweat. The body is in perspiration, and through the kidneys and bowels. Water in the body must be constantly renewed by drinking or eating food which contains considerable water. Under certain circumstances when the amount of water taken in does not keep up the amount lost, the body becomes exceedingly thirsty. This happens when the air is dry, the exertion is too vigorous, or the body is a result of taking of various drugs or foods, the output of water may be excessive. When a person is thirsty his whole body craves water. The picture of a person dying of thirst is most unpleasant. The tongue sticks to the roof of the mouth, the throat becomes dry, there is a constant lump in the throat; the eyelids eventually fall to move over the dry, cracked skin of the face. The dying person begins to dream of lakes and rivers. Long speaking or singing will lessen the moisture in the throat and mouth and sometimes water in just as a result of bleeding or because of disease like diabetes. It is impossible to know how much water each person loses from the body so that the amount taken in may with certainty supply his needs. The tongue sticking to the roof of the mouth is definitely related to health. In the processes of digestion large amounts of water may be taken from the blood and poured into the stomach, intestinal tract, resulting in thirst after a meal. One of the most common superstitions is that we should drink water during our meals. However, there seems to be no scientific reason for this belief. For the average person six to eight glasses of water per day seem to satisfy the needs.

You May Not Know That—The grave of George Burton Ferrrie, 1893-1938, is located on Alpheus creek on Blue Lakes ranch property. (NEXT: A series of three articles on a singular treatment in infantile paralysis.) Edmund Krohn was considered the greatest trail actor of the early 19th century.

WOULD CONFIRM ANY REED. It is possible that Roosevelt would go to the far west for a new justice, since the ninth and tenth judicial circuits—the latter jutting out to include Kansas and Oklahoma—will not be represented on the court after Sutherland goes. The White House is taking into consideration the fact that the far western area was long represented by both Justices Sutherland and Van Zandt; the fact that the important area stretching from the Pennsylvania line to the Mississippi river has not been and isn't represented, and the most important fact, that all Roosevelt's pet candidates come from the latter area. The "pets" include Solicitor General Stanley Reed—Kentuckian; Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan; Donald Richberg of Chicago, and Dean Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school.

REED is a Kentuckian; Murphy is a Michigan lawyer; Richberg is a Chicago attorney; Garrison is a Wisconsin law school professor. Reed was runner-up on the President's list at the time he finally decided on the appointment of Black. The solicitor general's position has since increased. Roosevelt is very interested in the appointment of a Catholic might wipe out the only one of the four men without much fuss. Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana is seriously considered as a successor to Van Devanter, it is again a possibility. But Roosevelt is believed to be cool toward the thought of choosing another senator. In the far west Circuit Judge Sam Bratton of New Mexico appears to be the only candidate who has a look in his eye.

PRESTIGE will be the most essential asset for any appointee. That fact is what makes Reed's chances look so good. The worth while efforts of our splendid President to live up to and seek to effect his declaration for "a more equitable distribution of wealth" is the cause of all the lights made on him; one thing and another may be altered and back of all of it, there stands big business, which does not want a more equitable distribution of wealth. Stay with the President; he is our champion.

E. Harris returned Sunday from Nampa, bringing her young son, Ronald Elsworth with her. Mrs. Hagan has recently pledged two new members, Ray Egan, Twin Falls and Ben Enoff of Jerome.

DIANKY TOLL HEAVY. MINNEAPOLIS (Special)—Over 30,000 Americans will die victims of diabetes in 1938, thanks to the steady climb of the price of insulin, which has multiplied the deaths by 400 per cent since 1900, according to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

HUGE SALARIES The papers of Jan. 9 carried a news item from Washington, released by our federal income tax department, publicizing the huge salaries received by some of our capitalists in industry; possibly this was a "room back" for the numerous assaults made on the administration by a number of these individuals; however, such assaults should be discouraged, as big business had better become good business, because when we choose between big business and our government, we will choose the government. The dispatch referred to stated that the president of one of our large motor manufacturers received a salary of $560,000 in 1936; the vice president only $450,000 and several other officials of the same company were on the same scale. A number of these salaries were of drawing a salary of only $300,000 each, which leads me to conclude that if our government attempted to pay such salaries, there would be almost an insurrection; "big" business must be served, even if it means that thousands of our employees are thrown out of work in winter. What would $560,000 mean in Idaho money? It would mean the salary of our governor 112 years; the salary of a district judge 140 years; of the average county official 300 years, and the same time would apply to our small town merchants; it is equal to 600 years for the average skilled workman; over 1,000 years for unskilled workman. Let us assume that this motor potentate labored 56 hours per week for 60 weeks (allowing him two weeks vacation); he would work 2,800 hours, which is quite enough for any man in a year; on that basis he would get only $200 per hour for his very valuable time and ability. This is the type of a business man who feels and says, that our government is oppressive, when it justly taxes such a man. Let us assume that the type who wants to keep all he gets, then get more; the type who proclaim that they are God's trustees (which is blasphemy); because the poor are incompetent; this latter statement is true, the poor never had a chance to have their competence tested. The worth while efforts of our splendid President to live up to and seek to effect his declaration for "a more equitable distribution of wealth" is the cause of all the lights made on him; one thing and another may be altered and back of all of it, there stands big business, which does not want a more equitable distribution of wealth. Stay with the President; he is our champion.

Labor Head, Industrialists to Confer with Roosevelt

OWEN D. YOUNG, LAMONT, LEWIS TO CALL ON FDR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric company, and Thomas W. Lamont, a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., were reported today ready to confer with President Roosevelt on plans for alleviating the business recession.

The industrialist, banker and labor leader were expected to call at the White House within a few days, it was reported today. The conference will be another in the series planned by the President to devise methods of furthering cooperation among business, labor and government.

Lewis was reported to have conferred with Young and Lamont this week in New York where, presumably, they completed plans, possibly a program, to be presented at the conference.

Lewis in New York with Thomas Moses, vice president of United States Steel corporation, and Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers organizing committee, an affiliate of the CIO which seeks a renewal of its contract with "big steel."

It was believed that Lewis' conference with U. S. Steel executives was linked with a rumored reduction of steel prices. Several of Lewis' allies, trust-busters believe that steel prices are too high. It was understood that Mr. Roosevelt, in his search for a recession remedy, was prepared to seek the advice of more businessmen and labor leaders.

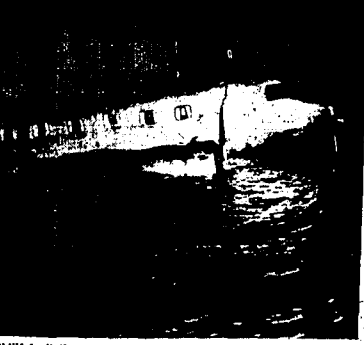

New Federal Agency? The names of other individuals the President expects to talk with soon were not revealed. However, a White House spokesman associated with the administration, said that Mr. Roosevelt probably would meet other labor leaders after he conferred next Wednesday with industrialists who comprise the Secretary of Commerce Daniel G. Roper's business advisory council.

The President is known to be considering a proposal for creation of a new federal agency to supervise and advise business under revised anti-trust laws with a view to having voluntarily production schedules to federal estimates of purchasing power.

Leaders in the current-trust-busting campaign were worried about the tendency toward business-government cooperation lest it undercut their aid and act as a check on recent speeches attacking monopoly.

They also are turning from support of the Roosevelt administration to the Borah-O'Mahoney federal licensing bill.

Ed Musick Was a Missouri Boy —But His Home Was a Clipper

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14 (AP)—He called himself Eddie Musick and he had "what's your name?" when he extended a hand in friendly greeting and smiled grimly at the squinted with those sharp eyes. The answer that came with his hand was from seeing too much of the sun's glare against the ocean's waters. All the oceans.

He came from Missouri but he was a Missouri boy. He was a Missouri boy who had been everywhere, from Havana to Hong Kong; Oakland to Auckland, wherever the Clippers went or were likely to go.

He flew a million miles or more, many thousands of them while blazing the trails, from Miami to Havana; Havana to Central America; Central to South America; from the Pacific from Oakland to Oahu, Guam to Manila and Manila to Hong Kong.

Died on Own Route It was on a new Pan American Airways Pacific route that he died Tuesday morning—one that started at Honolulu, extended to New Zealand, Papeete, then to New Zealand. He explored that route only last month, and went down with his Sanzen Clipper and his crew of six men when the big plane exploded and strewn the ocean with its fragments.

U. S. FUNDS WILL AID INSECT FIGHT

By RALPH W. OLMSTEAD WASHINGTON (Special)—Federal officials are expediting widespread demand for federal assistance to control grasshoppers, crickets, and the like next year. The budget, submitted on January 3, contains an item of $100,000 for that purpose, but Senator Murray of Montana has introduced an amendment to raise the appropriation to $200,000. Prospects are good for a substantial anti-insect appropriation, Idaho, we are told, will need about $70,000 to control Mormon crickets this year.

After several years of effort on the part of the Idaho congressional delegation, the Indian service has completed an investigation of damage claims by farmers resulting from overflows of the Blackfoot Indian reservoir. The report will soon be completed and an appropriation bill introduced to pay to southern Idaho farmers accrued damages.
