Selection of Jury Starts in Murder Trial of Mrs. Pruett

ONE RULED OUT AFTER ASSERTING OPINION FORMED

GOODING, Jan. 17 (Special)—The murder trial of Genevieve Agnes Pruett, 32, Boise, who is charged with the fatal shooting of her husband, Albert Donald Pruett, 25, last Nov. 24, at Bliss, moved slowly today toward the selection of a jury. The district court convened at 10 a. m. with Judge Doran H. Sutphen presiding.

Prosecuting Attorney M. P. Ryan examined the first 13 prospective jurors and discharged only six. Ryan stated he had formed an opinion that facts and evidence could not sway A. F. James, attorney for the defense, had just started questioning the second man when Ryan questioned the legality of James' questions and the court recessed.

A second courtroom listened to the routine questions of the attorneys as they attempted to impel a jury.

Mrs. Pruett appeared very calm. She has been in the Gooding women's ward since last Thursday, when she was removed from the Twin Falls county jail. She refused dinner today but appeared to be in good health.

Mrs. Pruett stated at the time of her arrest that the shooting was an outcome of a drawn-out family quarrel over a period of months. Her husband had left four days previously to go to the home of his grandfather at Bliss. Mrs. Pruett followed him to Bliss, walking all the way.

Pruett was hunting but upon his return the quarrel commenced again and she is said to have asserted that she threatened her with a shotgun. She allegedly drew a .35 caliber revolver and shot him in the abdomen. A second shot, fired as he lay on the ground, struck his officers dead. He died 20 minutes later.

When Roosevelt Chose Reed He Got Fine Lawyer—and a Poor Politician

(By NEA Service)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.—When President Roosevelt named Solicitor General Stanley Reed to the supreme court he appointed a Kentucky lawyer who like Lincoln, emerged from a sturdy, weather-beaten log cabin home. And like Lincoln's, Reed's cabin is in Kentucky. But there the resemblance ends.

Lincoln's cabin was an expedient of nature. Reed's is a case of taste for simplicity and early American surroundings. Reed's cabin is a several-roomed log and stone structure, sturdy and framed by trees, modernized and picturesque, was erected before the Civil war and is reached by a corkscrew road up a mountain overlooking Maysville and the Ohio river.

A Staggering Job
The crisis of the banking emergency in 1933 first thrust Reed into the front in the Roosevelt councils. For several years Reed was attorney for the old Hoover farm board and in 1932 he became general counsel for the RFO under Hoover. Few men were so intimately acquainted with the legal intricacies of federal banking and finance as was Reed.

Mr. Roosevelt turned to him and he served the President ably as a legal expert during and after that historic bank holiday.

He was named for a federal judgeship in Kentucky when the President decided he should be solicitor general. Reed accepted and thereby plunged himself into a staggering job—the defense of New Deal laws before the U. S. supreme court.

No Gestures, No Show
His arguments have indicated definite liberalism along with a desire to keep the President within reasonable constitutional limitations. He has argued the gold clause case, the AAA, the Wagner act and many other cases, recently with conspicuous success.

No man, except the President perhaps, has borne a greater strain in the last two years. On the day, for instance, that he appeared before the U. S. supreme court to defend the AAA, Reed also argued for the Bankhead cotton law.

At 2:30 p. m. Chief Justice Hughes called for the case of U. S. vs. Hoosac Mills. Up rose Reed, colorless, competent, beginning in monotone a defense of the agricultural adjustment act. No flowers. No showy stuff. No gestures.

Next day, handsome, tremulous-voiced George Wharton Pepper announced attacking the power of congress to pass such an act. Vibrant, gesturing, he closed: "I am pleading the cause for the America I love, and pray Almighty God that not in my time will the land of the regimented be substituted for the land of the free!"

But Mr. Eastonless
Reed rose again, pompous in aspect but not in manner. He said he was just as emotional as Pepper. He told about his disastrous case of 100,000 farm men, women and children.

Then his arms waved. He showed the Emulsion.
"General welfare... This is no regulation!" he shouted, holding the court's attention closely to the case of his argument.

Government lawyers, previously critical of Reed for his lack of force, were delighted.

Later that day, arguing for the Bankhead cotton act, Reed collapsed. McReynolds and others had pressed him on a technical issue. The strain of it all, especially the criticism of Reed for his lack of force, were delighted.

Senators Urged To Place Extra Ships in Pacific

LaGuardia Requests Federal Government Aid for Jobless
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—Tax revision, unemployment, national defense—including a huge naval appropriation bill, and wire tapping occupied the attention of the congress today.

M. L. Seidman, chairman of the New York board of trade, urged the house ways and means committee to repeal the undistributed profits tax and thereby repudiate this principle of taxation.

The house appropriations committee reported a $53,200,000 navy department supply bill for the 1938 fiscal year, including funds for building two new super dreadnaughts and 20 other warships. This was $27,728 more than navy funds for the current fiscal year but $11,139,907 under budget bureau forecasts.

Four Mayors Ask Shipments
Another factor in national defense was discussed by mayors of four Pacific coast cities before the senate committee on naval affairs. The mayors urged federal subsidies for building and maintaining inter-coastal vessels as an integral part of supplying shipping in Pacific waters in event of conflict in that region.

Mayor Angelo Rossi of San Francisco said the reduction and preservation of coastal sea coast shipping is "imperative to the safety of the United States."

Mayors also urged that LaGuardia of New York and Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, appointed to the federal government to assume responsibility for the employment of the nation's unemployed, be given authority to issue federal work programs to aid the unemployed.

Wire Tapping
Louis R. Glavin, former as investigator for the interior department, told the senate public lands committee that wire tapping of telegrams lines were being done because of leaks of confidential information.

His appearance was in connection with the committee's consideration of the nomination of Ebert K. Burlew to be assistant secretary of interior.

Meanwhile, the senate appropriations committee reported a bill to block highways.

San Jose, which occupied the house where the counterfeit bills were found, the counterfeiters were Joseph Meitino and Joseph Leonard.

According to police records, M. E. Dickerson, 219 Walnut street, and Dan Merritt, 219 Walnut street, were arrested on Sunday night in an accident at 8:15 p. m. on Main avenue and Third street north. Little damage resulted.

CHINA PLANS TO START ADVANCE

SHANGHAI, Jan. 15 (UP)—One hundred thousand Chinese troops from outer Mongolia were reported ready today to sweep across Japanese provinces and meet the Japanese at the eastern border.

The Mongolians hoped to cover quickly the barren territory after capturing the city of Tsingtau.

At least 20,000 Japanese reinforcements were said to have been rushed to the north from various sections of China.

Meanwhile, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his northern army commanders were mapping military operations along the so-called "Lanchow" railroad which cuts through the center of Shantung province, for a clash with the Japanese moving to the south.

Latest reports, circulated by Chinese sources, said that Tsinling had been recaptured by the Japanese for the third time. Bitter fighting was in progress southwest of the city, according to the reports.

The Domei (Japanese) News agency reported from Tsinling that one Japanese column moving eastward through Shantung province toward Tsingtau had occupied Kiao-chow. The column was proceeding along a railway line with another force moving south from Tsinling. It was said, and a junction would be effected soon.

Bean Displays, Mailing Feature Campaign Here

Twin Falls and south central Idaho boosted with a will today as National Bean week formally started.

Grocery stores, both independent and chain, featured Idaho's Great Northern beans, and the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce completed arrangements to mail out 3,000 two-pound sacks of beans on behalf of residents who desire to send these to friends in other states.

To impress the flavor and nutritive value of Idaho beans on Idaho's own residents, the chamber also arranged today to serve cooked beans in downtown Twin Falls Saturday.

They will be served in individual containers.

35 Cents Per Sack
The sacks which are to be mailed out by the C. of C. as a convenience to Idaho boosters will cost 35 cents each, it was announced by W. H. Lawrence, chairman of the bean committee. That price will include mailing charges.

Idaho and Twin Falls publicity will be printed on the sacks.

A chamber committee will solicit business firms here to arrange taking of orders for the beans. Thompson said. Purchasers desiring to help publicize Idaho beans and to aid in promoting the farmers' surplus can have the bags sent anywhere in the country. Lists of names to whom the beans are to be sent are now being taken at chamber offices, it was announced.

Sacks Received
The 3,000 cloth sacks were received this morning, Lawrence said, and will be printed with the publicity slogan late today. The beans will be selected and packed Tuesday at the Twin Falls Bean and Elevator company warehouse, under direction of H. L. Hogsett, according to Lawrence.

NORTHSIDE HEARS IDAHO IS LEADER

JEROME, Jan. 17 (Special)—The divergent interests of the west and the east were stated this morning by H. O. Dale, president of the University of Idaho, in the opening session of the three-day Northside conference.

The strain of it all, especially the criticism of Reed for his lack of force, were delighted.

Reed rose again, pompous in aspect but not in manner. He said he was just as emotional as Pepper. He told about his disastrous case of 100,000 farm men, women and children.

PORTLAND STRIKE ENTERS 3RD DAY

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17 (UP)—Strike of 245 union printers, members of the A. P. of L. International Typographical union, which halted publication of all three Portland dailies, entered its third day today.

Both factions insisted the "door was wide open" for settlement of their wage and hour differences, and publishers said "certain interests" were working for peace. No attempt was made at publication.

The strike called Saturday, followed rejection by the union of two "trial offers" made by the publishers.

The publishers offered a 45-cent-per-day increase in wages versus 22 per cent, and $50 per night for 7 1/2 hours.

Employees of the Oregonian, in departments other than the composing room, were signing a petition to the Typographical union, asking that the printers return to work and settle their differences with the publishers, in an orderly manner, so the paper may resume publication.

Four Held After Trying to Force into L. D. S. Tabernacle with Fiery Torches

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 17 (UP)—Four disgruntled Mormons, who tried to force their way inside the magnificent tabernacle with flaming gasoline torches during a service Sunday, were held in jail today for assault.

Police were told that they had attempted to burn the tabernacle, which is one of the most famous structures in America.

Police were told that they had attempted to burn the tabernacle, which is one of the most famous structures in America.

"In face to face talks with Jesus Christ."

The four men came here Sunday night, from the Salt Lake ward of the church they belong. Odia said they were going inside so that he could announce his new gospel. He expected trouble with the tabernacle guards and was ready for it. He and each of his three followers carried fiery spray guns which they had filled with gasoline.

Accompanying Odia were Paul Miller, 67; his son, Archie, 21, and Arthur. He was perfecting a plan. M. J. Merrill, tabernacle warden, stopped them at the door. Odia raised his sprayer, touched a match to the nozzle and advanced toward the flame.

The tabernacle, which was built 71 years ago by Mormon founder Brigham Young, is valued at $10,000 per year. It is a marvel of architectural and engineering achievement.

The great organ, which retails at $100,000, is a masterpiece of workmanship. It has more than 2,600 pipes ranging in length from two inches to 32 feet. The acoustics were perfect. Just as a pin dropped at one end of the hall, may be heard at the other end, 200 feet away.

According to police records, M. E. Dickerson, 219 Walnut street, and Dan Merritt, 219 Walnut street, were arrested on Sunday night in an accident at 8:15 p. m. on Main avenue and Third street north. Little damage resulted.

Frederick and Edward Gullery, Jr., skidded into a building at 8:15 p. m. on Second avenue west and Fourth street north. Other accidents were reported but Sunday night there was no serious damage. It was found that the car had driven from the scene of the accident.

UTILITY ATTACKS ELECTRIC REPORT

(Note: Story of comparison of electric rates may be found on page 3, column 1.) BOISE, Jan. 17 (UP)—Idaho power company officials said today that the federal power commission's report upon electric rates in Idaho is "practically in description."

The commission selected a rate and applied a consumption which is not average," R. E. Gale, manager of the company's commercial department said.

Gale asserted that his company, as die other utilities operating in Idaho, maintained various schedules to fit consumption levels and that prices in many instances were "well below" the costs shown in the federal report.

The federal report was figured on a single scale application to three divisions of consumption. Gale said that the report did not correctly represent Idaho consumption or take into consideration factors applying to the "in between" class of utility clients.

"Application of the proper rate to a single class of utility clients costs to be at least 70 or 80 cents below the figures shown in the federal report," he said. "The last federal report about Idaho was the third lowest in the nation from the point of electricity cost in the home."

"Business is scared," General Robert E. Wood, president of the General Electric Co., said today. He said that the report did not correctly represent Idaho consumption or take into consideration factors applying to the "in between" class of utility clients.

POT SHOTS

WITH
The Gentleman in the Third Row

Republishers have had their fill. And ended with depression: Since Democrats are at the helm. They call it a recession.

The difference is in how it's done. Be not deceived but let us remember that the devilish thing. By republicans will get us. Republicans not Democrats. Forever can endure it. But here some hope the doctor thinks. Will check, and maybe care it. This week is wholly set apart. By high and lofty means. For every one to do their bit. To boost the price of beans.

Let every loyal mother's son, Call, Protestant and Jew. Each by quarter's worth of beans. And have one hell of a stew! —Churchill

A FEW LYRICAL PEAANS OF PRAISE FOR BEANS:

Pot Shots: Hey, there! What does that con- tributor, "Little Mary Hickup," mean "throw the beans away and eat baked spud"—Idaho baked spud, I mean. I'll admit—yes, I'll even boast that green bean and sugar- food cake are not as good as Idaho baked potatoes, but I also notice the beans are NOT low-brow food.

How did you like THE STROLL, FORREST? Pot Shots: If you'd like to hear a few remarks in unvarnished, very vigorous English, just ask Forrest Klugbary, the state traffic cop, for a few lessons on digging cars out of mud.

It seems Forrest had to serve some kind of papers on a certain gent, but for some reason couldn't use his uniform or the very loud horn of his police car. So he climbed into civilian clothing, borrowed another auto and started out.

I got stuck on a muddy road. Got out, walked back FIVE WEARY MILES to borrow a shovel, then dug for 45 minutes to get the car free. And then, for 45 minutes he HANDED ME FOUND A SHOVEL IN THE BACK OF THE CAR! Whoops! Did he see red? —Eliak

SHE WOULDN'T INTERFERE WITH LOVE, WOULD SHE? Potter Shooter: What young local married gal is irate because she finally discovered why she can't get a phone call in the house just at this time—because her hired gal spends so much time talking by telephone to her boyfriend?

Unseen Tax Toll

The Detroit Board of Commerce has compiled a list of 47 days on which many Michigan business men will have tax matters to attend to in 1938. These days include the dates for returns and payments on federal income taxes, state and county property taxes, sales, unemployment and other taxes and the returns that accompany them.

That indicates one source of tax drains that never show up in the figures—the cost of paying them. Every firm of any size has had to hire men whose duty is exclusively to see that tax returns are filed and payments made on time.

Even individuals and small businesses must devote an increasing amount of their time to the mechanics of tax payment. In many cases the burden of computing the taxes is greater than the burden of payment.

Every possible simplification of this business of paying taxes is a real tax reduction without depriving the governments concerned of any needed revenue. For the time, energy and trouble spent in preparing returns, making reports, and actually making payments, is a dead loss all around, hampering the payer without adding to the amount recovered by government.

Laws Should Be Clear

The controversy now under way in Michigan regarding whether railroads are required by law to furnish uniforms for their employees, should serve to remind law-makers, both state and federal, how important it is to phrase statutes in words that cannot be misconstrued.

Yesterday I attended to the anti-radiation man at her office. Conale consents to my advertisement in under way. Her tell tale hair is white like I have seen on his country.

CHAPTER VII

HE looked at her, coming back to the present again. "I believe you would," he spoke slowly.

"Look here, "don't get me wrong—I can see you prefer people to mind their own business, not ask questions—I won't do that. But if you aren't going anywhere special, what I mean is, if you're up against it, I'd like to help you out."

Conale said, "That's kind of you—but I don't need help, really." It was the first time in her experience that anyone had ever offered to help her in any way. Her glow spread all through her; it made her feel as though she had found a friend.

"Well, I didn't know... besides you never can tell." He dug in the pocket of his tweed coat, pulled out a card. Before he handed it to her he wrote something across the back. "Keep this. It's in case you're urged."

She thanked him; put the card in her purse. "Reckon we'd better be getting back," he suggested. "And thank you ever so much, Miss Blyn—I beg your pardon!" He gave her a low, elegant bow. "Miss Corby, I should have said. I enjoyed it." "It enjoyed it, too," she told him. "But don't let it pretend anymore." She did not want him to call her by her real name.

"I don't believe you want to be that rich girl, after all," he chided. No, Conale thought, after the hand he had piled into their places and once more the wheels were turning round and round, humming their rhythmic song, she did not want to be herself, not until she was forced to resign. She was that empty feeling; she no longer was sick of everything, tired of this. Why it was gorgeous, just to be alive!

AFTER a time she closed her eyes without seeing she called just the deep comfortable chair.

Even individuals and small businesses must devote an increasing amount of their time to the mechanics of tax payment. In many cases the burden of computing the taxes is greater than the burden of payment.

Every possible simplification of this business of paying taxes is a real tax reduction without depriving the governments concerned of any needed revenue. For the time, energy and trouble spent in preparing returns, making reports, and actually making payments, is a dead loss all around, hampering the payer without adding to the amount recovered by government.

to its reclining position, for this was the only bed the coach provided for the passengers during the long night.

Conale had thought she would be too excited to sleep, perhaps she would have been reading the luxury of the wide Maerz Antoinette bed. But before there could have been time to count many a sleepless hour she had been lulled to a sleep so sound it was untroubled by any dreams. She must have slept for several hours. Then she was awakened to a sense of confusion, a new stiffness in arms and limbs.

The door had stopped. Two men on a rough looking coach, individual, the other scarcely more than a boy, whom she remembered as having been sitting in the back seat with the mother who had whipped revolvers from her pockets. The boy had pressed his against the driver's back, the man she noticed at the occupants in the coach.

A woman screamed; a man swore. Bret Hardesty started to his feet, his dark face flushing, his eyes staring. "Sit down, you!" the muzzled of the one revolver was trained threateningly at his chest. "Another one of those damn things, move—and I'll all the bunch of you with lead!" The gunman looked capable of doing just that.

"Please don't do that, Conale!" she begged. "I'm not a friend. She had a feeling that Bret Hardesty was not going to empty his pockets without protest even though he faced a dozen revolvers.

She was right about that. She had no sooner parted with her roll of bills than she heard a thud behind her. She had knocked the revolver out of the fellow's hand, reaching across the driver's shoulder to switch off the lights at the same time. Now they rolled and tumbled in the darkness.

There were screams from the frightened women, three shots rang out. Then the slim figure of the man could be seen taking to his heels.

"BRET, BRET... are you hurt?" he asked without seeing she called him by name. Scarcely knowing what she was doing, Conale tried to feel ahead into that lanky blackness from which still came the sound of bodies pummeling and struggling.

"Then there was silence. "I'm all... okay." Bret's slow drawl came back, as though he had drawn, except some loss of breath. "Turn on... switch. I've got... this one."

Conale managed to find the switch, wondering how she did, her fingers were trembling so. The passengers, relieved and smiling, began to file back into the comfortable chatter as people will after a tense unusual strain.

"My partner... he musta swiped it," the fellow muttered sullenly, when Bret gave him a sharp shake, demanding to know what had become of it.

"A swell partner!" Bret commented. "He suggested they had better get away. They can pick up the other fellow, too; he acted like an inexperienced kid."

"Not a scratch, he says you!" Conale asked anxiously, after the excitement had died down and they were on their way again.

His thick dark hair was ruffled, his eyes staring, as though he had been through a maelstrom; there was a faint purple shadow spreading around one eye, but aside from that Bret Hardesty still looked like a man.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Outcher

Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The President's suggestion that industry at down with government to chart probable demand and production for a year ahead still doesn't seem to make sense to anyone in Washington who doesn't believe in the old NRA.

Or perhaps it is more accurate to say, as one of the administration's economists, that the more it means the less sense it makes, and vice versa.

Advisers associated with the administration's recent policy of attack on monopolies and concentrations of economic power were taken completely by surprise. They were forced to admit that if Roosevelt were taken seriously, they had attended conference remarks would necessarily indicate a sudden, inexplicable about-face.

It is not clear to date how soon when the high-powered lobbyists and lawyers of large corporations sit down with government representatives to discuss the conditions, the inevitable result is a restraint of production and price fixing.

Any such course as that would be likely to make all business monopolistic instead of only 40 or 50 percent of it as now, exploded one prominent business adviser.

Others jumped promptly to the conclusion that Donald Richberg, former NRA chief who clings to the New Deal, had been seen by the President. As a matter of fact, he had. Subsequently Richberg became the only important member of the editorial staff of the presidential proposal. But thus far no one has explained how the plan could be effective without having government control of business than business wants, or more monopolistic practices than anyone else wants.

What flour is one of the easiest ingredients in baking to mismeasure. The best results always result from and measure by spoonfuls into a cup, being careful not to shake the filled cup.

Two much flour in cakes causes them to lump in the middle or have a tough, cracked crust. Excessive flour also causes lumpy, tunneled muffins.

Always use level measurements in flour. It is easier to measure flour level (tablespoons of flour than to get one-fourth of a cup, its equivalent, unless one has a regulation one-fourth cup also for this purpose.

To avoid having a cake batter curdle during the mixing, add the ingredients first then the liquid, alternately ending with the flour and any dry ingredients.

Flour has a tendency to pack down, especially fine wheat flour. One may easily put as much as an extra half cup of flour in a recipe if it is not sifted BEFORE measuring.

Pow batters (except cakes) that require the usual egg beating should be used the egg or milk or stirred into the batter or dough.

Star Taste Foreign to Hollywood

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX (NEA Service)

People who eat in small apartments usually have low rent and lots of appetizing dishes. Mrs. Maddox, a 24-year-old daughter of the western star, Tom Mix, has Indian blood in her veins, but she likes to serve Italian dinners in her little home. So it appears that this cook and dweller in tiny apartments have some things in common. This is her way with spaghetti.

Ruth Mix Spaghetti (Serves 6)

Two onions, 1 large can solid pack tomatoes, 1 small can Italian tomato paste, 1 clove garlic, 1 bay leaf, 1 cup water, 1 1/2 pounds chopped round steak.

Slice onions and chop garlic. Fry until brown in small amount of olive oil. Add tomatoes, Italian paste, bay leaf and water. Cook and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Season in another skillet, heat a little olive oil and butter, then turn in chopped meat and mix with the sauce. Cook until browned, stirring constantly. Add to tomato sauce and cook at least 15 minutes.

For the salad, use all the fresh greens you can find in the market, including romaine, chlorey lettuce, watercress, celery leaves, etc. Put in a chilled bowl with a regular French dressing sauce and 6 drops of salt. Slice the lettuce, wash and wring out water. Do not let water boil. Whip in sherry wine and continue to whip until mixture thickens. Serve warm or chilled in glasses.

Print Sets Style of Millinery

Colorful sun hats printed on a bright yellow plique background make this dird-like beach dress one of the prettiest in current southern resort collections. The wide-brimmed hat matches exactly one of the hats on the fabric, and the shoes are the widely discussed still models with two-inch cork soles.

Egg Funch (Serves 6)

Eight egg yolks, 4 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons sherry wine. Beat yolks until lemony. Slowly beat in sugar. Turn into double boiler and add water. Do not let water boil. Whip in sherry wine and continue to whip until mixture thickens. Serve warm or chilled in glasses.

Would You Like to Be Free From Stomach Trouble?

Give Nature a Chance to Restore Your Health and Relieve Your Suffering

Quick Benefit and Relief Are Almost Sure to Follow the Use of Chan & Wing's Herb Treatment

Herbal Science Regarding Stomach Trouble

Stomach trouble usually refers to a diseased or disordered condition of the lining of the stomach, and is of all grades of severity from an occasional "stomachache" to the painful and fatal stage of ulceration and cancer.

The symptoms of stomach trouble of any kind are mild and often disregarded in the beginning—it may be only the so-called "heartburn" or "water-brash," but as time passes the symptoms begin to multiply and become more annoying, passing from one stage to another until life becomes a burden almost unbearable.

The causes of stomach trouble are many and widely different—ranging from taking a slight cold to a disordered condition of the nervous system. The seeds of this dread malady are often planted in childhood and born in infancy to lack of proper feeding.

In mature life the causes are often overwork, worry, improper eating and drinking—men resorting to the use of alcohol stimulants and women neglecting to drink sufficient quantities of water.

Our herbs are imported from China and they not only check and prevent threatening stomach trouble, but relieve the vast majority since my first use before the disease has so undermined my general health and sapped the vitality that recovery is impossible.

If the head is the road to fortune, the stomach is the road to physical happiness.

Current treatment opens a new avenue of hope for you. When your case has been given up by others, give us a trial.

Chronic Stomach Trouble Relieved

January 11, 1937.

To Whom It May Concern:

After my experience with Chan & Wing's Herb Treatment during the past seven weeks, I have become a great advocate of their Chinese herbs.

My experience was this: For twenty-two long years I suffered terribly from a disordered stomach—gas accumulated whenever I ate and my stomach and bowels were so undetermined my chest felt tight as if I were unable to breathe properly. And to add to this discomfort, my right hip ached—probably as a result of my stomach disorder.

Currently two years in a long time—yet in seven weeks—the time in which Chan & Wing treated me—my various disorders were completely cleared up. There is no need to say that today, I feel like a new person.

Since my fortunate experience I have recommended these good herbals to several of my neighbors—and they too, bring back glowing reports of their successes at the hands of Chan & Wing.

I am happy to recommend Chan & Wing highly.

Respectfully,
MRS. O. J. NORD,

Mrs. A. F. Hessler read a humorous poem.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

For three years I suffered from stomach trouble. Pains in my right side and stomach were terrible, and were accompanied by continual sourness and burning. Gas and a bloating condition were frequent. Then about a year ago my hands began swelling so that I could hardly use them—my condition was steadily getting worse. I ate and used before the disease had so undermined my general health and sapped the vitality that recovery is impossible.

After only five weeks of Mr. Chan's prescribed treatment of compounded Chinese herbs my old discomfiting ailment has disappeared. I am working and enjoying myself once again—thanks to Chan and Wing's Chinese Herb treatment.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

For a good many years I have suffered from a continually aching stomach. It seemed to ache night and day—and after any sort of a meal gas formed and my stomach became badly bloated causing me a good deal of pain.

My work and pleasure suffered, of course, because of this discomfort and sickness.

Most remedies I tried brought only a few hours—or days—relief. None had no effect at all. Then one day I read about Chan and Wing's Herb treatments and decided to give them a trial.

Dairy Groups Fight Rail Rate Increase

Delegates to the combined conventions of five Idaho state dairy and breeders' groups had departed today, but their battle to secure advantageous markets for Idaho and to guard against railway freight boosts went energetically ahead.

The Idaho State Dairyman's association, central group including the breeders' units, adopted resolutions at the close of the parleys here, specifically opposing increased freight rates now asked by carriers, hitting at the fact that certain eastbound freight rates on dairy products are higher than westbound, and again affirming opposition to the Pettengill bill to repeal the long and short haul clause.

The dairymen also flayed the operation of the trade agreement act as conducted by the state department as being harmful to farmers. They also stated that in future trade agreements, no further concessions be made on agricultural products, and that provisions be written in the agreement providing that agricultural products imported into this country conform with the same rigid sanitary requirements imposed on the interstate commerce act.

The proposed wage and hour bill now pending in the house of representatives, in the opinion of the dairymen, is detrimental to the welfare of agriculture, including their own industry. The defeat of this bill is urged in another resolution passed by the dairymen.

Standing firmly by the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act, the dairymen stated that it was most beneficial to the welfare of Idaho and reaffirmed their opposition to the Pettengill bill to repeal the fourth section of the interstate commerce act.

Members of the board of directors chosen at the Murray Copeland, Nampa, representing the Arshire breeders, W. D. Paine, Gooding, representing the Guernsey breeders, Ambrose Johnson, Nampa, the Jersey breeders, and L. J. Trenchard, Twin Falls, Holstein representative.

Those chosen as directors of large were R. T. Davis, Weiser; A. L. Kirkwood, Pocatello; W. L. Meridian; J. W. Holman, Boise; and James Buck, Idaho Falls.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

A HORSE CHESTNUT IS NOT A CHESTNUT; GRAPEFRUIT IS NOT RELATED TO GRAPES; PEPPER-GRASS IS NOT GRASS; CALLA LILIES ARE NOT LILIES; A PINE-APPLE IS NEITHER A PINE NOR AN APPLE; ASPARAGUS FERN IS NOT A FERN, AND ALLIGATOR PEARS HAVE NO AFFINITY WITH EITHER PEARS OR ALLIGATORS.

A COW REQUIRES ABOUT AN HOUR TO EAT ENOUGH GRASS, AND DESIRING IT SUITABLY FOR ASSIMILATION TO PRODUCE ONE QUART OF MILK.

Common names are very misleading in the plant world. Dogwood is one thing in North America, but in England, it is an entirely different plant, and still harder in the tropics. Although some of the Latin names are difficult to pronounce, they are exact. They classify a plant as well as name it.

GOVERNMENT, BUSINESS PREPARE FOR MASS PARLEY

50 U.S. LEADERS TO ATTEND MEET WITH ROOSEVELT

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (Special)—Government and business prepared today for the first mass conference of the economic recession in an atmosphere of uncertainty regarding President Roosevelt's plan to decentralize control over industry and finance. A Presidential message to congress on business reform is due soon.

Fifty members of the business advisory council organized under commerce department auspices will meet with Mr. Roosevelt Jan. 18. There is an inclination here to minimize importance of this meeting on two grounds: First, that it will be too large to permit more than a general discussion of economic problems, and second, that Mr. Roosevelt's unforeseen announcement that all holding companies must ultimately be liquidated has disturbed business.

C. of C. Complains
The United States Chamber of Commerce complained last night against severity of administration structures on business in a review of the week which said:

There is a general tendency to assail business and blame it for recession has not proved conducive to the cooperative spirit so essential to recovery and recovery. Scolding and name calling do not make for team play between business and government.

Roosevelt's conference with the business advisory council was scheduled some weeks prior to the opening of congress and does not directly with recent developments on the New Deal-big business front, notably the slashing criticisms of business procedure and controls by Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes and Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson.

These attacks have aroused some business men to suggest that the administration should be more precise in attacking business to protect innocent individuals and industries against abusive legislation. Mr. Roosevelt feels are confined to a small group.

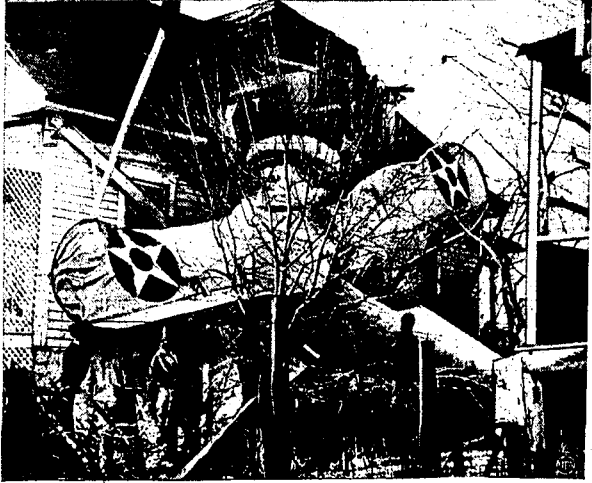

The first major reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's plan to suggest that the administration should be more precise in attacking business to protect innocent individuals and industries against abusive legislation. Mr. Roosevelt feels are confined to a small group.

Tax Collections at Camas Are $32,560
FAIRFIELD, Jan. 17 (Special)—The collection in Camas county for the third half of 1937 have reached $32,560, or 48 per cent of the total amount according to E. W. Strubbe, treasurer. The percentage is three per cent less than at the same time in the third half of 1936.

Pilots Were Out When This Plane Dropped In

No one was injured when a navy-marine plane paid an unexpected and unwelcome call at a Kansas City, Kan., home, with the results pictured above. Unable to pull the ship out of a spin, Capt. Benjamin B. Southworth, and his observer, William H. Gregory, bailed out, landing safely with parachutes. The occupants of the home were badly frightened but unharmed as the plane tore into the roof, then settled into the yard between houses.

CANAL FIRM HAS RECORD FOR '37

SHOSHONE, Jan. 17 (Special)—According to the annual report of Secretary-Treasurer S. T. Baer, the Wood River Canal company made an exceptional record during the year 1937. There was a great increase in the showing of all previous years. In the season just closed more acre feet of water was delivered to farm headgates, of which amount 123,410 was from Magic reservoir and 162,882 from American Falls. Volume delivered to Magic lands was nearly identical with 1936, but there was an increase in the past year to lands irrigated from American Falls. The farm headgate deliveries for 1936 was 281,141.

Crop Acreages
Crop acreage saved during 1937 was 65,956 or 2,500 acres more than during the previous year. The former high total was 64,019 in 1921.

Water Deliveries
The number of acre feet delivered per acre last year was 2,398 for Magic lands and 4.78 for American Falls lands. The duty for the entire project is listed as $4.40 for 1937 and $4.50 for 1938. Past year saw the highest per-acre delivery on record for American Falls lands, with the exception of 1934. The 1937 record for Magic lands was exceeded in 1922, 1933 and 1936.

Transmission Losses
Canal transmission losses for 1937 showed a marked decline, the Miller-Shoshone canal, from Milner dam to Little Wood river at Shoshone, showing 27.60 per cent and 23.23 per cent respectively, for 1936 and 1937. Steady improvement is shown since 1931, when the loss in this 55-mile canal was 73.66 per cent.

STATE PRESIDENT GUEST
SHOSHONE, Jan. 17 (Special)—State President Audrey Farrington of the Rebekahs met with the local chapter at a dinner given in her honor at the Boston Cafe Friday night. She addressed the body to considerable extent on lodge affairs, and the session was followed by a lodge meeting at Odd Fellows hall.

White Girl Poisons Self After Father Shoots Japanese Lover

DINUBA, Calif., Jan. 17 (Special)—The remorse of Romeo was Sam Kurthara's beloved was dead of poison, and he was recovering from a shooting wound in the abdomen many days caused her to think he was dead, and to destroy herself in her grief. She was an American girl and a young Japanese farmer. Their love was more futile than that of which Shakespeare wrote. Caste, family objections and California law all defeated them. No Caucasian may marry an Oriental in this state.

Secret Lovers
They were secret lovers, but Jessie Jean Salsman's father had known about it for some time and had objected strenuously. It was he, A. C. Salsman, who lay in wait for Sam Kurthara yesterday and shot him when he came to call on Jessie Jean.

The girl was 19; the young man 24. They had been in love for a year. Forbidden to see the girl, Sam Kurthara came by stealth. He parked his automobile a safe distance from the house and walked toward the Salsman home.

Fires Twice
It was early in the morning when his face appeared at the window of the girl's room. Salsman fired his shotgun twice. Both charges of buckshot missed him and Sam Kurthara ran into an orange grove. Salsman went outside to look for him. He could not find the young man but he found his parked automobile and when he heard the next one, and saw her father coming home with his smoking gun, she was certain that it was the end of her love.

Swallows Tablets
She went to the medicine cabinet and swallowed bichloride of mercury tablets. It is a slow poison, but the girl took many tablets, and the shock and grief hastened her end.

GRAHAM REFUTES LEGALITY DOUBT

BOISE, Ida., Jan. 15 (UPI)—A charge that members of the Idaho fruit and vegetable advertising commission took effect before the legislative act creating the group became effective was denied today by Guy Graham, state commissioner of agriculture.

Graham said, "It is a matter of record that commissions of the members were issued by the secretary of state on May 6, 1937, and that the members took their oaths of office at the first meeting of the advertising board, which was held on May 10."

creating their positions became effective. Crowley produced a letter, assertedly written and signed by Governor Barzilla Clark, as basis for his statement.

Graham said that Governor Clark "may have been premature with his appointments, but the commissions were issued according to law."

An act of legislature which does not carry an emergency clause does not become effective until 60 days after adjournment. The 1937 legislature adjourned at midnight, March 6th.
