"Cinderella Man" Cops 10-Round Victory Over Farr

Underdog in Betting Comes from Behind To Annex Close Win in New York

By STUART CAMERON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (U.P.)—A ring plot so fantastic that no dramatist would dare write it sped toward reality today as Former Champion Jim Braddock, victor over Tommy Farr of Wales in last night's garden fight, looked ahead to a possible second triumph over Max Baer and another shot at the world's heavyweight boxing title.

Jimmy Braddock, former world champion, headed for a return crack at the title following his upset victory over Tommy Farr last night. He is scheduled to take on Max Baer in March. With an eventual bout against the titleholder set for the winner of that match.

Jersey Jim, the ring's "Cinderella man," who played a rags-to-riches role in moving from a relief roster to the royal purple and gold of the world's championship, scored one of the biggest upsets of recent boxing history by out-pointing the 24-year-old Welsh coal miner in their 10-round bout. Braddock staged a perfectly gauged fight to close with a rush and win the nod from the more official. The outcome was almost as unexpected as the upset win over Baer which made Jimmy, a 1-9 underdog in the betting, the champ three weeks ago.

Another Upset

Braddock started fast and closed fast. He won the first round, the final betting. Braddock staged a perfectly gauged fight to close with a rush and win the nod from the more official. Mac Applauds for Snead Withdrawal from Meet

By HENRY McLEMORE
PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 22 (U.P.)—At the risk of running my social standing in St. Andrews, Scotland, I feel I must publicly applaud Sam Snead for his sudden withdrawal from the $3,000 Paul and Rose Wolf tournament after only 11 and fraction holes of play.

As you doubtless know, Snead crossed a five-alarm fence here yesterday when, disgusted with his seven over par score on the first 11, and an out-of-bounds shot on the 12th, he hid off his caddy and hot-footed it for the clubhouse.

His fellow professionals still were up in arms over the incident today, and a demand for an official reprimand was in the hands of G. G. Pressman and the Jacobus. Tournament officials spluttered over their tea and tapped their canes angrily on the floor at the very mention of Snead.

Termed Foot Sportsman All through the clubhouse, and all over the country, Snead was described as unsportsmanlike, lacking in gamesmanship, and unethical. Not a single one of his rivet producers would want to say in his defense. This came as no surprise. I might add, because Sam never has been popular with tournament players.

The West Virginia boy is a "loner," and has been ever since he rose to fame. He has been alone, cats alone, and finds his pleasure in golf.

Brums Set for Nampa Club Here Tonight

Coach R. V. Jones and his fast-traveling Twin Falls Bruins were set for the Invading Nampa Bulldogs in the high school gymnasium here tonight. One of the main contests on the local club's schedule.

The evening's entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock with a preliminary between Coach John Flatt's Cubs, and the Class B Eden quint, which hung up a 21-23 victory over the Hazelton team last night.

The Nampa quint, already smarting under a defeat at the hands of the Bruins on their own floor earlier in the season, will be making every effort to chalk up a victory to get a 50-50 break on a road trip that has seen them lose four games on five consecutive evenings. They started off on Wednesday night by winning a close game at Rupert, then they were downed by Postville Thursday night and Idaho Falls last night.

"Warm-Up" The Bruins had a nice "warm-up" for the contest last night when they came from behind in the last quarter to defeat Coach Floyd Lutz's team by a score of 30-29 in a thriller that had the Bruins on their feet for the last 10 minutes.

After trailing from the opening gun until the fifth minute, the Bruins unleashed a powerful attack that gave them a five-point lead with four minutes to go. The Bull club came back strong in the final minutes, but were unable to quite overcome the lead.

GLENN'S FERRY, Jan. 22 (Special)—Led by Ralph Morgan and Newell, Glenn's Ferry turned back the Shoshone basketball team last night by a score of 31-18. The locals led all the way in an uneven contest. Score at the half-time was 16-12.

Snead is Only Star Missing In 2nd Round

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 22 (U.P.)—Golfers were packed closer than feathers in a sofa pillow today as second-round play started in the $3,000 Pasadena open with almost everybody within a half-dozen strokes of the lead.

Only one prominent player was missing as 120 professionals and 30 amateurs sent their drives whistling off the first tee at Brookside Park course. He was Sam Snead, the West Virginia hill-billy who picked up his ball after 11 luckless holes in the first round yesterday and stalked off in disgust.

Three Tie for First Three tied for first with 68- Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y.; Garry Basser, dark horse from Long Beach, Calif. and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y. Closeness of the tie was demonstrated by: 1. Six tied for fourth at 69—Jimmie Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delecta, Pa., winner of the Los Angeles open; Horton Smith, the "ghost" of Joplin, Mo.; John Bula, Chicago; Tony Penna, Dayton, O., and Eric Seavall, Glendale, Calif.

14. Fourteen were tied a stroke lower at 71, 11 at 72; an even dozen at 72; 12 at 73, and another 10 at 75. The layout of the 18-hole Brookside course was mainly responsible for the tightly packed top brackets. The best score of the day was the nine-hole 37 posted by Thomson after his poor 37 on the out trip. Following remarkable accuracy after years of long but wide shooting, Thomson was down in no more than two puts on every incoming hole.

Do We Need Union Incorporation?

The decision of Federal Judge Fred L. Wham of East St. Louis, ordering the Progressive Mine Workers of America to pay $117,000 in damages resulting from a lengthy strike, has brought to a new crescendo the long and bitter argument over responsibility of labor unions.

The final outcome of the case, which presumably will be carried to the highest court in the land, is one which will affect the entire future of employer-employee relations in America.

Judge Wham's ruling, holding that unions and their members are responsible under the law for damage inflicted as a result of unlawful conduct or conspiracy to injure an employer's property or business, may eventually prove to be a turning point in the controversy over whether labor unions should be incorporated or otherwise made legally responsible for their actions.

The bitter argument over incorporation of unions goes back to around 1880 when, strangely enough, it was organized labor which was demanding the right to take advantage of the incorporation laws in order to remove the aura of illegality which surrounded unions at that time.

In 1886, congress passed a law permitting unions to incorporate, but by that time labor leaders had had a change of heart and few unions took advantage of the opportunity. As years passed, labor sentiment against incorporation became more pronounced, leaders realizing that such action would make unions subject to many restraints and responsibilities which do not affect voluntary associations.

Since that time there have been a few court decisions on the issue, but never a controlling and all-inclusive ruling on the legal status of unincorporated unions.

Briefly, the stands of employers and workers on the question are these:

Employers contend that the present situation is unfair because they, as individuals or corporations, are responsible for their acts, while unions are not. They contend that employers should receive assurance under the law that, once a contract is signed, there will be no strikes or other disturbances so long as employers discharge their obligations.

Labor contends that unions are not responsible, do not violate contracts, and need not be incorporated to assure responsibility.

Without discussing the merits of Judge Wham's decision, it undoubtedly will serve, in the long run, to clear up one of the most puzzling aspects of employer-employee relations—whether organized labor is liable for damages for civil offenses.

It will not settle, however, the question of whether unions should be made legally liable for damages resulting from failure to fulfill contracts, as no question of agreement violation was involved in the Illinois case.

This, and many other aspects of the organized labor problem, will be solved only when congress and the administration buckle down to the task of formulating a definite national labor policy.

War Waifs

One of the most heart-rending aspects of the long and bloody Spanish civil war has been the fate of little children. One observer estimates that more than 900,000 have been made helpless and homeless during the fighting.

The plight of all war refugees is sad enough, but what of these waifs—nearly a million of them—who now are without food, homes, friends or adequate clothing? How can the Spanish nation, regardless of which side wins, ever hope to rear these children into useful, happy men and women?

Compared with disaster such as this, even the Texas school explosion, resulting in more than 400 deaths, pales into relative inconsequence.

Japanese Sorrow

The Japanese bombed and sank the U. S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtze river. They machine-gunned survivors trying to get to shore, harassed them on land.

The Japanese were oh, so sorry. Officials and citizens alike joined in profound apologies. It was all a mistake.

So a Japanese newspaper started taking up a collection from citizens to show how sorry the nation was that the incident occurred. It amounted to 7021 yen—$2040 in American money.

That's how sorry the Japanese were for sinking a ship, killing three men and wounding a score.

U. S. Ambassador Joseph Grew announced he would use the money for some project to promote Japanese-American relations.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

Copyright, 1934, NEA Studios, Inc.

Connie said she wished she could. But she did not mean it. His bride had become as important to her as his. According to the contract it must be finished within another month. With luck, it would be. Just as with luck again—she might have that much longer as Katie Flynn.

She told him, laughingly, that she wouldn't give him his answer until that time. "When your bride is finished," she said, "then I'll be sensible and make up my mind. We'll decide about being married."

That made postponement easier, more acceptable. When Bret's bride was done Connie must tell him who she was, as well as when she would marry him.

"ARE THESE TWO GIRLS THE SAME?" the headline queried. "It is rumored that Constance Corby, richest girl in the world, may be in hiding. It is possible," the headline continued, "that some other girl has been taking her place on board her million dollar yacht? Rodney Broadway when interviewed, has ascertained this girl, supposedly Miss Corby, is not his fiancée."

"What's the matter?" Eloise asked.

"The matter?" Connie looked up from the paper. "She tried to make her voice sound normal. But it shook a little. 'N-nothing... nothing,' she said."

EVERYTHING, everything, she thought. She knew that this was the end of this girl who stood here, shaken, troubled, carefully refolding the paper again, the end of this Katie Flynn. She knew that the word would go back, because Constance Corby was once more.

She wondered if Rodney was to blame for this—and had the newspaper editors and the reporters might have given out the story because she had run away; because she had stayed so long that, undoubtedly, he had become interested in the paper. But the reporters, the whole world would not rest until the real Constance Corby was found.

She would have to tell BRET now—longest. She realized that she had only made this the more difficult.

Would Bret forgive her? Would he understand?

GIVES CREDIT FOR THE BEAN RECIPES

Place Mr. "Times" Man, may I speak up in meeting? Since this is bean week and a lot of us seem to be bean conscious, it might be well to tell how the famous bean recipes or most of them got started.

When the Twin Falls C. of C. put on their Harvest Festival days several months ago, they gave out oranges and women's clubs of the county to put on plays or exhibits.

The Salmon Tract Home Makers club is under the supervision of Miss Margie Hill, southern Idaho's extension service worker. She suggests that the club make a list of beans, cooked in new and different ways. Mrs. J. E. Pohlman, Mrs. C. Nygaard and Mrs. Henderson were the first to suggest that they make a list in assembling recipes and putting this project across. They gathered recipes from various sources as well as those from their own files and were printed in an extension story, leaflet and brought back to the club. Different recipes were given to members of the club to work out and exhibit.

Being a veteran pie maker the recipe fell to me. I enjoyed making the pie for the exhibit and it gave me a thrill to bake the one that the bean men, at their meeting, so kindly devoured. The bean men were so kind to ask me to add to their advertising, immediately they gave me these recipes were the thing. So they borrowed some from the original sheet and others made and printed. Thousands of them and tucked them into their little bean bags and hid them away via air mail to all parts and to make the good old U. S. A. All this is to give credit to the originators of many things in the final glory of achievement. And their recipe would never have been done anyone any good if they hadn't been used and boosted. So let's divide the honors and feel happy that we know of the real bean men and we know of those who are keeping their lovely romance secret and so.

Being the pie woman, I would say you can take your two table-spoons of sugar for meringue, the cup of sugar to be added to the filling and the pie will be plenty sweet. Also the filling can be cooked in a double boiler and put in the baked crust with equally good results.

ROBERT JACKSON LOOMS AS NEW SOLICITOR GENERAL

NO. 1 BUSTER OF TRUSTS FAVORED FOR REED'S POST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sources close to the administration here, confident that Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson—No. 1 New Deal trust buster—will be named to succeed Stanley W. Reed as solicitor general.

President Roosevelt does not plan to appoint a new solicitor general until the Senate has confirmed Reed's nomination to the supreme court.

Reed ever since the latter was named to replace retired Justice George Sutherland.

Early last week friends of Jackson reported that he preferred to remain as head of the justice department's anti-trust division, believing that his chances of pushing a campaign for governor of New York were better in that position.

At a Jackson day dinner in New York two weeks ago, the assistant attorney general admitted that he would accept the New York gubernatorial nomination if it was offered him. The New Deal high command is known to favor him as their candidate in the New York race this fall.

Many Rumors
There also has been many rumors in the city that Jackson wins the New York governorship, President Roosevelt might decide to name him as his successor for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940.

Storage Places Cut Relief Cost
New methods of distributing relief commodities will materially cut the administration and transportation costs of the state department of public assistance, C. E. Bilgus, state director of distributions for the department, stated Friday while visiting in Twin Falls. Bilgus was in an inspection tour of departments in southern Idaho and will return to Boise today.
