Official Sees 15-Year Boost On Fish, Game

Idaho's fishing and game bird program will advance 10 to 15 years within the space of the current year through hatchery and game farm improvements now nearing completion, Claude C. Drake, state fish commissioner, told the Evening Times last night.

WPA Help
The improvement program which is advancing fish and bird resources is being carried out under WPA assistance, Drake declared. The same program would require between 10 and 15 years with state funds alone, both Drake and Davis pointed out.

See Five Hatcheries
The commissioner and Davis conducted inspections at five state hatcheries, all of which have been remodeled and improved under combined state and WPA programs.

Total Culls
The total small trout now on hand at these hatcheries, Wright said, is more at this time of year than Idaho formerly had in an entire year.

Autopsy Ends Murder Probe in Pocatello, but Mystery Prevails

NEIGHBOR FINDS WILL IN BOX ON PILE OF RUBBISH

POCATELLO, Ida., Jan. 28 (Special)—Proof was established today that the woman known as Mrs. William had died a natural death and that a will dividing her money was in her own handwriting, so Chief of Police R. M. Jones had these amazing things to consider:

The 61-year-old woman received aid from the WPA although she had not and perhaps more hidden in her home. She confessed her own death, made out a will, concealed it and hid out a box in which it would be found. She died and the will was discovered just as she predicted.

When the neighbor found the will, she was sure of it not yet found; how she could have known of her death five days in advance was a mystery. Her husband had died a few years ago with a bullet between the eyes, although a coroner's jury exonerated her when she was charged with the crime.

At first Mrs. Williams' death was ascribed to natural causes. There had been a lot of talk in the neighborhood about Mrs. Williams having a "pot of gold" hidden somewhere, so Purgine went to the aged woman's home Sunday to look around.

In the bed where Mrs. Williams died the day before, police found a small box. The box was opened and a pocket full of money was found. Hidden about the house, police found six pieces of newspaper wrapped in paper and had a $8 bill on top. Other bills ranged in value from $1 to $10.00. In all there was $120.00. A seventh note was found where only wrapping paper was wanted.

Filed with Canned Goods. The basement was piled high with canned goods. "Grooms," it developed, was separated from his family and had been boarding at Mrs. Williams' home. They were the only occupants of the house. Grooms also was a WPA relief client.

On Jan. 18 she was ill. Mrs. Williams came to the door when she saw the cake. The cake was eaten by the family and the cardboard cake box thrown into a trash pile. Yesterday the police started to burn the trash in the stove. She looked at the top of the cake box and saw the words "Look inside" written on the lid. It was dated Jan. 18, and began: "Take this a week and two days from today to my brother."

These five days expired yesterday, Jan. 27. Mrs. Bryington took the will to C. M. Jeffrey, who was Mrs. Williams' attorney. The will was written on crude note book paper. It distributed money as follows: To Mrs. Bryington $5000; to her three-year-old daughter, Marjorie, $3000; to a sister, Mrs. Martha J. Bebel, Darlington, Ont., $1000 and $600 to the other children. The will was written on crude note book paper.

Letter from Japan Says Aim In China is a "Serene" Peace

Japan's "real motives" in the undeclared war in the Orient were contained today in a letter received by a Twin Falls resident from a citizen in the land of the rising sun. The letter, postmarked in Tokyo just before the Panyu "incident," was from Soshiichi Ichida, 187 Higashi-Tanagawa, Setagaya, Tokyo, Japan.

"Contrary to your imagination, China is not a civilized and orderly ruled country," the letter reads. "Her people are suffering from unreasonably heavy burdens, her natural products are buried and her people are constantly exposed to bandits who are attacking everywhere and against which the Chinese army is almost powerless.

"We, the Japanese, have retained an affectionate interest in the Chinese people for more than a thousand years. Even now, despite the complicated political situation, our ultimate aim is to secure a serene and lasting peace in the Orient.

"China, however, is tramping over international treaties in the persecution of our residents in China, the result of Japanese goods as a byproduct of the anti-Japanese propaganda by radicals, rags and student classes causing open and premeditated murders.

"On the other hand I must point out the temporary prohibition of Communism into China, the Orient and the attempt to enter Japan. As Communism is against our imperial principles and is also the greatest enemy of peace in the Orient, we feel it our solemn responsibility to eradicate it.

Guard, Forbidden to Carry Gun, Blocks Prison Break

BOISE, Jan. 28 (AP)—A penitentiary guard—prohibited by regulation to carry a gun—late yesterday blocked an attempted prison break.

He commanded Mallicoat to march the two past the yard office to the main gate, and threatened to kill him if he did not.

Mallicoat, after for a time, then walked slowly toward the yard office. As he reached the office door, he lunged suddenly,

Acting Warden Rex Smith commended Mallicoat for his bravery. He said Mallicoat "had no way of knowing" whether Williams had a gun or whether he was bluffing.

"Mallicoat took a long chance and won out," Smith said.

Williams is from Rex, Nev., serving a term for grand larceny in Wallace, Ida. Martin is serving a term for burglary in Canyon county.

SPRING TRAINING TWO COST MAJORS $600,000

Few Clubs to Show Profit During Trip

BY GEORGE KIRKBY
NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (UP)—The 16 major league clubs will head for Florida, California, Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi next month to engage in six weeks of intensive spring training for the opening of the baseball season April 18. They'll spend more than $600,000 conditioning the players, trying out rookies and engaging in exhibition games.

Spring training, 1938, is a far cry from the training camp of the old days. Pop Anson, manager of the Chicago White Sox, is credited with holding the first spring training camp. After winning the pennant with the White Sox in 1905, he held the camp at the White Sox club house in Chicago. It was a far cry from the modern training camps of today. Anson's camp was a simple affair. He had a few players and a few coaches. They trained for a few weeks and then returned to Chicago. TO ESCAPE MAJOR INJURIES IN CRASH

Head-on collision of two automobiles east of the Overly bridge on highway 30 in Twin Falls county saw ten persons emerge without serious injury while the machines were demolished, according to a report today by state highway patrolmen who investigated the crash.

YOU KNOW WHAT CLAUD PRATT TOLD HIS MEN THIS WEEK? He said, "Boys, we're busy with the Arkansas motor oil, but if the general public knew just what oil Pratt was selling and how good it is, we couldn't even get enough men to wait on the trade." However, the oil business is increasing at a tremendous speed.

HOUSE MEASURE ASKS 20 PER CENT GAIN IN U. S. FLEET

$800,000,000 IN APPROPRIATION IS PROVIDED IN ACT

By JOHN R. REAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Chairman Carl Vinson, D. Ga., of the house naval affairs committee introduced a bill today authorizing a 20 per cent increase in the combat strength of the United States fleet to provide the greatest navy the nation ever had.

In response to President Roosevelt's defense message, Vinson asked Congress to authorize an $800,000,000 program calling for 47 new combat ships, including three more dreadnaughts and 22 new auxiliary vessels; 100 additional airplanes; 1,200 additional officers and 20,000 more enlisted men.

Enactment of the bill would increase naval program beyond stipulated treaty limitations to a strength comparable with that of other great powers in their projected building programs.

"Defense and Security"—"The defense, security and peace of this country," Vinson said, "make it absolutely imperative that we have and maintain a navy second to none."

The increases authorized under the bill include: Three new battleships, which with the four new ones ordered constructed or appropriated for in the 1935 naval supply bill, will give the United States 10 "cruiser age" battleships.

Two new aircraft carriers, making a total of eight. Eight additional cruisers, making a total of 47.

Twenty-five more destroyers, making a total of 110.

Nine more submarines, making a total of 53.

The 22 auxiliary vessels would comprise: Five destroyer tenders, three submarine tenders, four large seaplane tenders, seven small seaplane tenders, three repair ships.

1,000 Modern Planes—The authorization for 1,000 additional airplanes would bring the navy's strength to 2,000 modern planes, comparable to that of any European power.

The bill also authorized $10,000,000 to be expended at the President's direction for construction of experimental vessels not to exceed 300 tons each. It carried a provision permitting the President to suspend construction, except for vessels being built at the time of the act's passage, in the event of international agreement for further limitation of naval armament to

Auto Handbook of 1913 Recalls 'Gay' Old Days

By MAC JOHNSON

When you drive your automobile through heavy traffic today, you take it pretty much as a matter of fact, don't you? You didn't throw out your chest when you met a pedestrian and feel that you were car-did the walk because you were in the wrong? You weren't worried that a dozen mechanical defects, or several blow-outs might spoil your trip.

If you didn't have an automobile handbook of car ailments and traffic laws in your pocket, but in 1913 putting an automobile was a serious matter, according to rules listed in a handbook of that period recently uncovered by E. O. Havens, service station operator in the 500 block Main avenue north.

Strained Your Feet—Automobiles were chain-driven, had dry cell battery ignition, and the steering wheel was on the right side. You strained your gasoline through a charcoal skin and then hoped it would not become "atale."

Information in the handbook points out that your automobile to run long without developing mechanical trouble. In fact, you needed to be a mechanic to get any amount of use out of your car.

"The handbook is strictly up to date keeping pace with the rapid growth of the automobile industry," states the preface of the volume.

"Some points on mechanical construction have never changed," stated Havens, who has been an automobile mechanic and battery specialist for over 27 years, several years before the volume was published. He owned one of the four first filling stations in Twin Falls.

The lack of standardized parts provided a main problem as car-repair fleets were stressed as frequent sources of trouble because they were

"too light, too heavy, or unsuited." Old customs of turning corners, passing cars on the left and coupling the horn and parking are still being followed.

Stop for Horse—Traffic laws of 1913 bring many laughs with laws stating that an automobile must stop when a horse drawn vehicle desires to pass, and that the driver must turn off his engine if the driver of the horse demands. According to law "there must be an absence of noise, motion and smoke about the car."

Registration of the cars with various secretaries of state throughout the country ranged from $1.50 on machines under 20 horsepower to $30 over 40 horsepower. This would bring the license up to $50 on modern light cars in Idaho.

Electric vehicles were licensed for $12.50 and steam vehicles $15. But the catch was that the individual had to make his own license plates, using the registration number, department and specifications issued by the department.

Speed ranged from six miles per hour downtown and in residential districts to 30 miles per hour in country regions. The driver in most states had to stop on a signal from a driver of a horse and he could not get closer than 15 feet when driving behind another vehicle.

In Maine the use of automobiles was prohibited in the cities of Eden and Mount Desert. All speed laws had to be set aside by local authorities for the purpose of holding speed contests and racing on highways.

Idaho and other western states had no state traffic laws, but only city regulations in 1913. Sounds antique—but save your 1938 traffic and auto information, and your grandchildren will have hysterics reading in 1980 how we did it in the old-fashioned days of 1913.

Ants can make a squeaking noise.

IDAHO'S INTEREST OBLIGATIONS CUT

BOISE, Ida., Jan. 23 (AP)—Interest bearing obligations of the state of Idaho were reduced $6,595,132 during the seven-year period from Dec. 31, 1930 to Dec. 31, 1937, the state auditor's office reported today.

The report allowed the state to be in excellent financial condition as regards outstanding indebtedness. In 1930, the report showed, Idaho's public debt totaled $9,211,632.13 and by the close of 1937 it had been reduced to the low of $1,616,500.

The debt included bonds, registered warrants, and treasury notes. No bond issues have been refunded since 1931. Then a highway issue

EARLY SETTLER DIES IN DENVER

Veloy Tave, 81, resident of Denver for several years and one of the first settlers here, died this week in Denver, it has been learned here.

Mr. Tave was proprietor of the first shoe repair shop in Twin Falls. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Antonia Tave, and two daughters, Mrs. W. M. Black and Mrs. I. V. Gomer, all of Twin Falls, and four sons, including J. L. Tave, Boise, and J. H. Tave, Owyhee, Nev., and two others living in Nevada.

The present day worth of the chemicals in an average man's body is a little more than $45. Five years ago, they were valued at about $45.

STUDENTS OPEN CHECKER DUELS
