A True Story

THIS DOG RATES the "Mark of Merit" as surely as Old Quaker, guarded by our "51 Watchdogs of Quality." One dawn this dog smelled smoke... went into action... as our inspectors do, to check Old Quaker. Dashing upstairs, he awakened his master... then, racing on, roused the family... refusing to leave until every human was safe. Old Quaker's human watchdogs refuse to let a bottle leave the distillery until it has passed 51 checks for quality. Result... whiskey you'll double-check for richness and smoothness... head-up whiskey... at no increase in your overhead.

For centuries it was contended that the African elephant could not be domesticated, but the Belgian government is offering very tangible proof to the contrary. It costs between 750 and 1000 dollars to train one of the beasts, but he pays good dividends when put to work on the Congo plantations.

Japanese Troopers Prepare for Greatest Offensive

RUMORS SPREAD THAT CHINA WILL SEEK MEDIATION

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
 SHANGHAI, Feb. 9.—Japan is ready for the greatest offensive campaign since the beginning of the war in hope of inflicting such humiliating defeats on the Chinese that the nationalist government will crumble, according to reports which reached foreign military experts today.

The Japanese forces attacking along the Tientsin-Nanking railroad are expected to pull off a major victory. A second series of drives from north and south seemed aimed at the junction of the east-to-west "lungtail" railroad and the north-to-shore Peking-Hankow railroad. Finally, foreign military quarters received reports that the Japanese were already ready for a gigantic campaign in South China.

Rumors Spread
 These reports coincided with Japanese allegations of widespread disaffection in the Chinese forces and with unconfirmed rumors at Hong Kong that the Chinese government was seeking British mediation to end the war.

But from the Chinese side there came no evidence of a defeatist attitude. Chinese sources said today that Chinese had recaptured Wuhsu, up the Yangtze river from Nanking; that they had recaptured Kiangning; that the Pengpu army, on the eastern front, and that Chinese airplanes had heavily bombed Penang and Kwayuan, on the central front.

Blow
 There was increasing evidence that the more the Japanese showed superiority in mass movements, the more the Chinese were increasing their field commanders to split their forces into small groups of guerrilla warfare, so that whatever progress the Japanese might make they would not be garrisoned permanently in force.

The Japanese figured, apparently, that if they routed the main Chinese army they would spread disaffection, curtail the resources of the central government and end the flow of war munitions from abroad.

News Reached Shanghai
 That Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had ordered the Chinese army, had left for the central front to assume charge of all operations.

STUNTS PLANNED TO BOOST DRAMA

A program of advertising was worked out by the drama club meeting yesterday for promotion of the junior play, "Mystery in the Library," on Feb. 15 and 17.

Final plans for distribution of the Twin Falls high school emblems being sold to the student body by the senior class were mapped at meeting of the class president, Ray Mills, with a committee of the class adviser, Gerald Wallace.

Those helping on the committee are Mills, John Waters, Charles Larson, Art Tramer, and Gene Lewis are urged to secure the emblems before Friday and wear them to the Bull-Twin Falls basketball tilt.

FOOD AWARDS BRING YOUR FRIENDS

JAGELS WINS IN F.F.A. SPEAKING

Marvin Jagels of Buhl will represent this district in the state Future Farmers of America public speaking event. He won the honor by taking high honors over four other F. F. A. boys in the district meet held at the Odd Fellows hall last evening.

Spoken before members of the Grange and friends, Jagels used as his topic, "Benefits of Cooperative Marketing to the Farmer." Second place was captured by Junior Thompson as Piler talking on "Cooperation."

Others in Race
 Other contestants were: Anos Jordan, Heyburn; "Trif" or "Free Trade"; Merrill Glenn, Kimberly; "Wheat"; Dale Peterson, Jerome; "Cooperation of the American Farmer."

Twin Falls chapter contestant, Irvin Ehlers, was unable to participate as he has been confined to his bed by illness during the past week.

Thomas Speer, master of the Grange, introduced Billy Taylor, vice president of the Bull F. F. A. chapter, who presided during the meet.

State agriculture executives present for the meet were Stanley Richardson, state advisor, and Milo T. Means, state supervisor of vocational rehabilitation.

Teachers Attend
 Agriculture teachers attending were: J. V. Briggs, Twin Falls; G. C. Winn, Kimberly; Carl Keuning, Buhl; H. T. Schodde, Piler; Virgil Siple, Jerome; Dan Carter, Heyburn.

Judges for the contest were Harvey E. Hale, Twin Falls, Vernon Patch, Buhl; W. N. Hardwick, Jerome.

Contestants were judged on the basis of manuscript and delivery. A perfect score would be content of manuscript, 25; composition of manuscript 15 for 40 points on manuscript. Delivery points are determined as voice 10, stage presence 10, expression 15; response to questions 15; general effect 10 for a total of 60 points. Any speaker taking more than 10 minutes for delivery has an overtime reduction made in computing the total score.

Fairview Grangers Present Numbers

BUHL, Feb. 9 (Special)—The Fairview Grange met in regular session Friday at the hall but because of illness the speaker for the evening, Joel Priest of the Union Pacific was unable to present.

Mrs. George Baxter, lecturer, arranged the two vocal numbers by Mrs. Frank Atkins playing her own accompaniment, a reading by Mrs. Ernest Pritchard, and the correct presentation of the American flag by Roland Harding, Mrs. Anton Susan and Mrs. Alfred Kramer. A clever stunt as a closing number was given by E. O. Everson, William Chamblatt, Anton Supan, Ernest Pritchard, Charles Brandon, Ernest Pritchard and Roland Harding.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

CAT'S-PAW FOR ENGLAND

In the Times of Feb. 1st appeared the headlines, "Borah Warns Against Talk of Tie-Up With England." The article following that headline stated how Borah had interrupted a senate debate on foreign aid to warn the administration against repetition of the very things that brought on the World war, Borah referred to the impression given that these two nations are building up their naval armament as a result of a joint understanding.

Borah no doubt is acquainted with the methods employed by Great Britain in solving her foreign problem. If so he has failed in his duty by not being more specific in his warning or to merely limit his protest to a situation not to his liking, to only a warning.

A statement contained in a British magazine article of recent copy (to the effect that "getting the United States lined up to fight for British interests in the Orient is the most immediate practical question in English politics today") no doubt means, state supervisor of vocational rehabilitation.

The article asserted that the Japanese want the revenue England has enjoyed from the Orient and are in a fair way to get it. The only way for England to stop the Japanese is to fight them, it contended, adding that England is not strong enough to wage the war single-handed. The article then said: "The French though they have similar interests in the Far East are not to be relied upon. The hopes we had of Russian interference have failed. There remains the United States."

Continuing, the article stated: "It is commonly said up and down Europe that we can make the United States do what we like. We got the United States into the great war on our side, and what more extraordinary, we managed in the debt business to make France the villain of the piece. We have got them (the United States) to feel with us against modern Italy, and we have got them to talk of ourselves as a 'democracy' which is prodigious."

After this admission the article continued: "Can we rope them in to fight or threaten Japan? It is a question of most poignant interest and it is a question that will be answered in a comparatively short time in one way or another."

"The advantages we have in working American opinion and policy are very great, and they have been used in the past with so much success that those who think we shall win have much to say for themselves.

"We are the only people of the old world who still use the same printed word and largely the same spoken word as the Americans. We know what will move American indignation and enthusiasm even when it does not move our own."

"American opinion is inflammable and just as we got up with the cry to hell with the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs so we might get up a slogan for the Pacific."

"We are about halfway to our goal. Shall we be able to reach it? As things now stand, our chances are— to put it in American—about fifty-fifty."

Mr. Editor: The assertions contained in the above statements prompt me to inquire, is the administration request for an increased naval appropriation of one billion dollars an answer or a result to the situation contained in those statements? Are our leaders (?) in Washington again becoming susceptible to British strategy? Are we as a nation again to be the cat's-paw to pull England's hot chestnuts out of the fire?

We are still holding the "sack" from the results of what was done and we again ready and willing to hold another "sack" in a snipe hunting game that England proposes to promote?

Is the only lesson we learn from war to prepare for a worse war? I thank you.

W. C. DAVIS
